SIXTEENTH SUMMER SESSION TEACHERS COLLEGE CLOSES

Enrollment of 680 Largest College Has Ever Had; 36 Students Graduated From Two-Year Normal Department and Five Receive A. B. Degrees

The sixteenth summer session of East Carolina Teachers College closes today. The enrollment for the term was 680. This is the largest enrollment the college has ever had.

Mr. Robert H. Wright, President of the college, delivered the graduating address in the college chapel last night. His subject was the responsibility of the teacher in producing right minded citizenship.

He called attention to the fact that the State had put millions of dollars into its educational institutions in order that these captains might be trained, and that this expenditure by the State was not a donation, but an investment from which it expected returns in the form of service in the training of a better and more enlightened citizenship for the future.

The summer term at East Carolina Teachers College is one of the four yearly terms required to round out the calendar year. The work done in the summer term is the same as that done in the fall, winter and spring terms.

Those who received degrees this term are as follows: Marie Lowry, Mary Phillips, Mavis Cleora Quinn, Nannie Lindsey Stokes and Alya Ray Taylor.

The professional personnel of the summer school students has been higher this summer than ever before. This is due to the fact that the state is constantly improving the type of high schools from which these students come, and to the fact also that many teachers are now attending summer schools each year and carrying their college work on to completion as they teach.

The type of teacher found in the average North Carolina school is very different from what it was a few years ago, both from the stand-

JUDGE ALBION DUNN TO HOLD CRIMINAL COURT NEXT WEEK

Sessions Will Be Featured by Several Murder Cases in Their Various Degrees; Dick Habourn's Trial Scheduled for Thurs.

Pitt County Superior Court for the trial of criminal cases will convene in Greenville next week with Judge Albion Dunn presiding for the first time in this county since his appointment to the bench.

The docket consists of nearly 150 criminal cases and the sessions will be featured with the trials of Frank Fritzel, negro, charged with the murder of Dr. Herbert P. Moteley, Walter Williams, charged with manslaughter in connection with the automobile accident which resulted in the death of the infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Willie Clark; Dick Habourn charged with manslaughter in connection with the death of Robert Cooper and Bonnie Lee Wilkerson who were killed in an automobile accident; Elmer McLawhorn, Jack Blount and Dewitt Smith, in connection with the death of Mack Brown, negro, and several other minor cases.

The trial of Habourn is scheduled for Thursday, and will probably be one of the most strongly contested cases of the session. Habourn and seven friends were on their way to Washington from Rocky Mount to attend a dance. The automobile was wrecked a few miles from this city. Robert Cooper and Bonnie Lee Wilkerson were killed while the other occupants of the car received serious injuries. Habourn, in an...

American Aviators Make First Fighting Flight During Today

Quezon, French Morocco, Aug. 28.—The entire group of American aviators here made their first fighting flight over the enemy tribesmen's camp today dropping 240 kilograms of bombs and scoring many direct hits.

The point of training and professional attitude. There was a time when people with a little learning, who could not do anything else, could teach school. This is changing now. The teacher of the future will be professionally trained and her knowledge will be scientific and definite. The teacher must be able to diagnose as skillfully and as scientifically as the physician, and then be able to prescribe as accurately for the mental growth of the child as the physician does for its physical growth and well-being.

ANTHRACITE MINERS ORDERED TO STOP WORK ON TUESDAY

Suspension Order Involving 158,000 Men and 828 Mines Was Issued Last Night by John L. Lewis

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—Anthracite miners have been ordered to stop work, beginning next Tuesday. The suspension order involving 158,000 men and 828 mines, was issued last night by John L. Lewis, President of the United Mine Workers of America.

"Our sole committee" read the call to the miners. "Charged with the responsibility of making a new contract has been unable to arrive at any understanding as affecting wages or conditions of employment to be effective after August 31, 1925. Therefore our membership in districts number one, seven and nine is advised that no contract being in effect a suspension of mining will automatically take place at mid-night Monday."

Instructions as to retention in the mine of a quarter of maintenance men to prevent flooding and to keep up the mines during the suspension were held in abeyance pending a future meeting with the mine owners here today. A meeting here yesterday was deadlocked on adjournment with miners insisting that full shift of these so-called maintenance men be employed and with the mine owners insisting on cutting down wherever practical.

Meanwhile the miners scale committee, which signed the call, announced it would "continue to use every influence to bring about, if possible, a general agreement which will meet substantial progress for the Anthracite Mine workers."

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—The Anthracite operators and miners today reached an agreement on the question of maintenance men for work in the mines during the suspension beginning September 1. The arrangement provided that "normal conditions they obtained during the idle period in the paying, would be the basis for this agreement."

Warrants Charging 34 With Conspiracy Was Expected Today

New Orleans, Aug. 28.—Prompt applications for warrants charging 34 persons with conspiracy to violate the National Prohibition Act was expected today to follow indictments returned by a Federal Grand Jury here yesterday. Walter Cohen, negro controller of the New Orleans customs district and a Republican leader in the South, was among the indicted. Cohen's appointment created a storm and the Senate refused twice to confirm it. The appointment was finally approved two years ago after President Harding and Coolidge had insisted upon it. In 1922 President Harding gave Cohen the first of three recess appointments and he served without pay until confirmed.

One Turbine Ready For Use Wilson Dam Hydro Electric Plant

Washington, Aug. 28.—Army engineers of the Wilson Dam Hydro Electric Power Plant Units will start at least one of the big turbines at work today in an effort to give increased power industries in the Southern States, which have been curtailed in their operations, or compelled to close down entirely because of power shortage due to drought.

Appeals from Senator George, of Georgia, and other Congressional officials in the state affected, caused the War Department to inquire if the big turbine in the dam could be put into operation immediately. Major General Taylor, Chief of Army Engineers, advised acting Secretary Davis' office today that one turbine could be started immediately, but would have to be run slowly until it could be thoroughly dried out and begin to produce an hour.

BLACK CLOUD OF IMPENDING BASEBALL SCANDAL DISPELLED

Chicago, Aug. 28.—The black cloud of an impending baseball scandal hovering over the Southern Association has been officially dispelled.

Nothing to it" was the finding of Kenesaw M. Landis, base ball commissioner, after an investigation of charges in the Nashville, Tennessee Banner, that players Eickhardt and Roy, of Nashville, were to be switched to New Orleans by way of Cleveland American, who hold their contracts, to aid the Pellis in winning the Southern Association title.

"Wholly without basis or justification" was the verdict of the commission in the case and in which John D. Martin, President of the Southern Association concurred. Blame was attached only to Manager Hamilton, of Nashville, for encouraging Ralph McGill, who wrote the story, to publish it. If Hamilton had given McGill the facts they would have completely exonerated the two players and New Orleans from any suspicion and there would have been no suggestion of a Southern Association scandal" said the commissioner.

TWO MEN KILLED CONTROVERSY OVER LAYING POWER LINE

Percy Dawson, Sheriff, and Deane Weaver, Property Owner, Victims, Shot Down in Affray On Weaver's Place

Selma, Ala., Aug. 28.—Two prominent citizens of Dallas county are dead here today as a result of a six months controversy over the laying of a power line of a Public Service Company over private property.

Percy Dawson, sheriff, and Deane Weaver, widely known property owner, are the victims of a shooting in an affray which occurred at Weaver's place near here late yesterday. Weaver shot Dawson to death as the Sheriff and his deputies approached his house to see about resetting some traction poles, which the land owner had cut down. Weaver was immediately killed by Hugh Sinclair, the Sheriff's deputy. Sinclair was not arrested.

The trouble began six months ago when the Dixie Construction Company employed by the Alabama Power Company, instituted condemnation proceedings in a move to pass a transmission line through Weaver's farm. Weaver had refused to sell a right of way through the land as legal proceedings were instituted returned the check for $250 handed him for a right of way.

THREE PITT COUNTY BOYS PASS STATE BAR EXAMINATION

The conclusions of the hearing of appeals from the Second Judicial District. The hearing of these appeals will begin on Tuesday, September 8, and will probably be concluded in two days.

Parish's name was not listed among the names of the successful applicants given out by the court, but it was stated that he passed the examination. He must answer to the charges that he is not of good moral character before a license will be granted him.

Much local interest is being taken in the Parish case because of the prominence gained by him last year in his capacity as a magistrate. He conducted a series of raids on vice sections of the city which resulted in the conviction of operators of an alleged disorderly house in the heart of the city and brought about a reorganization of the local police department.

He was a candidate for the office of commissioner of public safety in the last city elections but was defeated.

The names of those to whom licenses will be granted by the court follow: Thomas Warren Allen, Asheville; Oliver Harrison Allen, Goldsboro; James Douglas Bernhardt, Lenoir; Thomas Edward Bass, Henderson; John Ernest Baumberger, Asheville; George Washington Ball, Raleigh; Ralph Gray Bingham, Boone; Charles G. Bucy, Black Mountain; Alfred Benjamin Brady, Salisbury; Eugene Cyril Brooks, Jr., Raleigh.

Dink James, Greenville, and William James Bundy and James Bailey Lovelace, of Farmville Granted Licenses

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—Seventy-one of the 97 applicants for license to practice law in North Carolina successfully passed the semi-annual examination of the Supreme Court which was given Monday, it was announced yesterday by the court, but one applicant still faces objections as to his character by the Wake County Bar Association.

Two men were licensed to practice in the state under the County Act. Thomas Dixon Parish, of Raleigh, against whom the executive committee of the Wake County Bar Association filed objections, will be given a hearing by the court immediately upon

BRITISH MAY CHARGE ADMISSION TO VIEW CHAMPIONSHIP GOLF

London.—The British are about to adopt the American custom of charging admission to watch golf championships. They do not like to have to do it, for it means the passing of another of their traditions. Everyone interested in the game realizes that something must be done to restrict the size of the swarming crowds on the championship courses which in recent years have increased from a few hundred to upwards of 30,000, of whom a great many in their eagerness to see everything possible forget all about etiquette.

Before the war, when golf was to a great extent limited to more leisurely and comfortably fixed classes, the championships drew only a few hundred or at most a few thousand spectators. The galleries were easy to handle, especially in England where the classes and the masses are easily disciplined and keeping order is a national trait. But since the war, with American delegations coming over annually to try for both the open and amateur titles, the championships have the flavor of an international fight and people who hardly know the difference between a mashie and a bunker have joined the swarming, scurrying crowds that race along footways and rough to watch the stars of the game at their labors.

Annually this situation has grown worse. When Hagen made his gallant but losing round on the last afternoon of the Troon championship two years ago, perhaps 12,000 tramped and raved after and in front of him. The next year at Hoylake the gallery that gazed upon the last nine holes of his successful fight to regain the cup was estimated at 18,000. This year, at Prestwick—which both boasts and bemoans the fact that it draws the world's largest golf crowds—there must have been between 20,000 and 30,000 scurrying and scampering about when MacDonald Smith, trying to do a 75 to win the championship, collapsed completely. That night he blamed the crowd for his failure, saying they wouldn't give him room to make a shot.

Under the emotion of his disappointment, Smith did a little plain talking that caused little pleasure, but later on, when both he and those who read his remarks got away from the heat of the battle, the fact began to sink in that something ought to be done to regulate the size of golf galleries on this side of the ocean, as was long ago done in America.

LONDON'S "WALL STREET" SHRINKS ABOUT 97 PERCENT EACH NIGHT

London.—The day population of the City of London is 2 times greater than the night population, statistics in the official census of work places show.

At night there are 1,709 people in the city and during the day 436,715. These latter have to be transported to and from the suburbs morning and night in something less than two hours.

The "city" in London is a section in which many of the large financial and banking houses are located and in a measure corresponds to what in New York is called the Wall Street district. The suburbs of Hornsey and Leyton provide the greatest number of London's day population, following Walthamstow.

SPITZBERGEN TOWN CONDUCTS CONTINUAL CLEAN-UP CAMPAIGN

Barentsburg, Green Harbor, Spitzbergen.—Holland has carried a bit of its own atmosphere into these arctic regions. The settlement here belongs to a Dutch concern, and it is named after Willem Barntags, who discovered Spitzbergen in 1896. "Clean up" is the slogan here, and perpetual warfare is waged, after the Dutch fashion, against the dirt and grime inseparable from a mining village. Barentsburg is the only place that has made an attempt at making a paved road, the first in all Spitzbergen. It is still in the embryo stage, but is encouraging to the weary traveler who knows the rough and slippery tracks that pass for roads elsewhere on these islands. Great projects are afoot for the storage of coal at the Barentsburg mine. Against the steep mountain slope, a solid concrete wall is being built which will form a container for 60,000 tons of coal.

SAFEGUARDING NIGHT TRAVEL

Despite the fact that there is no law against driving unlighted animal drawn vehicles on the public highways of this state at night, farmers who will have occasion to use the highways during the next few months will exercise good judgment by displaying lights on their animal drawn vehicles. Statistics show that a great number of accidents have resulted from the unlighted vehicle and as the amount of traffic increases with the opening of the tobacco market the danger of such accidents likewise increases. Everyone who has experienced night driving knows that so long as unlighted vehicles travel the public roads serious accidents will continue, and regardless of the legality of the unlighted vehicle the law does not restore lost lives or repair injuries.

The wise farmer and others who have occasion to travel the public highways in animal drawn vehicles after dark will equip such vehicles with lights for their own protection and the protection of motorists despite the fact that the law does not require such precautions.

Are you a booster for Greenville. Our city will be visited by thousands of outsiders next Tuesday to witness the opening of the tobacco market. Take it upon yourself to let them know they are welcome to our city and tell them of the many advantages Greenville has to offer to prospective residents.

Fifty Million Pounds is the goal set for the Greenville Tobacco Market. With good crops this year and hard surfaced roads from every direction making access to this city easy the local market will serve a larger territory than ever before and no difficulty should be encountered in reaching the fifty million mark.

Clarence Darrow now accuses Raulston of seeking publicity. Funny some folks see in others what they fail to note in their own makeup.

If the sing song cry of the auctioneer next week reaches the high notes it will be the best music of the season for citizens of Eastern North Carolina.

While improvements are being made in automobile designs some one would do well to put out one that could be folded up while not in use in order to save parking space on our congested streets.

LET OTHERS FOLLOW

The good women of Durham, assisted by Boy Scouts, have secured the removal of 300 signs that marred the scenery on the Chapel Hill Road and Orange women are now seeking to do the same good work on the Durham-Hillsboro road. Strength to their arms in this sensible crusade! Signs not only mar the scenery, but large signs along the highways endanger safe driving. No large signs ought to be tolerated and small signs are an eye-sore. All ought to come down.—News and Observer.

Two Unidentified Men Found Shot To Death Today

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Two men, one believed to have been Irving Schlegel, known as an aviator bootlegger, were found shot to death near the Ashburne aviation field today in what police interpreted as a renewal of war among bootleggers. Both victims had been riddled with bullets and each had been shot through the back of the head.

One body answered the general description of Schlegel, who some time ago was seized in Chicago after an airplane load of liquor had been found near Calamazoo, Michigan. Schlegel got out on bond and disappeared. The plane, said to have carried a $40,000 cargo of contraband, was held while authorities made a search for Schlegel.

In a suit case found near the bodies was an aviator's outfit. This outfit and the general description of Schlegel in the police department files, lead the police to believe that Schlegel was one of the victims, and that the bodies probably had been thrown from an automobile.

Chicago, Aug. 28.—Two men, both unidentified, were found shot to death at the edge of the Ashburne field of the Zeto Club, of Illinois. Both had been shot in the back of the head. Where the bodies were found was a suit case containing among other things an aviator's helmet.

met. The bodies were found at a spot just outside the city limits of Chicago.

Slayer of Constable Convicted of Second Degree Murder

Kinston, Aug. 28.—Augustus Washington, negro, was convicted of second degree murder in Lenoir County Superior court today in connection with the slaying of William H. Phillips 71 year old Contentnes Neck Township Constable, on May 25, last.

He was sentenced by Judge Matthew B. Barnhill to serve not less than 25, nor more than 30 years at hard labor in state's prison.

The fatal shooting occurred, it was alleged, while the constable was in the act of serving a warrant on the negro and when the officer sought to disarm the negro. A jury deliberated about one hour on the case.

Rudolph Dies in Electric Chair, October 7

Richmond, Aug. 28.—Rudolph Dies, 20 year old slayer of his sweetheart, his rival, and a police detective, was sentenced today to die in the electric chair in the State penitentiary here on Wednesday, October 7.

Chapel Hill, Aug. 28.—Lady Astor, a former Southern beauty and member of the famous Langhorne family of Virginia, now a member of the English Parliament, has lost none of her American demerit since making her home abroad, according to a group of Chapel Hill women who have just returned from a tour of Europe.

The party was composed of Mrs. M. H. Stacy, adviser to women students in the University; Mrs. T. J. Wilson, Jr., wife of the University registrar, and Mrs. R. L. Thompson of New York. Also in the party that called on Lady Astor were Miss Betty Bain, of Chapel Hill, and T. J. Wilson, III, Rhodes scholar at Oxford.

The Chapel Hill party was invited to call on Lady Astor at Clivedon, her country estate. They found the former Virginia woman delightfully charming and informal. Lady Astor showed a keen interest in the South and asked many questions about her native state.

If the Chapel Hill visitors expected their host to be capricious, they were disappointed, for they soon discovered that Lady Astor had a way of making all her guests feel at home.

SCHOOL DAYS By DWIG

University S. C. to Play Football Game U. N. C. October 3

Columbia, S. C., Aug. 28.—(AP) The second game of the season for the University of South Carolina will be with the University of North Carolina, the football schedule shows. This game will be played October 3, in Columbia, and on October 10 the Gamecocks will invade North Carolina soil for a battle with State College at Raleigh.

HAUNTED LAKE TOO CUESOME—PLAYERS REBEL

Convict Lake, in the High Sierras of California, where the exterior scenes of the Warner Bros. screen version of Willa Cather's popular novel, "A Lost Lady," were taken, has the reputation of being haunted. When twilight falls, the dim shadows of thirty-six convicts, who were slaughtered near the lake some years ago, return to the scene of their death and sit sorrowfully among the dark somber pines, according to rumor.

This Warner picture will be the feature attraction at White's Theatre. When Director Harry Beaumont chose Convict Lake as the ideal location for shooting some exterior scenes on "A Lost Lady," Irene Rich and the rest of the cast demurred, and the sceptre of the old tragedy that saw thirty-six convicts tortured and hung by a frenzied mob of revengeful troopers arose once more.

Numerous hair-raising stories have been told about the pretty little lake that nestles like a sapphire in an old crater. Some say that the thirty-six bullet-ridden corpses as they hung by their necks to the trees, may be seen on the anniversary of the day on which they were killed. Others say that the ghosts continually tramp the beach and dance under the ragged eye of a mocking moon when the coyotes howl their sympathy of desolation. The convicts escaped from the Nevada penitentiary about twenty years ago. Pursued by troops and trained by bloodhounds, they made their last stand by the shore of the lake now called "Convict Lake." Shortly after their escape from the penitentiary, the convicts had murdered a government mail carrier, and when the band of pursuers discovered the crime, they swore vengeance.

RHEUMATISM

Leaves You Forever

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St. Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times the terrible disease left him helpless and unable to walk.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated deposits, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave a discovery, which he called Allen's, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of urging he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers.

"The blessed relief this marvelous prescription quickly gives has made for it thousands of friends," says Pitt Drug Co., who has been appointed agent in your city. If you live out of town ask Mr. Allen to send you full particulars.

FIFTY-FIVE MILES OF WIRE USED TO ERECT TOWER ELECTRIC SIGN

Paris. — Wiring the Eiffel Tower for advertising purposes required more than 20 miles of thick wire, 25 miles of 500.

When it was first reported that the tower was to be used to display an electric advertisement, it was said that the state had consented to the scheme for the sake of the tax it would receive, which in the present condition of the treasury would be welcome. Later information, however, showed that the Eiffel Tower Company is not obliged to ask for authorization for such action, having only to satisfy the Paris Municipal Council that no scheme could be adopted that would be in any way an eye sore to the town.

WINNIPEG RENAMES STREET TO HONOR THREE HEROES

Winnipeg, Man.—(AP). The bravery of three Winnipeg warriors, who fought with the Canadian forces during the World War, will be impressed upon posterity with a permanent and unique memorial.

It was recently discovered that three of Winnipeg's sons who earned the Victoria Cross had lived on the same street within a block of each other during these times. Residents of the street, determined upon honoring their memory, petitioned the civic authorities for permission to change the name of the street to "Valor Road." The request was granted and on the initiative of the Women's Canadian club a memorial lamp has been unveiled at the intersection of the newly named street and Rostage avenue.

Only one of the three returned at the cessation of hostilities, that being Lieut.-Col. Robert Shankland. The other two, F. W. Hall and Leo Clark, paid the supreme sacrifice.

DANIELS COMPARES WILSON AND LODGE IN ADDRESS TODAY

Mr. Daniels was speaking on "Woodrow Wilson and Henry Cabot Lodge." Today's was the second of two addresses before the Political Institute of Fuman University. In his first address, yesterday, on "The Scholar in Politics," Mr. Daniels discussed the celebrated controversy between Wilson and Lodge, and today he compared the two men.

"Lodge was the product of Federalism at its best," Mr. Daniels said, while "Wilson had in him the mingled philosophy of Jefferson and Jackson. . . . The wide gulf of New England and Federalism on the one side and the South and Democracy on the other in political faith separated Wilson and Lodge, but otherwise they drank at the same sources and obeyed the mandate, 'Drink deep at the Pterian spring.'"

Pointing out the fact that both Lodge and Wilson wrote histories of Washington, Mr. Daniels discussed the way the first president appealed to each: "To Lodge he was the splendid soldier and friend of Federalistic government. To Wilson he was the best type of American gentleman, typical of the South and able to lose partisanship in love of country. The fact that as young men both worshipped at Washington's shrine, shows that for all time Washington is the cosmopolitan, typical American, the standard of real greatness."

Wilson and Lodge never met in debate, Mr. Daniels pointed out. The nearest they ever came to it, he said, was when Wilson invited the committee on Foreign Affairs to the White House in August, 1919, to discuss the Versailles Treaty.

"Both these remarkable men in their youth had dreams of idealism in government, and the lure of independent action stirred them. Lodge in his heart favored Tilden in 1876, as did many young Republicans, and came to his Day of Decision in 1884 when he was to determine whether he would permit his party to direct his action against his conscience. Later he would dictate its policies, but only after he had stooped to conquer. Wilson, with a passion for Democracy, never was a slave to party."

Discussing the fact that the two men had had little touch prior to their meeting in the national arena in 1918, and that there was "nothing, or little, in Wilson's first term that gave promise of the antagonism which was to prove a tragedy to their country, Mr. Daniels repeated his question of last night:

"Suppose Wilson and Lodge had seen alike and worked together on the League of Nations, what a different story might have been written! Such a team would have been invincible and might have compelled politics to halt at the shore line."

The cause of the "irreconcilable conflict" between the two was, perhaps, partly conflicting ambitions, the speaker said. But the "origin of the personal aspect," Mr. Daniels said, was in Lodge's public declaration that Wilson had added a second postscript to the second Lusitania note to Germany, giving the German government assurances that the vigorous protests of the American government were not to be taken seriously. After Wilson's statement that the remark was untrue and Lodge's reply "that he must accept the word of the President of the United States," the speaker said, "Wilson never forgave."

"Lodge was equally implacable.

Brush Bares Fortune In Gems

An attempt to smuggle diamonds into this country from Canada was nipped at Rouse's Point, N. Y., when $64,974 worth of sparklers were discovered secreted in this old shoe brush.

Wilson had the lofty Southern condensation that made an effectual barrier. Lodge had the cold New England hauteur with added biting enunciation." In this matter, the speaker asserted, "Wilson had provocation for resentment."

Lodge made no apology, Mr. Daniels said, and "continued in his campaign speeches the most biting invective of the administration."

"It was a scene," said the speaker, in describing the meeting of Wilson and Lodge when Harding was inaugurated, "never to be forgotten—in its pathos and its contrast to the like scene of March 4, 1913. Then Wilson, with the spring of a young man in his step, had won the country by the best inaugural address of his generation. Eight years later he had to be helped into his carriage and the President's room in the Capitol. . . . Gone was the spring in his step, gone was the brightness in his eye. Pain and anguish had destroyed easy locomotion and his face was drawn. . . . And then, as the clock neared the meridian hour, enter Senator Lodge. 'Mr. President, we have come,' he said in tones that sounded mechanical, 'as a committee of the senate to notify you that the senate and house are about to adjourn and await your pleasure.' Wilson looked out the window a few seconds before replying. It seemed an age. All in that room felt the tenseness of the situation. It was Wilson's last official statement. In a few minutes he would go haltingly down the steps to private life, a broken soldier. The man addressing him, though not succeeding Wilson, was the leader who had shaped the issues, 'broken the heart of the world,' longing for the League of Nations. If he had felt a touch of sympathy for the lame lion, he had concealed it. Never had he so much as drawn a simple resolution deploring his illness. Wilson saw in Lodge the incarnation of the forces that had refused ratification of the League. Before answering, Mr. Wilson was forced to summon every power to repress the antipathy he felt for Mr. Lodge. He rose to the occasion, he forced a smile, and in tones as impersonal as had been employed by the senator he replied: 'Senator Lodge, I have no further communication to make. I thank you. Good morning.'"

"Lodge and Wilson began life as writers, teachers, scholars. Broken on the wheel, Wilson went to his death with the love and honors of the whole world." But Lodge, Mr.

Daniels said, "had lighted no torch for people to walk by, and he had garnered no love in the hearts of people who looked out of darkened windows and yearned for liberty and equality."

"Lodge will love more as the antagonist of Wilson," said Mr. Daniels, in his concluding remarks, "in the League of Nations duel than for anything he ever originated or carried to completion. . . . Lodge would have resented owing anything to Wilson. And yet he owes to the conflict with him the place he will hold in history."

If the verdict of history, he concluded, is that Wilson was wrong in what he undertook at Paris, "Mr. Lodge will be regarded as the man to whom the world owes most for the failure of America to lead in the world parliament for peace at Geneva. This without examination of motive."

"If, on the other hand, the verdict of history will be as General Smuts declares, 'Hundreds of years hence Wilson's name will be one of the greatest in history,' Lodge will be remembered as the parochial American who heralded the opponents of Wilson's League to delay world understanding and world peace. Which?"

JUDGE ALBION DUNN TO HOLD CRIMINAL COURT NEXT WEEK

Continued from page one) excited condition was driving the car at the time of the accident. The coroner's jury recommended that he be held for the next session of Pitt county criminal court on a charge of manslaughter in connection with the death of the two young men.

Frank Frizzelle, negro, shot and killed Dr. Herbert Moseley, of Farmville, when he called to pay him a professional visit. On the night of the murder Frizzelle was carried to Raleigh for safe keeping. Attorneys Julius Brown and J. E. James have been appointed by the court to defend Frizzelle.

Mr. and Mrs. Willie Clark with their children were returning from a picnic at the time of the auto accident in which their youngest child was killed. A truck driven by Mr. Walter Williams collided with the Clark car overturning same. The little boy was caught under the car and was so badly injured that he died within a few minutes after reaching the hospital. Mr. Williams has been under bond since the accident awaiting this term of criminal court.

Mack Brown, negro, was shot and killed by Elmer McLawhorn, of Ayden, on Sunday night, May 3rd. The coroner's jury recommended that McLawhorn be held under $1000 bond for this session of criminal court and that Jack Blount and DeWitt Smith be held under $500 bonds for aiding and abetting.

Perhaps never in history of the Pitt county court have so many murder charges in their various degrees been on the docket for one week's session. Each effects a different section of the county and great interest is being manifested in the term.

The sessions will convene at 9:30 o'clock each morning and Judge Dunn will make every effort possible to clear the docket of a large number of cases.
