

SUPERIOR COURT TERMS OPEN IN TWELVE COUNTIES

Court Will Continue in Session in Six Counties; Special Term Opens in Mc- Dowell County

Raleigh, May 3.—(AP)—Superior court terms opened this morning in 12 North Carolina counties.—Beaufort, Lee, Wake, Alamance, Allegheny, Davidson, Union, Catawba, Buncombe, Haywood and McDowell. In six other counties—Bertie, Pamlico, Sampson, Columbus, Cumberland, and Mecklenburg—courts previously opened will continue in session this week.

The term in McDowell is a special one, called to clear up the civil docket. It is called for two weeks, or longer, and is expected to continue, probably, four weeks. Governor McLean has named Judge P. A. McElroy, of Marshall, to preside.

Frank Armfield, of Concord, has been named by Governor McLean as emergency judge to preside in Buncombe county for the next two weeks. The term is a civil one.

Judge McElroy being in exchange with Judge W. F. Harding, of Charlotte, the former would have held the Buncombe term, had he not been appointed to hold court in McDowell. Judge Armfield was, therefore, named for the Buncombe term.

Judge J. L. Webb, of Shelby, and H. P. Lane, of Reidsville, are in exchange this week, and, as a result, Judge Webb goes to Catawba, Judge Lane goes to Allegheny. The Catawba term is civil, for two weeks. That in Allegheny is for the trial of both criminal and civil cases, and is for one week.

Judges Romulus A. Nunn, of New Bern, and W. A. Devin, of Oxford, are still in exchange, as are also Judges T. B. Finley, of North Wilkesboro, and Thomas J. Shaw, of Greensboro. These exchanges result in Judge Devin going to Alamance county, and Judge Shaw to Davidson. Judge Devin will hold a one-week civil term in Alamance. The term in Davidson is for the trial of criminal cases, and is for a single week.

The terms in Beaufort and Haywood are both civil, and each is for two weeks. Judge H. A. Grady, of Clinton, will preside in Beaufort. Judge John M. Oglesby, of Concord, goes to Haywood.

The Wake term is for one week, and is exclusively criminal. Judge M. V. Barnhill, of Rocky Mount, will preside.

The Union county term is for one week, civil, while that in Swain is mixed, and will extend into the second week. Judge Michael V. Chenck, of Hendersonville, will preside in Union, and Rowan court will be held by Judge T. D. Bryson, of Bryson City.

Smith Returns From National Meet Boy Scouts

Guy W. Smith returned yesterday from Washington, D. C., where he has been attending the National Council meeting of the Boy Scouts of America as representative of the Pamlico Council. Mr. Smith reported that the spirit and enthusiasm shown was far beyond anything that he had anticipated. He stated that he was very much impressed by the type of men in attendance at the meeting, men whose names were well known in big business, educational and religious enterprises.

They came together, he said, and did not merely talk about the ideals of scouting, but actually put in two days of crowded activities and real work for boys. The meeting terminated Saturday night with a banquet at which President Coolidge was the principal speaker.

In commenting on the President's speech, Mr. Smith stated that President Coolidge showed that he has and has had a genuine interest in the boys of America.

ENGLISH ORDERED TO APPEAR COURT OF IMPEACHMENT

Number of Senators Urge That Trial of Accused Jurist Be Postponed Until Fall

Washington, May 1.—(AP)—Federal Judge George W. English, of Illinois, was summoned to appear today before the bar of the Senate sitting as a court of impeachment for the 10th time in its history to face charges of tyrannous conduct, usurpation of power and other high misdemeanors in office.

Although entitled to a reasonable period for preparation of his brief denying the articles of impeachment approved by the House, Judge English had it ready for filing when he went to Washington to hear the formal presentation of the charges against him by the nine house managers who will act as prosecutors, thus eliminating at least a week's delay in the proceedings. While he desires to have the trial started "as soon as possible," the accused jurist will not protest if the Senate desires to put it off until fall. This has been urged by a number of Senators, but the question is still being studied by members of the judiciary committee.

In preparing his brief Judge English went into his charge exhaustively denying all of the five articles. It concludes with the statement that "whatever mistakes I may have made have been honestly made and amount to mere errors on my part and not to intentional wrong."

GRAND COUNCIL RED MEN MEETS HERE THIS WEEK

The Great Council of North Carolina of the Order of Red Men is scheduled to meet in this city Tuesday evening and Wednesday of this week, sessions to be held in the Pythian Hall on Evans street.

Tuesday evening at the high school auditorium a public meeting is to be held, at which time the Great Chiefs of the Reservation are to be received and introduced to the public. The pageant and play is based upon Indian customs and will be very instructive to school children as well as of interest to the general public.

The pageant for Tuesday evening will consist of the pageant introduction, special music, addresses of welcome by Mayor Clark and others, and an address by Mr. Chas. E. Pass, of Harrisburg, Penn., head of the order. It is to be public and free to all.

In consideration of the fact that the Order of Red Men has a remarkable historical origin connected with the history of the flag of our country, the committee on arrangements with the approval of Mayor D. M. Clark, request that merchants of the city who have flags display them on the streets during the period of the meeting of the Council.

Bringing Cities Closer.
Mr. Kingsmore's Case.
The Old Riff Runner.
Lightning and Oil.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

When Mussolini recently told the world that he would cut railroad time between Naples to Rome five hours by tunnelling five mountains, it was suggested here that railroads between Chicago and California might do the same to the unnecessarily long running time between the Pacific and the Great Lakes.

Now, lo and behold, the railroads have done it! The shorter running time begins in October, and west-bound travelers will save one entire day in California for business or sunshine.

Santa Fe, Union Pacific and Southern Pacific, making the cut at time simultaneously, are cut by able railroad men.

Cutting time means bringing cities closer, helping business, making men's lives longer. A recent cut in time between Seattle and all the Pacific coast south set a good example.

Soon passengers—carrying flying machines—will bring Chicago seven hundred miles nearer to New York and two thousand miles nearer the Pacific.

President Coolidge and Postmaster General Ewing, Henry Ford and his son, Edsel Ford, now working on the production of big-powered, triple motor, perfectly safe flying machines, will hurry that day.

Mr. Kingsmore, of Maryland, convicted of knocking his wife down and repeatedly kicking her, is moderately described by the poor wife as acting "downright ornery." The "ornery" gentleman was sentenced to five blows with the cat-o-nine-tails on his bare back.

What do you think of that punishment? Isn't it too much or too little for the wife beater, five hundred blows would be too few. These are nine tails to a "cat," so the five blows will amount to forty-five stings.

What about justice, in the great state of Maryland, imitating the methods of a wife beater? There will be kindings and beatings as long as the highest power of the state puts its approval on such practices by employing them itself.

Six months at really hard labor with a pick and shovel, and no respite for "good conduct," would bet better for Kingsmore's redemption and the state's reputation.

Great is the endurance of man, so animal with four legs can do what man does with two legs. You read of the Riff warrior, sixty-seven years old, Hammouch Beu Hadje, who ran seventy miles a day across the hot desert between sunrise and sunset, carrying a peace message to French headquarters.

Even more remarkable was the feat of an Irishman, nearing middle age, who in a six-day race in New York City ran more than 600 miles between Monday and Saturday and was subsequently elected mayor of Long Island City.

That tough Irishman in the six days could have run any race-horse in the world to death.

MAY FESTIVAL AT THE COLLEGE GREAT SUCCESS

The Most Beautiful May Day Pageant Ever Given at the Teachers College Greatly Enjoyed

On May Day, heralded by page and bugle, acclaimed by ranks of royal retainers, the Queen of May, Miss Fannie Lowe, ascended her throne on the campus of East Carolina Teachers College. The broad lawn bordered by the grove in its filmy young green made a beautiful setting for the long procession of vari-colored slim figures. First came the herald-in-chief in purple and gold, riding gallantly on a roan horse.

Leading in the four groups of May Pole dancers, exquisite in lovely colors, violet, rose, blue, and orange, each group preceded by its own herald. After them, marching two by two, came villagers—lads in smocks, maids in caps and kerchiefs; Robin Hood's band in Lincoln green; milk maids in sweet blue frocks and white bonnets, shiny pails in hand; peasant children, straight out of Kate Greenaway's pictures, in long straight pink frocks and adorable little caps; peasant men and women in gay prints; chimney sweeps in tight black suits with tall peaked hats; plowmen in brown smocks and broad rimmed hats; shepherds, and sheepherdesses after Watteau's own heart, in long smocks and puffed sleeves, wreathed and beribboned crooks in hand. Then a group of spring dancers, fairy figures in short green tunics; a troupe of laughters greeted the ball rider of the hobby-horse; jester in red and green, every tiny bell a jingle, pranced in line; stately maids of long ago; the Queen's ladies, impressive in gay ermine-lined gowns, their skirts over the grass. Eager eyes, watching for the Queen, knew she must be near, for here were her maids of honor, properly dignified in their high office. Then, in the midst of these tall ladies walked a mite of a boy, carrying a rich crown on a white cushion. Four small flower girls followed him. Excitement increased. Another herald caracolled into the court—then the QUEEN herself, seated high in a white rose covered chariot, drawn by two white horses, plumes nodding on the forehead. Two ruffled knights-at-arms rode in attend.

ENGLAND FACING ONE OF GRAVEST MENACES EVER!

Nation Is Threatened With General Strike Estimated to Call Out Some 1,405,000 Men to Join the 1, 120,000 Coal Miners

London, May 3.—(AP)—Great Britain at midnight tonight faces the gravest menace which has overhung the nation since the fall of the Stuart Dynasty. This is a general strike which it is estimated will call out immediately some 1,405,000 men to join the 1,120,000 coal miners who went on strike at midnight Friday.

The crisis culminated early today when the Government announced that its negotiations with the Trade Union Congress in an endeavor to prevent a walk-out of the workers in various trades had broken down. The announcement said the Government would decline to reopen the negotiations, unless the Congress withdrew its order for a general strike and repudiated other overt acts which were described as "lengthy the constitutional rights and freedom of the nation."

On behalf of the workers it was declared that their efforts to obtain an honorable settlement had been wrecked by the Government's unprecedented ultimatum and that the negotiations for peace were ended. Surprise was expressed that the Government had summarily ended the conference before giving the Trade Unionists time to investigate the Overt Acts which included a walk-out by the printers of the Daily Mail. The printers refused to set up an editorial on the strike entitled "For King and Country" which said "a general strike can not be tolerated by any civilized Government."

The general strike call affects all of the transport services except those dealing with food stuff. Several other industries also are involved. While it seems apparent that some of the Trade Union will not immediately join the walk-out, it is understood that about 410,000 railway workers, 60,000 railway clerks, 300,000 builders, 330,000 transport workers, 60,000 seamen, 120,000 printers, 100,000 iron workers and 25,000 electricians will cease work. As far as can be learned postal and telegraphic workers will continue at their jobs.

To meet the emergency the Government has made elaborate preparations. The country is divided into ten districts as to a civil commission with large staffs of officers. These will assume complete control of public necessities. Apparently Trade Union proposals to run food trains and transport under necessity, will not be considered. The work of looking after the nation is Gov.

ONE BOUNDARY OF GRAND FATHER MOUNTAIN AFLAME

All Available Men and Fighting Apparatus Rushed to Linville Region

Asheville, May 3.—(AP)—The entire northwest boundary of Grand Father Mountain is aflame in one of the most violent conflagrations of the spring fire season. It was reported today at the office of the United States Forestry Service here.

Repeated calls for aid were wired into the office during the day and all available men and fire fighting apparatus were rushed to the Linville region. Early reports from Monroe Coffey, the ranger in the Grand Father Mountain forest, stated that a bad fire was burning along Upper Creek Falls, Winding Stair Knob, and across Cold Mountain.

J. W. McNair, assistant supervisor of Pisah Forest left here today for the fire and efforts were being made to reach other fire fighters in the district.

Late Sunday night the 5,000 acre fire that was devastating the forest along the Buncombe-McDowell county line near Ridgecrest, was placed under control on the Buncombe county side of the line. On the McDowell county side, however, serious trouble was faced yesterday. Officials of the county issued an order conscripting 600 men for service in fighting the blaze and these with the other fighters were spread out over the ten mile front.

Carolina's $2,000,000 Seashore Resort in the Making

Choicest Fishing Grounds Along the Atlantic Coast

Morehead Bluffs is the center of a fishing industry. The angler will find here a variety of fish unexcelled. Especially the large game fish abound. The proximity of the Gulf Stream offers many numbers of the finny tribe that are usually found in Florida waters. Deep sea fishing is also excellent and boats may be obtained hereabouts that will carry you speedily to their habitat. Men who know every section of the waters hereabouts will guide you to them. These waters have been noted for their abundance of fish from the days of the American Indian. The water here seems to favor their growth.

MOREHEAD BLUFFS TODAY AND ONE YEAR AGO

The Beautiful Sun-Kissed Shores Before Development

MANY resorts take their name from something intangible, imaginary, but Morehead Bluffs is what the name implies. Picture to yourself an area of land thirty to fifty feet above the sea-level, with bluffs overhanging the water at an elevation of approximately forty feet, covered with beautiful trees, shrubbery, and green the year around, with smooth sandy beach bordering it. That is Morehead Bluffs. It beggars description—even the artist is unable to do justice in paint and oils; words almost fail, but one may visualize what would be considered the most delightful spot in the world—a modern Garden of Eden, and you have Morehead Bluffs in mind. No more ideal spot could be imagined for the invalid, the tired and worn business man, for the mother who desires to see her children grow into strong and sturdy men and women. Physicians and health specialists put their stamp of approval on Morehead Bluffs as offering opportunities for strengthening these run-down systems, for keeping the entire family in trim, where all can forget their worries, trials and tribulations, where life seems anewed. Special attention has been given to sanitary arrangement and precautions by the most modern system of drainage and water supply.

WHEN the Morehead Bluffs, Incorporated, began business a year ago there were six employees connected with the institution, four of them being the proprietors. It was a small beginning. Even then we anticipated unusual growth, but we did not suspect that that growth would approach the phenomenal. Today Morehead Bluffs' organization consists of forty-six employees besides the army of 1,000 or more workmen now busy developing the property. Probably the company could use a great many more of the right sort of men.

There is no way to estimate just how many men will be connected with the company, one year from this time, but it is quite evident that the growth will be continue rapidly.

This colossal business has been developed as a direct result of the demand for desirable seashore property. It was not due to any unusual activity upon the part of the owners of the business but, as stated, the company's growth has been almost entirely due to one fact: Morehead Bluffs' natural advantages as a delightful resort location. It is situated on a beautiful rolling bluff overlooking the sea; high and dry, well drained and a more healthy spot could not be found along the Atlantic coast. Can you imagine anything more inviting when Florida is sweltering or the North Atlantic is chilling to the marrow than to live in this delightful spot?

Construction work is rapidly going forward at this very moment. Convince yourself of the great opportunities by a visit to Morehead Bluffs. You can reach it over a hard-surfaced road from all points in the state. Come at an early date and see the wonderful work that is already under way.

GREENVILLE HIGH BAND TO GIVE CONCERT ON TUESDAY, MAY 11

Organized by the same director as was the State College Band, Greenville High School Band has grown from ten members to four times that number in two and one half years. As to superiority, no school band of equal age would be turned away in a challenge.

The band is classed among Greenville High School's greatest assets, but goes further than the school, it is an asset to Greenville, as it takes Greenville's name to far towns. A Greenville visitor to Louisville, Ky., was asked about the band in Greenville. Why then, shouldn't people in Greenville back it?

"I did not know that Greenville did have so much," said N. G. Bartlett, Secretary of the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce.

On Tuesday, May 11, the band is going to give a concert in the high school auditorium. Now is the time for Greenville to show its appreciation of the band and support it at concert. In addition to the numbers, solos, duets, quartets and a specially selected orchestra will play popular music. Buy tickets from members of the band after Wednesday.

GUN CLUB OFFICER UNABLE TO QUIT JOB AFTER 41 YRS.

Butte, Mont., May 3.—(AP)—C. M. Smith of Butte, has been trying for forty-one years to lose a job—and has not yet succeeded. He was elected secretary of the Butte Rod and Gun club in 1885, and, after one term, decided to quit. But the membership said "no" and he continued without protest for nineteen years more. In 1905, however, he pleaded, cajoled and threatened the membership, but without avail. He was re-elected. Five years later he persuaded one member to allow him to place his name in nomination for the office. Smith's candidate got one vote and Smith got the rest. Since that time Smith has made sporadic attempts to get himself ousted but without success.

Nantes, May 3.—(INS)—German divers early this month will seek a sunken treasure of gold and silver bullion worth $5,500,000. A German salvage company has undertaken to raise the precious metal sunk in the liner Egypt, which sank in 500 feet of water May 20, 1922, off Arsen. The bullion was en route from London to Egyptian banks.

KANSAS MENTOR HAS COACHED SEVENTEEN BASKET CHAMPS

Lawrence, Kan., May 3.—(AP)—Dr. F. C. Allen, director of physical education, at the University of Kansas, has coached seventeen basketball quintets to championships in the last nineteen years. Originator of the five man "zone" defense, Kansas coach has developed undisputed basketball champions of the Missouri Valley for four consecutive seasons, and five years ago his team tied for first place in the Valley.

Under the zone system each player has a zone of fourteen feet to guard. If an opposing player breaks through the defense the nearest guard covers him while a forward occupies the vacant guard position. His offensive game consists of short passes, pivots and accurate short shots. The Kansas coach usually keeps the largest squad in the Valley at work throughout the season.

FILIPINO BOXERS POPULAR WITH FIGHT FANS IN WEST

Los Angeles, May 3.—(AP)—Maidland fight fans, especially those in California, like the invading Filipino boxers who have come to the west coast in the van of Pancho Villa, flying weight champion who died in San Francisco at the apex of his glorious ring career.

They are known to the fight promoters as audience pleasers for they mix furiously yet are among the cleanest of boxers. Two of these Malaysians particularly—Pete Sarniento and Clever Sencio—have the favor of California ringsiders and are ranked among the best in their weights. Another Young Natolianista, while not having so many victories to his credit, has been more than usually successful. He with numerous others from the Archipelago, is in steady demand as a preliminary fighter.

Boxing did not take immediately in the Philippines when Uncle Sam took over the territory from Spain, says Frank Churchill, "dean of boxing in the stands," manager of Villa until his death last July and since then financial mentor of Sarniento and Sencio. He and Stewart Tait opened an arena in Manila in 190, but the natives took little interest in the game. This was because boxers, principally army and navy men, were imported.

So an effort was made to develop boxers among the hundreds of boys who habit the streets of the capital. The results were surprising. The boys learned the game quickly and the natives began to flock to the bouts. Their interest has never lagged.

HUGGINS TO GET CREDIT IF YANKS WIN PENNANT

Judging From the Early Returns This Season, the Yanks Again Are As Good As the Next and Better Than Mos.

New York, May 3.—(INS)—If the 1926 Yankees come home under their own power—and no one is betting serious money that they won't—it will be about time for the Anti-Huggins Society of New York to turn its union eyes and continue its attention to something important. Its position as defamer of the worthy Miller will have become untenable for the first time since the gentleman was appointed Yankee manager some nine years ago.

When, during his early struggles here, he failed to develop a pennant winner, they said he couldn't make a good ball club win, which may have been true at that time. When he won American League pennants in 1921 and 1922 and a world's title in 1923, they said a self-starting check book was the price of success and this probably was true, too.

Then the Yanks finished second in 1924 and seventh in 1925 and they said Huggins was through. This seems to have been the point where truth ceased and fiction began.

Judging from the early returns this season, the Yanks again are as good as the next and better than most. They have been rebuilt, re-conditioned and re-vitalized between seasons and the man who did it is Miller Huggins. It is a Huggins ball club, not a legacy or a gratuity from Jake Ruppert. Most of the young players who have made his early success possible were hand-picked from the minor leagues by Huggins and personally developed by him.

Earl Combs, center fielder, is an example. Huggins outbid McGraw for the young man and he became one of the leading outfielders. Lou Gehrig, first baseman, is another. He came directly from Columbia University, was carefully nursed along until Pipp faded and now is one of the hardest hitters in all baseball.

Tony Lazzeri and Mark Koenig have made the rifle around second base, but only because Huggins, an old infielder himself, worked with them until they did. Bob Meusel was another Huggins "buy."

Of course, Meusel, Combs, Lazzeri and Koenig were high-priced minor leaguers, who were supposed to have come to their purchaser ready-made. But, in view of the fact that so few of these specimens really are ready, it might be taken as a tribute to Huggins that so many of them have made good for him.

Neither Bengough nor Collins, his catchers, come under this classification, however, and both are quite capable. The same may be said for Pischal, extra outfielder, whom any club would be pleased to harbor. The only 1926 Yankees whom Huggins can take no credit for developing are Ruth, Duran, Hoyt, Pennock, Jones, Shocker and Shawkey. He couldn't get along without them of course, but that doesn't alter the fact that they couldn't get along without the players he has produced. This was proved only a year ago when Ruth and the rest of them barely finished out of last place.

Football Grows in Popularity

Manila, May 3.—(AP)—Growing popularity of soccer football in the Philippines has resulted in the formation of the Philippine Amateur Football League. It will strive for development of the game here and the creation of a team able to compete in the biennial Far Eastern games with China, Japan and neighboring countries. In the past, the Chinese have consistently won these games.

ROMAN FOOTBALL GAME V N BY KNOCK OUTS, NOT GOALS

Milan, May 3.—(AP)—Football down here is a goalless contest towards a football game held in San Piero between the local team and one from Chiasso, Italian Switzerland. After ten men had been carried away from the field on stretchers, four of them seriously injured, the police lost their sense of humor. It was then but a few minutes before the mud whistle, the knock-down having totaled several score.

MOUNTAINOUS GOLF COURSE BECKONS ALBERTA PLAYERS

Banff, Alberta, May 3.—(AP)—Many cities have municipal golf links, but nestled among the granite peaks of the Rocky mountains in the valley of the Bow river, almost a mile above the sea level, is a national golf course, maintained by the Canadian government for the use of all who visit this dominion playground. Mount Randall, with its almost vertical side of bare rocks, rises hundreds of feet along one side of the course, while great granite crags stretch in a tumbled mass far as eye can see on the other horizon towards the plains of Calgary. The modest club house lies just below a gorge where a wild mountain river falls over a high ledge with a road into the Bow. The confluence of waters discards its tumbled turbulence as the stream flows along the edge of the golf course, creating a water hazard at the 18th green. As the limpid gurgle of waters dies away with the progress of the golfer away from the river, he seems to become like a pigmy as he nears the base of the mountain. At one hole he shoots apparently into the very side of a crag, only to find that the mountain is still far away. Some of the greens all of which have good turf, are different from anything known to golf architecture elsewhere. There are conical mounds five feet high, all nicely grassed but difficult to putt. These unusual mounds, which make the cup hard to the golfer whose approach lands outside these mounds, are said to have been built by misinterpretation of the architect's plans. While there are two holes on the course 500 yards long and three well over 400 yards, there are seven of 200 yards or less.

There are a number of conventional bunkers, but most of the hazards are natural. After a round of golf, the player may take up luncheon in unusually hot sulphur water.

SHAPING OF BABYHOOD NEW STUDY FOR CHILD EDUCATORS

Kansas City, May 3.—(AP)—Educators have dipped into babyhood for more human material to shape and have emerged with children as young as twenty months of age. Pre-kindergarten education, although in an experimental stage in the United States, will be discussed at the annual meeting of the International Kindergarten Union here beginning today and lasting through the 7th, with some of the leading experts presenting their observations. Among the large cities which have pre-kindergarten schools are New York, Detroit and Kansas City. This type of nursery school especially watches and provides social training in games and a suggestive educational environment. RELAY RACE

The relay race to be run tomorrow between this city and Washington promises to be one of the most interesting athletic events of the year.

Each year the schools are giving more attention to athletics, and they are being rewarded with better students, because strong bodies make stronger minds and a healthy child will study harder than a sickly, undeveloped child.

The Pitt County Track Meet, held for the past five years, has meant much to the schools and to the children throughout the county.

Our future citizenship depends on our children. It is our duty to encourage them and interest in their development will yield untold dividends in the future.

PRESS-AGENTING NORTH CAROLINA

Calling attention to the great amount of publicity North Carolina is getting in the newspapers and magazines of the country, but admitting the truth of the Old North State's claims, the Richmond Times-Dispatch has the following to say:

"It is almost unbelievable but North Carolina still feels the need of publicity. Not many years ago Irvin Cobb said that all the old North State needed was a press agent. Since that historic remark was uttered, North Carolina has had more press agents than any other State in the Union with the possible exceptions of California and Florida.

California. There has been nothing of the circus method. North Carolina has had something honest to sell, and it has endeavored to sell it honestly.

To the casual observer or to one unacquainted with modern methods it might seem that North Carolina "had arrived," that everything had been told, and that having been set down in the national records as one of the most progressive, if not the most progressive State in the Union, it would feel no further need of exploitation. But that is not the manner of modern merchandising — even among States. North Carolina wishes to remain on the crest of the wave of favor where it now rides, and it knows that to remain there it must keep itself constantly before the public.

It is possible that North Carolina has looked northward, has seen Virginia putting on the garb of modernity and has become alarmed for its prestige. Virginia until recently had been sleeping just as North Carolina slept before its renaissance. Now Virginia is almost awake. It has been chosen as the site of a great national park; its mileage of improved roads is actually greater than that of North Carolina; its various regional associations and its State Chamber of Commerce are telling the story of Virginia to the world; the General Assembly made a generous appropriation for publicity purposes, and there are indications that the State is about to undergo an industrial revivification that will put it in the forefront of Southern States.

North Carolina may fear that some day it will have to acknowledge again the leadership of Virginia, a leadership that was lost in many lines of progress during the last ten years. Whatever its fears or hopes may be, it is pursuing sound methods, and Virginia is about to accept the rivalry in all good sportmanship.

SAYS FOGS HELPS PREVENT MURDER

Says America Has More Millionaires in Jail Than Britain Has Outside; Compares Crime Statistics and Declares United States Is More Severe With Social Offenders

London, May 3.—(INS)—England's cloudy, damp weather is responsible for its scarcity of murders, according to Dr. Ben Reitman, of the Hobe College of Chicago, who came here to study the effects of climate on criminal tendencies.

Reitman's theory comes as a shock to Englishmen who attribute the low murder rate in this country to the national spirit for law and order and believe that crime is rampant in the United States because it is easy for criminals to escape the penalty of the law. The United States, Reitman declares, is more severe and cruel to her social offenders than is Great Britain.

"I am convinced," he said in an interview, "that the fogs and generally muggy weather in this country is responsible for the mild and gentle characteristics of the people. That is why so few people are murdered."

"Englishmen have the idea that if you commit a crime in America all you have to do is to bribe a jury, or get an influential politician to spin it in the judge, or some beautiful woman to weep in court, it is not true."

Comparing the crime statistics of Great Britain and the United States, Reitman pointed out that in America many deaths were listed as homicides, which were due to automobile or railroad accidents, while that way is the case in this country. "America," he said, "has the largest criminal population in jail in the world. Money cannot save the criminal in America, even if he is a bootlegger. We have more millionaires in America in jails than England has outside the jails. Politicians in America cannot save themselves, let alone their friends. A former governor of Illinois is now in jail, sent there while he was in office. On many occasions, we have taken the mayor, chief of the police, or the state attorney and put them in jail. Mothers and sweethearts weep in court, and we take an 18-year-old boy and hang him, and send first offenders to the penitentiary for life."

Reitman said he was not more willing to accept the explanation that all crime is due to economic conditions as the theory that it was simply a question of law and the administration of justice.

"My thought is," he explained, "that the thing we call crime is and murder is but a form of human behavior, which is motivated by a number of factors, the primary cause being our internal glands, and these glands which regulate our behavior and personality are tremendously influenced by the sun that shines on us, the food we eat, the water, milk and liquor we drink, the tobacco we smoke and chew, the environment that surrounds us, and the parents that gave us life."

Another of Reitman's observations is that England is too kind to those who are "down and out." In Chicago, he says, there is no place where a man can get food, shelter or medical attention without working for it.

"If he is starving and won't work," said Reitman, "we just let him die and regard his death as meaning one inadequate human being the less."

The English, on the other hand, give crutches to humanity. Look at the thousands living on doles from the Government and in work-houses supported by the taxpayers. If a man comes to us in Chicago and tells us he cannot get a job, we tell him he is a liar. If he is fool enough not to look for one, we let him die.

"We glorify the rich and worship the dollar and despise the poor so much that we shame our real outcasts into working and if he won't work he dies."

GERMAN WOMEN PREFER TO RETAIN CITIZENSHIP IN MARRYING FOREIGNERS

Berlin, May 3.—(INS)—Holding that marriages between nationals of two different countries often resulted in tragedies, especially during the war, German women started a campaign in favor of "self-determination" of couples to be concerning their nationality.

The Union of German Women Leagues has filed a petition to the Reich Government demanding the abolition of the German law, according to which a German woman marrying a foreigner automatically acquires the latter's nationality.

The Union favors a law providing "self-determination" for men and women prior to their marriage in a way that both may either acquire the nationality of the husband or of the wife.

Ford

Highest in Quality

When you know the facts about the materials used in Ford manufacture, you can readily understand why Ford cars serve their owners so long and dependably—for, after all, the basic quality of a motor car must be largely determined by the materials out of which it is built.

Take, for instance, steels—which comprise the major portion of the materials used in automotive manufacturing today.

No automobile, regardless of cost, can have more durable or more satisfactory steels than you get in a Ford—because Ford steels are the finest available for the purpose.

The upholstery used in Ford closed cars contain a much larger percentage of wool than is ordinarily specified. This is necessary because Ford upholstery must last a long time—like the rest of the car. Genuine polished plate glass is used for Ford windows and windshields.

The story is the same for every item of material used in Ford manufacture. If it isn't the very best obtainable for the purpose, it isn't used. It is logical that such extreme care in the selection of materials should result in a car that is without an equal when it comes to enduring service.

Features That Maintain Ford Leadership

- Planetary Transmission
- Three Point Motor Suspension
- Multiple Disc-in-Oil Clutch
- Dual Ignition System
- Simple Dependable Lubrication
- Torque Tube Drive
- Thermo-Syphon Cooling System

Lowest in Price

Yet—with all the recognized quality of Ford cars—Ford prices are the lowest in the world. Conditions that are absolutely unique in the automotive industry make this possible.

Every manufacturing operation, from mining of ore to final assembly, is under direct control of the Ford Motor Company. Iron is taken from Ford mines in Michigan; coal from the Company's mines in Kentucky and West Virginia. Ford glass plants produce the glass for windshields and windows; wood comes from Ford timber tracts.

Raw material and finished products are carried over Ford-owned transportation routes; coke ovens, blast furnaces, steel mills, foundries and saw mills—all are part of this complete organization.

In this way every possible manufacturing economy is effected. Under any other circumstances, Ford cars would cost a great deal more than they do.

London, May 3.—(INS)—England's newest peer is Vernon Henry Viscount Bolinbroke and St. John, who as Vernon Henry St. John, has for six years been endeavoring to get the House of Lords to recognize his claim to peerage. His right to the title had been questioned because his father had previously had an illegitimate child, who was looked upon as their heir.

A strange tale of the love affairs of the fifth Viscount Bolinbroke, the present peer's father, was told to the committee of the House of Lords, which heard the case.

The Bolinbroke and St. John (pronounced Bullingbrook and Sinjun) viscountcy was created in 1712, the fifth Lord Bolinbroke succeeding to the title in 1851. From 1869 to 1885 he lived in London with a woman named Ellen Medex as "Mr. and Mrs. Morgan." When she died in 1885, the Viscount described her in the death certificate as his wife, but there had been no record of a marriage. Eventually, Bolinbroke married his housekeeper, Mary Howard. He was then 73 years old and already had two children by Miss Howard before she became his wife. The birth of the present Viscount Bolinbroke occurred after the marriage, the proof of which fact to the House of Lords resulted in St. John's formal admission to the peerage.

The new Lord Bolinbroke, who is 30 years old and unmarried, lives in Lydiard Park in Wiltshire, with his mother, widow of the fifth Viscount.

Biblical historians and students of early Christianity are greatly interested in the recent discovery of an hitherto unknown version of Josephus' "Jewish War" with illustrations to Jesus Christ not appearing in the well known Greek text.

The new version, which is written in old Slavonic, a language closely allied to Aramaic, in which Josephus wrote, is said to afford important additional evidence of the historicity of Jesus. Other texts of Josephus have been marked by their scanty references to the founder of Christianity.

Dr. Vacher Burch, an extensive contributor to the works of Christian origins, who has made a study of the Slavonic text, considers the references of Josephus to the trial of Jesus as of great historical importance.

"To understand Josephus and the New Testament, these new things have to be studied," says Dr. Burch. "The great value of the Jewish historian's witness is because of its two fold power; Josephus' evidence to the historicity of Jesus Christ is clear and detailed; and also it is so put that it is confirmed by the primary evidence for the content and mode of the revelation Jesus came to bring."

"The new Josephus is the original version in Aramaic, untouched by Graeco-Roman influences. Our copies hitherto known, have been the Greek edition expurgated to suit the taste of the Roman court."

If this country depended less on can openers and more on good cooking it would be healthier. Canned food, including canned sardine, is a blessing, a convenience, and an economy. But it should not take the place of competent cooking and too often it does.

MAY FESTIVAL AT THE COLLEGE A GREAT SUCCESS

ance upon her majesty. Amid the spontaneous applause of the vast crowd of onlookers the Queen seated herself on her white throne. All this great group, nearly five hundred, stationed themselves about the court, in attentive silence, while Miss Christine Vick, President of the Student Government, formally crowned Miss Lowe Queen of the May Festival.

After expressing her appreciation of the honor bestowed upon her by her fellow students, the Queen again took her seat upon her throne to view the sports prepared by her loyal subjects for her entertainment. The jesters leaped and gambled and formed themselves into marvelous elephants ridden by other jesters, seated loftily on their backs. The chimney sweeps and peasants and shepherdes, and all the rest in turn, gave the lovely old English country dances, certainly the loveliest one can ever hope to see. Nodding heads and swaying bodies, nimble feet and graceful hands charmed everybody, while the infectious rhythm of the music drew the audience into dancing along with them willy nilly.

The lovely intricate weaving in and out of the May Pole dancers around the gay poles with their long streamers of brilliant colors concluded the festivities. With sighs for the conclusion of so beautiful a pageant, the Queen, and her court and her people, and the onlookers, went their several ways. Certainly there never was a lovelier May Day Festival.

To Miss Mary Jane Alexander, Instructor of Physical Education in the college, belongs the credit of planning and carrying through this fine piece of work. It is no small task to train 500 people to work together to produce a great pageant like this which moved along without a hitch.

The spritid music which was an indispensable part of the pageant, was furnished by Misses Torrell, Morton, Wedmore and Evans.

From Hired-Hand to Premier, Record

Regina, Sask., May 1.—(INS)—From hired hand on a farm to premier of Saskatchewan is the record of J. G. Gardiner, who has just been elected chief executive of the province. He succeeded C. A. Dunning, who resigned to take up the position of minister of railways in the Dominion government.

One autumn day back in 1901 young Gardiner, a strapping lad of 17, swung off a harvester excursion train at Winnipeg. He had 82 in his pocket and a determination to succeed. He got work with a threshing outfit at Clearwater, Man. He pitched grain with such enthusiasm that the farmer gave him a steady job.

Gardiner managed to attend high school in the winter months and four years later he came to Saskatchewan with a second-class teacher's certificate. His first school was at Alpha, forty miles from a railroad. In two years he entered Manitoba College, where he graduated with honors. He became principal of a high school at Lemberg, Sask., and took up a farm nearby. He was elected to the Saskatchewan legislature in 1913 and has been a member ever since.
