KIWANIS CLUB IN INTERESTING MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Rev. J. E. W. Cook Delivers Inspiring Address on Kiwanis Principles and Objectives

The fact that the season of play for both the young and old has come to its end...

The club and its guests enjoyed several vocal numbers by Miss Bessie Brown...

Bob Fitzgerald reminded the club that Greenville is to be hosts to approximately 2,000 school teachers here November 16 and 17...

The chairman of the program committee announced that at the next meeting of the club...

One of the principal features of last night's program was a splendid address by "JEW" Cook in which he presented the true Kiwanis principles...

"I must ask you to remember, however, that I am not speaking as a member of the Board of Directors, but simply as a member of Kiwanis."

The vacation season, with its fun and frolic, is almost over; and we should be preparing for our fall and winter activities.

"I am glad that there is in Kiwanis room for honest recreation and clean amusements. It does us good at times to step down from our dignity and enjoy the hilarity of some rough and tumble sport."

Mrs. Clemington Corson, Completed the Channel Swim Last Night in Little Over 15 Hours

Dover, Eng., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Mrs. Clemington Corson, of New York, the mother of two children and well known as a long distance swimmer, today swam the English Channel.

She was the second woman to accomplish this brilliant feat in the stormy history of channel swimming.

Gertrude Ederle, who returned to her home in New York yesterday, conquered the channel on August 6, being the first woman ever to do this, and stepping up a record time of 14 hours 31 minutes.

Mrs. Corson's victory was the more impressive in as much as Frank Perks, the English swimmer, who started with her last night, and swam most of the way, was forced to quit when a mile and a half from the English coast after being in the water more than 14 hours.

Except for the record of 14 hours and 31 minutes made by Miss Ederle, Mrs. Corson's time was better than that of any previous successful channel swimmer. She made the swim in 15 hours 28 minutes.

CONVICTS STORM MICHIGAN PRISON AND MAKE ESCAPE

Twenty-Five Gain Freedom by Overpowering Guards in Well Organized Break

Toledo, Mich., Aug. 28.—Two of the 25 convicts, who escaped from the Michigan State Reformatory here early today, were captured just before noon 19 miles north of here.

John, Mich., Aug. 28.—(AP)—Twenty convicts who stormed the Michigan State Reformatory here, were at large today, many of them armed as the result of a sensational break in which they virtually took possession of the institution.

The plot, in which prison officials believe had been in the process of formation for several weeks, culminated early today, in a well organized attack in which the escaped prisoners overpowered the guards in their dormitory and disarmed them.

The men then charged into the administration office overpowered guards and officials and marched them back to the prisoners' cells and locked them there.

About 40 men were confined at the reformatory, but the escaping prisoners made no attempt to release any other than those in their dormitory. Inmates of the institution are all young men ranging in age from 18 to 39 years, and most of them are first offenders.

A general alarm was sent out and possees were formed at a half dozen cities to assist authorities in apprehending the men. The alarm soon spread and residents of the district were thrown into a near panic.

About eight of the men fled in two automobiles, which they seized and the others were reported to have fled on foot into the country. An officer on duty at a telephone booth at the prison sounded the alarm.

Officials succeeded in preventing the escape of prisoners confined in other dormitories. About 15 of the convicts entered a garage on the outskirts of the city today, seized four automobiles and sped away in the general direction of Detroit.

Gertrude Ederle, genuine "Miss America," lands in her home town, "Little Old New York," today. Friends and neighbors will give her a "block party."

New York's Mayor gives her a reception with a band, and policemen parading.

The young lady brings honor and glory to her family and country.

Girls that try to be "skinny," notice that Gertrude, champion of the world, weighs over 160 pounds. Is proud of it, and can have her choice of 1,000 good husbands.

And after she won her victory, conquering the channel, this young girl went, not to a cabaret, but straight to her old grandmother in the south of Germany.

The young will please observe that reverence for the old does not interfere with winning a world championship.

Douglas Fairbanks and Mary Pickford returned from a trip around the world yesterday. They cut their trip short, Mary Pickford said, because there is so much to be seen in the United States that it seems almost a pity to use up time traveling abroad.

The brilliant French aviator D'Oisy, crossing Africa at night, flew over the Mediterranean and on to Paris, covering 2,150 miles, including five stops, in 30 hours 45 minutes. D'Oisy, apparently made of steel, ran the machine throughout the 30 hours.

Americans will fly from the Atlantic to the Pacific as a regular thing, by the light of the same day, before long. A United States army flyer has already accomplished it.

Depositors of Defunct Bank Get Dividend

Salisbury, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Receiver Foutz, of the defunct Peoples National Bank, of this city, announced today that another dividend would be paid depositors beginning Monday, August 30. This is to be ten per cent, and making the fourth dividend paid to depositors.

The amount paid out will be approximately $85,000. The first dividend was 20 per cent and there have been two others of ten per cent each. The total of the four dividends will reach about $340,000.

SUMMER TERM TEACHERS COLLEGE HERE CLOSED ON YESTERDAY MORNING

The graduating class of East Carolina Teachers College summer school held its final exercise in the college chapel yesterday morning. The graduating address was delivered by Dr. James E. W. Cook of Greenville.

The class consisted of 59 members. 50 of these received the two year normal school diploma and 9 received A. B. degrees. Many of the graduates have taught in the public schools of the states before. Some of them have taken a large part of their college course by coming back to the college summer after summer.

The diplomas were awarded by President Robert H. Wright. After awarding the diplomas and conferring the degrees, President Wright gave some very interesting statistics of the class. He said: "Life is not a closed book to the class professionally. Its members have already taught a total of 140 years or an average of 2.37 years each. It averages 23 years in age. It is 8.14 per cent married already. It hails from 29 counties, Pitt having the largest number with Wake and Wayne following next with equal numbers. Three members of the class have done their entire college work by coming to summer schools. Seven members of the class have done more than half of their college work in summer schools. This shows that our college is really training people in service."

Mr. Wright expressed his appreciation to Mr. J. R. Meadows, the director of the summer school and to the teachers for their faithful and efficient work for the college and the state during the term. He stated that it was the best summer school that the college had ever had.

Dr. Cook, in his address to the graduates, said in part: "I would feel that my life has been a failure, if, after 60 years I have not learned some things that you have not yet experienced, and, it seems to me, that on an occasion like this you have the right to demand of me my report on life—the life upon which you are entering, and which I must soon leave.

"I go back in thought to the old story of how the children of Israel, through cowardice and lack of faith in God, missed the fulfillment of His promise when on the eve of attaining it. For two years they had been marching to the promised land, and they were now upon its borders. They had sent twelve men to spy and report upon the country; and because of the report that ten of them made of the difficulties that lay in the way, their hearts failed them, and they turned back on the threshold of their goal.

"That incident to me is a parable of life, especially applicable to this occasion. Quite frankly I will admit that I side with the two and not with the ten. The ten, you may remember, reported: 'the people be strong that dwell in the land, and the cities are walled, and very great; and moreover we saw the children of Anak there.... we be not able to go up against the people; for they are stronger than we.'

"But the greatest of all the giants they had met, was the giant Fear. So, for lack of faith, the children of Israel at Kadsh-barnea lost their blessing. Their report was true, as far as it went. No one blames them for telling of the dangers ahead. We do not want a chart of life that leaves out the shoals and quicksands.

TOBACCO PRICES BORDER MARKET STILL ADVANCING

Average for Season to Date Thirty Per Cent Higher Than Last Season

(By R. W. McFarland)

Falmouth, N. C., Aug. 28.—During the tobacco week just ended the market has shown a slight decline in the prices of all the very low common grades, i. e., the grades that usually every year sell from $3 to $6, but the grades from that price up, are selling with "their tails curled."

Many of these medium grades are bringing this season twice as much as they did last and some of the green and non-descript grades that last year didn't seem to have a friend in the world are now eagerly sought for, and good prices paid. The "green boys" are certainly going strong. The printing and trash grades are not yet off the market.

Probably not many of these grades coming in locally, but as this market draws quite extensively from the east it will be some time before nothing but up the stalk tobacco will be sold. Were these "primings" and "trash" grades eliminated, the daily average on this market would run around $35. But, counting the entire sales the average for the Tobacco Week ended Thursday night was $20.18. The sales for the week 991,008. The market passed the two million pound milestone Thursday, with the season's average up to that date $23.75. The season's average for the same period last year (that is, selling price) was $18.16.

A great many of the better grades of tobacco are now showing up and selling from $30 to $70. Occasionally a few baskets of still a better grade will "bob up" and bring from $70 to $76. A basket of very fancy wrappers sold for $101 Thursday, but every leaf of it had been carefully selected.

While the better grades to tobacco are selling a great deal higher than they sold last season, yet the advance in these grades are not in proportion to the advance over last season in the medium grades. We will hazard a guess that the better grades are probably 15 per cent higher than last year.

Among the prominent tobaccoists from Greenville visiting the market this week were Mr. Ralph Garrett and Mr. Ficklen.

Today's sales (Friday) are the heaviest this market has ever had since it has been selling "graded" tobacco. All four of the sales warehouses, filled from wall to wall—something like five thousand baskets of tobacco sold. No block—no competition, everything sold. Market firm.

TROOPS LANDED IN NICARAGUA

200 American Sailors and Marines Landed to Protect Foreign Life and Property

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—200 American sailors and marines have been landed by the Cruiser Galveston at Blue Fields, Nicaragua to protect foreign life and property.

The landing was made after the Nicaraguan Governor at Blue Field had informed the Galveston commander that the Nicaraguan forces were in no position to guarantee protection of life and property against a revolutionary force which is marching upon Blue Field.

Latest report from American official forces in Nicaragua indicate that the revolutionary attack upon Blue Field will be successful.

MOURN DEATH NAVAL AVIATOR KILLED IN FALL

Commander John Rogers, Hero of the Trans-Pacific Flight Met Death in Fall Yesterday

Washington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Commander John Rogers will be buried in Arlington National Cemetery here next Tuesday with naval honors. The army and navy will be represented at the burial by ranking officials. Secretary Wilbur, however, is on the West Coast, and will be unable to attend.

Philadelphia, Aug. 28.—(AP)—The navy today mourned one of its greatest bitter day heroes, Commander John Rogers, of the San Francisco-Hawaiian Flight. The aviator of distinguished naval lineage, who kept his seaplane afloat, nine days when adrift in the Pacific, plunged less than 100 feet to death in a land plane yesterday. The plane struck an air pocket and dropped into the Delaware River a short distance from the navy yard field, where he was about to land. His mechanic, Samuel Schultz, of Philadelphia, was in the naval hospital today with a broken back and physicians feared that he would not recover.

The commander was enroute from Washington to attend a conference with other naval officers and to inspect a partly finished new type of airplane in which he contemplated making a 3000 mile flight.

The engine of the plane lay partly on the commander's chest and one leg was caught in the wreckage. The plane had to be taken apart to extricate him and he died two hours later. On the operating table physicians found that the heavy engine had crushed his chest and broken ribs had punctured his vital organs.

Another case to be immediately considered is that of Aydtlett and Owens and Swift and Company, versus Allison Aydtlett, of Pasquotank county. In this case there are two matters of dispute. The plaintiffs argue that they delivered to the defendants a certain amount of fertilizer and look in payment a note for $380. The defendant admits as much, but claims that the fertilizer was worthless, that it did not add to the value of his potato crop as the dealer claimed it would, and consequently he owes nothing for it. The plaintiffs refute with the statement that their only agreement was to deliver properly inspected fertilizer. The note is executed for "value received," but the defendant claims he received no value.

Greenville Man Granted License to Practice Law

William Tyson, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Tyson, of this city, today received notice that he successfully passed the State Bar examination recently held. Mr. Tyson was the only Pitt county man to take the examination at this time.

When asked today if he would take up practice here, Mr. Tyson stated it would be several days before he would reach a definite decision.

A. C. L. Revenues Increases Nearly Million Dollars

Wilmington, Aug. 28.—(AP)—A gain of approximately $900,000 in railway operating revenue of the Atlantic Coast Line of July 1925 over July 1925 was shown in a statement issued at the company office here today.

The statement also showed increase of approximately $100,000 for the month in net operating income, while the operating revenue of the first seven months of the year showed an increase of nearly $7,000,000 over the same period in 1925.

Railway operating revenue for the month of July was $6,943,710 compared with $6,046,772 for July 1925. The net operating income for July 1926 was $726,812 compared with $624,710 for July 1925.

Demonstration of Chrysler Attracts Much Attention

The Chrysler demonstration on the city street, here yesterday afternoon and today has attracted no little attention. The demonstration is the first of its kind ever staged here. The stunt was that of four automobiles operated at one time by a single driver. The driver operated the first of the four cars and the three other, connected by mechanical devices, trailed perfectly behind, around corners, as well as on a straight run.

LAST OF SERIES UNION SERVICES SUNDAY NIGHT

Rev. L. E. Ballard to Deliver Sermon; Services This Summer a Great Success

The last service of the series of Union Services that have been held on the court house lawn each Sunday evening during the summer months, will be conducted tomorrow evening by Rev. L. E. Ballard, Pastor of the Free Will Baptist Church.

The union services conducted this summer have far surpassed those of former years and both the clergy and laymen have declared the services a great success. A conservative estimate places the average attendance at the services at a thousand persons. Not a one of the services have been marred by bad weather and always the sermons have been interesting and inspiration to those who have attended.

A large attendance is expected tomorrow night at the final service of the series.

Supreme Court Begins Its Fall Term Tuesday

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—With a calendar of 14 cases from the First Judicial District, the North Carolina Supreme Court convenes for its fall session on Tuesday, August 31.

No criminal cases are among those scheduled, while one of the first to be disposed of will probably be that of an Albemarle bank receiver versus the directors of the bank.

The receiver, claiming that the finances of the bank are such that an immediate payment is due, is suing the directors for $10,000 which he alleges they owe the bank. The directors claim that the note, originally given, was not made in payment of value received, that they have received nothing from the bank, and therefore owe it nothing.

Another case to be immediately considered is that of Aydtlett and Owens and Swift and Company, versus Allison Aydtlett, of Pasquotank county. In this case there are two matters of dispute. The plaintiffs argue that they delivered to the defendants a certain amount of fertilizer and look in payment a note for $380. The defendant admits as much, but claims that the fertilizer was worthless, that it did not add to the value of his potato crop as the dealer claimed it would, and consequently he owes nothing for it. The plaintiffs refute with the statement that their only agreement was to deliver properly inspected fertilizer. The note is executed for "value received," but the defendant claims he received no value.

In another case, Holmes versus the Camden county highway commission, the plaintiff claims that she was injured when thrown from an automobile because of the carelessness of the commission in caring for a bridge approach.

Other cases on the docket are: Neal et al versus Mann; Commander versus Smith; The Crowley Company versus Griggs; Williams versus Perkins; Hill versus Aydtlett; Short versus Saltman; Bass versus Powell et al; Ponder Deep Soil Development Company and J. A. Wilk-nson versus Wallace; Roberts versus Saunders & Cox; Buckman versus Bragaw, and Farrow versus American Eagle Fire Insurance Company.

The statement also showed increase of approximately $100,000 for the month in net operating income, while the operating revenue of the first seven months of the year showed an increase of nearly $7,000,000 over the same period in 1925.

Railway operating revenue for the month of July was $6,943,710 compared with $6,046,772 for July 1925. The net operating income for July 1926 was $726,812 compared with $624,710 for July 1925.

FOW BOAT SINKS TAKING LIVES OF EIGHT PERSONS

New Orleans, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Eight persons were believed drowned when the tow boat Patton, sunk in the Mississippi river during Wednesday night's hurricane, was reported today by the Blue Coal and Tow Boat Company. The body of one of those aboard, the wife of the captain, had been recovered, and the captain and six members of the crew were missing.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

MERCY AND JUDGMENT

—III— S. James 2:13—"Mercy rejoiceth against Judgment."

We have considered the LAW OF HEREDITY and the LAW OF ENVIRONMENT in our discussion of our subject, let us now 3. Take the LAW OF THE SURVIVAL OF THE FITTEST.

Remember God's law is the same for every class, in every age. It is not one law for the rich and one for the poor; not one for the higher, and another for the lower classes. It is uniform, and inflexible and universal.

So "Mercy rejoices against Judgment," and the Gospel fulfills the Law. (To be continued)

CABLE LETTER

London, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Literary forgers are busy in England after a lapse of many years. A number of spurious documents alleged to have been written by famous poets and others but discovered by dealers to be fraudulent, have placed collectors on their guard.

Recently a man dressed as a bricklayer, offered a collector a copy of Hones year book, dated 1841, in which he claimed were notes by Charles Lamb, who once edited the publication.

"But Charles Lamb died in 1834," the collector exclaimed. "Oh, did he govern?" asked the man.

Wilson Barrett, the celebrated English actor who was known to American playgoers 25 years ago in "The Sign of the Cross," and many other Broadway successes, died in 1903. But his name has reappeared in electric lights before the vaudeville theatre on the Strand.

The grandson of the old time actor, is keeping up the stage traditions of the family. He and his sister, Helen Barrett, are both members of the "R. S. V. P." revue and have won the way to principal roles through apprenticeship in several musical comedies and cabarets.

One of the reasons given for the poor sale of pictures at the Royal Academy, which has just closed, is a recently growing fashion to hang only one or two small pictures in any room and to abolish them altogether from halls and staircases.

of a better hope did, by the which we draw nigh unto God."

What the law could not do, Christ did, when He came to call not the righteous, but sinners to repentance; to heal, not the whole, but the sick; to seek and save that which was lost.

Only an All-wise, All-just God can apportion to you and me the righteous sentence. Only He can know how much of our failing has been due to heredity, environment, or weakness.

Blessed be His Holy name for that He has revealed His mercy, mercy for the sinful and fallen, mercy for those who have not even kept the code which He lays down, or the laws which they themselves approve.

"As I live, saith the Lord God, I have no pleasure in the death of the wicked, but that the wicked should turn from his way and live: turn ye from your evil ways; for why will ye die, O house of Israel?"

Listen again to the same gracious voice: "I will sprinkle clean water upon you, and ye shall be clean; from all your filthiness will I cleanse you. A new heart also will I give you, and a new spirit will I put within you, and cause you to walk in my statutes, and ye shall keep my judgments to do them."

God not only demands obedience, He CAUSES US TO WALK in His statutes. Every demand God makes on us is simply a promise in disguise. He only ASKS in order that He may give, just as His Son, our Saviour, asked water from the Woman of Samaria, that He might give her the living water of which whoso drinketh never thirsts more.

So "Mercy rejoices against Judgment," and the Gospel fulfills the Law. (To be continued)

France next year. The head of one important agency has stated that he is returning to the United States, to arrange tours in South America, the Orient and Alaska for the coming year, but that he would leave Europe and especially France out of his calculations.

Umbrellas are shedding their sombre black here and are becoming quite picturesque in soft blues, delicate pinks, light water green, and dawn yellow, colors that were the rage in the "Citi-zin Konga" day. Umbrellas are covered with taffeta and edged with a broad ribbon striped in the gayest of colors. Its handle may be a crutch of light yellow or a dog's head with a collar set with colored carbuncles, or a port little monkey with a chain.

The Louis Philippe umbrella has become a formidable rival to the "Tom Thumb" umbrella which has become smaller than ever.

Bobbed hair has been relegated to the "nothing new under the sun" class by a scientific investigator, Dr. Cabanes, who recently asked a medical paper if any precedent to this fashion was known.

Doctor George Petit replied that in 1796 women wore their hair cut short in memory of the victims of the reign of terror, whose hair was always cut short before their heads were placed under the guillotine. This style was then known as "sacrificed."

The fashion did not last long then, but it was revived in 1836, when Princess Marie of Orleans, the daughter of King Louis Philippe exhibited her statue of Joan or Arc, who is always resented with bobbed (not shingled) hair. Short hair came into vogue in honor of the royal artist and lasted for about a dozen years. It was called "Joan of Arc" style.

It was once more resurrected in the early days of the third and existing republic, when it was christened the Ninon style, after the celebrated Ninon de Lenclos, who wore her hair short. Her close cut hair was on one of the brainiest heads of the times.

Berlin, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Every time a traveler goes up into the air on one of Germany's 75 airplane routes, he is automatically insured for $6,000 at the expense of "Luftansa's" the concern which operates these routes.

Flying in Germany is regarded quite as safe as traveling by train or motor car. The insurance companies with which the Luftansa has contracted for the insurance of its passengers charge merely the usual accident rate without the supercharge customary in the case of extra hazardous occupations.

RED ARMY WILL DRAFT NEW TRIBES THIS YEAR

Moscow, Aug. 28.—(INS)—For the first time in Russian history the male inhabitants of the Yalutskian Republic, comprising the central northern part of Siberia, will be called into the Red Army this autumn. This year the levy will be on those born in 1904. Most of the Yalutskians are native tribes, whose backwardness has heretofore been considered a bar to their entrance into the army.

The Soviet authorities, however, consider service in the Red Army one of the principal means of education. Only a few of the least civilized and smaller tribes, such as the Chukchians, Yonagarians, Lamutes, and Eskimos next to the Arctic Circle will be exempted.

ECONOMIC SIGNIFICANCE AND SERVICE OF THE AMERICAN NEWSPAPER AND NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING—From latest volume in Manhattan Library of Popular Economics, republished in serial form through courtesy of Bank of the Manhattan Company, New York.

DISTRIBUTING THE NATION'S GOODS THE American newspaper is, by its very nature, a local institution, its own community's mirror, voice, market place and leader. But, just as America is a national community, composed of thousands of local centers, so the American press as a whole is a unit, formed by nearly 14,000 local papers which reflect the national life.

In this capacity newspapers together perform a nation-wide economic service comparable to that performed by each for its own community. Connected up for the transmission and exchange of news they form a national market place in which knowledge of the goods of any locality may be found.

The many units of this huge nation are not self-contained, but interdependent. This is because of the degree in which different sections specialize. California and Florida produce many times the quantity of oranges which they can consume. Filled as are the streets of Detroit with automobiles, these are but a small fraction of the number made in that city's great plants. The several shoe manufacturing centers must find millions of feet for their shoes in thousands of other communities. Typewriters from northern plants are used in southern offices, while cotton from southern fields helps to clothe the operatives who make the typewriters.

So it is with innumerable other products. It is a process of ceaseless interchange by which each community gets whatever it may require, wherever it may be produced. Accordingly, every reader has a natural interest in many products of other regions as they are made known to him through the columns of his local newspaper.

How prodigious is the volume of newspaper advertising in facilitating this process is disclosed by the fact that of the $750,000,000 used in such advertising in 1925, nearly one-third was paid by producers of goods which are distributed throughout the nation.

Any one who begins to list the various kinds of goods purchased by him in the course of a year is likely to discover with surprise how much of an "ultimate consumer" he has become. At the same time, he probably will realize that many of his purchases are of making already familiar to him through advertising. One naturally assumes that a producer takes pride in an article which he deems worth advertising, and one expects that the quality associated with a certain name or trademark will be the same wherever the product may be found.

Moreover, experience has shown that the price is likely to be lower on a widely advertised article than for a similar but unadvertised one. In an instance after another it has been found that as advertising began to widen sales, the great economies of quantity production lowered costs and reduced prices, so that the sums in-

COLLEEN MORE PORTRAYS GIRL'S HARDSHIPS

Another of the heart appealing dramas, which Colleen Moore knows so well how to deliver, is the promise of First National in her latest screen vehicle, It Must Be Love, which will be shown at White's theatre next Monday and Tuesday.

In this human story of a New York girl's struggle against the mediocrity and misunderstanding of her parents Colleen Moore has given to the screen a dramatic bit of life familiar to everyone who has been brought up in the midst of the crowded city. Because she wanted to have a nice home, where she could bring her friends without a feeling of inferiority, this girl, as portrayed by Miss Moore, had to sacrifice the love of her father and almost broke her mother's heart.

How the girl left home for her own ideals and found the man she loved makes a most interesting and unexpected denouement.

TEXAS VOTERS AT POLLS TODAY

Spirited Battle Being Waged Between Governor Miriam Ferguson and Dan Moody

Dallas, Texas, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Drawn to the polls by a spirited run-off campaign featured by charges of Ku Klux Klan and oil interest control, Texas voters today cast their ballots in what they regarded as the supreme test of the Ferguson regime.

Led in the July primary for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination by Dan Moody, the 33-year old Attorney General, Governor Miriam A. Ferguson, revived the entire anti-Klan platform, on which she rode to victory two years ago in her re-election campaign after her husband, James E. Ferguson, had been ousted from the governor's chair.

In an active campaign her husband added charges that oil interests were combining with the Klan to elect Moody.

Moody executed a promise to carry his attack on 'Fergusonism' to every district of the state and made from two to five addresses a day in the second campaign. He charged that Mrs. Ferguson was governor by "proxy" and that her husband dictated the policies, which he alleged had created turmoil in state affairs. He also denied that the Klan was an issue.

JAPANESE OFFICERS GET RUSTPROOF SWORDS

Tokyo, Aug. 27.—(AP)—The War Office is considering the adoption of rust-proof swords for all Japanese army officers. In this country an officer is not considered fully dressed unless he wears his sword. Rain and damp weather is an ever present part of the climate.

Consequently swords must be polished at all times, and even then it is difficult to avoid rust. A sword maker recently invented a rust-proof weapon which he submitted to the War Department.

RAILROADS DENIED INJUNCTION AGAINST CORPORATION COM.

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Application of the Seaboard Air Line and the Atlantic Coast Line Railroad Companies for an injunction against the Corporation Commission of the state of North Carolina in the fertilizer rate case was denied here today in a decree of the special three judge federal court which heard the application.

The railroads sought to enjoin the State Corporation Commission from the port of Wilmington to extra state rates on shipments of fertilizers and fertilizer materials from the port of Wilmington to points in the interior of North Carolina.

The railroads contended that the order of the State Corporation Commission was in conflict with rulings of the Interstate Commerce Commission.

Hearing on the injunction took place in Raleigh during the spring before Judges Parker, Webb and Messrs. Moseley Bros., Greenville, N. C.

Dear Sirs,

I wish to thank you for the prompt and satisfactory manner in which you effected settlement of my claim for indemnity due to injury sustained while traveling on recent tour of the West.

Even though the accident occurred while I was way out in the state of Colorado, you effected settlement without any red tape and just as promptly as if the accident had happened right here at home. Anyone anticipating a long trip, would do well to let your agency cover them with accident insurance while away from home.

Fire Prevention Week Begins Oct. 3

Raleigh, Aug. 28.—(AP)—Fire prevention week will officially begin Sunday, October 3, Commissioner Stacey Wade has announced. The Insurance Commissioner in a statement has pointed out the annual national and state losses through fire and has asked that the week be carefully observed.

"It is perhaps only necessary," said Mr. Wade, "to remind the people of the importance of safeguarding America against fire. Last year's national loss was $570,255,021.

"This terrific loss in our own nation, with a population of about 115,387,094, gives a per capita fire loss of $4.94, and with our own state fire loss of $6,914,014 and a population of 2,812,000, gives a per capita state loss of $2.46."

The Commissioner declared that President Coolidge will probably nationalize the week and that it almost certain that supplementary messages to the public will be forthcoming from various governors.

LONDON PLANS TO BUILD BUNKER HILL MONUMENT

London, Aug. 28.—(INS)—In order to preserve it as a Hill of Remembrance to British and American soldiers who fought and died in the World War, a project is on foot for the purchase of the English Bunker Hill, adjoining Hampstead Heath, the playground of London's lower classes.

The cost of acquiring and laying out Bunker Hill is estimated at $75,000, of which $15,000 has already been subscribed. A committee has been formed and an appeal issued for funds to save the hill from the hands of the builder.

Cancer Kills 40,000 a Year; Statistics Alarming

Paris, Aug. 26.—(INS)—Cancer kills forty thousand people in France every year.

These alarming statistics recently published have brought forth the foundation of an Institute for the study and treatment of cancer, created by the department of the Seine and Faculty of Medicine upon the instigation of Professor Roussy and Jean Varenne, General Councilor of the Seine department.

If the deep causes of cancer still remain obscure, say these professors, the laws of its fast development are becoming better and better known. Everyone knows that cancer remains a local malady during a long period and during this time, it can very often be cured. There is a therapeutic hour for cancer, according to Dr. Charles Grandaude writing in L'Illustration. Numerous experiences show that it can be cured at this time.

The new Institute intends to co-ordinate and centralize all the work undertaken for the study of cancer, to facilitate research work and to establish suitable hospitals for cancer patients.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Moscow, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Whole regions of peasants in the vicinity of Astrakhan have been speechless for the last week. They have shouted themselves dumb in the effort to drive away a fresh swarm of locusts which descended upon their crops and took the last vestige of verdure four weeks after the original swarm blew in from the Caucasus.

In the more remote sections of the country the only method of fighting locusts known to the peasants is to make as loud a noise as possible. Men, women and children advance on the locusts with drums and trumpets, bells and tambourines. They beat, blow, shout and yell until the swarm of insects rises and moves on. During the course of three days battling with the plague the peasants near Astrakhan literally wore out their harynxes.

Male students in Bolshevik universities from now on must exercise more care before they enter into the marriage relationship. Hitherto they have been exceptions from the general rule, that the father of a child must continue to support it even after he has divorced its mother. They enjoyed exemption from the rule because of their poverty and because the government supports the majority of the students with a monthly stipend of 22 roubles. Under a law just promulgated by the Department of Justice, hereafter any student who leaves his wife and child will have alimony deducted from his monthly stipend.

Government statisticians have just completed a set of figures proving that once every thirty years every village and town in the Soviet Union is burned down. This, of course, is not literally true, but represents graphically the fact that the fires occurring throughout the Soviet Union during thirty years causes a loss equivalent to that which would result from one great holocaust destroying all the houses in the country.

A surprising number of these fires are due to incendiarism, which is so much the more popular among Russian peasants on account of the ease with which it may be committed. Their houses are of flimsy and highly inflammable material.

An instance in point has just appeared before the Moscow Provincial Court in the trial of Vladimir Babushkin, 25 year old peasant who killed his 23 year old wife, her 50 year old mother, and, binding two year old baby to the bed, set fire to the house and fled. The child burned to death. Babushkin, with characteristic logic, said: "I only intended to punish my wife by hitting her lightly with an axe. But I hurt her more than I intended, and because I could not bear to see her suffer, I killed her. Then, since her old mother could not bear to live without her daughter, I had to kill her also, and that left the baby with no one to take care of her, so I had to kill baby too."

Ukrainian-Russian hostility is not limited to the movie field. Eighty-five employees in Odessa government institutions have just been discharged because they failed to learn to speak Ukrainian. In spite of the fact that it meant a complete turn-over of their system of record-keeping and in spite of the fact that the business of Ukraine has been done in the Russian language for the last century, the new Ukrainian Soviet Republic took the first chance offered by its autonomy to banish the Russian language from all its institutions.

He and his wife worked their way across the Pacific, washing the ship's deck. His religion is that of repentance—our religion is prosperity. But, as the original Socrates might have said, only providence knows which of us has the better religion.

At last, with prosperity, you don't have to wash decks.

At Dundalk, Ireland, Mrs. J. McLaughlin said Mrs. Mary Martin cast the "evil eye" on her child, dooming it to a life of ill luck.

A third woman, doing the best she could, cut the fringe from the shawl of Mrs. Martin of the "evil eye," and burned that fringe under the nose of the child. The evil spell should have disappeared with the smoke, but didn't. The judge refused to take the case seriously and tried to make the ladies understand that the evil eye doesn't exist, and smoke from a lady's shawl wouldn't cure it, anyhow. Millions in Ireland and other countries will say "but the judge is foolish. We are still far from moderate intelligence as regards three-quarters of the sixteen hundred million human beings on earth."

You know about the little drops of water, little grains of sand, that make the mighty ocean and the pleasant land. In Wall Street it is little extra dividends, little high profit statements that make the cheerfulness.

Not long ago, even Standard Oil borrowed money at seven per cent. Yesterday, in a few minutes the Westinghouse Company sold thirty millions of five per cent bonds, retiring seven per cent securities.

And brokers, going home, learned that Texas Gulf Sulphur shares would pay $12 a year hereafter, and nearly two million new shares will be handed out. Wall Street prices might well paraphrase a high expression, "It hath not yet been shown what we can be."

Summer Term Teachers College Closed Yesterday

(Continued from page 1) must fly. The great trouble with men is that they are trying to live upon the earth as if they were beasts, born of the dust, instead of immortal spirits come from God; and it can not be done with out deep inward and unappeasable misery.

"So, my dear young friends, I beg you to believe me when I say out of my own experience, that the life before you has—or should have—more of joy than sorrow, more of victory than defeat; if you will remember a very few things and do them.
"First: Keep clear your faith in God.
"Second: Do not let this day be the end of your studies. Take up at least one subject and continue it in its higher branches, until you have become an expert in that.
"Third: Take care of your health—that priceless gift of God. Time reserved for recreation is never time wasted. Thus keeping guard over your hearts, your minds and your bodies, you have every reason to hope for success in whatever sphere you are placed.
"You are going out to unknown circles where you will meet with many deep-rooted prejudices. Some people, for example, shiver at the very word "Evolution" as though it forced God out of the universe, and undermined the foundations of the noblest hopes of the race. Be patient with all such. Nothing is gained by impatience. The strong can always wait. I admit that the word "evolution" has sometimes been pronounced so as to alarm, and that assertions have been made in regard to the origin of man which have never been proved; and the cry has gone up, "The Bible is overthrown!" as if it were a discovery to rejoice at, that the old Book which has comforted myriads of sad hearts is untrue; that the guiding pillar is only the whirling sand of the desert; that the bright and morning star is simply a meteor; that the foundation of God, instead of standing sure, is rocking like a logan stone and likely to be overturned; that the Cross is a worthless legend; that the earth is not a vestibule of heaven, but a prison and an eternal grave! No, No! The Book remains; we receive a Kingdom which can not be moved.
"There is a lesson of courage needed by Christian people today. We need not tremble for the Ark of God. Evolution! why should we be afraid of such teaching? Do we not find it in the structure of the Bible itself? It was given by degrees, by installations—one stage leading on and then the germ unfolding into a more perfect thing. Patriarch, Prophet, Apostle, Bethel, Sinai, Calvary, Abraham, Moses, Christ—is not the lower leading to the higher, the smaller to the greater, the imperfect to the perfect? Do we not see the same in personal religion? The path of the just is as light than abate more and more unto the perfect day.

There is the blade, the ear, the full corn in the ear; there is the babe, the youth, and the full grown man in Christ.
"Do we not see the same thing in the History of Humanity? There is progress in knowledge, in commerce, in literature, in science, in wise government, and in morality. And in the History of the Church? Her path has been thorny, through valleys of weeping, and over hills of sacrifice; but she is to be presented at last glorious church, not having spot or wrinkle, or any such thing."

"Evolution does not exclude God; it is God's method of working. Nature did not become what it is at once—certainly not human nature—there was progress; and this law of progress instead of denying God, is his surest proof, implying all through the universe, mind, design, will.
"The seed is planted, and the flower appears. Who made the seed? Who gave the principle of life? Whatever may be the progress the development, there is something from which it has developed, and there is Some One whose thought is expressed in it all. Evolution there can not be without the Evolver. "In the beginning—God" in the end—God! Keep your minds open to all truth, no matter from whence it comes. Be loyal to it; and so keep room in your hearts for God.

"You will meet with difficulties, and discouragements in the path before you, but these will always yield if met with the 'equal temper' of heroic minds. You will meet with many successes, and I think danger lies more often in success than in failure. Do not become puffed up with the sense of superiority when you have obtained an objective, when friends flatter and crowd's applaud. But from one height of attainment with humility commence to scale the heights beyond.
"As Tennyson sings:
"Let knowledge grow from more to more.
But more of reverence in us dwell;
That mind and soul according well,
May make music as before—
But vaster."

"There are FOUR things which we may consider as cardinal, because they are pre-eminent and fundamental objects of Kiwanis. In common with the whole International, we have taken action regarding these. Perhaps we can extend our efforts.
"1. There is what we may call BUSINESS CORDIALITY. When I was a boy, I often heard my father say, "Competition is the life of trade; and indeed, it seemed then to be so. But competition out-grew its usefulness, and became CUT-THROAT-ISM. The law of the jungle prevailed. Kiwanis endeavors to get men to cooperate in business and to compete in service—which is far better.
"We bring men of various occupations and give them opportunities to mix together, thus learning to understand each other's difficulties, and to sympathize with each other's aims.
"Now, in Greenville today, there are several fresh businesses and new merchants. It may be that they cannot join our club, being excluded by the Law of Classifications. Still I urge our members to make these newcomers feel that they are heartily welcomed to our city and are entitled to our help; and I suggest a committee be appointed to wait on them for this purpose.
"2. Kiwanis, from its inception, has taken a great interest in the UNDERPRIVILEGED CHILD. This is one of the most glorious features of our organization. Let us actively continue it this fall. Every member should be on the look-out for such cases as we can help.
"3. THE HEALTH OF THE COMMUNITY is another pre-eminent care of Kiwanis. We have sponsored clinics, and in other ways supported the Board of Health. Our city is one of the healthiest in the state, but as long as there is a preventable case of disease, so long should we function.
"4. The fourth cardinal object of Kiwanis is the CAUSE OF EDUCATION. We should do more than simply banquet the school teachers once a year. I should like to see our club do three things in this connection. First: To actively support the CURTIS REED EDUCATIONAL BILL, which proposes to create a Federal Department of Education with the Secretary a member of the President's Cabinet. Ever since 1918, leader of education throughout our land has been working for such a department, and every guarantee has been made that it will not interfere with the rights of any state to legislate for itself on educational affairs. It is only opposed by the admitted enemies of our public school system, and the representatives of various parochial schools.

"Second: I should like to see the club start a SCHOLARSHIP fund, the income from which, when sufficiently large, to be applied to the expenses of some poor but worthy girl at the East Carolina Teachers College. This wonderful institution is most worthy deserving of all the support we can give.
"Third: Let us find a practical way of assisting our PUBLIC LIBRARY. This is one of the most valuable assets of our civic and social life. It is an unpeakable blessing to the young people, and is working on the pauper budget of $150.00 a month.
"5. There are other matters that deserve our attention. Take the BEAUTIFYING OF OUR CITY. Our club has already taken the first steps to restore the trees destroyed by the installation of gas in our city, and although it is too early to make definite announcement of our plans, our members will be glad to know that the committee is functioning. The Kiwanis International, at the Denver convention, adopted the resolution: "That special attention of our committees on public affairs be directed to the protection and conservation of forest resources"; so that our care of our trees is right in line with the International suggestion. We can encourage the planting of crepe-myrtle trees, and pecan trees, on the highways leading into our city; so that in a very few years Greenville will be known as "The City Beautiful." We ought also, I think, to be working for a city park, which will promote health as well as being an attraction; and a Union Depot worthy our town should no longer be a dream.
"6. TRAFFIC ARRANGEMENTS also need our attention. Our streets were laid out long before automobiles were manufactured, and are consequently too narrow for the traffic of the numerous vehicles of today. I suggest the appointment of a traffic committee to lay out a plan of "one way" streets, and that the same be submitted to the Board of Aldermen for their acceptance. It is no good to simply ask for better traffic regulations; in order to get anything done we must formulate a working plan, and call for its adoption.
"7. We could—or let me rather say, we should—endow a bed in our local COMMUNITY HOSPITAL to which we could send any worthy case we find.
"8. We should also stand four square behind the city and county officers who are endeavoring to ENFORCE THE LAW. Disregard for law is wide-spread through the nation. Any law enacted seems to rouse all the latent lawlessness of the people, and to be a challenge to its violation, rather than to its observance.
"9. The cultivation of finer relationships with THE FARMERS of the county and the dwellers in our rural districts is to be commended; thereby removing prejudices and promoting unity and good-will. We have had some farmers as our guests at supper, but that is hardly enough to achieve the end we have in view. Some definite plan of continuous and progressive intercourse should be worked out. Even from the lowest and most selfish point of view, this will bring an immediate return to the merchants of the city by promoting HOME BUYING.
"10. The duty of holding INTER-CLUB MEETINGS should be remembered.
"These cement the bonds between neighboring clubs and furnish unequalled opportunities for emulation in good works, and for the exchange of ideas and methods of carrying them out.
"I do not know how many or how few of the things I have named may appeal to you. You may, possibly, reject them all. But don't say that Greenville Kiwanis clubs has nothing to do. Don't say you cannot find anything to do in the suggested lines of work. There is a niche for you—a work for YOU—and nobody can do your share but YOU. If you are a Builder—get up and build, or at least gather the sand, pebbles and cement, or carry the water, the real Builder's need.
"Kiwanis is a living force when every member of the club realizes the opportunities presented for service, and with heroic self-forgetfulness braces himself for the job, and our club will be a tower of strength in our city, if each of you resolve to do your part. Don't wait for others—start something yourself! It is this way we achieve the highest ideal of Kiwanis—THE BUILDING OF CHARACTER. Not by lectures nor ethics nor sermons nor morals, but by the lessons of concrete deeds and by example, of generosity and self-sacrifice.
"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not in breaths; in feelings, not in shadows on a dial.
We should count time by heart throbs.
He lives most who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

Dealers Praise New Features of Oldsmobile

Appreciation of the numerous safety features incorporated in the latest Oldsmobile—anti-glare particularly—the anti-glare headlights is being voiced by motorists throughout the country, according to reports being received from Oldsmobile by officials of the Old Motor Works. Every section of the country is represented in the favorable reports on the anti-glare efficiency of the new double filament headlights, factory officials report. This feature is upmost in most automobilist's minds at this season of the year when the warm weather induces much night driving with its consequent perils from glaring head lamps. The reports indicate that the driving public is keenly appreciative of the improved mechanical safety devices on the better automobiles, holding them fully as important in accident prevention as are safe driving campaigns.
Headlamps with double filament bulbs are being used in the new Oldsmobile to eliminate glare. With the light control switched on at the "bright" position, a strong beam of light is thrown from the lower filament straight ahead, illuminating the road far in advance. When switched to the "dim" position, the upper filament is used, and an equally strong beam of light is thrown on a downward angle on the road. This removes any possibility of glare in the eyes of approaching drivers yet gives perfect illumination of the road and side ditches. These lamps also conform to all state law requirements.
The new anti-theft car lock is a distinct feature in locking design. The lock is protection both against thieves and possible carelessness on the part of the driver.

New Glacial Discovery to Solve Man's Origin

Moscow, Aug. 28.—(INS)—Two stone, spherically shaped objects found in a glacial deposit near Moscow, may be the key to solving some of the most difficult problems connected with the study of man's descent from lower forms of life, declare Moscow University professors.
The stone semi-spheres are believed to be fossilized brains of pre-historic men. If the supposition is substantiated they will be the first of their kind ever to come under the examination of scientists. Many other pre-historic fossils including skulls are on record, but no fossilized brains. Professor Grigorovich, who discovered the stones, has had the advice of the leading Russian brain expert, Professor B. K. Gindzet on his find.
Professor Gindze, after a three months' study of the stones, reported that he found 60 anatomical points of identity between the stones and the human brain. X-ray pictures of the stones also revealed the cavities characteristic of the human brain.

Cincinnati University Doubled Enrollment During Past 5 Years

Cincinnati, O., Aug. 27.—(INS)—The University of Cincinnati, second largest in Ohio, last year with an enrollment of 7,500 students, has outgrown the capacity of its facilities. Although new buildings will be opened this year, it is expected hundreds of applicants will be turned away from the various colleges when registration starts in September. More than 8,000 are expected to register, however.

Business Outlook Brisk in Germany

Washington, Aug. 28.—(INS)—A continued current of optimism runs through the German business outlook, according to a cable dispatch to the Department of Commerce from Acting Commercial Attache, Douglas Miller, at Berlin. Although a total of 1,645,000 persons were listed as "unemployed" on August 1, Miller reported that this number represented a decrease of 89,000 over the army of unemployed on July 1.
The expenditure of large sums of money by the government for construction work, it was said, accounted for the relief in unemployment. More public construction has been ordered, Miller added, thus promising additional relief.
Further indication of German industrial activity was seen by the commercial attache in the large increase in imports of raw material. While these importations resulted in an unfavorable trade balance against Germany for the month of June, Miller declared they indicated greater activity in German industries.

An exceptionally high standard of scholarship has been maintained for entrance requirements and graduation requirements have remained correspondingly high. This is in spite of the prevailing tendency among American colleges and universities to believe that to do so was a menace to the continued growth as a conclusive proof that it is not necessary for American colleges to lower their standards to retain that democratic spirit seemingly so necessary to municipal universities.

Chicago's Front Yard Blossoms In Beauty

Chicago, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Grant Park, Chicago's front yard once a desolate piece of dumping ground, today is blossoming into one of the most beautiful park developments in America.
The park area, reclaimed from the blue waters of Lake Michigan through a patient filling-in process, has been landscaped and boulevarded, in addition to becoming the home of a number of magnificent buildings and monuments.

Old Age Pensions

London, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Over a million old age pensions are being paid in Great Britain and women outnumber men claimants. The actual figures of persons in receipt of pensions on March 31, 1926, were, women 672,148, men 398,945, total 1,071,093. The amount paid in pensions during the year ended March 31, was 27,020,000 pounds.
Between the railroad tracks and the lake, however, was a huge, unorganized territory, being constantly added to, and awaiting the ultimate hand of the city beautifier. That hand now has been applied and the eastern area of the park is as attractive and far more beautiful in its elemental sweep than the original section.

Bryan Memorial University Fund Over Half Million

Dayton, Tenn., Aug. 27.—The movement to establish at Dayton, Tenn., a great university as a memorial to William Jennings Bryan, is daily gaining impetus, according to F. E. Robinson, president of the Bryan Memorial University Association, here. Mr. Robinson states that the campaign now being waged to provide five million dollars for the building and endowment, has brought the association gifts totaling over half a million dollars, only part of three states, North Carolina, Florida and Tennessee, have been solicited to date.

Chicago's Front Yard Blossoms In Beauty

Chicago, Aug. 25.—(AP)—Grant Park, Chicago's front yard once a desolate piece of dumping ground, today is blossoming into one of the most beautiful park developments in America.
The park area, reclaimed from the blue waters of Lake Michigan through a patient filling-in process, has been landscaped and boulevarded, in addition to becoming the home of a number of magnificent buildings and monuments.

The Grant Park known to passersby on Michigan Avenue is a narrow strip of greensward in the formal garden style lying between the boulevard and the depressed Illinois Central railroad tracks. A balustrade on the city edge of the railroad right of way hid the tracks and the region beyond and preserved the beauty of the parkway.
The stone semi-spheres are believed to be fossilized brains of pre-historic men. If the supposition is substantiated they will be the first of their kind ever to come under the examination of scientists.
