CHALLENGES DRY LEADERS TO JOIN IN REFERENDUM

Movement is for Nation-Wide Referendum on Light Wines and Beer Issued by Speakers for American Federation of Labor

Washington, Apr. 9.—(AP)—A challenge to dry leaders to join in a movement for a nation-wide referendum on light wines and beer was issued today before the Senate Prohibition Committee by speakers for the American Federation of Labor. Appearing as a witness for the wets and speaking as a personal representative of President William Greene of the Federation, William Roberts told the committee that "the present uprising of those opposed to the Volstead Act is a stable, solid movement."

"I sincerely believe that those who opposed light wines and beer realize that a referendum would declare in favor of the modification of the Volstead Act," he said. "If this were not true, why do they fight a referendum so strenuously?" The defender of the Volstead Act apparently prefer to see the people of our country seriously affected by vicious concoctions of liquor rather than to make it a temperance country by legalizing the manufacture of mild beers."

Telling of the 30,000 mile trip that he and the late Samuel Gompers made over the country in 1923 and 1924, the witness said that "everywhere we went there was plenty of diluted liquor, but seldom real beer."

"We found that the homes of the people had been turned into breweries and distilleries which turned out dangerous concoctions that if drunk to any extent would ruin the health of those who drank them," he continued. "When asked why they drank the stuff, they said there was nothing else to be obtained and they invariably asked them when were members of Congress going to realize that the manufacture and sale of beer would make for true temperance. Women as well as men were interested in such questioning."

"As time passed the resentment appeared to grow intense as we traveled about the country from coast to coast and from Canada to the Mexican border. The greatest complaint appeared to be that the people were forced to drink all kinds of concoctions represented to be whiskey."

"But the resentment did not find much publicity as newspapers generally supported the Volstead Act because the dry elements spread its propaganda unceasingly in every part of the land. The opponents of the Act so far as it prohibited the manufacture of beer and light wines were only permitted to voice their opposition among their friends and acquaintances."

Fire Oil Farm Appears to Have Spent Its Fury

San Luis, Oso, Calif., April 9.—(AP)—The 6,000,000 barrel oil fire on the Union Oil Company's tank and reservoir farm here which started when the farm was struck by lightning Wednesday appeared today to have spent most of its fury.

Three of the great oil reservoirs apparently had burned out, two others were dinged out and only one of the large containers remains an active menace. In the tank field only 90 of the 10 surface containers remained intact as the fire had wrecked or damaged the others.

Douglas Robinson Victim of Amnesia

Rochester, N. Y., April 8.—(AP)—Theodore B. Robinson, Assistant Secretary of the Navy, and Mrs. Robinson left their home this morning taking with them their son, Douglas, who was found wandering here a victim of amnesia.

Apparently fully recovered from his loss of memory Robinson, who disappeared from Harvard last Wednesday, appeared to be in good health and intended to be induced to return to the university.

FOUR DISASTERS INVOLVING OIL SHIPS REPORTED

Two Persons Dead, 35 Missing and $18,000,000 Worth of Property Destroyed in Disasters

Two persons are dead, 35 are missing and $18,000,000 worth of property has been destroyed in four disasters involving oil ships and property in two widely separated parts of the country.

30 members of the crew of the Dutch steamer Silvanus are missing as a result of the collision with the Standard Oil Tanker in the Mississippi River below New Orleans. Five persons were believed to have been killed and more than two score were injured when another Standard Oil Tanker exploded at a New Orleans dry dock.

The huge property loss was suffered in two oil reservoir fields at San Luis, Ohio and Brea, California. The fire in the former field was rated as the greatest petroleum conflagration in the history of the oil industry with a property loss of $15,000,000. Two persons were killed. The loss at Brea was estimated at $3,000,000. Both oil tank farms were owned by the Union Oil Company.

TOBACCO BOARD OF TRADE BUYS GREENVILLE'S COIN

Greenville's Stone Mountain Coin No. 19, Was Sold Last Night for $55.00

The Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade will always stand as patriotic Southerners who are interested in the great work at Stone Mountain, and will be recognized as outstanding leaders in our community.

Greenville's Coin, No. 19, was described by Mr. J. B. James and auctioneered by Mr. Guy Smith at last night's exposition.

In less than five minutes this coin brought $55.00 and was bought by the Tobacco Board of Trade. The names of these men will go down in Memorial Hall and they remain as silent sentinels of valor and patriotism until the end of Creation. Time will never produce the slightest decay in this great granite monster during all the ages while the laboring earth disengages its bare to sun and storm. A thousand centuries of erosion will touch it as lightly as the clouds touch the sky. It will always stand as it stands today, unchanging and imperishable.

There are still a few more Coins for Greenville to sell. These Coins are now $1.00 each but after April 15 they will advance to $2.00. These Coins will become increasingly valuable as time goes on.

Greenville has grasped the importance of joining her sister towns in going over the top.

In order to finish our quota an appeal is made to every citizen personally to assist the U. S. C. in any way possible.

Hearings Farm Relief Closes Next Monday

Washington April 9.—(AP)—The Senate Agriculture Committee today agreed to close hearing on farm relief legislation next Monday with the expectation of reporting a bill during the week. Senator Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina, today testified before the committee in favor of his co-operative marketing bill, which he said he hoped would prove a "vaccine" against the agricultural diseases that has been rampant since Adam.

He declared that the farmers should have direct credits and no intermediate credit and be marketers of their own products through co-operative marketing associations.

The Burial of Gerald Chapman

Two women, one of whom was his sister, a group of reporters and a pair of gravediggers were the only attendants at the burial of Gerald Chapman, the so-called arch-bandit, who met death by the noose in Hartford, Conn.

YESTERDAY ANOTHER FEATURE DAY EASTERN CAROLINA EXPOSITION

Two Eloquent Addresses Delivered by Hon. R. C. Dunn and Dr. Thomas Dixon; Junior Queens Crowned; Senior Queens Presented; Derby Winners Appeared

Mrs. Marian Wilson, this city, and Margaret Anita Mitchell, of Aulander, were crowned Junior Queens of Eastern Carolina at the Exposition last evening. Miss Elizabeth Skinner, this city, and Elizabeth Dail, of Hookerton, winners of second places and Misses Janice McGowan and Harriett Carr Fleming, of Kingston, winners of third places, were also presented and awarded prizes. The crowning of the Junior Queens was a feature of the Evening's program and was very beautiful and impressive. The little girls, beautifully dressed and carrying lovely flowers, presented a beautiful picture which will long be remembered.

Following the Coronation ceremony, the Senior Queens were presented. They were received with great enthusiasm and applause.

Hon. Thomas Dixon, North Carolina's best known author, delivered an inspiring address on "The Rising South." Mr. Dixon reviewed the incidents leading up to the Civil War, spoke of the feelings which existed between the North and South, before the war, and during the war. He appealed to his large audience to devote more time to play and recreation. He related briefly advantages to be derived from visiting the mountains and the seashore.

"The rapid rise of the South and the wonderful progress which it has made in fifty years is remarkable," declared the speaker. "What was expected to require over one hundred years has been accomplished in fifty." He told of the terrible condition in which the South was left as a result of the war, and paid a tribute to the citizenship of the new South.

The citizenship of the "old South" was given a large amount of praise. "Dr. Dixon developed his thoughts at this point, from the second main theme of his address. 'The Pursuit of Happiness.' The old South was happy. Its citizens loved, rested, took life easy and lived longer. The new South has risen from the terrible condition in which it was left by the war. The thing now, is for the people to pursue more happiness."

"What is done in seven days can be accomplished in five," said Mr. Dixon. He appealed to his audience to close their places of business on Friday afternoons and rest during the week-end. That the people of this nation are living in too great a rush, was clearly emphasized in the address.

The Derby Winners, followed by the dance brought the evening's program to a close.

The Annual Dinner of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce at which Hon. R. C. Dunn, of Enfield, was principal speaker, was given in the auditorium of the Teachers' College yesterday and was attended by over 600 guests. The large birthday cake with its four candles attracted wide attention. President John W. Holmes of the Chamber of Commerce presided and acted as toast master. The guests were welcomed by Mr. Walter Shepherd, of Farmville, and the invocation was said by Rev. L. B. Jones, Pastor of the Jarvis

Methodist Church. Thirty towns and delegates present. The Queens were presented, followed by the presentation of the birthday cake to the Chamber of Commerce. Little Miss Mioletta Bartlett, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. N. G. Bartlett, presented the Memorial Memento Church. Three towns and delegates present.

"Til Run," Says Sunday. Business? Ask Kresge. Mussolini Hard to Kill. The Pure White Rabbits. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Another attempt to kill Mussolini fails. This time a woman, a British religious worker, and middle-aged, fired point-blank at Italy's ruler, sending a bullet through his chest. An Italian witness would have been dead, and a woman would have been changed. A small thing can produce big effects.

A man of courage and extraordinary self-control, the moment he was shot Mussolini protected the woman that shot him from the violence of the mob.

Last evening, with his face bandaged, he made a speech, telling the people not to get excited. Wounds are not new to him; his record in the war was fine, but his extreme judicialism, offensive to officers, deprived him of promotion. Now he holds all the officers of his nation, from the king down, in the hollow of his hand.

In 1917, fighting on the Austrian front, Mussolini's body was riddled by the explosion of a hand grenade. Doctors combed and attended ninety-eight wounds on his body. Such a man is not easily frightened.

The wound in the nose may prove disfiguring and hurt Mussolini's pride, but it won't hurt his standing with Italians.

The extraordinary thing is that Mussolini has lived so long, recklessly outspoken, defying all enemies and opponents at home and abroad.

This is the second recent attempt on his life. The next will be number three.

Business news is good. Wall Street has stopped seeing things on the back stairs. Chicago reports "brisk retail trade."

Financial statistics show that if you take care of a business in America, that business will take care of you.

Mr. Kresge, for instance, did a "gross" of $26,396,547 in 1916. Last year his business had jumped to $105,963,610. Profits in nine years rose from $2,172,348 to $13,529,293.

If the Government of the United States will attend to ITS business as American business men attend to THEIR business everything will be pleasant.

Billy Sunday will run for President himself on a four-word platform, "To Hell With Booze," if Democrats and Republicans nominate "wets."

Mr. Sunday, who never fought satan more ferociously than now, would make a good run. But he must realize that Calvin Coolidge will be the Republican candidate, and to call him "wet" is like calling the Pacific Ocean dry.

IOWA SENATORIAL CONTEST LIKELY KEEP SENATE BUSY

Threatens Keep Senate Engaged the Remainder of This Week and Well Into Next

Washington, Apr. 9.—(AP)—The vigorous fight of the Iowa Senatorial contest threatened today to keep the remainder of this week hot well into next week.

With the debate in its fifth day and indications of a close decision multiplying the hopes of Senate leaders for a vote before the end of the week have considerably lessened, although they have not abandoned their intention to make an effort to shut off discussion.

Polls of the Senate by various members have given no clear indication of the outcome. In one a majority of five was credited to Senator Brookhart, the Insurgent Republican, whose right to the seat he now holds is in issue. In another a majority of two was indicated for Daniel F. Steak, his Democratic opponent, in the last election.

Brookhart supporters meanwhile have openly expressed concern of rumors that White House influence was being exerted against him, but Senator Butler, of Massachusetts, chairman of the Republican National Committee, and Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the Republican Floor leader, have denied that President Coolidge has expressed any wish as to the outcome of the contest.

TORNADO VISITS WASHINGTON

Electric and Power Service Completely Demolished; Industries at Standstill

The electric and power service of Washington, D. C., was completely demoralized yesterday afternoon at five o'clock, the result of a tornado which visited that city. The industries were at a standstill today.

The electricians and city officials are working hard all day today to restore order by aish.

Pitt County Is Visited By A Slight Tornado

The section of Pitt county east of Greenville was visited by a slight tornado yesterday afternoon. A tobacco barn, belonging to Mr. Stodie Mills, and a packhouse, the property of Mr. Harvey Mills, were damaged. Other minor damages were reported.

An automobile parked on the side of the road, while its owner sought refuge in a nearby house, was picked up by the strong wind and turned completely over.

The main thing.

Britain's Independent Labor Party says the League of Nations is more apt to cause war than to prevent it. That is for Europe to decide. All we ask is to stay out of it.

SEEKS HEARING MAGAZINE BEING HELD FROM MAIL

April American Mercury Barred After It Had Been Mailed; Editor Seeks Hearing

New York, Apr. 9.—(AP)—With the April issue of the American Mercury officially barred from the mails after it had been mailed, Henry L. Menken, the editor, is seeking a hearing on the matter.

Menken successfully denied a charge of impropriety made in Boston against an article entitled "Hatrack," appearing in the issue. Postal authorities at Washington took action yesterday after the Farmington Missouri Chamber of Commerce adopted a resolution asking Postmaster New to bar the magazine. The town of Farmington is the setting for the article of which Herbert Ashbury New York newspaperman, is the author. He was born and reared in Farmington and his article deals with small town morals.

I. Berto, the "Watch and Ward Society" attempted to prohibit the sale of the magazine, but Menken went to Boston personally and sold copies and had himself arrested. A judge upheld his contention that the regular readers of the magazine would not find the article offensive.

Menken said that the magazine had been submitted to the postal authorities prior to the mailing and that no complaint had been received.

Five Cunard Liners Will Sail From London

London, Apr. 9.—(INS)—Five Cunard liners, totally nearly 100,000 tons, are expected to abandon Liverpool and make London their home port. The change will take place about the middle of April.

The ships affected by this drastic decision, are the Albatross, Lusitania, Tuscania, Caronia and Germania. Freight only will be taken at London when the vessel sets out, bound to the United States. On the incoming voyage passengers, unless they prefer to be landed at Plymouth, with its long rail journey to London, will be disembarked at Tilbury Dock, London. It is expected that this change will prove more attractive to many American passengers. Among other matters, it is believed that many American travelers will land in England instead of proceeding straight to France.

On the outgoing voyages passengers will be embarked at Southampton and Havre.

This decision of the Cunard Company is likely to cause a pronounced sensation in the British shipping world. The loss of the vast tonnage will be a heavy blow to Liverpool. But it emphasizes the growing importance of London as a world port.

From the internal British point of view, it shows that "trade is moving south." The chief industries in the north of England, the engineering, are not in a prosperous condition, but industries within easy reach of London are now flourishing. Apart from this the early opening up of the rich Kent coal fields is a great inducement.

FORD'S OFFER TO TEACH BOLSHIEVKS ON TRACTORS BRINGS FIGHT FOR JOBS

Moscow, Apr. 9.—(INS)—Henry Ford's offer to allow a group of Soviet engineers to study in his tractor factory at Detroit, and his declaration that he would pay the students from $5 to $6 a day, has aroused excited competition for the privilege.

Since the pay proposed is higher than the engineers may expect to receive after returning to their country, the authorities are taking care to choose only persons who may be called upon not to attempt to stay in America.

CHICKENS COME HOME TO ROOST

For many years the development of irrigation projects was in the hands of private individuals, and generally proved a success. Farmers owning water rights under such projects are prosperous, and not tax-ridden because of excessive costs of construction. Compare this with the report of the Interior Department on reclamation projects. The Government has been compelled to write off $14,317,150 as deficit on 19 irrigation schemes.

Probably one reason for the failure of many government projects is that they are often developed into a general utility proposition, including an electric power plant and distributing system. Congress has decided that most of the projects are a losing proposition.

Somebody must eventually pay the bills for "political reclamation" and to show how the chickens come home to roost, the Oregon Supreme Court has ordered the directors of the Ochee irrigation project to levy $85,000 additional taxes to cover the project's operating costs and delinquent taxes.

Many reclamation projects have been administered in a manner similar to the years after the war this Muscle Shoals fiasco. Eight continues to be made a government enterprise, still official football. A private enterprise responsible for earnings on the funds of investors could not pursue such dilatory tactics, and yet the funds of the taxpayers, who are really the investors in government, are squandered for years by delay, in a project of this kind.

The Boulder dam on the Colorado River, is now being agitated as a means of providing flood control. With flood control as an excuse, a rider is added to the proposition for the government to also develop hydroelectric power. Whenever a start is made to spend the taxpayer's money on an industrial undertaking, through government ownership and control, numerous ways are immediately found to enlarge the activity and spend double, treble, or quadruple the amount which the taxpayer was originally led to believe would be needed. The reclamation projects have proved this, Muscle Shoals has proved it, government control of the railroads for 20 months proved it, the Shipping Board has proved it; and every other

SHAKESPEARE'S BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED THIS YEAR IN SPIT OF BIG FIRE

London, Apr. 9.—(INS)—Arrangements have been completed for the Stratford-on-Avon Shakespeare Birthday Festival to be held as usual this year, in spite of the destruction by fire of the Memorial Theatre in which the festival is usually held.

The Shakespearian plays connected with the festival will be given in the local cinema theatre, which, in point of fact, is actually more commodious than the old theatre, giving greater seating space and having dressing room facilities for more than 100 players.

The properties and costumes which were destroyed when the Memorial Theatre was burned down have been replaced by generous donors.

Carolina Man Had To Give Up Regular Work

"BUT I HAVEN'T LOST A DAY ON ACCOUNT OF SICKNESS SINCE KARNAK PUT ME TO FEELING FINE AS A FIDDLE ABOUT A YEAR AGO," SAYS M'ABEE

"Never in my life have I seen anything to equal this Karnak, why, it fixed me up about a year ago and I've been feeling as fine as a fiddle ever since," says J. H. McAbee, of Whitney, S. C., just three miles out of Spartanburg. "Yes sir, this medicine just drove my troubles out almost before I know it," adds Mr. McAbee. "I tell you, I was in bad shape, too. Gas would just blow me up terribly after a meal, and would crowd my heart and make me feel like I would smother. "I had a continual dull aching in my back, and I was so nervous that nights I'd roll and toss and could hardly sleep a wink. Just to show you how bad off I really was, I got to the place where I had to give up my regular work and never worked more than two days a week. I had to take strong laxatives for constipation, and spent so much money without getting any relief I was at a loss what to do.

"Believe me, I am sure thankful for the day I got Karnak. I want you to know three bottles of this medicine put me in the pink of condition. Why, it just fixed me up so fine I could eat anything I wanted, even onions, and not have it trouble me one bit afterward. No more bloating, gas or pains of any kind. I gained weight and strength, and although it's been a year since Karnak fixed me up, I haven't had to lose a day from work on account of sickness. I don't believe there ever was or ever will be a medicine to equal Karnak."

Karnak is sold in Greenville by B. S. Warren; and by every other reliable druggist in Greenville and in every other town.

LAMPS OF OLDEN DAYS TO BE REPLACED IN VIEUX CARRE

New Orleans, April 8.—(AP)—The Vieux Carre Association has completed arrangements to bring lamps of other days into the lighting effects of the French Quarter of New Orleans.

The lanterns will be models of those used a century ago except that the illumination will be furnished by electricity.

Plans for the reconstruction of the old French opera house and the St. Louis hotel, destroyed by fire, also are being considered.

The association is charged with safe guarding the atmosphere of the French quarter and to protect it from possible inroads of modernism.

Just a few more days will allow to sell our quota. When the campaign will be closed, Greenville will have written on its pages their book of glory to North Carolina the story of its wide and state wide achievement of its reverence for the lost cause and its appreciation of the Confederate soldier, whether living or dead.

It can't be escaped. With our quota of 1155, if we only sell half that number, then we are entitled to 50 per cent for the old soldier and this monument to his memory. If, on the other hand, it is oversold, it shows our city and state pride, our loyalty for those who wore the grey.

COLLEGE NEWS

East Carolina Teachers College took over the stage Wednesday afternoon at the Eastern Carolina Exposition and furnished the matinee performance.

It is a little out of line for this institution to appear on the stage in competition with such entertainers as Will Rogers, Ann Case and Thomas Dixon, but they performed in their usual good style and did credit to both the college and the Exposition.

The program was under the direction of Misses Bertollet, Kuykendall, Coates, and Alexander. It consisted of music by the college glee club and quartette, folk dancing and physical education drills, and a junior band from the Model School. The following is the program:

NOW TAKES FIVE MINUTES FOR MARRYING IN MOSCOW

Moscow, Apr. 9.—(INS)—"Zaks," the Soviet marriage registration office, announced that it now takes five minutes to be married. It formerly required sixteen minutes. The saving of time has been accomplished by simplifying the registration blanks.

The five minutes includes every formality usually comprised in the American process of obtaining a license, having the ceremony performed by a clergyman or justice of the peace, and having the license registered.

All that is required under the Soviet system is for the couple to go to "Zaks," sign their names to a printed form, hand it to the clerk and leave. It is simpler and takes less time than filling out a telegraph blank.

Uncle Sam Will Modernize Six Big War Ships

Philadelphia, Apr. 9.—(INS)—Six of Uncle Sam's most formidable battleships will be "modernized"—they will be made secure against bombs and torpedoes, according to word received at the navy yard here.

The battleships to be modernized are the New York, Texas, Utah, Wyoming, Florida and Arkansas.

Through modern naval science together with exhaustive studies of the effect of torpedoes, mines and aerial bombs upon the first line battleships, men have been devised to afford maximum protection to these first line fighting vessels, it was said.

Naval officials regard this work as the most important in years and it will be done at a cost of $18,000,000 remaining from an appropriation last year. Each battleship to be modernized will cost $3,000,000. The work will be done in the navy yards of this city, Boston and Norfolk, it was reported.

Despite the arguments recently purporting to show that the dreadnaughts are at the mercy of the aircraft and submarine, and that they can not be battleships out of commission, it was said that experiments carried on for many years by the Navy Department, have shown—

- 1—by adding an external hull or shell, termed a "blister";
- 2—by strengthening the protection of deck armor protection of the machinery, boiler, magazines and other vital parts, and
- 3—By adding a third bottom to the ship built inside the hull, the battleships can be made almost unsinkable.

The battle of Jutland, the major naval engagement of the World War, afforded the greatest lesson in naval construction. Battleships, as a result, are rated as pre-Jutland or post-Jutland. According to Naval officials the Jutland engagement proved that the aircraft or under-water craft were, not the most formidable adversary of the modern battleships although several ships were sunk by submarines. It proved, it was said, that another craft of its own type with superior gun power and speed was what the dreadnaughts had to fear.

Mysterious Art Censors Worry; Nudes Sent Away

Boston, Apr. 9.—(INS)—Who are the mysterious art censors of this city?

Everybody knows John Casey, official censor of Boston, and most people know J. Frank Chase unofficial censor, but there is one body of censors whose members are shrouded in anonymity.

They are the men—or women, perhaps—who raised their hand in honor when an art exhibit from Italy was hung on the virgin walls of the Boston Museum of Fine Arts. A squad of unartistic attendants were sent scurrying across the tiled floors of the museum, armed with ladders, to take down the pictures, which included several nudes, erase them and send them out of the city by the first train.

The pictures were exhibited in New York and Washington without causing a sound of disapproval.

But who placed the ban on the picture, here? Nobody seems to know. The trustees of the museum all well-known Boston people, did not do it. Nobody knows apparently, who are the members of the board which sits in judgment on things artist, save Charles Henry Hawes, a assistant director of the museum, and he won't tell.

"I don't believe they want their names known, they do not care for publicity," he said.

A Charming Spot Where Rugged Bluffs Overhang The Enchanting Waters Of Placid Bogue Sound!

All Eyes Looking Toward the Construction of Morehead Bluffs Hotel

This modern hotel is now in course of construction. The contractors guarantee its erection complete by July 4 of this year. The hotel is to be four stories in height. It will be a permanent building along the lines of the Spanish type, built of steel, hollow tile and stucco, containing one hundred rooms with one hundred baths. It is situated on a beautiful rolling bluff overhanging the peaceful waters of Bogue Sound. What could be more delightful than this bit of hills reaching down and kissing the shores of these enchanting waters of the dear old Southland?

Morehead Bluffs is strategically located. It is just near enough to the tropics to make it healthy and just far enough away from the frozen Northlands to make it comfortable, as an all-year-round resort. With its natural advantages combined with the work of great engineers and modern methods, nothing can keep it from becoming one of America's great playgrounds.

Morehead Bluffs is a busy place today. There are hundreds of workmen laying street paving and sidewalks, while plumbers and electricians are placing water and electric light systems over the entire development. The sound of carpenter's hammers and the buzz of saws all tell too clearly that it is going to be the Magic City of the Old North State in a few more months. Out in the harbor the slush of the great dredge keeps up its steady pace of digging down to the bottom of the waters to clear out a deeper course for ships and yachts to pass.

It is all interesting to see this wonderful development in progress. Every Sunday, and during the week days, too, there are hundreds of visitors coming from near and far to note the great strides from time to time. If you have a few hours some day that you can spare from your busy tasks you will be well repaid in visiting this wonderful spot. Motorists can reach it from any point in this state or from other states on a hard surfaced road. Come down and see for yourself that this is not a dream but a stern reality.

If you can't visit Morehead Bluffs write for detailed information.

CLASSICS FOR PRIMERS BEING ADVOCATED

New York, April 8. (AP)—"Alice," her journeys in "Wonderland" and "Through the Looking Glass," says to all the little Johns and Marys of America, today visits the nursery broadsides of Grotel in Germany and Riquette in France.

"Heldi," the little goat girl of the Tyrol, whispers the story of her flight into the mountains, to wide-eyed little dwellers in the Low Countries.

Tom, the sweep, plays "Water Baby" in Vienna, city of children's pools.

The Black Forest is penetrated by young French, in search of "Scheenwitschen" and the Seven Dwarfs, and the Forest of Arden is common ground to little Germans of the band of Robin Hood.

Soon the clink of "Hans Brinkers" skates on the ice of the Zuyder Zee may ring in the ears of the barefoot children of Southern Italy. Don Quixote may ride his ass past the incredulous youth of Stockholm.

"When these young people grow up, isn't it possible that through thus having known each other and each other's childhood friends, they may understand each other better than their elders, who were always quarreling?" asks Madame Helena Schen-Riez.

Madame Schen-Riez, Viennese writer, called "one of the greatest unofficial educators of our times," now is in this country, lecturing before schools, child study groups, civic forums—everywhere urging her overpowering enthusiasm: cheap editions of the classics of every language for the children of every nation.

Already her own company, the Sesame Verlag has printed over 250 world classics in German, a large number in French and English and a few in Italian.

"I suppose every one's life is turned by the special hunger of childhood," she said, in explaining her work.

"When I was a child I hungered after books. I never had enough to read. That is why all my life I have been possessed with the idea that I ought to help those who have no books."

Seeing in England the Penny-Booklets, then edited by W. D. Stead, Madame Schen-Riez for years fought to convince Austrian publishers to print cheap books for children. When she finally found one, during the war, she was an officer, fighting—and yet she persuaded him to publish yearly alien enemy classis "Alice in Wonderland" was in it in many German schools during the entire war.

Since the war Madame Schen-Riez has labored at the reform of school-readers. She has succeeded in getting many of these suppressed and international classis substituted.

"If all the civilized nations could make a pact that they would burn their silly narrow-minded school readers," she said, "and replace them by a series of classic and modern authors, chosen out of the treasures of the world's bookshelves, then the channels that have been used to spread 'poison gas' could be used to infuse a new sort of chemical, feeding the minds of the children with love of beauty, understanding and good will."

"Hard to Find" New Mount London, April 8. (AP)—"Hard to Find" is the name of the Prince of Wales, who seldom laughs in public, has given one of his new horses.

The pedigree of the animal is unknown.

China's Premier Is Urging New Site for Capital

Peking, Apr. 8. (GNS)—Removal of the capital of China from Peking to a point nearer the center of the nation is urged by Tang Shao-yi, first premier under the Republic, as a means of cutting adrift the political corruption which hampers the government.

Citing the example of Japan in shifting its capital to Tokyo, Russia moving to Moscow and more recently the step of Turkey in making Angora the (bat of government, Tan Shao-yi characterizes Peking as a melting pot which would destroy any good element and, therefore, it should be deserted.

This suggestion is not received with accord by leading Chinese writers in Peking, who point out the removal of the capital would destroy the centuries of historical background as well as upset the geographical balance of the country with the possible loss of the territories to the north, such as Mongolia, the Three Eastern Provinces, Jehol, Chahar, Euiyuan, Kansu and Shensi.

The peculiar situation of foreign legations located within a walled and armed section of Peking presents a further argument against the removal which the writers do not believe could be overcome.

Likewise they plead the passing of the palaces and spots of historical grandeur for which Peking is noted, were the central government to leave the city.

What is the most potent refutation of Tan Shao-yi's suggestion is the point that the mere shifting of scene would have little or no good effect on corrupt politicians who would naturally follow the government to its new seat.

Chien Tans River in Chokiang province is the spot suggested by the former premier for the new capital which he believes could be built within fifteen years.

ORIENTAL YOUTHS DRIVE ITALIANS FROM CITY HALL

San Francisco, April 8. (AP)—The wandering boothblack with his small box and brushes remains an institution in Chinatown immune to the waves of modernism transforming the Oriental district.

Every morning these embryo business men sally forth to ply their trade and for years the Chinese boys have regarded the City Hall of Justice which borders Chinatown, as a favored zone. Even the august presence of Chief of Police Dan O'Brien is invaded daily.

A pitched battle between boothblacks of Chinatown and the Italian quarter at North Beach resulted recently when the Italian lads decided to enter the lucrative Hall of Justice field. The invasion was repelled but in retaliation the Italian boys declared a ban against the Orientals in a district to the north. Since that time peace has prevailed in both camps.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

By CHARLES A. SMITH, INS Staff Correspondent. London, April 9.—In an endeavor to straighten out the present nuisance arising from the clashing of wave-lengths among the different European radio stations, an International Radio Conference is to be held at Geneva shortly, when the whole situation will come under review.

which will be the second held since the Radio Bureau's formation. At the first conference it was decided to alter the wave-lengths of several stations thought to be clashing with those of similar strength, and orders were sent out to stations in Spain, Germany, and France to broadcast on reduced or higher wave-lengths.

While several stations complied with this order, others did not. The Bureau at Geneva relies on the good-will of broadcasters, and if any station takes it into its head to defy the Bureau's recommendations, no steps can be taken against it to enforce them.

The result was the trouble was only ameliorated to a slight extent, and it was found that a second conference was imperative. Steps will probably be taken at the forthcoming conference to devise some means by which the Bureau's recommendations can be enforced. It is suggested that the whole of the trouble is due to the inability of many stations to "stay put" on their published wave-lengths.

For instance, if a station is advertised to broadcast on 470 metres, it is generally found to be operating between 467 and 473 metres. A general overhaul of the transmitter apparatus is suggested as a possible means of checking this.

English facts and figures have declared war on the radio "stealer" as the owner of a one-valve set working on the transatlantic principle is advised here.

It has been discovered by radio engineers that this type of radio fan is mainly responsible for nine-tenths of the "howling" nuisance, and the authorities are to tie up two closed auto-trucks with aerials and receiving apparatus to patrol London and check up on him.

Little-known English composers are to be given a chance to acquire fame, and incidentally $5,000 in prizes, by means of a competition organized by the British Broadcasting Company to discover new musical works.

The competition will run through this summer and fall, and will include both symphonic and choral works. The winning works will be given at a mammoth musical concert at the Royal Opera House, which will be broadcast.

The broadcasting of a talk by a diver from the bottom of the River Thames, of a musical concert from an aeroplane, and the launching of a battleship are among the latest novelties to be served up to British listeners.

To serve as a memorial to men who fell in the World War, the British War Office, through the British War Relief Association of America, has presented a large tank to Cornell University.

The tank, which weighs thirty tons, and is fitted with two six-pounder guns, has been named "The America." It has just been shipped aboard the cargo steamer Vardulla.

New U. S. Runner To Match Nurmi Being Groomed

By HARRY BLOOMBARGH, INS Staff Correspondent. Philadelphia, April 9.—United States "hopes seem about to be realized to have a two-mile runner capable of giving the great Paavo Nurmi a race in the next Olympic games in 1928.

According to reports coming out of the West of the prowess of Victor Chapman, of the University of Wisconsin, he may be a strong Olympic contender for the running crown now held by Nurmi.

Chapman, when a freshman, gave promise of developing into a brilliant distance runner. However, he surprised his schoolmates in becoming the champion two-miler of the Western Conference in the Big Ten indoor championship in his first year varsity competition. He decisively defeated the best in the conference with consummate ease.

Chapman, who is entered in the University of Pennsylvania relay carnival here this month at Evansville, Ill., on a high back 21 ten-mile track made his two miles in 9 minutes 26.12 seconds. This was 3.5 of a second better than the time made by Phelps, of Iowa, last year when he won the event in the relays after a nerve-racking quarter mile dash with Shimek, of Marquette.

The Wisconsin two-miler it is reported is better outdoors than inside, which gives rise to hopes, among Penn. athletes that he will have little difficulty in breaking the relay carnival record of 9 minutes 25.35 seconds which has stood since 1921 when Ray Baker of Bates was the winner.

Both the intercollegiate record of 9:22.5 seconds, made by Van Dresser of Cornell, in 1902, and the American record of 9:17.45 seconds made by Tel Luhrs, of Cornell in 1912 stand in jeopardy, in the opinion of several prominent athletes, if the youthful Wisconsin champion shows as much improvement during the next three outdoor campaigns as she displayed as a freshman outdoors and as a sophomore indoors during the past season.

Chapman at the Penn Relay carnival will meet Phelps of Iowa who won the event last year; Shimek, of Marquette, who finished second, and Schmid, captain of the Columbia team, who was third. Twenty other two-milers whose records are between 9:27 and 8:35 will also form competition for Chapman.

although the probate of the property puts it at only $52,000. The Mobile woman says there is little doubt that her grandmother's signature is genuine, but declares that the figures show that she was in no condition to write when she will wa, made. "She was indeed even too weak to think," Mrs. Jordan asserted.
