FORCES OF WINTER RUN RIOT COAST TO COAST TODAY

Path of Cold Wind Across Northern U. S., Marked by Deep Snows, and Intense Sufferings

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Across Northern United States from coast to coast the forces of winter ran riot today with respite promised only for the middle section. In the face of heavy gales on the Pacific, shipping rattled mountainous seas and raced for shelter.

Sweeping East the past of the cold wind was marked by deep snows, blocked highways, held up trains and sub zero temperatures, which caused numerous fires and intense suffering in the large cities. The Eastern sections reported the coldest weather of the season.

Lake Michigan made the most determined efforts to defeat the elements. Army airplanes were enlisted in the effort to rescue five of the eight men stranded for three days on two ice-bound fishing tugs off Muskegan Michigan, after three of the crew escaped over the ice flows to the shore with the story of their comrades' plight.

Coast guardsmen, who helplessly watched from shore said last night that the steamer Alabama, which went to the rescue of the tugs, had approached near enough to give the men food and fuel. Two army airplanes were ready today to drop cans of coal to the tugs today.

Suffering in Chicago was intensified by fires, which drove 40 families to the streets. A water main burst and flooded a street with thousands of gallons of water, freezing automobiles to the pavements, turning basements into skating rinks, and putting out furnace fires for blocks. Firemen responded to nearly 150 alarms up to dawn today.

In New York State the wind drove the snow into huge masses which blocked highways and impeded traffic.

Several were injured in Boston when a westerly gale and some snow crippled telephone and power services. Some other cities in the Eastern section reported similar effects from the weather. Snow and a rising mercury were the outlook for the northwest today, which yesterday was the coldest part of the country with temperatures ranging from eight to thirty degrees below zero.

Weather forecasters promised rising temperatures today in the central section and winds from the South were expected to bring relief in the East.

BODY OF MERCIER ENSHRINED IN MALINES TODAY

Returned Yesterday From the Elaborate State Funeral in Brussels; Entombed in Cathedral of St. Rombart

Maline, Belg., Jan. 29.—(AP)—The body of Belgium's heroic war Cardinal, Desire Mercier, was enshrined today in Malines, the seat of his Arch Bishopric and the scene of his long years of struggle and triumph. The body had been returned yesterday from the elaborate state funeral in Brussels, and today was borne in solemn procession proceeded by a great silver cross to the Cathedral of St. Rombart, and there entombed in the Crypt.

The entire route from the Palace to the Cathedral was lined with soldiers who presented arms as the cortege slowly passed, while the great crowds bowed there and men uncovered in the train in token of respect to their spiritual leader and fellow patriot.

SCOUT COUNCIL HOLDS ANNUAL MEETING HERE

M. O. Fletcher, of Washington, Elected President of the Pamptico Council; Great Program Is Planned for Year

Election of officers and adoption of a program for the year's work featured the annual meeting of Pamptico Council of Boy Scouts of America, held in the Rotary building here last night. The business session was preceded by a delightful dinner which was greatly enjoyed.

The officers elected were: M. O. Fletcher, Washington, president; J. R. Turnage, Ayden, vice-president; R. A. Pone, Williamston, vice-president; H. C. Miller, Washington, secretary; J. D. Webb, Washington, treasurer.

J. H. Wilcox, Scout Executive, made a report on the accomplishments in the Pamptico area during the year and submitted his program for the year just beginning. The program calls for the organization of twenty additional scout troops in the area this year bringing the total to forty troops. Training courses in scout leadership to be put on in each county in the area are also included in the program and a Scout Council Camp at Camp Leach in June is planned for all troops.

M. O. Fletcher, newly elected president, delivered an inspiring address on "Boys," and this was followed by short talks by several of those present.

Members of the council expressed gratification at what had been accomplished in the Pamptico area since scouting was begun in a systematic way at the program of work planned for the present year.

In We Go, Henry Ford's Questions, Europe Does Not Love Us, An Italian Bulldozer, ARTHUR BRISBANE

UNCLE SAM IS HEADED FOR THE WORLD COURT, NO DOUBT ABOUT THAT, APPARENTLY.

How soon will the United States slip through the World Court into the League of Nations, and what will be the cost of the slip? That question interests this country.

Henry Ford, in his Dearborn "Independent," asks these questions:

"Are we ready to subordinate the Constitution of the United States to the covenant or constitution of the League?"

"Are we ready to place the Monroe Doctrine at the disposal of a European court whose principals run counter to it?"

"Are we ready to resign our decision as to when, if ever, we shall fight in a court one of whose powers is to tell us when we must institute an economic boycott and when we must fight to enforce its decrees?"

"Have we, as citizens, or has congress, as our representatives, or has the President, as our chief magistrate, the right or the power to do any of these things? We think not."

To Henry Ford's questions about the World Court add these:

Are we ready to submit to that court the question of Asiatic immigration? Japan will take that question to the court as soon as it is in working order.

Are Southern States willing to submit to the World Court the payment of Confederate bonds issued during the Civil War? That question will be brought up.

Asking questions won't do much good. This country is practically in the World Court now and will know more about European diplomacy presently than it ever knew before.

The League of Nations offers a prize of 120,000 francs for an architectural competition. American architects are barred, because we are not in the League of Nations yet.

One hundred and twenty thousand francs are worth about $4,800, so the American architects can stand it.

More unpleasant is the loud applause with which Paris every night greets Marcelle Parisys, when that young lady denounces this country for its "bloodthirsty stinginess" saying "honest French girls are taxed to pay the debts of France to those stubborn Americans."

They do not love us in Europe, and our lonesome little representative in the World Court outnumbered ten or twelve to one, will know it, when he takes this seat as the joke of that court.

Great is the power of courageous initiative. You understand how Alexander with his handful of men could scatter the gigantic Persian army, including the Persian war elephants, when you read about the Italian bulldozer of Turin.

This animal, not liking the appearance of five elephants in a circus parade, gashed at them and bit one of them on the soft tender end of its trunk. Away went the five elephants, galloping and trumpeting in all directions. One of the frightened creatures was found jammed in the entrance of a stairway.

That bulldog had confidence in himself, and that is a wonderful quality. Too bad this nation and this administration lack the confidence. George Washington had it. And for that reason this is not a British colony.

A gathering of religious gentlemen, Catholic, Protestant and Jewish, met to discuss the injection of religion into public schools. The meeting, naturally, broke up in a row, when somebody suggested as a compromise reading the Ten Commandments out loud every day.

One lady from the National Security League objected to "Thou Shalt Not Kill," saying it is "pacifist propaganda."

Before the meeting was over Catholic gentlemen said their church (Continued on page 6)

DANIEL L. JONES WILL BE BURIED HERE SUNDAY

Remains Reached Greenville Last Night From Los Angeles, Cal.; Was Killed Aboard the U. S. S. Arctic, January 19

The remains of Mr. Daniel Lee Jones, who was killed aboard the U. S. S. Arctic, Los Angeles Bay, on Tuesday, January 19th, arrived in Greenville last night. Funeral services will be conducted by Rev. Le and O'Brian from the home of Chief of Police Lester Jones, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock, with interment following in Cherry Hill cemetery. He will be given a military funeral, with a firing squad from Service Battery, 117th Field Artillery, Kinston officiating in place of a firing squad from the U. S. Navy which was unable to be present.

Daniel Lee Jones, a member of the U. S. Navy, had spent nearly four years in service, and would have completed his enlistment next March. He was killed early in the morning, on January 19th, while loading stores on the Supply Ship Arctic. He was struck across the back between the shoulders by a steel block which gave away, death being instantaneous.

The young man was held in high esteem by navy officials, and also by a host of friends. News of his untimely death was a great shock to his relatives and friends in this city.

The deceased is survived by his mother, Mrs. Mary Jones, two brothers, Chief of Police Lester Jones and Mr. Jasper Jones, of this city; two sisters, Mrs. Beulah Baker, Winterville and Mrs. Addie Guthrie, Petersburg, Va.

San Pedro, Cal., Jan. 28.—Honored by the United States navy, officers and comrades, Daniel Lee Jones, young coxswain on the U. S. S. Tennessee killed in an accident aboard the supply ship Arctic last Tuesday, today started his last long cruise, homeward bound. Impressive services were conducted at the Palm & McLin chapel here this morning by Chaplain F. E. Meyer, of the dead sailor's own ship.

Fifty comrades formed a guard of honor, in command of Ensign Lanston and the Tennessee's 30-piece band, under Bandmaster Kroboth provided a dirge that told the sorrow over the fine lad's passing. Lieutenant Sabin, officer of Coxswain Jones' division, attended the funeral.

A squad fired a salute at the station as Jones' body was placed on a train for transportation to Greenville, N. C., where Jones' mother, Mrs. Mary Jones, lives on West Fourth street. Taps were sounded and the train got under way, leaving the lads in blue to mourn the departure of their comrade.

Well-Known Farmer Dies at Home in Chicod Township; Funeral Services This Afternoon

Mr. William Clinton Williams, 58, died yesterday at his home in Chicod Township. Funeral services were conducted this afternoon by Rev. L. E. Ballard, with interment following in the family burying ground.

Mr. Williams was a prosperous and successful farmer, and was held in high esteem by people throughout his community. He will be greatly missed. Mr. Williams was married three times, and is survived by his wife, three sons, W. S., and C. W. Williams, this city, and W. B. Williams, California; one daughter, Mrs. John Harris, Shilmerdine.

FAIR ASSOCIATION HOSTS BANQUET

Fifty Guests, Representing Every Section of the County, Enjoy Hospitality of Members of the Pitt County Fair Ass'n.

The members of the Pitt County Fair Association were hosts at a delightful banquet in Greenville on Thursday night. The fifty guests on this occasion were the Superintendents of Departments of the Fair, Extension Agents, the County Commissioners, representatives from each of the city schools, the largest of the county schools, and from each of the townships in the county. Mr. R. G. Fitzgerald, in a very pleasing manner, presided as Master of Ceremonies. He welcomed the guests and explained to them the purpose of the banquet—a desire on the part of the Fair Association to create a spirit for a bigger and better Fair. He urged that just as we strive to push our county forward toward a higher commercial, educational, agricultural and financial standing, that we boost for and set our goal the best Fair in the state. He stressed the point that in order to do this every person in the county must assume an attitude of personal pride and responsibility toward the success of the Fair. Mr. Fitzgerald then introduced Miss Bertha Lee Ferguson, Home Demonstration Agent for Pitt county.

Miss Ferguson had as her subject, "Community Exhibits." She explained what constituted a Community Exhibit and the way in which such an exhibit should be planned for, gotten together and displayed. She announced that Mr. Deil had authorized her to say that there would be a material increase this year in the premiums offered on these exhibits but very emphatically stressed the fact that a fair was an educational rather than a commercial affair. She emphasized the point that our interest should be centered on the learning of a lesson by comparing our own products with those of our neighbors in a systematic fashion, rather than on the winning of ribbons and prize money. It is just as possible to be a good loser as a good winner.

Miss Ferguson was followed by Mr. R. B. Reeves, County Agent for Pitt county, who briefly explained the difference between the exhibits last year and the ones for this year. He explained that the meaning of an "individual exhibit" and just how it should be handled. He also announced that an additional building would be provided this year for the Agricultural Department.

Mr. M. L. Wright, executive secretary of the East Carolina Teachers College, was introduced next. He assured the Fair Association that the college stood back of them in all that they were doing and was ready and willing to lend its support and endorsement in any way possible.

Mrs. W. E. Hooker, Superintendent of the Art Department, was next presented and responded in her usual charming manner. She suggested some changes in the premium list of her department which she felt would tend to facilitate the teaching of a love and education of art.

Mr. J. P. Davenport and Mr. S. T. White, both County Commissioners, voiced their approval and commendation of the way in which the Fair was being conducted.

Mrs. Beasley, president of the Parent Teachers Association, of Fountain, in a very interesting manner, told of the plans of her organization to put on a Community Fair at Fountain just preceding the county Fair. The best products from this Fair will be assembled into a Community Exhibit and brought to the county Fair.

Mr. Fitzgerald then presented Miss Arthur, secretary to the County Agent, Miss Haskins and Mrs. Patterson, of his own staff, as three very efficient and necessary persons in connection with the work of the Fair.

Mr. W. H. Dal, Jr., secretary of the Pitt County Fair Association, came next on the program. He told of the interest created last year just before Fair time and of the wonderful results gained and expressed his appreciation of all who had so generously co-operated with the Fair Association. He was firm in his

RESIGNATION OF COL. MITCHELL IS ACCEPTED TODAY

Air Service Officer Only Will Be Permitted to Step Out February 1, Ending His Five Years' Suspension

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The resignation of Colonel William Mitchell from the Army has been accepted.

In accordance with his expressed wishes, the Air Service officer will be permitted to step out on February 1st, thus automatically bringing to an end his five years' suspension to which he was sentenced under a courtmartial after conviction of breaking discipline by his criticisms of the Government aviation policies.

The decision was announced in this statement by Secretary Davis of the War Department:

"The Secretary of War has decided that the resignation of Colonel William Mitchell, of the air service, will be accepted, to take effect February 1, 1925. The Adjutant General of the Army has been notified to this effect."

SAYS BRITAIN GAVE ITALY BEST TERMS

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—The Treasury issued a statement today designed to show that the war debt terms granted to Italy yesterday by Great Britain are more liberal than the Italian-American settlement, which is under severe attack in Congress.

belief that with such results of an interest created just three weeks before time last year, the enthusiasm already manifested this year assured him that the Pitt County Fair for October 12-16, 1926, would not only be the best in the State but the best Fair of its kind to be found anywhere.

M'LEAN ACCEPTS RESIGNATION OF JUDGE A. DUNN

Reasons Assigned for Resignation Are Not Made Public; Will Become Effective on February 1

Raleigh, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Governor McLean, who returned from New York this morning, received and accepted today the resignation of Judge Alton Dunn from the Superior Court bench.

The Governor announced that Judge Dunn had requested that he be relieved of duty by the first of February, if possible. His successor, therefore must be appointed by noon tomorrow in order that he may open court in Craven County Monday morning, which was to have been Judge Dunn's next court.

The Governor's queries as to the reason for his resignation were met with the statement that the Governor would not make the reasons public.

Judge Dunn accepted the appointment to the Superior Court Bench on March 9, 1925 and held his first term of court at Burgaw, March 25 following. He has made one of the most efficient judges ever appointed to the bench. His brilliant charges to the juries have received comment from every section of the state, and the wonderful advice given in them will long be remembered. He has established an enviable record and his administration of justice has won for him the praise and esteem of people throughout the state.

In commenting on Judge Dunn's successor, the News and Observer has the following to say:

Thomas D. Warren, of New Bern, former Democratic State Chairman, was most frequently mentioned in hotel lobby gossip yesterday concerning a successor to Judge Alton Dunn of the Fifth District whose resignation is understood to await the return of Governor A. W. McLean from New York.

Mr. Warren, a former United States District Attorney whose confirmation was blocked by Republicans in the Senate, has several times been mentioned for vacancies on the Supreme Court bench, but friends who were advancing his name yesterday were uncertain as to whether he would accept the superior court vacancy.

Other names not previously mentioned which were advanced in speculation yesterday were those of Solicitor Jesse H. Davis, also of New Bern, and F. C. Harding, of Greenville, former State Senator and candidate for Lieutenant-Governor.

Other names that have been mentioned are those of J. K. Warren, of Trenton, William Dunn, of New Bern, Julius Brown, of Greenville, and Luther Hamilton, of Morehead City.

Under the law, the appointee must stand for nomination in the Democratic primary in June.

Judge Orders Five Breweries Destroyed

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Federal Judge George A. Carpenter today ordered the immediate destruction of equipment of five breweries valued at $250,000.

The breweries affected by the order are the Cranwell Brewery, the Evergreen Park Brewery, the North Halstead Brewery, the Carroll Avenue Brewery, and the Circle Avenue Brewery. All have been raided in the past few months and some of them were said to have been operated by Frank Lake and Terrence Druguggan, both notorious Chicago beer runners.

Benching Ruel and Peckinpaugh Chalked Up As Error to Griffith

(By David J. Walsh)
I.N.S. Staff Cor.
New York, Jan. 29.—Someone left whitewash instead of butter-milk on Clark Griffith's doorstep the morning he opened his mouth and dropped Muddy Ruel and Roger Peckinpaugh from the line up before he remembered to close it. The peremptory "benching" of Ruel probably came as interesting news to Miller Huggins and several other American League managers, who have been wondering whether they will be able to turn out first class ball clubs with second class catching. There is hardly an outfit in baseball that wouldn't take Ruel, as is, and no questions asked. This is no particular reflection on the class of catching in general. As a matter of fact, it is unusually good at this time. It just so happens that Ruel is one of the best of a fine field.

Ruel's Average
The official averages undoubtedly would prove a liberal education to Mr. Griffith. They show Ruel topping all American League rivals in total chances accepted with 554 and total assists with 103. He was the only catches in the league to get more than 100 assists. Schalk being next in line with 99. Cochrane rated at the top by many, was well below

Ruel in assists, getting only 79. So much for defense.
On attack, Ruel hit .310 in 126 games, ranking second among the eight so-called regular catchers. Cochrane's average of .331 was the best turned in, although Tate and Severoid, appearing only in a comparative few games, had better marks. Tate, named by Griffith to succeed Ruel, must have sold himself to the Old Fox, almost sight unseen. He was only at bat 27 official times last season.
Ruel Still Young
This is only one of several irreconcilable features of Mr. Griffith's speech. Another is the fact that Muddy Ruel is only 29 years old and should be good for at least four additional seasons at top speed.
And if Mr. Griffith doesn't think so, there are a half dozen American League managers who are ready to give the thing by actual trial.

The Peckinpaugh declaration is far easier to accept. This elderly gen is in his thirty-sixth year and has been all of fifteen seasons on the big time and is about ready to call it a career. The writer, however, doesn't see the necessity of convicting him on his 1925 world series record, which after all was the result of one series.

Decide to Blame Stupid Fears on Billion Ancestors

Chicago, Jan. 29.—(I.N.S.)—When Johnny has a tantrum and refuses to eat his porridge, mother says he's like his father.
Well, mamma is right in a sense, only she shouldn't have stopped with Johnny's immediate paternal ancestor. Mamma should have gone back at least thirty generations or 1,000 years, and then perhaps she would have been nearer the mark.

Professor George Herbert Betts, psychologist at Northwestern University, has just completed an interesting study involving sixty of his students, and a large amount of research, and his analysis of the test reveals some interesting facts.
Fear of the dark, Professor Betts explains, is predominant in 80 per cent of all children.
Why?
"We must go back generations," he answers, "back ages, back cycles of time—back through the links of the chain of heredity that binds us to our parents, our grand-parents, great-grand-parents, and so on backward to the earliest life from which we sprang.

"Think for a moment what this means. The child in the home today has two parents. Each of these had two, thus giving the child four grand-parents. The fourth generation back gives the child sixteen ancestors; the fifth, thirty-two, and so on. Go back thirty generations, less than 1000 years, and the blood of more than a billion ancestors converges to make your child what he is today."

RIVER TRAFFIC BOOM SEEN IN BIG BARGE LINE

Minn., Jan. 29.—(I.N.S.) Efficiency of river transportation, urged by Secretary of Commerce Hoover and others as a necessary development, will be tested on the upper Mississippi.

The record written by a barge line to be inaugurated on April 15 between Minneapolis-St. Paul and lower river ports is expected to have a market effect upon further use of inland waterways.

Local business men, who have backed the program, believe it will give to the Northwest the advantages of the general effect of water transportation upon rate scales of other common carriers, and will make possible transportation of products from Minneapolis to both east and west coasts by an all-water route.

The new $600,000 barge line is made possible by a tri-partite agreement which includes signatures of Secretary of War Davis, the Inland Waterways Corporation, a Government agency, and the Upper Mississippi Barge Line Corporation. The Inland Waterways Corporation will operate the fleet. Plans call for construction of thirty new barges costing $10,000 each and three tow-boats equipped with Diesel engines, to cost $100,000 each.

Actual start of the barge line will mark culmination of agitation for use of the Mississippi, which has extended over many years, following almost on the heels of the decline in river transportation when railroads began to carry freight much faster than the old-time chugging steamboats on the river.

Prediction has been made that lumber will be brought from the Pacific coast to Minneapolis-St. Paul by way of the Panama Canal, after the line begins operation.

Co-ordination with railroads will be sought by the barge line, although actual competition will ensue, according to barge line officials.

Senate Approves Resol. Defraying Expenses Confab

Washington, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Congressional sanction necessary for American participation in the preliminary arms conference, discussion at Geneva was completed today when the Senate approved a House resolution to appropriate $50,000 to defray the expenses of American delegates.

Chairman Borah, of the Foreign Relations Committee, called up the resolution and reported the committee unanimously favored its adoption and without any dissent it was adopted.

The two young men were first sentenced to die on January 18th, 1924, following a speedy indictment, trial and conviction covering a period of two days. Burgess Murder Be Presented to Grand Jury Feb 1

Asheville, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Evidence sufficient to present the murder of Mrs. Annie May Burgess to the grand jury which has been obtained and the case which has been a mystery until police secured new information during the past two days will go to the grand jury of February 15, Solicitor John E. Swain today said.

Mrs. Burgess, a widow, 23 years of age, was slain on the night of January 29, in one of the city's residential districts and under the bright rays of a street light.

William Davis, a former sweetheart of the girl, who made threats against her life, according to the statements of witnesses at the coroner's inquest, is being held in Buncombe county jail.

Bonnie Ledford, who discovered the body of the slain woman where it had been carried by the slayer, is also being held. She was arrested as was Caleb Ingram, her companion when the body was found.

New Creamery to Open in Benson Thursday, Feb. 4

February 4th will be memorable day in Eastern North Carolina's history, when the new creamery will open for business at Benson with pomp and ceremony at 11 o'clock. This will be the first real creamery to be opened in the territory covered by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce. It is but the culmination of a four-year campaign for a better balanced program of diversified farming for this section, which has been working on ever since its creation nearly four years ago. Great credit is due the Progressive Kiwanis Club, headed by Dr. A. S. Oliver, of Benson and the progressive business men of that splendid little city in Johnston county for the excellent work that they have done, to put this big deal over. It is there with a maximum capacity of 2000 pounds of butter daily as soon as the supply will be sufficient to run it to its capacity. This is the more significant when it is considered that this, the first creamery, will open in the very heart of the best cotton section of the entire South and in the county that has led North Carolina in production of cotton for the past several years. Big Program Being Arranged.

With the assistance of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, a very attractive program is being arranged for the occasion and the public is invited. The exercises will begin at 11 A.

M., and following the formal exercises, free barbecue will be served by the good people of Benson. Delegations are being worked up from more than a dozen counties to attend this big day for Eastern North Carolina. The Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce is very anxious to have a good representation of the farmers and business men present from the entire territory. The cow, hog and hen have brought many a section out of poverty into a state of prosperity within a very few years. It will do the same thing, proportionately speaking, for Eastern North Carolina.

(Continued from Page One) had been insulted. Protestants said Jesus Christ had been insulted. The few atheists present sniggered. Why not have religion out of public schools, as we have it out of government? Must that American plan be changed?

R. John Lester, speaking to college men, says snobbishness rules. Boys from public high schools are rejected by university examining boards, boys from expensive private schools are favored. Private school applicants for college examinations have advanced 25 per cent, applicants from public high schools have a fall of 20 per cent. That aggroys pure democracy. You need not pity the high school boys. They go into real life and nine cases out of ten are more fortunate than those that devote four years to "rah-raahing" and come out of college four years behind the procession.

New Buildings Cost 125 Million

Raleigh, Jan. 29.—(AP)—Total new construction in North Carolina during the year 1925 was estimated today by the Department of Conservation and Development at $125,000,000. The estimate was made on a basis of reports received from 247 cities and towns in North Carolina.

Figures relative to the amount and character of the construction in this state during the year, compiled by the department, were made public here tonight. While the department has been unable to secure anything like complete statistics to cover all building and costs and materials in all parts of the state, it made requests of 425 cities, towns and other sources of information, from which it received a total of 247 reports, including reports from the five cities of Charlotte, Raleigh, Winston-Salem, Greensboro and Asheville.

The department believes that the reports from these 247 cities and towns give a fair comparison of the amount of building activity and the lines along which it was directed. The answers also, give a basis of comparison with the year 1924.

From the 247 reports of construction received by the department, there is shown a total of $89,656,096 spent on construction, including residences, business buildings and factories.

To this total, says the department, must be added state expenditures during the year for institutions and other strictly state purposes of $4,910,224, so that the total cost of construction reported for the year was $94,566,320.

But to this total must likewise be added the several millions of dollars spent on public school buildings through the agency of the state loan fund, as supplemented by the counties. These figures, owing to last of reports from a few counties, have not yet been compiled by the department.

It is understood, it was stated tonight at the department, when the figures were made public, that the figures given are parital in character, that they do not embrace construction in the rural districts, or in numerous towns from which no reports were received in answers to the inquiries sent by the department. Nor do they include construction costs in connection with the highways program, such as bridges, costs of dams, reservoirs, power plants and resort developments outside of cities and towns.

The parital character of the figures, said Major Wade H. Phillips, director of the department, indicated a total of new construction for the year of certainly $125,000,000, and perhaps a great deal more.

In asking for the reports, Major Phillips attempted to secure a classification to show the character of construction, as well as its cost. Although the classification were not embodied in a number of the reports, enough was ascertained, he believes, to give ground for some "interesting deductions as to the trend of building in the state."

For instance, of a total of the 7,527 residences reported constructed at a cost of $22,065,217, there were classified 6,311 as built of wood, 589 of brick, and only 72 of stone.

Of 1,405 business buildings reported, 714 were built of brick, 549 of wood, 32 of stone, and 79 of steel and concrete. The total costs of business buildings reported upon was $21,233,472.

Of 128 factories reported, 63 were of brick, 40 of wood, and 11 of concrete. Reported construction costs of factories within the cities and towns were $5,259,936.

Of five representative cities from which reports were received four showed substantial gains in construction over the year 1924.

Major Phillips, in commenting on the figures, called special attention to the large number of residences and to the increased number of other buildings constructed in the state for the past year.

Chicago have a new one to add to the list. A new specimen, wild, discovered blushing modestly among the famous Dunes of Lake Michigan.

Its name? "Rosa Robinsonia" is the name that has been given to a new variety presented for botanical purposes to the university by Captain Charles H. Robinson.

The strange specimen has petals that lie in two layers, seven in the upper row, six in the lower. Botanists say the phenomenon is a rare one, and that it is probably what is known as a hybrid, the result of fertilization with pollen from an ordinary cultivated flower. It flowers with amazing rapidity.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

(By Alice Langelier) I.N.S. Staff Cor.

Paris, Jan. 29.—Santa Claus came to the little dogs and cats of Paris with a beautiful new ambulance which will pick up the little creatures when they are injured and take them to the hospital just like any human being. No longer will they be run down and left in the streets by the heartless French chauffeurs.

Through the work and generosity of Madame Louis Dausset, two small automobile ambulances have been donated to the gay city to care for the numerous canine and feline pedestrians which are not fortunate enough to be led or carried about by some luxurious women.

Recent statistics published by the Ministry show that births and deaths increased and divorces and marriages decreased during the first nine months of the year 1925, as compared with a similar period in 1924. Birth increased by 11,114 and the number of deaths during the first nine months of 1925 showed an increase of 10,000 over that of the previous year. Marriages decreased by 1,909 and divorces nearly as many.

Commenting upon the figures, certain Parisian journalists remark that all the propaganda for more babies will do little as long as bad living conditions cause the large infant mortality.

Nearly one hundred years in the same family is certainly a servant's record that will be difficult to beat. Nava Carlotta has just died at Escout, near Pau, at the age of 110 years. When she was only twelve, she entered the service of a French family established in Mexico. Later she came with them to France and has served all the different members of the same household ever since—a period of nearly one century.

That a woman was the inventor of the world-famous Camembert cheese has just recently been learned. Mme. Marie Hurel, a farmer woman living in a tiny Normand village called Camembert, made the discovery in 1771, so the records show, and named her product after her native village. The cheese did not take long to come into favor and gradually became manufactured extensively by machinery instead of being made in primitive fashion on the farms. The name of Marie Hurel merits remembrance think many French gourmets. There have been many inventions less disagreeable, to the taste.

Ten-Acre Tobacco Crop Brings $6,000

(Clipping from the Raleigh News & Observer)

"Kinston, N. C., Nov. 12th.—A ten-acre crop of tobacco on the farm of J. E. Mumford, of Pitt County, has paid him more than $6,000 this fall. He has received more than $600 per acre for the production in spite of the early season slump. Most of the $6,000 represented profit to Mumford, according to warehouse acquaintances here, since he is a "live at home" grower, producing his own pork, grain and other necessities."

Chas. W. Priddy & Co., Inc. Norfolk, Va. Gentlemen:—

I made ten (10) acres of tobacco this year, on which I used your VELVET TOBACCO GROWER, applied at the rate of 1000 pounds per acre.

I harvested from this 10 acres of land 12,500 lbs. of tobacco, which is an average of $1250 pounds per acre.

I have just finished selling this tobacco, and it brought me in a net return of $6,000.00; this is an average of a little over $600.00 per acre.

I attribute the satisfactory prices received from my tobacco crop to its fine quality, and I attribute this fine quality in a great measure, to the fertilizer used, namely VELVET TOBACCO GROWER, which, in view of my experience, I consider the best Tobacco Fertilizer sold in this community.

This Fertilizer was bought from MESSRS. TURNAGE BROTHERS CO., AYDEN, N. C.

I planted 30 acres in tobacco, using PRIDDY'S 3-8-3 TOBACCO GROWER; the highest price received from sale was $75.00 per 100 lbs., for 285 pounds this load 1400 pounds averaging $45.50 per 100-lb. For other lot I averaged $35.50 to $39.50 per 100 pounds.

Large pearl beads are becoming more popular, perhaps because they may be picked up more easily in the bottom of an auto.

AN AMBITIOUS PLAN

Apparently the Canadian who proposes to eliminate the iceberg menace to shipping by reducing mountains of ice to water by means of chemical heat mines in Greenland is not dismayed by big undertakings. If enough can be done, in carrying out the operation of the plan, to prevent icebergs escaping, a little more of the same treatment might be sufficient to convert Greenland from a region of "icy mountains" to a balmy clime. It is the ice which accumulates in that vicinity which gives the Arctic its reputation for being a repelling locality. If Greenland's ice could be melted there would be no reason why the fields which shut off explorers from the Pole could not be disposed of in like manner, thus enabling ships to sail right to the spot where some claim to have been but may not have been.

The plan involves vast possibilities, provided it is feasible. That is the question. It is up to the physicist who suggests it to demonstrate its practicability.

MONEY

Besides being the "root of all evil," money seems to be the subject about which more has been written than any other. Every philosopher since the age of barter has speculated on the institution of money, and it is apparent the philosophers of the future will find the subject no less diverting, and they will find new phases of the question on which to philosophize.

True to the typically American instinct to couple money with work, John D. Rockefeller says of money:

"I determined that, in addition to working for money, I would make money work for me."

In his monumental work, "The Principles of Political Economy," John Stuart Mill came to the conclusion that "money is a commodity and its value is determined, like other commodities, temporarily by demand and supply, permanently and on the average by cost of production."

"Money amassed either serves of rules us," sagely wrote Horace, and just as wisely Bacon wrote, "Money is like manure; of little use unless it be spread." Dr. Johnson, who made much money but was not prevented by that fact from being often in the want of it, learned from life that "money, in whatever hands, will confer power."

"Money is the root of all evil," is a household adage and suggests this quotation from Fielding: "Money is the fruit of evil as often as the root of it."

George Bernard Shaw has acquired a goodly share of the world's material wealth by creating from his cold and cynical intellect such typically Shavian bits as "Any fool can save money; it takes a wise man to spend it." From the works of his prototype, Samuel Butler, is culled this gem of Solomonic wisdom: "Money is like a reputation for ability—more easily made than kept."

As for the "unthinking" public, it also finds money a subject for conversation, some finding it a blessing and others finding the lack of it the cause of much sorrow and suffering.

What Skinny Men Ought to Know

You probably know that Cod Liver Oil is the greatest flesh producer in the world.

Because it contains more Vitamins than any food you can get. You'll be glad to know that Cod Liver Oil comes in sugar-coated tablets now, so if you really want to put 10 or 20 pounds of real healthy flesh on your bones and feel well and strong ask Denton Drug Co. or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets.

Only 60 cents for 60 tablets and if you don't gain five pounds in 30 days your druggist is authorized to hand you back the money you paid for them.

It isn't anything unusual for a person to gain 10 pounds in 90 days. "Get McCoy's, the original and genuine Cod Liver Oil Tablet."

U. D. C. MEETS

One of the most delightful meetings of the season was held Thursday afternoon when Miss Martha O'Hagan and Mrs. Charles Laughinghouse were joint hostesses to the Daughters of the Confederacy. Mrs. J. B. Spilman, the president, very ably dispatched the business items, only one of which will be mentioned here.

That is the determined effort and consequent movement on foot to finish this year the Gettysburg Monument Fund. A committee composed of the following ladies: Mrs. Philip Moore, Mrs. Curtis Perkins, Mrs. Evelyn Gorman and Miss Margaret Fleming were appointed to get this matter before the public.

The Daughters feel that the time has come for North Carolina to substantially assert in terms of granite, marble and bronze her claim, "Farthest at Gettysburg," or withdraw the claim.

Other states have long since commemorated the bravery and heroic self sacrifice of their sons by erecting suitable memorials on this battlefield. It still remains for North Carolina to properly honor her sons who fought and fell at Gettysburg. So these young Daughters have accepted this task as a sacred obligation and working with and through their local chapter, will shortly let the public hear from them.

The January meeting is always given to a study of Lee and Jackson, celebrating at the same time the anniversary of these two great leaders.

Under the title, "Lee, the Christian," Mrs. Person read a paper, showing how the Christian virtue and graces stood out in this noble man and how through his consecrated life many soldiers became Christians.

Mrs. Deal read a most interesting paper on Jackson, taking his early life and environment as the basis for her thoughts. The hostesses, assisted by Mrs. Richard Stokes, served tempting refreshments. Guests adding pleasure to the occasion were Mrs. F. M. Parks and Mrs. Badham.

The Col. Alexander McAlister Chapter, D. A. R., met on Saturday afternoon with Mrs. Felix Harvey at her home in Kinston. After the usual opening exercises, and transaction of business, a yearly report showed that the Chapter had been very active, and has done some splendid work.

Officers for the ensuing year were elected as follows: Regent, Mrs. W. B. Murphy; Vice Regent, Mrs. Felix Harvey; Recording Sec., Miss Frances Crisp; Corresponding Sec., Mrs. James Exum; Treas., Mrs. J. I. Morgan; Historian, Mrs. H. H. Wright; Registrar, Mrs. Frank Dixon; Chaplain, Mrs. W. S. Harden.

The program for the afternoon was very much enjoyed. After scripture reading and prayer by the Chaplain, Mrs. William Bell of Nashville, Tenn., read a most interesting paper on the life of Andrew Jackson, and gave a vivid description of "The Heraulte."

MR. BUSINESS MAN!—We can convince you that we can sell you Ledgers, Blank Books, and Office Supplies at a lower price—if you will only call and let us show our line to you—THE VANITIE BOXE—Dickinson Ave., Phone 31

A delightful musical program was rendered. Miss Lois Gorrell played several violin selections, accompanied by Miss Dora Mead and Mrs. Farrior of Tarboro sang delightfully several songs. After the program the hostess served delicious refreshments.

There were visitors present from Kinston and other towns. Those members and visitors attending from Greenville were Mrs. C. M. Warren, Mrs. Farrior, Mrs. T. A. Person, Mrs. W. S. Harden, Miss Dora Mead, Mrs. T. H. Hooker, Miss Lois Gorrell and Mrs. H. H. Wright.

PYTHIANS HOSTS AT ENJOYABLE SOCIAL

The Pythians were hosts on last evening at their regular monthly social, which is known as ladies' night. The event proved most enjoyable and was largely attended.

Upon arrival the large number of guests were served punch and at the conclusion of a most enjoyable evening an ice course was served.

The program for the evening, was featured with dancing, bridge, pool, singing and other forms of entertainment. Mr. Bernice Gardner gave an interesting Jewish sketch, while the young men's quartette rendered several selections.

The Wilkerson Syncopaters, composed of Miss Christine Evans, piano, Mr. Edwin Wilkerson, drums, Mr. Linwood Evans, trombone, James Skinner, saxophone, furnished music throughout the evening.

The socials are looked forward to with great pleasure by the members of the lodge, and especially by the ladies, who are honor guests.

CONRAD'S MASTERPIECE AT WHITE'S TODAY

The finest traditions of the merchant marine are glorified in Joseph Conrad's "Lord Jim," which Victor Fleming has produced as a Paramount picture with Percy Marmot, Shirley Mason, Noah Beery and Raymond Hatten feature in the principal roles of the cast.

Marmot, in the title role of the story, deserts his ship in a moment of danger and spends the rest of his life regretting the act and trying to live down the name "coward" which follows him everywhere. Nobody wants him—he's "through" as far as the sea is concerned.

A friend finally pities him and gives him a position on a distant almost unknown tropical island of the far-flung Archipelago among the savage Malays who inhabit it.

The story of Marmot's atonement is a drama of astonishing conflict. The lone Caucasian triumphs over a whole island of copper-colored savages. To them he becomes "Lord Jim" and makes himself their king. He faces courageously perils that make paltry a leaky steamer in a typhoon.

MISS FLEMING ENTERTAINS JUVENILE MUSIC CLUB

The Juvenile Music Club met January 27th at the home of Ally Lee Fleming. Fifteen members were present.

After the meeting had been called to order, the roll was called, and as each member's name was called, they responded with the name of some folk song; then the minutes of the last meeting were read, which stood approved. After the reading of the minutes the dues were collected, which amounted to the sum of $1.60.

Mrs. Foxhall discussed many interesting things with us about music. After the discussions, a short program followed.

At the conclusion of our meeting hot chocolate was served by the hostess.

GREAT BRITAIN'S COAL INDUSTRY IS IN BAD WAY

Mine Owners Are Facing Growing Troubles Both In Producing And Marketing; New Pay Demands Opposed; Unemployment Doles Drain On British Treasury.

(By H. K. Reynolds)

L.N.S. Staff Cor.
London, Jan. 20.—The British coal industry is in a bad way. Everyone admits it and worries over it—the mine owners, the miners, the public and the Government.

Having suffered a severe slump like many other industries, following the war, the coal industry has never fully recovered, and it has been operating since last summer with the aid of a Government subsidy, which has already cost nearly $50,000,000 in addition to the doles paid out by the Government to unemployed miners.

Owners Have Troubles

Not the least of the troubles of the mine-owners are those of production and marketing for there have been serious labor difficulties ever since the war and they appear to be growing in complexity instead of subsiding, what with the secretary of the miners, A. J. Cook, threatening an "industrial revolution" unless the demands of his followers are met by the owners and the Government.

The labor unions in the coal industry are completely and strongly organized and with their representatives in Parliament they can present a formidable front and must be dealt with by the Government as an important factor in national affairs.

New demands for pay increases have been made by the miners, and these are being strenuously opposed, of course, by the mine-owners, who charge that the leaders of the miners are trying to wreck the industry so that nationalization of the mines can be effected.

Views of Owners

Setting forth the view of the mine owners before the Coal Commission, W. A. Lee, secretary of the Coal Owners' Association, said that prior to 1912 the efforts of the miners' leaders were directed to obtaining better wages and working conditions but that since 1912 their activities have been guided chiefly by political motives.

At the beginning of the war, Lee declared, the Government took over the mines in a healthy condition and handed them back in 1921 in a state "approaching bankruptcy."

"BOHEMIAN GIRL" WELL PRESENTED; VALENTINE SCORES

The following in part is what the Asheville Citizen, of Jan. 19, had to say:

Asheville formed an acquaintance with May Valentine upon her presentation of "Robin Hood" here last summer, advanced the relationship to friendship last night when she offered the "Bohemian Girl," and will—or should—show a regard that approaches genuine affection next winter when she receives "The Mascot."

It is nothing more than a coincidence, of course, that brought Miss Valentine to Asheville on the same train that fetched the "New York papers telling of plans to abandon the Metropolitan opera house for a "bigger, better and more democratic" institution for opera lovers there. Met the connection is perhaps not so remote as it originally appears. After all the two events may be symptomatic of America.

There is something courageous in the action of this woman in undertaking "The Bohemian Girl" in a land where the revue flourishes and burlesque has been glorified. And yet she is profiting from the venture; is hopeful for the future. Scene of mid-summer grand opera and a bit fastidious in its musical tastes. Asheville did not regard the coming of last summer's attraction as an epoch. Yet an audience that was representative, if not overwhelming in number, like the offering, applauded it and resolved to return next season.

BUFFALO BILL'S BLUE SPARKLER IN DENVER BANK

Mystery About Bad Luck Diamond, Gift From Kaiser, is Finally Cleared; After a Series Of Hoodoo Experiences, Piece Of Glass is Substituted For the Gem.

(By M. F. Dacey)

L.N.S. Staff Cor.
Denver, Colo., Jan. 20.—The mystery surrounding the whereabouts of Buffalo Bill's (William F. Cody) famous scintillating blue-white diamond has been cleared up with the announcement here by State Bank Commissioner Grant McFerson that the gem reposes securely in a safety deposit vault of a Denver bank.

Much excitement prevailed when it was reported from Greeley that the 6 1-2 carat gem, presented to Buffalo Bill, America's great plainsman, by former Kaiser Wilhelm, had disappeared and in its place a glass stone had been discovered.

Fear It Was Stolen

Fear that the jewel had not only been stolen, but that its possession was resulting in a baneful influence similar to other famous "hoodoo" gems of history, was heightened by the stories emanating from Greeley in connection with ownership of the Buffalo Bill diamond, valued at $7,500.

The fetish of bad luck was presented to America's noted scout and Indian fighter many years ago. Shortly before his death Buffalo Bill presented the prized possession to Cody Boal, a nephew living near Greeley. At that time Boal was enjoying prosperity, but friends declared he met with continual reverses following ownership of the jewel, and several years ago hypothecated the diamond at the Northern State Bank of Greeley as security for a loan.

Loan Never Paid

The loan was never paid and the bank was in possession of the beautiful diamond for about two years when the institution failed. Officers in charge of the bank's liquidation recently advertised an auction sale at which assets of the institution were to go to the highest bidder. The Cody prize diamond was listed amongst the assets.

Weld county official, noticing the "ad" regarding the Cody diamond, investigated and discovered they had a claim upon the precious stone, inasmuch as taxes upon it had never been paid by Cody Boal.

C. J. Looney, a deputy treasurer of Weld County, took the diamond to a jeweler for appraisal and was dumfounded when he was told that in the setting which once held the perfect 6 1-2 carat diamond was only a piece of cheap blue-white glass.

State Bank Commissioner McFerson explained the mystery in Denver when he announced that the original gem was taken from the Greeley bank and placed in a safety deposit vault in Denver, "as a matter of precaution." A counterpart of the flawless diamond was made from glass.
