FIRST CANDIDATE MAY BE ELECTED NEXT THURSDAY

Interest Is Keen Throughout the Jefferson Centennial Election Territory

Luck seems to be breaking right and left for the group of North Carolina young women, who are candidates in the Jefferson Centennial Election for the six weeks education trip this summer as honor members of a National delegation carrying Democracy's message to seven European countries.

Two bonuses are offered to the candidates leading in deposit of votes to be reported Thursday May 27th. A bonus of 1,000 votes will be credited to the candidate, who on Wednesday, before six o'clock, has to her credit the largest deposit of votes, and a bonus of 500 votes will be given to the candidate making the second largest deposit.

The local treasurers of the Jefferson Memorial fund have been notified that in wiring or telephoning the number of votes which their candidates have to their credit, the report must be made not later than Wednesday noon, and in making the report by wire or telephone, a check covering the amount of the report must be in the mail.

With the first announcement Sunday of the standing of the candidates, with Sarah Brooks, candidate of Raleigh Rotarians well in the lead, with a total of 4,620 votes to her credit, having secured the first 1000 vote bonus there was a total of 20,427 votes to the credit of the seventeen candidates, indicating that $2,042.70 has already been raised for the purchase of Monticello, Thomas Jefferson's Virginia home.

The deposit of votes by all candidates must to a 50,000 vote ($5,000) before the election of one candidate is assured. With the first report of 20,427 votes, the election of the first candidate was half-way assured. It is expected that with the announcement of the second report of the standing of the candidates on Thursday, that North Carolina may proclaim that she has an official member of the national delegation elected, and has three who weeks left before June 15th in which she will assure the election of others.

In all the territory where the candidates live much speculation is going forward as to the identity of the prominent North Carolina citizens who are offering the bonuses that stir up so much interest among the candidates and their friends in the raising of funds for the Jefferson Memorial Foundation. The answer is, that there are people who are interested in having the fund raised as quickly as possible, and that they believe that in giving their subscription as a bonus, they lend incentive to the movement, at the same time swelling the state's total fund.

Because there are five candidates entered in the Charlotte election and four in Raleigh, the contest of competition is expected in these two cities. No particular territory is allotted to any of the candidates to be covered in the election. Not only North Carolina, but the whole country may be called on by the candidates in raising funds for the purchase of Monticello. The candidates in the Charlotte election are "farthest west" in the State.

Miss Hennie Lone, candidate of Greenville and Pitt county, is farthest east, and Miss Lena Redmond, of Rocky Mount, is the next farthest east candidate. Commenting on the report of funds collected through the election and announced for the first time Sunday, Walter Murphree, state chair man, said:

"I am pleased indeed that North Carolina is responding in the splendid manner which these first returns indicate. The people of North Carolina love and respect Jefferson, and the ideals for which he stood, and I believe we have every reason for feeling that the North Carolina election will be an overwhelming success, and that more than a few of the candidates entered in the election will be members of America's Birthday Party when the Pennant sails from New York, July 17, carrying a national delegation."

No general application of the order has been contemplated, Secretary Mellon emphasized yesterday, adding that it would be put into effect in other regions only at the request of the state authorities and with the consent of the individual officers affected.

COUNTY BOARD HEALTH HOLDS REGULAR MEET

Will Conduct Campaign in Effort to Eliminate Diphtheria

At the meeting of the Board of Health held May 24, the Health Officer made his usual report in regard to health and sanitary conditions in the county.

The Board of Health is very much interested in the protection of children against diphtheria, and the people are urged to avail themselves of the opportunity to take this treatment, which is practically a sure preventive. The Health Department contemplates an intensive campaign in the near future in order to eliminate as far as possible, this dreaded disease from the county.

Another matter under discussion was the control of rabies. The Board of Health feels that same can be controlled by a proper ordinance, which will either require vaccination of muzzling. The Board of Health goes on record as favoring vaccination of all dogs and the public is urged to take advantage of this vaccination against rabies. Any further information in regard to protection of dogs against rabies can be had from any veterinarian, or the Health Department.

The Board of Health was also very much concerned over the amount of typhoid fever that we have had in recent years and wishes to put before the people the necessity of keeping up the treatments, which can be had by applying to a regular practicing physician or at the Health Department.

EXECUTIVE ORDER DRY ENFORCEMENT HELD TO BE LEGAL

While Sargent Holds Order as Legal Robinson Describes It "As the Worst Blow Struck Against Prohibition"

Washington, May 25.—(AP)—Under fire in Congress and elsewhere on grounds that it is unconstitutional and it is purportedly inadvisable the executive order authorizing enrollment of state and local police as Federal prohibition agents, is held by Attorney General Sargent to be legal.

Secretary Mellon meanwhile, has conceded that he would not have recommended promulgation of the order if he had foreseen the controversy it has aroused, but since "it is doing no harm" he does not plan to urge its revocation. His view as to the harmfulness of the order, however, was not shared by Senator Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic leader who described it "as the worst blow that has been struck against prohibition" even though this effect was unintentional.

In the meantime Ned M Green prohibition administrator at San Francisco, is holding up operation of the order in California where it was primarily intended it apply, pending a conference with Secretary Andrews. Arrangements already worked out with some deputy sheriffs in California for co-operation with Federal officers in an effort to enforce prohibition in that state, Treasury officials have explained, caused promulgation of the order which was designed to give the activities legal status.

No general application of the order has been contemplated, Secretary Mellon emphasized yesterday, adding that it would be put into effect in other regions only at the request of the state authorities and with the consent of the individual officers affected.

During the discussions which have followed publication of the order, suggestions that the prohibition issue be disposed of through

Mitchell Jailed Bigamy Charge

James M. Mitchell, Jr., of Greensboro, was lodged in Pitt county jail last night when he failed to give bond for $7,500 for his appearance here at the August term of court on a charge of bigamy.

Mitchell was arrested in Greensboro Saturday on a bench warrant issued by Judge R. A. Nunn and was brought to this city yesterday by Sheriff A. C. Jackson. At a preliminary hearing before Judge Nunn last night, the bond tendered by Mitchell was unacceptable and he was remanded to jail pending arrangement of suitable bond.

The charge against Mitchell was the result of his marriage to Miss Ward Moore, of this city, on May 10, after which it was learned that he already had a wife and three children in Greensboro.

Wet, Dry and Damp.
Why the Two Kittens?
All's Well, Says Gary.
Consider the Tiny Atom.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

1928 may find the Republican party damp, with a bow dry man at the head, Calvin Coolidge, and the Democratic party wringing wet New York State, which will supply wetness for Republicans, the hold this year's convention in New York City on September 27. Dr. Butler, head of Columbia University, who says, "The Republican party should come out squarely for repeal of the Eighteenth Amendment," may be nominated for governor.

Republicans in the next National campaign may run on a ticket both wet and dry, like the school teacher who taught "round and flat" concerning the shape of the earth.

President Coolidge will be nominated for the second time, wherever they hold the National 1928 convention on the first ballot, and he will be as dry as Daniel Boone's tinder.

Only one man died in Nevada's lethal gas machine. John H. Randolph, with an "American" name, killed his mother, 70 years old, but got off with imprisonment at the last moment. Stanko Jukich, with a foreign name, who killed his sweetheart, 16 years old, was tied in the gas chamber chair. Except for a difference in names, what sound reason is there for sparing the man that loved his mother.

It was suggested that after "killing" the gigantic Sermon murderer with hydrocyanic gas another set of scientists would try to bring him to life again. That might be a useful experiment, and almost exceeds the fantastic official murder.

Those that kill lack imagination and often lose their own lives callously. Jukich laughed as they strapped him into the heavy chair, before closing the air-tight door, and said: "You see I am still smiling."

One feature will agitate kind-hearted people. Before killing Jukich, they tried the gas on two innocent kittens. They had never murdered anybody, that their eighteen lives should be taken from them.

Just before the two kittens were suffocated in Nevada, Sergeant Joseph O'Neill, of New York, dived into the East River to save a drowning dog. "A dog's life is as valuable as a man's," said the policeman. Then why murder two innocent kittens as hors d'oeuvre for a human killing.

Judge Gary, head of the United States Steel Corporation, biggest industrial enterprise on earth, told other steel men yesterday that "business is sound and growing, and prosperity is perhaps greater than ever."

That puts it conservatively. Nothing can hurt this country but its own foolishness, eagerness to mix in Europe's affairs, investing billions in doubtful European bonds, etc.

We have wealth, industrial knowledge, skill, most of the money in the world and about all the substantial credit, outside of Switzerland and the British Empire.

And we haven't even scratched this country's wealth. The biggest boom ever seen is due next fall. Write that down, and get ready for it.

Yesterday Kansas scientists with a leyden jar electrically charged to 4,900 volts made it possible to hear the actual sound of atoms dashing against each other. It's useless denying any statement about the atom, for its construction for all that scientists tell you is beyond human comprehension.

For instance, to see electrons revolving around their nucleus in the two atoms of hydrogen and one of oxygen, that make up a molecule of water, you would have to magnify a drop of water one-eighth of an inch in diameter, to a globe of water 100,000 miles in diameter. (Continued on page 6)

TESTIFIES SHE WAS IN TUB AT CARROLL PARTY

Joyce Hawley Says She Was Offered $350 to Testify No Liquor Served

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Joyce Hawley testified today in the perjury trial of Earl Carroll theatrical producer, that she not only occupied a bath tub on the stage of the Earl Carroll Theatre, but that she was drunk when she got into it from liquor served her in the theatre.

She also testified that she had been offered $350 by an associate of Carroll if she would appear before the grand jury and say there was no champagne or wine served at the party.

The trial was delayed today when Miss Hawley, who was scheduled to be the first witness, failed to appear. United States attorney Buckner, put Irvin S. Cobb, writer and guest at the bath tub party, on the stand and then requested a recess because of Miss Hawley's absence. She strolled into court an hour and a half late offering the explanation that she had read in a newspaper that she was to be the fourth witness of the day and not the first. The trial was immediately resumed with Miss Hawley on the stand.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Joyce Hawley, reputed "bath tub" girl, of Earl Carroll's birthday party, failed to appear in court today where she was slated to be the first witness in Carroll's trial for perjury in connection with the Grand Jury investigation with the bath tub party.

United States attorney Buckner, after calling Irvin S. Cobb to the stand for a few moments, asked for a recess and indicated he might ask for a warrant to subpoena Miss Hawley. He went into conference with Judge Goddard after saying he had learned Miss Hawley had left her apartment 45 minutes before but had disappeared.

Cobb testified that he saw a "rosy liquid" in the bath tub, but in response to whether he drank any of it he answered "I did not." He further testified that as he was about to leave the theatre Carell asked him why he was leaving so soon "as he was going to have a little stunt of a girl in a bath tub." He declared however that he left the theatre and returned about half an hour later at which time he saw the tub on the stage. He declared that he did not drink from the bath tub, nor did he approach it.

MR. BEN MAY DIED MONDAY

Greene County Man Succumbs to Injuries Received in Auto Accident on Sunday Night

Mr. Ben May, 32, died in the Pitt Community Hospital late yesterday afternoon from injuries received Sunday night when an automobile of which he was an occupant, collided with an unlighted car parked near Ballard's Cross Roads. Funeral services were conducted from his late home in Greene County this afternoon, and interment followed in the Good grave yard.

Mr. May was a well-known farmer of Greene County and was popular with a host of friends. The deceased is survived by his wife and two children, who have the sympathy of people throughout the community in their bereavement.

Pastor Sued

Rev. Robert McCaul, of the Washington Avenue Baptist Church, Brooklyn, was sued for $100,000 by Benjamin Tutill, parishioner, who said Rev. McCaul defamed his character.

Cleveland, O., May 25.—(AP)—If More Christians "followed literally the example cited by Jesus" when He said "was in prison and ye came unto me," they would see for themselves the manner in which we punish criminals," declared Mrs. Kate Burr Johnston, commissioner of public welfare in North Carolina, in an address prepared for delivery here today in which she voiced a scathing indictment of prison conditions, particularly in local jails.

The speaker, addressing the National Conference on Social Service of the Protestant Episcopal Church, was discussing "The Local Jail."

Prison reform was characterized by Mrs. Johnston as "one of the clearly defined movements of this day and generation."

Visits to jails and prisons would result in the arousing of "a more personal interest," Mrs. Johnston said, "and a greater influence for good" would be felt.

The visitors "would see the hopelessness and futility, the misery and demoralization which characterize many of our penal institutions. They would see the insane, epileptic, the feeble-minded herded together with the normal. They would see the tubercular and the venereal diseased in close association with the well. They would see the young and experienced taught his trade by the expert in crime. They would see in recent years, a new type of prisoner, the violator of some form of the contract set, many of whom have no inherent tendencies. They would see the fifth, the lunatic and degeneration which characterize penal institutions in general."

Mrs. Johnston made the declaration that "the jail as it is now organized must go," and expressed the opinion that any program of prison reform must include the following "four fundamentals": State control of all convicted persons. Adequate and scientific mental, physical and personal class. Adequate and varied prison industries that would provide work for all able-bodied prisoners. Special fitness and training the essentials for selection of prison officials.

"These reforms," she said, "will come about when a greater number of intelligent and influential people come to know the prisons as they are and use their influence and their ballot to better them."

50 Bodies Have Been Recovered Erupting Volcano

Tokio, May 25.—(AP)—A dispatch says that 50 bodies have been recovered from the mud and sand near Hokkaido Volcano which has been in eruption. It seems that most of the casualties resulted from land slides and floods of mud caused by the eruption. It is now believed that there were few casualties from the lava. A dispatch from Asakigawa says 50 army engineers have been sent to the scene. Also 800 relief workers from the Young Men's Christian Association have been sent to assist the needy.

Two miles of railway near the volcano have been destroyed. 10,000 acres of rice fields were devastated by floods and land slides. Newspapers make various estimates of the casualties and damage. A Hokkaido official is reported as estimating the dead near the volcano at more than 100. The vicinity of the outbreak is described as literally a sea of mud.

Mrs. Kate Burr Johnston Discusses "The Local Jail," at Social Service Meet

St. Louis to Operate Free Buses to Save $100,000 Daily Loss

St. Louis, May 23.—(INS)—Faced with a traffic problem that city officials estimate is costing the merchants of St. Louis $100,000 daily in loss of business, the novel idea of operating free municipal buses for the convenience of shoppers is being proposed here.

The idea, being worked out by Director of Streets and Sewers Brooks, proposes to have shoppers park their automobiles along the Mississippi River front, which bounds the city on the east, and is close by the shopping district.

Brooks predicted that unless some form of traffic relief is worked out, St. Louis will have no downtown shopping district within another fifteen years.

"The traffic problem must be solved in a way to aid business," Director Brooks said. "Congestion in the rush hours means loss of time and inconvenience and worry to buyers. To the merchants, it means lost business and increased costs of merchandise, as well as to crazed real estate values."

"The daily loss to our merchants now amounts to about $100,000. Unless there is traffic relief, there will be no downtown shopping district within another fifteen years."

"We soon will conduct an experiment by providing parking space near the shopping district out of the congested area. Free city bus service will be available so that shoppers without delay and worry may visit the stores. If the plan works out successfully, it will be expanded and perhaps a city appropriation will be provided."

The Automobile Club of Missouri is co-operating with Brooks in solving the traffic problem here. Another plan is being considered to making many of the downtown streets one-way thoroughfares. This plan, however, would necessitate changes in routing of street cars and would involve an expenditure of about $1,000,000.

BILIOUS ATTACKS

From Which Kentucky Man Suffered Two or Three Times a Month, Relieved by Black-Draught.

Lawrenceburg, Ky.—Mr. J. P. Nevins, a local coal dealer and farmer, about two years ago learned of the value of Theford's Black-Draught liver medicine, and now he says:

"Until then I suffered with severe bilious attacks that came on two or three times each month. I would get nauseated. I would have dizziness and couldn't work. I would take pills until I was worn-out with them. I didn't seem to get relief. After taking the pills my bowels would act a couple or three times, then I would be very constipated."

"A neighbor told me of Black-Draught and I began its use. I never have found so much relief as it gave me. I would not be without it for anything."

"It seemed to cleanse my whole system and make me feel like new. I would take a few doses—get rid of the bile and have my usual clear head, feel full of pep and could do twice the work."

STANDARD OIL COMPANY ANNOUNCES

A New Motor Fuel

BEGINNING today an entirely new motor fuel is on sale at "Standard" Service Stations and Dealers. It is called ESSO.

We distinguish it by a name of its own because it is more powerful than gasoline. However, ESSO is not intended to displace "Standard" Gasoline. "Standard" Gasoline is so reliable and satisfactory a product it is the ideal fuel for normal motor conditions. ESSO is manufactured to meet special conditions such as the following:

1. For Motors that Knock
2. For Motors with Carbon Accumulation
3. For High Compression Motors
4. For Motors that Have Lost Efficiency Through Long Service
5. For Motors Operating Under Excessive Loads
6. For any Car from which the Owner Demands Super-Service

The only way to determine whether you need ESSO is to test it in your own car. Use the gasoline in your tank down to the last gallon or so. Then fill up with ESSO. Test your car in traffic and note the pick-up. Test it on the hills—preferably on some hill where you already know how the car has performed with gasoline. This will give you a direct comparison. Then after a few days decide whether you want to buy ESSO regularly or stick to "Standard" Gasoline.

Many will find that "Standard" Gasoline meets their needs perfectly. It is a matter for each individual to decide, according to the condition of his car and the service he demands of it.

ESSO is red in color to distinguish it from Gasoline. Costs 5c a gallon above gasoline—but worth it. Look for the ESSO pump.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT MRS. MARY W. FLANAGAN

Whereas, our kind and loving Heavenly Father has taken by death from among us, and unto Himself our dear sister—Mrs. Mary W. Flanagan, we, the members of the Missionary and Ladies Aid Societies of Greenville Memorial Baptist Church, do hereby resolve—

First—That in the death of our dear sister, the societies have lost a member loved by all, one who was ever faithful and true to every interest of the societies, and one whose life and walk exhibited all those sweet Christian graces which always mark the path that is close to our Master. Second—That while we are grieved at her departure from us, and deeply feel our loss in her death, our sorrow is not without hope for we know that she is with her Saviour, whom she loved and served for many years and we shall ere long be reunited with her there.

Third—That we extend to the bereaved family our assurance of our deepest sympathy and we commend them to God, who alone can comfort and sustain them in such sorrow.

Fourth—That these resolutions be spread upon the records of our societies, a copy sent to the family, and a copy sent to the "Biblical Recorder" and "Daily Reflector" with a request to publish the same.

SOFT HATS TABOOED BY SCREEN ACTOR

He never wore a soft hat in his life that wasn't borrowed and he numbers among his hat contributions some of the brainiest men in the motion picture industry.

Noted directors, writers, critics, all have at some time or other loaned him a hat. The chap in question isn't eccentric nor is he superstitious. It just happens that Malcolm MacGregor, who is playing a leading role in "The Circle," which is coming to White's Theatre Wednesday, doesn't like soft hats.

He usually wears a cap or no head covering at all, but there are times when it is necessary for him to wear a hat in a picture. At this time he uses the hat of his director as he did in "The Circle" which Frank Borzage directed for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer.

LIBRARY NEWS

Our Slogan: "Let the Library Serve Greenville"

Library Hours: From 2 to 6 P. M. and 7 to 9:30 P. M.

The office work of the Library has been made much easier through the loan of an Underwood typewriter by Dr. R. L. Carr.

In the International Mind Alcovet set of books is an interesting little 85 pages entitled "Norwegian Towns and People," by Robert Medill. It is devoted to impressions of a traveler and is suggestive rather than informative. It interprets the spirit of Norway and its people, and pictures the physical aspects of the land and cities, leaving out entirely the political and economic side of the country.

"The League of Nations; the Principle and the Practice" edited by Stephen Pierce Duggan, is a compilation of different phases of the League of Nations as viewed by many writers. It gives the historical background, International Co-operation during the World War, The Operation of a League, International Sanctions and Limitation of Armaments, National Self Determination and Problems of a Small Nation, of Backward Areas, and of Colonies, International Control of International Waterways, Railways and Highways, International Protection of Labor, Freedom of the Seas, League of Nations and the Monroe Doctrine.

Another book, "What the League of Nations Is," by H. Wilson Harris is a clear and short account of what the League is and what it is doing.

"Wandering in Northern China," by the "Prince of Vagabonds," Harry A. Frauck, is a result of two years of almost continuous travel in Chinese territory, using Peking as his headquarters, he spent months covering the vast and often little known reaches of the old empire going afoot, by horse, by boat, by any means necessary to reach his objective points. He has given a realistic account of conditions in the upper half of the magnificent empire which was old when Marco Polo journeyed from Venice to the palace of Kublai Khan.

"The Emigrants," by Johan Bojer is in some degree, a consequence of the author's visit to this country in 1924, when he spent a large part of his time among the Americans of Norwegian nativity, or descent in the Middle West. It tells of the part of the Norwegian emigrants played in America; their heroic efforts to establish their prairie farms and their final conquest of the wilderness. It also shows the emigrants in Norway before the big adventure in the new world, their reasons for leaving the native land, and their problems and heart's desires. Mr. Bojer reveals each individual of the little band who were to be known later as the old settlers. "The Emigrants" is one of the author's most carefully wrought novels and it prevents probably the largest most complete and the most detailed fictional picture he has ever done.

Dakota's Star Solon Has Dash of the Old West

Pierre, S. D., May 25.—(AP)—The star entertainer of South Dakota's legislature will be in his seat again at next winter's session.

He is Tom Berry, rancher and raconteur from the fringe of the Bad Lands, who although a Democrat, is always elected unopposedly to a seat in the house when Mellette county goes to the polls. Berry is again a candidate without opposition.

One of the big cattlemen of western South Dakota, Berry relates that his parents were massacred by Indians who kidnapped and adopted him at a tender age. Still a young man, he points to a hairless head to prove his story that he was reared in an intertribal way as a youth, and he tells many stories of ten years of life among the Indians.

Dr. Gressler Pities German Soldiers

Countrymen do not fully realize that the present German Army is something entirely different from the pre-war army and that the Reichswehr soldier of today is an entirely different type of a soldier as compared to the Kaiser's conscripts," says Dr. Otto Gressler, the German Minister of Defense in an article of the Berliner Boersener, captioned, "The German Soldier, Past and Present."

"The pre-war conscript, as a rule was happy. Service was hard but he could always look forward to the day when he would be released. The German soldier of pre-war times was well thought of and popular, a little bit pitted but also spoiled. He belonged to the people; everybody saw in him what he had been before and what sons, brothers, or grandsons would become tomorrow. Thus, people shared his joys and sorrows.

"This is different nowadays. The German Reichswehr soldier is a professional with a twelve years' term, during which he has to lay the foundation of his future civil profession. To our sense of justice a twelve years' contract from the very start is an unheard-of hardship. A minister proposing such a law out of his own initiative would not be in office longer than an hour, if Parliament could help it.

"The fact that it is impossible for a professional soldier to quit the army, even if the soldier's job fails to satisfy him, is a serious drawback for our volunteers. Also, even for the best among them, promotion is difficult, the number of graded positions being narrowly measured."

Fear Yale Prom May Be Abolished

New Haven, Conn., May 25.—(INS)—"The old order changeth" still at Yale. Taps Day has been regulated to a mere side issue confined to a corner of the old College campus; official chap has been ordered cut out; and now the Junior Prom, enormous social function, may go by the board. Taps Day was reduced because of publicity. Chaple went out because of undergraduate protest. The Prom is threatened because it cost so much.

"Prom has reached the critical condition in which it must fight for its life" says Yale News, the official University undergraduate organ. The Prom has cost about $10,000 a year according to student statistics. Music takes $2100, supper $1900.

Worst of all however "is the competition of the 'Sheff parties'." The fraternities which furnish college-year domiciles to the students in the scientific school insist upon holding side functions during the Prom, "which take away scores of guests from the chief function of the three-day holiday.

To save the Prom it is proposed to hire only local orchestras and so reduce the music bill to a thousand dollars only, and to eliminate the supper and save another thousand. "In an unselfish attempt to preserve the Prom the 'Sheff' fraternity house should abolish all Monday parties." So the Yale News suggests, adding that unless something like this is done, "the Prom holiday may be abolished by the University authorities."

Art in U. S. Capitol Will Be Saved in Book

Washington, May 25.—(INS)—The works of art and artists of the United States Capitol will be collected in a book if Congress authorizes $2,500 for the preparation of a manuscript, provided for in a pending resolution.

The corridors of the Capitol abound in rich art. On the Senate side, one artist works constantly restoring mural decorations that were first painted when the Capitol was built. These murals, which cover every inch of the corridors on the Senate side, have been compared to similar ones in the Duse portion of the Vatican in Rome.

Besides the many large oil paintings hung throughout the building, depicting great American historical events, there is a stately hall where great men of each state are represented in sculpture. In another section, busts of famous Indian chieftains are exhibited. Such a book as planned in the resolution would be called upon, in dealing with the artistic material at hand, to give a recital of American history from Indian days, up through early Congressional sessions, to the present day.

Harmful to Dabble In Spiritualism Says Preacher

London, May 25.—(INS)—A fierce attack on spiritualism is made by Rev. Basil Bourchier, one of London's most popular preachers.

"The unsettling effect of spiritualism," he says, "on all who take it up, can only be viewed with the gravest concern. Promising to open the door to the Beyond, has in many cases only opened the door to the madhouse. Not one single nobling word or message has ever come to the inquirer. As one who has made a close study of this cult, I am bound to confess to a deep sense of disappointment.

"Spiritualism is in reality materialism, for its devotees seek to work by sight rather than faith. Death's mystery can only be solved by dying. "I have often been asked to go to seances by Sir Arthur Conan Doyle and Rev. Vale Owen. But I have always declined because it is harmful to dabble in these things."

FRENCH RACE TRACKS GET NEW STRIKE THREAT

Paris, May 25.—(INS)—Stable boys engaged at French race tracks threaten to strike for high wages.

They claim they cannot exist on the twenty francs paid them daily and demand thirty francs slightly less than one dollar. Indications are that their demand will be granted and racing will not be interfered with.

SAFETY IN CHECKS

One of the subjects most prolific in the way of texts for comment is that of the safety provided by banks to persons to engage in financial transactions of any kind. Many more persons should adopt the plan of making payments of all kinds by checks instead of in currency.

Every few days the newspapers publish accounts of thefts which have been committed in cases of persons who withdraw sums of money from the banks, or use money they have kept in their homes for payment on property or other transactions.

A bank check eliminates all possibility of loss of money in making payments. Bankers are particular to know that persons presenting checks for payment are entitled to the money, and even if a check is stolen it is highly improbable that it can be negotiated by the thief. Banks require identification before making payment on checks, and the writer of the check can immediately stop payment on it if it is stolen.

Persons who keep money in considerable amounts in the home do so at their own risk. Would-be thieves have means of securing information which may not be suspected by the person who keeps money in his home, or they may even take a chance of finding currency hidden about the house. The resulting loss is the same.

There is no reason why any individual should draw currency from the bank when a check will complete a financial transaction; neither is there any excuse for a person who receives money undertaking to be his own banker.

ADVERTISING AND BUSINESS

Advertising and business are close partners. They are respectively sympathetic. In the times of the years ago advertising was good in periods when business was good, and if there was a panic advertising slumped. Now there is less indication that business affects advertising in as great a degree as advertising affects business. In the old times merchants, for example, advertised in the local papers lib-high, spirits high, cash plentiful and when they felt that they could afford to spend money with the newspapers. But that era has passed.

Business men put their first rank business judgment, sense, skill into their advertising campaigns; for on these advertising campaigns depends the volume of their business. Competition is sharp; if business is good they advertise to keep it so and to get their own share and a little more if possible of what's doing in the trading line; if business is "off" then they realize the absolute necessity for advertising for a number of good reasons.

In the old times the business man put advertising into the business system only when he thought the system was strong enough to stand it, nowadays, he feels his business a regular diet of advertising to keep its circulation normal, its strength vigorous, its growth steady; he gives it the extra treatment when he finds that a tonic of a stimulant is most required.

Business men are coming to the same view of advertising as an element, a vital, everyday, regular, steady element in business.

GET AT THE CAUSE!

Many Greenville Folks Are Showing How to Avoid Needless Suffering

There's nothing more annoying than kidney weakness or inability to properly control the kidney secretions. Night and day alike, the sufferer is tormented and what with the burning and scalding, the attendant backache, headache and dizziness, life is indeed a burden. Doan's Pills—a stimulant diuretic to the kidneys—have brought peace and comfort to many Greenville people. Profit by this Greenville resident's experience.

Mrs. J. J. Niles, 110 Washington street, says: "I was laid off with my kidneys and back. This trouble had me feeling miserable all the time. When I was on my feet, my back ached so badly I couldn't lift anything or bend over without a sharp, shooting pain through my kidneys. Specks floated before my eyes and my kidneys didn't get right. After I used Doan's Pills from the Warren Drug Co., and two boxes relieved me." Get at all dealers. Foster-Mulburn Co., Mfrs., Buffalo, N. Y.

Jarvis City, Mr. J. Paul writes: "I awakened each morning with an unpleasant taste and was often reminded by my Mother that my breath was disagreeable. I tried perfumed tablets, mouth washes and other camouflages which gave temporary relief. After taking a few doses of Carter's Little Liver Pills my stomach and bowels were relieved, foul and impure gases eliminated." Druggists, 25 & 75c red packages.

BIG DITCH PAYS $15,000,000 U. S. EACH YEAR

Washington, May 25.—(INS)—With another good year's record in sight, the Panama Canal apparently has reached a basis that will yield Uncle Sam's treasury $15,000,000 or more each year.

The steady growth of traffic through the big ditch joining the Atlantic and Pacific leads Canal Zone officials to declare that in time the Canal not only will pay for itself but will rank as one of the best investments of the government.

With receipts for the fiscal year exceeding $19,000,000, the Canal has two months to go to exceed last year's tolls of $19,021,419.72. The Panama Railroad, power plant and other business adjuncts also are showing handsome profits.

The Canal, after a period of uncertainty following its completion in 1914 and the violent fluctuations of the war period, now is earning money at the rate of approximately six per cent on the investment. Most of the funds with which the Canal was constructed were derived from government loans bearing but two and three per cent interest.

In the accounting of Panama Canal costs, officials have charged $112,000,000 to the national defense against which profit is not figured. The net cost of the Canal and its adjuncts is carried at approximately $266,000,000 and net earnings for the last two years have exceeded $15,000,000. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1924 net revenue were more than $17,000,000.

The business of the Canal has increased six fold since the first fiscal year which ended June 30, 1915, the net tonnage passing through the Canal rising from 3,792,572 to 22,855,151 tons. Inter-coastal shipping now constitutes almost half the canal business.

The western coast of the United States and Canal has been sending chiefly petroleum, lumber and wheat to the Atlantic ports, while the largest cargoes from the big ports on the Atlantic to the west coast.

American shipping has gradually gained ascendancy in transportation through the Canal. During the first year of the Canal's operation, the tonnage of United States commercial vessels using the Canal was only slightly over the British while the latest report shows United States shipping more than double that of ships carrying the flag of Great Britain. Tonnage of commercial vessels of the largest users of the canal for the last full year were: United States, 12,271,387; British, 5,943,201; Japanese, 823,809; Norwegian, 672,633; German, 723,667.

Slum Dwellers Resist Government Housing Plans

Glasgow, May 25.—(INS)—"Sardine cans—nothing doing." Thus do Glasgow's slum-dwellers deride the efforts of the Imperial Government to take them out of the notorious tenements in which they and their families before them have lived for generations and put the into the new-fangled steel houses invented by Lord Weir and the Duke of Atholl.

The resistance in Glasgow to the government's scheme to spend a million dollars in the steel house experiment has received the support in Parliament of the Labor Party with the result that the argument over steel houses has become a leading political issue. Even the women have taken sides in the dispute. Here in Glasgow, of course, they side with their men, vociferously voicing their preference for their present grimy, insanitary tenements over a "house you can get into with a can-opener," while in London, the wife of a prominent political leader, publicly offered to live in a steel house in Trafalgar Square for two months to prove that it was a comfortable and practical form of dwelling.

It was only a few years ago that the steel house made its bow in Great Britain. The Duke of Atholl and Lord Weir, both engaged in the steel business, and finding the industrial slump was driving their workmen into unemployment, simultaneously, but independently, began the construction of the houses in the hope of solving both the employment and the housing problem. Atholl's idea was the building of a ship's deck-house for use on land, while Weir built a house of lighter construction. The Weir house can be put up more cheaply, but Atholl claims that his type is sturdier and will last longer.

The Glasgow slums, inclined to lean toward Communism and always suspicious of the Government at London, have been opposed to the steel house scheme from the start. The Labor Party in general gave the matter little serious attention until it came to light in the course of the Parliamentary discussion of the Government subsidy, that the men engaged in building steel houses, being rated as engineers and not as carpenters or brick-layers, were not so well paid as the men engaged in ordinary construction work. The carpenters' union brought pressure to bear, and now the Laborites are condemning the steel houses unless the builders are better paid, while Lord Weir and the Duke of Atholl are being subjected to bitter criticism because of their labor policy.

In the midst of all the furor, the Government is going steadily ahead with its plans for putting up the houses, but to get them occupied will be another matter.

WHAT ONE MAN HAS DONE!

A specialist in women's diseases and a recognized authority, Dr. E. V. Pierce's wonderful success in relieving suffering women, shows what one man can do. Over fifty years ago he found that Nature's healing remedies were used by the Indian women to relieve ill and pains peculiar to women, and to enable them to easily pass through the ordeal of motherhood. The result of his studies combined with his experience was the famous—Dr. Pierce's "Favorite Prescription."

UNITED STATES TIRES ARE GOOD TIRES

Latex from the United States Rubber Company's Plantations is transported to this country in tank steamers, then unloaded into tank cars, and so shipped to the Company's tire factories.

Answering Some Questions About LATEX—The New Word in Tire Building

- Question—What is Latex?
A—Latex is the milky-white watery liquid that flows from the bark of a rubber tree when it is tapped. It is the source of all rubber.
- Q—Why then is "Latex" a new word in tire building?
A—Because it was only when the United States Rubber Company began producing Latex-impregnated Web Cord that Latex was used in the building.
- Q—How is Latex used in building United States tires?
A—Every cord in a tire must be impregnated with rubber before it's built into the structure. In United States Tires this is done by soaking the cords in Latex. By this method, the cords are impregnated with pure natural rubber, giving the cords exceptional flexibility and strength.
- Q—If only United States Tires use Latex to impregnate the cords, how are other tires built?
A—The cords are "solutions" in a bath of dissolved rubber; or they are "frictioned"—rubber squeezed into the cords by roller pressure.
- Q—Where does the United States Rubber Company get its Latex?
A—A large part of it comes from the rubber trees on its own plantations in Sumatra and Malaya; and the balance from neighboring plantations where the United States Rubber Company Plantation Experts know the proper quality can be secured.
- Q—Is there then a difference in Latex?
A—Yes. Just as there is a difference in maple sugar, apples, peaches or pears, or the product of any tree.
- Q—Why don't other tire builders use Latex?
A—The processes for using Latex were discovered, patented and are owned by the United States Rubber Company.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

London, May 25.—(INS)—Girls of London and New York seem equally full of curiosity about the characteristics of their respective opposite numbers, according to Frank O. Salisbury, famous artist just returned to England from the United States.

"In America," says Salisbury, "I was always being asked to tell about the English girl. 'Tell me, Americans would say, 'why is it your English girls have such beautiful complexions?' Now that I am back in London I find English people just as inquisitive about the American girl. 'Is she I am asked, 'as vivacious and charming as she is reported?'"

"As an artist, whose life's work is the study of form and color, I may be allowed to make a comparison without incurring odium, since there is no question of rivalry."

"Making a sweeping and general contrast, I should say that the English girl is distinguished by the beauty and serenity of her pensive mood. Most artists immortalize her thus."

"The American girl, on the other hand, has a normal expression that is full of sparkle, lips slightly apart, ready to smile, setting the artist a most difficult task.

"An artist would find his ideal in England more easily than in America if perfection and regularity of features were the criterion; but such perfection may not be the only key to beauty or attractiveness. The features do not reveal the innermost feelings of the heart; but the American girl, while she does not play-act, shows by her expression that she is always on top gear."

"She owes a lot to her exhibiting climate which stimulates her wonderfully. The air is electric and this superabundance of energy makes the American girl quicker, more alert, highly-strung, witty, more intellectually stimulating."

"The English girl, in contrast, is reserved, and develops the qualities of heart which give her a finer sense of humor and a deeper sense of responsibility and power."

The agitation against the predominance of the American moving picture is extending.

A letter written by the Federation of British Industries—the most important commercial organization in the Empire—to Sir Philip Cunliffe Lister, President of the Board of Trade, draws attention to the "practical monopoly" obtained by foreign film-producing concerns of the cinema programs of the British Empire.

"They forward a letter enclosing a resolution of the Federation's Over-Seas Committee, pointing out, 'That this must have a most detrimental effect on the British prestige, and must be seriously prejudicial to the best interests of the British Empire.

Suggestion for cities, chambers of commerce, all organizations that want the world to know what they are doing.

Write to the publisher of the Oakland Times or to Mr. Carrington, publisher of the Oakland Post-Inquirer, and learn in detail how Oakland, California, uses the radio to tell the world about the new $10,000,000 dock programme.

Oakland, on the eastern edge of one of the world's finest harbors, opening into the Pacific through the Golden Gate, with the great city of San Francisco on the other side of the bay, means to be the greatest city and the greatest port anywhere on the Pacific Ocean.

That won't happen if Seattle, San Francisco, or Los Angeles, can prevent it. But Oakland begins the right way by letting the wide world literally know what it is doing.

Over powerful radio from Oakland, a programme organized by the city and the Post-Enquirer, has sent the city's plans to all civilized countries, including Australia, New Zealand, and Japan.

Mr. Carrington, a practical man, celebrated the occasion by printing a 62-page paper with more advertising than the Post-Enquirer had ever carried before. Co-operation between cities and newspapers helps both.

especially to those parts of the Over-Seas Dominions which have large colored populations.

The resolution adds that "The Committee recommend that the British Government should be asked to put this matter upon the agenda of the Imperial Conference, with a view to arriving at some agreed policy for securing to British Empire films a reasonable access to cinema screens throughout British Dominions."

The letter is the outcome of investigation which show that in the various Over-Seas Dominions and Crown Colonies, fully 90 per cent of the pictures shown are American, and a large 5 per cent are British.

In a drop magnified to that size the hydrogen electron would be eight inches long, and standing beside the atom you would need a telescope to see the electron inside of it.

The hydrogen electron, charged with negative electricity, revolves around its positively charged nucleus one thousand trillion times in a second. The atom is small, but even so, that electron travels thirteen miles a second in its tiny orbit.

Some day, the infinitely small, seen through a microscope, will be as familiar to every educated man as the infinitely great seen through the telescope, but it is bewildering now.

International rivalry developing from representation in the competitive field by six countries will be exceeded only by interest in the attempts of the fair athletes, an outgrowth of the worldwide attention attracted to the futile effort of Gertrude Ederle last year. EXECUTIVE ORDER a referendum have been increased. Senator Robinson pinned the ranks of those favoring such expressions by a vote, saying he thought "it would aid Congress in intelligently disposing of the order." His personal opinion was that in a national referendum five or six states would return large wet majorities and the remainder of the country would vote dry.
DRY ENFORCEMENT
HELD TO BE LEGAL

The White House commentator said: "Not only does the President consider it no invasion of state's rights for the Federal Government to hold state and local officers, but he considers such action by the Federal Government most considerate of the rights of states since it thereby chooses as its representative to enforce the laws the same agents which the state has entrusted with law enforcement of law."

"It was this the President believes which President Grant had in mind when he issued an order forbidding Government employment of officers by state and federal government but excepting deputy marshals.

"So far as state rights are concerned the enforcement of prohibition the President holds that the 18th amendment not only invites but commands concurrent jurisdiction over the federal government with the state government in prohibition enforcement. This principle must be followed, believes Mr. Coolidge, so far as the statutes of the federal and state government permit and to the extent that working agreements between federal and state officials may be entered into.

"It is not the intention that local officers who are clothed with federal power, will have any right to ignore state lines in their enforcement work."

Reviewing the history of the order, White House officials related that it was first requested by the Treasury Department to take care of the situation in California and the request was endorsed by the Civil Service Commission before the order was accepted.

London, May 25.—(INS)—Behind the announcement by Professor H. H. Turner, of Oxford University, that fifty miles above the earth the temperature is tropical, lies a romantic story of a poor man who has devoted his life to science.

It is revealed that data supplied by William F. Denning, a Bristol accountant, enabled Dr. Dobson and Professor Lindemann to make this discovery, which revolutionizes all previously conceived theories of the upper air.

For sixty years Denning has been working as an amateur astronomer at Bristol, and he has gained an international reputation for his work on meteors. Born in 1848, he began at 17 years of age to study the stars.

Denning has discovered five comets and more than twenty nebulae, has had over 100 papers printed by the Royal Astronomical Society and has been awarded many medals by various English and foreign astronomical societies.

He has never received any financial reward for these discoveries, and a subscription is to be opened in Bristol and other cities in his aid.

"Jefferson truly was a great man," said Mr. Murphy, "and the home he loved so well at Monticello in Virginia must be preserved as a National Memorial to the man who conceived and fought for the principles of democracy."

The Thomas Jefferson Memorial Foundation, a volunteer organization, made up of men and women prominent in the nation, was formed for this purpose. The foundation paid $100,000 on the original purchase price of $500,000 and is now engaged in the task of freeing the property of debt.

"Winners in these elections will make a patriotic pilgrimage to Paris where Jefferson achieved his early triumphs. Every dollar contributed toward freeing Monticello of debt counts as ten votes for any candidate you may select from those placed in nomination."

JAZZ OFFENSIVE INTO LOVE-MAKING OF MEXICANS HAS BARRIER IN RIO GRANDE

Laredo, Texas, May 25.—(AP)—Mingled here in the borderland where two races dwell and two civilizations meet are customers as old as romance and as new as jazz.

The Twentieth century marches blaringly down to the bewitching Rio Grande del Norte and there it stops for jazz has not yet leaped the barrier. On the other hand, the Nineteenth century fits up to the same great river of the north but does not altogether halt. The intriguing Latin tones of violin and guitar steal across to soften the din of brass and drum. The river separates two centuries but cannot bar the music of the soul.

Marriage, death, and love give a definite picture of life on the strangely moving border. These episodes become ceremonies when trimmed in Old World mood, and the breath of Old World custom gives a different atmosphere to New World life.

Love-making for the young Mexicans follows a habit centuries old. He may become enamored of a fair senorita but it is only after his father has explained the situation to her father that they may become formally acquainted. Fain would every Latin hombre pick eloquence as his pater's outstanding virtue.

The wooing must be done thru the barred windows of the senorita's home until the engagement is announced. But when the moonlight filters through the leaves, even though the formal announcement is not yet, the young senior may strum his trusted guitar under the beloved one's balcony and his recompense is a rose. Each day during the weeks just before the wedding, he passes the home of the girl and places a note beneath her door.

The "gran baile" (grand ball) is the piece de resistance of the marriage, and in its amorous lilt there is no room for modern tin pan music. Even if the home has no flooring or furniture, the parents will manage to obtain lace curtains and they will always have a place for the "gran baile."

Fiestas are numerous but none rivals the "jamaica" or Mexican fete of jollity. Decorated booths are erected along the sides of the plaza which is the public square. Each booth is in charge of senoritas, bedecked in colorful "chino poblano," a long dress of many hues, a mantilla of lace, and a rose in the hair, with a senorita presiding as judge; another will have "lawyers" and a third will be the "carcel" or jail.

Then there are a number of young women "policemen" armed with he-ribboned hoops, and when they catch sight of a young "caballero" they slip the hoop over his head and he is brought captive to the judge, who promptly fines him, and then incarcerates him in the "carcel." At each step he pays a fine of ten cents, and must square all accounts before he is released.

There is the custom of the grand promenade, where flirtation is done by wholesale. The girls and married couples saunter along in an outer line on the walks of the plaza, while on the inner line going in the opposite direction, walk young gallants. Should the eyes of two meet and should the girl cast a flower, it means that his acquaintance would be welcome, and he at once sets about to gain an introduction. These meetings frequently lead to marriage.

Plainly jazz is not the life motif of the Latin. The classical dances of Spain predominate. The "Jarabe-Tapatia" is to be seen in homes and theatres. It is danced by a young lady in a long skirted "chino poblano" and a senior in velvet "charro," which fits tightly about the legs. "La Jota" the dance of the shawl, also is a popular expression of the love for soft rhythm.

These Mexican dances and customs filter across the border to favor and modify American social life along the international boundary.

ENGLISH STAGE SHOWS IMPROVEMENT; NO REASON TO WORRY ABOUT FILMS

London, May 25.—(AP)—Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson, world famous English actor, looks forward to a better stage.

"The English stage," he says, "is better than it was."

"There are few outstanding personalities upon it, but the general level of acting by young people has improved."

"There are more accomplished young actors than actresses."

"As to the general condition of the English theatre I am an optimist. I believe that, as is the case with most forms of art, the drama is progressive and progressing, and that the English stage is in many respects, far better now than it was in my young days."

"We hear lamentations that the films are hurting the theatre. I do not believe it. London has more theatres open than ever, more plays are written and produced, and there are more actors and

"What gives me the greatest satisfaction is the talent being displayed by so many young players."

"But, all the same, one misses signs of greatness. Where are the figures comparable with Phelps, who was my master, Irving, Ellen Terry, Sir Charles Wyndham, Mrs. Kendal, John Hare, Will Terry, Sir George Alexander, Deibohn Tree, and Charles Hawtrey?"

"We have a far higher level nowadays, but not the big personalities."

"I think, too, that the plays are better than they were. We hear a good deal about 'nasty plays,' but I have seen very few plays recently that reasonably broad-minded people could object to."

Sir Johnston Forbes Robertson, who is now 73 and retired, takes no active part in the theatre nowadays, although he occasionally appears in charitable performances and is always ready to give helpful criticism in regard to the work of students for the stage. His occupations, in his retirement, are painting and golf—he started like an artist.
