TEACHERS COLLEGE ALREADY BOOKED CAPACITY TERM '26

Chances Are That College Will Be Compelled to Refuse Admission to One Thousand Young Ladies

(By M. L. WRIGHT.)

In a recent interview Robert H. Wright, President of East Carolina Teachers College, gave out the information that the college is already booked to its capacity for the fall term of 1926. "The number the college can accommodate" said Mr. Wright, "was reached some days ago. A few more are being booked than can be accommodated in order to take the places of those who are provisionally hindered from coming. Twenty seven more reservations have already been made than we have space to accommodate."

"This means," President Wright went on to state, "that for the next nine months we must spend a good portion of our time writing girls that we can not take them into the college next year. Last year, as best we could estimate, we turned away more than five hundred girls."

"Last year we reached the saturation point in April. We spent the rest of the year turning away applicants. This year we are reaching it in November. For the next nine months we will have to renew the same old story, 'we are sorry, but we can't take you.' The chances are that we will be compelled to refuse admission to more than a thousand young ladies this year."

On being asked whether the girls who are turned away by the college go to college elsewhere, he replied "Some of them do, but many do not. We get inquiries every few days from girls who were turned away last year asking when we will be able to accept them. Some of them go to teaching when they cannot enter the college of their choice. Every time we refuse admittance to a young woman it robs the children of the state of one more trained teacher."

If these girls were coming here merely to acquire a social polish maybe the situation would not be so bad, but there are more than 1700 white teachers in North Carolina with less than a high school education teaching more than 60,000 white children. These are the conditions that make the situation tragic. The state owes it to the children of North Carolina to see to it that there are enough trained teachers to put one in every school room in the state.

"More than 2000 boys and girls were refused admission to the colleges of North Carolina last year. The chances are that there will be twice that many next year. The people of North Carolina are prosperous. We have the money to educate our children. But how can we do it if the institutions will not hold them?"

"In 1923-24 the people of North Carolina by special taxation and bond issues, spent enough money on public school house construction to build six five-thousand dollar school rooms for every day in the year, including Sundays. The year preceding, the normal schools of North Carolina turned out 182 graduates and 141 of these went into the school rooms of the state. In other words, we trained one-half of a teacher a day, and we built six good school rooms a day. That is, we put up twelve school rooms for every teacher we trained. Now we must have school houses, but a school house will not educate the child. The school house, at best, is nothing but a work shop, a place for the teacher and the child to meet to produce the thing that we call education. We may spend millions, and we are doing what in school house construction and in transportation, but that will not educate our children. We must train teachers if we want to educate the childhood of this state. It is the most important thing before the people of North Carolina today. Ample training of teachers for the public schools is the greatest public service the people of North Carolina can render to the childhood of this state."

GREENVILLE ON THE HONOR ROLL STATE FIRE DEPARTMENT

Fire Loss During October Almost $100,000 Less Than for Same Period Last Year

Raleigh, Dec. 3. (AP)—North Carolina's fire loss during October of this year was almost $100,000 less than during October, 1924, and was more than $40,000 less than during October, 1923, the monthly report of fire loss issued today by the State Insurance Department shows.

The report was issued late, it was explained at the Insurance Department due to the belated vacation of Andrew Joyner, publicity director, statistician of the department, who has just returned from his vacation.

The exact figures from the three October are: October, 1923, $323,053; October, 1924, $331,981; and October, 1925, $282,061.

Of the total loss during October last, $180,650 was due to nine fires. The remaining 163 fires caused a loss of only $101,414, or an average loss of $620 per fire. The latter figures include all fires where the loss was less than $3,000.

The heaviest loss of the month was at Oxford, where a fire in a hosiery mill caused damage of $55,000; the next largest loss was caused by a store fire at Winston-Salem, with a loss of $49,200; a veneer plant at Edenton came third, with a loss of $22,000.

Aside from fires in Winston-Salem and Durham—one for each city—there was not a single fire loss in any of the larger cities of the state amounting to more than $5,000.

While there were many fires in the state during the month, Commissioner Stacey W. Wade takes pride in the records made by Charlotte, Wilmington, Greensboro, Rocky Mount, Raleigh, and High Point, where the combined loss for October was $27,595, or an average per city of $4,500. In this class, Asheville holds first place, with a total loss of $1300 for the month. Records made by other cities which are noted by the report include those of Goldsboro, $400 loss; Washington, $220; Kinston, $50; New Bern, $150; Lumberton, $300; Salisbury, $580; Lexington, $200; Gastonia, $1,600; Elizabeth City, $1,400; Hickory, $2,000; and Dunn, $40.

The following points had no fire during the month, and are placed on the Department's honor roll. Greenville, Roxboro, Waynesville, Clinton, Sanford, Lincolnton, Marion, Shelby, Graham, Ayden, Elkin, Smithfield, Mt. Airy, Raeford, Aberdeen, Fairmont, Jefferson, Bonlee, Pinetops, Elm City, Weaverville, Hookerton, Middlesex and Granite Falls.

With some Senators insisting however that Mr. LaFollette's speeches in his recent campaign constituted attacks on the President and the Republican party, Senator Watson, of Indiana, Vice Chairman of the conference, is still studying his campaign. Another element of uncertainty is whether Senator LaFollette will accept the formal invitation to attend the conference sent him yesterday by Chairman Curtis. He has declined thus far to indicate his intentions.

On the House side, while Representative Nelson, of Wisconsin, as spokesman for the insurgents there, says they will not perfect a formal organization as they did three years ago, leaders of the group have not indicated their attitude on the proposals of speaker designate Longworth that they be returned to the party council as to support Republican candidates for House officials.

Chapel Hill, Dec. 3.—The North Carolina chapter of the American Guild of Organists will hold its annual meeting in Chapel Hill on Dec. 11 and 12 under the auspices of the University Music Department.

The visiting members will be entertained on the evening of December 11 at a concert to be given in Memorial Hall by the Chernavsky Trio. The concert will be preceded by an informal dinner at the Carolina Inn. Among the other features of the meeting will be a public recital on the morning of December 12 by Dean H. A. Shirley of the School of Music of Salem College, one of the most prominent of southern organists. He will play on the new organ in the Episcopal church.

Francis Womack, of Reidsville, the present dean of the North Carolina chapter, will preside over the sessions. All organists in the State are invited to attend the meetings. Prof. Paul J. Weaver, head of University Music Department and former dean of the North Carolina chapter, is in charge of local arrangements.

COUNCIL BLUFFS VISITED BY MILLION DOLLAR FIRE TODAY

Flames Star in the Basement Continental Furniture Company When Boiler Explodes

Council Bluffs, Iowa, Dec. 3. (AP)—The most disastrous fire in the history of Council Bluffs raged in the downtown district for several hours today before being gotten under control. The loss was estimated at $1,000,000. The fire started from an explosion in a boiler in a furniture store.

Eighty guests at the Grand Hotel were safe although forced to flee in scant attire when the flames enveloped and later destroyed the hotel. Their personal property was lost.

Eight fire companies from Omaha and Council Bluffs battled the flames and for a time it appeared as if the fire would spread throughout the entire downtown district.

Austin, Tex., Dec. 3. (AP)—Governor Miriam Ferguson was back on the job today after a two day visit to her home town of Temple, Texas, to find before her a new appeal for a special session of the legislature and a $600,000 school issue contract threatening to widen the breach between her and Attorney General Dan Moody. Southern Texas stock raisers and dairy men in an appeal yesterday asked for a special session to appropriate funds to reimburse them for stock killed by Federal and State authorities in combating the recent foot and mouth plague. Some of the smaller stock owners were left in "desperate circumstances," it was reported, "by failure of the state to pay for cattle killed."

It also charged that the owners gave up their cattle "through force or presence of Texas rangers." The stock owners plea also added to the demand of the 50 legislators, who presented a petition to the governor threatening her with a special session called by the speaker of the House if she did not issue the call by December 16. Today also was expected to bring the appointments by the Governor of New Highway Commissioners to succeed the two who resigned following the recent suit of Mr. Moody against the American Road Company.

The week beginning January 4, Judge Cramer will preside at a one-week civil term in Brunswick county. The following week, he will hold a criminal term in New Hanover, and the third week Judge Cramer will be in Pender, at a one-week mixed term.

CHURCHES OF CITY TO HOLD UNION SERVICE ON CHRISTMAS DAY

Christmas Tree to Be Erected On Court House Lawn, Where Appropriate Services Will Be Held

The Greenville Ministerial Association met in special session Monday morning at the call of the president, Rev. L. E. Ballard, to consider the suggestion of Rev. W. S. Harden, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, for a union Christmas celebration.

After discussion the pastors decided to ask the co-operation of the religious organizations of the city in a Christmas service to be conducted Christmas evening on the court house square. The following plan for the celebration was adopted: A Christmas tree is to be erected on the lawn in front of the court house the day before Christmas, the same to be well decorated and lighted. At the vesper hour Christmas day a choir of singers selected from all the churches of the town will parade the streets singing Christmas carols. They will march to the square, where all the people of the community are asked to come, bringing gifts of all kinds, money, provisions, clothing or anything of value. The offerings of the people will be placed beneath the Christmas tree, and there dedicated to the Lord, by an appropriate service. On the following day these offerings will be distributed by a committee to the needy of the community, and the money received will be used in social-service and welfare work.

To carry out the plan two committees have been selected. An arrangements committee, with Mr. John Clark as chairman, will see to the securing of a tree and arrangements for the service on the square, and a White City Committee, with Mr. R. T. Furrer, Post Office, and Mr. J. H. Furrer, as chairman, will look after the receiving and distribution of the offerings. This committee is to be composed of one member from each church and other religious and social service organization in the city, and will prepare in advance a list of shut-ins and needy persons and families, investigating each case. Professor H. E. Austin, of East Carolina College was selected as director of music, and will have charge of arranging and training the choir for the occasion. The president of the Ministerial Association will serve ex-officio as a member of each committee.

The service is to be well advertised, and the ministers are expecting the support of the public in a cause that should appeal to all.

BURIED CITY FOUND IN PIKE COUNTY, MO

Beneath Twelve Feet, Well Defined Shaft Uncovered Leading to Floor 65 Feet Down

Quincy, Ill., Dec. 3. (AP)—A buried city, the site perhaps of a pre-glacial age civilization, has been found in excavations in Pike county, Missouri, six miles from the Mississippi and 50 miles from here.

Beneath twelve feet of glacial drift, a well defined shaft has been uncovered leading to a floor 65 feet down. A wall leads from the top of the shaft, crossed by a similar wall, either dividing the passage by subterranean chambers or supporting the roof.

Forbes Re-Union Held In Honor of Mrs. Lou Forbes' Birthday

The heart of Mrs. Lou Forbes, better known as "Cousin Lou" or "Grandma" was made glad on last Tuesday by her children who gathered together at the home of Mr. W. G. Stokes to honor her on her 80th birthday. It was kept a profound secret from her until about 12:30. Early that morning one of her neighbors drove by and asked her if she didn't want to go visiting with her. She readily consented to go. When they returned home she was overjoyed to see every member of her family present except three.

She was ushered into the dining room and there was spread a feast such as is seldom seen. Her own boys and girls sat around the table and she sat at the head. The center piece was a lovely bouquet of bronze and lavender, chrysanthemums with ferns. Just in front of Grandma was a large birthday cake with eighty candles burning brightly. There was a hushed silence as one of her sons returned thanks and then Grandma blew out the candles. The menu consisted of turkey, barbecue, chicken and ham; salads, pickles, sandwiches, bread, potatoes, cakes, fruit and grapes. It was indeed a touching scene to see the old mother, her eyes filled with tears, seated around this table with her children some of them almost as gray-haired as she.

The children present were Mr. and Mrs. Adolph Garris, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Stokes, Messrs. R. A. and W. H. Forbes and Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Vainright. The grand-children were Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Stokes, Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Allen, William and Inez Forbes, Clifton, Luther, Linda and Louise Stokes, Bob, Olivia and Louise Forbes. The three great grand children were William Raymond and Rosa Burris Stokes and Iva Lynn Allen. Mrs. Georgia A. Dunn, Mrs. Julia F. Garris, Mr. Chester Allen and Mrs. Leta Tyson and son were present as invited guests.

Leftwich Arcade Bld'g. Greensboro Damaged by Fire

Greensboro, Dec. 3. (AP)—For the fourth time this year fire took a heavy property toll here, shortly before six o'clock this morning in the Leftwich Arcade building on Elk street. Fourteen persons, who resided in apartments on the second and third floors, were cut off from escape and were rescued by firemen. Fireman Crumpler was injured as a result of cutting an artery in his leg when kicking slabs out of the door. The damage to the building alone probably will exceed $30,000, and loss to the stores on the main floor from water damages also will equal and may exceed that amount. As the result of the fire an investigation will be conducted with a view of condemning the building, it was announced by Captain Shaw of the fire department.

TRAFFIC SIGNALS

The installation of electric traffic signals at Five Points is now being given consideration and it is to be hoped that the department of the city government under whose authority this matter comes will see fit to adopt the plan and put it into operation.

A citizen who observes the congested condition of traffic at Five Points especially at the noon hour will agree that some steps should be taken to relieve the situation and the plan adopted and proved most successful throughout the country is the one that should be employed by this city.

The live merchant is placing his Christmas stock before your eyes through the columns of this paper. Read the advertisements in this paper from day to day and you will find the problem of your Christmas shopping greatly simplified.

Despite the fact that wet weather yesterday caused the postponement of the drive for funds to carry on the Boy Scout work in this community, the enthusiasm of those supporting the Scout movement was not dampened and the drive will be staged in the near future.

If judges all over the state would follow the example being set by Judge A. M. Stack in civil court here this week the evil of congested dockets would soon be history.

Congratulations to the Raleigh Times on its Golden Anniversary Edition of sixty six

Now is the time to do your Christmas shopping. Indications are that this year the Christmas rush will reach its maximum much earlier than in former years and those who shop early will be the ones who find the greatest variety of Christmas wares from which to choose their purchases.

WOMAN GOVERNOR SEES NO HAVOC IN FEMININE POWDER

Cheyenne, Wyo. — Governor Nellie Taylor Ross of Wyoming, who is rounding out her initial year as the first woman governor in the United States, does not believe that with the vigorous entrance of women into politics will come "an irresistible urge to exercise their newly-found power in some strange and novel way, threatening havoc to the body politic."

In response to a request from The Associated Press, the woman governor summed up her views on the place of women in politics as follows:

"The question is so often propounded to me in various forms as to what I consider the particular service women may render in politics and government that I am forced to the conclusion that it is inspired by real concern on the part of the public as to the effect of the general enfranchisement of women. Whether the question emanates from apprehension or hope, I am unable to say.

"It may be apprehension lest with some power long deferred there will come an irresistible urge to exercise it in some strange and novel way, threatening havoc to the body politic. Or it may be the hope that with freshness of interest and devotion to lofty ideals, women will place the politics of the nation on a higher plane.

"If I were to judge by the inquiries that have come to me from various sections remote from my own state—women have voted in Wyoming so long that the public does not regard suffrage as an experiment—there is more apprehension than hope.

"It is most amusing and amazing to me, for example, to be asked as I was soon after my election whether I expected to appoint me to any office. This question, telegraphed me from the East by a well-known metropolitan newspaper, had every indication of being quite sincere and was apparently inspired by the fear that the elevation of woman to executive office was likely to be followed by the dismissal of all men and the substitution of women in their places.

"What possible reason there could be for such an opinion with respect to woman office-holders is difficult to understand. Women have been established in the business and professional fields for years without working a revolution in business or in the professions. Feminine physicians, lawyers, scientists, writers, bankers, clerks, and others have not to my knowledge effected any great alteration in the methods and purposes of their particular calling. It cannot be reasonably expected then, I think, that women in public office would make any attempt to revolutionize the government.

"The full privilege of citizenship does undoubtedly place in the feminine hand a weapon formidable in its potential consequences. It opens to woman the door of opportunity for unbounded service, and at the same time challenges her to prove whether she does in reality possess those high ideals and noble qualities which, from time immemorial, men have generously attributed to her. I do not, however, lay claim for her to any monopoly of the virtues that constitute good citizenship.

"Men and women, we are all alike citizens, moved by the same love of country and entertaining the hopes and fears for the future. Conditions that affect one, affect all. Just as in the family the prosperity of the group is reflected upon each of its members, so it is in the state and insofar as our activities promote the general welfare, in exactly so far do they promote that of both men and women. Both have the same responsibilities and there is no plea for good citizenship that can not and should not be made to both alike."

ZACHARY TAYLOR'S SHRINE AT LAST TO BE ON U. S. GROUND

Louisville, — The body of Zachary Taylor, hero of the Mexican War and twelfth President of the United States, is at last to rest on ground owned by the government he served.

Awarding of a contract for the construction of a mausoleum to house the bodies of the victor of Buena Vista and his wife wives lasting recognition to the man who defeated General Santa Anna's army of 21,000 volunteers and added millions of square miles to the area of his native land.

General Taylor's grave since 1850 has been marked by a granite shaft 21 feet high, erected near the spot six miles northeast of here where he opposed Clay and Webster on the question of territorial admissions.

The future shrine of General Taylor, to be near the old one, will be of Indiana limestone and will enclose sarcophagi of verde antique marble to contain the bodies. Bronze doors with glazed upper panels will permit the interior, illuminated by a window in the rear wall, to be seen. The length of the mausoleum will be 16 feet.

TENNESSEE BOATMAN GATHERS MANY OF THE ARCHAEOLOGICAL RELICS

Clarksville, Tenn.—H. L. Johnson, retired steamboat captain, thinks Tennessee "can not be beat" by any other state in the production of valuable archaeological relics.

As archaeologist and historian during 60 years, he has assembled a vast collection of specimens from the Indian mounds and former abodes of the forgotten stone grave race.

While "on the river" Captain Johnson constructed a boat 75 feet long in which he traveled and installed a museum which aroused interest of the natives and enabled him to add valuable articles.

Thirteen much-hunted ceremonial dishes of fine quartz, all of which save one he found in Tennessee, are in his possession.

"Relics which we are unable to identify we call ceremonials," he explained.

A valuable specimen of the collection is a birdstone ornament with pearl eyes, one of the six known to be in existence. A charm he recovered was fashioned to set in the fields by the Indians to contain grain as an omen to the gods to bring good crops.

Specimens of arrowheads and spearheads, some with the famous curved points, beautiful ornaments of rose-colored quartz, pre-historic tools, images, carved shells, beads and many other valuable specimens, recovered from mounds and graves also are included in the collection.

"I have seventy-five cents less than a million," am providing for my wife first, then myself and the rest I am investing in "my collection," Captain Johnson said. "The children ought to be able to make a living for themselves."

FAT WOMEN HAVE SMALLER FEET THAN THE SLIMMER SISTERS

Chicago.—There is a saying that fat women may always expect consolation. The latest is that they have smaller feet than their slimmer sisters, who take great pride in boy-like figures.

George M. Spangler, who is arranging the national convention of Retail Shoe Dealers here January 7-9, is responsible for the statement.

"Fat people are usually small boned," he said. "Large boned people have more area over which to spread their flesh and do not show obesity."

All the golfing, health walking and other forms of exercise in which the modern woman is indulging has not enlarged her feet, but has made them smaller and muscular, the shoe man observed.

No other cigarette in the world is like Camels. Camels contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The Camel blend is the triumph of expert blenders. Even the Camel cigarette paper is the finest—made especially in France. Into this one brand of cigarettes is concentrated the experience and skill of the largest tobacco organization in the world.

When winter's snow is falling outside—and the noise of wind roars through the trees—when the house is dark but for the blazing logs in the fireplace—have a Camel!

WHEN it's a winter night and the day that was busy is done. And outside the snow is driving through the trees before the wind. When, inside, the crackling logs catch fire and burst into flames above the hearth—have a Camel!

For Camel is the tried and trusted friend of millions of experienced smokers. Whether your returning steps bring you home tired or jubilant, no sweeter, more mellow fragrance ever came to you from a cigarette. There's not a cigarette after-taste, not a tired taste in a whole county full of Camels. Only mild and mellow flavor, deep-down contentment in your home or any home where Camels are lighted.

So this night, before your roaring logs of oak or hickory—have a Camel. Open up the famous package of Camels and know the fragrance, the contentment that brings happiness to millions. Put a Camel between you and a light and taste the mellowest, most delectable blend ever made into a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

BIG BROADWAY CAST IN "LOVERS IN QUARANTINE"

Speaking of all-star casts—Bebe Daniels has a real Broadway cast of players appearing in her support in her latest starring picture for Paramount, "Lovers in Quarantine," coming to White's Theatre today only.

Bebe's reputation as a comedienne will go up several notches as the result of her fine work in this one, an adaptation by Townsend Martin and Luther Reed of the stage hit, "Quarantine," by F. Tennyson Jesse which was one of the outstanding comedy successes last season (1925).

Harrison Ford is featured in the leading man's role. Ford is a young explorer who believes himself in love with Bebe's flirtatious sister, but winds up by marrying Bebe.

Alfred Lunt, who had the title role in Molnar's "The Guardsman" and who recently completed one of the principal roles in D. W. Griffith's "Sally of the Sawdust," is prominent in the cast. Others are Eden Gray of "The Firebrand," Edna May Oliver, who scored a hit in a comedy role in "The Lucky Devil," starring Richard Dix; Ivan Simpson and Marie Shotwell.

"THE GORILLA"

Mystery plays, such as "The Bat," "The Cat and Canary," "The Last Warning," and similar offerings, which have been conspicuous on the theatrical menu for several seasons, are uproariously travestied in "The Gorilla," which will be the attraction at the White's Theatre tomorrow night.

This unique entertainment has created a whirlwind of merriment during its successful runs in New York, Boston, Chicago and London, where critics proclaimed it the most screamingly and furiously funny show staged in a long time. In presenting a mystery drama in a farcical manner it is said to completely eclipse "Seven Keys to Baldpate" and "The Tavern." Despite its satire and its travesty, it has also some thrills, and plenty of exciting situations.

Ralph Spence, author of "The Gorilla," whose comic contributions to the "Follies" and other notable productions are well known is said to have amusingly mocked every known trick of the mystery play in fashioning his travesty. There are gunplays, secret panels, prowling gorillas, lights that go out, dangling skeletons, trap doors, shadows and what not. In "The Gorilla" there is every situation new, old and ancient, that is surefire, all contributing to the series of amusing situations. It would be hard to find fun-

Tablets have positively and permanently corrected my trouble.

SAYS ROOSEVELT RESPONSIBLE FOR MOVIE ANIMALS

Los Angeles. — Though perhaps never assessed in the life Theodore Roosevelt was the father of the animal picture, which has developed into one of the most popular forms of film entertainment.

W. N. Selig, who began making motion pictures on a commercial scale in Chicago in 1894 and was one of the leading producers when Roosevelt was president, tells the story in a hitherto unpublished delight on the statesman's career.

When Selig learned the president planned to go to Africa on a big game hunt immediately after the expiration of his term in 1909, he began negotiations to bring Kermit Roosevelt to Chicago for a course in motion picture camera work. The plan was to have him photograph the hunt as a cameraman under contract to Selig.

Negotiations lagged, however, and the best Selig was able to do in a personal interview with the president shortly before Christmas was to obtain his promise that if he did not take a Selig cameraman along he would not take another.

Matters stood here when the expedition sailed. Selig had overlooked, however, the Smithsonian Institution's connection with the Roosevelt hunt.

The Institution knew nothing of his conversation with the retiring president, and when the expedition entered the big game country an English motion picture cameraman was along.

This was bitter news to Selig. He thought Roosevelt had broken his promise, and so, when word of the former president's first lion kill was flashed to the United States, he resolved to take the hunt in a film. Up to this time animals had played no part in motion pictures, save for the occasional incidental appearance of a cat, dog, horse or other domestic animal, and it Selig expected to film an African hunt he had to have African animals.

After some difficulty he found a debt-harassed owner of a small menagerie in Milwaukee who was only too glad to rent any or all of his African specimens and to sacrifice his most decrepit lion for slaughter in the Roosevelt film.

There was in Chicago at the time a vaudeville actor who was staging a clever impersonation of the famous statesman. He was signed, and the filming of "Big Game Hunting in Africa" began.

The climax of the picture was enacted in a big cage, about 100 feet long and 50 feet wide, containing an African "set" containing enough scenery and in which a stout iron grill separated the section in which "Roosevelt" aimed his rifle from the section in which the lion roared. Negroes gathered off the streets of Chicago made up the "native train" of the big game hunter.

At the critical moment a puff of white smoke issued from the counterfeit ex-president's rifle, and the menagerie lion fell mortally wounded. To avoid disappointment and a possible retake of the scene, "Roosevelt" was given only blank cartridges to shoot the actual killing was done by a sharpshooter posted on the sidelines and using smokeless powder.

Although the name of Roosevelt was not mentioned anywhere in the film the public generally accepted it as a picture of the Roosevelt hunt, photographed in Africa, and it was a tremendous hit. It was popular even a broad, and Roosevelt—the real Roosevelt—arrived in Berlin on his homeward journey from Africa just in time to see the fake film featured in the theatres.

He was furious, of course, and when he next met Selig, in the Republican club at New York, he spoke his words. But his wrath vanished and the famous Roosevelt smile gleamed again when the film producer said:

"If only you had taken an American cameraman, Colonel, I wouldn't have done it. But you took an Englishman."

Kipling's Condition Described as Anxious But Not Dangerous

London, Dec. 3.—(AP) — Rudyard Kipling, the noted writer, is lying ill with double pneumonia in his home in the little village of Burwash in Sussex.

He passed a fairly good night and his condition this morning was unchanged. He is being attended, among others, by Lord Dawson, physician to King George, who was called into consultation yesterday by Mr. Kipling's regular physician, Lord Dawson, described the condition of the patient as "anxious but not dangerous."

TRANSFORMATION OF ITALIAN ART UNDER MUSSOLINI PROPOSED

Milan, Italy — Fascistization of Italian art, with Benito Mussolini national director, is the next step in the process of transferring Italy into a Fascist state.

Artists and intellectuals in the ranks of the dominant party, seeking for a means of reawakening the nation's moribund cultural activity and of creating a truly Fascist artistic movement, have decided to entrust the task to their leader, confident he can succeed where others have failed.

A formal request to this effect has been made by the Directorate of the Corporation of Intellectual Professions and by the National Fascist Syndicate of Fine Arts. "We desire," these artists told the Premier, "to collaborate directly with you in nourishing new forms and creating the new style of Italian beauty."

Mussolini was asked to choose five or ten men among "the new artists of Italy" to advise him and assist him in the work of applying modern Italian art in every aspect of the nation's life from designs for new coins to designs for dwelling or government buildings.

Active co-operation between the Government and the artists, proponents of the plan asserted, is the only means of supplying Fascism with the cultural accompaniment which every great political movement must have.

PLAN PROTECTION OF MIDDLE AGED AGAINST THE MODERN PACE

New York.—Guarding the middle-aged against Twentieth century strain is becoming one of the principal tasks of American life insurance companies.

During the last 25 years most of the advance in the direction of longevity has been among children and adults of the younger ages, through prevention of infantile deaths and warfare against contagious diseases, in the opinion of insurance men.

Now attention is being turned to men and women around 50 years of age and this subject will be the chief topic of discussion at the convention of the Association of Life Insurance Presidents here, December 3-4.

SAYS HIS PRESCRIPTION COMPLETELY BANISHES ALL RHEUMATIC PAIN AND TWINGES IS GUARANTEED

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-four Hours

Pitt Drug Co., and every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer in this vicinity that if ALLENRHU, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not stop all agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatic pain, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenrhru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished even in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitious and where the patient was helpless.

Mr. James H. Allen of 20 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of ALLENRHU, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless ALLENRHU decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed Pitt Drug Co., and druggists everywhere to guarantee it as above in every instance.
