SUMMER TERM OF COLLEGE CLOSES HERE NEXT WEEK

Total Enrollment at Summer Term Here 710 With Many Applicants Turned Away

The sixteenth summer session of East Carolina Teachers College closes next week. This has been the largest and best summer school that the college has had.

Between three and four hundred thousand students have registered in the summer schools of the nation this year.

There is no other profession about which the average person knows less and none other about which the average person thinks he knows more.

The total enrollment in the summer school at East Carolina Teachers College for this summer is 710.

The summer school is one of the regular terms of the college year. Fifty young women are expected to graduate from its two year course at the end of the summer term and nine are expected to finish the four year course leading to the degree of Bachelor of Arts.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) If Debt, Were Cancelled, How Is It In Heaven? A Traffic Suggestion. War Onions Capital. By ARTHUR BLISSBANE

Europe is interested in Senator Borah's suggestion. If war debts are cancelled, reparations also should be cancelled.

With all debts and all reparations wiped out, German industry would have an advantage over all nations.

Debt and reparation cancellation would leave Germany and her industries free of debt, other nations loaded with foreign debts.

As it is, Germany after losing the war, is more prosperous than France and other nations that won the war.

In Paris, German travelers, well supplied with money, arrive at the rate of 5,000 a day, staying on the average about a week, and outnumbering the British and Americans combined.

France is expected to suggest that all war debts and reparations be cancelled, except the German reparation bill.

And, if Uncle Sam did go to war against Germany, which is inconceivable, it would delight the sense of humor to see how our dear brothers in arms of 1917 would all side with Germany.

On Sunday, 60,000 visiting the Sesqui-Centennial Exposition in Philadelphia, studied exhibits from many states and foreign countries.

And many sincere men and women, believe that the 60,000 ought to go to hell, or close to it, for violating the Sabbath.

Now can a Christian, Mohammedan, Shintolst, or Buddhist, spend Sunday better than studying a combination of man's works and Creator's beneficence?

Big cities, struggling with suburban traffic problems, neglect one possibility that interests the very able, President Smith of the New York Central railroad.

Johnson, troubled by his conscience, surrendered to authorities in Seattle, Washington, and was returned here.

HUDSON TUNNEL OPEN TO AUTOS EARLY NEXT YEAR

$46,000,000 Tube for All Vehicular Traffic Soon Ready Under River; 3,500 Car, Per Hour is the Capacity of Double Road New York to New Jersey

New York, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The new Holland Vehicular Tunnel connecting New York with Jersey City under the Hudson River is practically completed and will be thrown open to the public this early part of next year.

Imagine if you will, two spacious, lighted, tile-walled caverns, located in a tube two miles long with 1,000 vehicles bulging forth at either end every hour, and you have some conception of this stupendous engineering accomplishment.

There are vehicle tunnels in London and other European cities, but none approaches the Holland Tunnel in length and traffic capacity.

With 3,500 vehicles an hour rolling through the two twenty-foot roadways, the engineers were confronted with the extremely difficult problem of providing a ventilating system which would properly eliminate the resulting dangerous exhaust gases.

Because of the tunnel's length and the presence of these gases, the ordinary method of ventilating a tunnel, blowing in at one end and out the other, was found impracticable. The amount of air necessary to dissipate the gases would have created a variable gale which would have been uncomfortable and even dangerous.

Therefore, a plan was hit upon whereby air comes into the tunnel roadway through continuous openings on either side of the roadway at from ten to fifteen foot intervals, leading from fresh air ducts under the road way. The air mixes with the exhaust gases and they gradually rise and are eliminated through openings leading into exhaust ducts. This method also minimizes the smoke danger from possible fires, as tests have shown that smoke cannot spread more than thirty feet on each side of its source because of the upward course of the air currents in the tunnel.

It is estimated that it will take ten minutes for pleasure cars to negotiate the tunnel with fifteen minutes allowed for trucks. By the present ferry route, trans-Hudson motorists must consume a half an hour when traffic is at its lightest and as much as two and three hours on Sunday, when tourists abound.

Ole Slingsd, chief engineer, attributes the success of the project to the work of its first chief engineer, for whom the tunnel was named.

"Over There Is England"

Bill Burgess, her trainer, gave Gertrude Ederle final instructions before the girl, greased and goggled, swam from France to England.

It is expected that the tunnel will soon earn its cost, $46,000,000, by revenue from toll charges.

Good Roads, Autos Ruin Short Haul Traction Lines

Indianapolis, Aug. 18.—(INS)—With good roads, and the private automobiles sounding the death knell of the short haul and traction lines in the state, the first victim, the Lebanon-Thorton Traction Co., will cease operating on Friday, August 27.

The company has been operating interurban service between the cities for which it is named for more than 21 years.

Early last June a petition was filed with the Public Service Commission of Indiana asking their authority to discontinue service over nine and a half miles between the two cities.

The Commission, after hearing all the evidence, authorized the line to cease operation.

With more than a quarter of a million dollars invested in the road bed, trolley wires and other equipment, George S. Hill, secretary and superintendent of the road for the last 18 years, stated that the company had only $250 to its credit in the banks.

In recent years, Hill testified to the Commission, besides his duties as secretary and superintendent of the road, he has been required to assume the duties of motorman and conductor on the cars for a half of each working day.

According to testimony submitted, a bus line, recently established between the two cities, has so reduced the amount of revenue from both passenger and freight service, that it was impossible to cover even operating expenses, not to mention the reconditioning of the roadbed and replacement of poles.

TREASURES CORNET GIVEN HIM BY QUEEN VICTORIA

McPherson, Kans., Aug. 18.—(AP)—In a comfortable Kansas home here reposes a silver cornet, the gift of Queen Victoria to Harry Haggood. Only one other like presentation was made by Queen Victoria during her reign and that was to Bugler Dunn, Boer War hero, to whom she gave a silver bugle.

Haggood, of a musical family, began playing a cornet at the age of eight, was a member of the famous Dispatch band of Kansas, served with several circuses, and in 1891 went to Morrison, Wales, where he joined the Grand Victorian army band.

The Grenadier Guards, to which the band was attached, had its barracks in St. James Palace in London and the Landsmen came in contact with members of the Queen's household. Queen Victoria took a personal interest in her musicians as did the Duke of York, now King George V.

When Haggood, after seven years of service, returned to America, the Queen at a public gathering presented him with a silver cornet with a suitable inscription.

Monday of a term of court commencing August 30, 1926.

A deposit of 10 per cent of said bid will be required to the time to await the confirmation of the sale.

FIRE IN PARIS ZOO MAKES JUNGLE OF PARK

Paris, Aug. 18.—(INS)—A recent fire in the Zoological Gardens gutted the bird house, killing scores of exotic parrots and caused the opening of the gates of the monkey house making a jungle out of the Bois de Boulogne.

More than two hundred monkeys led by the tree tops hysterically chattering and scolding and their rescuers in their mad effort to escape the flames. Midnight strollers, spooners and the guardians were once struck as the horde of wild chimpanzees swept over their heads and came back as soon as they are hungry, said the Curator of the Gardens confidently.

The following morning his prediction was realized for more than a hundred and fifty came back to their cages.

MEDIAVAL SWEDISH CASTLES HEATED BY MODERN METHODS

Stockholm, Aug. 18.—(AP)—The inhabitants of old Swedish castles enjoyed modern comforts more than four centuries ago. The castle of Glimmingehus, one of Sweden's most famous country seats, built in 1499, contained a central heating plant in the basement with conduits through the walls, discovered by representatives of the Royal Swedish Academy of Antiquities.

This is believed to be the oldest installation of its kind in Northern Europe. Breakfast in bed also apparently was enjoyed by the master and mistress of the castle as speaking tubes were found leading from their bedrooms to the kitchen.

Vienna Women Fight Short Weight Dealers Blacklisting Shops

Vienna, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The housewives of Vienna have organized a protective association against merchants and peddlers who overcharge for goods or give short weight. There are no city ordinances, which has prompted the housewife to protect herself.

The association has ten inspectors who make regular rounds of all shops. If they are refused permission to investigate the shop or the owners are found to be unfair in the treatment of their customers, the shop is blacklisted and remains so until peace is made with the association. The organization also has a department which investigates conditions, prices and supplies of all food and more or less dictates the selling price of garden produce, fruits, grains, milk, etc.

The idea has been very successful, and although during the first month there were 170 shops on the blacklist there are now only twenty and in many sections of the city the cost of food has dropped as much as five per cent.

SUGAR FROM SAWDUST

London, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Sawdust sugar may soon be sweetening Britain's afternoon tea.

Dr. W. R. Ormandy told the Congress of Chemists in London that a process of winning sugar from sawdust has now been developed to a stage where he believes it has commercial possibilities.

In an experiment 65 pounds of sugar was obtained from 100 pounds of dry sawdust. At present, 25 per cent of the timber cut in the world is wasted in sawdust, Dr. Ormandy said.

Kansas City Women Fight Bread Price

Kansas City, Mo., Aug. 18.—(INS)—The women of Kansas City are not waiting for the government to break up the mergers of baking interests, and to legislate lower prices for bakery products. They are taking the matter into their own hands, and an intensive campaign is being outlined by the Council of Clubs to investigate conditions in the bakery industry in this vicinity.

United States Department of Labor statistics showed that in this district retailers receive from 2 to 2 cents a pound more for bread than they do in districts well removed from the milling activities and grain centers. "We should like to see these figures explained," is the statement of Mrs. George W. Addison, president of the Council of the Clubs.

"The housewives can take the matter into their own hands and find out about such cases as these vital to their homes and families, that have been too much left in the hands of politicians and demagogues. It is time that we get the figures, and arrive at our own conclusions."

BIG HUNGARIAN CITY IS STIFLED AS GOVERNMENT BANS MAGYAR LANGUAGE

Szabadka, Yugoslavia, Aug. 18.—(INS)—In this former Hungarian town where the population of 50,000 is almost all Hungarian, the national government has forbidden the use of the Magyar language in the theatres, government offices, in restaurants and over the telephone. The order has almost stifled the life of the city, for it is being enforced and only a very small percentage of Hungarians speak another language.

It has worked against the interests of the government in one instance at least. The tax collectors offices are empty. No one comes to pay taxes and the official in charge can only request his due in Slavic tongue which the population cannot understand. In the stores the people obtain much of their necessary goods by gestures but they do not seem willing to carry this art beyond a side shake of the head in the tax collectors office.

REDUCED TARIFFS FAIL TO HELP CZECH EXPORTS

Prague, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Despite governmental relief in reducing tariffs and taxes, the exports of Czechoslovakia in bulk and value have declined during the last three months. Since the foundation of the Republic and until about six months ago the exports of the country showed monthly increases but the prosperity thus shown tempted the government to assess heavy import taxes. The cause of the national exchequer was benefited temporarily, but since then the imports have been declining.

The government immediately reduced the export taxes when this loss of trade became apparent but the exports continue slowly to decline. The exports in May were 130,000,000 crowns (about four million dollars) less than in April and about 107,000,000 crowns lower than the year before. The uncompleted returns for June show approximately the same figures.

NEW CENSUS IN ULSTER SHOWS SMALL INCREASE

Belfast, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Preliminary census statistics show that Ulster's population has increased by 5,791 persons since the last census taken in 1911.

The total population is given at 1,256,322 persons, 608,205 being males and 648,117 females. Belfast shows the largest increase.

DENTON'S QUESTION BIRD

Do you believe very early rising is conducive to health?
Larry M.

Answer:—
Well—the early bird catches the worm, and sometimes catches a cold!

Each healthy man and woman that you meet will give you an entirely different set of health rules. Folks are agreed upon one thing—when their system is all-run-down they need the purest drugs to help them fight back towards health. Here you will find the purest of drugs.

ANOTHER RED HERRING Disturbed by threats of discontented farmers against the tariff, the Administration is planning to make another show of doing something for agriculture. Secretary Hoover has conceived the idea of raising $100,000,000 from private sources to be used in aiding cooperative marketing associations "to conserve surplus crops." The amount mentioned is identical with the appropriation carried in the Fess bill, which the President endeavored to rush through Congress in the closing hours of the session, but which the Senate emphatically rejected.

The purpose of the proposed private loan is also the same as that of the loan which the Administration sought to make from the Treasury through the Fess bill—to finance the holding of crops from the market in order to enhance price. From an economic viewpoint such terms are vicious, and they will quickly defeat their own purposes by stimulating production in proportion as they succeed in forcing up prices. No one knows this better than Mr. Coolidge and his advisers.

Yet something must be done to draw the farm bloc off the scent of the tariff. If the Fordney McCumber duties can be kept intact, a loan of $100,000,000 even on the flimsiest security, will be a paying investment for the beneficiaries of this protection. What is $100,000,000 compared with the privilege of mulcting the American people out of three billions a year? So come across, you tariff barons, and be quick about it; the baying pack is hot on your trail.—N. Y. World.

Employment Agencies Labor's Curb Market

New York, Aug. 18.—(AP)—Wall Street is the barometer of big business, but there is another gauge equally important for the man in the street.

It has no special designation, is not graded with a name, and does not give out statements, but its quotations are posted daily.

This barometer consists of the employment agencies which center around the Forties of Sixth Avenue, and are scattered elsewhere in the city.

The location is in itself an unusual one. One block to the east is the exclusive shopping district of Fifth Avenue, and one block to the west is the Broadway playground.

The agencies maintain large bulletin boards in front of their small places with small slips of paper pasted to them. Each is the offer of a job.

One will herald the need of a Dishwasher, $20 weekly; another for a laborer at slightly more. Some recruit jobs in town, but the majority of them are from far places. Many of the jobs are 'sight unseen,' with certain wages offered and transportation to some distant place.

The matter of transportation and 'board' is important to the applicants, for few visit these side walk agencies until every other source has been exhausted. At present, there are far more offers of jobs than takers, as a man finds it easier to shift with no money in the summer than in colder weather.

Standing in knots on the sidewalk, workmen will discuss the notices, as much as brokers downtown discuss prices, sales and market conditions of certain stocks.

Here the talk is about the range of wages, and the comparative desirability of shipping to a lumber camp in Minnesota or a railway camp in Arizona.

One class of hoboes permits companies to transport them with laboring gangs of honest workmen and then 'jump camp' at the destination. In spite of all precautions, there is a 'shrinkage' in almost every consignment of men, and agencies usually send a few more than are requested in order to be sure to deliver the right number.

Crosby Mansion, To Be Restored

Philadelphia, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The Crosby Mansion, in Delaware county, Pennsylvania, famous since the days of 1698, soon to regain its old splendor, according to its present owner, Edward Burke.

The ancient house stands on a hill in Ridley Township, surrounded by seven acres of ground.

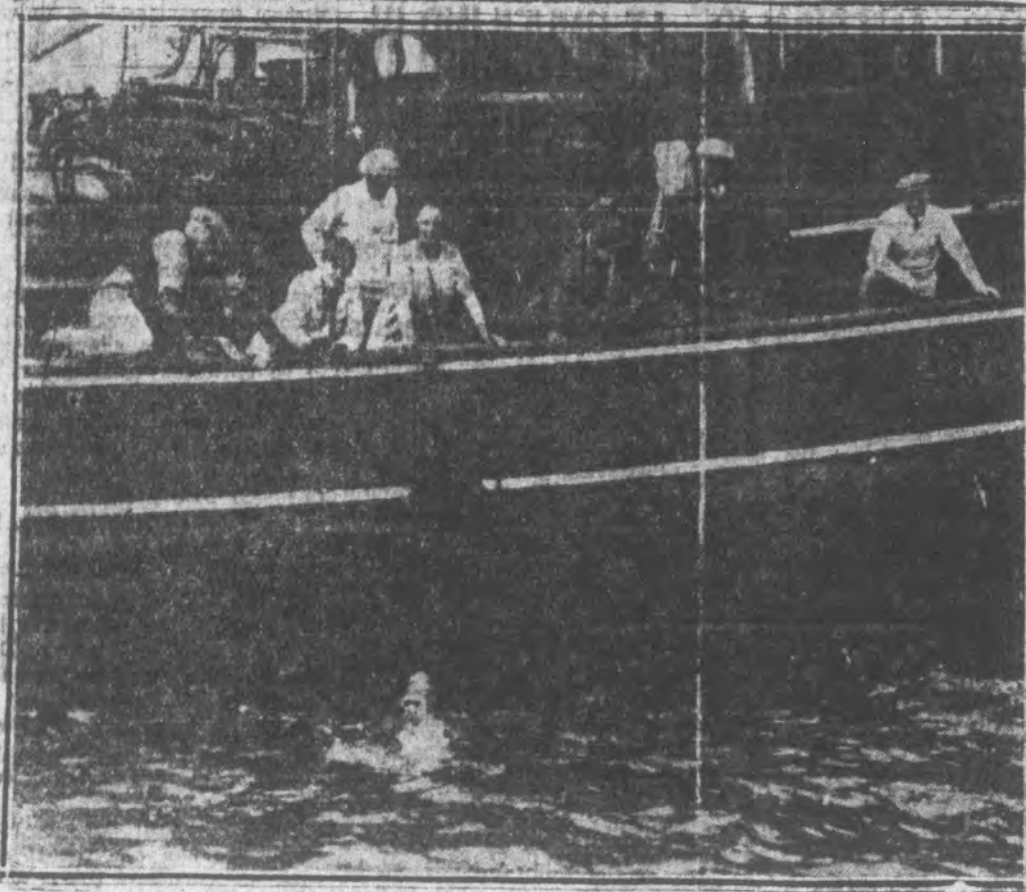

Inside the mansion stands the ancient fire-place surmounted by hand-carved wooden mantel piece. On the ceiling are oak beams.

I am not going to make any radical changes in it, but am mere ly going to restore the house to its original condition, Burke said.

Inside the fire-place is the original pit with a crane, used for cooking during the fifteenth and eighteenth centuries.

The house was built by John Crosby III, known as Judge Crosby, first lieutenant in the American Revolution. While on a visit home, he was taken prisoner by the British, while washing his hands at a pump in the rear of the house. This pump was recently closed in. Lieutenant Crosby was held for six months on the prison ship Edwinn in New York Bay in 1776.

Denver Boy's Boat Operated by Radio Set On Lake Shore

Denver, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Visit us to the "Big Lake" in Denver's beautiful city park are enjoying a thrill viewing the antics of a radio controlled boat, built and operated by Burt E. Moritz, 17-year old Denver "electrical wizard." Constructed of wood along the lines of one of Uncle Sam's destroyers, the boat is five feet eight inches long and weighs 110 pounds.

With a "key" control on the lake dock, young Moritz transmits impulses to the little craft through miniature copper aerials strung from its masthead. The motive power that causes the boat to travel over the water at a speed of three knots per hour is furnished by a one-eighth horsepower electric motor, fed by a storage battery.

From the dock young Moritz can start and stop his craft, or turn it in any direction he chooses.

The controls are in two systems—the radio control which is composed of two parts, amplifier and radio control itself; a selector and timer. The sending apparatus is an ordinary radio transmitter on a suitable wave length, and can be operated from a portable battery. The boat is grounded to its brass rudder and propeller shaft. On shore a plate immersed in water is used as a ground and the family automobile is utilized as an antenna, its rubber tires acting as insulators.

Young Moritz has visions of revolutionizing naval warfare and the whole field of navigation as a result of the perfection of his radio control boat.

BRITISH NAVY IS REDUCED BY 20 VESSELS THIS YEAR

London, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The British Navy will be reduced by twenty vessels during the current financial year in accordance with the terms of the Washington Arm. Treaty and for economy reasons, according to the official Navy list.

The twenty vessels comprise four battleships, fifteen destroyers and one submarine. The battleships will be destroyed under the terms of the Treaty, while the other craft are being disposed with on the grounds of economy.

SWINDLERS TRIM BERLIN WITH FAKE 'FORD' STOCK

Berlin, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Many hundred Berliners have been cheat-

The swindlers predict a tremendous boom of the 'Ford shares' and an extraordinarily great dividend. The police are after the swindlers, and have temporarily closed the offices.

Paris, Aug. 18.—(INS)—To have one's head chopped off does not always mean death—at least not so with the poor butterfly, according to Father Cambouet, noted entomologist of Madagascar who recently gave a serious discourse on the subject before the Academy of Sciences in Paris.

To decapitate butterflies, according to experiments, proves a very excellent manner of prolonging their lives, but of course, this means doing it very skillfully in order to avoid all hemorrhages. Pere Cambouet executed about 80 of the tiny fluttering things before his curious audience, using a species with very thin neck for the experiments. The heads were adroitly separated from the bodies without any loss of blood and with no loss whatsoever to their faculties, particularly the power of reproduction. More than that, the butterflies seem much better off than they did with their heads and even live longer.

It is back to the kepi for the French soldier according to recent rumors that the French army is gradually returning to the little peaked cap known as the 'kepi' and that it will be worn by all non-commissioned officers and time-expired men as a distinction when not on active service.

The kepi first saw the light at the time of the French conquest of Algiers when very light headgear was necessary. At the time of Napoleon II it was made very low in the crown and had a square peak. Since the war it has been replaced to a large extent by the police cap which is sort of boat-shaped. Many Frenchmen do not like the kepi which reminds them of the 1870 period and others because it leaves the back of the neck exposed to sun and rain.

Saint Christopher has a new burden to carry. He has just been chosen the patron saint of the Paris taxi-drivers and anyone who has ever been in the French capital knows that their number is not small.

As a matter of fact, all automobilists, motorcyclists and others who daily ride the roads were included in the procession which recently drove up to the new church of St. Christopher-le-Jojolet in Paris and knelt before the shrine of their Saint. Here St. Christopher is to be seen in replica watching over a sleeping automobilist and Alpine climber in great danger of falling over a precipice. A Papal decree has been conferred on this church the distinction of administering to the wants and rights of the Knights of the Roads.

For once the mountain is going to Maohnet. If all the Americans, in spite of appearances, are not able to get to Paris, Paris will go to them in the form of a lovely little boat of nine thousand tons, modelled along the lines established by the Exposition of Decorative Arts.

There will be glass floors and luminous fountains with five large exhibition halls to show off every thing artistic for fair women, the very last word in elegance in gowns, jewelry and all the accessories.

Naturally there will be a whole 'troupe' of the world's prettiest mannequins on board and there will be fashion shows, like those in the great dressmaking establishments of Paris besides attractions of various kinds including concerts and spectacles.

An ocean-going steamer has already been acquired for the project and will be remodelled and beautified for its purpose. It is hoped that the maiden voyage can take place in autumn. The chief ports of the United States and South America will be visited with stops at Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore and all ports to Galveston. The Pacific coast may also be included in the itinerary.

Ramsay MacDonald, former labor prime minister of Great Britain, asks American labor to aid striking British coal miners. The response will be slight, probably. Capital, dealing with labor has the advantage that helps Britain to manage its 300,000,000 subjects in India. They disagree with each other violently on questions of religion, and are too busy hating each other to combine against Britain.

Our labor disagrees violently with foreign labor on questions of policy, and each belief hates the other. American labor disagrees with the British theory that labor should be in politics. British and American labor disagree with and hate Russian labor ideas. And capital internationally harmonious, and that makes government of this industrial era quite simple.

The national economy league reports a poll on prohibition, among 4,600 representative men and women. Of those that took the trouble to vote want a small majority to keep the Eighteenth Amendment, that will be kept, anyhow, 36 states will not be found to vote for it. A small majority of voters for modification or repeal of the Volstead law.

The only interesting fact is that of 4,600 representative men and women, only 1,994 thought it worth while to vote. Representative men and women can get what they want to drink, and are supposedly, intelligent enough to avoid bootleg poison. Prohibition has not changed their lives to any great extent. It has changed the lives and habits of millions that were not consulted, when prohibition was made law, and what are not included in a list of 'representative men and women.'

DUBLIN POLICE WATCHING ALL MARRIAGE ADS AS COLLENS START BIG HUNT

Dublin, Aug. 18.—(INS)—Many attractive Irish girls are now advertising for husbands, and their matrimonial queries often take piquant forms.

I don't care whether he is ugly or not. Then she admitted that she invariably shut her eyes when kissed, one girl declared. The majority of girls, however, who advertise, have long passed the flapper age, and these appeals constitute a last desperate attempt to escape 'the shelf.'

Such advertisements generally bring big sheafs of replies, particularly from men with mercenary intentions, and the police are now keeping a sharp eye on every type of matrimonial advertisement.

SIR ESMÉ HOWARD SAYS AMERICA IS LEADING THE WAY

British Ambassador Principal Speaker at Virginia Dare Celebration

Roanoke Island, N. C., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Belief that the United States is leading the world into a new era and a better way of life that ultimately will bring a "great spiritual rebirth" and thereby universal peace, was expressed today by Sir Esme Howard, British Ambassador to this country. He was a speaker at the anniversary of the birthday of Virginia Dare, first white child born in the American colony.

The material development of this country was set aside by Sir Esme as "a secondary matter." "What I specially rejoice in here," he said, "is rather the belief that this country is leading the world into a new era, into a better way of life that, provided we can keep the ideal before our eyes as well as the mere practical will, and indeed ultimately must, make for a great spiritual rebirth and help us to that universal peace both at home and abroad for which all men in all countries are truly longing today."

America's great contribution to world progress is its human policy in industry, in the opinion of Sir Esme.

"Numbers of your leaders in public life and in industry seem to have realized before those in other countries that the health and happiness of the men and women who work in your factories, in your mines, in your great stores are as necessary to the well-being and to the successful prosecution of a business as any other part of it. You have learnt the gospel of high wages, as it to be the opportunity to summarize what the American delegation at Geneva had been trying to accomplish. He began this summary by saying that the United States had 'no selfish interests world is that the lives of men are more than mere goods and that peace and contentment are more than mere wealth. Of this latter there is such abundance in this country in many quarters that it has become for many of its possessors a cheap and secondary possession."

"Therefore, I look forward to seeing America spread the gospel of this New Learning in political economy over the world and so usher in an era of well-being, peace and contentment such as neither the extreme doctrines of the Manchester School on the one side nor those of Karl Marx on the other could possibly bring about."

Earlier in his address Sir Esme had said that Walter Raleigh was "the first of our great empire builders, as Cecil Rhodes was probably the last." He took issue with the opinions set forth by a Bishop, whom he did not name in an article published recently in the Church School Journal, wherein the Bishop stated that "in some ways the life of Cecil Rhodes is one of the most sordid human biographies on record." Explaining that he did not uphold everything that was done by the first empire builders of any race, Sir Esme, nevertheless maintained that the establishment of civilized life was justified. He said he believed Cecil Rhodes' ideal of a dominant British race was a "wholly mistaken one, for it could, if carried to its extreme limits, but ring discord rather than peace, since it was based not on good will among men, but rather on that, in my opinion, most fallacious of all modern modern premises in politics, the general superiority of the Nordic races."

KELLOGG SPEAKS AT UNVEILING IN PLATTSBURG, N. Y.

Secretary Declares Washington Government Wants Results in Armament Agreement

Plattsburg, N. Y., Aug. 18.—(AP)—The Washington government "wants results" in the shop of progressive international agreement, to limit and ultimately reduce armaments, particularly the naval armaments. Secretary Kellogg said here today in an address chiefly devoted to a review of American policy in connection with the Geneva preliminary arms limitation conference.

He denied categorically that the Washington administration contemplates withdrawal from the Geneva discussion. On the contrary, he said, the government was working and would continue to work for the success of that effort to clear the road for actual steps to cut down military burdens.

The occasion of the address was the unveiling of a monument here to Commodore Thomas Macdonough, who led American naval forces on the great lakes to victory in the war of 1812. That battle, Mr. Kellogg said, "initiated the friendship between the two great branches of the Anglo-Saxon race which has endured over a hundred years."

"It is inconceivable," he said, "that anything can bring these nations again into the conflict of war." Mr. Kellogg's review of American policy at Geneva was presented after a stay of several days at the summer White House well-being and to the successful prosecution of a business as any other part of it. You have learnt the gospel of high wages, as it to be the opportunity to summarize what the American delegation at Geneva had been trying to accomplish. He began this summary by saying that the United States had "no selfish interests world is that the lives of men are more than mere goods and that peace and contentment are more than mere wealth. Of this latter there is such abundance in this country in many quarters that it has become for many of its possessors a cheap and secondary possession."

"Therefore, I look forward to seeing America spread the gospel of this New Learning in political economy over the world and so usher in an era of well-being, peace and contentment such as neither the extreme doctrines of the Manchester School on the one side nor those of Karl Marx on the other could possibly bring about."

Earlier in his address Sir Esme had said that Walter Raleigh was "the first of our great empire builders, as Cecil Rhodes was probably the last." He took issue with the opinions set forth by a Bishop, whom he did not name in an article published recently in the Church School Journal, wherein the Bishop stated that "in some ways the life of Cecil Rhodes is one of the most sordid human biographies on record." Explaining that he did not uphold everything that was done by the first empire builders of any race, Sir Esme, nevertheless maintained that the establishment of civilized life was justified. He said he believed Cecil Rhodes' ideal of a dominant British race was a "wholly mistaken one, for it could, if carried to its extreme limits, but ring discord rather than peace, since it was based not on good will among men, but rather on that, in my opinion, most fallacious of all modern modern premises in politics, the general superiority of the Nordic races."

"It seems almost an impossible task to draw up any plan which would be acceptable to all nations. Nor is this essential to progress. "It is difficult to see the relation of the land armaments of the Far East to those of Western Europe or of such armaments in Europe to those of North and South America. Thus it seems unnecessary as well as a futile task to attempt to devise an all embracing formula for the reduction of the armies of the world. If we must delay all action until conditions are everywhere ideal we would have to abandon hope of any arms limitation for sometime to come."

The American army is so small, Mr. Kellogg said, that it never had been a deterrent to other powers on either side of the world who desired to reduce or limit their own forces. Because of this, he added, American interest was yes immediate at Geneva in the land armaments question, although its participation in limitation of naval armaments was more direct.

"Here (in naval armaments) it is obvious that regional agreements cannot be so effectively employed," he continued. "It is rather the task of the principal naval powers of the world to take the lead in the endeavor to find means to do away with future competition in naval construction."

CANNED FRUIT IDEA POPULAR IN HUNGARY

Budapest, Aug. 18.—(INS)—The American idea of preserving fruit and vegetables for winter use has become popular in Hungary. During the relief work of the Red Cross and other organizations in the country several of the workers demonstrated to housewives how to save surplus fruit by canning it.

This year the fruit crop of the country is bountiful and should furnish sufficient preserved goods to last throughout the winter months.

BIRMINGHAM STICKS TO ANTI BARE-KNEE EDICT

Birmingham, Eng., Aug. 18.—(AP)—Birmingham's anti bare knee regulations relating to the stage must be observed regardless of heat waves.

This was the answer of the city fathers to the appeal of the chorus girls appearing here; who endeavored to have the law suspended so long as the hot weather continued.

"Tights must be worn at all times," the council decided.

Birmingham is the only town in England which insists upon the wearing of tights on the stage, and the chorus girls have been talking of boycotting the theatres here, specially in summer.
