SEN LA FOLLETTE IS ACCEPTED INTO REPUBLICAN FOLD

Declares He Will Follow "An Independent Course" to Further Policies of Father

Washington, Dec. 15.—(AP.)—Undeterred by a warning that he would follow an "independent course" in furtherance of the policies of his father, the Republican Senate formally accepted Senator Robert M. La Follette into the Republican fold from which the elder La Follette had been excluded.

His assignment as a Republican member of three standing committees was given approval in the Senate without debate or a record vote after a last minute conference of party leaders had declined to reverse yesterday's decision classifying him as a Republican.

In the House the Wisconsin insurgent group did not fare so well for all of them were deprived of their position of seniority which the length of their term would have entitled them to in the regular Republican organization. All of the insurgent group was relegated to minor committees and in each instance placed at the bottom of the Republican membership. Those who had held chairmanships or places on the more important committees previously, were ejected from these posts.

Regards Security Pact as Crusade Against Sov. Gov.

Paris, Dec. 15.—(AP.)—Foreign Minister Tchitcherin, of Soviet Russia, who is visiting France, regards the Locarno Security Pact as preparations for a crusade against the Soviet government, he told the press today.

Asked what the Soviet attitude will be toward a possible Locarno pact for the peace, the Foreign Minister replied that he did not know what that might mean. However the Moscow government was ready to enter into agreement with each of the Baltic States individually.

The remark came in the course of a speech appealing for a progressive ballot system in North Carolina.

L. P. Hall was inducted into the club last night the address of instruction being delivered by W. H. Dail. Visiting Rotarians present were T. Harvey Meyers and Cecil Keyes, of Washington.

Frederick Hicks Dies Suddenly While Witnessing Performance in Belasco Theatre

Washington, Dec. 14.—(AP.)—A heart attack coming at the high point of a performance by a stage magician caused the death last night of Frederick C. Hicks, alien property custodian. Slumping in his chair in the Belasco Theatre just as the magician hypnotized a woman and caused her to apparently float over the stage Mr. Hicks died before physicians could reach him.

Mr. Hicks, who succeeded Thomas W. Miller, as custodian, has served in the House of Representatives from New York from 1915 to 1923 and last year was Special United States Minister on the diplomatic mission to Peru.

(Copyright, 1925) LET FORD DO IT? NO INDEED LOOK OUT FOR RUSSIA JUDGES UNDERPAID WHAT IS OUR LAND WORTH? ARTHUR BRISEANE

An unofficial suggestion is to spend 76,000,000 of public money for flying machines. That sounds pleasant at first.

But you remember the war days when you spent $600,000,000 for flying machines. It didn't get any flying machines that could fly.

Henry Ford for $76,000,000, would supply the government with 5,000 all metal monoplane machines that would really fly.

Each in peace, could carry express matter and passengers, and carry a fighting crew to drop bombs and use machine guns in war.

Which would be better for the United States, five thousand machines that Ford would actually deliver for $76,000,000, or what this country will get in exchange for $76,000,000 after the money shall have been spent by the kind of men that have hitherto managed national aviation, and that could not get one machine out of three to fly to Hawaii?

Ford would give you one hundred machines and guarantee that everyone of them would fly from San Francisco to Honolulu.

This country would no more let Ford build the flying machines of the government than it would allow him to run Muscle Shoals. He might make a success of it, producing flying machines and fertilizers at low price. That wouldn't suit the powers that run the United States, and that do not reside in Washington.

You may read today Lloyd George's idea of conditions in Europe. The nations, tired of war, would like to disarm, under protection of the Locarno Treaty. But all depends upon Russia.

Russia like the United States, fears the League of Nations, says Lloyd George and soon built up to such wealth and power as she has never known. "Russia will be ready to take military steps to redress her grievances."

China is taught Bolshevism, her radicals are financed, her armies are equipped from Bolshevik resources, and trained by Bolshevik officers. Chinese have no great objection to being killed. They can be taught to fly, do anything that a westerner can do, and do it as well.

The learned Ku Hing-ung, analyzing Chinese character ably says "the true Chinaman is a gentleman," having been brought up in the confusion way, which makes everything depend on behavior. He gives you the impression that China will never really "go Bolshevik."

But nothing is certain in this day, and our wise government ought to think a little about Russia, and our stupidly provincial attitude toward that government, before we are compelled to think.

Our school boy financiers threw a way their money on loans to the czar but that is no reason why 115,000,000 Americans should be at odds with 120,000,000 Russians. Russia owes France five times what she owes our baby bankers, and more, but France recognizes Russia's government and receives her ambassador.

This richest nation earth, with its millions and billions tossed about by the annual budget, ought to find a way to pay its judges and their assistants decently.

Federal judges are paid salaries disgracefully, dishonestly low. Their pay, based on conditions prevailing many years ago, is now utterly inadequate, and the same is true of court clerks and others inclined in the federal judicial system.

A great majority of the judges are lawyers of exceptional ability. Men that in private practice could readily earn five to ten times their official pay. Their work is hard, exhausting requiring integrity, patience and learning. The country should pay fairly for such services. Every citizen's welfare depends upon the work of the courts.

Saul Cohn of Newark, representing a big financial institution, says the real estate in the United States is worth one hundred and one sixty billion dollars. That is a low estimate, especially if you look ahead. California alone is intrinsically worth $100,000,000,000. There are tens of Please Turn to Page Six

LOUIS PHAL FOUND MURDERED TODAY

"Battling Siki Lene-gales" Killed Either by Gun Shot or Knife Wound in Back

New York, Dec. 15.—(AP.)—"Battling Siki Senegalese, fugitive, whose real name was Louis Phal, was found murdered early today on the lower west side. Death had been caused by either a gun shot or knife wound in the back.

The body was found lying face downward on the sidewalk about 100 feet east of Ninth Avenue in the district known as He's Kitchen. Identity was established by policeman John J. Noonan, a friend of Siki's who found the body.

Patrolman Meehan said he met the Senegalese fighter a short distance from where the body was found a little after midnight and that they had exchanged greetings. Siki, the officer said, shouted that he was on his way home. Four hours later Patrolman Meehan was walking through 41st street when he saw the body of a man lying on the sidewalk. He turned the body over and recognized Siki. An ambulance was called, but physicians pronounced Siki dead. A revolver was found in the gutter a short distance away, from which two shots had been fired. It was believed by the police that the weapon was used to commit the murder and then thrown away as the slayer fled from the scene. Siki was well known throughout the neighborhood where he met his death. It is the theory of a detective working on the case that he went into one of the numerous night clubs nearby and became involved in an argument, and was followed into the street and murdered.

Reports of Cotton Ginned in State Show Increases

Raleigh, Dec. 15.—(AP.)—Reports of cotton ginned in North Carolina counties continue to show big increases over the amount ginned last year. The latest report of the Department of Commerce, compiled through the bureau of the census, showing preliminary figures on cotton ginned by counties in this state, prior to December 1, for the years 1924 and 1925, show that this year's figures average almost double those of 1924, although in some cases the percentage of increase runs much higher. The figures quoted show quantities in running bales. The Department's report, just received here, says. Round bales are counted as half bales, and Enter are not included.

Kesler Delivering Series Addresses Teachers College

"Go to the Auditorium of the College tonight at 8:30 and hear one of the most inspiring, informing and eloquent speakers that has ever visited this city," is the statement and advice of one of our citizens who has heard the two addresses made by Dr. Kesler, the Y. W. C. A. visiting lecturer for this week.

From those who have been attending Dr. Kesler's lectures, it is learned that he is beyond all doubt one of the most accomplished and attractive speakers that has ever visited us. "To hear him will be a benefit to great as to be beyond value" is a further statement added. And another: "To fail to accept the invitation and hear him is a loss great, even if unknown."

Our informant says: "That is using strong language, but the facts justify it."

DANGER IN ILLITERACY.

No need to wonder why the wrong man sometimes gets into public office and why foolish laws so often get on the statute books to pester and persecute the public when it is revealed that 4,500,000 illiterates are entitled to vote.

An illiterate man or woman—one who can neither read nor write—can not be expected to vote intelligently. The judgment of an illiterate is at the best very bad and people who can not read or write their own language can not be expected to think for themselves nor to form reasonable convictions. They for man irresistible temptation for unscrupulous politicians and are the involuntary tools of mob rule.

The nation can not be proud of such a vast army of illiterate citizens nor can it shut its eyes to the challenge that lies in that army. Law immigration restrictions can not be blamed because 3,000,000 of the illiterate voters are native born.

Great numbers of men and women on every election day

ask for aid in marking their ballots at the polls. This is necessary if they are to vote for they can read neither the names of the candidates nor the directions for voting. These numbers of assisted voters prove that the illiterate electors are voting, although they are not mentally qualified.

The constitution of the United States grant every citizen the right to vote irrespective of education, race, color or religious creed. No tolerant American would wish otherwise. So there is but one remedy for the menace of the illiterate voter and that is compulsory education for the voters of the present as well as of the future.

A vote by intelligence is nullified by a vote by ignorance.

SUPT. FITZGERALD REPLIES TO C. W. HEARNE

To the Editor:

In your issue of yesterday you carried an article by Mr. Closs W. Hearne in which the errors are so evident that out of friendship toward him I hasten to correct it. Articles coming from this office have to do only with the rural schools of this county. I have no connection with the Greenville City schools, and as a result do not fix the teachers salaries or arrange the course of study.

The 53 cent tax which Mr. Hearne refers to is a special school tax levied in the Greenville Graded School District, and solely by property holders in this district, collected by the town of Greenville, and disbursed by the town treasurer. Not one cent of it the Board of Trustees. Knowing has ever been handled by this office. It has no connection with the constitutional school term of six months. For the information of anyone who might not know it, there really is a general school tax of 42 cents levied, which tax is collected by the sheriff, and is disbursed by this office. All comparisons which have been made by me or made in the future will have to do with the tax support of our constitutional school term as compared with the same class of support in other states and counties. These comparisons will not be given to the public until they have been verified. My sources of information for them are open to Mr. Hearne or anyone else who is willing to employ sufficient time to acquaint himself intelligently with these comparisons and not surmise. One of the facts stated here: Pitt county is doing less for its rural children than any other county in the state when its resources are considered as a basis.

one who might differ with me in my conclusions about our schools that expenditure per child. I feel they are receiving about a' B. G. FITZGERALD.

PRODIGY OF FIVE
AWED BURMAH CROWD
WITH HIS ELOQUENCE

Rangoon, India, Dec. 14.—(INS).—A sensation has been created in the Burmah district by the appearance of a prodigy, the five-year-old son of a Burmese fish dealer, who is said to be able to address immense meetings with the eloquence of a LaFollette, Briand, or Lloyd George.

According to reports from that district, the railroad companies have to put no special trains to convey the crowds to the points where the prodigy is speaking. The prodigy's name is Tun Kyine, and it is said that he can speak for hours on end in the most brilliant Burmese.

His speeches are generally about Buddhist Ethics and moral philosophy, and his command of history is said to be nothing short of remarkable. The superstitious people of the district are disposed to treat Tun Kyine as a reincarnation of some ancient Buddhist preacher.

Tells Why He Can Now Eat Hearty

"A letter which I read in the paper about Carter's Little Liver Pills fitted my own case so closely that I could not help trying them and am very happy I did." So writes Mr. Frank J. Trumbull of Jersey City, N. J., whose letter goes on to say: "I had heard about Carter's Little Liver Pills for years but never knew they helped overcome poor appetite and sour stomach until I read about another man in the same plight who took Carter's with good results. I tried them and can honestly say that they freed me of nasty gas on stomach, so that I can now eat without getting bilious, and they improved my appetite fully, 100%. You can rest assured that from now on I will boost Carter's Little Liver Pills whenever I can." Recommended and for sale by all drug stores.

FIDELIS CLASS MEETING.

The Fidelis class of the Immanuel Baptist Sunday School was delightfully entertained on Friday evening, Dec. 11 when Mesdames L. R. O'Brian, O. Q. Lassiter and S. S. Williams were hostesses. A large number of members and guests met in the Wilson room of the church which was attractively decorated in keeping with the approaching holiday season. A beautifully decorated miniature Christmas tree was the central motif around which was arranged an enjoyable program. The business session was given over chiefly to planning for social service activities during the holidays. Following the reports of the standing committees little Miss Rebecca Williams and Margaret O'Brian gave two Christmas readings. An amusing guessing contest followed after which Mrs. D. T. Williams of Tarboro and Mrs. W. L. Rice assisted in serving a deliciously tempting salad course.

WASHINGTON BUREAU OF THE DAILY REFLECTOR

THE MAYFLOWER
Conn. Ave. and NeSales St.,
Washington, D. C.

Washington, Dec. 15.—Of course there still are "radicals" in Congress. A number of members of Senate and House will, perhaps, proudly proclaim themselves as of such independent thinking as to entitle them to be classed as advanced progressives, which means radicals. But there are none of the radical school of long ago. That was the time when you could count confidently on at least one man in the Senate and ever so many in the House of Representatives being dead set against wearing a "dress suit." It almost is history that President McKinley personally urged Joe W. Bailey of Texas to come to the White House to discuss a dress suit or no dress suit. He said that Joe would not go because he had sworn never to wear one of the outlandish things, and he knew all the other men present would be thus deterred.

Let it be repeated, though, no longer are true radicals in Congress. Not a still can walk to the White House in man there—whether he be from the plains of Arizona, the swamps of Florida or Florida still has swamps, it is the mining regions of Michigan is now a rebel against evening clothes. Also, most of the statesmen own and frequently wear "Tuxedo" togs. The good old "Prince Albert" days are gone from Capitol Hill.

The movement for suffrage in the District of Columbia—it may be forgotten in other sections of the country that people here have no vote—has bumped up against a brand-new protest. It is a home-made one, too. Immense enthusiasm has of late been shown in the effort at having Congress lead the way for formal elections in the District of Columbia. Citizens here declare they should not be disfranchised because they live at the seat of Federal government. And that argument is gaining friends in Congress.

But a thought and far-seeing man has written an open letter urging suffrage seekers to "go slow." He sees, he says, danger in the undertaking, to the welfare of Washington. "We are the center of the nation's gaze since the World War," he writes, "and as never before citizens of all the land want to make Washington a capital second to none in all the world. But if we have the ballot and permit ourselves to be drawn into partisan squabbles, we shall be certain to offend this or that school of political thought elsewhere in the Republic. Then our opponents will make their lack of affection felt in legislative circles. Let us remain onlookers rather than participants at elections, and the entire country will see to it that Washington receives what it should have." Still, the movement here for ballot will not be sidetracked by arguments which may be called altruistic. Washingtonians feel keenly the anomaly of their position in being "wards of the government," rather than electors, and it is to change this situation that the ballot is being sought by them.

Speaker Longworth likes to live close to the firing line. He resided for years almost within pistol shot of the White House. Last summer, however, it was decided that the new Longworth baby needed bigger quarters than the parental home provided, so it was taken for granted by friends that the family would follow the example of prominent folk generally and move "farther out." In fact, the Ohio representative did this, but his journey toward ruralism took him only another two blocks up town. He still can walk to the White House in five minutes—if the President is in a hurry for a conference—and it is scarcely longer by motor to the Capitol.

It is pretty generally supposed that politics will be much muddled over in the Longworth home these next few months. Perhaps it would be indicate to suggest that Mr. Longworth has his eyes on the Executive mansion as a home some years hence. It might not be unconservative, however, to say that Mrs. Longworth is sometimes credited with a thought of eventually moving back.

A man from Interior Indiana sat lugubriously in the office of the secretary to the president of this great Republic. The visitor was there to see about obtaining a post office appointment for himself, and contrary to advice from his senators, his representative and Mr. Everett Saunders himself, had decided to take the matter up personally with Mr. Coolidge. But the entire forenoon had passed and no heart-to-heart talk with the suddenly the private secretary had ried out of the presidential offices, "I'm not going to let him chase me off," muttered the Hoosier. A moment later he was electrified by seeing Saunders motion him toward the Executive presence. "Everett ain't so bad, after all," concluded the visitor with suddenly dawning joy, as he almost ran into the adjoining room. The president extended his hand, the Indiana man took it proudly, a big chap near by whispered "keep moving!" Someone behind pushed and the next moment the Hoosier office-keeper found himself outside the White House offices looking in. It was the noontime period for shaking hands with Mr. Coolidge, and it is done just that fast.

BACK GIVEN OUT?

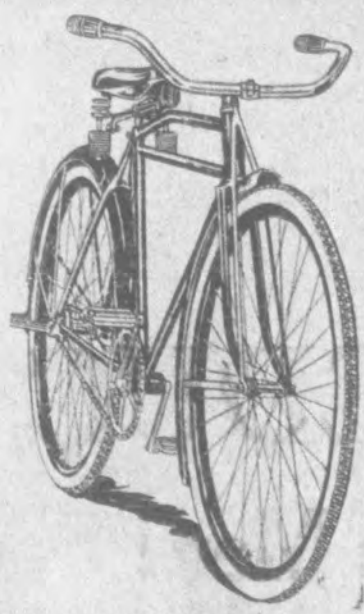

Then Follow the Advice of This Greenville Resident

Are you dragging along day after day with a dull, nagging backache? Do you feel tired, lame and achy; suffer sharp, torturing pains at every sudden move? Then look to your kidneys! Colds, strains and overwork weaken the kidneys and bring on throbbing backache and knife-like twinges. Don't risk serious kidney disease! Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Read what this Greenville resident says:

Mrs. J. J. Jenkins, 315 Cotanch St., says: "I had severe pains in my back which almost drove me wild. I had headaches all the time and dizziness was common. Many a time I thought everything was floating around me. My kidneys didn't act right either. I bought two boxes of Doan's Pills at Horne's Drug Store and the relief they gave me was a blessing." billions of undeveloped value in many of the great states.
Real estate is worth what human beings make it worth, for crops, mines, factories, or business.
In New York, Chicago, and other big cities, small corners now worth a million each, will in time be worth five millions. Very bad for the own workers that will inherit the corners, but perhaps single tax will fix that.

Other news from Europe tells of possible war between Turkey and Britain. Turkey ignores the orders of the League of Nations which is usual in Europe, if you want a fight. Mussolini did it, in the Greek bombarding incident.

The League is supposed to back Britain in any row. But, when one fight starts, other nations remember old quarrels, and nobody is safe.

Kemal Pasha is up to date. If he sent a few flying Turks, even very few, to hunt out British battleships or visit British cities, there would be excitement. The Turks, in the big war proved to be excellent fliers.

At the Mitchell trial, General Cox Chief of the National Coast Artillery says ten thousand anti-aircraft guns could not protect Washington from enemy airplanes.

What a change would come, if a few bombs—hurting no one, of course—should be dropped on some empty lots, half way between the Capital and the White House. How quickly our statesmen would change their attitude of calm indifference to flying machine danger.

They would end the Mitchell trial in a hurry. Forget all about it, and ask Mitchell to take charge of the situation.

But it's hard to talk to an ostrich with its head in the sand.

"Oh, I just can't stop talking about this glorious Karnak, and I praise it to everyone, for it has lifted a burden of suffering off of me and made me well and happy again," declares Mrs. E. E. Paris, Dec. 15.—(AP)—The Chamber of Deputies Finance Committee today confirmed its vote of yesterday rejecting the fiscal projects of Finance Minister Loucheur. There was only one dissenting vote.

I just wish stomach sufferers all over the country knew what great relief this medicine would bring them. The first few doses gave me almost instant relief.
"I have taken three bottles now, and eat whatever I want and digest it properly. The gastritis, heartburn and sour stomach all disappeared in a few days' time and haven't bothered me since. My complexion has cleared up, I've gained weight, and it's such a joy to be well again I can never praise Karnak enough. It's too wonderful for words."
