COOLIDGE RECOMMENDS TO CONGRESS FURTHER REDUCTION IN TAXES

President Delivers Annual Budget Message and Declares Growing Nation Will Involve Added Expenditure to Keep Government Machinery in Motion

President Coolidge informed Congress in his annual budget message today that the minimum cost of running the government had been about reached, and that the normal expansion of a growing nation would henceforth involve added expenditure to keep the government machinery in motion.

The budget estimates, transmitted with the message, reflected the continuing efforts at economy, Mr. Coolidge said, adding that on the basis of the calculations a surplus of $330,307,000 was indicated for the fiscal year 1927. He expects a surplus of $202,041,756 for the year ending next June 30 although a year ago it was estimated that the surplus this year would exceed $373,000,000.

The Executive made a formal recommendation for reduction of the taxes; suggested a necessity for keeping the airplane industry alive as well as replenishing and refitting government air service equipment and developing an "orderly policy" in the air; and declared that "every available resource of the government will be employed in prohibition enforcement."

He thought the total estimates of $42,447,000 for the combined air services should accomplish the ends sought.

Concerning the tax bill, already drawn by the House Ways and Means Committee, the President said it had gone somewhat further than the judgment dictated with respect to amounts and exemptions but he praised the non-partisan character of the work done and urged that the same spirit be carried through in consideration of the bill by House and Senate.

Competition between the government and the airplane industry is not contemplated, Mr. Coolidge said in referring further to the air transportation question. He felt that with the appropriations already made and the estimates carried in this budget, the industry which he said should be kept alive for a national emergency, would be assured of a normal and proper growth.

Returning to the fiscal affairs of the government, the President expressed hope that further reduction in taxes now proposed would serve as a fresh stimulant to general business. He believed it would produce fresh tax sources and increase or at least maintain the government's revenue requirements without the higher tax levies of the present day.

"The outlook for the coming fiscal year, 1927, is most favorable," Mr. Coolidge continued. "For that year it is estimated that the ordinary receipts will be $3,824,530,000 and expenditures $3,494,222,000. This indicates a surplus of $330,307,000.

"The outlook for 1926 and 1927 shows clearly that the united effort of the executive and legislative branches of the government for economy in federal expenditures is bearing further fruit. In the first four fiscal years there have been two substantial reductions in taxes. We have restored to the people a part of the moneys which we required of them to finance the world war. We are now in that favorable position of making further restoration. The Budget and Accounting Act contemplates that under the fortunate conditions in which we now find ourselves the Chief Executive will make recommendations to the Congress as to the disposition of the estimated surplus of revenue. I therefore recommend to the Congress that there be a further reduction in taxes. The satisfaction of the Chief Executive in having opportunity to make such a recommendation I know is shared by the Congress whose co-operation with the Chief Executive in the conservation of public funds has made much reduction in taxes possible.

"The Ways and Means Committee of the House of Representatives has been informed of our prospective surplus for 1927. That committee has prepared a tax reduction measure. While this measure somewhat exceeds my judgment in amount and in exemptions, yet with continuing pressure for economy in the federal service and the stimulation to business which will result from tax reduction, perhaps we can make further reduction in taxes of about the sum total of our prospective surplus $151,000,000.

WOMAN CRUSHED TO DEATH UNDER TRUCK AT MINING CAMP

Two Occurrences Woman's Death and Explosion Which Wrecked Dwelling of Miner Being Investigated

Pittsburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Authorities of Allegheny and Washington counties today are investigating two occurrences in open shop mining camp of the Pittsburg Coal Company, near here last night, one of which resulted in a woman being crushed to death under a truck, and another an explosion which wrecked the dwelling of a miner. In the latter instance the miner and his family escaped unhurt.

Contradictory claims were put forth by Coal Company officials on one side and the United Mine Workers on the other. The truck went into a group of persons causing the death of a woman and the injury of three other persons, including the truck driver.

The contention of the Mine Company spokesman is that the driver of the truck was attacked by a group of persons causing him to lose control of the vehicle. Peter T. Fagan, president of the local district of the Union charged that the driver "deliberately drove into the crowd while traveling at a high rate of speed."

Fagan also said that Deputy Sheriff aided the Mine officials by using gas to disperse the crowd. Sheriff Woodside denied this charge.

The explosion took place at Midland Mine and the wrecked house, a company statesman said had been occupied by a family of the Union Miner who had been employed at the mine since it resumed operation under the 1917 wage contract.

for 1927 without jeopardizing the balancing of our annual budget. Such reduction, however, should carry an obligation not to embark upon new projects involving large annual expenditure if we are to safeguard the integrity of our budget.

"The fruits of our labors are reflected in the coming tax reduction measure. It reflects the results of the efforts of the servants of the people and of their representatives in behalf of the people. There have been no partisan politics in expediting its preparation. I hope this same condition will prevail in the consideration of the measure.

"This brings us to the estimates of appropriations contained in this budget. These estimates reflect the continuing pressure for economy in federal expenditure. We have about reached the time when the legitimate business of government can not be carried on at a less expenditure than that which it now requires. With regard to our legitimate business the operating costs have been reduced to nearly a minimum. The normal expansion of the business of the government in keeping pace with a growing nation will involve added expenditure from year to year. The effort for economy, however, must continue. So far as it lies within the power of the Chief Executive it will continue."

The President said he would send to Congress later a request for funds to expand the Coast Guard as a part of his prohibition enforcement program. The plan will include construction of ten new cutters and a number of smaller craft, with complete personnel and equipment. The cutters would serve in part in prohibition enforcement.

Federal road aid was discussed by the Executive and he reminded Congress that any further expansion of the nation's commitments in that direction meant taking more money from the people through both federal and state taxes. He suggested that while no change could be made in the government's policy for the time being, he believed that later the federal participation should be confined to construction of primary or interstate highways.

Mr. Coolidge adverted to the changed indications of receipts and expenditures which had been estimated for the current year and said that instead of refunds totalling $90,000,000 on taxes illegally collected, present indications point to refunds of the sum total of our prospective surplus $151,000,000.

HEALING MISSION NOW IN PROGRESS EPISCOPAL CHURCH

Being Held by Rev. A. J. Gayner Banks and is Being Largely Attended; Creating Deep Impression Upon This Community

The Healing Mission being held this week at St. Paul's Episcopal Church by the Rev. A. J. Gayner Banks, director-general of the society of the Nazarene, is being largely attended, and has already created a deep impression upon this community.

Dr. Banks is a quiet, forceful and pleasant speaker. He takes no extreme position, but has scriptural authority for all his messages.

Last night was the first service at which the sick and distressed were invited to the altar for prayer for healing, and the laying on of hands. Many availed themselves of the opportunity, and readily testified to the blessing received.

This Healing Service and Laying on of Hands will be repeated tonight and each evening until the Mission closes. It is wonderful to see the expression of hope and faith on the faces of those, the crippled and the diseased, as they return from the altar.

A remarkable fact about these services is that there is absolutely no excitement. One could hear a pin drop during the addresses of Dr. Banks, so eager are all to hear every word of his message.

Special music and bright choruses led by the choir add to the beauty of the worship.

The meeting is free to all. Each morning at 10 a. m., special instructions and prayers, each evening at 7:30 p. m., the message and the Healing Mission. Those who are "distressed in mind, body or estate," are invited especially to attend the meetings and if they cannot do so to send in their requests for prayer.

APPROPRIATIONS AND TAXES OCCUPY WHOLE STAGE TODAY

Aviation and Prohibition Issues Await Their Turn Impatiently in Congress

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Taxes and appropriations had the whole stage to themselves today on capital hill while the more spectacular issues of the new Congress, including aviation and prohibition, awaited their turn impatiently.

Driving ahead with its tax bill debate the House paused only long enough to receive President Coolidge's annual Budget proposing expenditure of $150,000,000 in excess of the appropriations for the current year. Meanwhile the Senate lingering over the formalities of getting organized after the summer holidays, was in recess until tomorrow. The Budget estimates were sent to the Capital by messenger and the President's accompanying message outlined details of the government fiscal program, was read to the House by its clerk just after the day's session begun at noon.

Several House sub-committees already are at work on appropriation bills to fulfill the budget needs enumerated by the President. Two of these measures, making money available for the interior and post office departments, are nearing completion and will be brought before the House next week.

For the season, including today's sales, the market has sold 38,717,609 pounds, averaging $26.60.

The prices continue good despite the fact that much of the tobacco is of inferior quality. The block will be sold out today.

TAX REDUCTION BILL BEFORE HOUSE FOR GENERAL DEBATE

Non Partisan Measure Carrying $325,000,000 Tax Cut, Launched Yesterday, Faces Complete Right of Way

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Facing a complete right of way the tax reduction bill was brought forward before the House again today for general debate.

The non partisan measure, carrying a $325,000,000 tax cut, was launched in the House yesterday on its legislative journey with the good wishes of President Coolidge and all leaders of both parties on the Ways and Means Committee, which framed it. In his message to Congress the President praised the action of the committee in drafting the bill and endorsed it in "principle."

Representative Greene, Republican of Iowa, in opening the debate raised the provisions of the bill and told the House he was opposed to any attempt to increase the total amount of reduction provided. Representative Garner, of Texas, ranking Democrat of the committee, also drew applause from both sides when he gave his endorsement to the bill and urged that it be passed as framed. By endorsing the bill, Mr. Garner declared President Coolidge showed that he was not in harmony with Secretary Mellon's tax views, for this is not Secretary Mellon's bill, it does not include his recommendations.

College Baseball Being Backed Off Map By Other Sports

Athens, Ga., Dec. 9.—(AP)—College baseball is rapidly fading from the picture of major inter-collegiate sports, this was the opinion of many who attended the annual session of the conference here last week, and it has been indicated by transactions before each meeting since the creation of the Southern Athletic body.

Eclipsed by foot ball in popular patronage and circumscribed annually by stricter rules to preserve the amateur status of the game, the increase in professional and semi-professional base ball has been backing college base ball off the map and it must create its own revival or lose its place in the conference bracket along with foot ball, basket ball, and track. There are those in the conference who would eliminate base ball entirely as a college sport and such a proposal is still on the roster of the conference.

Dr. P. A. Yoder Returns to Sanitorium After Holding Clinic

Dr. P. A. Yoder who has been holding a tubercular diagnostic clinic in Pitt county left this morning for his headquarters at Sanitorium. While here Dr. Yoder examined 83 applicants, 18 of these were definitely positive cases, while 20 were probable cases. These were advised to have further examinations.

The majority of these cases were unsuspected by the patients themselves. Those who have signs of this terrible disease should take it in time as it is curable in its early stages, that is before it is too far developed.

DECLARES SCHOOL SYSTEM IS BIGGEST BUSINESS IN CO.

Supt. R. G. Fitzgerald Addresses Parent-Teachers Association of Falkland School On School System in Pitt County

(By LUCY CHERRY CRISP).

In an earnest address before the Parent-Teachers Association of the Falkland School on Friday night, R. G. Fitzgerald, Supt. of Pitt county schools, raised a question that should receive the serious consideration of every thinking citizen of Pitt county. His question was this: Has Pitt county the right to be proud of her wonderful agricultural wealth so long as she uses only a pittance of that wealth in giving her country children a fair chance to develop into useful, worthwhile citizens. "The biggest business in Pitt county," said Mr. Fitzgerald, is the school system, for in some way or other it touches every man, woman and child in the county, and it deals with the most important thing a business could deal with—the making of good citizens. Therefore, he believes that you will be interested in knowing how this business stands in Pitt county today, and I am going to talk to you for a little while about the school system in your county, believing that you want to know these things about a business that is your concern as well as mine."

"The first request made of me when I took up this job several years ago was that I save money," continued Mr. Fitzgerald, "and I believe that in carrying out that request we have lost some very valuable results in the lives of Pitt county boys and girls. It is true that Pitt county is one of the richest counties in the United States in agricultural wealth, but as yet she is unwilling to spend much of that wealth in the education of her country boys and girls."

In discussing the mechanical side of the Pitt county school system Mr. Fitzgerald spoke first of the Administrative Force, composed of the Board of Education, the Superintendent of Public Instruction, the Supervisors of white and colored schools, the Superintendent of colored schools, and the office force, a secretary and a bookkeeper. After setting forth the duties of this administrative force, he next discussed the big workshop in which these forces labor, the schools of Pitt county.

In the county system are three divisions, the Rural system proper, and the Greenville and Ayden city system.

There are of school age in Pitt county over 17,000 children, 13,289 of whom are in the rural schools. For the white children of Pitt county the following provision is made: 50 school buildings, those in the rural system being grouped according to the number of teachers employed into 18 one-teacher schools, 14 two-teacher, 9 three-teacher, and 10 with more than 3 teachers. In these rural schools 290 teachers are employed, with an additional 45 in Greenville and 23 in the Ayden system. A 6 months' term is provided by the state for each of these schools' each year, and all the time beyond that is paid for by special school taxes.

Concerning the financial support of the work that is being done in Pitt county's educational work-shop, Mr. Fitzgerald made some further revelations: There is $3,000 in taxable wealth for every child in Pitt county. The tax rate for the support of the schools has decreased 8 cents on the dollar in the last three years, and now stands at 42 cents. The total school budget allowed from county taxes for the year 1925 was $230,000, of which $57,000 goes to the city systems, leaving approximately $173,000 for the rural schools. THINKS AMENDMENT OF REVENUE BILL WILL BE CALAMITY

Representative Mills Tells the House That Amendment in Many Particulars Will Be Nothing Short of National Calamity

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Amendment of the Revenue Bill "in many important particulars will be nothing short of a national calamity," Representative Mills, of New York, a Republican member of the Ways and Means Committee, which framed the $325,000,000 tax reduction measure, today told the House. While not agreeing with every provision of the bill, Mr. Mills defended at some length its income rate schedules, which he described as the best drafted by the committee in the past ten years. In discussing the proposed cut in the maximum air tax rate from 40 to 20 percent, the New York representative declared he believed "any attempt to impose a high rate will inevitably breed the kind of evasion that has characterized the administration of our past status; while any lower rate will cause an unnecessary loss in revenue. Mr. Mills answered criticism that the bill would not benefit tax payers with incomes of between $20,000 and $70,000 as much as others with the assurance that this is due to the artificiality of the cuts made in 1921 and 1924 and the necessity of now making the consequent adjustments."

Mr. Mills, on the other hand defended the argument of Secretary Mellon that the inheritance tax field should be turned over entirely to the states and the Federal tax repealed. "The States need the money," he said, "to relieve in some measure the colossal burden of the state and local taxes, while the Federal government does not. In the course of the past few years the latter has taken all the cream of the taxes and has left the former to struggle along as best they can with the skimmed milk."

Present methods of procedure in the taking of appeals by either the tax payers or the government in tax rulings were described by Mr. Mills as "illogical and unjustified."

SAYS SUGGESTION DISPOSAL SHOALS INDEFENSIBLE

Norris Declares if Recommendations Are Followed More Time Will Be Taken Up Than in Past With This Subject

Washington, Dec. 9.—(AP)—President Coolidge's recommendations on the disposition of Muscle Shoals are indefensible, Sen. Norris, of Nebraska, one of the leaders of the Republican insurgent group in the Senate, declared today in a formal statement.

"He does not seem to realize that in this question we are dealing with the natural resources of our country and that whatever we make of Muscle Shoals we will be establishing a precedent that will be followed from the Atlantic to the Pacific and will extend through the lives of many unborn generations," the statement continued.

"We all know that President Coolidge is opposed to anything that has the least tendency toward putting the government into business if it is of such a nature that private parties and corporations can make any profit out of it. He complained that this question, which he deems of so little importance, has consumed already too much of the time of Congress, and yet he recommends that this Congress pass a law which shall provide for a committee to make a further investigation and then to report their decision back to Congress for such action as Congress decides to take. His own recommendations therefore purport that we begin the discussion all over again and defer the final settlement of this important matter for several years. If these recommendations are followed with the discussion in Congress still to come, more time will be consumed as a result of his recommendations than has been taken up in the past by this important subject."

Picking Cotton in North West Portion Makes Good Prog.

Washington, Dec. 8.—(AP)—The past week was favorable for picking cotton in the north western portions of the cotton belt and this work made good progress, the Department of Agriculture announced today in its weekly crop and weather review for southern states.

For North Carolina the report said rain and strong winds damaged some cotton remaining in the field in the northeast by beating it out on the ground. Wheat, oats, rye and truck are doing well.

Heavy Rainfall in Missouri Setback to Harvesting Crops

Poplar Bluff, Mo., Dec. 9.—(INS)—Continued heavy rainfall in this section has proved a serious setback to harvesting of the cotton crop. The inventive genius of farmers has been taxed to the utmost. Many of the cotton growers have been using john-boats to gather the corn crop, where the ground was too soft for the use of horse and wagon.

It remained for a young lad of 15 to "set the style" in cotton picking, when he harvested his small patch of cotton where others hesitated.

The youth secured three galvanized "wash" tubs, and hired two men to help him. The tubs floated between the cotton rows, and the three men, clad in hip boots, waded through the field, and gathered the entire crop without loss.

Auto Fatalities in United States Continue to Mount

Raleigh, Dec. 9.—(AP)—Automobile fatalities in the United States continue to mount. The total number of deaths this year from automobile accidents from reporting cities exceed those of a similar period last year, the number of deaths during the last four week period exceeds those of the month preceding, and the majority of the reporting cities show increases over both last year and the preceding four-week period.

Fatalities totalling 4,511 were reported from 59 cities with an aggregate population of 28 million during the period January 1 to November 7, 1925, according to figures compiled by the United States Department of Commerce. During the slightly period—January 1 to October 31—last year the total was 4,345, or 166 fewer deaths during the last year period. Of the 4,511 deaths this year so far, 531, or 12 percent, were reported during the four-week period ending November 7.

Of 78 cities having populations of 100,000 or more from which the department has received reports, 40 or more than half—show more fatalities during the four-week period ending November 7 than in the preceding four-week period.

And of 65 cities for which comparisons with 1924 are possible, 38 again more than half—show more deaths from automobile accidents during the period January 1 to November 7, 1925 than during the first 10 months of 1924.

Of the 78 reporting cities this year only four show no deaths during the last four-week period, and Somerville, with 10 deaths, has the fewest of any of the 78 cities. New Bedford, with 12 deaths, shown a lower rate per hundred thousand, however, the rate in the latter city being 10.2.

So far this year New York City has reported 831 automobile fatalities, Chicago, 499, Philadelphia, 261, Detroit, 229, Los Angeles, 10 and Cleveland, 184. New York's total during the last four-week period along was 101.

Figures for southern cities reporting for the period January 1 to November 7, 1925, and January 1 to October 31, 1924, follow, the 1925 figure being given first:

Atlanta, 57-48; Birmingham, 40-44; Dallas, 42-28; El Paso, 24, for 1925, 1924 figures not available; Fort Worth, 18-21; Houston, 25-23; Memphis, 40-28; Nashville, 30-

31; New Orleans, 64-65; Norfolk, 11-11; Richmond, 31-25; and San Antonio, 30-16.

Few Suggestions That Will Help the Boys and Girls of Pitt County to Win $50.00 IN GOLD

Given in Six Prizes—First Prize, $20.00, Second Prize $10.00, Four Prizes of $5.00 each. For the best composition on "Why Did Santa Claus Select a Dodge Brothers Car."

ASK MAMA----ASK PAPA

To explain. The Dodge Brothers' names were Horace E., and John F. Dodge, Horace E. the mechanic, John F. the business head. From 1903 to 1912, they manufactured Ford Parts and Ford Motors. In 1914, Dodge Brothers made their first Dodge Car. 90 per cent of the cars made in 1914 are still in operation. John F. Dodge died January, 1920. Horace died same year. The estate was finally settled this year, Dodge Brothers Motor Car Works brought one hundred and forty-six million dollars, the biggest cash deal ever completed since the world began. The business brought fifty millions of dollars, Good Will, the largest Good Will ever paid for any business since the world began. From a financial standpoint Dodge Brothers stand next to the Ford Motor Company. Recently Dodge Brothers have completed five new plants at a cost of eight millions. Last month Dodge Brothers purchased the entire interest of Graham Brothers Truck. November 1914 Dodge Brothers produced seventeen cars, in 1924 two hundred and twenty two thousand, two hundred and thirty six in 1925, this year, by far the most successful year in their history.

"THE TEN COMMANDMENTS" AN ALL STAR PICTURE

Cecil B. DeMille's Paramount Picture, "The Ten Commandments" will be shown for the last time at White's Theatre for the first time at popular prices tonight.

This production has a cast second to none. The historical part introduces Theodore Roberts, Charles de Roche, Estelle Taylor, Julia Faye, and James Neill; while the modern story is enacted by Richard Dix, Rod La Rocque, Lenatrice Joy, Nita Naldi, Robert Edeson, Agnes Ayres and Eadythe Chapman.

SLEEPLESS MAN PUTS LAW OF 1751 IN FORCE

London, Eng., Dec. 9.—(INS)—Because a resident of Epsom, a small town just outside London, complained that the noise of dancing kept him awake, all public dancing in a large part of the area governed by the Surrey Council must in future stop on the stroke of midnight.

The authorities have decided to enforce an act of 1751, which has long been winked at all over the country, and the decision has come as a bombshell to the promoters of dances in the area. The act forbids all public and subscription dances to go on after midnight, and several big county dances have been cancelled already as a result.

ERECT SMALL CHURCH AFTER THE VOW MADE IN NAPOLEON'S DAY

Cresco, Iowa, Dec. 9.—(AP)—A vow, given at the time Napoleon was conducting his Russian campaign, eventually resulted in the erection here of one of the smallest churches in the world.

The mother of John Gaertner, a French explorer, who was with Napoleon's forces at the burning of Moscow, vowed that if God would safely return her son she would build a church. The son returned but his mother, because of financial difficulties, was unable to carry out her plan. Her granddaughter, Mrs. Mary Anna Huber, however, took up the work, and the result was the building in 1885 of St. Anthony's Catholic chapel.

The church is of native lime rock.

It is 11 feet wide and 17 feet long. Gaertner first came to this vicinity in 1848, receiving his inspiration from a priest in Cincinnati who urged him to explore the country. He came with several others and reported the country desirable. Four families destroyed by fire.

from Oldenburg, Ind., followed in 1849, and they built a log church on the present site of St. Anthony's. Services were held in the log church until 1853 when it was destroyed by fire.

Among the other counties Pitt ranks 4th in the list of counties in the amount of salaries paid to teachers; 38th in the amount of money spent for day's paper; 14th in amount spent for High School Instruction; 75th in amount spent per child for supervision and administration; 50th in amount of tax spent per capita; and it just happens that I know that every man on that committee either lives in town or sends his children to a town school. What chance has the country child as long as town men are willing to say that a 6-months' term is long enough for a country boy or girl? I believe in Pitt county, and in Pitt county people, and I believe that when they know these things they will leave no stone unturned until their country children have the chance they need if they are to grow into worthy American citizens."
