

STATE FUNDS FOR EDUCATION SHOW LARGE INCREASES

In 44 Years Appropriations for Education Have Increased From $8,000 to $14,157,200

Raleigh, May 15.—(AP)—In 44 years state appropriations for education in North Carolina increased from $8,000 to $14,157,200 for the biennium of 1925-26, 1924-25. This is shown in the current issue of State School Facts, published today.

This issue of the Department of Public Instruction publication is devoted to "Educational Appropriations," and reviews the history of state support and maintenance of the public schools, teachers' colleges, and institutions of higher learning. The two-year period of 1925-26 was the banner biennium in educational appropriations, it is shown, the total appropriated for 1925-27 dropping to $19,966,000. This drop was due to a cut in the appropriations for improvements.

The first money set aside by the state for maintenance of its schools and institutions was the $8,000 appropriated for the two-year period, 1877-79. This money was to be used for the support of normal schools and teachers' colleges. The maintenance appropriations for the present biennium, 45 years later, totals nearly eight millions of dollars—$7,506,000, in exact figures. Of this amount $3,757,500 is appropriated for the public schools; $850,000 for the normal schools and teachers' colleges; and $3,282,500 for higher institutions.

The appropriation of money for permanent improvements in the state's schools was initiated in 1891 by the legislature of that year, when appropriations of $25,000 for the biennium of 1891-93 were made. For the present biennium, 1925-27, the appropriations for this purpose total $2,770,000. The two years of 1923-25 were marked by appropriations for this purpose of $7,004,000. For the two-year period, 1921-23 appropriations for this purpose were $4,080,000.

State School Facts reviews the history of educational appropriations, for maintenance, for permanent improvements, for public schools, for teachers' colleges and normal schools, and for higher institutions.

"The first school fund in North Carolina was created in 1825 and known as the 'literary fund.' This fund was in the form of a permanent public endowment and was to be used in aiding and stimulating local initiative in raising revenue for the support of the public schools. This fund was obtained from dividends arising from the stock in banks held by the state stock in several navigation companies, taxes on spirituous liquors the unexpended balance of the agricultural fund, entries of vacant lands, together with such sums of money as the legislature might appropriate from time to time.

But the "first actual appropriation for education to be paid out of money in the treasury was made" in 1877. It provided for the establishment of a normal school in connection with State University and appropriated $2,000 annually "to be paid out of money in the treasury not otherwise appropriated." A like sum was appropriated for a negro summer school. In both instances the money was to be used in the instruction of male teachers, no provision being made for women. In 1879 the provisions of the act were extended so as to include women.

Chapter 141, Laws of 1881, made provisions for the establishment of other normal schools and appropriated $2,000 per annum for each race other than that made by preceding laws. In addition, this act provided for the appropriation of $5,000 annually to be paid to the University of North Carolina for the purpose of putting into effect the provisions of the Constitution.

The Law of 1885, Chapter 308, authorized the State Board of Agriculture to aid in the establishment of an industrial school. The legislature of 1887 transferred a "certificate of indebtedness of $125,000 plus accrued interest" issued to the board of trustees of the University to the board of trustees of the North Carolina

COOLIDGE SPEAKS AT CELEBRATION IN WILLIAMSBURG

History Repeats Itself in the Celebration of the 150th Anniversary of the Famous Virginia Resolutions

Williamsburg, Va., May 15.—(AP)—Today history repeated itself and the spirit of 1776 is abroad. Williamsburg, the cradle of American liberty, is clad in the robes of celebration and the stars and stripes are floating where once there was unfurled the Union Jack.

150 years ago the Virginia Convention, in session at this historic old city, issued an open writ of defiance to the mightiest empire on earth by passing the famous Virginia resolutions. These later resulted in the drafting and signing of the American Declaration of Independence.

Today the ancient town, imbued with a deep sense of gratitude, was host to thousands who came to the shrine of the birthplace of Independence to give thanks and rejoice.

President Coolidge, the honor guest, was impressed with the vastness of the occasion and the befitting spirit which seemed to pervade the very atmosphere.

Banners and flags flew from every steeple, from windows, from store fronts, from the buildings and camps of the ancient William and Mary College, while thousands crowded the streets. Troopers were here from Fort Eustis detailed here by the Secretary of War as an honorary escort for the President. Mr. Coolidge was introduced this morning as the chief speaker by Governor Byrd, of Virginia.

The President had come to Yorktown on the yacht, Mayflower, and thence up the peninsula by automobile. In his party were Senate and House delegations while other members of Congress were here also as Congress was in recess in order to celebrate the event of the day. It was planned for President and Mrs. Coolidge to be honor guests at a luncheon in William and Mary College early this afternoon and they were then to leave for Yorktown and to return to Washington on the Mayflower.

President Coolidge called upon the states to discharge their functions so faithfully that there can be a construction, instead of an extension, of the authority of the federal government.

Speaking at the sesqui-centennial observance of the adoption of the Virginia resolutions declaring for the independence of the American colonies, he said that by providing for the regulation of internal concerns of each colony by the colonial legislature

Liquor Is Issue in Pennsylvania Primaries

Evolution Given Final Blow At Baptist Confab

Houston, Texas, May 15.—(AP)—Evolution was dealt a final blow at the Southern Baptist Convention here today when a resolution offered by S. E. Tull, of Pine Bluff, Arkansas, was adopted. The resolution requests all institutions, boards and missionary representatives to give assurance to the convention that they accept the convention previous declaration on evolution as a statement of faith.

The resolution previously adopted that man is the work of God alone and rejected "any teaching that man originated in or came in any way from a lower animal ancestry."

Immanuel Baptist Pastor to Preach a Series of Sermons

The question of one's Soul's Salvation, his Christian Activity, and the Eternal Rewards for Service, have always been an interesting one. In view of these vital relationships to life, both present and future, the pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church is preparing to deliver three sermons on the subjects mentioned.

BAN ON FOREIGN GAMES BY MEMBERS OF GAELIC CLUBS

Dublin, May 15.—(AP)—The Gaelic Athletic Association ban on foreign games, which means that all games excepting Gaelic football (a kind of hockey) and handball shall not be played by anyone affiliated to the Association. It also was decided that any discussion on the removal of the ban shall be prohibited for three years.

Not only are Gaiels forbidden to play any of the banned games but even their attendance at these games involves suspension.

NORTH AND SOUTH-IRELAND EXCHANGE RADIO PROGRAMS

Dublin, May 15.—(AP)—The new friendly relations between Northern and Southern Ireland are reflected in the interchange of programmes between the Dublin and Belfast broadcasting stations. From time to time each relays the other's programmes.

Dublin regularly relays London programmes, the difficulties of conveyance by land and sea lines having been overcome. The London programmes are popular in Dublin.

"BOUNCING WALLS" HELPED PREVENT SPEEDWAY DEATHS

Indianapolis, May 15.—(AP)—"Bouncing walls" and hub-high guard rails have been instrumental in preventing serious accidents in 500-mile races at the Indianapolis Motor Speedway in the last six years.

Pronounced the most dangerous speedway in the world by drivers, the course has been singularly free of fatal accidents since 1919, when two drivers were killed. The concrete walls are so constructed that when a car crashes into them, it is bounced back onto the track in a fashion that it seldom overturns. The improvements to the course were made after 1919.

SAFE ARRIVAL OF THE NORGE ALLAYS GREAT ANXIETY

Dirigible Which Vanished Behind Wall of Static Two Days Ago Arrived at Teller, Alaska, at Two O'clock This Morning

Washington, May 15.—(AP)—The War Department announced today that the dirigible Norge, was at Teller, Alaska.

Bremerton, Wash., May 15.—(AP)—At 6:25 o'clock this morning, Eastern Standard Time, the St. Paul Island Naval radio station heard the dirigible Norge talking to the Army Radio Station at Nome, Alaska.

The following message reached the Naval Station here from the Navy Radio Station at Cordova, Alaska, receiving a message from St. Paul Island, which is in the Bering Sea, 500 miles South of Nome.

"Following signal heard L B T from W X Y. Received all O K. Go ahead when you are ready."

L. B. T. is the wireless call of the Norge and W. X. Y. is that of the radio station of the signal corps of the United States Army at Nome. The St. Paul Cordova message was received here at 9:45 o'clock this morning Eastern Standard Time.

Vancouver, British Columbia, May 15.—(AP)—The dirigible Norge, from Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, across the North Pole, arrived at Teller, Alaska, at two o'clock this morning, Eastern Standard Time.

All aboard the Norge were well and everything was said to be O. K. No indication of whether the Norge had been brought to earth was obtainable here.

Teller is 75 miles northwest of Nome, on the Bering Sea.

Vancouver, British Columbia, May 15.—(AP)—Completing the first flight from Spitzbergen to Alaska over the North Pole, Captain Roald Amundsen's dirigible Norge arrived at Teller, Alaska, at two a. m., today Eastern Standard Time. Definite word of the safe arrival of the airship put to an end the anxiety which has been felt for the expedition since it vanished behind an apparent impenetrable wall of static and interference two days ago.

The crew of the Norge were all well and after their epical experience, messages received here said. It was not known whether the Norge had been brought to earth at Teller or whether it had simply cast anchor there. Teller is 50 miles north of Nome, which was the intended destination of the voyage. The United States Navy Radio Station at Cordova, Alaska, overheard the Norge talking to the Nome radio station at 6:25 a. m. Eastern Standard Time today.

Considerable anxiety was felt in some quarters for the safety of the explorers after they left the pole as a storm was reported raging in the region the Norge was expected to enter after leaving Point Barrow behind. Acquaintances of Amundsen, however, expressed confidence that the Norge would arrive at Nome safely and it was felt the delay was due to Amundsen's desire to swing out again on the vast "Blind Spot" in the Polar Sea before ending his voyage.

Radio stations of the navy and army signal corps had been maintaining a 24 hour watch for word from the Norge since its departure. The airship was reported cued over Point Barrow two days ago and at the same time messages attempting to establish communication with the Nome radio stations were heard by naval stations. From that time on trace of the Norge was lost despite constant efforts of radio operators in Alaska, Siberia and Canada to pick up messages broadcast by the airship.

Williamsburg, Va., May 15.—(AP)—President Coolidge received a radio message today from Lincoln Ellsworth on the Norge, says "Trans-Polar flight successful."

The message was forwarded from Washington to the President. Answering with congratulations, Mr. Coolidge immediately dispatched a message to Mr. Ellsworth as follows: "Message received. Hearty congratulations."

New York, May 15.—(AP)—The New York Times and the St. Louis Globe Democrat announced today that the dirigible Norge had landed safely.

Crops Suffer Lack of Rain

Raleigh, May 15.—(AP)—All crops throughout Southeastern North Carolina are suffering severely from lack of rain. Truck crops particularly will be badly damaged and cotton is considerably delayed. This was the declaration today of Frank Parker, crop statistician on his return from a week's trip over the southeastern section of the state.

"I did not see a single stand of cotton," said Mr. Parker, whose trip took him into twenty counties.

"In Robeson county where the cotton should be a foot high, I found many places that the seed had not even sprouted. Strawberries will be gone very shortly due to the drought," Mr. Parker said, "and the bean crop, unless it rains very soon, promises to be a failure. A similar condition exists with reference to cabbages and other truck products."

Crowds of people witnessed the punishment for a day and night, before authorities cut the thongs that bound the boy's hands and feet to the cross.

MEXICO PRISONERS CRUISE YOUTH WHO BEAT MOTHER

Hidalgo, Michoacan, Mexico, May 15.—(INS)—Indignant at the entrance among them of a 14 year old boy who had cruelly beaten his mother and grandmother, the prisoners in jail here crucified the youngster on a rude cross in the jail yard, after he had dressed him in a devil's costume.

Crowds of people witnessed the punishment for a day and night, before authorities cut the thongs that bound the boy's hands and feet to the cross.

ANGLERS IN TACOMA WILL BE ABLE TO FISH AT HOME

Tacoma, Wash., May 15.—(AP)—A municipal fishing pond, ten miles in length and a mile wide, stocked with millions of trout is the city's latest recreational enterprise.

The "fishing paradise" will be open to any angler who will agree to use nothing but a fly or trolling equipment. The city council will have jurisdiction of the pond with power to declare the fishing season open or closed at will.

"ALL KIWANIS NIGHT" BE BROADCAST FOR MEMBERS

INTER-CITY MEET OF ROTARIANS A GREAT SUCCESS

All Day Session Held in Ayden Featured by Splendid Program

The Inter-city meet, of group seven, Rotarians, was held in Ayden yesterday and was largely attended by members from the Washington, New Bern, Greenville, Morehead City, Farmville and Ayden clubs.

Following the registration at the Beverly hotel, at 9:45 o'clock the visitors and members of the Ayden club, went to the Princess Theatre for the morning session. The meeting was opened by a song, "America," followed by invocation by B. B. Slaughter, of Farmville.

Mr. Raymond Turnage, in a few appropriate words, delivered the address of welcome. His selection of words and his splendid personality made the visitors feel that they were welcome indeed. Mr. Jim Dawson, of New Bern, in his response, voiced the thanks of the visitors, for the cordial welcome extended them, and assured the Ayden club that it was a great pleasure to meet with them. Following the singing of "The Mummy Song," Dr. Grady Dixon introduced Gen. A. J. Bowley, of Fort Bragg, who delivered the principal address of the morning session on the subject, "Boys and Young Men."

General Bowley is a splendid speaker and his address was instructive, helpful and inspiring. The morning session was brought to a close by a selection by the Eureka College quartette and the singing of "The Old North State."

The luncheon session was held in the Masonic hall, and was opened with the singing of "Hail, Hail, We're Glad You're Here," after which a tempting luncheon was served.

Maynard Fletcher, of Washington, group leader, opened the afternoon session with an address which proved very interesting.

Mr. Robert H. Wright, President of the Teachers College, introduced Dr. Edmund S. Soper, Duke University, who delivered an address on "International in Rotary." His address was followed by the "Rotary Smile Song" and the Boy Scouts demonstration.

At 2:10 o'clock, the various clubs put on their stunts which, as usual, furnished fun and merriment galore.

The session was adjourned by the singing of the "Rotary Parting Song."

More than 130 Rotarians and ladies were in attendance.

RAID AUTO, FIND 36 PINTS WHISKEY

Deputy Sheriff W. C. Jones this morning arrested a negro by the name of Ed Summerell, searched his automobile and found 36 pints of liquor sealed in pint bottles.

The negro was brought to Greenville and the liquor poured in the sewer in front of the court house.

Mr. Jones has suspected for some time that Summerell was connected with the liquor traffic and this morning he secured a search warrant for him at Fleming's Cross roads.

Cancers Need Oxygen. No "Government Victory." More Troubles. Seven Churches Seized. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Eternal patience and endless experiment build up scientific knowledge. Professor Warburg, head of Berlin's Biological Institute, proves that cancers cannot live without oxygen. Cancers planted in a living rat grew. He put the rat in a glass cage, cut the oxygen down to barely enough to keep the rat alive. The cancer withered and died in 48 hours. The rat thrived and resumed eating when full oxygen was supplied. That will not "cure cancer," but may help to a cure.

The British strike cost $8,500,000 an hour, seventeen hundred millions in all. "The Government's victory makes it certain that no similar strike will again occur."

If that were certain, the price of the strike would be reasonable. But it was not a "government victory." Labor has proved that it can tie up the country. What is done once, may be done twice.

London's strike ends, other troubles start. Poland's situation is a downright revolution, many killed in street fighting, unpleasant news for the "League" which was "to end war by arbitration." When men want to fight they fight. Germany has milder troubles, Hindenburg having the confidence of all but extreme radicals will keep the machine going. The latest row was about the German flag. Kaiserism wanted the old flag on Germany's foreign embassy. Others wanted the flag of the German republic. Hindenburg suggests a new flag by way of compromise.

The religious question continues to agitate Mexico, and President Calles, apparently, pays no attention to protests. In various towns in the state of Tabasco, Calles has closed seven Catholic churches and will use the buildings for public schools.

He alleges that clergymen in charge of the churches abandoned the buildings rather than comply with the terms of Mexico's new constitution, and thus forfeited their right to the property.

Many are puzzled by the fact that the Catholic church should encounter these difficulties in Mexico, and in other countries, always and fundamentally Catholic, and not in the United States, where the government does not officially recognize any religion. The less government has to do with religion, the better for religion, the people and the government.

LINEMAN MEETS DEATH BY ELECTROCUTION

Salisbury, May 15.—(AP)—Robert Huit, 26, a lineman for the Southern Power Company, met death by electrocution today when he came in contact with a high voltage wire while working on a pole near here this morning. The man fell across a beam at the top of the pole on which he was working alone and his body was let down with a rope. Huit was breathing when let down but expired in a few minutes. Other linemen were working on adjacent poles at the time and went to his aid. He had been living here for the past six years and is survived by a widow.

RAILWAY MEN ARE EXPECTED RETURN TO WORK MONDAY

Hope Expressed That Workers Affected by Strike Will Be Back On Jobs by the First of Week

London, May 15.—(AP)—Most of the railway men and other workers affected by the general strike are expected to be back at work Monday. One big railway system has announced normal services for tomorrow and it is believed Monday will see a rather general resumption of passenger traffic on all lines, though it is believed freight traffic will be longer in reaching normal.

Hope is expressed that the negotiations for a resumption of work by the dockers and transport men whose petition is still unsettled, will lead to a satisfactory agreement during the week-end.

Following the recent legal opinion that the general strike was illegal and that the employers are entitled to sue for compensation against those persons responsible, it is now declared that members of Trades Unions who lost their employment through being compelled to obey the alleged illegal strike order, can recover damages against their leaders. This is the view "a high legal authority" printed anonymously in the Daily Mail today.

The people are working hard to give effect to Premier Baldwin's statement in the House of Commons yesterday. "The supreme necessity of the country requires that the largest body of men possible be brought back to work at the earliest possible moment," he said. This statement together with an agreement between the railway managers and the railway men's Union, and arrangements to resume work on the tramways, subways and omnibuses, has been greeted with hearty satisfaction. Some railway men, however, denounced what they regarded as the humiliating terms signed by the Union leaders. At a meeting of railway men at Pontypool, a busy center of the great western railroads, the men repudiated the agreement last night and increased their pickets over wide areas.

Welsh miners are displaying dissatisfaction and other mining districts may be expected to express dissent of the proposed settlement of the coal strike.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

"GOD BEFORE US"

Isaiah 52:12: "For the Lord will go before you"

This is the promise of God to the Jews in Babylon It is not an unconditional promise. The conditions are attached in the eleventh and twelfth verses.

"Depart ye..." Many would like to have remained in Babylon as they had resided there so long, and had formed many family ties and business relationships.

"This promise of the guiding presence of God is not a new one. It had been given before to Abraham, to Isaac, Jacob and Joseph; to Israel in Egypt, to Israel in the wilderness; to Israel in Canaan. And now the promise is repeated as they are about to shake the dust off their feet in the city of Babylon, and turn from the soil that had been moistened with many a tear to the city of Zion which they loved, and which was endeared to them by a thousand sacred ties.

Are these words true for us? May we make this promise our own? We want truth before poetry; facts and not fancies. Are these words true today?

Or, shall we say that they belong to the child-age of the world—an age of superstitions dispelled by science; an age of ignorance and myth?

Or, shall we say that this promise belongs to the age of miracles and to that age alone? We have no wrestling angel now. We see no budding rod. No pillar of fire by night, or of cloud by day, goes before us in our path. But will the Lord go before us? That is the question.

Assuredly He will if we obey the injunction, "Depart ye... be ye clean." Frederick Douglass, one of the greatest orators of the past generation, was once addressing a crowd of men and women in a tone of deep despondency, when an aged negro woman, stretching out her gaunt arm and extending her bony finger, called out: "Frederick, is God dead?"

The same question may be asked to silence our doubts and to quell our fears. God is not dead. He lives, immutable, eternally the same; and His promise stands for all time. The needs of men are not fewer; the burdens of life are not a whit lighter than when this promise was first uttered. And, since our needs are the same, and our God is the same, we may rest assured that His promise is the same—if we obey the command, "Depart ye... touch no unclean thing."

"Go ye out of the midst of her"—we must go. That is a settled question. We must go. We all admit that, though we sometimes forget it. Even the primary school have learned to sing: "I'm a little pilgrim, yes, yes, yes."

We are all travelers, accomplishing a journey. The infant is going on to youth; youth progresses to manhood; man travels on to the winter of old age. We must go; but how shall we go—with God, or without Him?

We need Thee all the way, Jesus the Perfect Friend, But oh! when fades our little day, Stay near us at the end!

We need Thy guiding light, To show the path we tread; Oh! Sun and Star, when falls our night, Shine brighter at the end!

We ask to hear Thy call, Where others voices blend, But when on deafened ears these fall, Name Thou us at the end!

All Light, all Love, all Peace, Through all Thy radiance send; Yet more, when earthly friendships cease, Come near, Eternal Friend!

CHAMPION OF PAST YEARS PREDICTS A 15-FOOT VAULT Seattle, May 15.—(AP)—Robert Paulding, who, carrying the colors of the Seattle Athletic Club, was American champion in 1909 with eleven feet, predicts that a pole vaulter will soon reach a height of fifteen feet.

"It will probably take a tall, thin man," he said, "with very long arms and tremendous speed to reach such a mark—someone like Charles Hoff. I thought years ago that pole vaulters would reach fourteen or fifteen feet. My best record vault was eleven feet six inches. But I had been taught the old style, no shift of the lower hand."

Shifting the lower hand until it touches the upper one enables the vaulter to pull his body to a higher level before going over the bar. Under the old system the vaulter held his hands two or three feet apart.

Paulding said that R. G. Clapp of Yale, was the first to use the shift.

HIGH SCHOOL SENIOR PLAY 'CLARENCE' MONDAY, MAY 17, COLLEGE AUDITORIUM

"Clarence," by Booth Tarkington, will be presented by the High School Senior Class at the College Auditorium Monday evening at 8 o'clock. "Clarence" has already attracted much attention and an excerpt one act was given in Chapel Friday morning. It made a great hit with the students.

This comedy is a general favorite with College and High School clubs, and was played on the screen with Wallace Reid as "Clarence." It gives us a view of a financier's home life that is at once ridiculously funny and full of truth if we look for it.

The very modern daughter and son played by Elba McGowan and Calvin Gorman, keep us amused while we watch with interest the progress of the friendship between the young governess and "Clarence" whose identity is reversed until the last.

The cast is as follows: Mrs. Wheeler's confidential secretary, Mattie Vines Mayo; Mr. Wheeler, financier, whose home life is very complicated, Waddell Leggett; Mrs. Wheeler, young and jealous wife, Blanche Clark; Bobby Wheeler, young son who is very impressionable, Calvin Gorman; Cora Wheeler, daughter who is charming if badly spoiled, Elba McGowan; Violet Piney, who fills the hard position of governess and gains the affection of everybody, Florence Overton; Clarence, a returned soldier and authority on Coleoptera who has a marvelous healing effect, Billie Brown; Della, the Irish housemaid who adds to the complications, Dorothy Ward; Digwiddy, the butler and enraged suitor of Della, Brown Mayo; Hubert Stem, grass widower and quiet captivated by Violet, Don Lassister.

Mrs. West will be at the Water and Light Commission office all day Monday to help Greenville's housewives with their cooking problems.

AN OBITUARY

Near midnight of April 27, the sturdy and true soul of Mr. Lawrence Cherry Moore, 70 years old, Confederate veteran, farmer and citizen of Carolina Township, Pitt County, passed beyond the pale of human ken from whence it came, and we know him no more in the flesh. Of Mr. Moore the Department of War, Washington, D. C., has the following record of his participation in the war between the states '61 to '65:

"Lawrence C. Moore, Pvt. Co. G, 8th Regt. N. C. Inf. C. S. A., enlisted Oct. 22, 1863, in Pitt County, N. C., and was discharged from service (or retired) Feb. 27, 1865, on account gun shot wound caused permanently ankylosis of left ankle joint, received in line of duty."

Simple record, as millions of others, which means little to the world, but in a man's life it speaks volumes, especially in the life of a Confederate soldier who fought valiantly so long against great odds in a losing cause. It was a never ending story to the one of whom we write. He was proud of his single duty well performed as a Confederate private. Often times the line of the foe numbered ten to one in battle, but that meant nothing to the private believing in the cause of the Confederacy under courageous and brave leadership, and though hungry, tired, and sometimes cold, sick and sore, he fought to win, as with him did except the final battle to victory for the cause.

Broken and permanently wounded "Tack" Moore was honorably discharged to make his way in life at a time when he should have been in the prime of manhood. The South was in poverty, but nothing daunted he took up his duty as a citizen and fought just as doggedly to win. He never married but lived with and cared tenderly for his widowed mother until her passing, when he went to live in retirement at the home of his nephew-in-law, Mr. G. Ross, where he dreamed and talked of the harrowing days of his youth, lived with and cared for his widowed mother to his kin, and would have fought just as courageously for the Stars and Stripes as he did for the Stars and Bars had it been his duty and privilege in the succeeding years.

FILM PLAY OFFERS NEW SOLUTION TO PROBLEM

A novel solution to an old problem is offered by Corinne Griffith in her first National release, "Infatuation," which comes to White's Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

The problem is the neglected wife and the solution is the ancient one used by the old Romans. When the slightest taint of suspicion attached to the good name of a Roman dame, her spouse immediately ousted her from his bed and board.

In "Infatuation," which is based on W. Somerset Maugham's stage success, "Caesar's Wife," the neglected flirts and the Caesarian metho suggests itself to the husband. But he rejects it in favor of—but it is heartless to give away the story.

Boxing Commission Active in Illinois

Springfield, Ill., May 14.—(INS)—Illinois' new boxing commission means business.

The members, O. W. Huncke, Chicago; John Rieheimer, Chicago; and Paul Prehn, University of Illinois wrestling coach, want to give Illinois cities which have by referendum approved the boxing law, bouts by boxers and grapplers as soon as possible.

Preliminary meetings are being held by the commission but the general code to be drafted will not be drawn until the members have returned from a swing around the circuit of cities having such commission control. This trip will take two or three weeks.

Illinois' commissioners do not intend to have conflicting press reports of their activities given to the public for mulling over. So they will hand to sporting editors typewritten copies of reports of their meetings.

"A baby must learn to crawl before it can walk," O. W. Huncke, chairman of the commission stated shortly after his appointment by Governor Len Small. "We'll meet our problems as they arise."

RHEUMATIC SUFFERERS

Should Read This

Mr. James H. Allen, of 97 Forbes St., Rochester, N. Y., suffered for years with rheumatism. Many times this terrible disease left him helpless and unable to work.

He finally decided, after years of ceaseless study, that no one can be free from rheumatism unless the accumulated impurities commonly called uric acid deposits, were dissolved in the joints and muscles and expelled from the body.

With this idea in mind he consulted physicians, made experiments and finally compounded a prescription that quickly and completely banished every sign and symptom of rheumatism from his system.

He freely gave his discovery which he called Allenru, to others who took it, with what might be called marvelous success. He has instructed Pitt Drug Co. and has instructed Pitt Drug Co. to dispense Allenru everywhere to dispense Allenru with the understanding that if the first pint bottle of his prescription does not show the way to complete recovery, he will gladly return your money without comment.

STATE FUNDS FOR EDUCATION SHOWS LARGE INCREASES

College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. There was no further action by the legislature until 1891, when an appropriation of $10,000 annually for the years 1891 and 1892 was authorized, "for the purpose of furnishing proper facilities for education at this institution and for purchasing additional and erecting suitable buildings."
The same year the North Carolina College for Women was established with an appropriation of $10,000 per annum for its maintenance and support. During the present biennium that institution is receiving $225,000 for maintenance and $700,000 for improvements.

The negro Agricultural and Technical College at Greensboro was established the same year, with an appropriation of $2,500 annually for maintenance.
"In 1877 there was an appropriation of $2,000 annually to each race for normal schools. "Ten years later an annual appropriation of $4,000 was made to white schools exclusive of the University, $3,000 to colored schools, and $500 to an Indian Normal School. Ten years later, 1897, the white school appropriations were made largely to the University and South Carolina College for Women.

One white normal, Cullowhee, was made an appropriation of $15,000 annually. The colored normals were given $14,100 annually, and the Indian normal $500 annually as before.

"In 1903, a new normal, The Appalachian Training School, was established and an appropriation of $2,000 annually was made." Appropriations to normal schools have continued to increase until, during the present biennium the maintenance appropriation is $586,000, for the white and negro schools and $50,000 for the Cherokee Indian Normal.

"The first direct appropriation to the public schools was made by the General Assembly of 1890. This was an annual appropriation of $100,000 distributed on the per capita basis. A total of $2,500 of this amount was to be used for rural libraries. In 1901, the law provided for an additional $100,000 annual appropriation for the purpose of bringing up the constitutional requirement for a four months school term in each school district in the state. In 1907, $50,000 was appropriated annually for high schools and teacher training of which amount $5,000 was to be applied to the Carolina Teachers College. The law of 1911 increased the annual appropriation for high schools by $25,000; the per capita fund was raised to $250,000 annually, and a state levy of five cents on the $100 valuation of property to be distributed as an equalizing fund.

For the present biennium there is a total appropriation for public schools of $3,787,500. Of this amount, $30,000 is for improvements.
"The first appropriation for the purpose of erecting buildings at state educational institutions was in 1891 when the General Assembly of that year made an annual appropriation of $10,000 to the North Carolina College of Agriculture and Mechanical Arts. This same General Assembly provided that $2,500 a year for the term of two years should be made the University for the purpose of repairing the floors, windows, plastering, and making other repairs."

COOLIDGE SPEARS AT CELEBRATION IN WILLIAMSBURG

The resolutions made "a plain declaration" of the unassailable fact that the states are the sheet anchors of our institutions.

While asserting that liberty cannot be divorced from local self government and "no plan of centralization has ever been adopted which did not result in bureaucracy, tyranny, inflexibility, reaction, and decline," the President coupled with his appeal to the states a plea for national unity and the elimination of actions based upon geographical lines under a system of governments based upon majority rule.

Discussing in this connection an "element of recent development," he said:

Direct primaries and direct elections bring to bear upon the political fortunes of public officials the greatly disproportionate influence of organized minorities. Artificial propaganda, paid agitators, selfish interests, all impinge upon members of legislative bodies to force them to represent special elements rather than the great body of their constituency. When they are successful minority rule is established, and the result is an extravagance on the part of the government which is ruinous to the people and a multiplicity of regulations and restrictions for the conduct of all kinds of necessary business, which becomes little less than oppressive. Not only is this one country, but we must keep all its different parts in harmony by refusing to adopt legislation which is not for the general welfare.

"For many years," he said, "this course has been greatly impeded from the fact that those who substantially think alike have so often-times been unable to act alike. Our country ought to be done with all sectional divisions and all actions based upon geographical lines. Washington warned us against that danger in his farewell address.
"It would be difficult to suggest anything more likely to enhance the progress of our country than united political action in all parts of the nation. In accord with the advice of Washington for the support and maintenance of those principles of sound economy and stable constitutional government in which they so substantially agree. To attempt to proceed upon any other theory can only lead in disaster. No policy can ever be a success which does not contemplate this as one object."

"The principle that those who think alike ought to be able to act alike wherever they happen to live should be supplemented by another rule for the continuation of the contentment and tranquillity of our republic. The general acceptance of our institutions proceeds on the theory that they have been adopted by the action of a majority. It is obvious that if those who hold to the same ideals of government fail to agree the chances very strongly favor a rule by a minority.

"If the Federal Government should go out of existence, the common run of people would not detect the difference in the affairs of their daily life for a considerable length of time. But if the authority of the states were struck down disorder approaching chaos would be upon us within 24 hours. Of all forms of government, those administered by bureaus are about the least satisfactory to an enlightened and progressive people. Being irresponsible they become autocratic, and being autocratic they resist all development. Unless bureaucracy is constantly resisted it breaks down representative government and overwhelms democracy. It is the one element in our institutions that is up the pretense of having authority over everybody and being responsible to nobody.

"The states should not be induced by coercion or by favor to surrender the management of their own affairs. The Federal Government ought to resist the tendency to be loaded up with duties which cause the states should perform. It does not follow that because something ought to be done by the National Government ought to do it. But on the other hand, when the great body of public opinion of the nation requires action the states ought to understand that unless they are responsive to such sentiment the national authority will be compelled to intervene.
"The doctrine of state rights is not a privilege to continue in wrongdoing but a privilege to be free from interference in well-doing."
