DR. H. F. JONES TO PREACH ON THE INNER CIRCLE

Revival at Memorial Baptist Church Attracts Wide Attention; Prof. Wolslagel Bringing Some Wonderful Messages in Song

The revival services in the Memorial Baptist Church are attracting wide attention, and are being largely attended. The sermon last night, the subject of which was "The King's Business Requireth Haste," was one of the best and most inspiring delivered by Rev. Jones during the meeting. The subject tonight will be the "Inner Circle." This message contains some of the greatest truths ever presented, and will be vitally interesting throughout its entirety.

The song services last evening proved an attractive feature of the services. Prof. E. L. Wolslagel sang two solos, "Somebody Needs Just You," and "Throw a Line." For offertory, the choir sang "Reapers Are Needed." Mr. Wolslagel's warblers numbered 50 last night, and the choir continues to grow.

Yesterday morning, Prof. Wolslagel visited the Evans Street School and this morning he visited the Junior High School. He not only possesses one of the best voices ever heard here, but also possesses a charming personality which wins friends for him everywhere he goes. He is bringing some wonderful messages in song.

The public is cordially invited to hear this evening's service.

IF YOU WERE BUSY
If you were busy being kind,
Before you knew it, you would find You'd soon forget to think 'twas true
That someone was unkind to you.

If you were busy being glad,
And cheering people who are sad
Although your heart might ache a bit,
You'd soon forget to notice it.

If you were busy being good,
And doing just the best you could You'd not have time to blame some man
Who's doing just the best he can.

If you were busy being true,
To what you know you ought to do,
You'd be so busy you'd forget
The blunders of the folks you've met.

If you were busy being right,
You'd find yourself too busy quite,
To criticize your neighbor long,
Because he's busy being wrong.
—E. L. Wolslagel

Dept. of Justice Says Proceedings Against Aluminum Company Cannot Be Maintained

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—After full investigation the Department of Justice has reached a decision that contempt proceedings against the Aluminum Company of America can not by any possibility successfully be maintained.

This announcement was made today by Chairman Cummings in the minority report opposing the Senate investigation as to believing the Aluminum Company, in which Secretary Mellon is a large stockholder, had violated federal court decrees of 1912. Senator Cummings said the Department was in possession of all the information known or believed to exist including not only everything that was available to the Federal Trade Commission, but also many items of information not submitted to the Commission.

PREDICTS EARLY AGREEMENT TAX REDUCTION BILL

Both Senate and House Conferees Hold Separate Meets Before Another Conference

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—Predictions of an early agreement on differences between the Senate and House on the tax reduction were made after another two hour session today of the conferees on the Revenue Bill.

Both the Senate and House conferees held separate meetings before going into another conference, but at the conclusion of the conference it was said no compromise had yet been reached. The differences between the two Houses as to how much the tax reduction should total is approximately $125,000,000. The Senate Bill proposes the greater reduction.

MR. HARRY ABRAM DIES IN NEW YORK

Former Resident of Rocky Mount and Brother of Mrs. S. M. Schultz, of This City, Succumbs to Pneumonia

Mrs. S. M. Schultz and Mrs. L. H. Bowling left last night for New York in response to a telegram announcing the death of Mr. Harry Abrams, brother of Mrs. Schultz, which occurred yesterday afternoon following a short illness from pneumonia. The body will be cremated tomorrow morning. Mrs. Schultz will be joined enroute by her sister, Miss Flora Abrams, who is visiting in Richmond.

News of Mr. Abrams' death was received with genuine regret by his large number of friends in this city. He formerly lived in Rocky Mount, where he was popular and held in high esteem. Mr. Abrams was married about eighteen years ago to Miss Sadie Spears of Goldsboro, who, with one son, Sidney, and one daughter, Elizabeth, survive.

He is also survived by two sisters, Mrs. S. M. Schultz, of this city, and Miss Flora Abrams, of New York; one brother, Mr. Myer Abrams, of Norfolk. The family had not been advised of his illness, and the telegram announcing his death came as a great shock.

If an American wants to travel on legitimate business in Europe, he must get a passport, have his photograph taken, pay money, endure delay.

But if he wants to get into his car and drive to the gin mills, race tracks and other dives at Tia Juana he needs no passport. Heaven only knows why things have been arranged so comfortably that there is no interference with the dive resort, just across the California border.

Good prohibitionists can easily interest Secretary Kellogg and President Coolidge in that proposition. This government can apply to Tia Juana's dives severe passport restrictions. Instead of the frontier being wide open at that point, restrictions should be most severe.

Helen Willis' defeat by Suzanne Lenglen was one more honor for the marvelous French woman, and no disgrace to the American. Helen Willis is a young girl, her strength only partly developed. Suzanne Lenglen, the world's greatest woman player, at her best in physical strength and will power, could not do better than 6-3 8-6 against the young American.

In Suzanne you see the type of women to whom France owes her power and glory. Such women as Suzanne were mothers of the French soldiers who made good their statement, "They Shall Not Pass," at Verdun.

Helen Willis is particularly interesting as a California product. California children grow in strength all year round. In less favored states they grow for six months, then stop growing, waiting for the sun to come out again.

MORAL: Bring up your children in California, and give them a 100 per cent chance.

Professor Coover, head of the psychology department at Stanford University, after 10,000 experiments, announces that telepathy, sending thought from one brain to another, without words or writing is impossible. To confirm the statement, you don't need ten thousand experiments. One is enough. Try to THINK without using words in your mind, you will find you cannot do it. The emotions, hate, fear, can be felt, without words, you can't THINK without words. There fore you can't transfer thought without words. If words, sound waves, hearing, seeing, physical bodies had been superfluous, they would not have been created. Force cannot act without matter.

Moscow's stage reduces clothing to minimum. Miss Lyubovna Rank, who plays Potiphar's wife in a play called "Joseph the Beautiful" wore a string of diamonds in her black hair, and "narrow strips of silver cloth across the bust and hips." That's all. If the original Mrs. Potiphar dressed like that, it is not surprising that Joseph ran. Well brought up, in a quiet Jewish family, he could not do otherwise.

Mid. Anita Whitney, Earnest, but mistaken young woman, demands repeal of act that in certain states, forbids marriage between whites and blacks. The poet Helne exclaimed, "Oh Liberty, Thou Wicked Dream," when he heard of an American clergyman, tarred, feathered and ridden on a rail because he wanted to marry his white daughter to a black man.

Like Miss Whitney, Helne was mistaken. The right kind of colored people want to marry colored people. The right kind of white people want to marry white people. Laws against mixed marriages protect the colored women, according to scientists, who tell that the larger head of a mulatto baby makes childbirth very dangerous for the black mother.

There is enough to keep the people and Government of the United States busy, on these North and South American continents. In 1925 the United States did two thousand and ninety four million Dollars worth of business with our Latin-American brothers, breaking all records.

Our business with our Canadian friends is growing. We have in the United States a League of Nations of our own, made up of 48 states, with free trade among them, no danger of war.

No need to mix in Europe's troubles, or go wandering abroad to find a foreign court to decide questions concerning the business of the United States.

Another plot to murder Mussolini, this one with two deputies and thirty others in it, according to a confession. While they fail, these plots increase Mussolini's strength with the Italian people. But one of them may succeed. What then? Who in Italy will be ready, and strong enough to take Mussolini's place and gradually bring the country from dictatorship back to constitutional government?

JACK S. BROWN IS MADE CASHIER OF WHITAKER BANK

Former Teller of The Greenville Banking and Trust Company Chosen Head of New Bank

Announcement was made this morning by the Greenville Banking and Trust Company, that Mr. Jack S. Brown, for a number of years connected with the bank, has resigned his position as teller and has accepted a position with the Branch Banking and Trust Company, of Wilson, as cashier of its Whitaker's branch.

About a month ago the Wilson banking institution established the Whitaker's branch and Mr. Brown was secured from the Greenville Banking and Trust Company, to assist in getting the new bank into operation. Mr. Brown's association with the new bank culminated in the tendering to him the position as cashier.

In announcing Mr. Brown's resignation, officials of the Greenville Banking and Trust Company expressed regret at losing his valuable service but pleasure at his promotion. Since becoming connected with the Greenville Banking and Trust Company in 1920, Mr. Brown's ability has gained for him advancement from book-keeper to first teller and his record with the institution is an enviable one.

The announcement of Mr. Brown's promotion will be received with interest by his many friends in this community.

Doesn't Approve Revealing Details of Bread Trust

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—The House Judiciary Committee disapproved today the resolution introduced by Representative La Guardia, Socialist of New York, asking the Attorney General to furnish Congress with information about an alleged bread trust.

The committee acted after receiving a communication from Attorney General Sargent, stating that a suit in equity already had been filed in Baltimore against the Ward Baking Corporation and its subsidiaries.

The Attorney General said that in view of the pending suit it would not serve the public interest to reveal further details of the evidence collected by the Government.

HUM OF INDUSTRY IN ANTHRACITE REGIONS TODAY

Production of Coal Resumed After Five Months and 17 Days of Idleness

Scranton, Pa., Feb. 18.—(AP)—The hum of industry again was heard in the anthracite regions today. Production of coal was resumed after five months and 17 days of idleness.

Thousands of workers thronged around the shafts of the different coal companies everywhere in the hard coal fields at six o'clock this morning, at which hour the cages began lowering their load of human freight to the bowels of the earth, and the actual production of anthracite started. Some coal was hoisted to the collieries and run through at seven o'clock this morning. Shifts that went to work last night in the mines gathered this noon.

The whole region became active as the mine whistle blew this morning for the first time in nearly a half year and thousands of workers entered the pits in compliance with the five year peace pact finally signed here yesterday afternoon. John Lewis, President of the Union, said it was the greatest contract ever drawn up in the history of organized labor involving wages aggregating a billion and a half dollars in five years.

Mine workers, who went to work today, will not receive any pay for at least 20 days. They are paid twice a month in normal time, and their pay for the remaining days of this month will come to them between the 10th and 15th of March. In the meantime relief will be continued wherever necessary.

MR. O. W. QUINN DIED YESTERDAY

Originator of Chain of Quinn Furniture Stores Dies at Home in Beulaville

Mr. O. W. Quinn, 73, prominent citizen and successful farmer, of Duplin county, died at his home in Beulaville yesterday, following a short illness. Funeral services will be conducted from his late home today at 3 o'clock, with interment following in the family burying ground.

Mr. Quinn was the originator of the chain of Quinn stores, of Eastern Carolina, having twenty-five years ago operated the O. W. Quinn and Company store in Wilson. During his business career he won a host of friends who held him in high esteem for his wonderful business ability, and his strong Christian character. About fifteen years ago Mr. Quinn retired from the furniture business and returned to his farm. For a few years he retained his interest in the business, but finding that his farm required all his time, he turned the business over to his sons, as follows, J. M. Quinn, the various Quinn-Miller stores; R. E. Quinn, the R. E. Quinn Furniture Company; J. W. Quinn, the various Quinn-McGowan stores. His two daughters, Mrs. J. O. Miller, of Kinross, and Mrs. J. S. Miller, of New Bern, were also given an interest.

Mr. Quinn was one of the most popular and best known men of Duplin county. He was influential in the religious, social and business life of the community and will be greatly missed. Out of respect to his memory, the Quinn chain of stores will close this afternoon during the hours of the funeral.

Trouble Marks Re-opening of Hard Coal Mines

Willsboro, Pa., Feb. 18.—(AP)—Trouble marked the re-opening of the anthracite mines here today after nearly six months of idleness. 700 workers employed by the Pennsylvania Coal Company at Pittston went on strike a few minutes after the resumption of operations.

SNOW AVALANCHE TAKES HEAVY TOLL IN MINING CAMPS

70 Lives Believed Lost in Utah Gulch; Squads of Men Patrol Scene of Disaster Today

Bingham, Utah, Feb. 18.—(AP)—75 known dead with an equal number of persons missing was the toll early today of an avalanche that overwhelmed the Highland Boy Mining Camp in Sap Gulch near here yesterday.

Officials directing the search of the ruins of the score of buildings, one a three story frame boarding house, where lived 50 persons, expressed the belief that in the neighborhood of 70 lives had been lost. F. A. Wardlaw, Superintendent of the Utah-Delaware Mining Company, which operated the camp, made up a list of 29 persons missing, which included only the owners and lessees of houses destroyed. He was unable to say how many other persons might have lived in the cabins, although it is known that there were some not employed by the mining company.

The slide began two miles from the little settlement more than a mile above sea level in the Quirch Mountains when the freshly fallen snow slipped from its resting place. As it zigzagged its way down the canyon it gathered momentum weight, and speed. In its path of more than two miles the avalanche dropped at least 1,000 feet. A mile from the start it passed over and closed a tunnel mouth. Half a mile further down it closed another, swept a two family dwelling from its foundation, and then made a leap of more than 100 feet to the thickly settled canyon where it exacted its toll of lives and property and came to a stop at the very doors of the community church and the office of the copper mine.

There will be no inquest, nor will there be an official investigation, authorities said. Fearing another slide, Superintendent Wardlaw detailed two squads of men to patrol the gulch. They are armed with shot guns and are instructed to fire three volleys in the event the snow begins to move.

A force of more than 100 men began a systematic search of the debris at the foot of Sap Gulch this morning under the direction of F. A. Wardlaw, Superintendent of the Utah-Delaware Mining Co. In this way it was hoped to recover the bodies of those still not accounted for in the snow slide which yesterday took a toll of 36 lives. Approximately 40 others are missing and 12 survivors are in a hospital. The sun was shining today and weather conditions were good for the search. Beginning at the bottom of the gulch the debris was being moved a shovel full at a time. Splintered boards, the remains of what was once the happy homes of a score of families, and other perishable debris, was being destroyed in a barn fire.

Pres. Coolidge Is Confined to Bed Suffering Cold

Washington, Feb. 18.—(AP)—It was officially announced at the White House shortly after noon today that although President Coolidge was confined to bed, he is suffering from "just a cold" and his condition was not serious.

Reiterating that there was no cause for alarm, nor had there been any release in the President's condition, Secretary Saunders said Mr. Coolidge had decided to remain in bed in the hope that the cold could be controlled.

First effects of illness were in evidence Tuesday night when the President at the last moment decided not to attend a dinner given in his and Mrs. Coolidge's honor at the home of Secretary Davis, of the War Department. Yesterday after a brief spell at his desk, engagements were cancelled and he retired to the White House for a rest. Later, however, he returned to his office for an hour's work and afterwards took a short stroll around the White House grounds.

Major F. Cappel, the President's physician, is in attendance.

SHIFT THE DATES
By a vote of 73 to 2 the Senate has for a third time adopted a resolution to amend the Constitution by making the term of Congress and the President begin on January 1, following the election. Meanwhile the House Committee on Elections has ordered a favorable report upon a similar resolution.

There is nothing sacred about March 4 as Inauguration Day; or the first week in December as the assembling time for the regular session of Congress. In each case the selection was in a sense accidental, the long delay after election natural enough considering the difficulties of travel between sprawling States separated by marsh and mountain, unbridged rivers and fathom-less mud. There is no longer any respectable reason for delaying inauguration four months, and the meeting of Congress more than a year after an election.

The short session following election, as Senator Norris noted, encourages filibustering by setting a date for adjournment. It enables lame ducks to barter votes in favor of Administration measures for Federal appointments. It exhibits the absurdity, and worse, of members of Congress continuing to legislate in December after they are defeated in November. Unless an extra session is called it delays for months and possibly for more than a year any attempt to carry out the will of the people as expressed at the polls.

The change proposed is needed, and it is important.
The Senate and House should get together and carry this reform into effect.—New York World.

QUEEN'S CONTEST
Greenville goes into everything to win. If we lose we are good losers, but we always like to be successful.
The time for the Eastern Carolina Exposition and Fashion Show is almost here.
It is nearly time again for a Queen's contest. A contest in which our beautiful girls vie for a diamond ring.

Heretofore, we have had only one contestant, this time we are entitled to five. Other towns in the county are also entitled to their number. One diamond ring remains in this county and the other goes to some Queen in another county.

Now is the time to begin the work by getting the contestants ready for the big event. Greenville won the diamond ring at the Wilson Exposition, when Miss Helen Joyner, one of the State's most beautiful daughters was crowned queen.

Not only has Greenville's beauty been recognized in Eastern Carolina, but also at the Raleigh Fashion Show, when Mrs. Curtis
Perkins, nee Miss Elizabeth
White, was crowned queen.

The Queen's Contest is one of the most attractive features of the Exposition and should be, as it creates both interest and enthusiasm.

The contest this year will no doubt be one of the best ever staged. Greenville is proud of her beautiful daughters and will play her cards in the contest.

Let us all do our part in selecting our five most beautiful girls and see that one of the number receives the honor.

We are in the contest to win. Every citizen has a part to play, and we must give our contestants all the support possible.

The other towns in the county should elect their queens, make their plans and give their contestants their undivided support.

It is up to Greenville to make the exposition this year the best ever held.

The "77" Secret Is Out of the Bag

Hatem's "77" sale will open Saturday morning, February 20th at 9 o'clock, and will continue for several days. His entire $25,000 stock will be sold at prices, all of which have 77 cents, such as $1.77, $10.77, etc.

For the past several days "77" has played a game which had every one guessing. No one knew what the "77" stood for, and every day the question has been asked what is "77." This morning the cat was turned out of the bag, and the public informed that Hatem's "77" cent sale would begin Saturday morning.

The entire stock of goods has been marked at prices that are not only surprising but also astonishing, and Mr. Hatem invites the public to see his wonderful bargains.

WOMAN LABORITE M. P. ASKS PEOPLE TO TAKE HER PARTY SERIOUSLY

London, Feb. 15.—(INS)—Ellen Wilkinson, the red-haired Laborite member of the House of Commons, is distressed because people won't take the Labor Party seriously.

Miss Wilkinson was trying to address a Labor meeting at Leeds, when the lights on the platform failed. The audience snickered, laughed, shouted and found more enjoyment in the speaker's evident distress than it did in the message promised them.

Miss Wilkinson's complexion became the color as her flaming hair. "There's no need to laugh just because a light goes out," she declared. "I've come here with a tremendous message and you must listen to me. Don't you realize what I am trying to tell you? I have not come here to amuse you. For Heaven's sake, take our Labor movement seriously—not as a diversion between football and the movies."

You may not believe it, but years ago a chief feminine attraction was a hair curl tied with a ribbon.—Fayetteville Observer.

Do You Know—that the Manager has a financial interest in this Store?

that because he has his money invested here, he is interested in the progress of this community?

that in bringing his family here to make his home, he first satisfied himself that it was the place he wanted to live in?

that as a matter of fact, many stores in part are owned by outside capital and that for this reason this Store is as much a "local" store as others?

that after all, the only difference between this Store and others is that behind this Store is a co-operative buying power of far-reaching importance to the public, the equal of which is seldom enjoyed by few other retail institutions in the world?

Think this over! We will be glad to explain our plan to anyone who is interested. You will find that it is our ability to serve you better that makes your buying here attractive.

THE CAROLINA PLAYMAKERS

The Carolina Folk-Plays are written in English 31, a course in Dramatic Composition at the University of North Carolina. The characters are drawn from the playwright's observation—often from his actual experience. The settings are homemade—the work of students in English 34, the University course in Dramatic production, under the direction of Mr. George V. Denny.

To be sure, they are plays of locality, of a single state, North Carolina. But they have a wider significance. We know that if we speak for the human nature in our own neighborhood we shall be expressing for all. The locality, if it be truly interpreted, is the only universal. It has been so in all lasting literature. And in every locality over all America as in North Carolina, there is the need and the striving for a fresh expression of our common folk-life.

It is the Playmakers' aim to give to the people—in the mountains, on the plain, and by the sea—a means of expressing simple folk-plays of their rich store of legend and history, of tales and songs heard in the villages and in the country everywhere, and of the dramatic happenings all about us today.

Quare Medicine," by Paul Green. To those acquainted with the rural life of eastern North Carolina as it was a few years ago, the patent-medicine vender or "back doctor" is not unknown. The so-called doctor pictured in this play is by no means a true representative of the type. He does, however, resemble a loud-mouthed lonely fellow who used to dare to sell his wares before the court house in Lillington, North Carolina, during "court."

"Fixin's." Here is a study by Erma and Paul Green of Lillington, of the grinding poverty of tenant farm life, which the authors have observed from childhood. Here is the pent fury of the work-driven woman, Lilly Robinson, is portrayed with grim and terrible reality. She craves a little beauty, "prity fixin's" but her husband's eyes cannot see beyond the sod he plows. The scene is a bare cabin home in Harnett county, North Carolina, but the theme is universal—the pitiful conflict of two natures which are irreconcilable.

The least that can be said of the Carolina Playmakers is that they produce things of real dramatic value. Those who have not had the good fortune of seeing them play before may assure themselves of the true worth of the product by reading the press comments from many of the leading newspapers and magazines of the country.

The Carolina Playmakers will appear at the East Carolina Teachers College on February 20th.

RHEUMATISM LEAVES YOU FOREVER

Deep Seated Uric Acid Deposits Are Dissolved and the Rheumatic Poison Starts to Leave the System Within Twenty-Four Hours

Every druggist in this county is authorized to say to every rheumatic sufferer that if a full pint bottle of Allenru, the sure conqueror of rheumatism, does not show the way to stop the agony, reduce swollen joints and do away with even the slightest twinge of rheumatism, he will gladly return your money without comment.

Allenru has been tried and tested for years, and really marvelous results have been accomplished in the most severe cases where the suffering and agony was intense and pitiable and where the patient was helpless.

James H. Allen, of 26 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., the discoverer of Allenru, who for many years suffered the torments of acute rheumatism, desires all sufferers to know that he does not want a cent of anyone's money unless Allenru decisively conquers this worst of all diseases, and he has instructed druggists in every instance to guarantee it as above in every instance. Too Great a Risk!

The farmer, depending on the results of his crops, must plan in such a way that they will be as large as possible. He risks his all every season when he plants his crops—his means of living during the year, his ability to plant again next year, everything he owns and the happiness and welfare of his family.

He chooses his seed with care before planting, making sure that if other conditions are agreeable his crop will be sure to make a profit. But, often, he overlooks the most important essential in the success of his crops—FERTILIZER. In an effort to save a few dollars on the season's purchase of fertilizers, he often overlooks quality—the very thing that produces bigger crops earlier. He overlooks one of the most important things. HE MUST USE THE BEST FERTILIZERS. He must use fertilizers that will produce a big crop at the earliest date.

FOR INCREASED YIELDS USE, JOSEY'S OPEN-FORMULA FERTILIZERS

has every ingredient—all of superior quality—to produce the largest of crops at the earliest date. JOSEY'S may be a few dollars higher in the season's purchases than inferior fertilizers but it will produce larger crops with the use of less per pound which is really cheaper.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevins, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Thedford's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated, I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple of three times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything. Two Blind Students Win Highest Honors

Philadelphia, Feb. 18.—(INS)—Francis J. Cummings, of Wilmington, Del., and Harry J. Ditzler, of Danville, Pa., are two blind University of Pennsylvania students, who have scholastic records which place them among the leaders of their respective callings.

Cummings has already won honor for scholarships, in the United States and abroad. He is now holder of a scholarship in Romantic languages. Ditzler is an accomplished organist and has won the annual prize awarded by the university's school of Fine Arts to the student showing the most promise in music composition.

And these two students have accomplished this over their fellow students, although they are afflicted with blindness.

Cummings has not been able to see since he was twelve years of age, due to an attack of spinal meningitis. He attended the Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind for four years at Overbrook and then specialized at the Philadelphia High School. He expects to teach languages after he takes his "master's" degree at Penn.

Ditzler became blind after an attack of diphtheria when he was two years of age. He also went to the Pennsylvania Institution for the Blind. He took a post-graduate course at a Philadelphia High School.

He took several courses in music theory and composition while at the Pennsylvania Institution and showed such marked ability that he was encouraged by his instructors to make a serious study of music. He decided to enter the music department of Fine Arts at the Pennsylvania University.

COLDS THAT DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery, with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest. It has a special effect on persistent coughs and colds, and all forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, the healing elements which soothe and soothe the inflamed membranes and soothe irritation and inflammation, while creosote goes on to disintegrate, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble, and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and in all cases where the system is weakened. Money refunded if not relieved after taking the directions. Ask your nearest druggist for Creomulsion.

SOVIET RED CROSS HAS FUND FOR NEEDY RIFFS

Moscow, Feb. 18.—(INS)—To help the "refuge Riffs who have gathered in Tangier and the surrounding districts," the central committee of the Red Cross of the Russian Socialist Federal Soviet Republic has appropriated 1,000 roubles. The money will be distributed, according to the committee, "only to those Riffs who are in greatest need."

This is the first material expression of the sympathy often expressed here for the Riffs in their fight against French imperialism. A report published abroad that emissaries from Abd-el Krim had come to Moscow seeking support met with no confirmation here.

Hollywood, Feb. 18.—Ability to act in motion pictures is seldom inherited.

There is not a single outstanding star in Hollywood whose father or mother was famous on the stage or screen.

Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., is an instance of the failure of the sons and daughters of stars to score heavily with the public. Young Fairbanks is indeed a very acceptable juvenile but he lacks almost entirely the ability which brought fame and fortune to his father.

Francis X. Bushman, Jr., is the latest son of a famous actor who is trying to scale the ladder to stardom. Young Bushman has just been cast in an important role and for the first time will be given an opportunity to show whether or not he has inherited his father's genius.

"She was just an extra girl challenging life with a brave smile."

That's what Hollywood's publicity agents say about every female Tom, Dick and Harry. The woman in question may have been born with a whole set of silver in her mouth, but it is bald announcement is forthwith made as soon as the actress is signed for a leading role.

But it may be true's said of Georgia Hale, formerly leading lady with Charlie Chaplin. She was just such a somewhat ragged extra person in the films until recently.

Then Joseph Von Sternberg decided to startle the cinema world by producing a picture for $4,000. Naturally he had low-priced actors and Miss Hale was one of them. The picture was a "flop" until Chaplin saw it and said he liked it extremely well and liked Miss Hale.

And now Georgia is living happily, although she has been released by Chaplin to play in pictures other than his own.

Announcement was made that Chaplin let Miss Hale go because he makes so few pictures she was not given proper opportunity to display her talent.

When the entire football squad of the University of Southern California was used in a story of college life being filmed the other day, great care was taken that none of the student actors was paid in good hard cash for his services and therefore voted professional. The scenes were snapped in Los Angeles Coliseum, where several notable clashes be-

Greb Shows Good Horse Sense By Fighting Often

By DAVIS J. WALSH
INS Staff Correspondent

New York, Feb. 18.—(INS)—After being ragged for years with evidence purporting to prove that Jack Kearns, Leo P. Flynn and several kindred souls are the brains of the profession, the writer, with due deliberation, has come to the conclusion that there is only one smart man connected with the competitive end of pugilism, and his name is Harry Greb, the middle-weight champion.

If Dempsey had Greb's horse sense, he would have no need for Kearns, now or at any time. Were Kearns endowed with the same gift, Dempsey would have been a better, more popular and possibly a richer fighter today. Greb gets everything there is to be had from the fighting game and is a better man for it.

Later developments might make it expedient to change this statement from present to past tense as Harry is a bit elderly and may go at any time, but that wouldn't alter the facts of the case.

These are merely that Greb is smart enough to know that he can better both his condition and his finances by fighting as often as possible, a simple conclusion that doesn't seem to have occurred to other champions or their managers.

Harry realizes that one fight in a ring is worth more than two weeks in a gymnasium and conducts himself accordingly. Faced with an impending title match, he doesn't depend on training himself into condition. He fights his way to that point.

One night you read of him getting the newspaper decision over John Palooka in Delerium, Mo. Three days later, you find him in Vapid Wis., cuffing Your Nose-dive around. The next stop may be Tanktown, Pa., following which he will bob up in Eezema, Ohio.

By the time he is ready to step with the challenger, the battling practice eye has been sharpened by practice under actual fire and the Greb exchequer is exceedingly well lined. Without knowing anything about it, the writer would guess that Greb must average at least $1,500 per push-over. In brief, he makes his training pay him plenty.

Contrast this very sensible policy with that of Kearns in handling Dempsey. The latter won his title from Willard in 1919 and for two years emerged from the moth balls only for casual encounters and since that time he has done very little fighting indeed.

Here's a Real Prescription for the Torturing Pains of Neuritis

When you've tried everything you can think of and nothing seems to even relieve those piercing, agonizing pains, just go to some good druggist and get a bottle of Allenru Special Formula No. 2. Be sure you get No. 2 which comes in capsule form, for the liquid form is a special preparation for rheumatism only.

Take these little dark green capsules as directed and notice how in about 24 hours they have considerably reduced, if not entirely banished, those persistent nerve-racking pains that have caused you many sleepless nights. A few more doses and the pains have left you

MAN EATING TIGER GIVES INDIAN HUNTERS THRILL
Allahabad, India, Feb. 17.—(INS)—A man-eating leopard or tiger is making itself notorious throughout Northern India by the unusually high number of its victims and the uncanny ways in which it eludes the traps set to catch it.

Sixteen shikarees of the United Provinces Government, together with numbers of troops, elephants and beaters, have for weeks attempted to catch the beast, whose victims now number 114 men, women and children.

Poisoned traps have been set, pot-holes dug, and whole-day beats arranged, but the beast remains uncaptured. It has made away and presumably eaten the poisoned traps, jumped over the pot holes, and carefully remained outside the area of the beats.

The continued depredations of the animal have so exasperated the population that attention has been drawn to it in the Legislative Assembly.
