WRIGHT ADDRESSES COUNTY TEACHERS CONFERENCE TODAY

Teachers Meet in High School for Two Days' Conference; Sessions Featured by Interesting Addresses

The teachers of the consolidated and long term rural school of this county, members of the State Board of Education, representatives from the Teachers College, and representatives from the county system meet here today for a two day's conference, for the purpose of discussing the plan of work for the entire year and to acquaint the teachers with the conditions of their various communities.

The conference are being held in the Greenville High School. This morning's session was featured by devotional services by Rev. W. P. Watkins, "Address of Welcome," by a member of the Board of Education; "A County System in Working Order" by Supt. R. G. Fitzgerald and "The Handbook, a Definite Program," Miss Myrtle Brogden. The talks were interesting and proved helpful and inspiring. The address of welcome made the large number in attendance feel that they were indeed welcome to Greenville, the hospitality which has been shown by the way in which the homes of the city were opened to the visitors.

The second part of the program was devoted to music with Miss Eugenia Thomas making a short talk on "Songs Children Love to Sing." While Miss Helen Tomlinson spoke on "A Strengthening Drill for Children." This feature of the day's session proved equally as interesting and helpful as the first part.

The last part of the morning session was featured by "A County Health Program" by Dr. C. L. Outland; a talk on "School Attendance" by Mr. K. T. Futrell, and "Club Work and the Milk Campaign" by Mr. R. B. Reeves and Miss Bertha Lee-Ferguson. Mr. J. H. Wilcox Scout Executive of the Pamlico Boy Scout Council, told of the value and importance of a Boy Scout organization in the school.

At the close of the morning session lunch was served by the Woman's Club.

Afternoon Session.

The afternoon session was opened with singing led by Supt. J. E. Rose, of the Greenville High School. This was followed by an address, "Is Teaching an Art?" by President R. H. Wright, of the Teachers College. Mr. Wright said in part:

"Some one came to me this morning and said Mr. Wright, why don't you offer a Saturday Course over at the college? I want to make this statement to you. If you people want to do some extension work or continuation work, if you want to continue any particular line of work and will form a group of as many 10 the people and will let us know, we will give you a course on Saturdays and if it is anything we have in our course of study, we will give you credit for it. The college wants to be of service to every one of you and to every prospective teacher in our state. We will always be glad to help you.

"Is Teaching an Art? I have been trying to solve that problem myself for the last eighteen or twenty years and I think that I have found the solution. Those people across the hill have been debating for at least four years what sort of degree a college should give. The majority of colleges in America have decided that the Bachelor of Science should be given and that means that they believe that teaching is a Science. Last night I looked up the word Science. It comes from the Latin word 'to know,' it is allied to the word skill. Skill means tact and discernment. Is teaching an art or a science? To be worked successfully, the scientist must be an artist. He must have the ability that enables him to do that thing that he is working within his science in an artistic way. If you get the science of teaching, you have the knowledge of child life. That is the scientific side of it. If you get that knowledge of psychology that you must have to be an efficient teacher, you must learn to apply that knowledge to the child. You must learn to interpret the

CRITICISM, RETORT CONTINUES IN WAKE DIRIGIBLE DISASTER

Investigation of Disaster and Mitchell's Attack on Administration of Air Services Will Be Conducted

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Criticism and retort continued in the wake of the Shenandoah disaster as the revived air service controversy stirs up more interest in Congressional circles. Secretary Wilbur declared in a formal statement issued to correct certain misleading assertions that there was nothing whatever "political" in connection with the Shenandoah's flight. In that flight as well as that of the lost sea plane, PN-9, No. 1, the commanding officers, he asserted, were given entire freedom in selecting the time of the flight and were confident of their success. Also he regarded as entirely disproven the theory that the reduction in the number of escape valves might have contributed to the Shenandoah's collapse. The opinion, however, of Captain Anton Heinen, dirigible construction engineer that reduction of the number of valves made the Shenandoah unsafe, is one of the questions that will be inquired into in a forthcoming congressional investigation of the disaster, announced by Chairman Butler of the House Naval Affairs Committee.

The committee, Chairman Butler said, also will investigate the attack of Colonel William Mitchell on the administration of air services.

ORGANIZATION OF FIERY CROSS CAUSES BIG STIR IN BERLIN

Two Americans Alleged to Be Behind Organization Arrested; 40 Others Taken into Custody; Patterned After American Ku Klux Klan

Berlin, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Two Americans, father and son, alleged to be behind the recent organization here of the Knights of the "Fiery Cross," patterned after the American Ku Klux Klan, have been arrested by the German police in Silesia.

They are Otto Strohschien and his son, Gotthard Strohschien, both German born, but now American citizens and recently residents of Chicago. The report of the organization of the Knights of the Fiery Cross has caused quite a stir in Berlin. 40 other persons alleged to have connected with it have been taken into custody, and other arrests are declared to be pending. 1,000 Germans are credited with holding membership in the organization.

"The Knights of the Fiery Cross," the ritual of the Ku Klux Klan, the insignia of the organization is a bloody cross, the black, red and white flag of Imperial Germany, and the anti-Semitic Swastika. The membership has been largely obtained from the fascist group. It is the avowed purpose of the Knights to gather together men "determined to fight for deliberation of the Fatherland" and "by waging war on Jews to free the country of undesirables."

Coolidge Returns to White House

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—President Calvin Coolidge returned to the White House today after 11 week's vacation in New England.

The President's train reached Washington at 1:18 p. m. after an over-night run from Salem, Mass., and found the capital sweltering under the unbroken spell of midsummer heat. A line of official motor cars were waiting at the Union Station to drive the President and his wife immediately to the Executive Mansion.

SUNDAY SCHOOL ASSOCIATION WILL MEET IN OCTOBER

Sessions Will Be Held in Methodist Church and Will Continue for Two Days, October 1 and 2

Workers from all Sunday schools of all denominations in the county are expected to attend the annual convention of the Pitt County Sunday School Association, which has been announced for Thursday and Friday, October 1 and 2, at the Methodist Church, Arthur.

Representing the North Carolina Sunday School Association in the Convention will be Mr. D. W. Sims, General Superintendent, Miss Flora Davis, Associate Superintendent and Miss Dairy Magee, Children's Division Superintendent. These speakers are well known in the Sunday School world, having had years of practical experience in the work with Sunday Schools both large and small. There will also be on the program a number of the prominent pastors, superintendents and other Sunday School workers in the county.

Plans and program for the convention are being worked out by W. G. Sheppard, President, and A. S. Bynum, secretary of the County Sunday School Association. These officers have announced that again this year a pennant will be presented to the Sunday School in the county having present in the convention the largest number of representatives sixteen years of age, and over, according to the number of miles traveled. Any Sunday school in the county is eligible to compete for the pennant except the Sunday with which the Convention is held, and others within one mile of the convention church. It is expected that there will be much friendly competition among the Sunday schools for the pennant.

Fresh Forest Fires Started Last Night In Tennessee

Bristol, Va., Tenn., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Fresh forest fires were started last night from saw mill on the Nolichucky River near Erwin, Tenn., and today are burning southward and westward toward No Business Knob, according to advices from William H. Stoneburner, supervisor of the Government Forestry office here, who has returned to take charge of fire fighting in that area. Flames in the Unaka Mountain section have also broken over the fire line and escaped from control, says the supervisor and the fire has now spread into North Carolina where efforts are being made to combat it. Fires are still burning along the upper fork in Carter county, Tennessee and Elk Park, N. C., but reports today indicate that they are not as bad as previously reported.

Four for and Four Against Unification

Nashville, Tenn., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Of the eight annual convention of the Methodist Episcopal Church South from which the vote on unification with the Methodist Episcopal Church has been received by Southern Methodist headquarters four voted in favor and four against unification.

All of the Foreign Conferences are believed by Methodist leaders to be in favor of the plan of union of the church, while Southern Methodist Bishops opposing unification have within their combined Episcopal three fourths of the approximately 10,000 votes to be cast.

Leading Methodists here are expressing some doubt that the plan of unification will give the constitutional majority of three fourths of the aggregate votes of those present and voting though they look for a large unification vote.

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 10.—(AP)—"We'll be sleeping under blankets by Sunday." This was the comforting assurance given sweltering southern people today by the local United States Weather Bureau Meteorologists Charles F. Von Herrman.

CHINESE TONG WAR BREAKS OUT AFRESH

Notwithstanding the Peace Treaty War Breaks Out With Fatalities; Police Hold Tong Leaders Responsible

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Chinese Tong War fare has broken out afresh here with fatalities notwithstanding the peace treaty. This time, however, the police are holding Tong leaders responsible.

Two Hip Sing Tong men are dead and three officials of the On Leong Tong, including the National President, are jailed charged with conspiracy to bring about the slayings. Less than two weeks ago National Officers of the Hip Sing and On Leongs signed a truce. In addition to the Tong officers, one Chinese is in jail charged with the killing, while one slayer escaped.

The killings came on the heels of a series of raids by police last night in which several pistols, 1,000 rounds of ammunition, and a quantity of opium were seized. Two Chinese were arrested as gunmen and drug peddlers and deportation proceedings against them is planned.

A Chinese cook was shot and killed going to his room. A few hours later a body of another Chinese was found with his skull crushed by a hammer. Chin Bing, of Boston, was arrested and charged with killing the cook, who was his room mate. Both were expelled from the On Leong Tong a year ago and were taken in by the Hip Sing. It is believed that Chin Bing killed to show how much he desired reinstatement in the On Leong Tong. After the first killing District Attorney Banton, in accordance with his recent statement that he would hold Tong leaders responsible for any further killing, ordered the Chinese officials taken into custody.

They are Denver, Colorado to Cheyenne, Wyoming; and Washington to Jacksonville, Fla.

Texas Legion Will Attempt to Prevent Mitchell's Court M.

San Antonio, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The American Legion, of Texas, will energetically interest itself in preventing Colonel William Mitchell being court martialed behind closed doors if tried in Texas on charges growing out of his criticism of the war and navy departments. It was stated by the Commander of the Texas Legion last night.

CHURCHES ASKED UNITE IN PRAYER CALLING FOR RAIN

Governors of Three States Expected to Issue Proclamations Urging Congregations to Pray for Deliverance From Drought

Atlanta, Ga., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Governors of three southern states are expected to issue special proclamations today urging church congregations to unite next Sunday in praying for divine deliverance from the drought that has seriously damaged their crop and now threatens to wipe out even their drinking water. It was indicated at the office of Governor Austin Peay, of Tennessee, that he would comply with a request of the Baptist Pastor's Convention of Chattanooga, and the Chattanooga Pastors Association to proclaim the day as one for prayer for rain.

Governor Clifford Walker, of Georgia, also stated he would issue a proclamation setting aside Sunday as a day for prayer for rain. Governor Brandon, of Alabama, also has been appealed to and is expected to do likewise.

Result obtained by the people of South Carolina, who last Sunday observed the day by fasting and praying for rain prompted the action of Christian leaders of Tennessee and Georgia. It was related that in one instance in South Carolina where a congregation knelt in silent prayer for rain, while they were still on their knees a gentle rain began to fall almost from a cloudless sky. No let up from the unprecedented drought and oppressive weather has been evident in Georgia, North Carolina, and Eastern Tennessee, in the past several weeks. Other sections which have not been effected are beginning now to feel the pinch.

In several states effected by a rain shortage industries have been forced to run on a short time scale and in Eastern Tennessee and western North Carolina where forest fires have been raging for several days, no hope is seen in extinguishing these blazes until the rain comes.

Treasury is Said to Favor Repeal of Tax Publicity Law

Washington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The treasury tax recommendations to congress now are expected to include a reduction in the sur tax rate to the maximum of 20 percent, repeal of the income tax publicity sections, and a lowering, if not an entire elimination of the tax on estates.

Other minor changes will be suggested largely to close up loop holes in the present law. Secretary Mellon, who returned today from a vacation, declined to say how active a part the Treasury would take in urging its recommendations before the House Ways and Means Committee when it meets next month. He previously had indicated he would make no formal proposal that could be labeled a "Mellon Plan" and might only advance verbal suggestions in response to such questions as the committee might ask.

The Treasury holds to its often expressed belief that a majority of the tax payers favor repeal of the publicity section. Officials say masses of letters of protest have come in since September 1, when this year's payments were obtained for public inspection.

Treasury officials have not committed themselves finally to a 20 percent sur tax maximum, but Secretary Mellon believes the volume of returns on that rate will be immediately greater than a higher rate. At one time he even suggested that a fifteen percent tax would be scientifically preferred.

Four Coaches of Passenger Train Overturned Today

Savannah, Ga., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Four coaches of the Sea Board Air Line Northbound passenger train number two were reported overturned three miles from Savannah this afternoon. A general call for ambulances were received here and they are ordered to meet a relief train at the Union Station.

MERCHANTS ASS'N. IN GET TOGETHER MEET NEXT WEEK

Since the associations organization a short while ago it has grown in membership to more than fifty and much is being accomplished through this joint effort for better business here. In addition to carrying on the regular routine work of a merchants association the body here is also filling a long felt need by doing Chamber of Commerce work.

DAILY REFLECTOR'S SUBSCRIPTION DRIVE OPENED UP TODAY

No Luck Connected With Winning of Over $2,700 In Prizes; Subscriptions Secured Out of Greenville Count Double In Votes

Today marks the opening of the Greenville Reflector's subscription and prize campaign in which there will be given away over $2,700 in prizes and commission checks in exchange for spare time effort on the part of those participating in the gathering of votes secured through clipping them free from this newspaper and securing other votes through the paid in advance subscriptions.

The campaign will not be a very long one. It will run for just exactly seven weeks starting today and closing seven weeks from today at eight o'clock at night.

In order to reward those who start early in the race the campaign manager has divided the campaign into three periods. The first period starts today and will run for four weeks. Votes given on subscriptions during this period will count more than at any other time in the campaign. The second period will run for two weeks while the third and final period of the contest will run for but one week.

Those interested in earning for themselves the very first prizes, a Hudson Super-Six Coach, should realize the advantage an early start will give them. As the campaign wears on less votes will be given on subscriptions as you will note by referring to the Voting Schedule which is published elsewhere in this paper. The prizes include a Hudson Super Six Coach that sells for $1,335, a new 1926 Ford Coupe ($582), $250 Living Room Suit, $125.00 10-piece Dining Room Suit, $115.00 Grebe Radio Set that includes all extras, also installation anywhere in Pitt County. A cash prize of $50 and one of $25.00 complete the list of seven attractive awards.

In addition to these prizes there will be given a ten per cent cash commission to all who take an active part and are not awarded one of the seven prizes.

There is nothing complicated or lucky about winning one of the leading prizes. In fact it looks so easy to some who took part last year that they are going to try again. What you win depends on the number of votes secured between now and October 20th by clipping the free vote-coupons from the paper each day and having your friends save these coupons for you. On paid subscriptions for The Reflector a certain number of other votes are to be had.

We cannot too strongly emphasize the fact that it will cost you nothing but effort to earn the leading prize on the list which is a Hudson Super-Six Coach. All who enter and take part will have the same opportunity to win. If any of those who won a prize last year wish to compete again this year we will be pleased to have them and would enjoy turning over the automobile to them as much as to any one. We have no favorites, it is strictly a business proposition with us and we want those who enter to feel that they are earning something and not being given it.

Clip the Entry Coupon and mail it in today. This will count you 5,000 votes as a starter. Then clip and have your friends save the free 25-vote coupons which will appear in the paper each day during the course of the campaign. All stationary necessary for one to carry on a successful campaign will be furnished free by the campaign manager for the asking. Send in your name today or the name of a friend.

An important feature of the campaign that those working or about to start work is the fact that twice as many votes will be given on subscriptions secured outside of Greenville as will be given on one subscription secured here in town. This ruling will make it possible for those living in some of the smaller outlying sections of Pitt County to enter and win an automobile.

WHEN THERE IS WORK TO DO

The News and Observer declares that the lawyers who failed to appear in Judge Meekins' court in Raleigh are indeed fortunate that the court was not being held under the rules of Judge Albion Dunn of this city for all admit that when there is work to be done Judge Dunn sees to it that there is no unnecessary delay in the procedure and lawyers as well as other interested parties must lend a hand in clearing up the congested dockets in this state.

In its comment the Observer says: "I will probably go home tonight," said Judge Meekins yesterday "unless the lawyers begin to come in. There's plenty of work to do but I can't do anything unless the lawyers come up with their cases." His Honor child's actions and know what you must do to give him the right stimulus to cause the right kind of reaction. I should say that you will find that teaching is the actual application of your knowledge.

Teachers, you are starting out a new school year. To me, you are beginning the greatest work that is given to human beings to do. I have had this picture in my mind for two or three weeks because I read school facts. I have seen an army of 80,000 children in North Carolina gather themselves together in companies of 25 to 45 in the school rooms in this great state of ours and I have been going out of the court house and the Graded School Centers, an army of nearly 20,000 other-citizens to meet and direct this army of children. In North Carolina there are perhaps 50 per cent of this army of leaders, captains who are not trained for the work as they ought to be. They are going out and to try to lead these children and they don't know how. The 50 per cent who do are going to set the standard for the thing that we call the teaching profession in our state. Here is the army of the teachers of this county. You are the leaders of the children in this community and you are here for a two day conference. What are you going to do out here in Pitt county. The lives of the children of Pitt county are going to be entrusted to your keeping from 6 to 9 months, and the kind of lives that you live as an individual is going to determine the success or the failure of many of the children this county during this year. School teaching is the most glorious work to me in the world, but it carries with it, the most severe responsibility of any other human activity. Are you going to meet this company of little children and are you going to direct them in a way that will be for the best interest of every one? I believe that you are. I have that much faith in you. If you feel like your company is made of mean folks, then you resign.

Children are not mean. Children are just alive. That little fellow can't stay still to save his life. Nature did not mean for him to stay still and if you want them to stay still you want to make him become unnatural. He is not mean, he is just full of life and the kind of life that if directed in the right way may make him one of our state's great men or if it is a girl, one of our state's great women. You are the director. Use your scientific knowledge as a teacher in an artistic way so as to make the best citizens out regrets not staying in Europe ten days longer. If it is cool over there, who could have blamed him?

The lawyers of Raleigh and adjacent counties ought to be thankful he does not enforce the Judge Albion Dunn rules. The Pitt jurist would have sent for them and held court at night until the docket was cleared—even in this hot weather. He is a young judge and can stand it, but the old lawyer says such rules are "cruel and unusual punishment" and forbidden by the constitution.

MITCHELL CANNOT BE IGNORED

Col. Mitchell is a poker with a very hot end. It is natural that the War Department should show reluctance to pick it up. It is equally natural that the Administration should feel nervous over a controversy which may prove embarrassing. But Senator King issues a blunt warning that if the executive branches try to ignore Mitchell and his charges, or gloss over the affair, Congress will take a hand. Mr. King is prepared to introduce a resolution for an inquiry into the Shenandoah and PN-9 No. 1 disasters. He is a member of the Senate Naval Affairs Committee, and it is with a knowledge of that body—itsself criticised in the past by Col. Mitchell's group—that he proposes a special committee for the investigation.

Senator King is right. An officer of the United States cannot accuse his superiors of incompetence approaching treason and not be held answerable for his charges. Martyr or no martyr, a court martial is the only possible way to deal with Col. Mitchell. If his charges are all true, half true, or 1 per cent true, the country needs an impartial judgment on them; if his insubordination is as outrageous as it seems, he must and should receive the punishment which it calls for. The American Army cannot seem either to fear the truth or to fail to uphold its own standards of discipline.—New York World.

ATE TOO FAST

South Carolinian Took Black-Draught For Indigestion, and Says He Could Soon Eat Anything.

Ballentine, S. C.—Mr. W. B. Bouknight, of this place, gave the following account of his use of Theford's Black-Draught.

"Just after I married I had indigestion. Working out, I got in the habit of eating fast, for which I soon paid by having a tight, bloated feeling after meals. This made me very uncomfortable. I would feel stupid and drowsy, didn't feel like working. I was told it was indigestion. Some one recommended Black-Draught and I took it after meals. I soon could eat anything any time.

"I use it for colds and biliousness and it will knock out a cold and carry away the bile better and quicker than any liver medicine I have ever found."
Eating too fast, too much, or faulty chewing of your food, often causes discomfort after meals. A pinch of Black-Draught, washed down with a swallow of water, will help to bring prompt relief. Bloating sensations, eructations, bad breath and other common symptoms of indigestion have disappeared after Black-Draught has been taken for several days. NC-164

One-Profit Value Unit-Built Construction Make Studebakers Bargains in Quality

BECAUSE Studebaker builds for Studebaker cars all bodies, all engines, all axles, clutches, differentials, steering gear, springs, gear sets, gray iron castings and drop forgings—it is possible to give purchasers two advantages:

1. A price advantage: Because Studebaker eliminates extra profits which all other manufacturers (except Ford) must pay to outside parts or body makers. Thus Studebaker is able to use steel of extra toughness, fine northern white ash and hard maple, wool upholstery, plate glass, painstaking workmanship to precision standards, and extra equipment, such as gasoline gauge, clock, stop light, etc.—yet charge no more than competing cars.

2. A construction advantage: Because all parts are not only designed to constitute one harmonious unit, but are Unit-Built in Studebaker plants. Being built as a unit, every Studebaker functions as a unit. This results in years longer life, scores of thousands of miles of excess transportation, greater riding comfort, minimum repair costs and, finally, higher resale value.

The net of it is this: the one-profit Studebaker with its unit-built construction offers you a bargain in quality. There are others in our general price field who also build quality cars. But for models that are at all comparable their prices are higher.

Truth in Advertising A reader of The Saturday Evening Post wrote the editor questioning the truth of a Studebaker advertisement. Read our reply on page 71 of the current issue of "The Post."

MARRIAGE PROBLEM UP AGAIN IN 'THE LITTLE FRENCH GIRL'

Do you believe in a marriage of convenience or one for love?

The age-old question is brought up in a new and thoroughly entertaining manner in the Herbert Brenon-Paramount production, "The Little French Girl," which will be shown at White's Theatre today. The story was adapted by John Russell, author of "Where the Pavement Ends," from Anne Douglas Sedgwick's immensely popular novel by that name. Featured in the principal roles are Alice Joyce, who makes her debut in Paramount pictures in this production; Neil Hamilton, Mary Brian (Wendy in "Peter Pan") and Esther Ralston, who played Mrs. Darling in the Barrie fantasy.

"The Little French Girl" is Mary Brian, whose mother, Alice Joyce, is a notorious demi-mondaine of Paris. As the result of her mother's reputation, Alix, the little French girl, finds a suitable marriage impossible for her in France. When the mother considers the girl's future she confesses to her latest "flame" Owen Bradley, that she would like to have her child grow up safe from continental sophistication, and she accepts his invitation to have Alix live in England with his mother and sisters.

So it is that the little French girl discovers a new existence, though she learns to her sorrow that even here folks look most upon a career, such as her mother's. Jerry Hamble, son of wealthy parents, falls in love with Alix, who, by this time, has become quite taken up with Giles Owen's younger brother. Knowing that Giles secretly loves Toppie Westmacott, Owen's fiancée, the little French girl tries to lead herself into believing that she really cares for Jerry, realizing that her mother wishes her to make a good marriage. But truth will out, and everything is straightened out in the final scenes.

Anthony Jowitt, a new screen "find" plays Owen Bradley. Neil Hamilton is his brother, Giles, and Esther Ralston plays Toppie. Alice Joyce is the mother, always surrounded by a brilliant coterie.

Two Men Hurt in Encounter With An Unidentified Assailant

Burlington, Sept. 10. — (AP)—Ernest Mansfield and Charles Askew were hurt in an encounter with an unidentified assailant on the highway near Kimesville, recently.

Mansfield received three knife wounds in his neck, shoulder and arm. Askew was cut by barbed wire in making his escape from the assailant. Askew said the man shrieked at him: "If I get my hands on you I will cut your head off."

The youths say they do not know who their assailant was. They say he stepped on the running board of the car, and began slashing with his knife.

LEAGUE OFFICIAL SEES ECONOMIC STRUGGLE AS MENACE TO PEACE

Cambridge, Eng. — Speaking on "Economic Harbament," recently Sir Arthur Salter, director of the economic and finance section of the League of Nations, said that of four main causes of war—dynastic, religious, political and economic—the last alone was likely to become continually more serious.

In the future, he said, the chief pre-occupation of the bulk of mankind would be a struggle for the means of life. Monopolistic or even preferential exploration of supplies of raw materials might at any moment threaten serious danger. The most dangerous word was "oil." The inevitable struggle for markets he declared would threaten peace in proportion as the power of armed governments was associated in the struggle, and intervened to secure unequal or preferential conditions proportionate to their strength.

If peace was to be preserved, Sir Arthur said, the armed power of governments must be more and more dissociated from the economic struggle. Discriminating and varying tariffs, used as a counterpart of general foreign policy, meant playing with fire.

CONSOLIDATION OF SCHOOLS PROVING OF GREAT VALUE

Supt. A. T. Allen Declares System of Transportation Has Revolutionized Educational Life of State

Raleigh, Sept. 9.—(AP) — "Introduction of the system of transportation of school children in this state not only is revolutionizing the educational life of the state. It has already done it. And it is rapidly revolutionizing the whole life of the state."

That was the statement of Superintendent of Public Instruction A. T. Allen, today, in discussing the growth of the school consolidation idea and the coincident growth of the transportation of children from their homes to the schools, and return.

"If you doubt the statement," Mr. Allen continued, "all you have to do is to go into one of the communities where one of these consolidated high schools has been in existence for a year." The whole life of the community and the surrounding territory is being affected, Mr. Allen said. The schools are having the effect of bringing new interests, new ideas, and new life to entire sections.

Consolidation which is growing in rapidly in this state necessarily had to await the development of the system of transportation of school children, and that, in turn, has been developed along with the growth of the road system of the state.

Consolidation, based on the transportation of the children, Mr. Allen said, is having three specific effects. It is widening communities and community interests, it is providing better educational facilities for the children brought to the consolidated schools; and it is resulting in longer school terms. The latter feature, he said, was due to the reaction of the people of the community. "When they get a taste of good schools, they want more and provide longer terms for the schools."

The result of further development of the system of transportation of school children and of school consolidation—the two going along together will be the bringing of a good high school within reach of the estimated 50,000 rural boys and girls who now have no access to such a school, Mr. Allen said in answer to a question as to the ultimate result of the logical development of the system. He then quoted figures to show the result of the two ideas, transportation and consolidation—within the past few years.

One result of the development of these two systems has been to reduce the 3,000 one-teacher schools in the state five years ago to 1500 at the present time, he said. It has also helped greatly in the increase in the number of high schools.

In 1907, when, under the supervision of Dr. Joyner, Mr. Allen said, the $50,000 high school aid fund was established, there was not a high school in the state, outside the special charter districts. A year after that fund was established, there were 138 such schools, with an attendance of 4,000.

These high schools had to be established, however he said, in thickly populated districts, and it was necessary for dormitories to be erected in order to take care of the country children. This gave the "country people a taste of high school," said Mr. Allen, and when consolidation and transportation began, the high schools began a more rapid increase until there were 40,000 rural boys and girls in high schools in the state during the school year 1924-25.

The transportation of school children was first begun in 1922 by Ohio, Indiana, and Iowa, with horse-drawn vehicles, operating on a basis of a radius of three or four miles. Development of good roads and of motor vehicles has increased that radius to 15 miles in this state. Last year, in fact, Mr. Allen stated, one route in Caswell county was 18 miles. This was over a sand-clay road, and the record made was cited by Mr. Allen as unusual—the truck never missed a day, and the children never arrived at school late during the entire school year.

This radius is destined to lengthen, Mr. Allen believes. For, after all, he pointed out, the cost of transportation of children is based primarily on the cost of the trucks and pay of drivers, and the addition of a few miles to the route has little effect on the cost per pupil.

"Is it true, that school consolidation and the transportation of school children is having a tendency to destroy the communities, by destroying one of the community centers—the schools?" Mr. Allen was asked.

His answer was emphatically in the negative. "What it does," he replied, "is to broaden the communities, and thus broaden the ideas of those in the communities. In the same way, the development of transportation facilities is broadening communities and increasing contacts all over the country."

"Not consolidation," he said, in answer to another question, "but the general increase in educational facilities and the increased number of children receiving education is responsible for the movement of young people to the cities."

"As the children learn about the world, they have an increasing desire to get out and see some thing of that world, hence they leave the country."

But that is a phenomenon that Mr. Allen is not worried about. The number of farmers who remain in the country will largely be governed, in the end, by supply and demand for food stuffs, he believes. In the past, in fact, he suggested, too many people have been on the farms for the good of the farmer himself.

IRISH PRIMATE ADVOCATES STRICT SUNDAY PROHIBITION

Dublin.—Archbishop O'Donnell, Primate of all Ireland, has denounced the evasion which the difference between the drink laws in Northern Ireland and the Free State permits. The North has wholly abolished Sunday drinking. The South mountains an exemption in favor of the bona fide traveler.

Omeath in County Louth in the Free State is half a mile of water across the border from Northern Ireland, and on Sundays large numbers of Northern excursionists go there to avail themselves of the privilege of Sunday drinking granted in the Free State.

"Drunkness is not the only evil which these unworthy members of society exhibit," says the archbishop. "They have also brought with them the practice of dancing degraded dances from which decent paganism would recoil, and they are quite unabashed in desiring further facilities for drink and dancing in juxtaposition." He advocates the closing of public houses on Sunday altogether.

REPUBLICANS PESSIMISTIC ABOUT IRISH TREASON ACT

Dublin.—The new Treason Act of the Free State is being actively administered, and the Republicans declare that it will provoke a recrudescence of the old struggle. Prosecutions have been instituted against Republicans on the charge that they are members of an illegal military organization which holds courts-martial. One man was said to have been court-martialed for recognizing a Free State Court.

Searches are reported to have revealed some remarkable documents, one of which dated April 22, 1925, signed by Frank Aiken, once chief of staff of Eamon De Valera's forces lays down the attitude to be assumed by Republicans toward the Free

State and Northern Governments to which allegiance must be denied.

Another document captured at Killee, County Clare, deals with members of the Republican Army who contemplate emigration. They must certify that they are forced to leave Ireland by extreme economic distress. They are then put on a "foreign reserve list" for a period of five years, and pledge themselves while abroad to increase their efficiency as soldiers. The emigrant undertakes to save up the price of a return passage and come back immediately when called.

An Announcement
For some years this firm has issued during the growing season, monthly condition reports on the progress of the cotton crop. The formulas used were those of the United States Department of Agriculture, and the figures were compiled without respect to our personal opinion, from the composite estimates of our correspondents, at least one of whom resided in every cotton producing county of the South.

A comparison of our various published estimates will show that they were perhaps more accurate than those of any private brokerage house and also the Department of Agriculture itself. For this accuracy we take no credit but express publicly our gratitude to those who in the aggregate supplied us with the facts. It is our belief that issuing reports has grown until it has become a vicious habit, now equally as obnoxious to the public as to the entire cotton trade. In a measure, excessive "private reports" we think inspired the United States Government through its Department of Agriculture, to renewed activities even perhaps, suggesting the present system of semi-monthly reporting. These Government reports are now understood by all to serve no purpose except to disrupt each branch of the cotton industry beginning with the producer who is deprived of the enhancement in value always attained when the speculative public (who invariably buy in the net) is interested. Our unwillingness to longer contribute even in the slightest degree to this "comedy of estimates" and the resulting paralysis of cotton, is our sole reason for announcing the discontinuance of our estimates, which we no longer feel can possibly serve any useful purpose—besides which a plethora remains.—Fenner & Beane.

Note.—Washington News Dispatch a few days ago states:—"By weighing all the controlling factors which have a bearing on price and by comparing them with the exhaustive records which are now available for periods of forty or fifty years, it is known that surprisingly accurate results can be obtained through the use of a system of price forecasting." The accomplishment of this would be absurd and infinitum.

Cotton Summary

Local cloth markets firmer and more active yesterday. Sales print cloths past two days estimated at over 500,000 pieces and mills turned down large volume of additional business. Buying movement probably started by drought situation in Atlantic, which foreshadows severe curtailment.

Berlin mail advices state that the German textile goods are falling behind in export competition with United States manufacturers, both South American and Eastern markets no longer preferring the continental merchandise.

Highest temperatures this late in season reported yesterday in parts of Alabama, Georgia, Mississippi and Tennessee. Weather Bureau forecast is for mostly fair today and tomorrow east of the Mississippi River and in west Texas, part cloudy in Oklahoma, East Texas and Arkansas.

Sugar

We believe the market is reacting from the low levels established last week.

Coffee

While the higher quotations established in yesterday's market were due to the improvement in Brazilian exchange rates, we believe owing to the higher cost and freight offers and the slack demand for actuals that any liquidation which is apt to occur owing to the long position of our futures market will cause futures to sell off

HAVE YOU LOST HER?

"Her Companionship—
"Through long hours on her feet breathing overheated, poisonous, air?"

"Her Good Nature—
"Through worrying over the unreliable cooking of that old style range?"

"Her Beauty—
"Because the soot and grime and smothering heat she must endure as she bends to the task of preparing food ages her rapidly?"

"If You Have—
"It is within your power to make up for it.

"If You Have Not—
"Prevent such a catastrophe.
"The clean, cool dependable, modern electric range is the remedy. It will give you back the care-free girl you married years ago; a good companion, with time and health and vigor to bring you a new vision of life."

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT

The sales have finished each day so far this week. On Monday and yesterday (our first sales) the buyers sold in Gorman's all of both days while the other five houses were sold by the other two sets of buyers. Today with second sale we have over a house half filled. Prices have held up well with us, however, the Imperial is entirely off the priming grades but they are buying the tip and leaf grades strong. We believe the first and second curings will get much stronger and we advise grading on your tips at present. The Export is still buying but little, yet they bought more of their grades Wednesday than any time before this season. If you are not selling at Gorman's, come see our sales or talk to some of the many satisfied customers and you will know the reason for Gorman's selling so much more than the other houses. Send your tobacco to Gorman's and you will go home satisfied knowing you have received the top of the market. J. N. GORMAN & SONS.
