TODAY

(Copyright 1926)
Close to Murder.
Blessed Hope.
When a Man Worries.
If Held Up—Smile.
By ARTHUR BRISBANE

Dr. Doran, chief chemist in the prohibition forces, declares that it is necessary to put into industrial alcohol poisons that the bootlegger cannot get rid of, when they re-distill denatured alcohol to make bootleg whiskey.

Senator Reed of Missouri says that for the government to put poisons in alcohol, knowing that citizens will drink the alcohol is a near approach to murder.

However, those foolish enough to drink bootleg whiskey habitually would probably not live long enough to make little difference. If bootleg whiskey ALWAYS killed, instantly, the country would drop its whiskey habit.

Scientists gathered at Williamson's possession the blessed gift of hope. They say chemistry will end all our troubles, including food problems. Lower locked up in the revolution electron will run our machinery, no need of coal, oil or water power. Artificial rubber, better than the genuine will be made from petroleum. Artificial stone for buildings will take the place of brick shells on buildings.

The best of it is that all this, and much more, is TRUE. The real wealth of the human race is not in oceans, in fertile soil or even in sunlight. It is principally in the brain of man.

Many gentlemen, young and old, not interested in the proceedings of the scientific gathering at Oxford University, are intensely interested in the coming prize fight between Jack Dempsey and Gene Tunney. Some preparing to bet their money on Mr. Dempsey, may be interested in the advice of one who knows about fighters and their mental calibre. He says:

Be careful how you bet on a man that is worried, when he has a limited intellect, not calculated to endure worry.

Dempsey is worried. He quarreled with his manager, who threatened to tie up the receipts of his next fight. He hasn't fought for three years and can only guess whether he is as good as ever. Be careful how you bet on him that is worried.

If a hold-up man faces you with his automatic, says a wise detective, stick them up promptly, when he tells you to. Don't seem nervous, or HE will get nervous and perhaps shoot. Be polite, hand over your valuables, that is better than being killed. Study the man's face carefully that you may know him again if he should be caught. Almost anybody, at almost any time, may look down the barrel of a gun in these hold-up days, so the advice is valuable.

News from Mexico tells of five Catholic Priests executed by a firing squad on the charge of inciting parishioners to revolution. They denied the charge before they were killed. News comes also that the Mexican government proposes to confiscate the property of the church. Hundreds of large tracts worked by Mexicans, and owned by the church, are to be given or sold to the men that worked the land. This is along the lines of Russia's example.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, says the federation will not intervene in Mexico in behalf of the Catholic Church, the matter being a Mexican domestic question. Mr. Green emphasizes the importance of religious freedom.

In addition to the story of five Catholic Priests executed in Mexico, Archbishop Leopold Ruiz Flores announces that thirty other executions, Mexicans put to death for leading rebellion against the government.

They captured the "gigantic wild Chimpanzee," loose in Tamao New Jersey. Mothers have kept their little boys indoors. Ladies have wondered what they would do if they met the rampaging Darwinian ape. That monster, enough, turns out to be a modest little monkey, about as big as a house new mounts of this type.

MISS LUCY CRISP, IS SPEAKER AT KIWANIS CLUB

Tells of Early History of "Pamlico Country" at Interesting Session of the Club

The Greenville Kiwanis club met last night at seven o'clock in the Rotary building in business session.

President Marvin Blount of the club called on the chairmen of the different committees for reports. It is of interest to the public that the playground for children which was sponsored and financed by Kiwanis, has never been taken over as originally agreed upon by the city.

The understanding was that the city would take over and maintain the playground, it was taken over by the city but has not been kept up by the city. There seems to be some danger now that the playground which fills a distinct need in our child life, may be discontinued.

Closing the business session, Bill Bradsher sang "I'm Sorry," the members were of the opinion that even though Bill sang it, still he didn't tell them a thing.

Professor Whitfield, of the negro graded schools, exhibited a shack basket made by the pupils of his school showing that the pupils in our negro schools are receiving splendid training.

Bob Fitzgerald in a few lengthy remarks, introduced Miss Lucy Crisp, of East Carolina Teachers' College, who addressed the club on "The Development of Pitt County."

Miss Crisp reviewed the early history and settlement of the "Pamlico Country"; she told of the formation of Pitt county and presented the historical facts and folk lore incidents of the community, in a very interesting manner.

She told of the time when a citizen of Pitt county was "turned out of his church" for sending his son away to college. The address ended with a wish that our people might put "First Things in First Places" and that we might build a community where the worth-while things in life are valued most.

The visitors were, Mrs. S. M. Crisp, Mrs. J. B. Kittrell, Miss Lucy Crisp, Judge, F. M. Wooten, Sheriff S. A. Whitehurst and J. D. Rogers.

AGRICULTURE AND TEXTILE INDUSTRY GIVEN ATTENTION

President and Hoover Discuss Plans for Helping Farmer and Stabilizing Textile Industry

Paul Smith, N. Y., Aug. 14.—(AP)—Agriculture and the textile industry, particularly cotton, are regarded by Secretary of Commerce Hoover as weak spots in the generally excellent business situation and are receiving the close attention of the federal government which is working to bring these to the general economic level.

Tentative plans for helping the farmer by endeavoring to co-ordinate with different agencies, that extend credit to him are being drafted and readjustments have been made in the matter pertaining to cotton manufacturing that have resulted in distinct improvement in the industry during the last month, said Secretary Hoover, after his conference with President Coolidge yesterday.

Establishment of a chain of national airways for commercial flying and the foreign trade situation were discussed with the chief executive by Mr. Hoover. He reported that American exports of manufactured goods was 12 per cent greater than last year while on a basis of pre-war prices the country's total exports were 47 per cent more than the pre-war totals.

Imports, Mr. Hoover informed President Coolidge, were 37 per cent in excess of shipments before the conflict.

Mr. Coolidge and Secretary Hoover, it was learned, did not discuss to any extent the possibilities of the development of commercial aviation. They were rather concerned with the immediate problems of the Department of Commerce in mapping out routes, licensing pilots and providing landing fields to encourage commercial flying.

Building on Increase Thruout the South

Atlanta, Ga., Aug. 14.—(Special)—Although there was a sharp reaction in new building construction reported from Florida during the month of July in comparison with 1925 totals for the same month, practically all other southern states, showed considerable gains for the month, according to them on the building report issued by the survey department of G. L. Miller and Company, nationally known southern investment house dealing in building securities.

Totals from sixteen southern states for the month, together with comparisons with July 1925, and June 1926, are as follows: July 1926, $61,040,737; July 1925, $67,344,743; June 1926, $71,931,809.

Gains were especially noticeable in West Virginia, Georgia, Arkansas, Oklahoma and North Carolina, while Texas, Alabama, Tennessee, Virginia and Louisiana showed a favorable comparison with last year. Led by Charleston, which had permits well over a million and a half, the cities of West Virginia made their comparative showing of the year, indicating a recovery from the slump which has covered the state since last summer.

HONORING MISS BURNETTE

A charmingly informal reception given by Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Higgs at the country club last evening was a happy culmination of numerous pre-nuptial entertainments given in honor of Miss Dovie Burnette, who this evening becomes the bride of Mr. Gullford Smith. Mr. and Mrs. Higgs extended their gracious hospitality to the bridal party, the families and a few friends after the wedding rehearsal.

The club house was festive in a profusion of yellow flowers and numerous soft lights and music. The guests on entering were directed by Miss Helene Higgs to the attractive registry corner. There the bride's book was presided over by Miss Mary Moye Carper and Mr. D. S. Smith. Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Duncan invited the guests to the punch tables. At two attractively arrayed bowls Miss Martha Moye and Mr. Sidney Skinner and Miss Jane Hadley and Mr. Charles Skinner served iced beverages.

The cutting of the bride's cake was a delightfully interesting feature of the occasion. "STAGE STRUCK" IS GLORIA'S LATEST "Stage Struck" an Allan Dwan production, for Paramount, starring Gloria Swanson at White's Theatre Monday, is unique in that the first and final sequences are done in natural colors, the color being used to suggest the periods of happiness in the life of the heroine.

"Stage Struck" is the story of a drab little waitress in an Ohio river town who determines to become an actress because the boy who fries the wheat cakes in the restaurant likes actresses. She makes her debut on an Ohio river show boat, a local se'dom if ever used in pictures before. To take these show boat scenes, Miss Swanson, Mr. Dwan and a company journeyed to New Martinsville, W. V., and remained there two weeks.

In the cast with Miss Swanson are Ford Sterling, as the manager of the show boat; Lawrence Gray, as the flapjack turner and Gertrude Astor as the blonde leading woman on the boat.

MR. AND MRS. McLAWHORN ENTERTAIN AT INFORMAL RECEPTION

Winterville, N. C.—Mr. and Mrs. Chas. McLawhorn delightfully entertained on Wednesday evening just after the rehearsal at an informal reception honoring the Castello-McLawhorn bridal party and out-of-town guests. The attractive country home was made even more beautiful by the use of an abundance of ferns and cut flowers.

The guests were welcomed at the door by Mr. and Mrs. McLawhorn and ushered into the reception room where they were introduced to the bridal party and guests who had arrived to be present for the wedding, to take place on Thursday afternoon. Here the color scheme, yellow and white, was artistically carried out by the use of a profusion of hydrangeas and ferns.

From here they were shown into the gift room, over which Mr. and Mrs. R. H. McLawhorn and W. A. Forbes presided. This room was very pretty with its decorations of marigold and snow-on-the-mountain, carrying out the yellow and white color scheme.

The guests were then invited into the dining room where Mrs. John R. Carroll was receiving. The dining room was lovely with its decorations of roses, ferns, and crepe myrtle effectively carrying out the pink and white color scheme. The dining table was beautiful with its real Irish lace covers, pink tapers in silver candlesticks, and huge wedding cake with its miniature bride and groom, which formed the centerpiece. The chandelier, with its wedding bell and pink tulle which was gracefully draped to the corners of the table, enhanced the beauty of this room.

The cutting of the wedding cake produced much merriment, as well as many sad hearts when it was found to contain only one ring and one dime, which was found by Mr. Clarence Whitehurst, of Bethel, N. C., and Mr. Montgomery Speir, of Winterville. The thimble and button, however, were not greeted with quite so much satisfaction.

The hostess, assisted by Messdams Coy L. Forbes, D. T. McLawhorn, and Miss Elizabeth Forbes, then served a delectable ice course further carrying out the pink and white color scheme. At a late hour the guests reluctantly departed, declaring they had spent a most enjoyable evening and amidst many good wishes for the bride and groom.

Rockies Abound With Noted Scenic Marvels

Denver, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Rocky Mountain region furnishes scenic wonders in great profusion. Approaching from the East the motorist crosses sandy waste or great clay beds in the Dakotas and through the great plains of Kansas and Nebraska. The Bad Lands of North Dakota are great stretches of sand without vegetation while in the southern state the Bad Lands continue in large fields of gumbo clay. The latter are unlike the prairies in that they do not roll gracefully, but are flat and cut here and there with jagged lines.

The Black Hills of South Dakota were the setting for the adventures of many old time frontiersmen including Wild Bill Hickok, sheriff of Deadwood, and Deadwood Dick. Here also is the Homestake Gold Mine at Lead, S. D., which was discovered fifty years ago and still yields $6,000,000 a year. Yellowstone Park is included within Wyoming and at this season attracts with all its glories, roads for private cars traverse the park and special tour and other accommodations make its wonders available to all.

Wyoming also is noteworthy for its cattle ranges and dude ranches where tenderfeet are initiated into the great outdoors and rough it in comparative luxury unknown to the older settlers of the country. Once in Colorado, there is a bewildering choice of historic and scenic spots ranging from the Grand Canon to mountain ranges, but none of them under 3,250 feet above sea level. Denver itself is a city of contrasts. A morning game of tennis in balmy weather may be followed by a skiing party on glaciers above the city in afternoon. Pike's Peak, rising to 14,100 feet above sea level, commands the entire state, and served as a guide post in the gold rush of '49 to California, and in '39 to Colorado. Rocky Mountain National Park is entered through Estes Park, seventy-five miles north of Denver. Here Lord Dunsraven, who recently died in England, entertained his British friends while the Utes and Anasaphe Indians still disputed the invasion by white men.

Twenty Four Racers Enter for Big Event

Charlotte, Aug. 14.—Twenty-four leading racers, making up practically all of the top position pilots in the AAA championship standing for 1926, have made entry for the World's Sprint Race Classic to be held here on August 23.

Two entries, Jack Foley and John Duff, the former killed at Salem and the latter injured at Atlantic City, made the largest entry list ever scheduled for board track in America. Race followers account for the interest among pilots by pointing out the faster, shorter spring events.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

MERCY AND JUDGMENT

S. James 2:13: "Mercy rejoiceth against Judgment."

There is Judgment, because there is law, and law is necessary to life.

1. Take the LAW OF HEREDITY.

When Moses gave to his people "the statutes of life" which he had received from God in the Mount, he taught them that responsibility is but the other half, the other side, of freedom.

The law of heredity is a terrific truth. We do inherit, and suffer for our father's sins; for their imprudences as well as their vices.

They transmit to us some inward bias which will go far to decide our fate—some taint of blood, some irritability of nerve, some defect of will, some ethical bent, which will impair our sanity as well as our health, or render us an easy prey to the temptations to which we are exposed.

And in our darker moods of despondency we believe the words which Shakespeare put into the lips of Mark Antony, when he came to bury Caesar, not to praise him:—"The evil that men do lives after them: The good is oft interred with their bones."

And we cry out, "Is it just? Is it a righteous judgment that the children's teeth should be set on edge because their fathers have eaten sour grapes?"

And "mercy rejoiceth against Judgment." Mercy says that the words of Mark Antony are only half-true, and therefore, a lie. Mercy says, that the good is far more potent than the evil, or how can we account for the progress of mankind?

Evil may be transmitted to the third or fourth generation, but then it usually dies out. "Know that the Lord thy God, the faithful God, who keepeth covenant and mercy with them that love Him and keep His Commandments TO A THOUSAND GENERATIONS; and repayeth them that hate Him TO THEIR FACE to destroy them; He will not be slack to him that hateth Him, but will repay him to HIS FACE." (Deut. 7:9-10)

This can only mean that, while the punishment of men's sins will be prompt and speedy; the reward of their righteousness will last for many generations and will virtually know no end.

The whole truth is that ALL the actions of men live after them—the good as well as the evil.

So that before a man complains of any evil bias or condition which he has inherited from his forefathers he should remember the legacy of good and advantage they also bequeathed, and consider whether he would prefer to stand isolated and alone, in a world in which he would have to begin everything for himself, with no aid from those who had gone before him.

We can go a step further, God says through His prophet Ezekiel (Ezek. 18:20) "The son shall not bear the iniquity of the father, neither shall the father bear the iniquity of the son"; and affirms that whatever we may have inherited from our fathers that inheritance will not be suffered to determine our fate, whether in this world or the world to come.

If, by the mercy of God, as Moses asserted, the whole inheritance won by our fathers is entailed on us, and that in this inheritance the good largely predominates over the evil; Ezekiel teaches us that, by the same mercy, we are free to make what use of our inheritance we will. Our fate is in our own hands, but the preponderating bias with which we start is on the whole favorable to us and not adverse. God has no pleasure in the death of a sinner, but He has much pleasure in the sinners repentance, and in the obedience of the righteous. While He punishes sin for three or four generations, He will carry on the influence of righteousness for untold generations.

God is always just—just, and something more than just. Therefore "Mercy rejoiceth against Judgment."

London, Aug. 14.—(AP)—"A sort of political and administrative pooh bah," is an English newspaper's characterization of the secretary of state for Scotland, Sir John Gilmour.

All this is in accordance with the various minutes in other branches of Scottish administration to which he has to attend.

Job, Mansfield, poet and novelist, finds little encouragement these days for the spoken word in poetry.

Poetry in this form was nearly done for, he mourned, but it would persist to some degree despite everything.

Miss Gertrude Kingston, actress, thinks she has a good job on the ships' news reporters at New York.

"The last time that I was there," she says, "the newspaper man told me that if I would tell them things about Shaw, Mansfield, Wells and other celebrities, they would be careful to keep rigidly to what I said."

Paris, Aug. 14.—(AP)—The Sultan of Morocco received a truly regal welcome in France, and the "successor of the prophet" commander of the faith was delighted.

M. Briand received the compliment with all the dignity befitting a Premier of France, smiling and bowing to the sultan.

"Deputies without fortunes," belonging to all parties have formed a group in the French Chamber, with a socialist as president, and another socialist as vice president.

The group has decided to bring forward a bill, which the government will be asked to vote before the summer holidays.

Deputies will be rated as state employees under this bill so that their indemnity would become 45,000 francs (about $1,200) a year or three times the pre-war rate.

Berlin, Aug. 14.—(AP)—Berlin's dog days find married couples indulging in a new fangled substitute for the cross word puzzle.

Someone discovered that these figures invariably come from adding the following: the year of one's birth, one's age, the year of marriage and the number of years married.

The puzzle which is bewildering to most people, rests on the obvious fact that 3852 equals twice 1926 and that the year of birth, plus present age, always equals 1926, as does the year of marriage plus the number of years of the duration of the marriage.

An anti-mashers device, which looks like a wrist watch and can knock out an assailant by means of a low amperage electric shock of 1,000 volts is being recommended to girls by a number of policemen.

The contrivance, invented by Emil Pruess of Gelsenkirchen, is worn on the wrist. Thin wires connect it with a tiny battery and induction coil carried in an inside pocket of a dress or the coat pocket of a man.

The Federal Reserve Board Review shows that in the last fiscal year the United States beat all its records in industrial production.

The problem is to keep industrial production at the highest possible pitch. For that reason so-called dumping abroad is necessary.

When they told Richard Reese Whittemore, young Baltimore banker, that the Supreme Court refused a stay and he must be hanged, he stopped reading a story of adventure, and said, "All right, that's all I expected, and resumed his reading, showing no emotion."

Gertrude Ederle's Fame is Famine to Her Mother

New York, Aug. 14.—Gertrude's fame means famine to her mother. Ma Ederle hasn't had a square meal since the great news came that Gertrude had swam the channel.

Ma Ederle, indignantly, as if some one had reflected seriously upon her table.

We eat anything we like to eat, Gertrude wouldn't think of denying herself anything.

Here, in March 18, 1777, the General Assembly met to organize the Council of Safety, a committee of twelve men, headed by Governor William Livingston.

These twelve men were a board of justice in military matters; they could commit to jail without right of bail all persons considered as public enemies.

This was the first, though not the most widely advertised, commission in the Indian King Inn were held many of the meetings of the General Assembly, which later became the state legislature, and General Herbert M. Lord assisted President Coolidge in paring $99,000,000 off the budget. Frank Kellogg, Secretary of State, was to pay the President an important visit.

David Belasco, the producer, was ill in New York. Deploping conditions in Mexico, William Green, president, announced that the American Federation of Labor would not attempt interference with the young girl's daughter. But broilers grew cold, carrots and peas lost their youth and pleasure fell in despair while Ma was pulled out again by Highland, N. J. neighbors to pose for movies.

"I'll tell you about Gertrude," she said when the excitement subsided for a minute or two.

"It's nothing in the world but her own will power that took her across the channel. When that girl makes up her mind there's nothing can stop her. I knew she'd do it sometime—I felt after she got over there it would be now."

"When she first swam? Oh, that's hard to say. We've always

"CRADLE OF LIBERTY" OF 1776 REBUILT AT SESQUI-CENTENNIAL

History repeats itself, but in miniature, in the tiny replica of the old Indian King Inn, erected by the State of New Jersey as one of its most interesting exhibits at the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition, now in full swing in Philadelphia.

The old Tavern House, as it is sometimes called, was the Waldorf Astoria of New Jersey in 1776, and the storm center of some of that state's most momentous history.

It is interesting to discover that history never does quite succeed in repeating itself. The old Indian King Inn, built by hand from great, native timbers, more than 175 years ago, is reproduced today entirely by machinery.

With the exception of framework shingles and details of trim, the little inn is made of celotex, a manufactured lumber made from the strong fibres of sugar cane, which not only possesses structural value, but whose insulation qualities keep the house cool in summer and warm in winter.

About 2,000 feet of this modern equipment of the old hand-hewn wood has been used, taking advantage of its natural soft-tan color, which almost perfectly reproduces the weather tone of the original building.

Although so tiny, it is staunchly built, and New Jersey visitors at the Sesqui-Centennial are eager to have it taken back "home" after the exposition as a perpetual historical treasure.

favorite dish. I make it no special way—just the way everyone does.

"But I'll tell you something—my girl is a sweet kid. Know why? Because ice cream is her middle name. She won't eat any other kind of sweets. Goodbye!"

And Ma Ederle, her hunger for Gertrude's success satisfied, went in the cottage to still another hunger less glorious and more necessary.

Aerial Surveys of Mississippi Is Future Plan

St. Louis, Aug. 14.—(INS)—With the completion of the first aerial survey ever taken of any portion of the Mississippi River just announced, a series of such surveys is being planned by the river improvement enthusiasts in this section of the country.

The survey just completed covers the 200-mile stretch between St. Louis and Cairo, Ill., and consists of maps representing the river pictorially. Major John C. Gotwals, chief of the U. S. Engineer office here, declared:

Lieut. Herbert Bailey, under the direction of Col. John A. Paegle, low, commandant of Scott Field, took the aerial photographs, the results of which is described as a bird's-eye view of the big river.

These photographic maps will enable engineers to keep track of improvements made and will be valuable also in planning future work, such as dikes, bank protection and revetments to keep the river from cutting in.

According to Gotwals, the completed maps of the first survey shows the bars, inlets, variations of the banks, covering streams, relative width at different points and other valuable information that can be put to good advantage in the work planned ahead.

The aviator taking the pictures, flies at an altitude nearly two miles above the earth and moves on his way down the course of the river and takes shots of the landscape sketching vaguely before him.

The bars are depicted beautifully. Major Gotwals declared in speaking of the maps made in the survey, and the result is a record for all time of the condition of the river at its particular stages when the photographs were taken. The stage varies so much that an accurate ground survey would be impossible. But photographs for 200 miles of the course can be made in one day and at a single stage of the river.

Members of congress and citizens interested in a deep waterway to the Gulf now will have occasion to check their conclusion by the aerial maps. It is explained, and they will be useful also in determining annual appropriations for improvements.

Two other river surveys are planned in Missouri in the immediate future. The first is a survey of the Mississippi between here and Rock Island, Ill., which will be made by army aviators directed by Major D. C. Dunn, head of the Rock Island engineer district.
