Convention of United States Tobacco Association Session at Atlantic City Announces Schedule of Sales Following a Long Discussion; Other Matters of Interest Discussed

Atlantic City, N. J., June 26.—All the offices of the tobacco association of the U. S. A. have been elected at that body's annual convention in Hotel Taymore. The officers of the association are A. W. Carrington, Danville, Va., president; W. T. Clark, Wilson, N. C., first vice-president; E. J. O'Brien, Jr., Louisville, Ky., second vice-president. The secretary and treasurer will be designated by the board of directors, the chairman of which is F. M. Carrington, of Richmond, Va. Three new directors were elected: A. J. Billington and H. A. Noel, of Durham, N. C., and G. O. Tuck, of Louisville, Ky.

(Special to the Reflector) Atlantic City, June 26.—Considerable discussion pro and con greeted the announcement today of the dates for the auction of tobacco growers' crops in Southern warehouses, which was made by T. W. Blackwell, of Winston-Salem, N. C., at the convention of the Tobacco Association of the United States, held at the Traymore Hotel.

Mr. Blackwell disclosed the data that subsequently were passed upon by a majority as chairman of the sales committee of the association. As if anticipating that the dates recommended for sale in the various sections of the tobacco growing states would not be greeted by unanimous favor, Mr. Blackwell uttered the preamble that the committee had given long and earnest thought to all factors and to all circumstances and the schedule of dates for sales that it was about to disclose through him represented its best judgment. The committee realized that it is humanly impossible to please everybody, he said, but it had done its best.

This was the schedule he announced: August 3, Georgia; August 10, South Carolina; September 7, Eastern Carolina; September 21, Middle West; October 5, Old Belt; November 2, Dark Belt of Virginia. There was, as a strong protest against the proposed import duty surtax of twenty-seven and a half per cent of American cigarettes and twenty-two and a half per cent of American leaf tobacco that the Tariff Commission, now sitting at Peking, proposes to impose. Pursuant to provisions of treaties made at the Washington Arms Conference in 1922, agent American tobacco entering China, such a levy would bring disaster if not ruin upon the tobacco growing states of the South, it was declared.

In a lengthy resolution, it was declared that although China consumes twenty-two per cent of the total American tobacco output, the proposed import duty surtax is the highest it is planned to levy at this conference. The chair was authorized to appoint a committee to treat with a commission in Washington that will deal with the Peking conference. Protest was made against a bill pending in the house and introduced by a representative from Shelbyville, Ky., which provides that every leaf dealer and every manufacturer file four times a year in Washington a report as to crop on hand and other data.

Frank Sisson, vice-president of the Guaranty Trust Co., of New York, who is a prominent metropolitan financier, declared that the first six months of the year have shown improved business conditions, whose stability will depend upon easy money, normal crops and peace abroad.

Many a Mickle. The Falling Sparrow. Byrd Comes Home. Five Millions From Rothschild. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

"MANY a mickle makes a muckle," and Uncle Sam realizes it, thanks to Secretary Mellon. To say that the Coolidge-Mellon program cuts $835,000,000 from the public debt this year, means a saving every year hereafter of $83,000,000 in interest alone. That amount of money invested for a few years in national improvements would eliminate swamps, deserts, get rid of mosquitoes, and be worth to this country more than our total national debt.

The debt in August, 1919, was $1,000,000,000. Since then the debt has been reduced to nineteen and a half billions.

If we could find money for national improvements as easily as for war, this country would be much improved.

Yesterday 60,000 students from Catholic Parochial schools, Academies and universities participated in Chicago's Eucharistic services. On the previous night 230,000 men, members of the holy name society, lighted simultaneously 230,000 candles, illuminating the great field.

The light of those candles, physically speaking, could not penetrate far into the night through which this planet is whirling.

But bearers of the candles could reasonably hope that such was identified and counted above, where falling sparrows is noticed and the hairs are counted on the heads of all human beings, now numbering 1,600,000,000 on this earth.

Byrd, brave and able young American flier, returns to America from his flight over the North Pole, and is nobly received by the public, the mayor of New York, and a big committee.

LOST EVANGELIST NOW RETURNING TO CONGREGATION

Aimes Semple McPherson Speeding on Her Way Back to Los Angeles Today

Aboard the Train With Aimes Semple McPherson, near Gila, Ariz., June 26.—(AP)—B. H. Greenwood, city building inspector, of Tucson, Arizona, boarded this train on which Aimes Semple McPherson is homeward bound while it stopped at Tucson, for a few minutes this morning and in the presence of Detective Chief Cline and District Attorney Ryan, of Los Angeles, told the Los Angeles evangelist that she was the woman whom he had seen on the streets of Tucson four weeks ago.

Douglas, Ariz., June 26.—(AP)—The shack in which Aimes Semple McPherson, Los Angeles Evangelist, says she was held captive by three abductors was located two miles south of east of Agua Prieta Sonora, Mexico, today, members of an official searching party reported upon their return here.

Los Angeles, Calif., June 26.—(AP)—Additional developments in the investigation of the alleged kidnapping of Aimes Semple McPherson, Evangelist, may be expected on her arrival here this afternoon, it was indicated today at the District Attorney's office and at police headquarters.

Douglas, Ariz., June 26.—(AP)—With Aimes Semple McPherson speeding on her way back to her Los Angeles congregation, the search for her supposed kidnapers and the lonely cabin where she said she was held a prisoner continued unabated today.

Poses continued to struggle through the desert south of here in the hope of finding the cabin and thereby a trace of the three persons who Mrs. McPherson says kidnapped her at Ocean Park, California, on May 18. They were spurred in their efforts by the reward offered by Mrs. McPherson and a Los Angeles newspaper. The lonely cabin has been the object of search since Mrs. McPherson was brought to a hospital here Wednesday morning, telling of an escape from three kidnapers and the wild flight through the night that finally brought her here.

Yesterday, Mrs. McPherson herself joined in the search but she was unable to find the place she was held captive or to recognize familiar places she had passed in her flight.

CO-OPS MAY APPEAL YET

Raleigh, June 26.—(AP)—Whether or not attorneys for the Tri-State Tobacco Growers Co-operative Marketing Association will take an appeal to the United States Circuit Court of Appeals from the order of Judge J. M. Meekins, which threw the organization into a receivership, is expected to be decided upon next Wednesday.

At that time Judge Meekins will be with the three receivers appointed by him and with the attorneys of both sides, James H. Pough, of Raleigh, one of the receivers said today.

The receivers have given the required bond and have taken charge of the affairs of the association, but pending this conference they are taking no "radical" steps, Mr. Pough said. They are, however, handling the current business and have made satisfactory sales of tobacco, he added.

The receivership order was signed by Judge Meekins in Elizabeth City two weeks ago.

EPISCOPALIANS TO HOLD SUMMER CAMPS IN N. C.

Religious Bodies to Study in Mountains of State During the Summer

Gastonia, June 26.—(AP)—Four summer camps of the Episcopal church for the study of religious education will be held this year in the mountains of Western North Carolina, it was announced here today by the Rev. J. W. C. Johnson, executive secretary of the governing board of the local diocese.

Camp Finney, the leadership conference grounds of the Brotherhood of St. Andrew, is now in session here Little Switzerland. Camp Penick, a camp for girls under the leadership and direction of the Young Peoples' Fellowship of the North Carolina diocese, will use the equipment of Camp Finney. Mrs. F. N. Ohallen, of Greensboro, is the supervisor.

Camp Capers, representing the dioceses of Upper South Carolina and South Carolina, is holding a 12-day session at Bryard, which began June 18. The Valle Crucis summer school for religious education will be conducted July 5 to 17 at the church school at Valle Crucis, in this State.

"These camps, with the recreational spirit, will present carefully prepared opportunities for religious education and training for church service and will attract a probable attendance of 600 or more young people, teachers and other church workers of the two Carolinas," said Mr. Johnson.

O'BRIAN PREPARES SPECIAL SERMONS FOR THE SUMMER

Series of Six Subjects to Be Delivered by Immanuel Baptist Minister

Rev. L. R. O'Brian, pastor of the Immanuel Baptist church, of this city, will speak on the subject, "The Man of the Hour," Sunday morning.

This is the first of a series of special sermons to be delivered during the summer months. The series is composed of six sermons. Each will be delivered at morning services.

The remainder of the series is comprised of the following subjects: "Preparing for Battle"; "A Fatal Conflict"; "Under the Juniper Tree"; "Rescuing a Stray Sheep"; "Squaring Accounts."

These sermons will be delivered with special appreciation of the presence of young ladies attending summer school at the Eastern Carolina Teachers College.

SENATE ASKS WHEELER FOR LEAGUE BOOK

Washington, June 26.—(AP)—Wayne B. Wheeler, general counsel of the Anti-Saloon League, was directed by the Senate Campaign Funds Committee today to produce the book of the League for a period as far back as 1915. That was the year which marked the beginning of an intensive campaign of the drys for enactment of the 18th amendment. Chairman Reed said he wanted particularly the books showing the payrolls. The money sent into the state "for campaign purposes, direct or indirect" and the names of all those who had subscribed $500 or more.

Wheeler told the committee the books were in Washington and that 35 copies were being made since the originals are in daily use. Reed said this would take a long time and that the committee could find with the originals in a single day. "We want to get through with this," the Missouriian said.

MORE CLOTHES DECREED FOR THE WOMEN

New York, June 26.—(AP)—More clothes were decreed for girls, society and sports women in France, whence comes the styles, and the New York stage is involved in fashion's latest decree.

Florenz Ziefeld, who admits he imported the vogue of stage nudity, now says he is so disgusted with its development in the hands of less artistic producers that he is going to lead a campaign for more clothes for glorification for the American girls on the stage.

In a statement deploring the "daring and coarseness" of present exploiters on Broadway, the theatrical producer says the stage must be cleaned. He asked the theatre-going public to co-operate by supporting those shows that are further from nudity.

Although he says he was the first producer to stage nudity, he did it artistically he avows with no immodesty intended, whereas imitators liking proper artistic guidance have done otherwise.

CIVIL WAR FOES IN REUNION AT MARIETTA, GA.

Enemies of 62 Years Ago Mingle Together at Kennesaw Mountain

Marietta, Ga., June 26.—(INS)—Foes of 62 years ago, the shadowy lines of Lee's men and Grant's men, mingled shoulder to shoulder on the sides of Kennesaw Mountain today in commemorative reunion.

At the intersection of two ancient trenches, still plainly outlined after more than half a century, a gigantic wooded platform built a natural amphitheatre facing about an artillery pit—relic of the Confederate defense of Atlanta—was the center of activity as the celebration got under way.

Thousands of persons gathered for the blue and gray reunion; including veterans of the Battle of Kennesaw Mountain from every corner of the United States, notables from Washington, and throngs of Atlantians.

Three hundred Cobb county girls took part in a parade which started from Marietta's public square before noon, wearing costumes with the Stars and Stripes of the Union and the Stars and Bars of the Confederacy.

Robert Stancill, brother of the two slain men, was the first witness. He testified that Leland Stancill came up home for him and his brother and wanted them to go down to the house with them and help move Edward Evans' car out of the garage so he might put his car in. He and his brother, Wilfred, and Otis Briley, accompanied Leland Stancill back to his home. Leland had a shotgun in the car. They got out of the car, and Leland walked over to the garage ahead of them, with shotgun in his hand. Edward Evans was standing at the garage by his automobile. Leland and Edward had some words. Edward struck Leland, and Leland grabbed the shotgun by the barrel, hit at Edward. Edward grabbed the gun. A tussel ensued. He said Leland's back was to him when the gun went off. When the gun was discharged, he said Leland stepped back and released the barrel of the gun. Evans' hand was about the breach of the gun. He had apparently pulled the trigger. He immediately hit Leland with his fist and jumped on him and began choking him. He said that when Edward went down on top of Leland, that Wilfred joined in the fight, grabbed Edward and tried to pull him off Leland. He said that Don Evans had come up at this time, and taken hold of Wilfred Stancill. The witness said that he took hold of Don and tried to get him off.

About that time, he said, a rifle fired and he turned around in time to see Francis Johnson with a rifle in his hand, and with the muzzle of it in Wilfred's back. He said he released his hold and grabbed the rifle from Francis Johnson's hand. About that time he said Edwards Evans said: "Francis, you damn fool, what are you doing?"

He said the crowd was separated and that the two boys who had been shot were placed in an automobile with the help of others who had appeared upon the

RECOMMENDS HOLDING OF EDWARD EVANS UNDER $5,000 BOND, FRANCIS JOHNSON UNDER $1,500 BOND; ALSO RECOMMENDS HOLDING OF DON EVANS AS MATERIAL WITNESS UNDER $1,000 BOND

The coroner's jury investigated the death of Leland and Wilfred Stancill this afternoon recommended the holding of Francis Johnson, Edward Evans and Don Evans, the latter being held as a material witness for investigation of the grand jury at the next term of criminal court. Johnson's bond was fixed at $1,500, Evans' bond at $5,000 and Don Evans at $1,000.

Investigation started this morning at nine o'clock. The hearing of testimony was completed at the noon hour, at which time the jury, with two of the eye-witnesses, went out to the scene of the tragedy to continue their investigation.

The report of the jury as presented by Coroner Wilkerson this afternoon follows: "We, the coroner's jury, summoned to investigate the killing of Wilfred Stancill, find the following facts:

"That the said Wilfred Stancill came to his death by a rifle shot while in the hands of Francis Johnson, while his brother, Edward Evans and Leland Stancill, were engaged in a fight, and we recommend that he be held under $1,500 bond until the next term of criminal court.

The following verdict was returned in the case of Edward Evans: "We, the coroner's jury, find that Leland Stancill came to his death by a shotgun in the hands of himself and Edward Evans, in a general row. We recommend that the said Edward Evans be held under a $5,000 bond until the next term of criminal court."

The following report was returned in the case of Don Evans: "We, the coroner's jury, recommend that Don Evans be held under $1,000 bond as a material witness and the investigation of the Grand Jury of the next term of criminal court of Pitt county, in the case of the killing of Leland and Wilfred Stancill."

Robert Stancill, brother of the two slain men, was the first witness. He testified that Leland Stancill came up home for him and his brother and wanted them to go down to the house with them and help move Edward Evans' car out of the garage so he might put his car in. Gus Forbes testified that he knew the defendant. He said about a year and a half ago, at the request of Leland Stancill's father, that he went to the house in which Leland Stancill the two defendants, and their mother lived, to help them reach an agreement to a controversy arising out of the rental of land from Mrs. Johnson by Leland Stancill. He said that on this occasion the boys entered into a heated argument but that he prevented them from coming to blows; that an agreement was reached in regards to the division of money from the crops; that Leland Stancill apologized for insults which Evans declared he had offered to himself and mother. That Evans in turn apologized to Stancill for any unkind words or insults to him; that they both smiled and shook hands; that Evans, departed, went up stairs to his own rooms. The witness said at that time he left and went home.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT
MEDITATION

JUDAS ISCARIOT

John 13:27—"And after the sop, then entered Satan into him." (R.Y.)

It was evening, The narrow streets of Jerusalem were deserted. The people were gathered in their homes, as was the custom at Passover times. In an upper room, reclining upon heavy cushions around a long, low table, each man resting on his left elbow at right angles to the board, were the Twelve and their Master. He had just spoken to them of treachery, and beneath the suspended silver lamp their faces paled with consternation. Peter signed to John, who lay next to the Lord, to ask, "Who is it?" Jesus replied, "He for whom I shall dip the sop and give it to him," and even as He spoke He dipped the bread in the dish before him and gave it to Judas:
"And after the sop, then"— at that moment—"Satan entered into Judas."

It was the custom of the country for the host to show special honor to a guest at his table, if he so desired, by offering a special morsel as Jesus did to Judas. It was similar to our practice of "toasting" the guest of honor. Jesus had seen the uneasiness and excitement of Judas. That Judas was plotting against him He well knew. Yet, in spite of all that that betrayal would mean to him, Jesus did not hesitate to offer Judas this last token of His gracious favor and love.

Jesus threw a shield over Judas by this significant act of courtesy. Both John and Peter were men of fiery disposition. Peter, we know, was armed. Another among them, possibly John, had a sword also. Swords in the hands of such men were dangerous things when treachery to their beloved Master was afoot. But by all the beautiful romance of Oriental laws of hospitality
Jesus, in marking out Judas as His special guest-friend, had protected him from violence. In the sequel, that night Peter did use his sword—but not against Judas.

"Having loved His own,
He loved them UNTO THE END." has an added significance in the light of this incident.

Judas had formed his plan and made his bargain.
Two voices were speaking within him. One said, Jesus did not deserve this treatment from him; the other, irritated by some of the Masters teachings, said, That further patience with the dreams of Jesus was impossible while Israel lay prostrate beneath the heel of the Roman power. The most charitable view of Judas' act seems to me that he did not intend to "betray" anyone, but only to hand his Master over to the constituted authorities that His claims might be sifted.

He wanted to "bring things to a head." If he were the promised Messiah—who could harm Him? And if not, He deserved His fate.
It was too late now to retract from his agreement—the pretensions of Christ must be tested!

Then, in the midst of his wretchedness, he heard the loving voice saying, "Judas Iscaariot, thou art not eating anything. The way from Bethany has been tiring and hot today. Take this sop my hand, and eat."

The eyes of an infinite love were upon him, and for a second he hesitated.
But a man never fears and hates one so terrible as he hates and fears the object of his own malevolence. The brow of the traitor darkened. Why should this man pretend to show him kindness, this man who again and again in His allusions to money had preached at him before all the rest? Others were looking. He must take the sop. John saw the simple, courteous, loving act of Jesus; saw their hands touch; and if I could tell you what else he saw I could tell you what Hell is.
For long years after, an old man, he wrote: "And after the sop, then Satan entered into him;" and again, with dramatic suggestiveness:—
"He then having received the sop went out straightway, and it was night."

Let us learn two lessons from this gruesome history:
1. The pivot of destiny is not always something outwardly violent or great. Ofttimes the thing which determines our future is small in itself, though big with potentialities. It was only a morsel of food Judas received from the hands of his Lord, but the way in which he received it ratified his compact with Hell.

2. There is a time, for each of us, when destiny is settled. Every day we are the recipients of the gifts of God's love. But one of these gifts must be the last we shall receive in this world.

As I write, the long rolling breakers of the Atlantic Ocean are rolling in upon the shore. I cannot tell which wave will be the last to reach the line of seaweed at my feet. I only know that soon the tide will be "on the turn," and that there will be a last.

There is a high-tide in the gifts of the Almighty; and we cannot tell when the ebb sets in.

Judas did not know, did not dream that he would die at daybreak. He had chosen the night for his deed as being the safest time. And when Jesus gave him the sop he little thought it was the last kind action anyone would ever show him.

Let you and me be ever watchful that we fail not in our fellowship with Him,
of whom St. Paul wrote:
"He loved me, and gave himself for me."

MANY FAIL TO REPORT EXPENSE

Raleigh, June 26.—(AP)—Yesterday was the last of the 20 days following the June 5 primary which the law allows candidates to file their statement of campaign contributions and expenditures, but today the office of the Secretary of State received 11 more statements.

Of those filing today Solicitor Clawson L. Williams, successful in his race for the Democratic nomination for Solicitor in the fourth district spent the most.

He reported expenditures totaling $1,827.00. His only contribution, the statement said, was $12 worth of advertising by the Goldboro Argus.

Leon S. Brassfield, who defeated Solicitor W. F. Evans, for the nomination for Solicitor in the seventh district came next with expenditures of $1,605.70. He reported contributions totaling $675.

GEORGIA BEGINS WATERMELON SALES

Mopline, Ga., June 24.—(INS)—Watermelons from South Georgia's melon belt began moving north this week.

The melon crop in this section will exceed 10,000 cars this year, according to agricultural experts here.

Co-operative marketing associations already have their plans for shipping the bumper crop complete, it was said.

NATIONAL PARTY PLANS TO ADVANCE ITS MEETING

Indianapolis, June 24.—The national executive committee of the national party will meet here July 3 to consider a proposal to hold the annual convention in July instead of December, and to change the rules to provide for a membership fee of $3 yearly and an additional payment of fifty cents a month.

Should the executive committee vote favorably on the convention change, new officers would be chosen next month, said John Zahund, national president. Members of the committee will be permitted to vote by mail.

TWO OLD U. S. CRUISERS BACKBONE OF GREEK NAVY

Piraeus, Greece, June 24.—(AP)—Two American battle cruisers which Uncle Sam discarded thirteen years ago—the old Mississippi and Idaho—now form the backbone of the reorganized Greek Navy.

Bought from the American government just before the War these vessels not only played an important role for Greece in that conflict, but they figured conspicuously in the subsequent war between Greece and Turkey. They have since played a dramatic part in the various Greek revolutionary movements.

PETTING BECOMES DANGEROUS POSTURE IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, June 25.—(INS)—One-arm drivers, pedestrian mashers, curbstone shies and even preambulating flirts are finding "petting" a rather dangerous pastime in New Orleans these days.

As a result of a declaration of war on "necking" and "petting" in vehicle, or in parks or other isolated places, alleged violators of New Orleans "petting laws" are being fined as stiff as $15 for a first offense.

Eugene Paucian, charged with having had his arm around a girl in Audubon Park, as he drove with one arm, was hailed before Traffic Recorder Goff. Motorcycle Patrolman-Maeuse arrested Paucian. The girl accused the po-

ATHENS REPORT OF U. S. CREDIT MAKES TROUBLE

Mystery Surrounds Source of $28,000,000 Loan Yarn for Greece

London, June 26.—(INS)—Mystery surrounds the source of the report which has bobbed up in Athens and elsewhere on the Continent that the United States had decided to release to Greece a credit of $28,000,000—part of a war loan contracted for several years ago in Washington, but which Greece has never received.

Receipt of this sum from the American Treasury was the chief condition laid down by Greece for the funding of her war debt to the United States, the refusal to agree having caused the breakdown of debt negotiations.

Markets Get Report.

Shortly after the return of Greek debt negotiations from Washington to Athens, European money markets received what appeared to be a reliable report that the United States Government had suddenly chinked its policy, and that the $28,000,000 was to be made available to the Greek Government, apart from the question of a settlement of the war debt. The immediate result of this report, especially in Athens, was a sensational fluctuation of the drachma, followed, according to reports reaching London, by several financial failures and a general feeling of nervousness in business circles.

Bankers who could see no reason for an alteration of the American policy sat tight, but others plunged on the report with disastrous results.

Tracing Report

Efforts have been made to trace the report to its source in Athens, but official inquiries have revealed no tangible evidence of the originators of the report, although minister has taken the matter up with the Greek Foreign Office. The burden of his official protest is said to have been that the Pangalos Government should have quickly and formally denied the report before it became widespread and reflected upon the integrity of the United States Government.

In his representations, the minister also brought forward the cases of various American firms, which, through their dealings in exchange, have suffered on account of the market fluctuations.

CONFERENCE ON COTTON TO MEET IN BIRMINGHAM

Montgomery, Ala., June 25.—(INS)—Other states will be represented at the Conference for New Uses for Cotton to be held at Birmingham July 1, according to Edward A. O'Neal, president of the Alabama Farm Bureau Federation. The conference was at first intended only for Alabama farmers and manufacturers, he said, but the movement has created more than State-wide interest, and representatives from several other states will be in attendance.

FAMOUS ENGLISH ACTRESS GIVES PROGRAM HERE

V. L. Granville, the famous English actor, gave a most unique and artistic program at Teachers College on Thursday evening.

Mr. Granville is an artist of no mean reputation having played to audiences all over the United States and Great Britain.

In his Dramatic Interludes, Mr. Granville very forcefully presented characters from the great play writers to Shakespeare, Moliere and the great present day dramatists.

The costumes were gorgeous. Each conveyed to the vast audience a clear idea of the type of dress worn by men in the different ages. The ease with which the program moved, from one great masterpiece to another, showed that Mr. Granville possessed a most unique and excellent talent.

Prior to each interlude, Mr. Granville very forcefully gave the theme of the drama from which his character was taken, and the type of character he was to play. This enabled the audience to be entertained while the necessary change in costume and make-up was in progress, and also to catch the proper setting for each character. Most noteworthy did he act Oedipus "King of Thebes" from Sophocles; Menelaus, King of Sparta, from "The Trojan Women" by Euripides; Faustus, from "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus" by Marlowe; Rappagion, from "The Miser" by Moliere, and Svengali from "Trilby" by George du Maurier.

BOATWRIGHT WILL BE GIVEN NEW TRIAL

Atlanta, Ga., June 25.—(INS)—Robert Boatwright, convicted slayer of Bonnie E. Lane, was enjoying a new lease on life today following the decision of the Georgia Supreme Court granting him a new trial. Boatwright who is a Wilkes county man, was sentenced to life imprisonment.

AIRPLANE AS WEAPON TO FIGHT BOLL WEEVIL

Washington, June 25.—(INS)—The airplane is growing in favor as an agency to combat the destructive boll weevil.

One corporation which makes a business of dusting cotton, estimates that 90,000 to 100,000 acres will be dusted from the air this year. The working zone will embrace the entire southern cotton belt.

SEEK OFFICIAL SONG FOR ARMY AIR SERVICE

Washington, June 25.—(INS)—The Army Air Service wants an official song. An appeal has been broadcast throughout the service for a refrain that will be appropriate both to memorialize a comrade who has "gone west" and to lead the service into action.

Many songs already have been proposed. The songs usually revolve around death, and since this thought is close to an aviator every time he takes the air, it is noticeable that most of the songs treat death in a light-hearted fashion.

FOURTEEN STORY HOME IS MONUMENT TO U. S. PRESS

Washington, June 25.—(AP)—On the site formerly occupied by the historic old Ebbitt House, a fourteen story structure is being erected as a monument to the American Press. The National Press Building will house office rooms for newspaper correspondents, news associations and the permanent home of The National Press Club, which is erecting the edifice.

The lower interior portion of the building will house a 3500 seat theatre leased to the Fox Theatres Corporation. A feature of the theatre will be the

MANY FAIL TO REPORT EXPENSE

Raleigh, June 26.—(AP)—Yesterday was the last of the 20 days following the June 5 primary which the law allows candidates to file their statement of campaign contributions and expenditures. But today the office of the Secretary of State received 11 more statements. Of those filing today Solicitor Clawson L. Williams, successful in his race for the Democratic nomination for Solicitor in the fourth district spent the most.

He reported expenditures totaling $3,827.60. His only contribution, the statement said, was $12 worth of advertising by the Goldsboro Argus.

Leon S. Brassfield, who defeated Solicitor W. F. Evans, for the nomination for Solicitor in the seventh district came next with expenditures of $1,605.70. He reported contributions totaling $675.

GEORGIA BEGINS WATERMELON SALES

Mopline, Ga., June 24.—(INS)—Watermelons from South Georgia's melon belt began moving north this week.

The melon crop in this section will exceed 10,000 cars this year, according to agricultural experts here.

Co-operative marketing associations already have their plans for shipping the bumper crop complete, it was said.

NATIONAL PARTY PLANS TO ADVANCE ITS MEETING

Indianapolis, June 24.—The national executive committee of the national party will meet here July 3 to consider a proposal to hold the annual convention in July instead of December, and to change the rules to provide for a membership fee of $3 yearly and an additional payment of fifty cents a month.

Should the executive committee vote favorably on the convention change, new officers would be chosen next month, said John Zahund, national president. Members of the committee will be permitted to vote by mail.

TWO OLD U. S. CRUISERS BACKBONE OF GREEK NAVY

Piraeus, Greece, June 24.—(AP)—Two American battle cruisers which Uncle Sam discarded thirteen years ago—the old Mississippi and Idaho—now form the backbone of the reorganized Greek Navy.

Bought from the American government just before the War these vessels not only played an important role for Greece in that conflict, but they figured conspicuously in the subsequent war between Greece and Turkey. They have since played a dramatic part in the various Greek revolutionary movements.

PETTING BECOMES DANGEROUS PASTIME IN NEW ORLEANS

New Orleans, June 25.—(INS)—One-arm drivers, pedestrian mashers, curbstone shies and even preambulating flirts are finding "petting" a rather dangerous pastime in New Orleans these days.

As a result of a declaration of war on "necking" and "petting" in vehicles, or in parks or other isolated places, alleged violators of New Orleans "petting laws" are being fined as stiff as $15 for a first offense.

Eugene Paucian, charged with having had his arm around a girl in Aububon Park, as he drove with one arm, was hauled before Traffic Recorder Goff. Motorcyclist Patrolman Maecue arrested Paucian. The girl accused the po-

Washington, June 25.—(INS)—The airplane is growing in favor as an agency to combat the destructive boll weevil.

One corporation which makes a business of dusting cotton, estimates that 90,000 to 100,000 acres will be dusted from the air this year. The working zone will embrace the entire southern cotton belt.

SEEK OFFICIAL SONG FOR ARMY AIR SERVICE

Washington, June 25.—(INS)—The Army Air Service wants an official song. An appeal has been broadcast throughout the service for a refrain that will be appropriate both to memorialize a comrade who has "gone west" and to lead the service into action.

Many songs already have been proposed. The songs usually revolve around death, and since this thought is close to an aviator every time he takes the air, it is noticeable that most of the songs treat death in a light-hearted fashion.

ATHENS REPORT OF U. S. CREDIT MAKES TROUBLE

Mystery Surrounds Source of $28,000,000 Loan Yarn for Greece

London, June 26.—(INS)—Mystery surrounds the source of the report which has bobbed up in Athens and elsewhere on the Continent that the United States had decided to release to Greece a credit of $28,000,000—part of a war loan contracted for several years ago in Washington, but which Greece has never received.

Receipt of this sum from the American Treasury was the chief condition laid down by Greece for the funding of her war debt to the United States, the refusal to agree having caused the breakdown of debt negotiations.

Markets Get Report

Shortly after the return of Greek debt negotiations from Washington to Athens, European money markets received what appeared to be a reliable report that the United States Government had suddenly changed its policy, and that the $28,000,000 was to be made available to the Greek Government, apart from the question of a settlement of the war debt. The immediate result of this report, especially in Athens, was a sensational fluctuation of the drachma, followed, according to reports reaching London, by several financial failures and a general feeling of nervousness in business circles.

Bankers who could see no reason for an alteration of the American policy sat tight, but others plunged on the report with disastrous results.

Tracing Report

Efforts have been made to trace the report to its source in Athens, but official inquiries have revealed no tangible evidence of the originators of the report, although minister has taken the matter up with the Greek Foreign Office. The burden of his official protest is said to have been that the Pangalos Government should have quickly and formally denied the report before it became widespread and reflected upon the integrity of the United States Government.

In his representations, the Minister also brought forward the cases of various American firms, which, through their dealings in exchange, have suffered on account of the market fluctuations.

FAMOUS ENGLISH ACTRESS GIVES PROGRAM HERE

V. I. Granville, the famous English actor, gave a most unique and artistic program at Teachers College on Thursday evening.

Mr. Granville is an artist of no mean reputation having played to audiences all over the United States and Great Britain.

In his Dramatic Interludes, Mr. Granville very forcefully presented characters from the great play writers to Shakespeare, Moliere and the great present day dramatists.

The costumes were gorgeous. Each conveyed to the vast audience a clear idea of the type of dress worn by men in the different ages. The ease with which the program moved, from one great masterpiece to another, showed that Mr. Granville possessed a most unique and excellent talent.

Prior to each interlude, Mr. Granville very forcefully gave the theme of the drama from which his character was taken, and the type of character he was to play. This enabled the audience to be entertained while the necessary change in costume and make-up was in progress, and also to catch the proper setting for each character. Most noteworthy did he act Oedipus "King of Thebes" from Sophocles; Menelaus, King of Sparta, from "The Trojan Women" by Euripides; Faustus, from "The Tragical History of Dr. Faustus" by Marlowe; Haffagon, from "The Miser" by Moliere, and Svengali from "Trilby" by George du Maurier.

FOURTEEN STORY HOME IS MONUMENT TO U. S. PRESS

Washington, June 25.—(AP)—On the site formerly occupied by the historic old Ebbitt House, a fourteen story structure is being erected as a monument to the American Press. The National Press Building will house office rooms for newspaper correspondents, news associations and the permanent home of The National Press Club, which is erecting the edifice.

The lower interior portion of the building will house a 3500 seat theatre leased to the Fox Theatres Corporation. A feature of the theatre will be the

"WE KEEP YOUR FEET HAPPY"

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Hollywood, Cal., June 26.—(INS) The "Egyptian" and "Chinese" theatres in Hollywood, owned by Sid Granman, famous motion picture showman, will form the first links in the $20,000,000 chain of movie "pre-release" theatres to be constructed by Joseph M. Schenck, president of United Artists, and his associates. It was learned today.

The proposed theatre circuit will hook up all cities in the United States with a population of more than 500,000. Such key cities as Seattle, Portland, Denver, Kansas City, St. Louis, Chicago, Miami, have already been agreed upon.

President Schenck of United Artists, during his brief stay in Hollywood, arranged production schedules for Norma Talmadge, his wife; Constance Talmadge, Rudolph Valentino, Buster Keaton, John Barrymore and other stars.

Nearly every movie star has an "objectionable angle," but Kenneth Thomson, who has just crashed into pictures from the legitimate, has a "camera-proof face." An objectionable angle is the technical term for an ungainly profile, a bald spot, or some other blemish. Thomson, however, has been successfully photographed from all angles. As a result, Cecil B. DeMille, a well-known director, gave him a long-term contract.

James Cruze motion picture director, filmed the first scenes taken in the new Famous Players-Lasky west coast studios at Burbank. The "shot" was a faithful reproduction of the Continental Congress in session in Philadelphia to take up the demand of the Barbary pirates for tribute. It is a part of the historical drama "Old Ironsides."

Ronald Colman and Vilma Banky and their associates in the filming on location of Harold Bell Wright's "Winning of Barbara Worth," need not worry about their health. Samuel Goldwyn, producer, and Henry King, director, have arranged that two physicians and three nurses ready for any emergency will be on hand during the eight or twelve weeks "shooting" in the Nevada desert.

The life of Christ will be the theme of Cecil B. DeMille's next picture, "The King of Kings." "I approach with humility the his plan to build a biblical drama greatness of this subject," the famous director said today.

DeMille was recently balked in around the incident of "The Deluge," when he learned that another camp aims to produce a picture somewhat similar.

John Barrymore, following his return from Hawaii, where he sailed in the Pacific Coast yachting classic, will begin "shooting" a picture worn about the character of François Villon, vagabond, poet, famous in song and story. The ambition to play the part of Villon has been the stimulus to Barrymore that the role of Hamlet is to most actors.

Barrymore was an illustrator before he became an actor. His first accepted painting was a sketch of Villon.

CABLE LETTER

London, June 26.—(AP)—Julius Caesar is losing prestige in England. As a consequence, the old camp of the Roman soldier-statesman on St. George's Hill, Weybridge, established in 54 B. C., or thereabouts, is to be wiped off the map of vacant lots and modern flat buildings erected on it.

This has been brought about by the commissioners of works who have refused an appeal of the Walton Town council to preserve the site. They contend that no useful purpose may be served by considering the question further and besides the property is too valuable to be kept merely as a reminder of some of the old times.

Cesar had his camp at St. George's at the time he came to England with five legions and 2,500 cavalry which were harassed by the war chariots of the British prince, Cassivellaunus, vigorously that the Roman columns were compelled to withdraw to Gaul.

That religious teaching spread throughout England by wireless preachers whose fame will rival that of film favorites is among possibilities of the future as foreseen by the Right Rev. Ernest William Barnes, bishop of Bristol.

GASTON DOUMERGUE

Will Hays agreed to remain moving picture "czar" for the next ten years. When his pilots went on strike for better planes, Charles Dickinson, sixty-eight, said to be the oldest aviator in America, flew mail between Chicago and St. Paul. He holds the mail contract. Mrs. Edith Rogers, Massachusetts Congresswoman, announced that she would spend the recess investigating legislation to aid cotton mills in her district, hit by style changes to silk. Gaston Doumergue, President of France, faced a crisis when Aristide Briand had difficulty in forming a cabinet.

The bishop believes that young men of quality do not enter the ministry in sufficient numbers because other occupations afford opportunities of religious service which were more attractive. Before long, he thinks, the new presentation of the gospel which is being fashioned by leading thinkers will establish itself and the better sort of influence spread by aid of radio sermons which will reach millions of listeners where today, he says, little or no religion is ever given more than a passing thought.

British motorists are the most heavily taxed in the world, says the Motor Legislation Committee. Allowing for different methods of taxation in various countries the result for a ten horse power car works out at 10 pounds for Great Britain, 3.10 pounds for France, 3 pounds for the United States and Italy, and 2.10 for Canada.

Berlin, June 26.—(AP)—Baron Ago von Maltzan, German ambassador to the United States, devoted most of his official report of the successful American tour of Erich Rademacher, world's champion breast stroke swimmer to a discussion of the importance of athletics in fostering international relations.

"The sending of first class German athletes to foreign countries is the best conceivable propaganda," the ambassador's report said. "More attention is paid to a record-breaking athlete like Rademacher and more benefit accrues to Germany from such a man's performances than from any number of official delegations conveying good wishes. The American press was loud in its praise of Rademacher."

Imitating what he called the preposterously abbreviated styles of women landed Paul Freihoff, 24, a locksmith, in jail for a night and cost him $10.

Freihoff expressed to the court that on returning from work he was shocked to find his 2-year-old wife had bobbed her hair, and purchased nude-colored stockings and a late model afternoon frock. The sight drove him to drink, he said.

Police found him parading the streets clad only in a shirt and bedroom slippers. Arrested for disorderly conduct he pleaded that he wanted to teach his wife a lesson, but the court failed to be convinced.

Paris, June 6.—(AP)—The Paris season, which ends with the running of the Grand Prix de Paris at Long Champs Sunday, will die unregretted by few except the coal dealers and umbrella vendors. Its features most likely to be favorably recalled will be the sumptuous entertainments and the opera and the ball given in behalf of charity. But memory of it more certainly will be kept alive by the recollection of the rain, wind and cold from which France suffered worse than any European country.

The skirt beats the breeches in a contest for the most elegantly attired woman horseback rider. In the contest there were 27 entrants, ten of whom rode astride and the remainder wearing the traditional riding skirts. First place went to Mlle Molitor, dressed in a light grey riding habit and wearing a hunting stock and the regulation riding derby hat.

The dowager Duchess D'Uzes, whose riding experience includes horses belonging to the equestrian queen of the former Hippodrome circus and who acts as master of her own pack of deer hounds, opposes women riding astride. She maintains that the side saddle position gives her a firmer seat.

spent thirty-five million dollars since prohibition came, "to dry up United States." It's a big sum, but the nation wouldn't begrudge it if it did the work. The trouble is, the country is not dry, while the Anti-Saloon League was spending $35,000,000, the bootleggers were taking in more than a thousand millions.

Lady Astor, whom this country proved to be the first woman member of Parliament, demand an end to soft coal smoke nuisance in British cities. It would end in all kind of cities if the people could realize that black smoke, shutting out the health-giving rays of the sun, shortens life, prevents recovery from sickness and, indirectly, commits murder.

Coroner's Jury Ends Inquiry Into Death Stancill Brothers

(Continued from page 1) automobile, bearing the wounded boys passed him, he turned his car around again and followed them to the hospital. He stated that in conversation with him in front of the hospital, Robert Stancill had told him that Francis Johnson had pointed the rifle at Wilfred Stancill's forehead and fired.

Eye-Witness Give Testimony

Don Evans, eye-witness to the tragedy, declared that Edward Evans drove into the front yard of his home and called for his brother. That his brother was not there and he called to him. He said he went out and got into the car with him, and that Evans drove back toward his own home. He said that Evans drove the car into the garage, and that he and Evans went to the front porch and sat down. A few minutes later, he said, Stancill's car drove into the yard, and Evans got up and went to the garage. The four boys got out of the car and Leland, Wilfred and Robert Stancill approached Evans and completely surrounded him. Otis Briley, the other occupant of the car, got out of the car but did not go with the Stancill's toward the garage, and when the firing began.

The witness, who had left the porch at this time and gone closer to where the shooting occurred, declared that Leland Stancill was standing slightly to the right of Evans with his gun in his hand. That Wilfred Stancill was on Evans' left, and that Robert Stancill was in front of him.

Words passed between Leland Stancill and Evans, and Evans said, "You will have to move me first." At this stage the fight ensued. Wilfred Stancill attacking Evans from the rear, and Leland Stancill grasping his gun by the barrel, swung it at Evans' head. The butt of the gun struck the side of the garage, glancing to Evans' shoulder and fired, the witness said.

At this instant Evans struck Leland Stancill and knocked him down, jumped on him and seized him by the throat. Wilfred Stancill went upon Evans and seized him by the throat, and Robert Stancill mixed in. At this time the witness declared, the gun was in the midst of the scramble. That ready to receive them. I then carried Evans up to Mr. Jack Overman, by whom he is employed, and carried Johnson back home."

Negro Testifies
Will Joyner, negro, testified that he lived close to the scene of the tragedy and that prior to the tragedy he observed the Stancill car as it drove from the yard and went down the road. He then went to his back porch to perform some of his duties and did not see the Evans car come out of the yard, he said. But a few minutes later, upon returning to the front of the house, he saw the Stancill car, re-enter the yard.

At this time Don Evans was seated on the porch of the home where Stancill and the defendants lived, and that the lights from the car showed Edward Evans walking toward the garage. The car stopped, the lights turned off, a few minutes later he heard the scuffle followed by shots. When he arrived at the scene of the tragedy, Leland Stancill had already been placed in the automobile and the witness helped to put Wilfred Stancill into the car, he said.

Rothschild Sees U. S. Fortunes Cut

Paris, June 26.—(INS)—Baron de Rothschild believes the immense fortunes of great American families are due to dwindle because of the lack of centralized control after the death of the head of the family. "The administration of our family fortune is symbolized in our crest which represents five arrows, grasped in a closed hand. The five arrows represents the five brothers and the hand, the unity of purpose which inspires them. Following a Hebraic and Roman custom the oldest brother or the eldest son is the head of the family and the making of all important decisions is visited in him. Any member of the family contesting the general will, as approved by the family council is automatically eliminated from all further interest in the control of the resources."

Baron Henri is the present head of the family which includes members in France, Germany and England. As different problems come up, a family council is summoned at which he presides and to which all male members of the family over 21 are convoked, whether they be at Frankfurt, London or Paris.

Phoney Count Is Spoiled by Petting

Winthrop, Mass., June 26.—(INS)—I suppose in a slight degree I'm partly to blame. I petted him too much, as did his mother. I manicured his fingernails and Truly a thunderbolt of dramatic power. A mighty spectacular racing romance from Gerald Beaumont's Red Book Magazine story "Heaven Bent."

Also Pathe News and comedy. Prices, mat. 10-30c, night 10-40c.

He was plain Nicholas Wiseman, a shoe clerk, when I married him in Montreal in 1918. He was only 21 at the time and I was younger.

"There has been speculation about his early career because of his masquerading. He comes from good honest people, but not royalty. His father was Solomon Wiseman of Montreal, now dead. His mother is a cultured woman. She is an instructor in French. Her maiden name was Rosa Steinmetz. The electrical wizard was her cousin. So you can see my husband is well connected on his mother's side.

"The trouble with Nicholas is that he talks and thinks big, but never goes to work. No man could want a better home. He has intelligence, personality and appearance, if he would only forget his affairs with women. I had to have my telephone disconnected. The last bill for $90, chiefly for chats with girl admirers, proved too expensive. You see he didn't pay the bills. He hasn't contributed to my support or that of our 7-year-old daughter since he went away."

"Would you believe it?" she continued, "I pressed the one suit he had when we were married every single night. I slaved for him to make him happy and this is my reward."

"Women have been his ruin. I blame most of all a certain woman in the Back Bay who advised him to leave me and his child, according to his own admission to me. He deserted me and Miriam on New Year's day for no reason."

"He craves excitement and adventure. Take this title business. He's no French count. I don't know why he ever posed as one or why he changed his name from Wiseman to 'Monte.'"
