APPROACHES VOTE WHICH WILL TAKE U. S. INTO COURT

Under the Tight Lid of Cloture Senate Approaches the End of the Important Is- sue

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Under the tight lid of cloture the Senate approached today the vote which will take the United States into the world court. Whether the final roll call will come before adjournment today or be deferred until tomorrow was problematical. Proponents of adherence have concluded their arguments and opponents are now inclined to prolong the discussion. More than a score of reservations to the Swanson resolution of adherence have been offered, however, and these must be disposed of before the final vote. Roll calls will be demanded in a number of cases.

Some of these amendments will provoke more or less general discussion but leaders of the court forces are hopeful that a final decision will be reached by tonight so that the tax reduction bill can be called up Wednesday. Under the rule which the Senate yesterday invoked, each Senator is limited to an hour on the resolution of adherence and all amendments which have been offered. On the deciding vote the leaders for ratification are confident they will be able to muster an even greater margin than the five above the necessary two-thirds which was recorded yesterday on the cloture issue. They count upon several Democrats and some Republicans who voted against cloture to join in with the majority.

Y. W. C. A. to Hold Annual Meet Raleigh Tomorrow

Raleigh, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The North Carolina Young Men's Christian Associations will convene here tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock in their fifteenth annual convention. The convention will continue through noon of Thursday. Approximately 100 persons from outside of Raleigh are expected. Presidents, secretaries, and delegates from all the Y. M. C. A.'s in the state—city, railroad, and college—are invited to attend.

The convention will convene at 10 o'clock in the hall of the House of Representatives in the state Capitol, with Morgan B. Spier, chairman of the state committee, presiding. The morning session of the first day will be devoted largely to appointment of committees, and to the report of the state committee for the year.

Among the committees to be named are those on organization and nominations, to be composed of one member from each member organization in the state; credentials; reviewing committee, which will review the report and recommendations of the state committee, and the budgets of the National Council and training agencies and report their findings to the convention; convention committee, which will prepare the program and make arrangements for the next convention; and the committee on resolutions and findings.

Speakers on the program of the convention include F. W. Ramsey, president of the National Council of the Y. M. C. A.; S. Wirt Wiley, associate general secretary, National Council Y. M. C. A.; Dr. W. D. Weatherford, president Southern College, at Nashville; Angus Wilton McLean, Governor of North Carolina; and Francis F. Bradshaw, dean of students at the University of North Carolina.

Will Attempt Overcome Jinx Radio Concerts

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Officials conducting the week's international broadcasting tests will try tonight to overcome the jinx that has silenced Eastern Radio stations in the United States because of Marine disasters on the first two nights of the test.

Weeks Better

Ex-Secretary of War Weeks, forced to resign from the Cabinet because of ill health, is reported much improved after a long rest, and is living in retirement at his Newton (Mass.) home.

TRIAL OF BERTHA CASE NEARS END

Charged With Murder of Frank Fowler, a Union County Farmer

Monroe, N. C., Jan. 26.—(AP)—The trial of Bertha Case, charged with the murder of Frank Fowler, with whom she admits she lived for several years "without benefit of clergy," today was nearing an end in Superior Court here.

Fowler, a Union county farmer, was killed on March 9th, 1925. He was married to another woman at the time of the acknowledged intimacies with the defendant. The woman on the stand yesterday told the jury that she shot the man after he had cursed her and was advancing toward her and her child "by Fowler." She said that when she shot she only intended firing into the floor. Fowler was threatening her life at the time, she said. Fowler, who lived for several hours after the shooting, pleaded at a hospital where he was carried, that the woman not be prosecuted, and left his estate to his son by her.

Europeans Have Hazy Picture of Southern U. S.

Raleigh, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Most people in Europe know practically nothing about the Southern part of the United States, except they have a hazy picture of the South as it was prior to the Civil War, and they know that this section has a large negro population—said Professor Desire Pasquet, of the University of Paris, today. The French teacher is in the United States making a study of conditions in this country, preparatory to writing the second and third volumes of his history of the United States. He is making a study just now of general economic and agricultural and industrial conditions and practices in North Carolina.

Professor Pasquet, who specializes in history and economics, stated that he believed himself to be, probably, the only professor in a continental European educational institution teaching a course in American history. There is no satisfactory history of this country in the French language, he stated.

Referring to the modernist-fundamentalist controversy in this country, and discussion of the theory of evolution, the French professor referred to the Scopes trial at Dayton, Tenn., remarking that:

"If a law to prohibit the spread of a theory were proposed in France, even the most ultra-conservative element would laugh. They would simply refuse to take such a proposal seriously."

"There is a general knowledge of the northern part of the United States in France, but of the south almost nothing is known," Mr. Pasquet said.

61 INDICTED IN CONNECTION RUM RUNNING

Investigating the Al- leged Rum Running Syndicate Headed By Bill Dwyer

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Thirteen members of the coast guard and 48 other individuals were indicted today by a Federal Grand Jury investigating the alleged rum running syndicate headed by Bill Dwyer, former race track owner.

Nine of the coast guardsmen named in the indictment were still in the active service. Three separate indictments were returned charging 61 defendants with violation of the Federal Prohibition Law and conspiracy to violate the law.

The grand jury has spent six weeks investigating the alleged rum ring which is represented by the federal authorities as having controlled 18 steamers in the rum running business. Dwyer and more than a score of his confederates were arrested in December and since then four boats supposed to have been in the trade have been seized.

YOUNG LIQUOR TRAFFICER AGAIN IN HANDS OF LAW

Willie Stewart Cap- tured After a Search Lasting for Months

Wilmington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Willie Stewart, "the last of the Stewarts" today again was in the hands of the law. The young liquor trafficker was captured at his home on this morning after a search lasting for months. He was wanted on a charge of bootlegging. Police were tipped that he was in the city and went to his home. A thorough search of the place, was unproductive until one of the detectives heard a scratching sound from within a trunk and the trunk was opened and Stewart was found inside hiding. Willie Stewart was the brother of Elmer, and the son of Charles Stewart.

This pair paid the supreme penalty in the electric chair last year for the murder of a revenue office and a county prohibition officer when a still they were operating, was raided by the officers. At the time of the double electrocution Willie was serving a term on the roads for selling liquor. Governor McLean paroled him because he was the only remaining male member of the family and in order to give him a chance. Only a short time elapsed before he was again arrested for dealing in the forbidden liquor, but he escaped before being jailed.

Amputates Feet of a World War Veteran

Datesville, Ark., Jan. 26.—(N.S.)—Andy Martin, 28, a world war veteran, recently a sufferer from amnesia, was found after a 17-day search, wandering in the woods in this locality, scantily clad and delirious. Physicians found it necessary to amputate both feet, frozen during his wanderings. Physicians say he has a fair chance for recovery.

Third Attempt Is Made to Settle Hard Coal Strike

Philadelphia, Jan. 26.—(AP)—In another effort to settle the Anthracite strike a conference of operators and miners was called to meet at three o'clock this afternoon. This is the third attempt by the two groups to adjust their differences.

TODAY

Where Loew and Mayer Work.
Euphatic Grief.
A Little Ingersollism.
Evolution or Orthodoxy.
ARTHUR BRISBANE

The British annoyed by the dominating power of American moving pictures strive to inject life into the British film industry. They should study American methods. In California last Thursday for instance, at midnight when good British moving picture men are asleep, a thousand managers, mechanics, directors, "stars" and "supers" were working in the Metro-Goldwyn studio, at Culver City, where Marcus Loew and Louis Mayer grind out their pictures. The studio is a city in itself, lighted, automobiles moving about under internal police control, and bright as day, at midnight.

The amazing thing in that picture-city which works day and night, is the energy, prompt action, instant obedience of every man and woman engaged in production, no army is better drilled. The British investigating American moving pictures will learn that success is based on Thomas Edison's prescription "Ten Percent Inspiration, Ninety Percent Perspiration."

British moving picture gentlemen demand a moving picture "quota" compelling British exhibitors to include three British films in every eight exhibited. If that law passes, American producers should buy more theatres in England. The British respect property right, and will not, presumably, forbid a man to exhibit his own pictures in his own theatres.

Suppose we told the British that they must include three American ships in every eight ships that they send to American docks. That would seem unreasonable, but it would be doing to their shipping only what they are trying to do to one of our biggest industries.

Russia celebrates the second anniversary of Lenin's death, now calling him "Father of Bolshevism." As Russia establishes gradually a government based on human nature, and not on theory, as it must do, Lenin will still be admired as the man who dismissed the Romanoffs. In Lenin's honor, all offices, factories, restaurants were closed, cities and towns were draped in red and black, amusements including the sale of liquor forbidden. Man always seeks to express grief in an unusual way.

When Alexander lost his horse Bucephalus that he conquered as a boy of twelve and rode in many battles, he felt that something must be done. He commanded that the manes and tails of every horse and mule in Persia should be shaved. That didn't do Bucephalus any good, but it made Alexander feel better.

When a big African chief died they used to kill his wives and slaves, and throw them into the grave with him. When a rich American dies, he usually squanders money on some mausoleum for himself. We are all savages in some degree.

A doctor of Marion, O., convinced that he knew all there was to be known about the other side of the grave, left this order, "I want no minister and no humpbugs at my funeral, just cremate my body and scatter the ashes over the graves of my mother and father."

A little Ingersollism is a dangerous thing. The man who refers to clergymen as "humpbugs" with more experience would have known that religion alone has made life and death indurable for millions of human beings.

Raisuli, who calls himself the lord of the mountains, the man that Theodore Roosevelt wanted dead "or pericard is alive," is captured by a better hand, Abd-el-Krim. Krim now rides Raisuli's magnificent white Arab horse, but allows him to keep four of his wives. Raisuli keeps the four youngest, but isn't happy, and constantly demands "to be killed at once," saying "The prophet will receive me in heaven."

The unhappy Moorish bandit, swollen with drowsy, a captive, humiliated, actually believes that Mohammed will be waiting in heaven to welcome him.

We all know that Raisuli, who killed many captives and strangled some of his wives with his own hands, will surely go to hell, if

THREE STEAMSHIPS ARE IN DISTRESS AS RESULT OF STORM

Liners Battling to Reach Port While Storm On the Atlantic Takes Toll of Three Lives

New York, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Three steamships were in distress today as the result of the storms on the Atlantic Ocean. At least twelve liners, including the Leviathan and Aquitania were battling toward port with nearly 6,000 passengers aboard. Most of the liners have been delayed from one to three days because of the storm which already has taken a toll of three lives and was responsible in part for the sinking of one ship. The ships in distress were the British Antiope and Laristan, and an unidentified vessel near the Panama Canal. When the liner President Roosevelt launched a life boat to take off the crew of the Antiope, two sailors of the rescue were lost as the life boat was crushed against the Antiope. The Norwegian Trader Solvang sank off the Delaware Breakwater Sunday after a collision with the oil tanker Vaclum, and one man was drowned in the heavy seas when the crew of 29 was transferred to the tanker. The President Roosevelt first went to the aid of the Antiope in Mid Atlantic Sunday, but lost the crippled steamer in the snow storm. After yesterday's rescue effort the Antiope drifted helplessly with boats and wireless gone and waves flooding the holds. The President Roosevelt was standing by.

When the Laristan sent out an SOS last night she was north of the Antiope and the German steamer, Bremen, racing to her side. The Laristan, which carries a crew of 22, was bound for New York with a cargo of coal. Her distress signal caused a shut down of radio broadcasting in the east for three hours and twenty-five minutes. The American program of the International Broadcasting tests was silenced in the east for almost forty-five minutes. Identity of the vessel in distress off the Panama Canal was sought today.

The Leviathan sent word that all aboard were well, but that she was making only eight knots an hour against the tremendous seas.

The averages have proven satisfactory, and the farmers have appeared well pleased. The average for last week, however, showed a slight drop, due to so much strap. The better grades have sold well during the entire season.

Unique Method of Hiding Still

Fayetteville, N. C., Jan. 26.—(L.N.S.)—An unique method of hiding a still was discovered by prohibition officers here recently when they located a still in Bates Pond, about nine miles from this city.

The huge plant, a fifty gallon gasoline drum, had been placed on a scaffold at the head of the pond where low-hanging trees hid the plant from passers-by. The pond was drained when the moonshiners wanted to approach the still and thus became only knee deep. When the plant was not in operation, or a raid expected, that end of the pond was dammed, and the water effectively prevented the officers from approaching the platform. Thirteen barrels of beer were found on the floating distillery.

There is such a place. But he doesn't know it, and therefore he is happy. Religions of various kinds are the comfort of the human race.

Professor Millikan, head of the California Institute of Technology calls evolution "the most sublime conception that has ever entered the mind of man," a universe developing through a definite comprehensible system of ordered change.

He calls evolution more dignified than the orthodox view that all fishes, insects, and other animals, were made, presumably in Paris, male and female, instantaneously by divine will, man being made last all alone, and then as an apparent afterthought, woman created by putting Adam to sleep, the first recorded use of anaesthetics, cutting a rib out of his body and making that into a woman.

Pennsylvania Girl Slain

The decapitated and dismembered body of a girl, believed to be Miss Anna May Dietrich, of Norwood, Pa., was found in Media Woods, near Philadelphia. Police are seeking an acquaintance of the girl as her slayer.

TOBACCO MARKET WILL CLOSE FOR SEASON FEB. 12

The Greenville tobacco market will close one of its most successful seasons on Friday, February 12th. The Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade decided on the closing date at a meeting which was held this morning.

When the market closed Friday 44,818,420 pounds had been sold, at an average of $26.23. There were no sales yesterday on account of the snow.

There have been three sets of buyers on the local market this season, and it is expected that the fourth set will be on the market next season. Great preparations are being made to make next year the best since the opening of the local market.

Taking everything into consideration, the market this season has established a wonderful record. The farmers and warehousemen have co-operated in a most commendable manner, and even when the market was blocked for several days at a time, things worked out systematically and without friction.

The averages have proven satisfactory, and the farmers have appeared well pleased. The average for last week, however, showed a slight drop, due to so much strap. The better grades have sold well during the entire season.

Black Dot Seen On Sun Today

Danville, Va., Jan. 26.—(AP)—The appearance of an unusually distinct blot on the surface of the sun was visible here at 11:30 o'clock today, when the orb was viewed through a heavy smoked glass. The black dot appeared in the right hand side of the sun.

Raleigh, Jan. 26.—(AP)—A strange spot was observed on the sun here at 1:15 o'clock this afternoon by using smoked glasses. The spot was clearly discernible without the use of field glasses or telescope. It was in the right hand side of the orb.

MITCHELL BEGINS HIS SUSPENSION OF FIVE YEARS

Coolidge Affirms the Court's Verdict; Mitchell to Receive Half Pay and Certain Living Conditions

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Stripped of his rank as Colonel in the Army Air Service, William Mitchell today began serving his sentence of suspension from the army for five years.

Contrary, however, to the decision of the court martial which convicted him under the 96th article of war of insubordination in connection with his fight for unified air service, Mitchell will receive half pay and certain living allowances during the suspension. President Coolidge, in affirming the court's verdict, stipulated yesterday that the sentence will be executed as ordered except as to the provision depriving the former Colonel of all pay and allowances.

Under the President's decision, Mitchell will receive $397.97 monthly, "during the pleasure of the President."

Mitchell has met the situation thus far without comment regarding the half pay allowance or the reports among his friends that he will submit his resignation. His counsel, Representative Reid, Republican of Illinois, however, in a statement said, "They have finally got Colonel Mitchell."

Mr. Reid criticized the "unseemly haste" of the President and declared "this whole proceeding from start to finish" shows that "invisible mind and hand have labored without ceasing for this day's verdict."

With the president's decision viewed as closing the official phase of the case, it is likely that it will provide new material for discussion in Congress where the former colonel has many friends. Representative Reid himself is expected to open the fight on the floor of the house.

Washington, Jan. 26.—(AP)—Investigation of the Mitchell Court Martial case with a view to revising the law governing military courts, was proposed today to a resolution by Representative Connally, a Democrat.

The inquiry would be conducted by a special House committee.

Spanish Plane Ne Plus Ultra Is Going Well

Madrid, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Cadiz wireless station reports that at 12:15 P. M., the steamer San Carlos was in communication with the Spanish Plane Ne Plus Ultra, flying from Gando Bay, Canary Islands to St. Vincent, Cape Verde Island. The aviators reported that everything was going well and they were maintaining the course by radio compass.

Another wireless message at 3:30 P. M., said that the aviators were still proceeding without incident.

Fish Die of Hunger In Artificial Lake

Decatur, Ill., Jan. 26.—(L.N.S.)—Are fish in Lake Decatur starving to death? Or is it some strange unlady that is playing havoc among them?

At any rate, the fishy fellows are dying by hundreds of thousands and the surface of the lake is literally covered with them.

As the lake is an artificial one and has not been built long enough to develop aquatic vegetation, municipal action may be taken to correct this and save the fish. Some believe the mortality was lack of oxygen. Placardial experts will be summoned to this city to investigate.

The way of the transgressor may be hard, but it generally is pretty smooth.—Mobile News—the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Item.

Charleston Is Championed By Physical Director

Minneapolis, Jan. 26.—(L.N.S.)—The Charleston has found a champion in Dr. J. Anna Norris, director of physical education for women at the University of Minneapolis.

Students suffer more from too little exercise than too much, she says, and "Charleston need not be blamed for heart trouble, nervous diseases, fallen arches or strained backs. The dance develops concentrated attention and localized control of muscles, both desirable, she added.

Soviet Government Concludes Contract With the Ford Co.

Moscow, Jan. 26.—(AP)—The Soviet newspapers today announced the conclusion of the contract between the Soviet Government and the Ford Company for 12,000 tractors on nine months credit. The papers expressed elation over the news declaring it to be a great Soviet achievement in the United States. They also voiced satisfaction that the Ford Company demanded no guarantee on behalf of the Russian Official Institution, but was satisfied with a mere agreement concluded with the Amtorg Trading Corporation, Item.

BUSINESS AND IDEALISM

It is popular among people convinced that they have mounted to a high plan of idealism to deprecate devotion to business as something worthy of human beings sincerely concerned for the well-being of their fellows. Possibly practical business men might give more attention to spiritual interests without loss on the material side. Prably they are more bound up in practical idealism than they are commonly credited with being. One may be working toward establishment of an ideal condition without advertising the fact; he may be so working without being conscious that his practical endeavors, selfishly undertaken, tend to promote the ideal state. To condemn him, then, and put obstacles in the way of his success may be tantamount to frustrating one's own laudable aspirations and interfering with the well-being of society.

Although millions appear to be unaware of the fact, everyone is dependent for the supplying of material wants and for the gratification of many spiritual desires upon a common business prosperity. The more profitable business there is the better off all are, notwithstanding walls of complaint that a few "hog" the rewards. It is a curious fact that one of the most successful business men in the country, one whose personal profits exceed the income of any other man who ever lived, seems not to excite the envy or malice of the "workers" whose hatred of others' success is unflagging. One motto of this man sums up the sound principle of business on which all practical idealism is founded. It is written, "expansion of enterprise affording greater opportunities for profitable employment."

The point is that the results to himself of his operations are simply those which inevitably flow from successful business. If a more ideal state ever is achieved by mankind it will come through co-operation in promotion of business rather than through antagonisms of labor and capital that are now so widely distressing.

people of the earth continually growing larger, one nation, be it ever so small and apparently insignificant, cannot turn over, nor squirm, nor stretch, nor jounce out an elbow without jostling the other nations. Indeed, the interlocking relationships have become such a hazy network that it is not merely the adjacent nations on all sides which are affected by movement or movements of any given nation. But if one nation progresses, if it retrogrades, if it trembles without a convulsion, or expands with an effort or a development of any kind, all other nations, nearby and remote—even to the uttermost parts of the earth—are affected.

If one country were the sole producer or source of once necessary commodity and some disaster should reduce that production to nothing or wipe out that source, when the distributed supply in other lands should become exhausted the world would be affected in business and in living conditions by the famine in that commodity.

And the same principal applies to nearly all articles of trade. Drought in areas in Asia has the same effect on American business; a strike in England has its effect upon business in South America; legislation touching certain lines in America will mean much to Australia. The nations cannot live unto themselves—even in business. And through other interest the same principle holds with perhaps less tangible grip but with no less certainty of the fact. This is a world of people of one race of humanity—an ever-shrinking world as measured by natural or invisible ties that bind the tribes of men together.

DOES YOUR BACK ACHE?

Bad Backs Bring Suffering to Many Greenville Folks
Is that dull, constant backache making you old and miserable? Does your back throb and ache until it seems you just can't keep going? Do you suffer headaches, dizzy spells and urinary disorders, feel weak, tired and worn-out? Then look to your kidneys. Delay may mean serious kidney sickness. Use Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys. Doan's are recommended by Greenville folks. Ed. Moore, prop. bicycle & gun shop, Evans street, Greenville, says: "My kidneys caused trouble and mornings my back pained so I had to get up and move around before it eased up any. The pain started in the small of my back and worked up between my shoulder blades. My kidneys didn't act right, either. I used a doctor's medicine but didn't get any relief. Doan's Pills from Horne's Drug Store rid me of the trouble."

SHERIFF OF PITT CO.

When the most glamorous picture is over—and you come outside to the bright lights and the brighter laughter of friends—have a Camel!

WHEN the exciting scenes are over. And you leave the great theatre thrilled at what you've seen. When, as the organ peals forth its rolling music, you come outside with jovial, laughing friends—have a Camel!

For nothing else on earth could be so refreshing among the great white lights as Camel. Camel adds of its own bright goodness to the enjoyment of every pleasing scene. Camel is the hale friend and companion for eventful days and carefree evenings. Here is something worth writing in words of gold: "Camels never tire the taste, or leave a cigaretty after-taste, no matter how freely you smoke them." And what's more, you can't buy choicer tobaccos or more perfect blending, no matter how much you pay.

So, this night as you leave for the brilliant scenes. And when the big show is finished and you've seen life in its tense and purposeful moments—know then the mellowest fragrance that ever came from a cigarette.

Have a Camel!

No other cigarette in the world is like Camels. Camels contain the choicest Turkish and domestic tobaccos. The Camel blend is the triumph of expert blenders. Even the Camel cigarette paper is the finest—made especially in France. Into this one brand of cigarettes is concentrated the experience and skill of the largest tobacco organization in the world.

Our highest wish, if you do not yet know Camel quality, is that you try them. We invite you to compare Camels with any cigarette made at any price.

Announcement as to the distribution of the famous beverage will be made through these columns in the near future, Mr. Ryan said.

Dusts Aged Strad for Fiddle Contest

Slater, Mo., Jan. 26.—(I.N.S.)—While others are engaging in a controversy over the award of a State fiddler's championship, George Deer, of Slater, is dusting off an old Strad for the next "Old Fiddlers' Contest," which will be held soon by the State Marketing Bureau at Jefferson City.

His old Stradivarian violin has a history that dates definitely back to 1710 and indefinitely beyond that date. It was at one time owned by Daniel Boone.

When the violin was the property of Boone, the blazer of the Wilderness Trail, it was estimated as an essential to the camp equipment and its melodies are said to have heartened many a discouraged member of the pioneer parties after a long hard tramp through the woodlands had ended before the blazing campfire.

On the death of Boone, the instrument passed into the hands of a son-in-law, Callaway, who presented it to a negro slave as a wedding gift. Years later, the story goes, Henry Deer, father of the present owner, bought the negro, who gave it on his deathbed to George, then a tot of two years old.

MELLON'S NAME MOST PRINTED NEXT COOLIDGE

Secretary of Treasury Has Sixty Big Scrapbooks With Thousands of Clippings; Saved Stories Represent a Small Part of References to Modest Millionaire.

(By Robert S. Thornburgh)
I.N.S. Staff Correspondent
Washington, Jan. 26.—From the standpoint of news value and consequently public interest, the name of Andrew W. Mellon, Secretary of the Treasury, and one of the world's most wealthy men, exceeds that of any other national figure, barring possibly the President.

This conclusion may be drawn from information obtained by the International News Service, showing that since March, 1921, when Mellon assumed charge of the nation's finances, his name has appeared in at least 25,000 newspaper and magazine articles.

Although Mellon undoubtedly is the most modest and retiring official in Washington, his "scrapbook," compiled at the treasury, contains nearly 10,000 clippings. In this collection, which already fills over sixty volumes of 100 pages each, are filed news stories, feature articles and editorials.

quoting from or referring to the secretary.

Selected References
Compiles of the book say it contains about one-third of the articles printed in American journals regarding Secretary Mellon's public work.

The clippings are collected from various sources, occasionally a story being selected by Mellon himself from the scrapbook, which in later years may be the basis for an important chapter in the history of America's post-war reconstruction period.

Not every page of the scrapbook is flattering to Mellon. Many clippings of editorials condemning the secretary for his alleged connection with the Aluminum Company of America and its relationship to taxes of that corporation are scattered through the scrapbook.

Other papers have taken sides with Senator Couzens, of Michigan, in the attacks he launched against Mellon almost immediately after he became a member of the Senate.

Vicious Criticisms
But probably the most vicious criticism came from a newspaper in the Middle Western Farm Belt. It was printed soon after the oil scandals rocked the Capital. Under the caption "Mellon is Next," this editorial said:

"Gradually the axe is approaching the neck of Andrew W. Mellon. He can see the block and smell the blood where fell the illustrious heads of Newberry, Fall, Denby, Daugherty and William J. Burns."

However, quoting from this editorial, an Eastern newspaper remarked that the axe, if there was one, never fell, and that Mellon has remained to take a most important part in the country's reconstruction.

One magazine, calling attention to Mellon's tax and financial policies in the Government remarked that he is the "greatest Secretary of the Treasury since Alexander Hamilton."

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

By LUTHER A. HUSTON, L. N. S. Staff Correspondent.
Tokyo, Jan. 26.—The most noticeable thing about the arrival in Tokyo of Charles MacVeagh, the new United States ambassador to Japan, has been the lack of public attention that attended it.
It has been customary for some years, at least, for the Japanese to make something of a fuss about new American envoys. This was particularly true of the late Edgar A. Bancroft, who arrived in Japan only a little more than a year before the coming of Ambassador MacVeagh. By comparison the arrival of Ambassador MacVeagh was as placid as a tropical sea after a tempest.

When Ambassador Bancroft arrived the Japanese papers were full of words of welcome and advice. The new envoy was told what he must do to win the confidence and respect of the Japanese people and to enhance the cordial relations between the two nations. Warm tributes were paid to his personality and achievements. The Japanese public was interested in what Mr. Bancroft was going to do and eager to discover what manner of man he was.

The arrival of Ambassador MacVeagh was unmarked by any such interest on the part of the press or the public. His coming was chronicled in the newspapers as a matter of news and his few formal words upon arriving were printed perfunctorily. The two English language newspapers in Tokyo, the American-owned Japan Advertiser and the Japanese-owned Japan Times, printed brief editorial messages of greeting. Only one Japanese language newspaper, the Osaka Mainichi, made his arrival the occasion for editorial comment. The Mainichi, however, took pains to point out that the relations between Japan and the United States are "by no means friendly."

The reason, of course, is the exclusion clause in the United States immigration laws.

"We Japanese want to know," declared the Mainichi, "what Mr. MacVeagh's views are concerning this important problem."
Doubtless the lack of attention is not displeasing to Ambassador MacVeagh, who seems to have gone about the task of informing himself about the duties of his new job with unwonted quietness. It is probable that any attempt to make a fuss over his arrival would have been personally distasteful to him.

Although the press and public have been apathetic, diplomatic circles have welcomed Ambassador MacVeagh cordially and his relations with Japanese officials, it is said, already are on a firm foundation of friendship.

An unusual situation, so far as the United States embassy is concerned, faced Ambassador MacVeagh on his arrival. Except for Edwin L. Neville, who was charge d'affaires, no member of the embassy staff, outside of the clerks, had been in Tokyo for more than a few weeks.

Norman Armour, the new counselor, had just arrived from his previous post in Rome. Louis A. Sussdorf, the new first secretary, was a recent arrival from The Hague. Robert Burgher, the new third secretary, accompanied the Ambassador from the United States. The post of second secretary is still unfilled since the departure a few weeks ago of Frederic DeK. LeClerg.

Ambassador MacVeagh, therefore, had a start with a new job with a new staff. In this situation he asked Charge d'affaires Neville, who is to become the United States consul general in Tokyo, to remain with the embassy until such time as the new members of the staff are entirely familiar with their duties.

Unlike the late Ambassador Bancroft, who lived at the Imperial Hotel during all of his stay in Japan, Ambassador MacVeagh has taken a house in which to live. He has leased the foreign-style residence of Baron Matsui, the Japanese ambassador to England, at 52 Shimo-Rokubancho, Kojimachi-ku, which is centrally located and convenient to the embassy. Mrs. MacVeagh arrived in mid-January and several important social functions are expected in the near future.

PALE, NERVOUS

West Virginia Lady Says That She Was in a Serious Condition, But Is Stronger After Taking Cardui.

Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.

"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.

"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

Cardui is made from mild-acting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general.

Incidentally, Ambassador MacVeagh found a new office, as well as a new staff, awaiting him upon his arrival. The embassy recently removed from the Imperial Hotel, where it had been housed since the earthquake, to the Totaku building, a modern, five-story office building, in the center of the city.
