STATE RESTS ITS CASE AGAINST W. B. COLE FOR KILLING W. W. ORMOND

Four Witnesses Testify for State; Transitory Insanity and Self Defense Form Cole's Plea; Prosecution Will Accept Self Defense Plea But Objects to Combined Issue

Richmond County Court House, Rockingham, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Self-defense and transitory insanity will form the plea of W. B. Cole, wealthy cotton manufacturer, who last August 15 shot and killed William W. Ormond, formerly a suitor for his daughter's hand.

Alf L. Brooks announced the plans of the defense after the state rested its case against Cole at 11:24 o'clock this morning. Four witnesses had been examined.

The state immediately entered resistance to the plea of insanity and the jury was recessed while the court held arguments of counsel.

Clyde Hoy, outlined the state's objection as follows:

"The medical profession recognizes that insanity is a disease. It does not recognize, as the defense pleads, that a man can be sane today and insane tomorrow."

"The North Carolina law does not recognize emotional or transitory insanity. Like other states, this state knows that such a plea, if allowed, would free practically every murderer before our bar."

The state will accept a plea of self defense, Mr. Hoy said, but the defense's plea of self defense and insanity are utterly inconsistent. Mr. Hoy held that self defense presupposes reason and that if insanity is made a plea it should be pleaded under its acceptance by the law of the state.

Clyde Douglas for the state quoted some decisions ruled on the plea of insanity, and from each decision the state drew inference that insanity is a disease and that the defendant could not have understood the nature of his act and at the same time been insane.

The plea of transitory insanity and self defense has been accepted by the North Carolina Supreme Court in two cases and by the United States Supreme Court in two cases, the defense declared through A. L. Brooks, who outlined the defense plea.

"Transitory insanity has never before been questioned as a plea in North Carolina" said Mr. Brooks. He quoted from a decision to the effect that the accused must be in such state of disease as not to know the nature of what he was doing, or if he did know it that he did not know he was doing wrong."

"We do not appeal to the unwritten law, nor to moral insanity. We stick to the written law. We do not plead general insanity. We plead transitory insanity caused by repeated attacks on the daughter's name, attacks we will prove."

Mr. Brooks addressed the court for about one half hour, and the burden of his contention was that Cole shot in self defense and at a time when he could not distinguish between right and wrong.

"The defense speaks to engrave a plea of moral insanity for their client, call it what they will," declared Larry Moore in closing the prosecution objection.

"Moral insanity is not recognized in this state." At one o'clock Judge Finley adjourned court until 2:30 o'clock, when he was expected to announce his decision on the combined plea.

Richmond County Court House, Rockingham, N. C., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Self-defense as a contention in the defense of W. B. Cole, wealthy cotton manufacturer, who last August 15th shot and killed W. W. Ormond on the streets of Rockingham, was suggested for the first time today.

After Dr. Charles O. Bristow testified for the state as to the condition of Ormond's body when he examined it and had described three bullet wounds in the body, the defense called upon the state to produce any weapons connected with the case. Solicitor Phillips refused. The suggestion of the defense that the Ormond possessed a weapon is denied by the state. "The state of North Carolina will conduct this case digging tendencies of the inhabitants

FRENCH PROPOSALS SETTLEMENT DEBT ARE UNACCEPTABLE

American Deb. Commission Holds Conference With the President But Proposal is Submitted for His Approval

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The French proposals for settlement of her war debt to the United States has been found unacceptable.

After a conference at the White House, between President Coolidge and the American Debt Commission, a statement was issued by Secretary Mellon for the Committee which called on the President, and declared that no proposal had been submitted to the President for his approval or disapproval.

"There has been no differences of opinion whatever among the American Commission. The visit to the President this morning was to inform him of the position of negotiations. No proposal has been found acceptable to the American Commission." Some members of the American Commission were of the opinion that no possibility of an agreement with the French was apparent at this stage. One member felt that the two commissions were as far apart as they were upon presentation by Finance Minister Caillaux of his first settlement proposal last Thursday. The American Commission went into an executive session and it was intimated that following the scheduled meeting at eleven o'clock with the French mission, a statement giving more details of the proceedings would be made public. Mr. Coolidge was informed of every detail, it was declared, of the negotiations up to last night, and it was said on behalf of the American Commission that the situation had not changed over night in so far as any indications from either camp showed.

While the American members were disinclined to talk about their conference with the President, it was apparently the belief that the American Commission will wait for the French to make the next move. Members of the American group, however, hoped that the conferences would not end immediately.

Washington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Extending the American Government's welcome to the assembled delegates, Secretary Kellogg declared in an address at the opening session today of the Inter Parliamentary Union that the presence in the American Capital of so many representatives of self governing nations "showed that this remarkable age the attention of the world is centered up to study self government."

"Nothing can be more stimulating to the advancement of liberal ideals, or will contribute more certainly to peace," Mr. Kellogg said, "than for members of various parliaments and legislative bodies to meet as you are doing to exchange views on its respective problems."

The Secretary reminded the delegates that they represent countries with varying economic conditions, races, and widely different political history and traditions. "Universal peace has been the dream of statesmen for ages," he stated, "but no one has found a specific cure. A cure must come from the heart and understanding of the people. They must be taught to think in times of peace, they must realize that there are better means of adjusting international disputes than the arbitrariness of war."

Mr. Kellogg said forces were at work for the disintegration of orderly representative governments and for the establishment of class rule which "well may give us serious thought."

Month's Offerings Sold for $2,271,727.35, Averaging $18.31 Per Hundred

According to an official report given by Secretary K. W. During each week this season the average price has shown an increase over the preceding week, and with prices stronger today indications are this week's average will be the highest so far for this season.

Week From Today Votes Given On Subscriptions Decrease; Entry List Closes and Free Vote Coupons Discontinued After the 8th

All previous highwater marks in The Daily Reflector's subscription campaign were broken yesterday by the wonderful work of several contestants who are enlisted for a share of over $2,700 of valuable prizes and cash commissions that this newspaper will award on October 29th.

This fine record was made possible through the excellent work of Mrs. H. C. Davis, Mrs. Lury Moyer, Mrs. F. J. Diener, Miss Lillian Hooker, Mrs. R. C. Abee, Miss Irene King and Miss Mary G. Harrington. The last two workers named are from Winterville while the others mentioned are from Greenville.

Here are candidates that will bear watching; here are candidates who know the value of consistency and whose ambition and energy will no doubt carry them on to a rich award.

With such fine work accomplished for the first three days of the week big things are looked for during the remaining three days. Strong first place contenders such as Miss Margaret Cook, Miss Helen Joyner and Mrs. W. G. Rush are yet to report in for week and when they do all others had better look to their laurels.

One word about the publishing of votes you may be holding in reserve. Every one is allowed to publish enough of their reserve votes to equal the high standing of the leader of the previous list. In addition to publishing enough of your votes to come to the top of the list you can publish 10,000 additional.

Every worker of course knows how many votes she has but the public takes for the leaders those who running at the top of the published list. They do not know of course just how many votes you may have in reserve. Nobody knows this but yourself and the Campaign Manager.

One week from today and the votes given on subscriptions will take their first decrease of the campaign. After Thursday, October 8th, every subscription turned in will count just about one-fifth less than it would if turned in right now.

The fifty vote coupon which is appearing in the paper daily will be discontinued after October 8th. The entry list will also close on the above date and the winners of all the five prizes will then be determined between those remaining on the list.

THE GAME EXTERMINATOR

Lack of respect for game laws has long been characteristic of certain elements of our population, and slack enforcement of the statutes by those who are paid to protect game birds has lent encouragement to violators.

A lamentable feature of the situation is that those who kill game out of season have nothing of the sportsman in them. They are pot hunters at heart, and a bevy of quail at roost or running in a furrow are slaughtered without a pang. They defeat the purpose of those who feed and protect game birds and other animals during the winter that they may propagate for the benefit of all sportsmen. They can not be called "poor sportsmen," for they have nothing of the sportsman in their miserable make-up.

Depredations of the modern poacher are not confined to game birds. Even rural resident has been a spectator to the delight some huntsmen take in wantonly destroying song-birds so greatly cherished and so rapidly becoming extinct. Surely it is not their love for meat which prompts them to stifle the sweet woodland melodies. Those knowing the type would sooner believe that they are actuated more by the desire to take life and to pander to their pride of marksmanship.

It is fully established that the United States would have been devoid of virtually all wild life years ago had the majority of hunters not been thoughtful sportsmen. In the observance of the game laws and the conservation of wildlife the sportsman sacrifices nothing because they are for his own interest, but he should not be robbed of these benefits by the unscrupulous and lawless hunter.

WILL OF THE DRIVER

"A sweeping and effective reform in the driving of automobiles could be effected by the insurance companies by the adoption of a rule which would refuse liability insurance, for a term of years, to any owner of an automobile whose negligence in any manner contributes to an accident resulting in injury to any person.

"There is a close psychological bond between liability insurance and unreliability in driving. The man who settles back with the contented feeling that he is 'covered' may get careless and reckless, often without realizing it. The man who knows he is personally responsible for all consequences of his driving is almost invariably careful.

"The tide in the number of accidents and fatalities, increasing daily, will never be turned except by reaching the will of the man behind the wheel. Penalties, regrets, funerals, come at the wrong end of accidents to be effective preventive." — Tampa Morning Tribune.

Just what legal restrictions insurance companies might encounter by such a policy is a question. But the suggestion of the Tribune is a good one as the starting point toward accident prevention. Some responsibility required on part of driver makes him more careful.

Sleeping Volcanoes of Pacific May Make, in Scientists' Opinion

Tacoma, Wash., Sept.—(AP)—Ice-crowned volcanic cones along the Pacific Coast generally are presumed to be dead. Scientists, however, agree that they are not merely burned-out shells, but it is entirely possible that one or more of them might erupt at any time.

Mount Rainier and Mount Baker in Washington, Mount Hood in Oregon and Mount Shasta and Lassen Peak in California are individuals in a great series of volcanoes that extends in a circle for 10,000 miles or more around the North Pacific ocean in both North America and Asia. There was a time in the opinion of the scientists, when these peaks were in violent eruption at the same time, so that a chain of fire bonnets the Pacific Coast, for the five peaks are so close together that any one in eruption could be observed from its nearest neighbors.

Since 1914 Lassen has been in frequent eruption, and it is regarded as scientifically established that one of the volcanoes can be called dead. All except Lassen have been quiet for several thousand years, in the opinion of expert reckoning.

During the past century there have been several minor eruptions from Mount Rainier, the mightiest of the five volcanoes. It has been hundreds of years since the great peak blew off a half mile of its top and scattered volcanic ash to a depth of hundreds of feet over large areas of what now is Washington.

Almost every year faint earthquakes are recorded on Rainier, and steam still issues from the crater, which is half a mile across. This steam is so intense that great caverns have been melted in the snow that fills the crater.

These caves, sheltered from the winds and warmed by the escaping steam, have often proved of advantage to persons scaling the peak. Stephens and Van Trump, the first white men to conquer Mount Rainier, more than half a century ago, undoubtedly owed their lives to these steam caves. It would have been impossible for them to have retraced their steps in the darkness, and they could not have lived through a night on the summit without blankets or other protection if it had not been for the timely discovery of the warm caverns.

The steam on top of Mount Rainier is not hot that it will transform a pan of snow to boiling water in ten minutes. Eggs can be cooked if placed in the hot panice of the crater.

CURZON LEAVES NAPOLEONIC RELICS TO OXFORD UNIVERSITY

Oxford.—Under the will of the late Lord Curzon a large and valuable collection of Napoleonic relics, largely relating to the life and death of the Emperor at St. Helena, and a collection of empire furniture have been left to the University of Oxford on condition that these articles shall be housed in the Bodleian library or a museum.

Whether or not the university will accept the gift remains to be seen. For some years it has regularly declined the offer of an enormous collection of postage stamps, the library refusing to take the stamps because they are not books and the art museum refusing them because they are not works of art. These same objections will probably be raised against the acceptance of Napoleonic relics and Empire furniture.

Oscar Blauge, who stops 'em at the hot corner for the Washington team, came like a house on fire this year, until he now ranks as the equal of any third-sacker in the league. In addition, Blauge is a dangerous man at the bat, especially when a wallop is needed to send in a run.

Rev. H. F. Jones Accepts Pastorate Greenville Church

It grieves us to the heart that Rev. H. F. Jones, formerly pastor in Richmond and more recently at Port Norfolk, Portsmouth, is to leave Virginia. He goes to Greenville, N. C., about the first of November to be pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church. It was in this church that the North Carolina Convention was organized, and the church will observe its one hundredth anniversary in 1927. Greenville is a town of about ten thousand people, modern and enterprising, in every respect.

The church is spending $5,000 making the parsonage ready for the new pastor. The North Carolinians will find in this addition to their ministry one of the most lovable, faithful, and efficient pastors and preachers in the whole Southern brotherhood. We recommend him without reserve to their confidence and affection, and earnestly hope that the abundant and varied blessings of our Heavenly Father may rest upon him in his new work. — Richmond Religious Herald.

BRITISH TOWN'S BUSINESS SECTION RAISED FIVE FEET

Northwich, Eng.—Shifting houses bodily several miles, and towns some yards along the level, has often been done, but raising a whole town five feet is something new. This is claimed to have been accomplished by the surveyor of this town in just under three years. The entire business portion of Northwich, including ten streets, three banks, the county court and 200 stores and houses, have been raised to counteract the effect of subsidence caused by the brine pumping which proceeds continually in the salt mines under the town.

There has been no stoppage of business and only eight buildings, including an ancient inn, have had to be demolished because they could not be safely lifted.

In raising operations, parts of the lower brickwork were removed and small hydraulic jacks inserted. Chemists' stores were lifted so carefully that not one bottle was disturbed. The town bridge was raised five feet at each end to bring it up to the new level of the town.

SEEK TOP PRESERVE OLD TIME HARMONY OF NEGRO'S SONGS

Birmingham, Ala.—(AP)—The New South is fast losing one of the cherished traditions of the Old South—the "spirited" and unimitated harmony in the song of the negro.

Industrial progress is believed by music critics to be largely responsible for the changed conditions among the race. The large plantations of Dixie at one time were the homes of the South's chief negro musicians.

"This different now. The few musicians of the race are to be found in the cities and centers of population. But many of these who have become urban citizens have acquired cultural attainments which have detracted from the old-time song.

Big cotton farms in the Far South have been cut up into many smaller tracts. The cotton planter who boasted once of "1,500 plows" can't be found. His negro tenants have found more profitable employment in the cities—in the factories, on the highways, in structural work.

With the scattering of farms help the old-time harmony is passing. One must journey far into Alabama to find negro singing which even approximates the harmony that once existed over the entire South.

Tuskegee Institute is making serious effort to preserve for both the white and negro races the spirit of song originated by the negro. This Institute has produced some of the finest singers. During the last college year, its glee club presented an interpretation of the negro songs of other days which was described as being as nearly perfect as reproduction could be made. Fisk and Hampton likewise have given much thought along similar lines of endeavor at the instance of leaders of both races.

Those who have never heard the real cotton-patch harmony can scarcely appreciate the apprehension of music lovers that this art is about to pass. Fifty negroes, of varied ages in one cotton field are capable of producing an impromptu program of song chant, whistling and chatter that can be found nowhere else on the globe in the opinion of music critics who have traveled far to hear the music in its original setting.

The song is usually one which was never written. It may or may not be one already worked out and familiar to those participating. A negro does not have to "know" a song to join in with his fellows in singing it. Every farm group has a "leader." This person is nearly always a man. He "strikes" his key—and the group is off.

The same song may be sung for an hour, or all day. It never becomes monotonous because of its variations. The present-day jazz artist boasts of his "barber-shop." He knows nothing of "incidental" and "chorus."

The negro singer can "ring in" more notes than have ever been written in the staff. He sings in minor, major and unknown "keys." There's no precedent for what he does. Today he sings a new song and sings it differently from that of yesterday. Tomorrow he will have a new song and more harmony.

No matter what he sings and how he sings it, there is that indescribable rhythm, swing and motion which is as harmonious as the flow of a meadow brook. He knows nothing of crescendo, fortissimo, pianissimo. He does know harmony.

NOTED FILM DIRECTOR LAUDS NEWSPAPER WRITERS' TALENTS

Hollywood, Cal.—Sidney Oleoff, generally believed to be one of the three highest salaried directors in the motion picture business, recently expressed the conviction that the great screen writers and directors of the future will come from the ranks of newspaper men and women.

Oleoff went to step farther and declared that the film industry should capitalize the "nose for news," trigger-like habit of decision, knack of getting details and close-up knowledge of human nature which he said every capable newspaper man or woman possessed.

Singing out Melville E. Stone, veteran counselor of The Associated Press, as an outstanding example to prove his point, the film director said that Mr. Stone embodied the requirements of a writer or director that would have carried him to the very top had he chosen to turn his talents into the field of the silent drama.

MEETING OF THE ROUND TABLE CLUB

On Tuesday afternoon Sept. 29th, the first meeting of the Round Table Club for the fall was held with Mrs. Mrs. J. E. Wingo. Fifteen members were present.

The club has two guests this year, Mrs. J. D. Humber, Mrs. E. B. Higgs, guest and Mrs. N. T. Wright, Mrs. R. G. Fitzgerald's guest. The club gave them a very hearty welcome. The resignation of Mrs. C. J. Ellen was accepted with regrets.

The treasurer reported no indebtedness and some money on hand. The books have arrived and each member will have the pleasure of having something new to read.

The club will take for its study this year "Arm Chair Travels."

Mrs. Humber read a most interesting paper "From Job's to Job Around the World." She told how two young men started out with just a small sum of money in their pockets and how when they were short of funds would stop and work. It made you feel if you had the determination you could surely travel.

"This World of Ours," was the subject of Mrs. J. R. Moye's very interesting paper. She certainly helped everyone to see the different places and different peoples in a very vivid manner.

Each member gave an account of her summer vacation, completing the program.

Delightful refreshments were served by the hostess.

IMPORTANT EPISCOPAL CONFERENCE.

The Get-Together "Meeting of the Women of the Episcopal Churches in Pitt county will be held on Friday at St. John's Parish, below Griston. The first session will begin at 10:30 a. m. with an opening service conducted by the Rev. George F. Cameron, B. D. of Ayden, who is rector also of St. John's.

Interesting papers are expected from Farmville, Winterville, Griston, Ayden and Greenville groups. There will be addresses by the Revs. J. W. Hayes, Farmville; James E. W. Cook, Greenville, and Geo. F. Cameron, Ayden. Special music has been provided, and among the soloists will be Miss Bessie Brown, of this city.

Mrs. Cameron writes: "If Greenville doesn't have a large delegation, St. John's will be sorely disappointed. They are making elaborate preparations for the meeting next Friday. Don't fail us!

The "elaborate preparations" include a splendid dinner such as can only be gotten up by the warm-hearted people. We hope all who possibly can will go on Friday.

AN APPRECIATION OF MRS. LUCY MANGUM

"Blessed are the dead, which die in the Lord; from henceforth yes, with the spirit, that they may rest from their labors, and their works do follow them."

On Aug. 19th, the soul of our beloved sister, Lucy Mangum left its earthly tabernacle and went to dwell "in that city not made with hands, eternal in the heavens."

The news of her going came as a distinct shock to almost every one. So sweet and tranquil was her passing, it was as tho she had stepped from one room into another to meet her Lord.

The consciousness that a familiar and beloved face had disappeared from among us, that a clear head, a strong hand and a generous heart would be felt no more in all that goes to make up the life of a church, cast a shadow over every heart, and in every home. Her strong body was a fit temple for her sturdy alert brain which retained its activity until the end.

Mrs. Mangum's interest in all things was so acute, her love for humanity so great that although she was in her 88th year, no one thought of her as old and infirm, but as one who possessed the charm and buoyancy of youth. Her life was dominated by strong characteristics, loyalty to truth as she believed it, friendliness of manner, a genial spirit, an affectionate nature, a sweet voice and contagious smile. These graces made her a true type of the Southern gentle woman—combined with her cheerful nature was the radiance of her loving spirit. Truly it may be said of her "Write me as one who loves his fellow men."

She numbered her friends by the list of her acquaintance, all who came under the influence of her personal charm were drawn to her by cords of love.

As one of the charter members of the Immanuel Baptist Church her love and interest in every church activity was deep and well grounded always present at every service of the church, her cordial hand clasp, genial smile and eager interest in each individual created around her a home atmosphere and made a stranger feel at home in her presence. The golden glory of her life was felt in every department of the church life from the cradle roll to the Boethia Class. So long as strength permitted she kept in touch with each member by personal visits and when this was not possible she wrote messages of love to them.

In behalf of the loving service she rendered the Immanuel Baptist Church—in grateful memory of her devotion to the cause, The Woman's Missionary Society of the Immanuel Baptist Church Resolve:

1. That we bow in humble submission to God's will feeling grateful that her life was spared to make its impress upon the church during its formative period.

2. We rejoice in the steadfastness of her faith, in the blessed confidence that she has entered into that life everlasting, and trust that renewed power may be given to those who remain to carry on the work so dear to her.

3. That we extend to her loved ones our deepest sympathy. To her daughter, our dear Mrs. Wilson, we offer our tenderest love and affection, sorrowing with her in the departure of Mother whom she cherished with such tender devotion—may the sustaining grace of our Lord and Savior Jesus Christ be ever present to comfort and bless.

Done by order of the Society,

MRS. E. B. HIGGS,
MRS. C. C. PARKERSON,
MRS. J. D. BAZZELL, Committee.

FRANK SILVER REVUE HERE NEXT TUESDAY

Musical revue with all the name implies in the pep and glory of scenic splendor, song and dance and popular jazz orchestra, specialties is the promise of an up-to-the-minute stage entertainment at White's Theatre next Tuesday Oct. 6, when the Frank Silver Revue of 1925 comes to town. This annual Silver revue has been such a whale of a success on the road the past two seasons that its owners decided to invest a considerably larger capital in the preparation of its 1925 edition. All the scenery and costumes are new and much more elaborate, the ensemble numbers are all new and a group of Greenwich Village artists' models has been added to the company. A new book and lyrics has been furnished by Sam Coslow with all new music by Coslow and Silver and the new edition has been staged by Westley Totten of George M. Cohan musical comedy fame who also leads some of the numbers as he did in the successful Cohan productions of recent years making his greatest Cohan hit in "Mary." Frank Silver himself personally leading his famous New York Hippodrome orchestra fresh from its triumph as the band selected to play for the recent Charleston Contest at the Keigh playhouse is the keystone feature of the entertainment, appearing in most of the brilliant ensembles and introducing several new compositions of his own which he has reserved for this tour. The orchestra includes several instrumental specialists who do their stuff for comed yas well as melodies delight.

Although the market had a tendency to harden yesterday, we believe that with cost and freights showing an easier tone and the lack of trade confidence, any advance at this time will be premature and short-lived.

Sugar
Advance yesterday was one of best indications that could be wanted to demonstrate the attractive levels at which sugar is selling and while prices may not show any material change today if any easy spots are uncovered we recommend purchase of new crop.

"A Little Bit of Broadway" Pleases Greenville Audiences

"A Little Bit of Broadway," a brilliant musical comedy was presented in two performances here yesterday by local talent under the auspices of the Geo. B. Singletary chapter of the U. D. C., to capacity houses. The play was a great success and each number of the cast from those taking the leading roles to the minor parts, was splendid.
"A Little Bit of Broadway," a musical comedy in two acts was written and produced by the Misses Burkholder, of Wilmington. The dances, songs and cabaret scenes were beautiful and really made one feel as if they were on the real "Broadway." The costumes, one of the most attractive features, were appropriate for each and every scene and the colored lights added much to the effectiveness of the stage setting.

As a whole the show was the best amateur performance ever presented on the local stage, and two much credit cannot be given both the Misses Burkholder and those taking part, for the splendid entertainment.

Among the members of the cast deserving special mention were Bernice Gardner, as Paul, manager of the Cabaret; Miss Mary Lee Pittman, as Babette, and Miss Bruce Tucker, as Nichette, Cabaret dancing girls; Miss Hannah Dixon, as Anita Bara, star of the Cabaret; Jack Spain, as Maurice, Anita's dancing partner; Dink James, as Hon. Archibald Brown, a gay widower; Miss Margaret Cook as Penelope Smythe, too easily shocked spinster; Miss Ernestine Forbes, as Betsy Brown, from the Sunny South; Miss Margaret Fleming as Winnie Cameron, a flirt; Miss Helen Joyner as Sybil Baxter, Betsy's friend; Jack Marcus, as Harry Gordon, a young New York multi-millionaire; Lester Sumrell, as Donald Elliott, who loves every pretty face; Bill Bradsher, as Montie Clairbourne, in love with Winnie; J. B. Kittrell, as Mutt, a waiter in the Cabaret, and Misses Helene Higga and Emma Mallison, as Cabaret singers.

The special dances "Rose Ballet" by little Miss Pearl Lautares and Miss Vanity to dance, by Miss Bet Dixon and the "Spanish Tango," by Miss Hannah Dixon and Jack Spain were greatly enjoyed.

LA ROCQUE CAB DRIVER IN "WILD, WILD SUSAN"

New York taxi drivers may be a dark and sinister mystery to the average person, but to Rod La Rocque they are like an open book. Rod's knowledge of the flivver chaperons comes from an intensive study of their lives and problems made in the interest of his two latest film appearances. Both in Allan Dwan's "Night Life of New York" and in "Wild, Wild Susan" with Bebe Daniels in the star part, La Rocque has played the role of a taxi driver.

But the job of a taxi pilot is not without its compensations. For instance, in "Wild, Wild Susan" Rod sees Bebe Daniels from his driver's seat in the cab and decides on the spot that she is the one and only girl. Rod is not really a chauffeur, but the son of a rich man, with a lively imagination and a desire for a literary career which impels him to become a member of the hacking fraternity in search of adventure. Trying to catch up with Bebe in her ramblings around New York looking for thrills provides the adventure with a capital "A"

During the filming of exteriors for "Wild, Wild Susan" La Rocque cruised about in a cab, followed by another taxi in which were concealed the motion picture cameras. As he drew up to the hack stand near the Hotel Astor, a would-be passenger approached him. When he told the woman his cab was not for hire, she became abusive, and went into a long tirade against him and all his conferees.

"Wild, Wild Susan," opening today at White's Theatre, is an adaptation by Tom Geraghty of the Liberty magazine, "The Wild, Wild Child," by Steuart Emery.

Retired Minister Tells How He Keeps in Good Form With the Assistance of Black-Draught.

West Graham, Va.—The Rev. Lewis Evans, a well-known retired minister, now past 80, living here, has a high opinion of Black-Draught, which he says he has taken when needed, for 25 years. "For years I had been suffering with my liver," he says. "Sometimes the pain would be very intense and my back would hurt all the time. Black-Draught was the first thing I found that would give me any relief. "My liver has always been sluggish. Sometimes it gives me a lot of trouble. I have suffered a lot with it—pains in my side and back, and bad headache, caused from extreme biliousness. "After I found Black-Draught, I would begin to take it as soon as I felt a spell coming on and it relieved the cause at once. I recommend it to anybody suffering from liver trouble. A dose or two now and then keeps me in good form." Made from selected medicinal roots and herbs, and containing no dangerous mineral drugs, Black-Draught is nature's own remedy for a tired, lazy liver. NC-166
