Convention of North Carolina Newspaper Men at Hickory Now in Full Swing

Hickory, N. C., July 23.—(AP)—The editors and publishers of the 54th convention of the North Carolina Press Association, left Hickory at 8:30 this morning for a trip to Blowing Rock, where they are being entertained at a barbecue by the Hickory Chamber of Commerce.

There was a short business session held at May View Manor at 11 o'clock this morning and the barbecue was at Green's Hill.

Outstanding among the accomplishments yesterday, was the decision to employ a full time field secretary of the association and amend the constitution to provide for membership dues of one cent for every subscriber. That subject was under debate the whole of yesterday afternoon and it has been the topic of almost undivided interest today.

Local People Attend Cowell Revival Meet

A large crowd from Greenville last night attended the revival meeting in Conitoe which is being conducted by Rev. John C. Cowell, of Fayetteville. Several people from Pinetops, Macleesfield and Old Sparta were also present. At the close of this meeting, Mr. Cowell will go to Highlands to conduct a meeting.

At that point Mr. Ramsey of the Ham-Ramsay party, will join Mr. Cowell and take charge of the singing. Mr. Cowell last night preached on the subject, "Ye Must Be Born Again." In developing his theme Mr. Cowell brought out the fact that you "must be born again" to be saved. He said he had no time to argue with people on this point. He said he accepted the Bible term as literal and made no other interpretations.

The following people from Greenville attended the service: J. G. Clark, H. W. Renfrew, Dr. Charles Horst, P. W. D. Lincke, W. C. Dresbach, Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Baker, Mrs. W. G. Rush, Miss Jessie Bullock, Miss Lill Wilson, Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Johnston, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Best, R. C. Flanagan, Mr. and Mrs. W. Local Fishermen Make Great Haul At Vandemere

Every fisherman has his "fish" story. Some time they are believable and some time they are not. Her's one of the believable kind. It's authenticity is vouchered for by F. C. Harding, B. F. Tyson, J. F. King and Seber King, the latter of Baltimore, who composed a fishing party at Vandemere yesterday. They caught 338 fish in two hours and a half. The average weight was about one pound. Some of the fish weighed as much as three pounds each.

MORTICIAN IS CHIEF WITNESS AT ALBEMARLE

Peter Honeycutt Says Negro Convicts Did Not Die As Result of Abuse by Cranford

Albemarle, July 23.—(AP)—James Howell and James Terry, negro convicts, did not die from the effects of Nev. C. Cranford's lash, but from a sunstroke, George D. B. Reynolds, former attorney for the defense testified today in the hearing of the former convict boss, who is on trial for murder.

Reynolds, who was released as attorney, because of not having taken part in the proceedings, told of interviewing the prisoners under Cranford some time ago, and declared that Sam Thompson, white convict, from Montgomery county, had informed him that Terry and Howell died because of becoming overheated.

Titus P. Eford, mail carrier, was the next witness. He testified that on a "fearfully" hot day in August, 1918, he drove by Cranford's road gang and saw two negroes stretched out on the ground in the shade and that Cranford and convicts were lying with their hats. The witness told of how the hot weather that day had caused his automobile tires to explode and delayed him in covering the route. P. J. Honeycutt, Albemarle mortician, earlier in the day had told the jury that he prepared the bodies for burial and found no signs of mal-treatment on the bodies.

Albemarle, July 23.—(AP)—The bodies of James Terry and James Howell, negro convicts, who are alleged to have died from mal-treatment, had no bruises or other indications of abuse on them, Peter J. Honeycutt, mortician, who was in charge of funeral arrangements, testified today.

Mr. Honeycutt, former president of the North Carolina Association of Funeral Directors and Embalmers, said he saw the bodies of Terry and Howell in August, 1918. He testified that records in his establishment did not show signs of mal-treatment in preparing them for burial. The indictment on which Nevin C. Cranford, former superintendent of the Stanley county convict system, is being tried, charged him with the murder of the two negroes. They are shown by record to have died on August 6, 1918.

Announcement was made this morning just before the opening of court, that adjournment will be had this afternoon until Monday morning at ten o'clock. Permission was given to special jury summoned from Anson county, to return home for the week-end.

FIFTEEN MILLION BALE COTTON CROP IS NOW PREDICTED

Department of Commerce Says Crop This Year Is About 70 Percent Normal

Washington, July 23.—(AP)—A cotton crop of 15,368,000 bales of 500 pounds each, this year is indicated by the condition of the crop for July 16, which was 70.7 per cent of a normal, the Department of Agriculture announced today. A crop of 16,685,000 bales was forecast from the July 1 condition of 75.4 per cent. Last year's crop was 16,613,679 bales.

Should developments during remainder of the season be as unfavorable as during 1921, '22 and '23, about 13,476,500 bales might be expected, the Department announced, but if developments are as favorable as during 1924 and 1925 about 16,628,000 might result.

Indications are that the acre production will be 155.8 pounds compared with a forecast of 158.5 pounds from July 1 condition. The condition of the crop by state follows: Virginia, 71 per cent of a normal; North Carolina, 68; South Carolina, 55; Georgia, 61.

"LITTLE BROWN CHURCH" SWAMPED WITH LETTERS AS PASTORS SEEK PULPIT

Nashua, Iowa, July 22.—(INS)—Made famous years ago through the song "The Little Brown Church in the Vale," the Little Brown Church elders here are now swamped with applications of ministers seeking to become its rector.

The Rev. George Hanna, for a number of years, pastor of the church, has resigned. More than 100 have applied for the pulpit.

Last year 27,000 visitors registered at the little church, and it is estimated that as many more visited it without registering. The visitors were from all parts of the United States, Canada and Europe.

The pastorate is particularly attractive because of the numeration connected with it. Marriages run on an average of five a week, with a special fee for $5 for wedding performed at Cupid's pet altar. The sale of souvenir cards and pictures alone brought in more than $1,400 last year.

HEAT RECORDS ARE REPORTED IN THIS STATE

Two Death Reported At Charlotte and One at Elizabeth City

Climaxed by three additional deaths and several new heat records the sweltering heat wave, which has swept south, came to an abrupt end yesterday when thunder showers and cooling breezes lowered temperatures in most of the southern states.

At Charlotte, two persons died when the mercury bubbled up to 103 passing Wednesday's high mark of 102. Another person died at Elizabeth City.

York, South Carolina, set the high mark for the south yesterday with a temperature of 106. Other sections of South Carolina continued to feel the blistering heat.

Declaring that "only a Klan charged with murder should be confined during this weather," Judge W. C. Harris, of Raleigh, released all prisoners in the city jail because of the heat.

With a high mark of 98, Nashville led the Tennessee high mercury record. Chattanooga and Knoxville each registered 96.

After touching 99 1/2 in Atlanta, Wednesday, the mercury slipped downward when yesterday's thunder shower brought a cool breeze.

In Miami, a new 24-hour rain record for July was established. Between 7:00 Wednesday and the same time yesterday, three and eight-tenths inches of rain had fallen. The temperature ranged from 72 to 82.

At New Orleans, the temperature stood at 89, while in St. Petersburg, Fla., registered a maximum of 88.

MILTON BUDLONG GRANTED DIVORCE NEWPORT COURT

Long Drawn Out Martial Difficulties Settled by Court Today

Providence, R. I., July 23.—(AP)—Milton J. Budlong, millionaire New York-Newport resident, and former head of the Packard Motor Car Company, was granted a divorce from Jessie Margaret Budlong, in an order filed in Newport Superior court today. For nearly three years the Budlongs and their martial difficulties have been before the public eye in a series of public court actions. Mr. and Mrs. Budlong were married in 1898.

In October, 1923, Mrs. Budlong filed a petition for a divorce in February, 1924, she filed a second petition, and on April 14, 1924, the first action was discontinued.

Mr. Budlong then filed the present petition in Newport, and after the trial had progressed for several days, Mrs. Budlong surprised everyone by summarily dismissing her attorney and advising the court that she would conduct her own trial.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) The News, Short. They Do Not Love Us. Monkey Blood. If the World Court Got Us. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

French francs dropped to two cents yesterday, the Italian lire to $3.20 a hundred, Belgian francs in spite of the king's new extraordinary power, were weak. American financiers fear a serious drop in some European bonds. That might disturb this market. Invest your money at home.

Winston Churchill says that while we lent England four billions, Britain spent seven billions here for war purposes.

That may be but it was Britain's war, she spent the money to save her own life.

Our European friends do not like us, but will get over it. The important thing is to keep out of FURTHER European complications; remembering the French proverb: "Good accounts make good friends."

President Coolidge, what chance do you think Uncle Sam would have NOW, before the World Court?

For weeks, the Rev. Walter Wynn of Great Britain has predicted "something important in the world's history" to happen on July 20. The most important thing that could happen now, in Europe, would be the discovery of a lump of gold, as big as a fair sized apartment house that could be used to pay Europe's debts, and let all nations start over again.

Dr. Wells, teaching pathology at the University of Chicago, starts you with this:

Tests of blood reactions in chimpanzees and orang outangs prove those animals to be more closely related to man than to the lower monkeys. The difference between the blood of a donkey and that of a horse is greater between the blood of a chimpanzee and that of a man.

When you compare brains, there is greater difference. A famous scientist tells you that, mentally, between a highly cultivated European and the lowest savage, the difference is greater than between that savage and a blade of grass.

The federal reserve announces that in six years the public debt has been reduced by $3,842,000,000. For the first time since the war, Uncle Sam owes less than twenty billion dollars. At least, thanks to President Coolidge and Mr. Mellon, we are attending to our own financing.

The wise Japanese establish an annual "time day" in all cities and towns of the empire. "Watch your time," is to be the national slogan.

Every day ought to be "time day" with everyone. No spend-thrift ever let money slip through his fingers as the average man lets his life slip away.

In Cyrus H. K. Curtis' sedate newspaper you read: "Drunken dry riders shoot up three holes."

"29 rum-crazed officers found four and eight sleeping guests at Muskogee, Oklahoma."

Enthusiasm is excellent, in a good cause. But that enthusiasm went too far. The "eight sleeping guests" that were clubbed seem to have good ground for complaint; THEY were not drinking alcohol.

KILLERS STILL ON THE JOB IN CHICAGO, ILL.

Cafe Owner is Shot to Death While Within Short Distance of His Place

Chicago, July 23.—(AP)—From the shadows of his own cafe, four blocks from a police station, booze station or vendetta players late last night, poured out a hail of lead that took the life of Phillip Piazza, wealthy owner of two road houses in Chicago Heights, a suburb.

The killers, believed to have been four or more, were in an automobile, and after firing a fusillade into the body of the cafe owner, who may have been marked for death, as the result of two other slayings in the suburb, they disappeared in the darkness.

Piazza was known to the police as the rick of the underworld in Chicago Heights, and was reputed to be the pay-off man for score of crimes.

World Champion Ski Jumper Keeps Fit Laying Brick

Mason City, Ia., July 22.—(INS)—Some football players may spend their summer months toting ice about their home town streets and alleys, but Anders Haugen, world's champion ski jumper, keeps in trim during the off months by laying bricks. And right now he is one of the masons working on the new Y. M. C. A. building here.

One must keep trim for ski jumping just the same as for any form of sports, he said. I work every summer, thereby keeping my muscles hardened so that when the winter months come I have little difficulty in rounding into form.

Haugen started his skiing career at the age of two years, when he was in Norway. Since that first winter in his native country Haugen passed each winter on ski, gradually getting longer distance on his jumps. In 1910 he was entered in the national contests as a representative of America, and in 1919 at Dillon, Colo., he established his world's record jump of 215 feet.

Members of the delegation will visit New York, Chicago, and other big cities.

Lemonade, Barbecue and Oratorical Fireworks by Various Spellbinders of the City Constituted a Good Mixture At Joyner's School House Yesterday

Greenville Merchants Association entertained members of the Tobacco Board of Trade at a delight barbecue at Joyner's school house yesterday afternoon at one o'clock. The affair was well attended by members of both organizations, and what each said and done will live long in the memory of Pitt county boosters.

Preceding dinner, interesting talks were made by spellbinders of each of the organizations. Judge F. M. Wooten, representing the business men and professional interests of the city and county, led off with a speech on co-operation. He was followed by B. B. Sugg, H. A. White, O. L. Joyner, C. B. Rowlett and J. R. Smith.

Judson Blount, president of the Merchants Association, acted as toastmaster, J. S. Ficklen, of the E. B. Ficklen Tobacco Co., on behalf of the tobacconists, thanked the Merchant Association for their hospitality, and assured them that they might always count on the tobacco men in putting across a worthy proposition.

Joyner's school house is situated on the edge of some of the finest shade trees in Pitt county. And it was under these trees that the speaking and eating took place. Despite the excessively hot weather, a splendid spirit prevailed on all sides, and this grew by leaps and bounds as the speakers continued to enumerate the unlimited possibilities of Pitt county.

While everybody had an eye on Alfred Barnhill and his co-workers, preparing barbecue and lemonade only a short distance from the grove, the majority managed to confine sufficient attention to the speakers to realize what great things the future has in store.

Judge Wooten led the program with a truly happy vein of thought. He enumerated the great things in Pitt county by the concerted effort of men and women in all walks of life. He said there is no limit to the possibilities in Pitt county if its business and professional men will stand together, united in one great cause. He touched lightly on the progress of the county the last few years, and declared this could be continued in the years to come with greater success than ever.

B. B. Sugg, warehouseman, who has been long service in Greenville, was the next speaker of the day. His style is inimitable. He knows how to make folks laugh, and he made people smile at this meeting who had not smiled before in days.

Mr. Sugg pointed to the little white school house building, sitting so peacefully in the midst of hundreds of trees, and reminded his hearers that "that was the college" where he graduated 102 years before. He recalled some of the things connected with associations of the old days in Pitt county, and in his own fashion, told of the growth which has been made. He was optimistic as to the outcome of the Greenville tobacco market. He assured his audience that nothing would be left undone in making Greenville the "greatest" market in the state.

H. A. White, who has long been associated with business circles of the city, told a couple of good jokes, and then urged everybody to pull for Greenville. He said nothing good can ever be accomplished without the combined efforts of business and industrial interests.

O. L. Joyner, pioneer tobacconist and grower, said he was not prepared for making a speech not having had any advance notice. But he spoke, and as usual, had something to say. He briefly reviewed development of the industry during the last 30 years. He expressed faith in the

CHICAGO CROOKS ORGANIZED FOR AUTO STEALING

Business Conducted On Practical Basis, Yielding Immense Profits

Chicago, July 22.—(INS)—Automobile thieves, perpetrated by a band of crooks, organized on the scale of large proportions and operating on a practical business basis, yielding its "chief executive" thousands of dollars yearly, has just been uncovered by Lieut. James Ford, of the Chicago detective bureau. Operations of the "corporation" were brought to light with the arrest of Steve O'Hagan, Arthur Bull, and Hilton Crouch, all alleged automobile thieves, who were apprehended by Lieut. Ford and a detail after a gun battle, and charged with a $1,600 payroll robbery. In a garage adjoining the trio's haven, police found a stolen car, scores of license plates from nearby states and other equipment indicating the place was a rendezvous for automobile thieves. The garage was described by Lieut. Ford as one of many way stations serving as receiving vaults for the gang's loot. It is believed to have been rented by the gang's leader, whose arrest Ford is trying to accomplish in his effort to clean out the "corporation." Investigation has disclosed, Ford said that the leader of the gang operates an automobile agency on the south side, specializing, ostensibly, in the sale of Ford and Chevrolet cars. Operatives of the gang make their steal and then notify their chief by telephone where the car can be picked up by other employees, whose part in the scheme is limited to driving this stolen car to the south side agency or one of the receiving stations. Each operative receives $100 for each car he steals and a fixed amount is paid the "go-getters," who deliver the "hot-copy" to one of the "corporation's" many garages. In these garages, the machine's serial number, the engine number and all other marks of registration are changed to correspond with those of a new car purchased for the south side agency from the Ford and Chevrolet plants. Then with the car properly overhauled and repaired, it is shipped to nearby Illinois, Iowa, Indiana or Wisconsin points with a forged bill of sale duplicated from one obtained in Detroit. The gang, according to Lieut. Ford, has connections in all of these states and there the cars are sold by an allied agency. "We believe this fellow, who dictates the movements of the gang, must have one hundred men at work for him," Lieut. Ford said. "He was arrested about a year ago, but apparently has been immune from punishment. While his movements are not very well known to the police we do know that he spends upwards to $50,000 annually for lawyer, and for squaring accounts with people who have purchased stolen cars from him. He must clear more than $100,000 every year."

The three men arrested by the police are all known to have been under one man's employ and are regarded as desperate criminals.

shire, England, and Worcester County, Massachusetts, to take place this coming fall and the Fall of next year.

The American "Worcesters" will first visit England this Fall and will lay four matches—all against representative teams of Worcestershire footballers.

The English team will be exclusively amateur, while the Americans will only play native-born Americans. The English team will visit the United States in the Fall of 1927.

Premier Stanley Baldwin is actively interested in the scheme.

RADIO SCREECHING JAZZ NUMBERS, NO LONGER MENACES CANNED MUSIC

Chicago, July 21.—(INS)—Radio which threatened the existence of canned music is losing popularity because of the monotony of the musical programs, according to A. G. Gulbransen, piano manufacturer, in an address here. Boredom is the reward of the average radio fan when he turns in for his evening's music, said Mr. Gulbransen. Night after night the same old songs are pounded into his ears with dismal regularity. The same jazz numbers screech at him no matter where he dials. Novelty of the radio is wearing off largely because of the dead similarity of the programs.

COMMUNITY HARMONY IN ALL THINGS NECESSARY

Greenville Merchants entertained Greenville tobaccoists yesterday. They had a wonderful time. Beside consuming worlds of barbecue, they elaborated most interestingly on the possibilities of the county.

When anyone goes to talking about Pitt county, they find plenty to talk about.

And when they go to talking about Greenville business men and Greenville tobaccoists they have another great subject for discussion.

The business men are representatives of one of the finest towns in the world. The tobaccoists represent the best tobacco market in the world.

In a few short years we hope to have the pleasure of saying one of the "largest towns in the South" instead of one of the finest in the world. We also hope to speak of the "largest" tobacco market instead of one of the best.

Just like other men of the community, we have great ambitions for the future of Pitt county, Greenville and the tobacco market. It is in these things our lives are centered, and it is natural for us to indulge in hope as long as breath remains in our bodies.

The way Greenville business men and tobaccoists are pulling together at this time is indicative of a great future. It causes us to look forward to the future with greater faith than ever before.

The thing necessary to the success of any community is that indefinable something contained in the spirit of "pulling" together. It is that dynamic influence which has moulded the destiny of the greatest cities, the greatest states and nations of the world today.

It must always be this spirit of individual harmony which must make our people great and wise and strong in anything they may undertake. May those who participated in the barbecue dinner of the merchants and tobaccoists long live to practice what so many preached with such consistent good will and persistency.

ECONOMIC JUSTICE FOR AMERICAN FARMER

"Economic justice for the American farmer."

That is what Republicans in convention at Iowa proposed several days ago. Think of it. Visualize how things would be in this old world of ours if such a thing as economic justice for the farmer were probable. We say probable in this connection, because we do not believe it ever will be possible.

It will not be possible because the farmer injures his own case. If the time should ever come when the farmers can come together in one great cause, then it is probable that they will get justice. If the time should ever come when they can bring all their power together in one great purpose then it is more than natural to suppose that they will be successful.

No single individual is ever able to accomplish anything great by himself. Every great issue has been made possible by the combined forces of many brought forward in one single direction.

This has always been the case. It always will be the case. The Republicans in Iowa and in any other section of the country may discuss economic justice, but they will never meet with any success. Any other party may discuss the same problem but the situation will be the same.

The salvation of the American farmer lies in his own hand. He is the master of his fate, and he is the captain of his soul. No other force used in his belief will avail anything.

That old Biblical quotation that "God helps those who help themselves" is as true in this instance as it is in any other. It will always be true.

If the Republican convention in Iowa would help the farmer, we would advise them to awaken him to the great possibilities in union of effort. If they can be made to realize what cooperation will mean to them then success is assured.

It is encouraging that political parties are becoming so interested in the economic welfare of the farmer. It is a good sign. It is to be hoped they will write on their banners, "We never forget."

VICTOR HERBERT'S DREAM REALIZED

Although Victor Herbert, the famous composer, is not here to enjoy it, one of his fondest dreams has at last come true. "Mlle. Modiste" his favorite opera, which he had ardently desired to see on the screen, has been filmed by Corinne Griffith. The picture comes to White's Theatre, Monday and Tuesday.

According to E. M. Asher, in charge of the Corinne Griffith productions, which made the picture for First National release, the film has been lavishly produced. One of the episodes is a fashion spectacle. Gowns were specially designed for this display and more than a score of the most beautiful girls in Hollywood acted as mannequins.

These Prophets Knew Their Facts!

Nearly two years ago, Roger Babson, famous throughout the world for the accuracy of his predictions, called attention to the ideal location of Wilmington, N. C., and the unusual circumstances which made it the logical year-round resort center of the United States.

In a statement made at first-hand analysis on the ground he said: "Wilmington, to my mind, is one of the most excellently located spots along the Atlantic Coast for a year-round resort. Your winter and summer climate is excellent, as the meteorological figures attest. Your city's opportunity cannot be excelled. For instance, Atlantic City is considered a year-round resort, and is patronized as such, but the winters are severe.

"Your location is ideal for both summer and winter; your coast line is adjacent to the Gulf Stream and your winters are not severe and your summers not extremely hot. Therefore, you can draw tourists from the north in winter and the south in summer.

"You probably realize that your location is little more than a night's ride from New York—and thousands would come down and spend weeks and months here in this wonderful climate.

"You will never have trouble in getting tourists to come down, once they are cognizant of your delightful weather."

Recently the New York Times sent an expert industrial analyst to the south to study future development. Facts and resources were studied carefully. Here is one of his findings:

"Somewhere along the Atlantic Seaboard, in the vicinity of Wilmington, N. C., there will rise in the near future the all-year-round resort center of the United States."

SHORE ACRES RESULTED FROM AN ECONOMIC LAW

Factors Which Assure Enormous Growth

1. Cleanest beach on the Atlantic ocean. No oil or debris from ships.
2. Fast interurban car service to down-town Wilmington, nine miles away.
3. Connected to mainland by automobile boulevard causeway.
4. At the point picked by Roger Babson and by New York Times expert as the most perfect location in the United States for a year-round resort center.
5. Adjacent to every sport of sea, link and lawn—sailing, boat racing, yachting, deep sea and still water fishing, bathing, tennis, golf, hunting all around you.
6. Year-round home sites at the ocean, near a large city by a beach famous throughout the south.
7. Improved streets, sidewalks, sewers, parks, plazas at no additional cost to property holders: a "City Beautiful" Plan by Prof. Arthur Cowell.
8. Water, gas and electricity at your property line.
9. Proper building restrictions which guard against the blight of shacks.
10. Financial assistance in the building of your home.

This development was made absolutely essential by the overflow population of Wrightsville Beach, near Wilmington; long famous as the south's premier seashore resort, the improvement of Harbor Island, a few rods across Banks Channel from Wrightsville Beach, was undertaken by leading New York and Wilmington financiers and business men who saw the need of meeting the constantly growing demand for more room.

These lots offer an unusually attractive investment in addition to their value as year-round residential and villa sites.

Virtually all the stockholders and directors of Shore Acres Company have made individual selections in this property as the place to build their own homes.

Composing the directors are:

- A. E. Fitkin—Head of the Bond House and Public Utility Chain, New York, which bears his name.
- Thomas W. Davis—General Counsel of the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Company, Wilmington.
- J. V. Grainger—President of the Murchinson National Bank, Wilmington.
- Fred W. Dick—President of the Peoples Savings Bank, Wilmington.
- T. B. Willard—Secretary-Treasurer of the North State Development Co., Wilmington.
- Fred A. Matthes—Executive Vice President of the Tide Water Power Co., Wilmington.
- E. Paul Young—Of the National Public Service Company, of New York.

Numbered among the stockholders are some of the more prominent business and professional men of the state.

The management and directorate of Shore Acres Company are men rigidly careful in their search for meritorious investments. That they have invested in their own home sites on this property means it has the "O. K." of the highest authorities.

Wide boulevards, parks and plazas, improved streets; sidewalks and sewers—all at no additional cost to property owners—mark Shore Acres as the south's most unusual development. Gas and water mains and electric wires at your own property line.

The entire property was laid out according to a "City Beautiful" plan, drafted by Prof. Arthur Cowell, professor of landscape architecture at Pennsylvania State College, who made the survey in person.

Every lot will be dressed with a rich top soil free of charge to encourage individual landscaping.

The streets of Shore Acres are connected to the mainland by the wide automobile boulevard cause way recently dedicated by Governor McLean, as the final link in North Carolina's "Mountains to the Sea" highway system.

This is the first development of a contemplated five-year program, and fewer than 300 lots remain available.

New Haven, Conn., July 23.—(INS)—Where Harvard is reviving the architecture of early New England to set the motif for her new buildings, Yale is going frankly to Old England to get ideas. So Harkness tower soaring above the town like an English cathedral is glimpsed from every road into town while it is yet miles away, and then suddenly looms up above ancient buildings in town as a person winds through narrow congested streets. "So like old Oxford" exclaimed Professor William Lyon Phelps when he first saw the completed building, and thousands of visitors since have repeated the saying—for Harkness still is new enough to attract visitors by the droves whether Yale is in session or on vacation.

Yale law school will work in the future on the old English Inns of Court system in a plant that will resemble a thing English quite as much as the Harkness plant now does. The Divinity School expects a similar Anglicized house some day in the future, and the fraternity houses of 1923, cry look as English as if they had been moved bodily from across the Atlantic.

Dwight Hall, known to thousands of Yale men as the campus Christian Association building, is passing. Because Dwight Hall, like Osborn Hall, seemed to spoil the old college campus with its architecture of the Seventies, the Yale Committee on Architectural Plan ordered its removal and the first of July saw workmen ripping its wall apart. The Christian Association will find a home in Duffee Hall until the new library is finished two years hence, and then will be given permanent quarters in the old library that dates from 1847.

With the destruction of Dwight Hall was started also the razing of twenty-one buildings, lately occupied as temporary dormitories, that will form the site of the Sterling Library. "The library," says the latest official statement, "will be a Gothic building on the general lines of the Memorial Quadrangle in the next square which was designed by the same architect, James Gamble Rogers, of New York. The University hopes to complete it in 1928. It will contain four million, and ultimately five million volumes.

The first of the month saw also the beginning of work on Yale's memorial to her 27 graduates who were killed in the World War. This will take the form of a clone made with an altar of liberty in the center to be erected on the south facade of the dining hall. The design was made by Thomas Hastings of New York City.

A third large building operation starting July 1 is that of erecting a recitation building and lecture hall with many offices for members of the faculty at College and Wall streets to be named in honor of the late William Harkness, class of 1881. Mr. Harkness in 1918 gave $400,000 for such a building and this year Mrs. Harkness and her children added $500,000. Previously this building was planned for Dwight Hall site but the additional funds created a larger site which a larger site was needed. The new Harkness will be built around Sprague Music Hall and will replace several old dwellings used as temporary faculty offices.

Under construction now are the new Yale theatre, a gift of Edward S. Harkness of New York, and the new Bingham Hall, gift of sons and daughters of Charles W. Bingham, of Cleveland, O. Four large and expensive fraternity houses also are under way, having sites that flank the new theatre.

Yale's new law school plant, recently announced, will not be ready for a matter of about five years, it is believed, unless something unforeseen happens.

with his family, and reporters suggest that he may have to sue some of his relations.

Those relations put a million or so into the Vanderbilt Tabloid news papers. Others put more millions in. Everybody hopes that the young man will work out his problem, but the newspaper business is not easy, and is not suited to everybody.

Unrest is everywhere, even employees of the Vatican demand higher pay, and yesterday forty Vatican gardeners were laid off. The Pope will pay whatever the Vatican finances will allow him to pay. And meanwhile there is no strike.
