GREENSBORO IS VISITED BY FIRE THIS MORNING

Firemen Extinguish Blaze in Dixie Fire Insurance Building After Five Hours Fight

Greensboro, April 19.—(AP)—Flames originating in the basement almost completely gutted the first five stories of the Dixie Fire Insurance building this morning destroying more than a score of offices and causing a property damage estimated at more than $150,000. The loss is covered by insurance.

All but the sixth floor and a recent addition to the building were gutted, these being protected by concrete fire walls. The fire is thought to have originated in a leaking gas main in the Central Cafe which was quartered in the basement.

No estimate of the loss was available early today but it is confined chiefly to the interior as the walls and major portions of the structure appeared intact and also the roof.

D. A. R. PRESIDENT URGES SUPPORT OF PROHIBITION

Declares America is At Cross Roads as to Enforcement and Urges Strict Observance

Washington, Apr. 19.—(AP)—A plea for prohibition was made by Mrs. Anthony W. Cook, retiring president general, at the opening session here today of the 35th congress of the delegates of the American Revolution. Mrs. Cook has announced that she will not seek re-election and a vigorous contest for her office is already under way.

In addition to her appeal for prohibition, Mrs. Cook in her annual message urged daily reading of the Bible without sectarian comment in the public schools lest proponents of radical doctrines succeed in their attempt to make out school and text books of history read by the school children propaganda in support of their pestiferous theories. She also urged support of preparedness for national defense.

"In America," she said, "we are not at the cross roads as to law enforcement. There can be no negative conduct in relation to this great issue, for our conduct is positive. We are either for or we are against law observance or law enforcement. Let it be understood that we can not pick and choose from among the laws, those we will obey and those we will nullify in personal conduct."

Physicians, they work hard, and too often their lives are complicated by jealousy. Some times their wives are jealous, for the doctors are obliged to read the wails of mournful lady patients. Some times even their nurses are jealous. Doctor William B. Borrer, of West Virginia for instance was stabbed to death. The authorities say his nurse did it, because she was jealous of him.

It isn't always as bad as that, but often nearly as bad. Jealousy is the curse of the world, and a waste of energy.

Ladies, why be jealous? If he's innocent he does not deserve it. If guilty, he's not worthy your trouble.

Today the first post office air plane will start across the continent from Los Angeles. Postmaster General Mr. New has accomplished great results in aviation promotion. Separate flying lines now connect the Pacific Ocean with the Atlantic Ocean from Seattle, San Francisco, Los Angeles.

Less than one hundred years ago men on ponies were carrying the mails.

It is proposed to remove General Andrews, head of the United States Prohibition Enforcement. He is accused of saying that prohibition is not working well, and that light beer would be better than bootleg whiskey.

General Andrews could learn something from the old fashioned school teacher, asked by trustees whether he taught that evil was good or bad. He knew his trustees and answered, "I teach both round and flat."

Republicans interested in their party's welfare will consider the character and size of the vote cast by Illinois against the World Court idea.

Senator McKinley and the World Court were snowed under by the greatest number of votes ever recorded at any primary in the history of Illinois. And the result was not due to "the votes of Chicago," although Chicago went 50,000 against the Court. A majority of more than 100,000 against it came from the rural districts among the farmers.

This should be sufficient warning, without further defeats, for administration candidates that the people of the United States want to run their own affairs, without the help of Europe.

Congress Kinchloe of Kentucky says the administration is "giving the farmers the 'one treatment,'" meaning that the administration is not doing anything real.

The administration has at least shown a desire to be of use to farmers, and that is more than you can say of some other administrations.

President Coolidge will be interested in the British plan to supply irrigation for tens of thousands of cotton acres in northern Africa. Cotton of the best quality, produced in a country where men earn thirty five cents a day, and children five or ten cents, will make substantial tariff protection for American cotton absolutely necessary.

DRYS HAVE THEIR INNING IN FIGHT OVER PROHIBITION

Bishop Cannon Says Country Wants More Effective Government Enforcement Volstead Law

Washington, Apr. 19.—(AP)—The drys opened their first full week of hearing before the Senate Prohibition Committee today by putting on the stand Bishop James Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, who is chairman of the Legislative Committee of the Anti-Saloon League.

Tabulating the result of a questionnaire he sent to every minister and lay leader of the church, Bishop Cannon said there are very few of the 6,000 replies that did not insist upon more effective Government control.

"The suggestions made to secure more effective enforcement of the law are usually varied," he said. "But there are very few of the entire number who did not insist upon certain things."

"First, that to secure effective enforcement the work must be committed to those who believe that the prohibition law is a good law, that it can and should be enforced effectively, a other laws of a similar character such as the Narcotic drug act.

"Second, it is so insisted that adequate salaries should be paid men as are qualified to enforce so important and difficult a law.

"Third, that whatever number of men are necessary to properly enforce the law in any section of the country should be provided for that section."

"Fourth, that the Government should appropriate whatever amount of money may be necessary to enforce the law.

"Fifth, that more stringent penalties should be inflicted upon violators of the law."

HAWAIIAN VILLAGE IS BURIED BENEATH A STREAM OF LAVA

Shot Mussolini

This is the first picture to reach the United States of Violet Gibson, daughter of the late Lord Ashbourne, who shot Premier Benito Mussolini through the nose in an attempt to assassinate him. It was taken just after her arrest.

Hilo, The Hawaiian Island, Apr. 19.—(9P)—Leaving a village buried in its wake, a stream of lava continued to shoot forward from the volcano Mauno Loa yesterday, beating a fifty foot path from the 8,000 foot level of the crater down to the sea.

LAUGHINGHOUSE PRAISES WORK OF THE Y. M. C. A.

Addresses Gathering of Williamston Citizens Friday Night On "Y" Work

Appreciation of what the Y. M. C. A. had meant to him personally, and thousands of others under his care, Dr. Chas. O'H. Laughinghouse gave as his main reason for accepting invitation to speak to a group of Williamston citizens, called together Friday evening in the interest of their boys and young men.

Dr. Laughinghouse said it was a fact with him, the Y. M. C. A. served the best interests of humanity, regardless of race, color, or creed. He spoke of the Y's war program of service and now the peace program among the boys and young men, in the smaller cities, towns and country, as well as the big cities.

Youth, our present youth, and a better youth than ever before, is North Carolina's greatest resource, said Dr. Laughinghouse. And this youth is going to continue to respond favorably to the best parental send-off, teachers, and environment offered to them. It is inherent with you to accept the challenges which require the strength of body, mind and soul, endurance, and a critical service. Practical Christianity is the desire and demand of youth. Continued the speaker of the evening.

"My sincere opinion, and conviction, further stated the speaker, is the challenge slogan of the High School Y. M. C. A.—clean speech, clean words, clean habits, clean scholarship and contagious Christian character is fundamental, and should be offered to the many thousands of youth in Eastern North Carolina. They will accept the challenge, I believe, if only given the opportunity. It is our privilege, as well as responsibility, to give them this opportunity.

Volcano Mauno Loa Sends Forth Destruction As Molten Mass Flows in Fiery Path to the Sea

Engulfed under 50 feet of lava, the community of Hoopulua wa, covered by the molten mass. Fifteen buildings were destroyed. Fifteen buildings were destroyed yesterday morning. When the racing mass took a path to the sea, sending forth clouds of steam as it struck the water, the lava continued to pour into the sea the ocean started boiling until it was bubbling several hundred feet out from land. The rampaging volcano turned a deaf ear to the prayers of the Hawaiians, who employed Pele, a Hawaiian Goddess, associated with the volcano, not to destroy their homes.

From the sea, the air, and the land, thousands viewed the colorful display. Army airplanes arrived several hours after the village was wiped out, but the view from the air was obscured by the dense steam and smoke. The heat at an elevation of 3,000 feet, was described as intense, but the airmen succeeded in obtaining pictures.

Hugs clouds of steam hung over the ocean rising to a height of several hundred feet. As the lava struck the water tremendous rockets of steam would shoot into the air showering the entire region about the bay. Last night this great highway of fire, pouring far into the air, coursed its way along the Southern coast of the island into the sea churning the blue water of the Pacific into steam and gradually creating a new peninsula.

AMERICAN FOREST
WEEK

President Coolidge has designated this week as the 1926 American Forest Week
in a ringing proclamation,
in which he has called upon the Governors of the various states, public officials,
public and business organizations, industrial leaders, editors, clergymen, and all patriotic citizens to unite in the common task of forest conservation and renewal.

The following paragraphs from this proclamation are worthy of special study and thoughtful consideration:

"The wise use of land is one of the main foundations of sound national economy. It is the cornerstone of national thrift. The waste or misuse of natural resources cuts away the groundwork on which national prosperity is built. If we are to flourish, as a people and as individuals, we must neither wastefully
hoard nor wastefully exploit but skillfully employ and renew the resources that nature has entrusted to us.
America's forest problem essentially is a problem involving the wise use of land and should produce crops
of timber.

Flourishing woodlands,
however, mean more than their timber crops, permanent industries, and an adequate supply of wood. They minister to our needs for outdoor recreation; they preserve animal and bird life; they protect and beautify our hillsides and feed
our streams; they preserve
the inspiring natural environment which has contributed so much to American character.

Although our national progress in forestry has been well begun, much remains to be done through both concerted and individual effort. We must stop the forest fires which still annually sweep many wooded areas, destroying timber and the nation can ill afford to lose and killing young growth needed to constitute the forests of the future. Forest fires, caused largely by human indifference or carelessness, are the greatest single obstacle to reformation and effective forest management.

We must encourage and extend methods of timber cutting which perpetuate the forest while harvesting its products. We must plant trees in abundance on idle land where they can profitably be grown. We must examine taxation practices that that may form

economic barriers to timber burn their woods. I have culture. We must encourage the extension of forest ownership on the part of municipalities, counties,
States, and the Federal Government. And we must take common counsel in public meetings to the end
that the forestry problems
of each region may be well considered and adequately met."

It should not be necessary to add anything to this concise presentation of one of the most vital and pressing problems of this day and generation; but for the fact that it is going to take more than a week's time, and the tons upon hundreds of tons of printers' ink and paper,
and the Niagara of language turned loose by hundreds of orators during the week, to bring the general public to a realization that it has a duty to perform in bringing about conditions
that will protect our remaining and future forests from destruction by careless ignorant and indifferent people.

The following heart-reading message from a Florence county, South Carolina, farmer to Henry H. Tryon, Extension Forester, should go a long way in causing every right-thinking public-spirited individual to exert his or her influence to put a stop to the pernicious practice of burning the woods:
"I am in great grief. I wish something could be done. Thursday on coming home, I found that my neighbor on the west had put fire out, or allowed it to be put out, giving us no notice. Our whole timber land of young pines (some 70 acres) was burned. I could have cried
if it would have done any good.

"Since I have owned this farm, I have tried to educate my neighbors not to

Ford
Highest in Quality
Lowest in Price
The finest steels available are used in the manufacture of Ford cars.
The plate glass for windshields and windows is as perfect as can be made. Upholstery material contains a larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified—
even for much higher priced cars. The basic features of Ford design have never been improved
upon by any manufacturer.
No other car offers greater dependability. The Ford car has won the favor of millions of users,
under every conceivable motoring condition. Its convenience is known and appreciated the world over; its performance is taken for granted.
Such quality is possible at Ford
prices because every operation, from mining of ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company.
Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Glass comes from Ford glass plants; wood from the Ford timber tracts in the North.
Raw materials and finished products are carried over the Company's own transportation routes;
coke ovens, blast furnaces, a steel mill, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization. There are even salvage plants, paper mill, cement plant, etc., to transform waste materials into useful by-products.
In this way every possible economy is effected. Under no other circumstances could Ford quality
be had at Ford prices.

Old Clock Is Repaired by Funds Given by Golfers

London, Apr. 17.—(AP)—Claimed to be the oldest working timepiece in England, the famous old clock of Rye, parish church has been repaired by the generosity of golfers all over the world.

One of the finest golf courses in England is at Rye, and many Americans who have played there answered an appeal for funds to restore the old timepiece. It was created in 1515, the total cost of material and labor being two pounds, fifteen shillings and four pence. The pendulum which may be seen swinging within the church, is 20 feet long—cannon balls are used for weights.

Says "Big Six" and McGinnity Are Worth 7 Hurlers

New York, Apr. 17.—(AP)—Although John McGinnity claims this year to have assembled the greatest pitching staff in the last fifteen seasons, of organized baseball, he maintains that the late Christy Mathewson and Iron Man Joe McGinnity together were the equal of a modern corps of seven hurlers.

"Don't forget," says the Giants' pitcher, "that in the prime of Maty and McGinnity I had two pitchers, who could win close to seventy games in one season. It takes seven pitchers to do that nowadays. But according to present standards, we have a truly great staff."

"I would like to have another left-hander but the southpaw staff is mostly bunk, I never saw a great right-hander who was not better than a great left-hander."

RED TRADE UNIONS TO SEND DELEGATES TO CHINA—ONE AMERICAN WILL GO

Moscow, Apr. 16.—(INS)—One American is to accompany the "international delegation" which the Red International of Trade Unions, following its policy of utilizing every opportunity for obtaining influence in the Far East, is sending to attend the All-Chinese Conference of Trade Union at Tientsin in May.

rather than feared, Sir Oliver Lodge, the world-famous scientist, revealed himself as more than ever a convinced spiritualist during an address here.

"To the best of my scientific belief," he stated, "life goes on after death." He attempted to back up this and similar statements with scientific evidence.

"After death," he continued, "it is the awareness of things that is changed. There is no other world. One becomes aware of another state of things. We call it the next world, but it is the same universe. It is our awareness that has changed."

Appealing to his audience not to think of death as a gloomy thing, Sir Oliver exclaimed: "Greet the unseen with a cheer. There is no extinction. Life, I say, does not peter out. Don't be emotional over graves. There is nothing in a grave."

Mexican Petroleum Production Less

Chicago, Apr. 16.—(INS)—Production of petroleum in Mexico fell off about 23,000,000 barrels in 1925 as compared with 1924, according to the American Research Foundation which points out that the total of all Mexican fields dropped to less than 110,000,000 barrels.

"The situation in Mexico has changed much," says the bulletin, "from the days when the oil producers in the United States looked upon Mexico as a great peril. Mexico has always been a land of large operators. Few of the smaller operators have ever been able to survive in the field."

"It has taken large backing, much investment strength. Outside of a few Standard subsidiaries, the American names in the Mexican field have been such names as Doherty, Sinclair, Marland and Cosden. But the United States has definitely remained strong in Mexico."

"This is shown by the fact that the movement of Mexican export oil has been largely to the United States. Out of a trifle more than 100,000,000 barrels exported in 1925, a total of more than 71,000,000 barrels came in the United States or its possessions. All of the United Kingdom and the European Continent combined received less than 4,000,000 barrels."

"Most of the remainder went to the South and Central Americas and to Canada. So the position of the United States, though there are comparatively few companies from this nation operating in Mexico, remains relatively strong."

THOUSANDS OF TOURISTS VIEW GREATEST WISTERIA

Sierra Madre, Cal., Apr. 16.—(INS)—Hundreds of thousands of visitors from all parts of the West this spring came to Sierra Madre to view its famous wisteria vine, said to be the largest in the world. The vine, more than 350 feet in length, is now covered with buds and blossoms and has created unusual interest among lovers of flowers.

It was planted 33 years ago by Mr. A. C. Brugman, now residing in East Pasadena, the original plant being a small seedling of the Chinese variety, which is darker than Japanese wisteria.

MAGNIFICENT HOTEL, RISING OUT OF SANDS AT MOREHEAD BLUFFS, NORTH CAROLINA, WILL BE READY ON JULY 4TH

NORTH CAROLINA'S $410,000 SEASHORE HOTEL AS IT WILL LOOK ON OPENING DAY

The marvel of the present age like a miracle of the magic touch there arises from day to day this magnificent hotel. Monday morning, April 13th, not a spade of dirt had been turned, not a piece of lumber was there, not a bag of cement, not a cart of stone—nothing was there but a determined contractor facing a big job.

J. H. Benman, of the Benman Construction Company, of Raleigh, N. C., was there, strong of heart and vision. He had pledged his word, his bond, and intellect to build this new modern hotel, of one hundred rooms in exactly sixty-nine working days. The task was big and he meant to fulfill it.

Behind this pledge was his personal bond, backed with $147,000 forfeiture bond required as a guarantee to complete the building according to specifications. In addition to this bond he gave an additional bond of $50,000 forfeiture for its completion by midnight of July 2nd. Many men would have faltered that morning, but not he—in a few hours men and teams were at work excavating for the foundations.

The hotel, when completed, is estimated to cost about $410,000. The foundation is finished today and the giant structure is now gradually taking shape and climbing skyward. Hundreds of busy workmen are erecting the steel frame work, while others are busy pouring concrete and filling in the tile that goes into the building.

It is interesting to watch the men at work—every man to his place and all doing their bit to finish the task on schedule time.

The hotel will be one of the most handsome in the State. It will be a four-story structure, of the Spanish type of architecture, of cream stucco with red tile inserts on the exterior wall surfaces and red tiled roofs. It will contain 100 outside rooms and baths, 75 of them overlooking Bogue Sound. All modern conveniences will be installed. There will be a convention hall with a seating capacity of 750. A subterranean passage-way will connect the hotel with the beach and there will be on the surface a 45-foot-wide promenade from the hotel to the beach. The William Foor Hotel Operating Company, of Durham, will operate the tourist and commercial resort.

On every hand the visitor is greeted with work and development. It is truly a busy place today. Here one can see the long lines of grading, paving gradually going forward. Bredging, well-drilling, shrubbing, draining, wiring, plumbing and surveying. Everybody is busy.

On a distant hillside is the well drilling outfit, sinking an eight inch well from which will be drawn the clear, cool, fresh water for the hotel and the 10,000 folks that are expected to spend a part of their time at this resort.

Way down in the valley, yes, in the many valleys of this strange and many-hilled location, may be seen groups of men in hip-boots placing the mammoth drain pipes that will take off the waters, guaranteeing that no stagnated places will be left to make the place unhealthy or harbor the pestiferous insects that might be looking for place to breed and from thence to sting and worry those who might live nearby.

The grading is going steadily on all over the place and each few days a new avenue, a new view, is unfolded to those who are motoring by, and ere long the lot-holders may journey with comfort and ease to their very own, and either pitch a tent for temporary stay or lay plans and actually build their long desired home by the waters of the sound, where they may take deep breaths of the exhilarating air that comes floating from old ocean.

Here and there, in many places, may be seen the widowers of the faithful axe and outlast, opening up and clearing out the small growth that will make further possible the beautification of Morehead Bluffs.

The faithful dredgers are continuously at their task, making the yacht basin and the many watered angles that prong off in half-score of directions, yielding up many thousand cubic yards of mother earth that will go to make the coral craves through the sound-side home of teeming thousands.

The plumbers are there laying their plans for the accomplishment of their part in the great undertaking, for there must be a waterworks system for the whole magic city and a supply of running water for the hotel, as well as heat for the time of year when old Sol will cease to give enough comfort for the dwellers in this wonder place.

The pavers are there laying their forms for the endless ribbons of sidewalks of concrete and the driveways that will skirt the shores, streets and avenues of the hundreds of acres comprising this mammoth effort.

Long lines of copper that will convey the light-giving fluid for the thousands that will live there are being stretched, and ere this story is in print the mazdas will be beaming forth their effulgent rays to aid the builders of this property to hasten their job in time for the big celebration that is scheduled to take place on the nation's birthday.

The owners are rushing the completion of the program set for this year, which consists of the erection of the hotel, twenty-two miles of sidewalks and twelve miles of paving, a complete water and light system for a population of 10,000. The erection of large yacht harbor for the accommodation of the large yachts enroute up and down the coast.

Visitors to other great seashore resorts along the Atlantic are frank to say that they like Morehead Bluffs better because of its many natural advantages.

This garden spot is all that has been said of it. Located as it is on the shores of Bogue Sound, in sight of the waters of the great Atlantic, it offers every opportunity for rapid and substantial growth. It has a beautiful hard-surface road entering it, a railroad running through it, combined with its other many advantages it offers something exceptional and extraordinary.

There is no mystery about this great work now going on so rapidly. When Morehead Bluffs, Inc., of New Bern, N. C., began business a year ago, the owners even then anticipated the great possibilities, but they did not suspect that that growth would approach the phenomenal. At first it was a small beginning with only six employees—four of them being proprietors. The organization force today consists of forty-six employees besides the records of 1,000 or more workmen now busy on the property. There is no way telling how many men will be connected with the development before the end of the year.

This colossal business has been developed as a direct result of the demand for desirable seashore property. It was not due to any unusual activity upon the part of the owners of the business but, as stated, the company's growth has been almost entirely due to the one fact, Morehead Bluffs natural advantages as a desirable resort location.

The beautiful rolling bluffs overlooking the sea present a beautiful picture to any nature lover. It is high and dry, well-drained and a more healthy spot could not be found along the shores of the Atlantic.

Achievement Not Rash Promises
The Morehead Bluffs development is all that is claimed for it, according to Mr. E. M. Howard, the active manager and vice-president are not making any statements that are not backed by facts. The owners know they have a wonderful proposition and are willing that it stand upon its own merits.

The success of Morehead Bluffs has already been assured. The sale of lots has already exceeded all expectations and every day brings more interested buyers. The buyers of lots in this development have been mostly men and women who are looking for a quiet and restful place where they can really enjoy life. Many are already planning the construction of cottages.

There are many diversions to be had in Morehead Bluffs. Here one can enjoy boating, surf bathing, the hunting of wild game in season, while the fishing privileges are unlimited. Many of America's great sportsmen are familiar with the abundance of wild ducks around Morehead Bluffs each season.

The mean average temperature at Morehead Bluffs for a period of 30 years has been 66 degrees. The average temperature for the past eight years for the six months of winter season, October 1st to April 1st, is 60½ degrees. In order to arrive at a clear conception of the character of weather for six months winter season, we have taken the records of the weather bureau and find that for the past eight years Morehead Bluffs has averaged only 4-16 of an inch more precipitation per month than Raleigh and only 1-3 inch per month more than Pinehurst. During the same six months of the eight-year period the record shows that Morehead Bluffs average 7½ degrees per month warmer than Raleigh an average of more than 6½ degrees warmer than Pinehurst. The Gulf Stream approaches nearer the coast at this section than any other point of the Atlantic seaboard, and this accounts for the exceptionally mild and equable winter climate at Morehead Bluffs.

Wide expanse of bathing beaches, with the ocean shore waters tempered by the great Gulf Stream, bathing the year-around is enjoyable, for even in winter the water is warm, the temperature seldom getting below 62 degrees, which by the way, is even warmer than the waters of the Great Lakes in mid-summer. And if the surf is too strenuous from the bottom of the Atlantic, the placid waters of the Bogue give that assurance of safety and just as much pleasure, and here again is that variety that cannot be found elsewhere.

Water.—The Federal government is spending millions on the development of the Norfolk-Beaufort Inland Waterways System, with its southern termination just south of Morehead Bluffs, where huge expenditures are also being made for a sheltering harbor with water sufficient for vessels of deep draft, both commercial and pleasure, ocean and coastwise, offering maritime possibilities as well as pleasure. By water, Morehead Bluffs has a sheltered connection by way of the Inland Waterway to all points north, and the government plans to call for an extension along the coast of the Inland Waterway from Maine to Florida.

For the man who admires woodlands and the tense excitement of game hunting, there is an abundance of wild animals in the vicinity of Morehead Bluffs. The variety is one that the hunter seldom encounters and that adds to the pleasure and thrill of shooting.

Besides deer, in sports afield, one may hunt quail, bear, rabbit, raccoon, squirrel, grouse, fox and other denizens of the woods. Trails are interesting and beautiful. The trip is one of thrills.

Camp Glenn.—The St. to rifle range for the North Carolina National Guard, where the citizen soldiers of the commonwealth have their maneuvers is located between Morehead Bluffs and Morehead City. This site was selected by the Federal and North Carolina military authorities because of the superiority of its location, the healthfulness of its climate, the purity of its atmosphere and water supply, and the health records of the soldiers speak for themselves—no contamination, no epidemics, none on sick report—and the boys in khaki return to their homes after the summer maneuvers stronger and healthier.

The Federal government has just deeded to the State of North Carolina as a site for a park, the grounds of Fort Macon, long famous in the history of the nation from the days of the Revolution. The spot is beautifully located on the northeast point of Bogue Sound, overlooking the ocean and sound, and no more attractive spot can be imagined.

The State is taking steps to make the park a playground for the people of North Carolina, and thus Morehead Bluffs will likewise be accentuated.

Those interested in buying lots in Morehead Bluffs are not asked to buy without first seeing their property. All eight acres are welcome so long as they stay out of the way of the workmen.

Thousands of people motor to Morehead Bluffs every Sunday. It is a wonderful lesson in progress to see the marvelous work developing from time to time. It is located on a hard surfaced road, only forty miles from New Bern, one and one-half hours from Kinston, two hours from Washington, two and one-half hours from Goldsboro, three hours from Greenville, three hours from Wilson, three hours from Smithfield, three and one-half hours from Fayetteville and Rocky Mount, and four hours from Raleigh.

"ABIE'S IRISH ROSE"

It can be said to the credit of Anne Nichols, author of "Abie's Irish Rose," which will be the attraction at White's Theatre, on Tuesday night, that she has made a new departure, as were, in not resorting to old worn-out tricks for the purpose of creating comedy.

Mr. Leo Hoyt who plays the role of Solomon Levy, commenting on this fact, says: "For a great number of years the stage has been over-burdened with the worn out device used for the purpose of causing audiences to laugh. Among many that have seen stage service for too many years—so far back that the memory of man is unable to locate the date of its origin—has been the seltzer bottle. There are countless other laugh-tricks used in thousands of plays which at the present time may be considered as having been cast into the discard.

There was also the balloon-like wig, which was so constructed that when the actor was struck on the head with an Indian rubber axe, for instance, a great lump would be visible on the top of the head. This was done by the actor having concealed beneath his coat a small rubber tube with a bulb on the end, which, when compressed, would so inflate the wig that it would give the appearance of a great knot on the top of the head. The actor in these days of modern ingenuity who bumps against the wall on going off stage, with the hope of making people laugh, is having his labor without good results.

In "Abie's Irish Rose" most of the comedy is created by humorous situations. It is a wholesome kind of comedy, nothing to offend the most sensitive. The cleanliness of the play is what appeals most strongly to players.

Is It Cheaper to Rent Than to Own a Home?

Occasionally we run across some smart fellow who can "Take a pencil" and show where it is as cheap to rent as it is to own a home.

By leaving out all theory and by applying ordinary common "HORSE SENSE" we can prove that if two men start out on the same footing—one paying for a home and the other renting—at the end of a reasonable time, say seven to ten years, the man paying for a home will have something to show for what he has done and the renter will have nothing.

We make it easy to pay for a home like paying rent—so why not have something.

"We Keep Your Feet Happy"

Daily News Letter

By H. K. REYNOLDS, INS. Staff Correspondent

London, April 10.—With an income of $60,000 a year, the Bishop of London is so poor that he is often overdrawn at his bank, and wants to rent Fulham Palace, the palatial headquarters of the London Diocese, so that he will have enough money to meet his heavy expenses.

In Hyde Park and other places where soap-box orators inveigh against this governmental and ecclesiastical, the Bishop is constantly and harshly criticized because of the size of his salary, and it is charged that he lives in splendour while members of his diocese are starving.

Chafing under this criticism, the Bishop, in an appeal for "fair play" for himself and other English bishops, has made public his expense accounts for last year, revealing that even with the largest income of any bishop in England, he has little left for himself at the end of the year.

"Were I married," declares the Bishop, "with children to educate and place out in the world, my official income would not provide the wherewithal."

Listing his expenditure during 1925 for taxes, repairs to Fulham Palace, coal and gas, house-keeping expenses, salaries, charities and his motor-car, the Bishop shows that only a thousand dollars was remaining out of his sixty thousand at the end of the year.

The Bishop has appealed to the National Assembly of the Church of England to divide his income into two parts—one-third as personal salary, and the rest for official expenses, principally for the upkeep of his Episcopal residence.

In the meantime, the Bishop is planning a tour of the United States and would like to have someone with an ambition to preside over a house with fifty rooms and many romantic and historical associations, to take over Fulham Palace during his absence from England.

The housewives of Britain have banded themselves together to check profiteering, defeat food pirates, and insist on absolute cleanliness of food.

Their organization is named "The British Housewives' Association." It is forming branches in every part of the country so that women can keep in touch with one another and learn to protect themselves against the food profiteers.

"We stopped the dear milk ramp by advising housewives to adopt the slogan of 'Drinks less milk,'" says Mrs. Beatrice Drapper, who is on the committee of the Government appointed Food Council. Then we quickly brought about a reduction in prices. Now we are using the same method in regard to all foodstuffs, with the additional advantage that all our members will be able to band together for joint action."

The chief supporter of the scheme is Lord Bradbury, the famous financier, who is chairman of the Food Council of Great Britain.

Birth control clinics being established throughout the metropolitan area by the Government have aroused the antagonism of Catholic clergymen. The Bishop of Sanford, Dr. Thomas Henshaw, issued a statement, declaring that the people were "flocking in great numbers" to the local clinic, and expressing surprise that the "fathers and mothers do not rise up in arms against those who dare to defile the minds of the people and bound them out of the district."

The Bishop charged that the clinics were "initiating many young people into vicious practices," and urged that steps be taken to suppress them.

Russians Fear U. S. Program in Chinese Trade

Moscow, Apr. 10.—(INS)—Soviet Russian politicians profess to have discovered that the United States intends to propose a "Dave" plan for China.

Backers of the alleged plan, according to the Soviet south-sayers, are Morgan and Lamont. Under the leadership of these two bankers, declare the Soviet "wharves," English, French and Japanese capitalists have united to exploit China.

America's attitude to China is keenly watched here. The Soviet political leaders feel that America is the greatest and most annoying exception to the broad communist doctrine that all foreign powers besides the Soviet Union are imperialist and brutal in their treatment of China.

Hobart Bosworth and Dorothy MacKail in "Chickie"

"That behind this is hidden a conspiracy for the purpose of dawesizing China, under the hegemony of American capital, it is hardly necessary to say."

Oslo, Norway, Apr. 10.—(INS)—The women of Norway have formed an alliance for the purpose of guarding their interest and pushing their demands for social reforms. The alliance has presented a petition to the Storting in which it claims that far-reaching alterations in a number of law decisions concerned with the social position of women and children. Demands are made for more severe punishment for crimes committed on women and children, and it is also claimed that Norwegian women should be given a right to hold offices in the clergy, even as ministers.

The leaders of the women further maintain that the jury when sentencing criminals should not consider intoxication as an excuse for having committed the crime, as has been the case in a number of sentences. The latest instance of this social vice occurred a few weeks ago when a farmer killed his wife in a fit of drunkenness and was only sentenced to imprisonment for nine years. The women's alliance hopes to convince the authorities that the public at large actually claims more safety and that the demand for severe punishment for crimes is wide-spread among the entire population. The proposition, will be considered by the Storting in the near future and it is believed that they will lead to law amendments.

CANADAS 1925 FISH NETTED $36,000,000

Ottawa, Ont., Apr. 10.—(INS)—Canada's sea fish catch from both Atlantic and Pacific coasts returned a revenue of $24,208,906 last year. This was a gain of about $2,000,000 over the 1924 volume, according to a bulletin issued by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics.

Total export of fish to other countries amounted in value to $36,025,453 in 1925 according to the bulletin. Fish held in storage from the previous year increased the total. Of this canned salmon accounted for $11,223,274, dried codfish for $5,093,740 and canned lobsters for $4,089,486.

Forty Sioux Indians Visit Germany; Offer Peace Pipe

Dresden, Apr. 10.—(INS)—America's Red Indians want to live in peace with Germany.

Forty Sioux from Dakota, who appear in a show of the famous circus Stosch-Sarasani, officially called on the Saxon capital's Lord Mayor and were received by him in a special audience and afterwards entertained at a dinner. In their picturesque attire the Sioux on horseback, attracted the attention of thousands of spectators lining the streets and availing the procession.

During the reception by the mayor, at which American Consul Steger and the Argentine Consul were present, Chief "Black Corn" made a speech, in which he greeted the city of Dresden and revealed that he had received a special mandate of the Washington "Council" to "shake hands with the men of the German people."

Black Corn conveyed a message of "peace and friendship from his red and white brothers" and presented the mayor with a peace pipe and a pouch embroidered with pearls. He also mentioned that his predecessor "Two-Two" was buried in Dresden.

The mayor accepted the pipe with thanks and assured the Sioux of his and his countrymen's sympathies and said he hoped that the American and the German people would henceforth live in peace.

In an after-dinner speech,

Black Corn said: "Germany is large, Dresden is a fine place, the dinner was excellent, my heart is full."

Negro Fiddled All Day to Bring Up Drowned Man

Chattanooga, Tenn., April 10.—(INS)—Standing on the bank of the Emory River, an old negro fiddled all day in an effort to raise the body of Walter Johnson, who was drowned in the stream recently.

But the drowned man's body didn't rise.

The old fiddler, who is a firm believer in the power of the fiddle to raise a drowned person's body and who claims to have raised the bodies of seventeen persons in his time by music, was not discouraged after his apparent failure, but was convinced that Johnson's body was not in the river at the place where he is supposed to have been drowned.

All efforts have failed to find the body, although the river has been dragged and examined with searchlights.

Would Prohibit Discrimination Against Co-Ops

Washington, Apr. 10.—(AP)—The Senate today passed the bill to prohibit discrimination against Farmers Co-operative Association by the Boards of Trade.

The bill, which now goes to the House, was adopted by the Department of Agriculture to meet complaints of Co-operative Associations in the West that Boards of Trade restricted operations of their representatives on the exchanges. The measure would place co-operative agents on an equal basis with other exchange operators.

Coach Howard Jones, it was reported today, is going to "point" his eleven all season for the Notre Dame game here December 4 and will attempt to have the Trojan fill the shoes of the Nebraska Corn-huskers, who defeated Notre Dame three times during the past four years.

Southern California has a heavy schedule for 1926, climaxing with the clash against Coach Knute Rockne's eleven.

Games against the powerful Stanford and California elevens are expected to put the Trojans in superb shape for the severe test they will face in Notre Dame.
