PRESENT PLANS FOR OPENING OF GEORGIA BANKS

President of Defunct Banking House Asked That Guardian be Appointed

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Coupled with the announcement of plans for the reopening of 20 branches of the Georgia State Banks recently closed with the Banker's Trust Company, was placed in the hands of a receiver, came word yesterday that relatives of W. D. Manley, President of the defunct Trust Company, have asked that a guardian be appointed to administer Manley's business affairs.

Manley suffered a collapse several years ago and was treated at Eastern Hospital. Physicians believe his present condition is a return of the old trouble.

Plans for reopening the bank will be presented to the depositors and stockholders within a few days, it was said. Twelve small banks, members of the chain for which the Banker's Trust Company acted as fiscal agent, will be open soon, according to as stated at the State Banking Department.

The County Solicitor General's office is investigating receivership of the Banker's Trust Company and the subsequent closing of approximately 115 small banks in Georgia and Florida.

1,900 CHINESE DYING DAILY FROM CHOLERA

TODAY

That Hymn is State Wet or Dry Mexico and Russia A Real Last Word By ARTHUR BAINBRIDGE

TWELVE YEARS AGO yesterday Great Britain and Belgium declared war on Germany. The fourth of August, 1914, began the four years, three months and seven days fighting, that cost millions of lives, more than two hundred billions of money. The war that was to make the world safe for Democracy, but didn't.

Democracy is no better off than it was before, and how things have changed.

Twelve years ago London Punch printed a picture of the German with his family at the breakfast table, practicing the hymn of hate. Now England and other European countries have learned that hymn, and they are singing it at poor old Uncle Sam, who lent them ten thousand millions of dollars.

Had Uncle Sam remembered Benjamin Franklin's advice not to be a borrower or lender, ESPECIALLY A LENDER, he would be more popular today.

Look at Japan. She was actually one of the allies from the start. She beat Germany in her own neighborhood, took territory that she wanted. Didn't send a dollar or a man to Europe—except a few officers to get information for Japan. Europe doesn't hate Japan, she knew enough to keep out of it.

A wet Republican and a wet Democrat are nominated in Missouri, despite efforts of the anti-saloon league and women's christian temperance union.

In New York, Senator Wadsworth, described by his opponents as a man of common sense, will be nominated for Senator, and according to those that understand New York politics he will be re-elected.

Generally speaking, sneering from now on will drift more and more into 'wet' or 'dry' contests. That is the real issue.

This doesn't cool to the Presidency. Calvin Coolidge has a better issue than wet or dry. It is high prosperity.

A beggar arrested in New York's Chinatown yesterday expected to be held under $1,000 bond. When police took a roll containing more than $12,000 from his belt he offered to put up $1,000 cash. This is a prosperous country, where even beggars have $12,000.

The Mexican controversy will be long drawn out. One priest, of Vera Cruz, accepting Calles' regulations, has had his church returned to him with full authority to officiate.

One of Calles' men, an alderman in the State of Guerrero, closing a church by order of the government, was killed by the mob. He is said to have fired upon Catholics surrounding the church. The boycott by Catholics has diminished theatre attendance, and much spending of money.

From Moscow dispatches describe the transfer of orthodox churches from the old established priesthood to the new bolshevik church, which is called The New Living Church. Whereas in Mexico crowds, and women especially protect the Catholic priests, in Russia six priests of the orthodox church are attacked by the mob, women in the crowd spitting in the priests' faces.

You read in the Bible about Jezebel, marvelously well described. Men understand its power only when it is shown in real life.

Joseph Millman was separated from his wife, who took it very much to heart. She called him on the telephone and their little boy, three years old, through the telephone said, 'Hello, daddy.'

The mother corrected him, 'Don't say hello, daddy.' Say 'good-bye, daddy.' The child obeyed. Then the mother said, 'It seems the only way I can get ahead of you is to kill our boy.' She did kill the child and herself.

The husband buried them both yesterday afternoon. That was a real last word.

It is legal for a lady to WEAR stockings rolled down, but she mustn't roll them down in public, with men looking.

Magistrate Oberwager, of New York, and a policeman have settled that. It was hot. Miss Frances Rathowitz stopped on the street to roll them down. A policeman, shocked, reported she scandalized the men and got fresh. She spent the night in prison, and goes to the House of the Good Shepherd for three months.

I. C. C. REJECTS PLAN OF N. C. TO BUILD RAILROAD

Body Declared $10,000,000 Not Sufficient to Build and Maintain System

Washington, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The interstate commerce commission rejected a proposal by the State of North Carolina to build a state-owned railroad between a point in Western North Carolina and a point in Eastern Tennessee.

The road, which would have been built by the Appalachian and Western North Carolina railroad company, which will be organized for the purpose, was proposed for one of the three routes suggested by the applicants. It would have been built with the proceeds of the sale of $10,000,000 worth of state bonds.

In rejecting the proposal, without prejudice to its later submission in revised form, the commission doubted that $10,000,000 was sufficient to construct, equip and operate the road. In addition the commission suggested that the company select a single route rather than a number of alternative routes, before the commission could pass on the questions of the road's necessity and public convenience.

The commission's decision said the "evidence as to the cost of construction on the line and its probable earnings is inconclusive and unsatisfactory. There is a possibility that the line may be able to support itself for a time at least, but the estimates of earnings have without been exaggerated.

One of the proposed routes would extend from Doughton, North Carolina to Mountain City, Tennessee. The distance was placed at 86 miles and the construction cost estimated at $9,470,000. The second route would extend from North Wilkesboro, N. C., to Mountain City, Tenn., 68 miles long at a proposed cost of $7,430,000.

The third route would use the North Wilkesboro and Mountain City terminal that would take in more territory being 84 miles long and costing about $8,845,000.

As an auxiliary project the company would build a 23 mile line from North Wilkesboro to Taylorville in Alexander County to connect with a branch of the Southern railway.

The railroad for which permission to build was refused today by the Interstate Commerce Commission was known in North Carolina as the "Tam Bowie Railroad" through the "lost provinces." Representative T. C. Bowie of Ashe county, introduced the measure passed by the 1923 General Assembly providing for a bond issue of $10,000,000 to construct the road which was to connect the counties of Ashe, Watauga and Allegheny, with the remainder of the state and with a western outlet in Tennessee. These three counties for years have been known as the "lost provinces" because they are almost completely shut off from the balance of the state by the mountain ranges.

BOYCOTT NOW BEING FELT IN MEXICO CITY

Decided Decrease in Trade Noted By Many Stores and Shops of the Country

Mexico City, Aug. 6.—(AP)—The economic boycott is making itself felt in the capital. While the surface calm continues, the situation engendered by the tremendous conflict between the government and the Catholic Church in Mexico through the nerves of trade is making itself increasingly potent.

A decided decrease in trade is noted by many stores and shops, particularly to those catering to women. Some of these estimate the reduction in retail sales at as much as 40 per cent of normal.

Government officials have insisted that the effect of the attempt to restrict all except necessary purchases has been exaggerated and declared their report from other states fail to show any serious inroads upon the country's retail commerce. Foreign business men and foreign trade observers however regard the situation as serious.

Meanwhile the deadlock between the opposing forces continues, with President Calles telegram to the President of Peru serving as a vehicle for the latest statement of position.

AIRMAN KILLED IN ACCIDENT AT CHANUTE FIELD

Another Is Injured When Plane Crashes Down Beside Other Plane

Rantoul, Ill., Aug. 6.—(AP)—One flyer was killed at Chanute Field here today and another who flew to his assistance crashed down beside him, receiving injuries expected to be fatal.

First Lieut. C. E. Partridge, was flying at a height of 500 feet when his biplane went into a tail spin and fell.

Flying Cadet Harold C. Wilson, of Selfridge Field, Michigan, flew his plane to Partridge's assistance, went into a side slip at the same place and altitude, and crashed to the ground less than 150 yards away.

Wilson was taken from the wreckage unconscious. Partridge was dead when removed.

Lieut. J. R. Wolf, of Chicago, Wilson's passenger, was injured seriously. Both Partridge and Wolf were reserve officers here for their week's summer training.

KILLER ATTEMPTS TO BURN HIMSELF IN PRISON

W. L. Ross Sets Fire to Mattresses in Cell and Crawls in Between to Die

Raleigh, Aug. 5.—(AP)—After refusing to eat for six days in what prison officials think was an attempt at suicide, W. L. Ross, sentenced in Warren county to death for the murder last May of Mr. and Mrs. Sydney Odom, yesterday afternoon tried to burn himself to death at the state prison.

His efforts were frustrated only when another inhabitant of the death row gave out the alarm.

Although tempted with the best food obtainable at the state prison, Ross had refused to eat. Seeking matches yesterday afternoon, he set fire to the two mattresses in his cell, kindled the fire by fanning it with his hands and crawled between the mattresses to die. Otto Wood, who is on death row for safe keeping, after having twice escaped, saw the fire and sounded the alarm.

Even three months ago, Ross wanted to die. On the witness stand in Warren, charged with the murder of Sydney Odom and his wife, Ross admitted his guilt and cried out for the court to send him to the electric chair.

The court sentenced him to die, but attorneys entered a plea of insanity and his execution was automatically stayed when an appeal to the Supreme Court was granted for next fall.

Ross testified on trial that he killed the couple because they sheltered his step-daughter after he had mistreated her. Odom was his step-son.

NEW EVIDENCE PRESENTED IN MYSTERY CASE

Mysterious Telephone Call and Missing Trunk Added to the Hall Case Today

Round Brook, N. J., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Mysterious telephone calls and an alleged missing trunk have been added to vanishing witnesses as headline factors in the reopening investigation of the murder four years ago of the Rev. E. Wheeler Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

Police today discounted as a hoax a report to them at midnight that a full trunk of documentary evidence had been stolen from the home of Mrs. John Merzke, where Adolph Beckman, who conducted the first investigation lived before his death. Attention of a score of newspaper men had already been concentrated on Round Brook earlier in the day by a tip reporting to come from the Jersey City office of Assistant Attorney General Simpson that 'something big would break at Round Brook at midnight.' Somewhat similar 'tips' have been daily occurrences this week.

By what is termed by the pastor as one of the most unusual actions in church history, a group of members of the local Free Will Baptist church on Wednesday evening voted against the consideration of the present pastor, Rev. L. E. Ballard, for reelection at the coming pastoral election set for next Wednesday evening.

The official church board last week set Wednesday, August 11 as the time for the election of a pastor for the next conference year, but on last Wednesday evening, after the special session called for the consideration of a resolution against questionable amusements, and after the pastor and some other members had left the church, the body was held in session and Mr. Ballard was voted upon for pastoral service for the coming year. The vote was taken at this time over the protest of the pastor, the question of taking the vote before the date set having been advanced by one of the members at the time of the discussion of the resolution, he giving as his opinion that it was an opportune time to find out if the church desired to retain the services of the pastor for another year. Mr. Ballard in an earnest appeal for order in business, stated that he did not desire that his name be submitted until the set time for the election, and then not unless submitted by some member of the church on good will. But the church ignored this request and voted on him, with the result that a majority of those present voted against his being considered at the time of the regular election of pastor.

AMERICAN TRIES SWIM CHANNEL

Gertrude Ederle Making Fine Progress Under Most Favorable Conditions

Dover, Eng., Aug. 6.—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, plucky American swimmer, was about seven miles off this port at 4:45 this afternoon on her attempt to conquer the English Channel.

She was about two miles north west of the East Goodwin Light Ship. She had been in the water nine hours and 30 minutes, having begun at seven-nine this morning.

The wind, which had been kicking up a bad sea here, had moderated slightly but a heavy rain was falling and the condition of the sea was far from favorable.

Canoe Gris Nez, France Aug. 6.—(AP)—Gertrude Ederle, the American swimmer, started at 7:00 o'clock this morning in an attempt to swim the English Channel.

Weather conditions when she took her plunge were fine. At ten o'clock the American girl was four miles north by west of Cape Gris Nez and still making good progress, although the wind at that hour had threatened creating a slight sea. Her position was regarded as favorable.

At 11:30 a. m., or four hours 21 minutes after the start, Miss Ederle was six and one half miles out. The weather remained favorable.

Dover, Eng., Aug. 6.—(AP)—With Gertrude Ederle about half way across the channel after six hours in the water conditions on this side were unfavorable. A strong south west wind blowing against the ebb tide was kicking up a bad sea.

CITY ALDERMEN VOTE TO CONTINUE TO AID THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

BALLARD VOTED OUT BY MEMBERS BAPTIST CHURCH

Most Unusual Action in Church History Follows Controversy Free Will Church

By what is termed by the pastor as one of the most unusual actions in church history, a group of members of the local Free Will Baptist church on Wednesday evening voted against the consideration of the present pastor, Rev. L. E. Ballard, for reelection at the coming pastoral election set for next Wednesday evening.

The official church board last week set Wednesday, August 11 as the time for the election of a pastor for the next conference year, but on last Wednesday evening, after the special session called for the consideration of a resolution against questionable amusements, and after the pastor and some other members had left the church, the body was held in session and Mr. Ballard was voted upon for pastoral service for the coming year. The vote was taken at this time over the protest of the pastor, the question of taking the vote before the date set having been advanced by one of the members at the time of the discussion of the resolution, he giving as his opinion that it was an opportune time to find out if the church desired to retain the services of the pastor for another year. Mr. Ballard in an earnest appeal for order in business, stated that he did not desire that his name be submitted until the set time for the election, and then not unless submitted by some member of the church on good will. But the church ignored this request and voted on him, with the result that a majority of those present voted against his being considered at the time of the regular election of pastor.

When informed of the action on Thursday, Mr. Ballard at first offered no comment other than to say that he was surprised. Later, however, he stated that in all his eight years' experience as a minister of the Free Will Baptist church, nothing had happened to grieve him more.

"I can overlook the element of personal insult in the action," he declared, "but the insult to order and discipline in the church I love is another thing."

Mr. Ballard stated that he did not consider the church as a body responsible for this action, as the vote was demanded by a small group, and he does not believe that the majority of the members of the church realized that the action was contrary to discipline and precedent.

"I have served this church as faithfully as I know how for three years, and whatever might be the wish of the church regarding my future relationship with the church, I feel that my service and sacrifice should at least call for courteous treatment."

The pastor announces that if the church in regular session on next Wednesday evening, allows this action to go on record as legal, he expects to appeal to the conference on a point of discipline.

"It is not that I desire a return call, certainly not under the present conditions, but it is my duty as a minister of the Free Will Baptist church to defend law and order, and this I shall do. I have been conscientious in my efforts in my church, and while I know there are those who oppose me, and who will continue to oppose me, I want them to stay within bounds of the discipline in doing it, and I know of nothing in the discipline of the denomination that will justify any member of the church demanding a vote on a minister for pastoral service, at a session of it to be a fair defeat.

Also Elect Aldermen to Fill Vacancies Created by Recent Resignations

In one of the busiest and most lengthy sessions of the year, the board of aldermen last night elected Herbert Waldrop, as alderman of the Second Ward, succeeding J. A. Clark, resigned, and J. E. Dees, alderman of the Fifth Ward, succeeding Dr. R. L. Carr, who resigned because of changing his residence to another part of the city.

J. C. Tyson was re-elected to succeed himself as city treasurer following the refusal of Mrs. R. L. Crow to accept the office. Mrs. Crow was elected at the July meeting of the board. She declined the offer because of ill health.

It was voted to set aside the sum of $150 a month, beginning July 1, 1926, ending June 30, 1927, for the purpose of continuing to help maintain the public library of Greenville. A library committee was created. Members of the committee will be named by the mayor with other committees of the year.

Owing to the fact that many were under the impression that the city had adopted a city manager form of government, following the election some time ago of George Clark, city manager of streets, members of the board stated that this department would have only care of the city streets and its supervision.

Resolutions were passed providing for the paving of Twelfth street, between Washington and Green. Curbing and gutters will also be put down on Chestnut street, from the present pavement west by the West Greenville school to the city limits.

Rev. J. E. W. Cook, representing the Kiwanis club, appeared before the board, and asked if something could not be done relative to the gas killing so many shade trees. On motion a committee composed of Aldermen Hollingsworth and Forbes was appointed to confer with the Kiwanis club and other civic organizations regarding the matter.

J. B. Smith was allowed a twenty-foot parking space in front of his store on Dickinson Avenue.

Attorney J. B. James appeared before the board again regarding water of the city streets running upon the property of Mrs. Westbrook. The board offered to take that section on the same basis of street paving, which provides that the town pay a third and the property owner two-thirds.

Sidewalk of pavement type was ordered laid on both sides of Greene street, between 10th and 11th streets, and on last side between 11th and 12th streets.

The board also allowed the sum of $175.00 to the fire department for the purpose of sending fire delegates to the Firemen's convention to be held in Morehead City, August 16th to 20th.

Resolutions were passed ordering a new ordinance to be drawn up relative to the placing of garbage in covered cans.

A resolution was voted down to take up the new traffic guides recently installed for thirty days' trial.

Resolutions were passed giving authority to auditors now checking the city books, to transfer the sum of $7,000 from the bond interest funds to the sinking fund.

The session was presided over by Mayor D. M. Clark, with six members of the board in attendance.

A commercial flyer in St. Paul has lost his license to drive an airplane for driving his plane while drunk. It is a big come-down for him, of course, but not as disastrous as would otherwise be the case in time.—Nashville Banner.

A church called and specified for another purpose, and against the expressed wish of the minister in question."

Mr. Ballard stated that he is willing and ready to face defeat "with a smile," but that he wants it to be a fair defeat.

GHOST CITY OF CALICO IS LOCALE OF "BLUE BLAZES"

In California there is one city not priss agented by an energetic Chamber of Commerce. In fact, Calico, California, boasts of but two inhabitants where ten years ago fourteen thousand residents sang they raised of the city. Calico is a relic of the famous California gold rush.

When Joseph Sameth, producing "Blue Blazes," which will be shown at White's Theatre, Saturday, needed a desert village for his story he decided upon Calico. There, with the aid of the two inhabitants, Long Tom Terrence and Old Soak Smith, he found realism and thrills.

Old Soak acted a guide when he was not busy inspecting the whys and wherefores of the motion picture cameras, while Long Tom Terrence was engaged in being an extra, the only one used by the company while in Calico.

Car Constructed Like a Steel Building

Above—The new Essex all-steel coach, described as "strong as a steel building." At the left, lower, is shown a 400 ton press which stamps out entire doors with a single operation. At the right two men are proving sturdiness of car by riding on out-stretched doors.

Detroit—Any story of the new Essex all-steel coach is fundamentally the story of the $10,000,000 body factory which produces the car. What the Hudson Motor Car Co. has done in the manufacturing of Essex bodies is to make craftsmen of machine; this is literally the fact. Giant machines do in a fraction of a minute work that the most highly skilled artisan-craftsmen or artist could never hope to equal from the standpoints of beauty and accuracy. The plant devoted to making the bodies expresses the industry's top mark in design and execution. "Hand work" has long been a symbol of excellence of manufacture. Painstaking labor, directed by trained craft, has resulted in closest fit and smoothest finish. But "machine work" supplants it when the machine is designed and executed so as to perform quickly and surely operations that far excel the best of the hand craft. Essentially, the Essex body plant is an aggregation of precision and stamping machines. Upon them are formed the component parts of the body, which are accurately made that they, without question, their union into a rigid whole is accomplished with a speed and uniformity almost beyond belief. A cowl, a door, or the corner of a body is fashioned on a giant press, the whole cowl is brought into being with one apparently effortless motion of a press that is exerting a force of 400 tons every time its plunger descends. The machine and the die may represent $100,000 worth of ability to manufacture with speed and exactness—an investment made with the certainty that the completed plant would function with the greatest precision and the highest attainable speed. The Hudson officials say that the plant is unique in being the largest bodybuilding unit in the industry, without a single bodybuilder employed in it. Strictly speaking, and using the word in the sense in which it is usually accepted, perhaps there are no human body-builders. But the machines certainly are body-builders in every sense of the word. For the first time in the history of American industry, bodybuilding has been made primarily a series of steel-stamping processes; for the first time, too, the bodies are being made on a 100 per cent progressive assembly system, already employed to such advantage in the manufacture of engines and chassis. Everything in connection with the plant and the other means of making bodies complete was laid out a year ago. On top of the $10,000,000 in the plant proper, an investment of $5,000,000 was made in bringing other departments to a capacity that would measure up to that of the new unit. The plant and the expansions were completed on schedule time, and on the precise day originally determined, a schedule of the new all-steel bodies, to the number of 150, was put through.

THE FARMER WORKING OUT HIS OWN DESTINY

Every time one picks up a newspaper or magazine he reads where the American farmer must do "this" or "that" if he ever amounts to anything.

But regardless of everything that has been said and done, the farmer is the same today as he always was.

Poor fellow, he has been fooled so many times that he is wary of all new-fangled ideas. He has been the "goat" so many times, that he is relying more upon his own "horse" sense today than ever before.

The American farmer has tried to pull together with his brother farmer ever since pioneer days. But he can't see things exactly like his neighbor. Consequently they find it impossible to work in the same traces.

It would be nice if all this talk about cooperation and united effort could become an actuality. It might mean the salvation of the grower, as some continue to claim. It might be a means of preventing the farmer from losing thousands of dollars each year. But it begins to look like they had rather lose a little from time to time than be forced to abide by rules and restrictions of some kind of an organization.

Most of us are like the farmer. We are independent sort of things. We find that we can run our own business better than others can run it. We know that co-operative effort has accomplished wonders in many branches of business. But we also know there are times when nothing but individual effort counts for anything.

Farming in America, like everything else, has undergone remarkable development the last several years. Machines have taken the place of man power in many cases, and work is conducted more swiftly than it is possible to believe. The farmer is contented with the way he is going forward. He believes that he is more capable of handling his affairs than some claiming to be experts on farm products.

And no doubt he is right. The farmer today is a different man from the grower of yesterday. Many of them are products of agricultural schools. They are putting new methods and ideas into practice, and results are good.

Those attempting to educate the farmer might profit by spending more time educating themselves. The American farmer is no fool. He has his own destiny to look after, and in our opinion he is going to work it out exactly like he wants to. He has been raised in a country where independence is a dominant factor. And this spirit of independence is going to help him work out his salvation in the years to come.

ALL ROADS LEAD TO GREENVILLE

"Dollar Day" will be observed in Greenville next Tuesday.

It has been made a semi-annual affair by Greenville merchants.

They are striving to make each event greater than the other, and Greenville people may rest assured that the coming of each year will see the day filled with greater opportunities for the thrifty.

Many of the best towns North Carolina are "sold" on the dollar day idea. They have proved beyond question that the buying public are appreciative of the bargains offered from year to year. And to make the occasion of greater interest, they are endeavoring to have each year's offerings more extensive and inducing.

Greenville is becoming one of the greatest shopping centers of Eastern North Carolina. Today people are coming here to do their shopping who used to go to Raleigh, Richmond, New Bern and other larger places. They realize that business houses here have improved to such extent that they can compete in prices, styles, and qualities of the larger cities.

There are some who think they can get better values from larger cities. But that is a mistaken idea. The larger cities have far greater expenses than the smaller town store. They have to pay higher rents, higher salaries, higher tax rates. And all of this has to come from their profits. They may do a little more business than merchants in the smaller towns, but not enough to justify such reductions of prices as are claimed from time to time.

Greenville business men are striving to make the town the heart of the shopping center of Eastern North Carolina. We are ideally situated for such a purpose. And more than that, Pitt county has one of the best systems of hard surfaced roads of any county in the state. All of these roads lead to Greenville, the county seat.

The hundreds of visitors coming here during Dollar Day will have ample opportunity of seeing what Greenville business men are doing in their behalf. They will be convinced that the future holds out great things for a section which is already considered one of the most progressive in the south today.

OUR TREES
Greenville has been noted for its beautiful shade-trees, but many of the finest are standing today DEAD, and many more, with dry and other leaves, are plainly DYING.

The cause of this calamity is not far to seek. In the course of our town's growth it seemed good to our City Fathers to sell the franchise for making gas to the Carolina Service Company. For many years we had gotten along very well without gas, but this Public Service corporation believed it could see good business ahead in the manufacture and sale of gas to our citizens and bought the mains which the city had previously installed and the privileges of supply.

When the company turned gas into the mains many leaks developed, and from the escaping gas our trees are dead and dying.

Quite naturally, citizens who have lost some of their loveliest foliage and shade feel incensed against gas, and transfer their anger to the company.

The company's attitude is also one of injured innocence. They bought the mains as a going concern, but like the man who purchased the team of oxen, they had not tested them. They say, "It is not our fault. We have been put to the expense of thousands of dollars in stopping these leaks. We can do nothing in the matter of the trees killed. If blame lies anywhere, it lies on the city that sold us leaky mains."

The city's attitude is likewise of innocence. We are kindly informed that if anyone is to be blamed it is the engineer who laid the mains —and he is gone or dead! Here, then, is the dilemma nobody wants to assume the responsibility, and, meanwhile, the beauty of our streets is marred.

Realizing all this, the directors of the Kiwanis club are endeavoring to find a happy solution of the problem. They ask the co-operation of all the parties interested and voted $100.00 from their treasury as an initial contribution toward the expense of removing and replacing the dead trees.

In response to the appeal presented to the Board of Aldermen by Kiwanian Rev. James E. W. Cook last night, the City Fathers appointed a committee to work with others in attaining this object.

Now the Kiwanians publicly request the Rotarians, Merchants Association, Women's or organizations and all other interested groups to at once elect representatives to meet with them and the Aldermanic committee.

To the Carolina Service Company, they say: "Your co-operation and help are also needed. We do not want any litigation over this matter; we seek an amicable settlement. Your success depends on the goodwill of the people; and nothing would more easily remove the odium of the present situation than your frank and generous response to the desire of the community to repair the damage done."

We sincerely hope that these appeals will meet with the success they deserve.

Arne Borge's Swimming Is Big Surprise Athletes

Philadelphia, Aug. 6.—(INS)—Arne Borge, former Olympic swimming star for Sweden now a member of the Illinois Athletic Club, of Chicago, swimming team has mystified everyone who saw him in his extraordinary record-breaking feats recently at the national A. A. U. swimming championships here.

The first glance at Borge gives one the impression that he is just learning to swim. That is, if you see him before he puts on his tremendous speed. Then, too, he seems very slender and his physical makeup reveals little to prove his powerful endurance. Borge, swimming fans declare he has not the form of his team-mate Johnny Weismuller, American champion. Endurance and speed is what Borge has and he cuts his way through the water as never a swimmer has done before, here, there or anywhere, it is said by those who saw him. He has a peculiar way of shooting through the water by cricis—yet this never worries him. He alone knows just how fast he can travel. Unlike other contending athletes, Borge almost always goes through with his announced plans.

Just as the contestants lined up for the one-mile swim at the meet, someone asked if anyone knew the world's record for the distance. Borge instantly replied, that the world's record was 22 minutes and 24 seconds, made in Australia in 1924, by himself, and that he would do the mile in 22 minutes. Borge did even better than that. He shot through the mile race in 21 minutes 46 2/5 seconds.

LONDON HAS 88 WOMEN AS FUNERAL FURNISHERS

London, Aug. 6.—(INS)—There are eighty-eight women funeral furnisners in England, eight of whom practice in London, according to a recent census.

It is stated the women funeral furnisners are warmly welcomed by women faced with bereavement, many of whom find it easier to deal with one of their own sex than with men furnisners.

Six of the London women first entered the business during the world war, when their husbands were on military service. The dean of the London women furnisners is Mrs. J. G. Thomas, who has an establishment in the Deptford district, on the East Side.

I consider that funeral furnishing is essentially a business where women might help women more than men, especially in the case of the death of children, Mrs. Thomas said in an interview.

Bobbed Hair and Autos Help Make Church-Goer Bad

Chicago, Aug. 6.—(INS)—Disparity, bobbed hair and the automobile today are the chief obstacles to Christian religion in America, said answers to an essay contest conducted by the Christian Advo-

The contest under direction of Dr. H. E. Luce, contributing editor to the fifteen Christian Advo-cates of the Methodist Church, brought more than 600 essays deemed worthy of mention.

The Rev. Edwin A. Brown, first prize winner, found the modern spirit of materialism influencing the church and making the average church-goer worldly minded. Dr. Brown is pastor of the Wooster Avenue Church, Akron, O.

Denominational and group selfishness undercut the unity of spirit and effort among American Christians, he wrote.

There is an almost national reluctance to squarely face the major sins against humanity and Christianity today. Even Christian people refuse to take the necessary steps to adequately cope with war, race hatred and industrial injus-tice, he said.

An arraignment of futile discus-sion won second prize for Jennie L. Weston, Washington, D. C.

Formalism and over-organ-ization have become burdens, Miss Weston declared.

Futile arguments among Chris-tian leaders on non-essential points have developed a sort of education which gives but small place, and indeed, often ignores the teachings of Christianity.

Failure on the part of Chris-tians to live their religion them-selves—to put it plainly, failure to practice what they preach—keeps from other the very benefits of the faith, she concluded.

Unrecorded Civil War Battle Has Been Disclosed

Little Rock, Ark., Aug. 6.—(INS)—An unrecorded Civil War engagement, lost in the confusion of events during the '60's has been pieced together here as a result of the finding of parts of the Liz-zie Simmons a sidewheel steamboat which plied the Arkansas River before the war between the States, and later was converted into a Confederate gunboat.

The propeller shaft of the boat, corroded by its three-quarter century rest under the turbid waters of the river, was hauled ashore by a government snagboat, after it had sunk a barge which collided with it.

Old residents recalled that in 1863 when General Steele ap-proached the city of Little Rock at the head of 20,000 Federal troops, the small Confederate force which had occupied the city retired. But not without a show of resistance.

Five converted river-boats, tied up at the wharf, were set on fire and turned loose to drift down the river toward the gun boats which brought the Federal forces to Little Rock. They created havoc, setting fire to and sinking several of the invading craft.

The war records of the Confed-eracy and the Union army merely note that half a dozen or more gun boats were burned at Little Rock, it is said. But local historians, piecing together details of the en-gagement, have revealed that the

Device to Abolish Halo About Stars Seen in Telescope

Pasadena, Cal., Aug. 6.—(INS)—New wonders of the starry vault of heaven will be revealed through the new and improved interferometer, a device for eliminating the bothersome halo of light which sur-rounds stars when seen through the telescope, Francis G. Pease, engineer of the Mt. Wilson Obser-vatory, declared today. The per-fected interferometer is now be-ing installed at the observatory.

Dr. Albert A. Michelson of the University of Chicago, who invent-ed the original interferometer near-ly thirty years ago, has worked out the radical improvements which will soon be tested. The interfer-ometer is a periscope arrangement of mirrors, used in conjunction with telescopes, which makes it possible to see the distinct out-lines of the stars without the dis-turbing fringes of blurred light. The fringes hamper astronomical observation.

Through the use of the old in-terferometer, Pease established the size of Betelgeuse, the largest star known to astronomers; measured the orbit of Antares of the Scor-pio group; the orbit of Mars and the orbit of the earth. Discover-ies of even greater astronomical importance are expected to result from the methodical use of the new and improved instrument.

The large 40-inch mirror for the central panel of the interferometer bridge has already been installed in Mt. Wilson Observatory and the other parts are now being con-structed. The complete device, it was believed, will be installed with-in a month.

The perfected interferometer will be located between the 100-inch and the 60-inch telescopes at the ob-servatory and be housed in a sep-arate compartment with a movable dome overhead.

FIRST CATCH THE HARE SAYS DICKENS RECIPE FOR FAVORITE SOUP

London, Aug. 5.—(INS)—Al-though few dishes of Mid-Victori-an England are relished still by the succeeding generations, a hare soup, once the favorite dish of Charles Dickens, is still the most popular soup at one of London's oldest restaurants. On the ground floor of "Samson's-in-the-Strand" is the esme table at which the famous author and his contem-porary Thackeray ate on many occa-sions and a son of the man who served them is still there working as his father did.

The son has the original re-cipe written on a tattered piece of paper, which Dickens wrote for his father years ago and which is still used for the soup served nowadays.

First catch your hare, begins the recipe naively, then skin it and put on to roast. Whilst it is cooking, fry in the best English butter, two carrots, a head of celery, two onions, two ounces of raw ham, two bay leaves, two cloves, a blade of mace, four chal-lots, a little thyme and parsley; fry all these to a brown color in a stew-pan.

When the hare has been roasted for about an hour, remove the back fillets and pound the remainder in a mortar, and add it to the vege-tables. And to this mixture a half pound of brown thickening, which has been made with a pound of butter and sifted flour, cook over a slow fire.

The mixture should be moistened with two quarts of good stock and stirred over the fire until it boils. A glass of wine should be added and a small pinch of cay-enne.

K. C. STAR ENTIRELY OWNED BY EMPLOYEES

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 6.—(INS)—The Kansas City Star, re-cently bought by a group of em-ployees, headed by Irwin Kirk-wood, editor and August Seeshead, manager, after spirited bidding for the paper when it went on the auction block under the terms of the will of William Rockhill Nel-son, will be one of the first papers in the country in the great metro-politan daily class to be partly owned by every man who works for it.

According to the plan announc-ed by the group that made the purchase, every employee will be per-mitted to buy stock at par value, and no stock will be sold to out-siders, so that the management of the paper will remain permanent-ly in the hands of the men who have contributed to building it.

CRIPPLED NEWS BOYS FIGHT OVER OLD STAND ON BOSTON COMMON

Boston, Aug. 6.—(INS)—A movement has been launched to drive a news vendor's stand from Boston Common.

Rev. Dr. E. A. Horton, chaplain of the State Senate and president of the Boston Common Society is leading the fight. He claims the co-operation of Mayor Nichols.

The Boston Common Society feels, according to Dr. Horton, that the news stand is an eyesore.

John J. Boyce, 73, a cripple, who conducted the stand for many years has become a property owner and because of his feeble condition has been forced to give up coming down town daily. Two years ago William Monahan, an-other cripple, took over the stand and a quarrel between the two cripples ensued. Now the cripples have submerged their differences to make a combination stand against the Common Society.

"NEWS" and "PROGRESS" No. 2

ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE AND SERVICE OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING—From latest volume in Manhattan Library of Popular Economics, republished in serial form through courtesy of Bank of the Manhattan Company, New York.

FROM NEWS LETTER TO NEWSPAPER

JOHAN CAMPBELL, Postmaster of Boston, was an unusual official. Being not fully occupied by the duties of his position, he looked for something else to do, and, all unconscious of the consequences of his act, took a step that has profoundly influenced the development of America. John Campbell lived at the beginning of the Eighteenth Century, which was a time when letters were infrequent, postage high and the mails but lightly burdened. His office was the natural center for the "freshest advices" of that great world lying outside of the little New England town, as these were received by sailing boats or horse-drawn diligences. Being a kindly gossip, he desired to share his news with others.

Therefore, he hit upon the idea of sending an occasional letter to the Governors of the New England colonies, in which he summarized the current news of the times. At first, his letters appear to have been sent as sealed communications, but presently he came to realize that there could be no harm in leaving them unsealed in order that others might read them by the way. Each was literally a "news letter," and they came to be so much in demand that it is not surprising to find him deciding to issue them weekly in printed form for general circulation.

Thus "The Boston News Letter," first published on Monday, April 24, 1764, became the pioneer of American newspapers, although it may be mentioned in passing that, on September 15, 1769, one Benjamin Harris, of Boston, published a single issue of a little sheet called "Publick Occurrences," which was promptly suppressed by the Governor.

The "Boston News Letter," however, was "published by authority," and was founded squarely upon the fundamental principle of disseminating news; but it also recognized a function of no less importance—that of co-operating in the economic activities of its community. In the introductory announcement the editor made the following statement:

This news-letter is to be continued weekly; and all Persons who have any Houses, Lands, Tenements, Farms, Ships, Vessels, Goods, Wares or Merchandises, etc., to be Sold or Lett; or Servants Runaway; or Goods Stroll or Lost, may have the same inserted at a Reasonable Rate; from Twelve Pence to Five Shillings, and not to exceed; Who may agree with Nicholas Boone for the same at his Shop next door to Major Davis's Apothecary in Boston, near the Old Meeting-House. This may be regarded as the first announcement in America that the news

Bernstorff Is Center of New Diplomatic War

London, Aug. 6.—(INS)—Count Bernstorff, Germany's last Imperial Ambassador to the United States, and now one of the leading diplomats of the German Republic, has become the center of a row which threatens to disrupt the League of Nations Union of Great Britain.

As president of the German League of Nations Union, Bernstorff attended and addressed a meeting at Aberystwyth, Wales, of the International Federation of League of Nations Societies. The meeting was marked by imprecations hurled at the Kaiser's former Ambassador by one or two persons in the audience, but the agitators were promptly ejected.

Defending Count Bernstorff, Professor Gilbert Murray, chairman of the British League of Nations Union, said that it would and Bernstorff was given three cheers by the assembled delegates. This, however, was not the end of Bernstorff's troubles in Britain, for Sir Valentine Chirol, the journalist and author, who is the chairman of the influential Chelsea Branch of the League of Nations Union, immediately took up the cudgel against Bernstorff, declaring that he knew him "of old, as one of the ablest instruments of German aggressive Imperialism."

He declared that to permit the ex-Ambassador to appear on a platform in England under the aegis of the League of Nations Union was "little short of an outrage on international decency and must necessarily tend to create a strong reaction against them even if for reconciliation with Germany."

Defending Count Bernstorff, Professor Gilbert Murray, chairman of the British League of Nations Union, said that it would paper, through its advertising columns, stood ready to serve the material as well as the less tangible interests of the people. The simplicity of life in the America of John Campbell's day stands out clearly in contrast against its present complexity and completeness. By the opening of the Twentieth Century, the railroad, the telegraph, the cable, the typewriter, the telephone, the multiple press, the linotype, the stercocaster, the photograph and the half-tone plate, had given the newspaper a freedom from drudgery and delay which made possible its extraordinary progress in the past quarter of a century. To these facilities, in that time, have been added others, including the automobile, the airplane, the radio and the wire and wireless transmission of pictures. If we accept as true the declaration that "every substantial increase in the efficiency of the means of communication marks a new epoch of civilization," new light is shed upon the influence of "civilization's common medium of communication," the modern newspaper, whose efficiency has been so marvellously increased. Beginning as a collector and distributor of news from the other colonies and from distant lands, the American newspaper first contained little except accounts from the foreign press and occasional correspondence. Its community was small and the members knew what their neighbors were doing. Therefore, little space was devoted to local affairs. In fact, practically all the local news consisted of "paid notices," or advertisements. A merchant would announce the arrival of fresh goods from abroad, or an employer would warn others that his apprentice had run away, or that a slave had escaped or was for sale. Thus, nearly two centuries before advertising had come to be recognized as one of the greatest economic forces of modern life, newspaper advertising was looked upon simply as one form of news. Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Hollywood, Cal., Aug. 6.—(INS)—Grandmothers who wish to keep young should take up dancing. Elinor Glynn, well-known scenario writer, declared today.

Mme. Glynn admitted that her greatest passion was ballroom dancing.

I always keep a list of five or six tall young men who are eligible as my partners at a dance, she declared, and I like them silent and taciturn. I dance for physical exercise only and not for the mental exercises one gets from conversation.

Really, I can recommend nothing better than dancing to keep grandmothers young, she said.

Miss Liana Pierando was recently prosecuted and convicted for maintaining a 'Home of Love' in Hollywood. The 'Home of Love' was for cats. Miss Pierando had corraled more than a score stray and homeless feline waifs. She transformed her backyard into a cattery, but the neighbors complained. Miss Pierando was convicted of maintaining a nuisance.

A group of Inglewood business men have organized the Andes Trail Association for the purpose of establishing a highway and an airway between North and South America. It was learned today when an application to sell memberships was filed in the office of the corporation commissioner.

The corporation seeks to sell $200,000 worth of memberships ranging from $1 to $100 each. The association, it was explained, will be a non-profit, co-operative organization.

Tiger Flowers, middleweight boxing champion, out on the coast for a fight with Eddie Hoffman at Ascot, admitted today he didn't realize what the title meant until he was welcomed at the Southern Pacific station by a great delegation of colored people. He was later given a stirring reception by Los Angeles members of his own race.

Harry Greb, according to Flowers, abused him fearfully during their recent fight for the middleweight title.

I didn't say anything back, the Fightin' Heacon declared. I just said a little prayer under my breath for Mr. Greb.

By laying a stern hand on the industrial activities of Italy, Benito Mussolini, the Italian dictator, was able to save the country from industrial chaos. Ferro Roto, managing director of the Grand Hotel of Naples, declared here today. Mussolini increased the working day from 8 to 9 hours and thus made it economically possible for Italy to compete with other nations, Roto said. Our lire is now at its top price and Italy is prosperous and happy, he added. Roto was here to study the Southern California methods of attracting tourists.

The club wome of Glendale believe that when sentiment and street improvements are not in harmony, street improvement must give way. When the Glendale city council voted to cut down a row of eucalyptus trees, said to be the oldest in California, the club wome started a recall movement against the city officials. The councilmen, it was learned, will first be deluged with popular petitions to abandon their plans. If that is unsuccessful, the recall will be sought.

A dispatch from Italy says, All public manifestations of a charitable, intellectual or sporting character, not in line with the thought and purposes of Fascism, will be forbidden.

The entire mental, spiritual and physical life of the Italian people is to flow in Fascist channels.

It is an interesting programme and not new. They tried it in Sparta, where it worked well for a while, about 2,400 years ago. A great religious organization tried it, with a subdued and submissive Indian race in South America. That race got discouraged, stopped having children and the experiment failed.

It is not as easy as some men think, to manage men.

Mr. Cochran, partner in J. P. Morgan & Co., was said to predict that General Motors stock would go up 100 points. Instantly the stock did climb up far above $200 a share. Then from the Olympic in mid-ocean Mr. Cochran sent word that he didn't say anything about one hundred points, and bears made a savage attack on many stocks.

However, Mr. Cochran did say, over the ether and ocean waves that General Motors was a very fine stock, and the poor bears got another beating.

Don't sell short this country or the stock of any well managed American concern. If you do, you will lose.
