Today

(Copyright, 1925) One Religion Not Enough. Mr. Coolidge Knows. Hunters Hunted. The Wrong Magazine. ARTHUR BRISBANE

A GENTLEMAN from the east brings what he calls a glorious proposition—One religion to fit everybody...

It won't happen. Each race wants to select its own gods, with approved characteristics. Some individual said lightly: "An honest God is the noblest work of man..."

The ancient Greek said that if emuls had a god their god would have four legs and a hump, which is true. We are taught that God made man in His own image...

There will be no "religion to suit all men" until you have a different race of men.

Newspapers that don't know President Coolidge will say he came back from the west delighted "by the west acclimation."

Nothing stamps the President. He knows that the west was applauding his own prosperity, welcoming a President who stands for prosperity. President Coolidge knows that the west was not applauding all things done in Washington...

The west was not applauding the fact that thus far Republican government has found a way to make railroads and other branches of big business happy...

Nobody knows better than President Coolidge that between now and 1928 the Republicans must DO SOMETHING FOR THE MAJORITY, and incidentally, prove that the nation with the most money has enough common sense to get ready to protect its money...

A British sporting print shows the fox hunter in muddy boots, hunted across the country by foxes, riding on fox hounds.

That happens in real life. In Russia, fifteen executioners that worked under the Czar, strangling revolutionists, are now waiting to be strangled or otherwise disposed of.

The official Romanoff killers got from $10 to $50 for each execution. A priest of the Greek Church, named Rosanoff, also among the prisoners was paid $1.50 for each prayer on the gallows.

For the Reds to kill those that formerly killed Reds seems quite in accordance with human nature. To punish a priest that prayed for the victims, though he was paid $1.50 each time, seems unreasonable.

A Radical Magazine is to be started, the new masses, the trouble, for the editors, is that there ARE NO "new masses," there are 115,000,000 Americans, the great majority of them making more money than they ever made before...

The time to start a Radical Magazine is when wages and prosperity are on the decline. The editors of the new masses should change their title to "How to Make a Million the First Year." Such a magazine would sell.

Raleigh, Dec. 10.—(AP)—Forsyth county led North Carolina in the number of marriages in 1924, while Buncombe led in the number of divorces.

WENDELL VISITED BY $100,000 FIRE EARLY THIS MORN

Fire of An Unknown Origin Destroys Six Stores; Zebulon and Raleigh Send Help

Wendell, Dec. 10.—(AP)—An early morning fire here today razed one-third of the business district before it was brought under control. Engines from Zebulon and Raleigh answered a call for help and the blaze was said to be under control shortly after four o'clock.

The fire ate its way through six stores doing an estimated damage of $100,000. The fire started from an undetermined origin on the left hand side of Main Street in the store of Zebulon.

The blaze then made rapid progress, and ate its way toward the railroad, burning the Wendell Barber Shop, next to the Broadwell store, the D. W. Todd Hardware Store, O. Griswold's Store, a new grocery store operated by Fruit and Ledford and the Central Fruit Store on the corner at the railroad.

The fire, so far, has wiped out almost a third of the Wendell business district. No definite estimates as to the loss of the store and their contents and the insurance coverage is yet available.

At 3:45 o'clock it was definitely stated that the fire was under control, with no further damage expected outside of the area already covered. Estimates of the loss at that hour were placed in the neighborhood of $100,000, with probably 60 per cent covered by insurance.

FORTY-FOUR YEARS.

While as a daily publication The Reflector today celebrates its thirty-first birthday, in reality, it starts its forty-fifth year as a publication having been founded in Jan. 1882 by the late D. J. Whichard as a weekly and operating as such for thirteen years before the daily publication came into existence December 10, 1894. The first thirty days of The Daily Reflector according to announcement made in the initial issue was an experiment but the paper met with such favor that since that time there has been no cessation in the publication.

In those early days Greenville was nothing more than a village with a population far below the thousand mark, with only one brick store in the town and no conveniences whatever. It is gratifying today to note the many great and important changes that have come over our city during these past forty odd years Greenville today being recognized as one of the leading cities of eastern North Carolina offering unsurpassed advantages to those who seek to locate within its borders and become a part of its citizenry. During this period of years it has been the pleasure of The Reflector to record the history of these events of development and progress and lend its support to all movements for the betterment and upbuilding of Greenville and Eastern North Carolina. Nor has The Reflector stood still during Greenville's era of progress for it has striven always to keep ahead of the community in its march of progress realizing that only in this way could it render the greatest service. From a small sheet less than one fourth the size of a page in today's issue The Reflector has reached a stage where it compares most favorably with daily publications in other cities of greater size than Greenville but to be "just as good" is not the goal set by the management of The Reflector and already additional equipment for making still greater improvements in the publication have been purchased and many changes will be made between now and the beginning of the new year. As soon as the new equipment is installed The Reflector will appear as an eight column paper bringing it up to the standard in page size with the larger dailies and many new and attractive features will be added. Within the past few weeks The Reflector has contracted with the International News Service, in addition to its regular Associated Press Service and beginning with this issue Arthur Brisbane's "Today" will be a regular daily feature

National Capital Comment from The Reflector's Washington Bureau also begins in this issue and this will be followed by improved service along other lines. In short The Reflector is endeavoring to build up in the community an institution of which it can be justly proud and to give to the citizens all that can be asked in the way of a daily newspaper. As at its beginning the motto of the paper is "Truth In Preference To Fictin" and its aim is to work unceasingly for the upbuilding of Greenville, Pitt County and Eastern North Carolina and the betterment of humanity.

Endured Misery of Piles for Years

In Agony Most All the Time—Writes This Grateful Letter

292 Carolina St., Buffalo, N. Y.
Gentlemen—I was afflicted with the worst case of piles that you can imagine. For years I tried remedy after remedy without obtaining any lasting benefit, and when the Hamadala Pile Tablets were recommended to me I felt it would be only another useless experiment, but I was willing to take another chance as I had got to where I was in agony about all the time. After I commenced taking the second box I began to see results, and today I am absolutely cured of my trouble, and have almost forgotten that I ever had the piles. Hamadala Tablets have made a new man of me, and I want to do everything I can to bring them to the attention of those who are suffering as I was. Very truly yours, W. STEDMON.
The Hamadala treatment is an inexpensive internal constitutional treatment for blind, bleeding or protruding piles that comes in tablet form. It is dispensed under refund guarantee by PHU Drug Co. and all good druggists.

"Jinx" Blamed for Near Wrecking of Ship 3 Times

New Orleans, La., Dec. 10.—(INS)—A "jinx" that sailed with the steamer Relah on her recent trip to Mexico, is blamed by officers and crew for nearly wrecking the ship three times during her voyage. The ship faced destruction three times, the first time when 5,000 bales of sisal caught fire in the holds. The second time, as fremondons seas pounded the Rajah against the beach at Progreso, Mexico. The third near disaster came after a heavy Gulf storm had wrenched her plates, and all hands and passengers labored at the pumps, as water poured into the hold through the leaky seams. Tugs met the disabled craft at sea, following radioed requests from the ship's commander, and towed her into the calm waters of the Mississippi, where repairs are being made in dry dock.

bers were present. The following officers were elected: Huldah Nobles, president; Elizabeth Winslow, vice-president; Margaret Patrick, secretary; Jack Nobles, treasurer. After the election of the officers, a short program and contest was enjoyed. The members of the Juvenile Music Club are looking forward to many meetings in the future.

Game Commission Reports Shortage Wild Ducks Ark.

Little Rock, Ark., Dec. 10.—(INS)—A shortage of wild ducks, unknown in the history of Arkansas until this time, is reported by the State game and fish commission. The commission explained that "unreasonable weather" was responsible for an early migration, and the resulting scarcity of wild fowl in the state.

returning trappers of their catch. A houseboat, bearing 500 fine pelts, was robbed of its cargo, while enroute to New Orleans recently. The pirates used a fast motorboat, stealing down upon the unwary trappers during the night then speeding away into the darkness with their valuable haul. Due to the fine quality of muskrat, mink, otter and raccoon pelts this year, and the growing scarcity of fur bearing animals, prices have risen to a high level, making the trapper an inviting victim for the hi-jacker.

DOES WINTER FILL YOU WITH DREAD?

Better Get Rid of Your Rheumatic Pains and Twinges—Now

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism until the accumulated impurities, commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery, which he called ALLENRHU, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. After years of arguing he decided to let sufferers everywhere know about his discovery through the newspapers. He has therefore instructed Pitt Drug Co., and druggists everywhere to dispense ALLENRHU with the understanding that if the first pint bottle does not show the way to complete recovery he will gladly return your money without comment.

Huge Black Bear Is Trapped, Killed

Mobile, Ala., Dec. 10.—(INS)—A huge black bear, the scourge of stock raisers in the Bayou section during the past few weeks was trapped and killed near Bayou, LaBatre by a party of hunters organized to halt his depredations. The bear, said to weigh over 500 pounds, had caused considerable loss to the owners of stock in the Little River section, killing with seeming wantonness many more cattle than he could devour.

A trap was set for the bear in the lower swamps in the same vicinity favored by Bruin for his killings. The trap was chained to a log and the body of a huge bull killed by the bear in a raid some time previously.

When caught in the trap, the bear dragged the chain and its burden of several hundred pounds through the woods, tearing down small trees in his path for a distance of nearly a mile.

The hunters overtook the bear and ended his career with two charges of buckshot.

Pelt Hi-Jacker Causes Lot Trouble to Trappers in La.

New Orleans, La., Dec. 10.—(INS)—Trappers in the lower parishes, garnering wealth from the sale of muskrat pelts and other furs, are forced to combat another obstacle, the pelt hi-jacker. These pirates, operating after the fashion of liquor hi-jackers, lie in wait in the marshes, prairies and bayous, and relieve the

Gorman's Market Report

The market has blocked each day so far this week but it looks now that all sales will finish today. We believe sales will be much lighter from now out. Our Monday's sale of 225,410 pounds averaged close to 29 cents and our yesterday's (Wednesday's) sale of 235,968 pounds averaged 30c. A better pleased lot of customers never left a warehouse. Many who had never sold at Gorman's before and several of these were profuse in their thanks for their good sale, telling us they could not begin to figure what they had lost by not coming to Gorman's before. It pays to have a judge of tobacco, one who is not afraid to back his judgment, sell your tobacco. Below we give a few sales made Wednesday—We could give many more.

EUROPEAN CIRCUS LOCALE OF "HE WHO GETS SLAPPED"

With a European circus as the locale, and a tragic clown as the central character, Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's "He Who Gets Slapped" is declared to be one of the most unusual pictures of the season.

"He Who Gets Slapped" is the story of a brilliant scientist, who is deserted by his wife, and whose life work is stolen by his patron and friend. "He, embittered, and seeking forgetfulness, becomes a clown in a French circus. This is the beginning of the story, and the picture carries its audience into the backstage of a European circus, with the story told by clowns, acrobats, trick riders and the other performers of the hippodrome.

The picture was directed by Victor Sennstrom, the noted Swedish actor-producer, who is now in America with the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Sennstrom has been hailed by other directors, and by critics as one of the greatest of directors, and this picture has proved an excellent example for his technique and strong dramatic sense. The story is one of the most tragic and dramatic ever screened, and the locale of the circus provides many colorful settings and much interesting atmosphere.

AUXILIARY OF AMERICAN LEGION MEETS

Mrs. J. Conrad Lanier and Mrs. S. M. Woolfolk delightfully entertained the Auxiliary of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, on Wednesday afternoon, at the attractive home of Mrs. Lanier in College View. The meeting was called to order by the President, Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse and Mrs. Wiley Brown, chaplain, led in prayer. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. The rook and bridge tournament recently held was reported quite a success. Letters from Oteen were read, among which the boys stated what they wanted for Christmas. Plans for the Christmas box were discussed and Messames L. H. Bowling, F. J. Diener and K. B. Pace were appointed a committee to make the necessary purchases. A list of the boy's names on Ward N-4, were read and each member present was given a name to send a Christmas card.

The following officers were unanimously elected for the new year: Mrs. L. H. Bowling, president; Mrs. Cecil Garrenton, of Bethel, first vice president; Mrs. V. A. Ward, of Robersonville, second vice president; Miss Hennie Wichard, secretary; Mrs. F. J. Diener, treasurer; Mrs. W. R. Jones, chaplain; Mrs. C. A. Bowen, new member of the executive committee. Many expressions of appreciation were made for the faithful, efficient service of the outgoing president, Mrs. C. O'H. Laughinghouse.

At the conclusion of the business session, the hostesses served tea and sandwiches. And an enjoyable social season was spent over the cups. The new president, Mrs. L. H. Bowling, and Mrs. C. A. Bowen, extended a cordial invitation to the Auxiliary to meet with them at the home of Mrs. Bowling in January.

SOVIET FORCES TOWARDS COAL, AVERS TROTSKY

Russia Is Not On Its Way to Capitalism But Heads for Socialism, He Points Out

By R. H. KNICKERBOCKER,
I. N. S. Staff Correspondent
Moscow, Dec. — Soviet Russia is not going toward capitalism, but is slowly making progress towards its socialistic goal, declares Leon Trotsky in a new booklet which soon will be published in America as a comparison to his recent book, "Whither Goes England?"

Trotsky may be relied upon to compare to an objective description of the facts in Russia than any other man in the Communist Party. His candour is the quality which has cost him trouble with his comrades. He refuses to be muzzled by expediency. Hence his data may be accepted as the fairest statement to be expected from an interested party.

He asserts that all the small deviations from the communist program such as the New Economic Policy with the granting of concessions, the permission to own and inherit private property, and the private ownership of houses, are negligible when the other pan of the balances contains the over-weening facts that virtually all the important instruments of industrial production, transport, trade and credit are still in the hands of the government.

He admits that the peasants and their staff-necked refusal to leave the traditional individualism for communistic methods of work are unsolved problems. The peasants are agricultural capitalists, and he warns that they might turn the whole soviet structure toward capitalism should communist industry lag behind the development of capitalist tendencies on the land.

Trotsky sums up the two forces working against each other in the soviet Union, the one driving toward communism, and the other toward capitalism, in the following way: "The government is now producing four-fifths of the industrial production of the Sovunion. One-fifth falls to the lot of private industrialists, who are chiefly small handicraft workers. Railways and shipping are in hands of the government 100 per cent. Three-fourths of the trading is done by the government and cooperative stores. The foreign trade is 95 per cent in the hands of the government. Credit is a centralized government monopoly."

"Against all this, we have 22,000,000 peasant farms, among which the number of government or cooperative farms is very small. The growth of a class of rich peasants appears. And the danger of private capital, having increased its influence in the peasant market, switching our economic development on to the capitalist road could be unavoidable if the government should yield in the spheres of industry, trade and finance.

Wheels Go 'Round and Down

Sammy Cohen, of Los Angeles, while investigating the innards of a clock, swallowed the mainspring gear. It lodged in his throat and was removed with difficulty by the aid of the bronchoscope.

"This prospect is theoretically not excluded," he asserts, in a passage which indicates anew why the Communists believe they must continue their dictatorship. "If the ruling party were to make mistake after mistake in the sphere of politics and economics, and if it thus were to hinder the growth of industry which is now so promisingly growing, and if it let slip from its hands the control over political and economic processes in the villages, then it is understood that socialism would be lost for Russia. But, we do not intend to make such mistakes."

Trotsky concludes that the role of the government in the industrial trading and financial economy of the country is increasing, and that the peasant tendency toward capitalism can be suppressed by communistic control of the commodities for which the peasants have to exchange their grain

A FOREST FIRE EXAMPLE EASTERN NORTH CAROLINA

In order that the people of eastern North Carolina may more fully realize the destructiveness of forest fires, the following account is given from accurate records submitted by the forest fire wardens of Beaufort county to the State Division of Forestry.

During the fall fire season, which begins July the first, to the first of December there have been reported 15 fires which were extinguished by the wardens and their crews. The fires burned over an area of 5,608 acres or 1.2 per cent. of the land area of the whole county, and caused an estimated damage of $22,635.00—an average of about $4.00 per acre. This is a very conservative estimate since 3,985 acres of the above area were in merchantable timber, 1,463 acres in second growth and only 50 acres in open land.

The following causes were given for the fires: Brush-burning 1, railroads 2, campers and hunters 2, sw-dust pile 1 and unknown 9. It is regrettable that the number of fires classed as unknown, i. e., where the origin can not be determined, is so large, because any person responsible for these fires should, if not punished by law, at least pay the cost of extinction of the fire and the damage done. Each and every citizen of the state can assist in this work if they will be careful at all times with fire in the woods, just as they are careful with fire in their own homes. Carelessness is responsible for a very large majority of our forest fires, but if we exercise our cautions and assist in reporting fires, when they do occur, to your nearest forest fire warden, the timberlands of this section will soon become a veritable storehouse of wood, a prize worth owning, and ever ready to relieve that tax burden or offset a bad crop failure. Help prevent forest fires—It pays.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

Daisy, the lone elephant in Honolulu's zoo, known to every tourist who has visited the famous Kaplani Park, has become untractable to all of the zoo employees with the exception of a little Hawaiian girl, Dorothy Mookini, who has grown up since babyhood in Daisy's company. This thirteen-year-old child is the only person on the zoo grounds whom the elephant will tolerate and for this reason has been placed on the city payroll and regularly employed as Daisy's attendant.

Dorothy's father, former elephant keeper at the park, died a few months ago and since that time Daisy has shown only hatred and distrust toward the men attendants who have tried to feed, water or bed her down. Dorothy is not strong enough to do these tasks, but daily she enters Daisy's house and going to the elephant's head soothes her with quiet words while the men dodge in and out with hay and straw.

Local moonshiners are doing so much harm to Hawaii's forests in their search for to root, base of the original Hawaiian kolekole or mountain gin, that officers of the territorial forestry department have announced a war all their own, separate and apart from that being waged by the Federal prohibition force, against these trespassers.

The root of the ti plant is rich in sugar content, which makes it desirable as a liquor base. The plant grows only on the steep slopes of gulches well back in the mountain jungles. The chief harm done by these ti plant hunters is forming innumerable landslides on these slopes which later form water courses and ditches which play havoc with the forest cover so much needed to conserve rainfall.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. Creomulsion Company, Atlanta, Ga. (adv.)

hibition enforcer, of stopping and searching all automobiles on the public highway that he suspects may contain liquor has met its first rebuff in a directed verdict of "not guilty" ordered by Judge William Rawlins of the United States District Court in a case brought by the prohibition officers against a local rent car driver.

When the prohibition officers stopped the machine they found two soldiers as passengers in the rear seat and two bottles of wine on the floor in front of them. Judge Rawlins ordered a directed verdict on the grounds that the prosecution failed to show that the owner of the car had any knowledge of the presence of the liquor. Although the order in this case is based on a technicality, persons who maintain that the searching of automobiles indiscriminately is a violation of constitutional liberty hail it as argument for their side.

WITH COAL SHORTAGE PREDICTED, MORE THAN CULM BANKS UTILIZED

Harrisburg, Pa., Dec. 9.—(AP)—Old culm banks, once regarded as waste materials of mining processes are being more generally utilized with the increased demand for fuel as a result of the suspension of hard coal operations.

A culm pile, near Honesdale, which is estimated to contain at least 1,000,000 tons, is to be removed by a Scranton firm under permission granted by the State Sanitary Water Board. The firm plans to remove the culm and ship it to tidewater without any further treatment.

Through the early years of anthracite mining in the Pennsylvania fields no attempt was made to salvage the fuel dumped out in the waste piles. Huge banks of culm accumulated in many places.

From these came the river coal which has been marketed by dredgers on streams flowing from the coal region. In recent years, many of the coal companies have washed out the good coal from the culm banks and sold it.

FISH SAVES SHIP FROM SINKING

Southampton, Dec. 9.—(INS)—How a fish prevented a ship from sinking and thereby saved the lives of her crew of fifty-seven was related on the arrival here of Captain Harman Bentsen and his crew from South Africa.

According to the captain, when his whaler was off Durban, they killed a large whale, which was lashed to the side of the ship owing to the heavy seas.

As the waves pounded the great whale against the side of the ship the steel plates were pierced and water began to pour into the ship. The pumps were set going, but the water gained.

Just as the ship was given up as lost the rush of water jammed a large fish in the hole. This brought the rush of water to a mere trickle, and the ship was pumped dry while steaming at full speed for shore. Just before the ship reached port the fish became dislodged, but the captain managed to get his ship in to harbor in the nick of time.

CHICAGO'S FIRST DOUBLE-DECKED STREET IS NEARING COMPLETION

Chicago. — Chicago's first double decked street is nearing completion as a $3,000,000 hardware plant, the last building in its path, gives way to a wrecker gang.

When completed the street, located on the south bank of the Chicago river, will be known as Wacker Drive and will represent an expenditure of $20,000,000 for the one mile of its length.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE DAILY REFLECTOR

THE MAYFLOWER
Conn. A. e. and DeSales St.,
Washington, D. C.

The fellows who love fighting (and their sisters and their cousins and their aunts) are wondering how to handle the rush of business which promises from the fact that two such strenuous battlers as Vice President Dawes and Col. Mitchell are in the National Capital wending each the exciting paths of his own purposes at the same time.

Thus far, Gen. Dawes and Colonel Mitchell have not had to divide attention here. When one was in town, the other was not. Consequently, the supporters of both had no need to divide their applause. Now, however, there arises the problem of how to cheer one to the echo without neglecting the other. It looks as though gloves may be worn to a frazzle in the attempt.

The new Senator from Indiana, the new Senator from Missouri and the new Senator from South Dakota chanced to meet for a moment on Connecticut Avenue, near Farragut Square, while hurrying in different ways. As they passed for a brief interchange of greetings—they already had become acquainted over at the Senate office building—they espied a slim, neatly garbed man, poising on the curb to permit a truck to hurtle past. As the trio of new statesmen caught each his individual breath, the slim man stepped into the street threading his way capably among the flashing motors, and reaching the other side, disappeared in the throng of pedestrians.

"It's the President!" gasped the Senator from Indiana.

"Walking!" ejaculated the Senator from South Dakota.

"Alone!" protested the Senator from Missouri.

Two were right. One was wrong. Mr. Coolidge goes out nearly every afternoon for a tramp along the busy streets of Washington, but always a secret service man is near by. The Senators didn't recognize the officer, of course. They will learn very quickly that many statesmen walk these days, in the hope of running a cross the Chief Executive and thereby having a private ear with him.

Thousands of visitors are in town for the opening week of Congress—that is, folks who merely want to look on at the first sessions. They are a corps apart from the hosts who come here to have some part in activities on Capitol Hill. There is a feeling throughout the land that the new Congress will be worth seeing; that it is put forth some unusual endeavors. Many newcomers look for sensations and doubtless will be disappointed; others anticipate a quiet session, and probably will miss their guess. Viewing the situation from real understanding of what is likely to engage lawmaking attention, it is safe to say that the new Congress will be busy, will have some lively days, will prove fruitful of emphatic oratory—even if cloistered as to duration!—and will prove interesting in its work rather than an evoker of thrills.

For six weeks four men have been busy in the effort to keep the front lawn of the White House free from dead leaves. It has been a vast undertaking, but the work is now at an end. The big oaks and elms which crowd the grounds are almost bare of foliage, and the rakers are turning their attention to new tasks. Four months hence they will return to the scene to push the White House lawnmowers. It is just one job after another for the executive mansion caretakers, no matter how idle their daughters may be.

Twice every month Uncle Sam hands out some eleven million dollars in cash to his workers in Washington. The semi-monthly pay days are delightful occasions in national Capital life—everybody feels the impetus of the happenings. The stores do special advertising; new raiment blossoms forth in every street. Bill collectors try to cover a fortnight's duties in a single 24 hours, and well-nigh succeed; bond salesmen shake hands fervently with anyone suspected of being a federal employe; banks do a rushing business, for the hired people of Uncle Sam are bank customers to a very great extent.

The pay-by-check idea is not much regarded in government service here. In all but two or three departments the workers receive envelopes containing the amount of cash due for the half-month service. There is no special effort at safeguarding the funds thus being handed out, but holdup men seem to consider it unwise to attempt to rob the department cashiers on pay day.

Washington police are trying to enforce an anti-jaywalking order of the District Commissioners. "Trying" is the descriptive word employed, let it be noted. The new law says the pedestrian shall obey all signals of the traffic officer, but the pedestrian who does so is yet to be found in the city. No matter what part of the country he originally hailed from, the Washington resident insists on jaywalking if he chooses, which he does. It's a hard life for the Washington traffic officer.

TOWN SUNDAY HOUSES SOLVE THE FARMER'S WEEK-END PROBLEMS

Fredericksburg, Tex., Dec. 9.—(AP)—"Sunday Houses," tiny dwellings, clustered mostly around the churches of this little German town in the hills of southwest Texas, have solved for many ranchmen and farmers the problem of week-ends trips to town for shopping, trading and attending church.

The first of them were erected about 30 years ago and the idea was so well received that there now are about 100 in use. Usually the "Sunday House" consists of one or two small rooms on the ground floor and the same number on a second floor. Although furnished comfortably, few of them contain cooking utensils. The owners bring enough food to last them from Saturday until Monday morning, thus giving the women freedom from cooking and saving the expense of stocking two kitchens.

Fredericksburg, with a population of 4,000, is unincorporated and the owners of Sunday Houses have only to pay county and state tax rates on their establishments.

These homes have had a marked influence for good on the social and community life of the county, according to George D. Barber, secretary of the Chamber of Commerce.

PARIS LOOKS TO AMERICANS TO PLUNGE ON THE LOTTERY

Paris, Dec. 9.—(INS)—America will be one of the largest buyers of tickets if a National Lottery is voted in France, says "L'Intransigeant."

"Lotteries do not exist in the United States," says this paper, "but the passion for the uncertain is none the less great. With the rate of exchange so much in favor of the dollar, you may be sure that our friends from America will buy their share of lottery tickets. The enormous purchase in the United States of German marks proved this."

It is also stated that South America may be depended upon to do her share of the buying as she already does in the Spanish lottery.

In other words, according to this paper, France seems to be the only country that will buy sparingly of the bonds.

The real trouble with this country is that the garage has replaced the woodshed.—Durham Sun.

THE SCOUT OATH:

On my honor I will do my best: To do my duty to God and my country, and to obey the Scout Law; To help other people at all times; To keep myself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight.

THE SCOUT LAW:

1. A Scout is Trustworthy—A scout's honor is to be trusted. If he were to violate his honor by telling a lie, or by cheating, or by not doing exactly a given task, when trusted on his honor, he may be directed to hand over his Scout badge.
2. A Scout is Loyal—He is loyal to all to whom loyalty is due; his Scout leader, his home and parents and country.
3. A Scout is Helpful—He must be prepared at any time to save life, help injured persons, and share the home duties. He must do at least one good turn to somebody every day.
4. A Scout is Friendly—He is a friend to all and a brother to every other scout.
5. A Scout is Courteous—He is polite to all, especially to women, children, old people and the weak and helpless. He must not take pay for being helpful or courteous.
6. A Scout is Kind—He is a friend to animals. He will not kill nor hurt any living creature needlessly, but will strive to save and protect all harmless life.
7. A Scout is Obedient—He obeys his parents, scoutmaster, patrol leader, and all other duly constituted authorities.
8. A Scout is Cheerful—He smiles whenever he can. His obedience to orders is prompt and cheery. He never shirks nor grumbles at hardships.
9. A Scout is Thrifty—He does not wantonly destroy property. He works faithfully, wastes nothing, and makes the best use of his opportunities. He saves his money so that he may pay his own way; be generous to those in need, and helpful to worthy objects. He may work for pay but must not receive tips for courtesies or good turns.
10. A Scout is Brave—He has the courage to face danger in spite of fear and has to stand up for the right against the coaxing of friends or the jeers or threats of enemies; defeat does not down him.

11. A Scout is Clean—He keeps clean in body and thought, stands for clean speech, clean sport, clean habits; and travels with a clean crowd.

12. A Scout is Reverent—He is reverent toward God. He is faithful in his religious duties, and respects the convictions of others in matters of custom and religion.
