Judges to Be Announced Tomorrow and Ballot Box Will Be Ready for Reserve Votes Thursday Morning; Campaign Department Requests Cash Instead of Checks

Arrangements looking toward the close of the Daily Reflector's subscription and prize campaign are now going on. Tomorrow's paper will carry the names of those gentlemen who will act as judges in the campaign. They will count the votes that the contestants are now holding in reserve and which will be placed in a locked and sealed ballot box by the workers any time Thursday before the close at 8:00 p. m.

All reserve vote coupons will be placed in this box by the candidates themselves. These votes will be totaled by the judges and each contestant's votes found in the box will be added to that worker's last published list in the paper. The last change in the vote totals as published in the paper will be made on Wednesday. The list will appear on the final day, Thursday, but there will be no change in the totals over Wednesday.

Workers are now allowed to publish 50,000 votes daily above the leader of the previous list. Publish enough of your votes that you now are holding in reserve, to equal the high-standing of the leader and then 50,000 additional.

Contestants are requested not to turn in any more checks. If a subscriber must give you a check have them make it out in your favor and get it cashed before turning it over to the campaign department.

Those workers who had a good week last week in the campaign gained considerably in standing. If you are one of those who had what would call a good week you should carry on even harder this week if such a thing is possible.

Over the week-end the campaign manager checked over the work done by all the workers in the campaign from the start up to last Saturday night and finds many surprises. The candidate who has turned in the most money for subscriptions is running second while the leader of the race which has but three more days to go after today, holds the lead by a narrow margin.

Those who would win and win big must finish with a grand effort. Nothing short of a big week will cinch the prizes for there are more than six workers who have it within their power to earn one of the automobiles during the few remaining days.

State Department of Agriculture Behind Theory 'Buy at Home'

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The State Department of Agriculture through its division of markets, is solidly behind the theory of "buy at home," and is urging this matter up on North Carolinians, especially at this time as relates to baby chicks.

It is reminding prospective purchasers of baby chicks that purebred chicks can be bought in North Carolina, without having to go out side the state, and declares that "we need a campaign in North Carolina to 'buy North Carolina products first'."

The division explains that hatcheries and flocks under its supervision in this state, are being accredited. The plans for this, accrediting were worked out last spring, with a view to improvement of the poultry breeding flocks of the stock in the state, as well as the successful marketing of poultry and eggs. The accrediting is being done, not to the prejudice of non-accredited flocks in this state, but purely so that North Carolina purchasers of baby chicks may have a means of knowing where they can buy purebred baby chicks within their own state.

J. W. Lewis, livestock specialist of the department, is making efforts to get in touch with those interested in buying baby chicks, and is reminding them that "there will be lots of good chicks produced within the state this year."

GOV'T. ESTIMATES COTTON CROP OVER 15 MILLION BALES

Last Year's Crop Totaled 13,627,936 Bales; Prices Broke $6.00 a Bale on Publication of Government Estimate

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Cotton prices broke $6.00 a bale today on publication of the government crop estimate of 15,226,000 bales, which was an increase of 467,000 bales of the forecast of October 1.

New Orleans, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The government estimate of the cotton production was larger than expected and prices showed loss of 81 to 91 points of the price ruling just before the report was issued and this was a loss of 127 points on December or more than $6 a bale from the high prices of the morning.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A probable cotton production of about 15,226,000 equivalent 500 pound bales, the Department of Agriculture announced today, is indicated by reports as of conditions on October 18 abandonment of acreage, probable yield and ginning. A probable crop of 14,759,000 bales was indicated two weeks ago. Last year's crop totaled 13,627,936 bales.

The probable yield from October 18th indication is placed at 164.7 pounds of lint cotton of harvested acres compared with 152 pounds on October 1, this year.

An abandonment of cotton acreage since June 25 of 4.8 percent leaving about 44,231,000 acres for harvesting this year is indicated by preliminary reports. That compares with 4.1 percent abandonment from June 25 to the close of the season of three percent in 1924 of 4.1 percent in 1923 and a ten year average of 3.3.

Cotton of this year's crop ginned prior to October 8 totaled 9,519,784 running bales including linters, the census bureau announced. Last year on this date 7,615,981 bales had been ginned. The percentage of abandonment of acreage since June 25th and the indicated production follows:

Virginia abandonment one percent production 48,000 bales. North Carolina two percent and 1,120,000 bales. Tennessee 1.5 and 475,000 bales. Texas nine percent and 4,050,000 bales.

The ginnings prior to October 18 follows: North Carolina 709,909. South Carolina 731,690. Tennessee 234,672. Virginia 21,952. Texas 2,404,460.

FRENCH CABINET MEET POSTPONED UNTIL TOMORROW

Minister of Finance Caillaux Sticking to His Financial Guns and Will Not Consent to a Levy On Capital

Paris, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The French Cabinet crisis has been put off for another day. Premier Painleve and his colleagues adjourned this morning without taking final decision on the financial situation and the convocation of a Cabinet council with President Doumergue was postponed until tomorrow. Minister of Finance Caillaux is sticking to his financial guns. He will not consent to a levy on capital which is desired by a majority of his colleagues, and he refuses to resign his portfolio until he is defeated by a vote in Parliament. This being the situation the only way for Premier Painleve to eliminate his financial minister is to resign with all his ministers. Then is the Premier would not be beaten by a vote in the Chamber of Deputies, President Doumergue, in accordance with Husage, would call upon Premier Painleve to form another cabinet, which he could do without giving M. Caillaux a port folio, either taking the ministry of Finance himself or giving it to some other person.

DRIVE AGAINST AUTO TAXES WAS RENEWED TODAY

House Ways and Means Committee Starts on Final Week of Public Hearing Revision Revenue Law

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The drive against automobile taxes was renewed today before the House Ways and Means Committee as it started its second and final week of public hearing on revision of the Revenue law. Automobile Association Representatives seeking repeal of the five percent levy on passenger cars were followed today by Representative of many other fields of business and manufacture, who sought relief from the special levies now applying against them.

Taxes on jewelry, capital stock, arms and ammunition, photographic lenses, brokers and bonds, all came under fire. Twenty two persons expected to appear before the commission during the day and most of them were seeking repeal of certain levies. With the conclusion of the hearing this week Chairman Green will call the committee into executive session to commence work immediately upon the drafting of the tax reduction bill.

Many of the miscellaneous rates, such as those up for discussion today, are expected to be reduced or repealed, although Secretary Mellon favors repeal only of those yielding small returns, such as levy on art works, in addition to the tax on automobile trucks, tires and accessories.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 26.—(AP) Fire starting in the furnace room of Serva Arondale Company shortly before midnight last night completely destroyed the company's publishing plant and the main office of the Western Union Telegraph Company, taking an estimated toll of $100,000. Only heroic efforts prevented other buildings in the same block from burning.

TEN SEA PLANES TORN INTO PIECES BY TERRIFIC GALE

Seven Others Badly Damaged Will Be Repaired While Motors From Others Will Be Salvaged

Baltimore, Md., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Ten United States Sea Planes were battered into shapeless heaps and seven less seriously damaged yesterday when under the buffeting of a terrific south west gale that dragged with it them or broke loose from 475 point anchors and piled up on the seawall and beach at Salliers Point near the mouth of the Patuxent River. Six others rode safely out of the storm.

Commander Thomas G. Elyson, in charge of the Sea Plane Squadron said seven of the ships would be repaired and flown back to Hampton Rhodes and also believed the motors from the other ten could be salvaged. The planes had been in service only about two months and comprised one sixth of the Navy's craft of this particular class. Exclusive of the values of the motors, the casualties represent a loss of $25,000 per plane.

A mooring for the craft had been chosen as the most suitable to protect the planes from a south east storm, warning of which had been received from Washington. When the gale blew up out of the south west however, the expected safe anchorage was turned into an open roadstead and the protecting land becoming a treacherous shore.

TORNADO SWEEPS MANY COUNTIES IN ALABAMA SUNDAY

Takes Toll of Seventeen Lives, Injuries Many and Leaves Thousands of Dollars Damage in Its Wake

Troy, Alabama, Oct. 26.—(AP)—President of many portions of Pike, Barbour, and Crenshaw counties today were endeavoring to bring order out of chaos that resulted from a tornado yesterday afternoon which claims a known toll of seventeen lives, injured many, rendered many homeless and left thousands of dollars damage in its wake.

Troy Red Cross forces and local physicians were ministering to the needs of the injured and were assisting the stricken people to adjust themselves. A relief fund was started here yesterday afternoon and is being made immediately available to the stricken individuals.

The death list could not be completed as to names today owing to the widely scattered districts, some of them remote from telephone and telegraph communication and because of the general damage to wires by the storm. Residents near the path of the tornado were aroused by the roar of the twister and the cries of the injured. They rushed into the stricken area in a deluge of rain working for hours in the search for the dead and giving aid to the injured.

Says Poultry Raising in State Can Be Made Profitable Business

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The division of markets of the State Department of agriculture has pointed to the experience of R. V. Vernon, a Union county farmer living near Monroe, as an example that poultry raising in North Carolina can be made a profitable business.

It is related that Mr. Vernon started the season with 300 barred rock hens. On July 1, he culled these 300 and sold 100 of the culls.

Since that time, it is pointed out, Mr. Vernon has kept nearly 200 laying hens. Up to September 1, this year, he had sold $703 worth of eggs and 150 broilers, in addition to the 100 cull hens. No exact record of the amount of money the hens and broilers brought, Mr. Vernon, says the division of markets, figured the cost of feeding at comparatively nothing at all, as all the feed was raised on land that would otherwise have been idle.

"Besides the income from this source," said Mr. Vernon, "the money the eggs and hens sold for will more than keep my family, and the proceeds from the other crops raised can be used for other purposes."

Save health authorities are advising the population to substitute candy for tobacco. Still, how many men would walk a mile for a cigarette?

CONTESTS IN ORATORY

Oratory is not a lost, but a neglected art. Public speakers, after the manner of poets, are both born and made. No matter how naturally gifted one may be, his gifts can be perfected only by training and practice. And even a poor or indifferent speaker can be measurably improved in public speech by discipline and perseverance.

Disraeli was howled down when he first attempted to address parliament. But as he took his seat, he warned his jeers that they would some day listen to him with rapt attention. And they did. Bryan, as a youth, had all the fire, but none of the graces of the orator. While others were asking to be relieved from practice in public-speaking, he took extra assignments. In his first contest, he won second place. In the second he came off winner of the prize.

It is regrettable that the oratorical contest does not hold the place in the esteem of college students that it formerly held. Quite apart from one's vacation, the ability to speak with ease and clarity before an audience is a valuable asset.

The age of oratory—real oratory—never passes. The charm of distinctive conversation and of noble eloquence is as enduring as Egyptian pyramids.

TAXING "UNEARNED" INCOME

In the present income tax law congress intended to differentiate between earned and unearned incomes. Its means to this end was an arbitrary designation of all incomes over $10,000 as unearned and of all incomes of less than $5,000 as earned. Incomes between $5,000 and $10,000 were omitted from both classifications.

The unfairness of this plan is obvious to everyone. It plainly discriminates against the man having an earned income of more than $5,000 and it unduly favors the unearned income of less than $5,000. Equality of taxation is, however, an American ideal.

A good argument can be made in favor of imposing somewhat heavier taxes on unearned than on earned income—meaning unearned incomes those derived from investments and speculation and by earned incomes those derived from labor. To the first class belong interest, profits and rents; the other consists of wages and salaries.

Public opinion favors a higher tax rate on the unearned income, not only because earned incomes predominate but for the reason that the public is more loath to take from the worker than from the capitalist, and for the additional reason that unearned incomes do not stop when the recipient is disabled or unemployed.

September's Fire Loss in North Carolina Totals $259,865

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—North Carolina's fire loss for the month of September, as announced today by Insurance Commissioner Stacey W. Wade, was $259,865.

This figure compared with the loss in the state during September 1924 shows a big decrease, the figure for September of a year ago being $351,923. And this decrease of $92,058 in the fire loss over September of a year ago occurred, despite the fact that the value of the property at risk last month was much greater than it was during September, 1924. Property at risk last month was valued at $3,762,178, while that at risk during September, 1924, was $2,304,379.

The report also shows a much bigger amount of insurance carried on the property at risk. During September 1924, on property at risk valued at $2,304,479, $1,415,481 insurance was involved. Last month, on property at risk valued at $3,762,178, the insurance involved was $2,698,290.

The report also shows that there were fewer fires reported last month than during September a year ago. The total fires a year ago were 144, while the total for last month was 134-10 less.

Of the total number of fires this year, 67 were in dwellings, of which six were rural and 60 town dwellings, while the same number, 67, were other than dwelling fires, 7 of them in the rural sections and 60 town fires.

The total loss of all rural fires was $51,447, as compared with a total loss in the cities and towns of $208,408 for last month. A large part of the rural fire loss was from one fire in Roberson county, says the report, where a cotton storage warehouse was burned by lightning, with a reported loss of $32,000.

The greatest losses were: a tobacco warehouse in Wilson, $55,000; a wholesale grocery store in Henderson, $34,000; a business building at Winston-Salem, $17,823; a store at Goldsboro, $15,000; and a warehouse and storage house in Gaston county $9,000.

There were 11 fires, where the loss was more than $5,000 each. The aggregate of the losses from these largest fires was $195,823, or an average for the 11 of $17,802. The aggregate loss from the remaining 23 fires was $64,082, or an average loss of $521 per fire.

"A significant circumstance," commented Commissioner Wade today, is revealed by the fire records of several important cities, especially Asheville. In that city, with a reported shortage of water, the fire loss was the lowest on record for July, still lower in August, with a loss of only $70, and with a loss for September of just $60.

"Two other cities, high Point and Durham, where there was great fear of water shortage in the peak of the September drought, there was not a dollar of fire loss, these cities thereby getting on the honor roll of the department."

Other cities with no fire losses during the month, and therefore on the honor roll of the Insurance Department, were: New Bern, Mount Airy, Sanford, Tarboro, Kernersville, Pinetops, Bryson City, Elm City, Wake Forest, Jefferson, Middlesex, Franklin, Fairmont, Granite Falls and Leaksville.

INDIANS BACK TO RICE FIELDS AS HARVEST MACHINERY FAILS

Cass Lake, Minn.—Machinery, ally of the pale face, has failed in its effort to collect rice in the innumerable lakes of Minnesota and the Indians have been temporarily successful in defending their traditional monopoly of the wild rice harvest.

F. J. Scott, acting superintendent of the Consolidated Chippewa Agency here, said this was due to the impracticability of modern rice harvesting machinery rather than to the counter efforts of the red man.

The Indians were greatly alarmed at the appearance of rice harvesting machines. They not only threatened to remove an indispensable means of making a livelihood but literally destroyed the precious fields. The heavy boats necessary to carry the benderlike contraptions ripped the tender stalks from the shallow water, spoiling virtually all rice that the reaper missed.

Now the tribesmen and their families in birch-bark canoes and awkward, but light flat-bottom boats, are proceeding as in the days of old.

HOHENZOLLERN LIBRARY OF 100,000 VOLUMES IS HELD

Berlin.—The family library of the Hohenzollerns, comprising about 100,000 volumes, besides numerous maps, maps and publications and sketches, forms part of the Hohenzollern inventory claimed by the German Republic as being the property of the state. Pending the ultimate decision of the courts the library remains in the former Royal Castle at Berlin. The library was founded September 29, 1822, when the private libraries of Frederick the Great, King Frederick William II, III and IV, and the small but valuable personal library of the Queen Louise of Prussia, were incorporated. Prior to that date these various libraries were kept at different castles.

The originator of the idea of founding a library of the Hohenzollerns was Duvigne, the librarian of Frederick William IV, who suggested the plan to the king in 1859. His suggestion, however, did not meet with the approval of the Treasury of the Royal Household and it was not until 1862 that his successor, Dr. Dohme, overcame this opposition.

By 1871 the new library contained 10,000 volumes. At the suggestion of Emperor William I, a number of contributions from the library were made to other libraries.

From 1880 to 1888 the Hohenzollern library was steadily enlarged, rearranged and recatalogued and with the ascension of Emperor William II, and the new librarian, Walter Robert Tornow, it was given an entirely new lease. By an Imperial edict in 1895 a large number of smaller family libraries scattered among the various castles were also incorporated.

Although the Hohenzollern Family Library was intended for the exclusive use of the Hohenzollerns and their court retainers, it was accessible to all intellectual persons who had an interest in studying the books.

GUNNYBAGS STILL MADE WHERE VIGILANTES HAD THE FORT GUNNYBAGS

San Francisco.—A company on lower Sacramento street manufactures gunnybags on the site of old Fort Gunnybags, of sinister memory in the stirring gold rush years at the threshold of San Francisco's history.

Fort Gunnybags was the place where the vigilantes hanged criminals in 1851, when for a few months these dispensers of summary justice had entire control of the city. The year preceding had been lawless, and the histories say that 100 murderers had gone unpunished. The Vigilance committee was organized, enrolling 5,000 men on a military plan. Arms were seized from the state. Sacks were filled with sand and piled high in a building, over which guns were mounted—hence Fort Gunnybags.

Birds Perpetuate Oak Tree.

London.—Professional foresters in England are not planting many oak trees, but the birds are carrying acorns and in wasterlands the oak is being perpetuated by nature despite the decline in the demand for oak in commerce. Concrete has displaced oak for fenceposts and in many parts of England sycamore and other soft woods are more popular with builders.

Irene Castle's excellent taste and style sense again come to the fore in this clever "Corticelli" Satin-Tremaine Frock with its smart waistline, shirred ever so slightly and coaxed into a point. Magnificent brocaded embroidery adds a wealth of beauty to sleeves and collar. Madame and Mademoiselle may don this Frock for early Fall wear with the delightful assurance that it has the approval of "America's Best Dressed Woman."

"For those who delight in a youthful model," says Irene Castle, "nothing is smarter than this Coat, lined with "Corticelli" Crepe Eldora and lavishly trimmed with lynx fur. Rich braid elegantly supplements the smartness of simple lines that will be recognized immediately by smart femininity as one of the distinguishing characteristics that give Irene Castle the reputation of being America's fashion connoisseur."

Speed Demons to Meet in Charlotte On Armistice Day

Charlotte, Oct. 24. — Eighteen world famous automobile race drivers—masters of the roaring board—will bring their motors for another thrilling spectacle of speed and daring on the Charlotte Speedway November 11th.

For the third time within a year they will gather on what is considered the fastest track constructed, to participate in three dangerous sprints of driving piggy automobiles—smaller even than Fords—250 miles in less than two hours.

Their feat exhibits are well remembered by all who thrilled to a new sensation of speed madness as they circled the giant bowl, their cars roaring and humming at a dizzy pace. The third scene of this death defying drama will be enacted under even more spectacular circumstances. Familiarity with the oval which hosted even the veterans of the sport in their attempt to scale the almost perpendicular banks may be the basis for a record-producing event. Then too, the new stars who have risen in the firmament of motor racing—all coveting the sped purple—threaten to heighten the competition for the $25,000 purse and the national championship.

Once more followers of the sport will see the youthful Peter DePaolo,

48th Triennial Gen. Conference Concluded This Morning at 11:45 in Appeal of Scopes

New Orleans, Oct. 24.—(AP) Business of the 48th Triennial General Conference of the Protestant Episcopal Church was concluded at 11:45 o'clock this morning and the Bishop's then repaired to Christ Church where the final closing services were held and the pastoral letter read.

Who leaped into fame within the year by outstripping his seasoned adversaries in four major encounters, DePaolo is the sensation of the 1925 motor racing season. Until his first victory at Fresno, Cal., early in the year, he was virtually unknown as an automobile race driver. His chief claim to fame, prior to that time, was that he was a nephew of a great speedway idol, Ralph DePalma. DePaolo has defeated his uncle in several contests and now is leading claimants for the 1925 speed crown. In the coterie of speed demons will be also boyish Bob McDonogh who, since his appearance here last May, has won a place among the speedway aces by carrying off first honors at Altoona Labor Day. Under the tutelage of the veteran Tommy Milton, 1921 champion, he has learned the art of speedway racing. His return forecasts one of the most hotly contested races pitted as he will be, against the daring DePaolo.

Harry Hartz, young and handsome owner of three high-powered racing cars, will be back with his team, Leon Dray and Fred Comer. They are a formidable combination and one or all of them are usually found among the successful contenders.

Fresh from his triumph abroad, Tommy Milton, who received the plaudits of European royalty, will display that same spirit of sportsmanship; that won for him at Monza, Italy. And with him also will be Peter Kreis, another of America's representatives in the Grand Prix classic, who astounded the Europeans with his bursts of speed.

Jerry Wonderlich, the calculating, scientific driver; Earl Cooper and Benny Hill, stars of former days; Dr. William Shattuck, the millionaire physician, who gave up his practice to satisfy his craving for speed and more speed; Phil Shafer, the "Texas Terror," Frank Elliott, former Chicago University gridiron star—these and others newer in the field, will comprise the lineup of drivers who will send their motors roaring around the Charlotte bowl.

Superior Court Opens in Fourteen North Car. Counties Today

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Superior courts opened this morning in fourteen North Carolina counties. In addition to the 13 regular terms a special term has been called for Randolph county. For the two weeks special term, which will be devoted to the criminal docket, Governor McLean has named C. C. Lyon, of Elizabethtown as emergency Judge. Of the 13 regular terms, seven are for the trial of both criminal and civil cases, four are for the trial of civil cases only, and two will be devoted exclusively to the criminal calendars. Seven of the regular terms are for one week, while the other six will continue through the second week. In Cumberland county, Judge Albin Dunn, of Greenville, will preside over a two weeks term for the trial of civil cases only. Judge Dunn opened the special two week term beginning in Buncombe county last week, but he is being relieved of the second week's court by Judge G. V. Cowper, of Kinston, appointed by Governor McLean as an emergency Judge to hold this second week of Buncombe court, in order that Judge Dunn might hold the Cumberland court, as called for by the court calendar. Judge A. M. Stack, of Monroe, was to have presided at the one week civil term opening in Stokes county today, he having exchanged with Judge Michael Schenck, of Hendersonville, who originally was to have held this court. Due, however, to a death in Judge Stack's family, Governor McLean has appointed Walter Brock, of Winston-Salem, as emergency judge to hold the Stokes county term. The two weeks term in Fake county, over which Judge G. E. Midyette, of Jackson, will preside has been converted into a mixed term, instead of a term for the trial of civil cases only, as it was originally intended to be.

Other courts opening today, follows: Dare county, one week for the trial of both civil and criminal cases, Judges Thomas H. Calvert, of Raleigh, presiding.

Washington county, one week mixed term, with Judge E. H. Cramer, of Southport, presiding.

Chatham one week of criminal court, Judge W. A. Devin, of Oxford, presiding.

Pitt, one week civil and one week mixed court, with Judge W. M. Bond, of Edenton, presiding.

Sampson, two weeks for the trial of both criminal and civil cases. Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount will preside.

Granville, one week civil term, with Judge H. A. Grady, of Clinton, presiding.

Surry, two weeks term for the trial of both criminal and civil cases, Judge T. B. Finley, of North Wilkesboro, presiding.

Gaston, one week term of criminal court, with Judge T. D. Bryson, of Bryson City, presiding.

Madison, one week mixed term, Judge John E. Cglesby, of Concord, presiding.

Swain, two weeks, for the trial of both criminal and civil cases, Judge J. L. Webb, of Shelby, presiding.

Oxford Debaters to Appear at the University Soon

Chapel Hill, Oct. 26.—Thursday night, November 5, has been set as the date for the appearance here of the Oxford University (England) debating team. The engagement here with the University of North Carolina is the only Southern contest in which the Englishmen will participate on their present tour of the United States.

The University considers itself unusually fortunate in securing the Oxford team and is making a great many preparations for the event. The contest will be held in Memorial Hall, which seats 1300 persons comfortably, and President Chase will preside. The event is to be widely heralded in Chapel Hill and while admission is free to everybody, special invitations are to be sent to all former University debaters and others who might be specially interested.

"THE COAST OF FOLLY."

The Paramount picture, "The Coast of Folly," produced by Allan Dwan from the novel of the same name by Coningsby Dawson and starring Gloria Swanson at White's Theatre today and tomorrow is what is described as a story "that is a warning for the girl who dares; an idyll for the girl who cares."

The picture brings Gloria to the screen in a story that is as unlike "Madame Sans Gene," her previous success, as day is from night. "The Coast of Folly" is laid against a background of Palm Beach and New York and offers the gorgeous Gloria her first dual role on the screen.

When Joyce Gathway is a little girl her mother runs off with a lover. Twenty years later, at Palm Beach, the celebrated "coast of folly" where so many lives, young and old, are wrecked upon the rocks of public opinion and the treacherous shoals of slander. Joyce Gathway, the very image of her mother, the infamous Nadine as she is termed, is the acknowledged leader of the younger set. She has inherited her father's immense fortune, with but one provision and that a much-discussed one, that in the event that she should ever become involved in any notoriety, she automatically loses her fortune.

The gossips are chatting maliciously over her friendship with Larry Fay (Anthony Jovitti), the young husband of the notorious cold and beautiful Mrs. Fay, played by Dorothy Cumming, who does not love her husband but who, on the other hand, hasn't the slightest intention of letting him—or rather his millions—escape her. Larry finds in Joyce all the companionship and understanding that he is denied by his wife, while to him Joyce is her real self which the code of "the coast" and her set forbid her to be—a natural, loving and wholesome girl.

Where Greenville Meets Monday -- Tuesday Direction of Jack Marcus

Take a Trip with Gloria Swanson along the "Coast of Folly"

This cruise must be made at some time by everybody. The party starts at Inspiration Point and proceeds down the River of Doubt to Suspicion Bay. Once this point is passed, the only two other dangerous spots are Jewel Reef and Sable Island, where any cruise is likely to be wrecked. Happiness Island, near Cape of Good Hope, is reached only by way of the Channel of Faith where few ships ever put in but once there, rarely ever depart.
