DEDICATES STATUE IN POTOMAC PARK TO JOHN ERICSSON

President Declares Builder of Monitor Was Patriot Who Belongs to Two Countries

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—John Ericson was "a patriot who belongs to two countries, but we honor him most of all because we can truly say he was a great American," President Coolidge declared today in dedicating a monument to the man who came to this country from Sweden and in the critical days of the Civil War built the ironclad Monitor.

Speaking in Potomac Park, near the Lincoln Memorial and in the presence of a distinguished audience, which included Crown Prince Gustaf Adolph, of Sweden, the President said the monument should stand as a reminder of "our citizens of various races" that although he whose memory it serves and they may have "differed in blood and race, they were yet bound together by the tie that surpasses race and blood in the communion of a common spirit."

"When once our feet have touched this soil," he added. "When once we have made this land our home, wherever our place of birth, whatever our race we are all blended in one common country. We cannot put too much emphasis on the fact that in this country we are all bound together in a common destiny. We must all be united as one people."

"It is not then, for the purpose of setting one people above another that we assemble here today to do reverence to the memory of a great son of Sweden, but rather to glory in the name of John Ericson and his race as a preeminent example of the superb contribution which has been made by many different nationalities to the cause of our country."

Discussing "the greatness of the Swedish people in the country of their origin and in America," Mr. Coolidge said: "They have been characterized by that courage which is the foundation of military achievement, that devotion to the home which is the foundation of patriotism, and that reverence for religion which is the foundation of moral power. They are representative of the process which has been going on for centuries in many quarters of the globe to develop a strain of pioneers ready to make their contribution to the enlightened civilization of America."

In this connection he mentioned one American of Swedish blood who is "endowed with the old Norse spirit." Senator Lenroot, Republican, Wisconsin, who is a candidate for re-nomination and election this year.

The Senator was described as "a learned lawyer, blessed with great ability, possessed of high character, a seasoned parliamentarian with a record of prominent leadership in the legislature of his own state and in the Congress of the United States, a true American."

Discussing the battle of the Monitor and Merrimac, the President recalled that it was Ericson who built the Monitor, Dahlgren who armed her, and Worden who fought her, a significant example of the power of the Norse element in the American navy. "The old spirit of the Vikings, becoming American," he added in commenting upon the outcome of the battle, "had again triumphed in a victory no less decisive of future events than when it had hovered over the banner of William the Conqueror. It did for the Union Cause on the sea what the Battle of Gettysburg later was to do for it on the land."

FIVE WOMEN DIE IN FACTORY FIRE

Two of Victims Were New Employees and Had Been on Job Only Fifteen Minutes

Rockford, Ill., May 29.—(AP)—Miss Mary Wallick and Mrs. Mrs. Stronah, new night shift employees who had been working only fifteen minutes, were two of five women burned to death when a spark from a saw ignited a quantity of celluloid last night in the Sutton Top Shop. Another victim was Mrs. Mary Little, 40, mother of eight children. Nine other persons were seriously injured and a number of other employees of the firm, which deals in automobile accessories and manufactures celluloid sun shades, suffered minor injuries as fire swept the building. Eight of the thirteen girls working on the second floor of the two-story building, survived the fumes, smoke and flames which filled the work room a few seconds after the blast occurred on the second floor.

The bodies of five were found near a rear window of the room and were badly charred. The explosion came just as the day shift was preparing to leave and the night shift was starting work. John Sutton, proprietor of the factory, was seriously burned in an attempt to rescue the girls on the second floor. Police and firemen had to force him from the building.

Federation Women's Clubs Favor Child Labor Amendment

Atlantic City, May 29.—(AP)—The 18th bi-annual convention of the General Federation of Women's Clubs today reaffirmed its stand of years ago in favor of the Child Labor amendment after defeating a sub-resolution by a vote of 678 to 263. The sub-resolution would have authorized a program of education and of state laws adapted to local conditions. 249 votes were recorded against adoption of the resolution approving the federal amendment. The affirmative votes were not recorded as it was apparent that the resolution had carried. The resolution was adopted after a debate of more than an hour.

WINSTON-SALEM BUSINESS MAN KILLED TODAY

William H. Clainard Met Instant Death When He Plunged or Fell Beneath a Moving Street Car

Winston-Salem, May 29.—(AP)—Falling or leaping beneath a street car shortly after ten o'clock today, William H. Clainard, Sr., prominent business man of this city, was instantly killed, the wheel crushing his skull and mangle his body. He was 65 years of age.

The tragedy occurred on South Main street. The motorman saw Mr. Clainard standing six feet from the track and greetings were exchanged between the two men, the motorman said. Eye witnesses then said that they saw Mr. Clainard pitch forward under the car between the front and rear trucks and when the car stopped his head was between the wheels of the rear car. As he fell he struck a valve on the air reservoir, breaking it off and the noise of the escaping air attracted the attention of the motorman who immediately stopped his car. Mr. Clainard had been in ill health for some time. He was well known throughout the state and is survived by a widow and several children.

Messrs. S. S. Williams and Carl Witherspoon were ordained Deacons of the Immanuel Baptist Church at services held in the church Thursday night. The ordination sermon was delivered by Rev. H. F. Jones, of the Memorial Baptist Church, and was a message full of inspiration and hope. Just prior to the delivery of the message, resolutions of love and respect and a brief sketch of the life of the late Z. P. Vandye were read. Following the message Mr. Jones led the ordination prayer and the new Deacons were set apart to their office and new work.

Two Men Held In Connection With Killing Last Night

Lexington, N. C., May 29.—(AP)—Officials today were holding J. T. Black, 54, and Clyde Underwood, 21, on charges in connection with the slaying of Charlie Black, 21, last night near Thomasville. Eye witnesses said, according to Sheriff Talbert, that Underwood fired upon Black when the man attacked him with a knife. Charles Black is alleged to have made a statement shortly before dying to officers to the effect that Thomas Black shot him. The coroner's jury recommended that both men be held.

COOPERATIVE EDUCATIONAL SCHOOLS HOLD FIRST MEET

Cincinnati, May 29.—(AP)—The Association of American Colleges and Universities, which foster the "work and study" plan of co-operative education in engineering, commerce, architecture and other subjects will hold its first annual meeting here June 14 and 15. The plan enables the student to spend alternate periods first at the university, where he digests theory, and next in some established industry, where he gains practical experience. While one student is in school his alternate is at work in an office or factory. Fifteen American institutions now have co-operative courses.

IN FLANDERS FIELDS

In Flanders fields, the poppies grow
Between the crosses, row on row,
That mark our place; and in the sky
The Larks, still bravely singing fly.
Scarce heard amid the guns below.

We are dead. Short days ago
We lived, felt dawn, saw sunset glow,
Loved and were loved, but now we lie
In Flanders Fields.

Take up our quarrel with the foe!
To you, from falling hands, we throw
The torch. Be yours to life it high!
If ye break faith us who die
We shall not sleep, though poppies grow
In Flanders Fields.

AMERICA'S ANSWER

In Flanders Fields the cannon boom
And fitful flashes light the gloom
While up above, like eagles, fly
The fierce destroyers of the sky;
With stains the earth wherein you lie
Is redder than the poppy bloom.
In Flanders Fields.

Sleep on, ye brave. The shrieking shell,
The quaking trench, the startled yell,
The fury of the battle hell
Shall wake you not, for all is well,
Sleep peacefully, for all is well.

Your flaming torch aloft we bear,
With burning heart an oath we swear
To keep the faith, to fight it through,
To crush the foe or sleep with you
In Flanders Fields.

SAYS WORLD MUST HEAD OF NAVAL GET AWAY FROM DOUBLE STANDARD

Widow of Former President Declares There Should Be No Distinction Between Men's and Women's Work

Atlantic City, May 29.—(AP)—The more the world gets away from the idea of "women's work and men's work" and advances the cause of men and women's joint work the better it will be, in the opinion of Mrs. Frances C. Preston, of Princeton, N. J., widow of Grover Cleveland, who today addressed the General Federation of Women's Clubs here. Mrs. Preston visited the convention on behalf of the Needwork Guild of America and her speech before the women had to do with the explanation of this specific bit of women's work.

Interviewed by the Associated Press on the subject on club women's accomplishments, Mrs. Preston said: "It is too soon to say now what women have accomplished in their many new activities. We won't see the results until the next generation, but in order to accomplish the most, men and women will have to work together." Club women must discourage "slushy" pictures of them given in "sob stuff" and "women's interests" matter printed daily in the newspapers if they are to correct men's wrong idea of women in their accomplishments, said Mrs. Leslie S. Read, of Fayetteville, Arkansas, press chairman for the General Federation. "I assure you," she said, "that women are not reading this stuff. Men are and from it are gaining their ideas of women."

EXCELLENT YEAR IN ATHLETICS FOR GREENVILLE HIGH

Past Year Most Successful in History of Athletics in Local School

The past year in the athletic activities of the local High School has been one of the most successful in the history of the institution. Not only have the football, basketball and baseball teams scored a good percentage of victories won, but a larger number of individual players have attained honors than have been previously recorded.

During the football season of last fall, the locals were engaged in nine games in which they made a percentage of 500, having won four of their contests and tying one. In basketball they had an unusually successful season with twelve victories out of a total of fifteen games played, defeating some of the best quintets of the eastern part of the state. In baseball they suffered only one defeat out of a total of twelve games. In football they scored 89 points to their opponents' 63. In basketball they gained 472 against 259, and in baseball 116 to 37.

Those who received their letters in football, basketball and baseball were: West, Brown, F. Forbes, B. Forbes, Baseball, football, they were Critcher, Denton, Respass, Jones, Curry. The one letter players, Herrington and Chaucery in baseball, and Turnage, Dressback, Skinner and Laughinghouse in football.

Coach J. B. Crater who has headed the athletic department of the schools for the past two years deserves much praise for what has been accomplished which was due to absolute harmony that existed between him and the individual players. Mr. Crater, much to the regret of the lovers of school athletics and scores of friends, has already tendered his resignation at the close of the present season and will not return for next year.

Wedding of Ailsa Mellon Big Affair

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—The wedding of Miss Ailsa Mellon, daughter of the Secretary of the Treasury, to David K. E. Bruce, son of the Democratic Senator from Maryland, provided the capital social event today with the season's most brilliant event of the kind. Many regard it as comparable in recent social history only to the White House wedding in 1905 of Alice Roosevelt to Nicholas Longworth. President and Mrs. Coolidge and other high government officials and members of the diplomatic corps were among the 200 invited to attend the wedding, but 8,000 invitations were issued to a breakfast reception in the Pan-American Union, which architectural critics have found to be one of the most beautiful buildings in America. He is an official in the Government Foreign Office and will be stationed in the Italian Capital as Vice-Consul, his first assignment outside of the State Department.

SULPHUR FOR WITCHES CAUSES VICTIM'S DEATH

Tokyo, May 29.—(INS)—In-sane persons in Japan are regularly supposed to be "possessed of a fox." So when Eakujiro Hamada, a fisherman, began acting queerly, his wife and friends discussed ways of driving out the fox that had possessed him. They decided that the best way was to tie him up in a small room and burn sulphur therein. The treatment might have been successful so far as driving out the fox was concerned, but when the wife re-entered the room after half an hour, she found that Hamada was dead of suffocation.

CHINESE "ICE CREAM" IS MADE OF RICE POWDER

San Francisco, May 29.—(AP)—A new dish with all the taste and appearance of ice cream but composed principally of rice powder, is the invention of a San Francisco Chinese, Leong Don. The frozen dessert, called "Rice Freeze" is making rapid inroads in the ancient prejudices of the Oriental race against cold or frozen foods. "Jun Kee Freeze," the Chinese appellation, is composed of rice powder, sugar and flavoring, the rice powder first being steamed to a certain consistency and then cooled, sweetened and flavored before it is frozen in a specially constructed freezer. Cost of the materials is less than ice cream but the labor involved is greater. Mr. Don spent eight years on his concoction.

Wire Queen Mary. Prize Fights—Gambling. Advertising Is Life. Don't Sell Short. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

On her fifty-ninth birthday, last Wednesday Queen Mary of England had her daughter's new little baby as a guest at the birthday luncheon. Afterward the baby was carried to the gate of Buckingham Palace and shown to all the women and girls assembled. The English newspapers will print pictures of the baby sitting at the birthday party of her grandmother, the queen.

That's the sort of thing that postpones a republic in Great Britain. The royal family is liked, and well advised.

L. J. Farrell, who stole $200,000 from a bank, says he lost $3,000 a day betting on races—one million dollars in all. He is in jail for twelve years.

Race track betting manufactures thieves, sends scores of young men to prison.

Prize fighting gathers together criminals and spreads disease.

Racing amuses "gentlemen." And racing expenses are largely paid by stolen money.

Prize fights provide profit for political crooks. Therefore the law permits or winks at prize fighting and race track gambling.

There is an opportunity for the clergymen, something more important than the question about Jonah and the whale; or man's descent from monkey.

Great is advertising, greater even than the much dreaded power of absolute monopoly. The French Government owns a monopoly of the tobacco business. If you want a cigar, cigarette or package of scartafati you must buy it from the government.

The French tobacco business is bad, because the government, trusting to monopoly, hasn't done any advertising. Now French tobacco stores are to be made attractive and the government will push tobacco sales, and profit through intelligent advertising.

The French ought to borrow Mr. Whalen or Mr. Schulte from the United States and learn from him how to make tobacco stores pay.

Gentlemen of Wall Street, who made up their minds that the usual "summer slump" was coming and sold United States values short, are now scrambling around "covering."

Oils go up, rails go up, automobiles go up. It seems hard to make a mistake unless you sell short. Never gamble or speculate you can't make it pay. But if you have money to invest, invest it in United States.

You may hear bad news of some European bonds soon.

Charles E. Russell, city editor of the Herald in the days of James Gordon Bennett, a first class newspaper man with harmless ideas about government, socialism, etc. is not allowed to land in England.

Russel ran for Governor of New York as a Socialist, but isn't for Socialism that England excommunicates him. Russel's articles on India and Egypt have been bitter against the British Government.

It would have been wiser to let Russel land, and see for himself how the British have managed with 100,000 men in India to keep 300,000,000 Asiatics under their thumb. He would also observe that the British have stopped the custom of burning widows alive with dead bodies of their husbands in India, and the other unpleasant Hindu habit of marrying girls eight and nine years old, or even younger to men past fifty.

Sweet reasonableness would have done more with Russel than keeping him out.

New Farm Relief Bill Prepared

Washington, May 29.—(AP)—A farm price stabilization bill providing with modifications the Haugen bill killed by the House last week has been prepared by Representative McLaughlin, Republican, Nebraska, who told the House Agricultural Committee, that he would ask for early committee action.

When the Nebraska made the announcement Representative Williams, Republican, Illinois, said he would object to further discussion of farm relief until the Senate had acted.

"I am informed the Senate intends to do nothing but talk," replied McLaughlin.

WOMEN TO BE MEMBERS OF HUB FIRE DEPARTMENT

Boston, May 29.—(INS)—That firewomen will play an important part in the fire department of the future was the intimation of George E. Curran at a dinner given for Chief Daniel Bennett of the Boston Fire Department by the Women's Auxiliary of the Boston Fire Department.

"Surely, everyone will turn out to witness the fires when women become fire fighters," Curran said. This remark was made after a report from 200 of more guests.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

MEMORIAL DAY

Exodus 3:15—"This is My Memorial."

Thus God spake to Moses by the side of the Burning Bush, which was not consumed, when He gave to the son of Amran and Jochbed the stupendous task of liberating the Israelites from Egyptian bondage.

The words were accompanied by a new theophany—a fuller, richer revelation of Deity—in the new name of God which was given to Moses. "Tell them:—

This is My Name for all time, This is My Title for all ages."

God does not want us to be forgotten! Even Jesus made a Memorial Supper, and said, "Do this in remembrance of me." THEY know how prone men are to forget!

We know it, too. Only a few years have passed by, but already for a multitude of people the spiritual meaning of Memorial Day has been lost. In the busy rush of life, in the whirl of exciting pleasures, in the license of youth's new-found freedom, we forget the tremendous sacrifices by which our pleasures and liberties were purchased, and the heroisms of those who dared and died, appealing to us:—

"To you from falling hands We throw the torch. Be yours To hold it high."

It is meet that we should set aside special days to recall the great events of the past; and to raise "stones of remembrance" to those who—

Before the uncloistered shrine of human needs And all unconscious of the worth or price, They lay their fragrant gift of gracious deeds Upon the altar of self-sacrifice."

They saw the vision of a purified world. They warded to end war, and to bring to an end the brutal rule of might. THEY DIED—with the vision still before their eyes. WE LIVE—most of us, disenchanted—the colors have faded for us out of the rainbow; the green pastures of peace are parched brown and with the heat distrust and suspicion; the dream of a universal Democracy and the Brotherhood of man has changed to the nightmare of fresh racial and religious jealousies, while men as nations trusted key." Yet, however disillusioned we may be, we do well to lay our garlands of remembrance upon the mounds where sleep our heroic dead. Let us not forget the service of sacrifice they rendered: the infinite price they paid; or the purity of the motives that led them "to do and dare." For no nation can be a great nation that ignores its adventurous and courageous spirits who counted not their life "dear unto them" when their country's interests were at stake—who "having obtained a good report through faith, received not the promise: God having provided some better thing for us"—AND FOR THEM.

"Attempt the Future's portal with the Past! blood-

Let our "Memorial Day" also include those who served in the war and came back to us. It is possible to grow very eloquent over the dead while we neglect the living. There is a halo that circles the dead which our poor sight often fails to see around the heads of the familiar commonplace figures we recognize as "dough boys."

Our country has done more for its returned soldiers than has any other; yet far too much has been left undone. THEY are not complaining. Many returned to civic life to begin all over again without a murmur. Honor them. Help them. Many returned to spend all their remaining days combatting disease and suffering. Do something for the boys at Oteen, and in our other army and naval hospitals today. If you can only offer up a prayer for them—DO THAT! Let them know that we are not unmindful, not ungrateful.

Napoleon gave his soldiers, after a famous battle, a simple medal inscribed with the sentence, "I WAS THERE," and the name of the bloody field. No money could buy from his veterans that little token. Let us make everyone of those who answered "Present" at the nation's roll-call, realize that to be able to say, "I WAS THERE," is an honor time cannot tarnish; and that they can cry with Horace:

"Exegi monumentum perennius aere:" "I have reared a monument more enduring than brass."

Let our "Memorial Day" include Him who is called "the Prince of Peace;" who rules, not by might, but by love; not by force, but by enlightened consciences. Let us, individually, strive to bring back the vision of the Reign of Peace—and to make that vision—FACT. We can do this best by giving our lives to Him, and consecrating to Him our service day by day. We shall do it, if we follow the footsteps of the poet-soldier, Joyce Kilmer, who went out to fight and die in France, and who wrote this prayer:—

"Lord, Thou didst suffer more for me Than all the hosts of land and sea. So let me render back again This millionth of Thy gift. Amen."

Thus may we make our Memorial Day, God's Memorial.

Romeo Comes By Air; and Juliet Brings Sedan Syracuse, N. Y., May 29.—(INS)—Garet Clark does his courting and Romeo-ing by air. The object of his devotion, who doesn't object at all to the hazards of the air, which her fiance takes, is Miss Charlotte Cooper, a student at Syracuse University. She takes it as a matter of course, and expects Clark as regularly as if he commuted by train or trolley. Clark flies to Syracuse at least once a week, either from Rochester or from New York. Topographical feature prevent from landing in Miss Cooper's home back yard at Onondaga Hill says he does the best he can and utilizes a field about a mile from her home. Miss Cooper knows of his coming, watches the sky about the time she expects him and meets him when he alights from his plane with the family sedan. Clark is a graduate of the University of Michigan. He intends to make a career of flying for, he says, it's fascinating. The courtship-by-air system between the couple is expected to culminate soon, probably in the heights of bliss—a marriage in the air.

PALE, NERVOUS

West Virginia Lady Says That She Was in a Serious Condition, But Is Stronger After Taking Cardui.

Huntington, W. Va.—"I was in a very weak and run-down condition—in fact, was in a serious condition," says Mrs. Fannie C. Bloss, of 1964 Madison Avenue, this city.

"In my left side the pain was very severe. It would start in my back and sides. Part of the time I was in bed and when up I didn't feel like doing anything or going anywhere.

"Life wasn't any pleasure. I was very pale. I was nervous and thin, and so tired all the time.

"My druggist told me that Cardui was a good tonic for women and I bought a couple of bottles. I took two bottles, then I noticed an improvement. I kept on and found it was helping me. I have taken nine bottles. I'm stronger now than I have been in a long time."

Cardui is made from mild-acting medicinal herbs with a gentle, tonic, strengthening effect upon certain female organs and upon the system in general.

Sold everywhere. Take CARDUI THE WOMAN'S TONIC

June 10th. It is not necessary to take all the work at one reunion; part can be taken now, and the balance later by those who cannot spare four days at once.

The Wilmington Bodies will be assisted by teams from Rocky Mount, Lumberton and Dunn, N. C., as well as by prominent Masons from all over the state. Every effort is being made to make this reunion the finest in the history of the Order in Carolina.

UNUSUAL CAST IN COLLEEN'S IRENE

Lloyd Hughes plays opposite the star. This play is exceedingly popular, especially among the fair fans. It is recalled that he was recently designated by a prominent French sculptor as "the most typical and handsomest American lad."

REV. L. E. BALLARD DELIVERS CONVENTION ADDRESS AT ASHEVILLE

Asheville, May 24.—Rev. L. E. Ballard, Pastor of the First Free Will Baptist Church of Greenville, delivered the convention address at the Western North Carolina F. W. B. L. Convention at Cedar Hill Church here yesterday, before several hundred young people. The address brought to a close the convention, considered one of the best ever held. The program yesterday consisted of exercises by groups from ten or more leagues and was enjoyed by all.

The subject used by Rev. Mr. Ballard was "Looking Ahead." He gave some very interesting facts concerning the history of the F. W. B. L. in Western North Carolina and then pictured the possibilities of the future. "I know there are brook-glad meadows ahead," said Mr. Ballard, "and you can, and I believe will, search them and enjoy them."

Mr. Ballard, who was one of the founders of the movement for organized young peoples' work among the Free Will Baptists of Western North Carolina, and a former pastor of the convention church, was received with applause by the large audience. He is dated for a number of addresses in this vicinity during the next few days.

THE TRUE MEASURE OF ITS VALUE IS OWNER SATISFACTION

The most obvious proof of Oldsmobile value is increased sales in every section of the land. That is the natural response to inviting prices, winning beauty, quality construction and superior performance.

But the true measure of Oldsmobile value is the enthusiasm of its owners, and to their repeated expressions of whole-hearted praise we frankly attribute a considerable proportion of Oldsmobile's increasing sales.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Paris, May 29.—(INS)—What makes a man fall for a certain woman and vice versa? These are the two burning questions being asked in a popular French journal, "Eve," which occupies itself mainly with women's affairs.

Sacha Guitry says he falls first for charm in women and very much dislikes the "garconne" type which seems to be greatly in favor these days. He says he even likes the faults of women, provided they are feminine ones. Francis Carco, one of the best young French writers, thinks women are perfect. (One wonders if he is married?) George Courteline votes for beauty, feeling that it is even more necessary than virtue.

Cecil Corel of the Comedies Francaise thinks that men have nothing but faults and wonders if there are any women left who really "fall" for men. Spinelly is attracted by intelligence but finds that she has known only two men who have that quality. Yvonne Printemps, Sacha's young wife, also admits that it is rare and the only one that counts when she falls for a man.

Paris has opened its first Fashion Salon. Every Friday afternoon pretty mannequins display the very latest models of the fashionable dressmakers in a part of the Grand Palais which has been set aside by the Chambre Syndicale de la Couture. The dressmakers have long proclaimed the right to be classed among artists and find that it is only just for them to expose their beautiful frocks in close proximity to those of painters and sculptors.

That French children resemble dolls is the general opinion, but they don't break. Jeanne Givry, aged nine months, fell out of a window on the fourth floor, and upon examination at the hospital, no injuries could be found. A workman passing in front of the house of the accident was startled by something falling from the air, just missing his head. He picked up the child, asked the janitor to whom it belonged and walked up the four flights to the mother who was so frightened she couldn't even go to the rescue of her child. She explained that she had accidentally dropped the baby herself. Fortunately, the sloping awning at the flat floor level broke the force of the fall.

If Paris is the paradise for women, it seems to be no less liked by the rates, judging from the number one sees in the gutters and around the cellars of the old quarters of the capital. They are particularly prolific in spring-time and very dangerous germ-carriers. Dr. Marchaux of the Pasteur Institute says that there are three times more rats in the world than people. Paris has a good share of them. He is now working on a means of destroying the epidemic.

 sylvania bank, says too many laws burden the nation. They do, and it would be still worse if the nation hadn't formed a habit of deciding for itself which a particular law to obey.

Within a short time four thousand new laws have been offered by different legislative bodies in the United States.

If somebody could invent one law that would compel obedience to the old Ten Commandments that would be welcome.

Prohibitionists plan to run an independent Republican candidate for Senator in New York state. Gifford Pinchot probably will run as an Independent "dry" Republican in Pennsylvania. The wet and dry issue is evidently to become important in politics from now until 1928.

New York's dry nomination is based upon the fact that Senator Wadsworth is supposed to be wet. Politicians who ought to know say that any independent would have poor chance against Senator Wadsworth. Governor Pinchot's chances in Pennsylvania would be much better.

A Judge On Trial

Last January, upon the resignation of Judge Albion Dunn, Governor Angus W. McLean appointed Honorable R. A. Nunn, of New Bern, Judge of the Superior Court, to fill the vacancy caused originally by the resignation of Honorable J. Lloyd Horton.

Since Judge Nunn's appointment he has been holding court, very largely in his own district. He has held three two-week terms in Pitt county. The people of Pitt have had an opportunity to see Judge Nunn preside and to pass upon his ability as a Judge.

If you have been attending his courts and noticed any of the many cases that have come up before him, you can readily see how fair and impartial he has judged each case and there have been very few appeals from his decisions. Judge Nunn is a man of clean life, sound judgment, learned in the law, fair and just to all.

The voters of Pitt County are asked to look into the past life of Judge Nunn—also to keep up with his courts and see if the Governor was not discreet in his appointment.

Judge Nunn has just completed a two-week term of Civil court here. He is due your careful consideration in the Primary.
