FIRST OF SERIES UNION SERVICES SUNDAY NIGHT

Rev. H. Frederick Jones to Conduct the First of Series to Be Held On Court House Lawn

The first of a series of union services to be conducted by the churches of this city will be held on the court house lawn tomorrow night at eight o'clock.

Tomorrow evening's service will be conducted by Rev. H. Frederick Jones, pastor of the Memorial Baptist Church.

Seats have been arranged on the lawn for more than five hundred persons but in case of inclement weather the services will be conducted inside the court house.

Suspected Slayer Tryon Society Girl Died Early Today

Tryon, July 17.—(AP)—Q. C. Sonner, Jr., companion of Miss Jean Braswell, Tryon society girl, on the night of July 7, when she was shot to death, died here today.

Young Sonner died at three o'clock this morning. The boy had been improving steadily and it was hoped by physicians that he would recover from the two bullet wounds he received above and below the heart.

Before lapsing into the coma the youth had indicated no desire to make any statement concerning the week-old tragedy.

The dead boy's original statement that his pretty young companion and he were shot by another boy named "Jimmie," who escaped, stands as the only solution of the tragedy on record.

WOLFFE IS DOUBTFUL OF CANNEL'S CONQUEST BY WOMEN SWIMMERS

Cape Gris Nez, July 16.—(AP)—Hardened veterans of the sea and peasants who have watched for many a long year are speculating over the possibility of any woman being able to swim from here to the English coast.

This summer at least four women will make the attempt, and James Wolffe, who has tried 21 times to reach the other shore, declares:

"The victory of a woman over the Channel is possible, but is it probable? I will not say that it is."

BANK SITUATION NORTH CAROLINA BEST IN YEARS

Chief Bank Examiner Declares Failure of Georgia Chain Banks Does Not Affect This State

Raleigh, July 17.—(AP)—In order to allay any uneasiness which might have been caused by reports of banks in this state over the banking situation in Georgia and its possible effect in North Carolina, John Mitchell, chief bank examiner, this afternoon issued the following statement:

"There is not present in North Carolina any system of chain banking which could produce a situation similar to that which has developed recently in the State of Georgia. So far as has been ascertained the relationship existing between banks of this state and Georgia institutions is of such a nature that no harm to North Carolina banks can possibly result from the Georgia failure."

"The whole banking system in North Carolina is sounder than it has been in the past six years. There is no occasion for an alarm. The banking structure of this state is sound and merits the confidence of the public."

ORDER FOR REMOVAL PITT SHERIFF SIGNED BY JUDGE NUNN TODAY

MANY CRUELTIES BROUGHT TO LIGHT CRANFORD TRIAL

Testimony As to Cruelty by Convict Boss Continues to Pile Up As the Trial Progresses

Albemarle, July 17.—(AP)—The state was still calling witnesses today against Nevin C. Cranford, former convict, superintendent of Stanley County, who is on trial charged with murdering two prisoners, and indications are that the prosecution will not rest before late Monday.

James Poe, attorney for Cranford, moved today that the jury be taken to the spot where Carl Leake, a negro witness yesterday testified that John Leake, a negro convict had been buried after dying from Cranford's mistreatment.

Judge T. R. Finley refused the motion and ordered the defense to present photographs of the grave or well. The defense contended that the spot is an abandoned well filled with garbage.

Mrs. Walter Milton was the first witness and told the jury that she had seen Cranford hit many prisoners with sticks while they were working on the streets of Albemarle. She said that was sixteen years ago. Pink Russell, another witness, testified that twelve years ago he saw Cranford hit a negro on the head with a pick handle, knocking him down.

Charlie Moore, a former convict guard, next took the stand. He said he saw five men severely whipped by the defendant, Henry Grady Sides, of this county, said while serving a term on the chain gang, Cranford assigned him to a job as a tractor driver, and that in cranking it he broke his arm. He testified that the foreman refused him a surgeon and that his arm is permanently bent as the result. Sides also described other alleged cruelties to prisoners.

MT. CLEMENS FACES A WATER FAMINE

Mt. Clemens, Mich., July 16.—(INS)—This city, known internationally as the "Bath City," faces a water famine. Pressure in the city mains has dropped from 60 to 25 pounds and water cannot be forced above the first floor in hotels.

City engineer Childs announced the wells from which the city derives its water supply, are going dry. He said that even heavy rains would not relieve the situation. The city must go to Detroit or Lake St. Clair for a water supply, he explained, but in the meantime, may be menaced by fire.

In case of a serious fire, city officials said it probably will be necessary to turn the water of Clinton river, which is unfit for drinking purposes, into the city mains.

Irregularities in Handling of County Funds Causes Commissioner to File Petition This Morning for Temporary Removal; Sheriff Jackson Out of City

A report from New Bern shortly after two o'clock this afternoon stated that Judge R. A. Nunn, of that city, this afternoon signed the order removing Sheriff Amos C. Jackson, of Pitt County, from office in compliance with a petition filed here this morning by members of the County Board of Commissioners.

A petition filed here at 10 o'clock this morning seeks removal of Sheriff A. C. Jackson from office on charges of irregularities in the handling of public funds and conduct unbecoming a public official. Judge Albion Dunn, who with F. G. James and Son, is representing the county, left shortly before noon for New Bern to present the petition before Judge R. A. Nunn.

The petition filed under section 3,208 Consolidated Statutes charges failure to turn over considerable sums of the county's money for long periods of time after collection. The items listed include $9,727.00 collected from the Norfolk-Southern Railroad Company on January 30 and turned over on June 10, failure to pay over or account for $8,273.81 that had been collected, failure to account for $12,397.00 drainage tax and bills of cost. The petition also charges conduct unbecoming a public official, namely the drinking of intoxicating liquors.

At a recent meeting the Board of Commissioners had adopted a resolution requesting Sheriff Jackson to appear before it yesterday for explanation and settlement but at the appointed time he failed to appear and efforts to get in touch with him were unsuccessful. In filing the petition the members of the board are seeking temporary removal of Sheriff Jackson, from office pending hearing of the case in court.

It was stated on authority today that whatever the outcome of the investigation might be the county was in no danger of sustaining any financial loss as the office was heavily bonded.

Sheriff Jackson was at present ending his second term in that capacity and in the recent Democratic primary was a candidate for re-election but suffered defeat in the first primary.

Raleigh, July 17.—(AP)—An hour's session of the Child Welfare Commission and then an hour's conference between members and Governor McLean failed to produce any result today in settling the dispute within the commission as to who shall be appointed to conduct the survey of women in industry.

Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson, was emphatic in her decision to oppose certain persons suggested to the commission by E. P. Carter. Mr. Carter likewise was insistent on his choice of those to make the survey.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

DELIVERANCE FROM FEAR

Romans 8:15.—Ye have not received the spirit of bondage again to fear; but ye have received the spirit of adoption whereby we cry, Abba, Father.

In this very familiar verse St. Paul is summing up one of the most notable changes which Christianity makes to the life of man.

On the one hand is the man brought up under an older religious system who covers before God, having no trust or confidence.

St. Paul declares that whenever Christianity is understood that whole order of religion goes by the board.

On the contrary, man is invited to stretch out his hand and take the hand of God offered to him; he is adopted into an order of life in which God is Father and man is his child.

Now, of course, St. Paul is dealing with the bondage of fear in religion, but emancipation from that particular fear must deeply affect every other fear which lingers in the human mind.

Under the older religious systems the mind of man was like that darkened room. There were obstacles everywhere.

There the simile breaks down, for it is amazing how slow humanity is to accept the logic of its own creed.

In the realm of thought, as in our homes, the rubbish is pushed into out-of-the-way corners of the room. It is still there—even though unseen.

So, although the reason for the bondage to fear has gone, it is surprising how many fears still remain, and with what mischievous results.

Christ Jesus strikes at the heart of every fear, and if it be believed in, will lift us out of every bondage.

This redemption of life from fear does not mean that men are left free to do as they like without regard to consequences. It is not an invitation to enter a world in which there are no laws and no punishment for their infraction.

It does mean that Jesus becomes the Master of our soul, taking us in hand when the darkness of life casts its gloom over our spirits, and filling us with His faith which is the power that enables us to overcome the present and face the future with equanimity.

He was always telling His disciples not to fear. "Be not afraid of them which kill the body," He says, "and after that can do no more." Fear not. He said at the dead of night on the storm-swept waters of the Lake.

There was healing for those who were under the fear of long-continued disease. There was forgiveness with outstretched hands for those whose guilt made them feel outcasts from God and man.

The whole issue of whether we can keep the erect step through life and walk through the shadows unafraid depends upon whether we look up to the God whom Jesus revealed—or not.

Jesus taught that nothing can hurt or destroy us. If God numbers the hairs of our heads, and notes the sparrow's fall, what's there to fear? If He forgives to the end, what can make us afraid? The heart of God is always open. Believe that—then go and face all the shadows of life. Build on that—then go out to make the contribution which your life has to give to the world's welfare.

JAMES CRUZE'S "MANNEQUIN" FEATURES STELLAR CAST

Mannequin, Fannie Hurst's story of American home life in a big city in 1907 and 1929 which won Liberty Magazine's $50,000 prize for the best story to be produced as a Paramount picture, comes to White's Theatre for a run of two days Monday and Tuesday. Produced by James Cruze, who made The Covered Wagon, Beggar on Horseback and The Pony Express, the picture features Alice Joyce, Warner Baxter, Dolores Costello and Zasu Pitts in the principal roles in the cast.

Alice Joyce, in the role of Selene Herrick, wife of John Herrick, is given to artistic tastes and makes purchases which her husband's pocket book cannot afford. Yet he finally yields to her desire to have a nursemaid to care for their 18 months old baby, Joan. Because she is cheap, Annie Pogani, a dull, slow-witted girl raised in a settlement house and started for love is hired.

When Mrs. Herrick finally purchases an expensive shawl for the baby's presumbator, it is too much for the husband. There's a quarrel. Selene announces that she is going to her mother's. He flings himself off to his club. And the child, unknown to either parent, is left alone with Annie. It dawns on the girl that she can now steal the child and have it for her very own. This she does, taking it into the slums.

CHARLESTON IS PROUD OF NAMESPACE DANCE

Charleston, S. C., July 15.—(INS)—Charleston!—Charleston!—Charleston!

And it's going to take more than the Society of American Dancing Teachers to change it's name.

Anyway, that's the view of Mayor Thomas P. Stoney expressed in a response to a query as to how the Carolina metropolis feels concerning the appeal of Memphis to the teachers to rename it Memphis.

Farmville Post of Legion Holds Interesting Meet

The Farmville Post of the American Legion, held an enthusiastic meeting Friday night, the 9th, at which time steps were taken to organize a Woman's Auxiliary for the local post. The meeting was held in the assembly room of the Rotary Club in the High School building, with a good gathering of Legion members and their wives, daughters and sweethearts.

The meeting was called to order by Post Commander, John Hill Paylor. Dr. Jones was called on to invoke the blessing. A sumptuous supper of fried chicken and all that goes with that tempting edible was served. After the supper the Post Commander addressed a few remarks of welcome to those present, and in very appropriate words gave the purpose of the American Legion.

Concluding his remarks, Mr. Paylor introduced Arthur Corey, of Greenville, District Committee of the Fifth District, who made a short talk, prefacing the address of the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Bryce Little, of Wilson, who was next introduced by the Post Commander, and made a very interesting and light-shedding speech on the aims and purposes of the American Legion. Mr. Little's speech was very clear and showed plainly that he was conversant with his subject.

The Farmville Post is not so large as it was last year, but it is endeavoring to bring its membership up to a high point by the time the state convention opens in Hickory in August.

LIBRARY NEWS

Our Slogan: "Let the Library Serve Greenville."

Library Hours: 9 to 12 Noon and 4:30 to 7 P. M.

Since we have made the yearly report to the Library Commission which is required the first of July, we think it will be of interest to our readers to know what the report is; however, our report for this year covers only eight months, from November 1 to June 30. There was a circulation of 6,581 novels for adults and 1,598 pieces of non-fiction, making the adult circulation, 8,179; for juniors there were 5,372 pieces of fiction and 208 of non-fiction, making the junior circulation total 5,580, and a grand total circulation of 13,759 books. During the same period there were 488 persons received and on reference work in the library. There were added 500 new members and renewals.

We have 39 more novels on the shelves this month given by three book clubs: Round Table, End of the Century, and Sans Souci. These books could not have been given at a more opportune time for just now fiction is the popular type of reading. In addition to the novels the Round Table club has given "History of the Federation of Women's Clubs," by Mrs. Sallie Southall Cotton and is a history of the N. C. Federation from 1901 to 1925.

"The Hill Billy," by Rose Wilder Lane is suggestive of the type for the action is centered around the hill-billy lawyer, Abimelech Noah Baird, called Abe for short. The Baird family had migrated years before from "North Carolina" to Tennessee and thence to the Ozarks in Missouri where the story takes place. The story opens with Abe taking leave of his homefolk and his journey, via mule, borrowed from Uncle Si Rippee, to the county seat, Millersville. Abe fully realizes that he is a hill-billy and that his particular breed of hill-billies were of that easiest of the easy with their familiar expression, "Thar's a whole day tomorrow that ain't touched yet." And so we see him grasping every opportunity and even making opportunities occasionally to advance in his profession. Abe never leaves the side of honesty and uprighteousness. "Why worry and suffer with an aggravating pain that can easily be removed by Chiropractic Adjustments?"

BUGGY BOUGHT IN 1906 STILL HORSELESS VEHICLE

Cleveland, July 16.—(INS)—A $700 buggy bought in 1906, still awaits its first drive.

Rubber tired and equipped with all the ornaments common to horsedrawn coaches of twenty years ago, the buggy has just been discovered in a barn on the Huntington estate on Lake Erie in Bay Village, now a part of the Metropolitan Park System.

A score of years back John Huntington, one of Cleveland's aristocrats at that time, ordered the buggy.

Before delivery was made on the carriage, Huntington bought one of the new fangled automobiles. The auto ran and when the buggy arrived it was stored away in the barn and forgotten.

It still rests in the barn without having been used once. Its finish doesn't show a single flaw. There is only a layer of dust on the ancient hack.

"SOMETHING IS HAPPENING IN THE AUTOMOTIVE WORLD"

OLDSMOBILE ANNOUNCES

ADDED POWER . . . LONGER LIFE SMOOTHER PERFORMANCE

Enlarge Engine The L-Head Oldsmobile engine, that has already won such praise for its performance has been enlarged in the bore of the cylinders from 2 1/4 inches to 2 3/4 inches, increasing its displacement from 169 cubic inches to 185 cubic inches—providing increased horsepower and more spirited performance in the car that asks no favors, fears no road!

Dual Air Cleaning Dust and dirt from the road form an abrasive or cutting element in the working parts of an engine. In this new Oldsmobile a master air cleaner eliminates the injurious particles from two-thirds of the air before it enters the carburetor directly—while the second cleaner in connection with the feature of crankcase ventilation (described later) cleans the balance of the air that passes through the carburetor.

Crankcase Ventilation Here is a new feature of design hitherto found only in one car—and that car of the three thousand dollar class. In all internal combustion engines water is formed by condensation. Cold engines do not burn all of the fuel on starting. This water and liquid fuel pass into the crankcase and form crankcase dilution.

Excessive dilution is eliminated by crankcase ventilation. One-third of the air that passes through the carburetor is drawn through a breather port in the left side of the engine. This air, cleaned of dust and injurious material by a second air cleaner on the breather port, passes through the crankcase before entering the carburetor. It draws off with it water vapor and unburned fuel that may have passed into the crankcase—thereby eliminating excessive dilution. This air also carries with it a small amount of the oil vapor created in the crankcase, which aids in more efficient lubrication of pistons, upper cylinder walls, and valves. Crankcase ventilation improves performance and gives longer life in the engine and longer useful life to the oil.

Oil Filter An oil filter has been added to this Oldsmobile, prolonging still more the life of the engine and the useful life of the oil. Sediment and foreign substance are removed as the oil passes through the filter and filter bag from the rear camshaft bearing. Should the filter become clogged with sediment, the lubricating system functions in the common manner, there being no danger of shutting off the supply of lubricant. All principle parts are pressure lubricated.

Harmonic Balancer The Harmonic Balancer, developed by General Motors engineers, counteracts vibration and gives Oldsmobile a smoothness you will quickly recognize when you take the wheel.

High Velocity Hot Section Manifold The manifold design of the Series "E" Oldsmobile retains the high velocity given the incoming gases as they leave the carburetor and pass on into the combustion chambers. To further promote complete vaporization of the incoming fuel, an improved jacketing of the intake manifold by the heated exhaust manifold is effected in the vertical section of the intake passage above the carburetor. The intake manifold being above the exhaust manifold and heated by it, retains the highly explosive state of incoming gases.

Stronger Center Bearing The center main bearing that supports the balanced crankshaft has been made more rigid and stronger to provide still smoother performance in this Oldsmobile.

New Axle Ratio The gear ratio of the rear axle has been reduced to 4.73 to 1. This contributes to smoother performance in that fewer revolutions of the engine are required to drive the car a given distance. Normally a reduction in gear ratio means a loss of power, but this change in the new Oldsmobile does not require a sacrifice of power because the added power derived from the enlarged engine leaves a new surplus, even after the change in gear ratio, to provide smoother performance.

Dome Shaped Combustion Chambers A slight change in the contour of the tapered, dome shaped combustion chambers gives greater turbulence to the incoming gases. This change produces smoother engine performance and contributes materially to surplus power in the Oldsmobile, Series "E."

Two-Way Cooling Oldsmobile has been praised for its ability to be driven forty, forty-five, fifty and more miles an hour—hour after hour, without the slightest overheating. But Oldsmobile engineers have not been content with even this high efficiency in cooling design. Now Oldsmobile offers "two-way" cooling which incorporates the best features of the two accepted types—pressure cooling and thermo-siphon cooling. At the points where greatest heat is generated,—around the valves, valve seats, spark plugs and combustion chambers—pressure-circulated water is driven through a manifold-type passage. Cylinder walls do not heat as rapidly as do the parts near the combustion chambers. A full flow of cooling water about the cylinders would cool them too much. Therefore the circulation is restricted and retarded. In other words, parts at the points of greatest heat are cooled by the manifold method of circulation, while the slower thermo-siphon type of action, in which the rate of circulation is largely governed by the reaction of heat upon the water, maintains about the cylinders sufficient warmth for efficient operation. This also aids in eliminating crankcase dilution. Here is a new type of cooling design, incorporating the best features of all past engineering practice that maintains an even temperature of cooling control, one that will prove its value to users in longer life, greater power and smoother performance.

Other Improvements Other changes contributing added power, longer life and smoother performance, form a long list of features such as slight change of cam contour, double valve springs as in aircraft and racing car engines—and others equally important.

GREATER ECONOMY

Manifold Design The manifold design that contributes to smoother performance, also improves the operating economy of the Oldsmobile Series "E." On the General Motors Proving Ground, where this Oldsmobile had to measure up to unusually exacting standards, this car established new records for Oldsmobile operating economy. The features that contribute to higher efficiency and engine performance also affect improved operating economy.

Other Economy Features The dual-air cleaning, the crankcase ventilation, the "two-way" cooling and other features that are attributes of longer life, power, efficiency and smoothness, are also factors of operating economy.

ADDED POWER : LONGER LIFE : SMOOTHER PERFORMANCE : ADDED DRIVING EASE AND SECURITY : GREATER ECONOMY : FINER APPOINTMENTS : ADDED BEAUTY : AT NO INCREASE IN STANDARD PRICES

"... that the American family may have, at a moderate investment, a car which gratifies their finer tastes as well as satisfies their every need . . ."

Today Oldsmobile keeps faith with its public trust—

. . . confirms its declaration of principles published a week ago—

. . . returns to you the benefits of manufacturing advantages and economies created by the greatest year in Oldsmobile history!

Today Oldsmobile presents brilliant progress without basic change in the car which has won its way to public preference by sheer surpassing merit—

. . . new features of known value—

. . . improvements of demonstrated worth—proved in tests on the General Motors Proving Ground to provide even livelier, smoother performance, even longer life, even greater operating economy, than already characterize Oldsmobile Six!

Today this even finer Oldsmobile goes on display, and you are invited to see it—

. . . to view the beauty and luxurious new appointments of its Fisher Body—

. . . to go over the car, point by point, feature by feature—

. . . to know, as only seeing can tell you, what a truly great car this is!

Today, more than ever before . . . no matter what car you now favor or what price you are willing to pay . . . you owe it to yourself, your pocketbook and your sense of satisfaction to see the Oldsmobile Six!

ADDED EASE AND SECURITY

Thermostatic Charging Control When on the road there is a sense of security in knowing that your electrical system is functioning properly and that your generator is giving an adequate charge. Oldsmobile now has thermostatic control on the generator that automatically increases the charging rate when the engine is cold and decreases the charging rate as the temperature rises. The spark control is full automatic.

Twist-Beam Light Control Head lamps with double filament bulbs, one filament for "bright action" and one for "dim action", assure extra vision for night driving without sacrifice of safety for approaching drivers. The diffusion and double angle of the light control conforms to all state law requirements. On "dim action" the light is bright but thrown at a downward angle that protects the oncoming driver and gives ample vision to the Oldsmobile driver.

Steering Wheel Light Control The twin-beam Oldsmobile headlights are operated without the driver shifting his position, as the light control switch is a neat lever, exactly like the hand throttle, centered on the steering wheel. It may be operated with perfect safety as it is not necessary to remove hands from the steering wheel, slacken speed or take eyes from the road.

Indirectly Illuminated Instruments From behind the glass face of each instrument in the unit-grouped dash panel, an indirect light glows whenever any of the lights are lighted. This subdued indirect lighting arrangement individually illuminates each instrument without glare or reflection in the driver's eyes. This feature is not only one of safety but one of beauty.

Instrument Panel Fuel Gauge The new grouping of the instruments on the dash is a noticeable improvement. A reliable instrument board fuel gauge, now standard on all Oldsmobile body types, accurately indicates the supply of gasoline and adds to security and peace of mind in driving.

Thief-Proof Car Locks A new design in thief-proof car locks is a feature of this Oldsmobile. With this thief-proof control the engine cannot be started when the key is left in the lock. Turning off the ignition positively locks the car. This is far from the ordinary ignition lock—an entirely new and exclusive method of positive locking. It reduces the hazard of thieves who commonly "cut over" on other types of locks, for switch and coil are built integral in a vault-like steel housing. The ignition key also operates the door locks.

FINER APPOINTMENTS

Interior Features Only seeing can give you a real appreciation of this truly fine new mohair upholstery of a taupe shade in all closed body types has a lustre and wearing quality not expected in a car so moderate in price. The satin nickel fittings are of rich, period design. Their beauty is but one feature, while their utility is equally as pleasing. The quick-acting window lifts, large interior door handles, conveniently centered ash receptacle in the five-passenger closed types, the V. V. windshield, automatic windshield cleaners on closed cars, instruments unit-grouped in a walnut panel centered on the satin finish black instrument board, walnut steering wheel, heavy rug and rubber mat floor coverings, genuine leather upholstery in open cars, deep spring-cushioned seats at angles of greatest comfort, and many features that would form an imposing list if enumerated in their entirety; cannot be adequately described.

ADDED BEAUTY

Fisher Two-Tone Duco Bodies New beauty without basic change in body design describes this Oldsmobile. The hood line has been raised slightly, producing a longer and larger appearance. The radiator, finished in the new permanent-lustre chromium that is exclusively Oldsmobile's, retains its familiar beauty with a slight change in the sweep of the symmetrical side lines to add more massive and attractive lines. The fenders are now full-crown type, with additional dust shields in black enamel to protect the body from road dirt. The sweep of the fenders add to the grace and length of the car. The Fisher bodies are finished in lustrous two-tone Duco, polished to a finish distinctively beautiful yet in consecutive good taste.

NO STANDARD PRICE INCREASE

You Gain By The Benefits of Success All these features of greater value, and all those others that will impress you as you go over this Oldsmobile point by point—are yours at no increase in Oldsmobile's low standard prices. In these features Oldsmobile returns to you the benefits of manufacturing advantages and economies, created by the greatest year in Oldsmobile history. The economies of General Motors are passed back to you. The quality advances—but the low prices remain unchanged, with the exception of a ten dollar addition to the list price of the DeLuxe Coach and the DeLuxe Sedan. And if you please, you may drive an Oldsmobile Series "E" as you pay for it from your income—on the G.M.A.C. plan of deferred payments.

THE NEW LANDAU

Built for the Man Who Could Pay More It has long been a fact that a certain number of people who are accustomed to owning only the best, have recognized that all the qualities of luxury, which they instinctively prize, may now be enjoyed in a car moderate in size and moderate in price. To meet this demand Oldsmobile now introduces the new Landau—complete, tasteful and beautiful beyond the power of words to describe. The rear quarter of the upper body is finished with fibroid over the metal sheathing of the body, rounded to a graceful curve and given additional character by black enameled Landau bars. The graceful contour is retained in the rear window without sacrifice of vision. The Landau is finished in lustrous three-tone Duco. Natural wood artillery type wheels or steel disc wheels in body colors are optional. The equipment on the Landau includes all the features of the standard closed models with the addition of bumpers front and rear, motor and bar cap, black enameled steel trunk mounted at rear on rigid platform, rear traffic signal, snubbers all around, genuine long-nap mohair upholstery of a neutral grey. Here truly is a car to suit the tastes of the man who could pay much more but finds all that he wants in Oldsmobile.

TEN BODY STYLES

Gratify Every Taste Satisfy Every Need The Oldsmobile Series "E" may be had in ten body styles: the Standard Touring, $875; the DeLuxe Touring, $980; the DeLuxe Roadster, $975; the Standard Coupe, $925; the DeLuxe Coupe, $990; the Standard Coach, $950; the DeLuxe Coach, $1050; the Standard Sedan, $1025; the DeLuxe Sedan, $1125; and the Landau, $1190; all prices F. O. B., Lansing, Michigan. Wire wheels may be had at fifty dollars extra list price on DeLuxe types and the Landau. The DeLuxe types include in their additional equipment, bumpers front and rear; motor and bar cap; snubbers all around; black enameled steel trunk on all except the DeLuxe Roadster and DeLuxe Coupe; the option of steel disc wheels in body color or artillery type wheels of natural wood finish; and rear traffic signal.
