HIGH SEAS AND STORMS REACH GEORGIA COAST

Winds and Waves at Brunswick, Ga. Reach Rate of Forty Miles an Hour

Savannah, Ga., July 29.—(AP)—High seas and wind of increasing intensity along the Georgia coast early today presaged the advent of the tropical hurricane, which thundering up the Florida east coast since Monday has left damage and destruction to shipping, property, communication lines, and crops which may run into millions of dollars.

Wather bureau reports late last night, placed the storm center near the Georgia coast about 50 miles north of Jacksonville, Florida.

A lull in the wind, the usual indication of approaching storm, was reported at many points along the Georgia coast early today.

Heavy seas rolling in on the higher tides of several years, pounded at the sea island; along the lower Georgia and upper Florida coast near Brunswick, Georgia and a wind velocity some times reaching 40 miles an hour accompanied by a driving rain.

Sudden squalls and torrential rains deluged Savannah with five inches of rain last night.

Trees were uprooted on St. Simons Island, and the foundation of several cottages were wrecked. The island was visited early yesterday by a messenger who awakened the resort visitors and informed them that a hurricane was to reach the island within a short time. Hundreds of persons, many mainly children, followed him back to Brunswick.

British Sportsmen Disappointed But Not Disheartened

London, July 28.—(INS)—With international games contests practically over for this year, British sportsmen are disappointed in their results but not disheartened.

So far as amateur golf is concerned the future is bright enough. With young players like Andrew Jamieson—who put Bobby Jones out of the Amateur Championship—Alec Simpson the finalist and Bobby Jones coming along, the strength of British amateur golf looks like being maintained.

On the professional side there is plenty of brilliant talent. But there is always the old complaint, British professional still complain incessantly of being tired and state by the time the Open Championship comes along. They want the big event to be played in April or early May, when they say they are still comparatively fresh, and as evidence of this the point out what the British professional team did to the American professional in the Samuel Ryder Cup.

NOTED BOBBED BANDIT LEADS WOMAN PRISONERS IN DRAMATIC REPORT

Auburn, N. Y., July 29.—(INS)—Cecelia Cooney, famous "bobbed hair" bandit, and other women convicted of murder who are serving life terms at Auburn prison, have gone in for dramatics.

The world may never see these criminals on the stage, but in Auburn prison, their fame is general. Cecelia is a comedienne the star of the women's prison. She sings "Down by the Water Works" with as much vim, pep, emotion art, as the best of the vaudeville artists who have killed the song.

PROBE ACTIVITIES OF CROW BARRETT FACTION CHICAGO

The Senate Campaign Committee Continues Action Against Campaign Expenses

Chicago, July 29.—(AP)—Activities of the powerful Crow-Barrette faction of the Republican party in Cook county during the Illinois primary, were inquired into today by the Senate campaign funds committee.

Charles V. Barrette, treasurer of the group, known as the regular Republican organization, presented cancelled checks and other data to show how the organization disposed of $175,000 which it collected for use in the campaign.

Disclosure of this expenditure increased to $965,635.47, the known outlay in the primary in which Frank L. Smith defeated Senator W. B. McKinley for the Republican nomination.

Senator Reed and Senator LaFollette, Republican, of Wisconsin, who still were the only committee members present, examined each of the scores of checks presented. Barrette recalled two more contributions to his organization fund which he did not list when he first appeared late yesterday.

He said Emil Seip, of Chicago, gave $2,000 and "a real estate man named Lewis" $2,000.

Chairman Reid first asked about a $500 check made payable to cash and endorsed by J. H. Stewart. Barrette said Stewart was doing "some organization work on the south side." There was a $2,000 check which the witness said was for postage stamp money and a $1,000 check used to pay printing bill.

Another check for $12,500 made payable to Homer K. Galpin, chairman of the organization was drawn late in the campaign and Barrette said it was used for organization work.

Barrette was excused and the committee turned back to its inquiry into the Pennsylvania primary.

RALEIGH LAWYER KILLS HIMSELF

Luther Gordon, Formerly of Nashville Shoots Himself As He Lies in Bed

Raleigh, July 29.—(AP)—M. Luther Gordon, 28 year old Raleigh lawyer, killed himself as he lay in bed late last night, with a single pistol shot through his right temple.

Although the act took place at night, the dead body of the lawyer was not found until this morning, when people with whom he lived went into the room to straighten the furniture. A pool of blood on the floor first attracted their attention, and the body was then found on the bed.

Gordon was employed in the law office of Allen J. Barwick. His employer this morning declared despondency over a change in position was probably responsible for the suicide.

Gordon came here from Selma where he practiced law. Originally he was from Nashville, N. C.

Feminine "Bloc" In Illinois Legislature Is Now Growing

Springfield, Ill., July 29.—(INS)—The feminine "bloc" in the Illinois State Legislature is growing! At the next session of the general assembly there will be five women in the house and one in the senate voting "aye" or "no" as the clerk drones through endless roll-calls.

Politically, the house "feminine" bloc is Republican by a majority of one. Three members are Republicans, the other two are Democrats. Mrs. Florence Fifer Bohrer, Bloomington, of the senate, is a Republican.

Rescue Crew from Island Columbus Found

Captain W. D. McClellan, left, of the freighter Maravi, rescued seven members of the crew of the British ship Port Kembla from Watlings Island, where Columbus made his first American landing. The British ship ran on a reef and jettisoned its cargo of fancies, to the delight of the natives. At the right is the rescued crew and the ship's parrot, happy to be landed in New York.

BARTLETT SAYS CAROLINA NEEDS MORE FACTORIES

Secretary of Chamber of Commerce Says We Have Product and Need Factories

Raleigh, July 29.—(AP)—Factories make towns, asserts Newell C. Bartlett in a current issue of the Wachovia, the official publication of the Wachovia Bank & Trust Company, of North Carolina, and as long as Eastern Carolina has the raw material and environment, there is no reason why there should not be both.

"As it now stands," declares the writer, "the 46 counties commonly referred to as East North Carolina have 56 of the 386 cotton mills, 34 of the 146 hosiery mills and about 20 per cent of all the spindles now operating in the state. There is only one furniture factory in the whole territory. There is every reason to believe that other furniture factories ought to be here when it is considered that the hardwood timber is being shipped away to be finished and then shipped back to the south for domestic use."

Pointing out that the mills already in Eastern North Carolina are prospering, Mr. Bartlett offers this as proof that the section is adapted to manufacturing. Johnston county, the largest cotton growing county in the state, he continues, has 8 cotton mills; Wayne county has 2; Lenoir, 3; Edgecombe 6; Halifax 12; Harnett 5; Pitt 1; Bladen 2, and others scattered about the section proving that mills will prosper in Eastern North Carolina.

"To increase the population of the towns of Eastern North Carolina, work must be found for the people to do. Towns can only grow when there are industries," concludes the writer. "Factories make towns."

BIG AMERICAN ORDER STARTS HUNT FOR BOOKS

London, July 29.—(INS)—A record order for a representative English library of 15,000 volumes has been received by an English book dealer from an unnamed American.

The order will cause one of the biggest book treasure hunts on record.

TODAY

What, No Borrowing? A New Airship. Yes, He Drinks, Why Not? Danger At Pearl Harbor. By ARTHUR BRISBANE

In connection with rough treatment of American tourists by the French, bear in mind that American tourists are foolish. Many, as a joke, pasted French paper francs on the outside of their luggage with hotel labels, or threw French money on the floor, to show how little they thought of it. The shrinkage of the franc being financially a matter of life or death with the French, they naturally resent the conduct of such American idiots.

On the other hand, for your comfort, if you feel that this country ought to be more generous with France, bear in mind the treatment of Mr. Mellon and the President that we are not trying to collect one dollar of the money lent to France before the Armistice, while the war was on. All of that debt is wiped out. In the settlement proposed. But that is not told to the French people.

Some European countries threaten to boycott American investors and borrow their money elsewhere. That would be a blessing to many Americans, silly enough to invest in foreign bonds that may or may not be paid.

But it won't happen. Borrowing from good old "Uncle Snylock" as Europe calls him, will continue as long as Uncle will lend.

The wise American will invest in America.

A new flying machine promises to revolutionize flying, with the aid of Dr. Wagner, a German engineer. A counter-propeller for airships, similar to one successfully used on steamships, is to be tried by our navy.

It is certain that, with time, flying will change completely from present methods.

Today's airplane is merely an imitation of a flying bird. Man does not limit himself to imitating nature, he goes far beyond what nature can do.

RAINFALL PROVES QUITE BENEFICIAL WEST'RN CAROLINA

Farmers and Manufacturers Express Relief at Change in Weather Conditions

Marion, N. C., July 29.—(AP)—Western North Carolina this week has had one of the most beneficial rains from the standpoint of timeliness, in a generation.

Farmers and manufacturers alike are expressing relief. The streams had been low, threatening both the water supply for power purposes and that for water systems. The crops were in serious shape and farmers saw ahead of them, hard times unless the rain came.

The two months drought has been broken, streams are filling up and crops are reviving.

"It is safe to say that this is the most needed rain within the memory of our oldest citizens," declared J. W. Pless, prominent attorney here today.

"The recent drought extended throughout the mountain country and the last few days of it were marked by the highest temperatures ever recorded in the higher altitudes of North Carolina.

Calhoun County, Illinois, to Have A Railroad

Springfield, July 26.—(INS)—Illinois may have a new railroad, which if built will tap a county which never before has had such means of transportation.

With the declaration that a preliminary survey has been completed and that everything is in readiness for the start of construction work, the Alton, Quincy and Northern Electric Railroad company has filed application with the Illinois Commerce Commission for a certificate to construct and operate the road.

The company sometimes ago was granted a charter by Secretary of State Louis L. Emmerson. It has capital stock of $1,000,000. Directors of the proposed line are Charles H. Petch, New York, C. H. Wood, J. R. Williams, F. B. Potter, and C. H. Hunter, all of Quincy.

The line, if built, will run from Alton to near Deer Plain in Calhoun county, thence northerly through Calhoun, Pike and Adams counties to Quincy.

RENEWAL OF JURY PROBE IN SEMPLE CASE NOW PENDING

Developments in Kidnapping Charge Make Further Inquiry Necessary

Los Angeles, July 29.—(AP)—Renewal of the grand jury investigation of the Almee Semple McPherson kidnapping case is being considered by county officials following discovery of what they consider important new evidence.

The new inquiry as discussed by officials last night following the return from Carmel, California, of Captain of Detectives Herman Cline and Deputy District Attorney Joe Ryan would extend to Tucson and Douglas, Arizona where the evangelist made her appearance at the border in Mexico, June 23, 35 days after disappearing from Ocean Park.

Following the conference District Attorney Keyes took to his home all of the evidence which had been collected by the officers during their trip to Carmel, and was studying all phases of the case.

Meanwhile Mrs. McPherson, who maintained she was abducted by two men and a woman and held for ransom, until she escaped and reappeared at Agua Prieta Mexico, is demanding a show-down and charging prosecution.

Ryan and Cline declared that numerous persons at Carmel identified photos of Mrs. McPherson and Kenneth G. Ormiston, former radio operator at Angelus Temple, as those of persons who spent several days in Carmel after Mrs. McPherson disappeared.

Carmel is an art colony near Monterey. Officials also indicated that they would check on testimony of certain witnesses at the recent sessions of the grand jury.

Ormiston's name has repeatedly been linked with that of the woman pastor since her disappearance. He is supposed to be in the east somewhere. Mrs. McPherson appealed to him through the Associated Press to come forward and clear her name.

MANY LOSE LIVES WHEN SHIPS SINK

Saint Domingo, July 29.—(AP)—Many persons were lost when the schooners Francisway, Peaceful and Macoris, bound for the Windward Islands were sunk off Saona Island in a storm. 54 bodies have been washed ashore at Saona.

New System of Handling Mail Is Best Method Yet

New York, July 29.—(INS)—European mail arriving at this port can now be delivered in Cleveland, Washington, Boston and intermediate points before the passengers arriving on the same liner with the mail have been handed.

This service is the result of new equipment installed by the New York Central Railroad which handles all incoming European mail at this port under a government contract.

The new equipment consists of automatic electric conveyors which are used in the transfer of mail from the liners at Quarantine and again at the shore.

A steamer meets the liner at Quarantine. The electric conveyor rushes the mail from the liner to the smaller boat which speeds back to shore. On the way back, the mail is sorted by government clerks. At the shore another electric conveyor is run into the bow of the mail-carrying craft and a steady stream of mail bags is poured onto the pier, put into waiting cars and trucks, and rushed to outgoing trains.

The mail is on its way. The passenger is still at Quarantine. Hitching one's wagon to a star, it is needless to say, doesn't mean any heart's in the right place.—Record, Greensboro, N. C.

KIWANIS CLUBS IN INTER-CITY MEET KINSTON

Chicken Dinner and Several Addresses Featured Session at Hillcrest Park

Greenville and Kinston Kiwanians held an inter-city meeting at Kinston yesterday afternoon. The session was held at Hillcrest. Kinston's much-talked-of summer resort. It was featured by a chicken dinner, and interesting talks by members of both organizations.

Local Kiwanians left Greenville yesterday morning at eleven-thirty. They returned late in the afternoon, reporting a splendid trip. The program included a double-header ball game between Kinston and Norfolk, but this feature was postponed on account of unfavorable weather conditions.

N. G. Bartlett, president of the Kinston Kiwanians, presided over the meeting. He told of the desire to bring the two clubs together and hoped that this would only be the beginning of several such meetings. L. J. Mewborne delivered the welcome address to the Greenville Kiwanians, while Marvin Blount, the president, responded.

Dr. H. M. North, pastor of the Queen Street Methodist church, of Kinston, who is a live wire Kiwanian, spoke on the principles of Kiwanis. He pointed out that Kiwanis has set up standards of the highest character in the business and professional life. "When Kiwanis was first organized, the motto was, 'We Tardie,' later it was changed to 'We Build.' Kiwanis takes a part in every good thing and should be the eyes of the community," said Dr. North.

Other talks were made by Judson Blount, Dr. J. E. W. Cook, C. B. Rowlett and Ralph Deal, of Greenville, and Kader Curtis of the Kinston Rotary club, also Plato Collins, H. Galt Braxton of the Kinston club.

"Bill" Bradshaw, of the Greenville club, was introduced to the happy crowd as the second Anna Case. He delighted those present with a solo.

3,100 Americans Make More Noise Than All the Rest

Paris, July 29.—(INS)—The city of Nice (Alpes Maritimes) has become the haven for foreigners. Ninety thousand make up the number of those who live there for a sojourn of a least two months. The others, tourists rapides and travellers de luxe are too migratory to be included.

Among the ninety thousand semi-permanent, there are 32,000 Italians, a large figure accounted for undoubtedly by the close proximity of the Italian borders. A great many of them are laborers who find life better on this side than in their own Italy under Mussolini rule, for most of them are not Fascists.

There are also many Swiss who keep hotels and keep them well, as is their custom. Russians, who are all over France, have a colony of about 6,000 at Nice and nearly all are aristocrats.

There are only 3,100 North Americans but they make the noise of 100,000, says Morhorn in Le Petit Bleu. South Americans number only 1,400 but they are everywhere and think everything is meant for them.

U. S. RAILWAYS FACE TIE UP SOON

Cleveland, O., July 29.—(INS)—Railway transportation on the North American Continent faces a probable tie up this fall, with the definite announcement by officials of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers that this organization has committed itself to demand a wage increase.

By prior action, the Brotherhood of Locomotive Firemen and Enginemen has agreed to join in with the Engineers in the wage movement.

WIFE OF SLAIN RECTOR ARRESTED AS HIS MURDERER

Mrs. Edward Hall of Brunswick Accused of Killing Husband and Choir Singer

Somerville, N. J., July 29.—(AP)—Mrs. Edward Wheeler Hall, widow of the slain rector of St. John's Episcopal church in New Brunswick, was in the county jail held without bail, accused of her husband and Mrs. Eleanor Mills, wife of the church sexton and singer in the choir.

Mrs. Hall was arrested late last night at her home. She spent most of the night in a reception room on the first floor in the rear of the jail.

Mrs. Hall had gone to bed when Captain J. J. Lamb, of the state police, arrived with three Jersey City officers, to arrest her on warrants sworn out by prosecutor Francis Bergen, of Somerset county.

Mrs. Hall dresses and came down stairs and asked to see the warrants. After reading them she asked to be allowed to telephone to her attorney and permission was granted.

N. C. CITY WILL CELEBRATE 1ST WHITE BIRTH

Elizabeth City, N. C., July 29.—(INS)—Eyes of two nations will turn momentarily upon this little North Carolina city, August 18, in the midst of the Dare County, Virginia, celebration commemorating the birth of America's first native-born and the last Colony.

On the day that thousands of persons from over the country arrive here to take in the gigantic celebration that will take place on Roanoke Island, Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to the United States, will make the principal address.

Sir Esme will be taken directly to Roanoke Island to old Fort Raleigh of the Coast Guard cutter Apache.

The celebration will take place on the site of the old Fort Raleigh, where the first English settlement in America was made in 1584. This is now the property of the Roanoke Colony Memorial Association, a little band of patriots who have worked since 1800 to preserve the memory of the Roanoke settlement.

The Association has marked the site of the fortress, and by yearly celebrations have kept alive interest which will culminate this year in one of the most widely heralded celebrations of its kind in history.

President Coolidge has written a letter to be read on August 18, when Sir Esme Howard will speak Governor McLean of North Carolina, ex-Governor Morrison, and Bishops Chesire, Darst, Horner, and Penick, four Episcopal bishops of North Carolina, are expected to attend the celebration.

Congressman Warren's bill providing for the erection of a marker to commemorate the birth of Virginia Dare, has been passed and it is believed it will be erected in the near future under the supervision of Secretary of War Davis.

Beirut, Syria, July 29.—(AP)—The appeal of Bennett J. Doty, of Memphis, Tenn., from a sentence of eight years' imprisonment at hard labor for desertion from the French Foreign Legion, today was rejected unanimously by a higher military court.

PARIS TAXI DRIVERS FIGHT FOREIGNERS

Paris, July 29.—(INS)—Indignant because foreigners in their trade sometimes give them bad reputations 12,000 Parisian taxi drivers of French nationality have banded themselves together to check the foreign invasion.

In the future all taxis driven by Frenchmen will carry small distinguishing marks on the windshields.

WE CANNOT SELL OUT TO THE BIG CORPORATIONS

Can it be possible that the various cities realize what they are doing when they sell out their municipal power plants to the great companies attempting to link up the Eastern part of North Carolina? Do they realize that they are selling out the rights of the people? Do they for a moment realize that they are forfeiting all privileges accorded the public of the United States.

Every town should be proud of its municipally owned power plants. They represent thousands of dollars spent from time to time in an effort to enjoy advantages of the larger and more populous communities.

What can we hope for when we sell our rights and privileges to the large corporations? The right and privilege of the individual to conduct his own business independently of corporations should be considered. These are things the American people have fought for over a period of a hundred and fifty years. It was the denial of such privileges which caused them to break away from English tyranny and oppression, in the Revolutionary War.

The plan to link up the country under one great lighting system is a revival of tyranny and oppression. As long as individuals exert their own right of free trade independent of alliances, so long may this nation continue to prosper. But when the time comes that they cannot do this, their future is insecure.

It used to be that we recognized monopolies in this country. Today hundreds of large corporations are operating along the same principle. They are not declared to possess certain monopolistic tendencies because they have too much money back of them. But they are stifling the life out of business. They are strangling small business, and in like proportion, the small business man.

The business of a municipality is conducted like that of the individual. If a town sells out its rights to a large corporation, it can not expect to be able to expand and prosper as it should. The mammoth industries are interested in the enrichment of their stockholders. The stockholders eventually decrease to a small number of financiers, who are able to "hog" things to their own satisfaction. Eventually, the city is forced out completely. It is true these concerns are spending enormous sums of money. It is natural they should do so. They desire to make a good impression, knowing full well that the time is not far off when they will reap a golden harvest upon their investments.

Corporations contemplating coming to Eastern Carolina are making alluring offers. They hold before the public entrancing pictures of great industrial expansion. They argue that they will be able to build up the South as a great manufacturing center.

Potentialities of the Southland are not limited. They have never been limited. But they will be, should our towns not awaken to conditions as they actually exist. This business of selling out is a dangerous undertaking. We cannot sell ourselves, without reaping the results of our folly.

Greenville has an exceptionally fine plant. The people are proud of it. They enjoy rates as low as any other town in the state, and considerably lower than those served by large corporations. We do not want to sell our right of running the affairs of the town as they should be run. We want to reserve certain privileges. And in reserving them, we will be doing what hundreds of others in the years to come will wish they had done.

Ireland, Most Backward Nation, Must Go to School

London, July 29.—(INS)—The Irish the most backward people in Western Europe, and if Ireland as a country wants to get ahead it will have to do what Germany did—build up power in an educational basis.

This was the view expressed by the Very Reverend Canon Corbett, a well-known Free State cleric at a meeting in Malloy, Irish Free State, of National Teachers and others interested in education in the Free State, when there were some very striking criticisms on the educational system of the country.

"We have passed through a period of disillusionment," declared the Canon. "Many believe that when we got our own Government all we had to do was to open our mouths and get the plums. Any one who knows history knows that it only opened the road to work, so if our country is to be successful and prosperous we will have to get to work." Education was at the root of Ireland's national prosperity, said the Canon, who added that there was no blinking the fact that they were suffering from "swelled head." "To keep pace with other nations we will have to go to school and to learn when we are at school," he asserted.

The number has exceeded our expectations, said director N. W. Walker, commenting on the reg-

Their willingness to spend 12 weeks of the summer in study shows a greater earnestness and seriousness on their part to fit themselves for their work. Although no exact figures have been made known, the major portion of the registrants are students who have been here for both sessions."

WHITE MAN HELD ON ASSAULT CHARGE

Wilson, July 28.—W. J. Griffin, white farmer who resides about two miles from this city, on the Wilbanks road, was arrested shortly after noon today and lodged in the county jail to await preliminary hearing next week on charge of criminally assaulting his seventeen year old daughter. Preliminary hearing will be held before Magistrate A. J. Hines early next week. The prisoner denies the charges made by his daughter, but stated to the officers that the charges were a "frame up" between his wife and daughter. Charges were made this morning by the girl who set forth in the warrant that the assault was attempted late yesterday afternoon near their home. Griffin, it is alleged, asked his daughter to accompany him to the tobacco barn and it was while returning that the crime was attempted.

NEW SCREEN THRILLER FROM FAMOUS NOVEL

Her aesthetic nature seeking early expression, Virginia Holmes known to the screen as Virginia Knull, studied classical dancing while attending public school in Chicago. However, the movies exercised her lure and Virginia found herself an extra with the old Essanay company.

She has had many parts, and even starring in some pictures. She has made a "appearance in "A Lady of Quality" and made in rapid succession "Wild Orange," "The Signal Tower," and other productions.

U. S. and Britain Are At War Over Argentine Meat

London, July 27.—(INS)—War has broken out here between British and American firms engaged in exporting meat from Argentine to Great Britain.

Following a failure to reach an agreement, of Argentinean chilled beef which each company would send into this country, the American and British firms have jumped into the fight on a competitive basis, each striving to capture the British market.

"The American," according to the Daily Mail, "represented by Swift, Armour, and Wilson, with untold wealth behind them, have attempted to drive the British firms off the market by sending chilled beef into Britain regardless of known requirements, thereby forcing down prices and causing Argentine meat to be sold at a price below the cost of importation."

"They have, of course, lost heavily on British trading, but their organization and control of the American home meat supply have enabled them to force up prices in the United States and so cover their losses here."

Representatives of British meat companies declare that if they fail to beat off the American attack, the big Chicago firms will be able to dictate meat prices in England, besides controlling half the meat supply of the world. It is stated that British interest formerly controlled 60 per cent of the Argentine meat shipments to Great Britain, but that their control had now been reduced to 28 per cent.

The problem of a meat supply for Great Britain in the years to come is an alarming one in view of the expectation that the United States will soon become a meat importing nation, instead of exporting its present surplus. In that event, the American meat supply would come from the Argentine, and Great Britain would be left to look for other sources or to buy from the United States.

Spanish gold said to be worth millions, a golden Madonna and chests of precious jewels, goes on today with as much fervor and vigor as it did in its early days.

Perhaps it is a myth—the result of a legend born in the crazed mind of an old Mexican adventurer or the romantic nature of Latin people, but the story is plausible enough for Dr. L. G. Hill, Mulberry, Ark., to spend $100,000, the savings of a lifetime, in financing a hunt for the treasure.

Generations have seen adventurers push their boats up Big Mulberry Creek only to return months later with disappointment evident with every feature.

Two Spaniards have visited Mulberry during the past 40 years and claimed knowledge of the treasure. The first was Antonio, 89 year old Mexican, who claimed to be a representative of President Diaz, of Mexico.

It was Antonio whom Dr. Hill financed in the treasure hunt. The elderly Mexican ran lines from three marking points on a map in his possession and each led to a sandstone bluff.

When cave-in dirt was dug away, diggers came to a system of hieroglyphics and the old man was frenzied with joy. The old man told Dr. Hill if he came to a small square opening and found a flint dagger and a stone key in this hole it was the place. Both were found.

Antonio studied the symbols on the face of the cliff for a few days, started excavation work and died. The map he had been following could not be found.

The work came to a standstill a few months later when Dr. Hill died.

The legend had it nine Spaniards left the old country with the treasure, millions in gold and silver bullion, a golden calf and a quantity of precious jewels, at the time when Spain feared overwhelming defeat at the hands of Napoleon.

They landed safely in New Orleans, heard of gold mines in the north, abandoned their ships at the mouth of the Arkansas, transported all their treasure up the river in small sailboats, the legend runs.

Millions In Spanish Gold Being Sought In State of Ark.

Fayetteville, Ark., July 28.—(INS)—A treasure hunt that has gone on in Franklin country, Arkansas, for more than 30 years, for

Spanish gold said to be worth millions, a golden Madonna and chests of precious jewels, goes on today with as much fervor and vigor as it did in its early days.

Perhaps it is a myth—the result of a legend born in the crazed mind of an old Mexican adventurer or the romantic nature of Latin people, but the story is plausible enough for Dr. L. G. Hill, Mulberry, Ark., to spend $100,000, the savings of a lifetime, in financing a hunt for the treasure.

In making this statement in this positive way we want to go a step beyond: Please do this: MAKE YOUR OWN COMPARISONS OF THE QUALITY OF OUR GOODS WITH THAT OFFERED ELSEWHERE.

We have no particular store in mind. Go where you will, in or out of town. We do not claim to be performing miracles in business and such things as exaggerated claims are not within what we regard as good business ethics.

However, our 24 years of extensive operations, the quantity of goods required by our 676 Stores, and our unexcelled buying position in the field of production, make of each one of our stores, including this Store, undeniably the place "where savings are greatest."

Paris July 29.—(INS)—How many hats did Napoleon own? Nearly every museum in Europe has a 'petit chapeau' that once fit the head of the celebrated Emperor. There are no fewer than three in the Musée de l'Armée at the Invalides in Paris. They were worn at the battles of Elba, Eylau and St. Helena.

Recently another chapeau of the 'petit caporal' was sold at auction at the Hotel Drouot for the fat sum of 43,000 francs. It is the regular Napoleonic shape in black and was picked up on the field of Marengo. The purchaser gave a guarantee that it would not leave France. Monsieur Girard of Monte Carlo who bought it, is reported to have been acting for the Prince of Monaco.

After the hat, the famous 'blouse de Badinquet' in which Napoleon III fled from the fort of Ham brought the sum of 3,900 francs and will return to the city of its origin for the town of Ham has bought back the shirt of heavy blue sail-cloth which Napoleon borrowed from the mason Badinquet.

The youngest and smallest student at the American Conservatory of Music in the historic old chateau of Fontainebleau, is little Doris Diamant, who hails from St. Louis, Missouri. She has only seven years to her credit but is already an accomplished singer and pianist. She intends to study with the most eminent musicians and will make her debut in Paris.

Time was when, if you asked a little French boy what he would like to be when he grew up to be a big man, he would reply without any hesitation, 'I would like to be a station-master, archbishop, fireman or candy-seller.' Ask the same question nowadays and he will answer straightaway: 'Cyclist, and win the Tour de France race.'

If it happens to be a little girl, she will say:

'I want to be like Suzanne Lenglen.'

All of which proves there is a general renaissance of sport in France today and that very likely within a few years, she will walk off with the Olympic games.

Even the best of 'em sooner or later turn to the movies, for many reasons. Following in the steps of several good artists of the Comedie Francaise, Firmin Gemier, actor-manager of the Odeon, France's

A postcard which was posted in Paris fourteen years ago addressed to Cherbourg has just been delivered to the right place but not to the right person, for in the meantime he has died. The card carried only a ten-centime stamp which was quite sufficient in those days and the postal authorities made no extra charge for the delivery since it had been so long delayed.

tion, personally he obeys the Bible, which tells us: 'Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake, and thine of ten infirmities.'

Col. Greene, admitting that he keeps things stronger than wine and gives them to his friends, says he drinks moderately. Nevertheless, he is suspended as Pacific Coast prohibition administrator.

That seems hard. It is admitted that strict prohibition is intended for the lower classes, those that lack 'the price.' Col. Greene does not belong to those lower classes. The next step might be to force total abstinence on congressmen that voted for it.

At Lake Denmark, a flash of lightning cost this country $100,000,000 and caused many deaths. President Coolidge and the Secretary of the Navy may be interested in a letter from Mr. M. E. F. of Milwaukee who calls attention to the unprotected situation at our naval oil storage base at Pearl Harbor.

'Upon my last visit there I noticed that these tremendous oil tanks were entirely unprotected against lightning. A few weeks later at the Monterey Presidio, lightning struck large oil reservoirs, and the result was extremely disastrous fire.'

Where gigantic losses, and many lives are at stake, the government should consult scientists, instead of trusting to luck.

Recently, President Coolidge and Governor Al Smith of New York, who may run against each other in 1928 for the Presidency, went each to his church, one around the corner from the other, in the little town of Paul Smith, in the Adirondacks.

The President went to the First Presbyterian Church, the Governor and Mrs. Smith to St. Barnabas' Catholic Church.

It is to be hoped that as the two churches, Protestants and Catholics, stand peacefully side by side,

Capt. Tom Halls, Oldest Secret Man Retires in August

Indianapolis, July 28.—(INS)—The oldest active secret service operator in these United States—if not in the world—Thomas E. Halls, stalwart and erect with eighty-one years upon his shoulders, fifty-nine of which were spent in government employ, will retire here on August 21. 'Captain Tom' as he is familiarly known among sleuths the nation over, served in the intelligence division of the United States Union army before linking up with the criminal-chasing organization of Uncle Sam.

Captain Halls proudly displays a meritorious service gold medal for arresting single-handedly twenty-eight persons in connection with a railroad burglary in 1877.

Born in 1845 on the edge of Sherwood Forest, Eng., made famous by tales of the British outlaw, Robin Hood, Halls came to this country in 1858 and settled at Danville, Ill., where he served two terms of his early life as chief of police.

Asked which case he had handled that he believed to have been the biggest, he replied that he couldn't say. There were a number of cases since he entered the secret service, he says, that were equally important, he believes.

With a smile, however, he agreed to tell of the time when he was nearest death, to his knowledge. He has been wounded on several occasions, he says, but when he chased John Clove, a bandit near Danville he came nearest death than at any other time, he believes. Clove, he says, was hiding in a cabin in the middle of a corn field.

When he approached, the bandit, scared by dog barks, jumped out a window and hid in a ravine. Halls searched the ravine from end to end, but found no one. Later, he says, he caught the man in a sister's cabin and was informed that while he had been searching the ravine, the bandit had twice placed a huge navy revolver within a foot of his stomach, but failed to shoot because Halls had failed to see the man lying in the bushes.

Captain Halls has been in Indianapolis for the last 27 years, working in this state and around it. He was shot through the knee while working on a case in Iron county, Missouri. The effect of the shot has made his right leg stiff.

On another occasion he was hit through the left hand which makes that stiff also. He has little use of his fingers on that hand. This shooting, he says, occurred while he was at Danville.
