NO DECISION REACHED IN MITCHELL CASE

WINGATE DRAWS PRISON TERM FOR ARSON

JESS WINGATE PLEADS GUILTY TO CHARGES OF ARSON, EMBEZZLEMENT

Sentenced Two Years for Arson and One Year for Embezzlement; Other Cases Heard

Pleading guilty to charges of arson and embezzlement before Judge N. A. Sinclair in Superior Court here yesterday afternoon Jesse A. Wingate, of this city, drew a sentence of two years on the first charge and one year on the latter, the sentences to run concurrently. The arson case against Wingate was the outcome of the burning of the dwelling in which he and his family lived a few weeks ago. The embezzlement charge was based upon the sale of a cow which was not his property. After Wingate had been placed in jail on the arson charge and officers were investigating the affair he made a complete confession of the crime. When his case was called in court yesterday afternoon he pleaded guilty and his signed confession was submitted to the judge. The contents of the confession have not been made public.

In this morning's session of court Lester Britley was found guilty of assault with deadly weapon on his brother and was sentenced to six months in jail and assigned to work the roads. Percy Bonner, colored, pleaded guilty of larceny and was sentenced to serve three months. William Crawford, negro, was found guilty of stealing an automobile and was sentenced to twelve months. Willie Jones, negro, pleaded guilty to the charge of forgery and was sentenced to twelve months in jail.

The cases against Edward Evans and Francis Johnson, charged with murder were this afternoon continued until the October term. These cases charging murder, grew out of the recent slaying near this city of Leland and Wilfred Stancill.

Newcomb Assault Case Opens in Wilmington

Wilmington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Argument over the jurisdiction of the recorder's court occupied most of the morning session today in the Newcomb assault case. When court recessed at 1:30 o'clock this line of argument had not been completed and additional addresses would be heard this afternoon. The state was contending that the court did not have jurisdiction on while the defense was opposing this contention.

Bucket Water, Brush, Elbow Grease Brings $100,000 in 15 Years

Chattanooga, Tenn., Sept. 3.—(INS)—With a bucket of water, a brush and a boundless store of energy as his sole assets, he has laid way a fortune of more than $100,000—and all by washing windows at ten cents a pane. He has washed over a million windows. Thus goes the lifetime story of Frank Stanko.

In considering the country's undeveloped resources, it might be well not to overlook its people.

FIRE DESTROYS FIVE COTTAGES WRIGHTSVILLE

Occupants of Buildings Escape With But Few Belongings After Blaze is Discovered

Wilmington, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Damage unofficially estimated at $20,000 by owners of the property was done at Wrightsville Beach last night when fire destroyed the Palmetto Inn, and four summer cottages. The fifteen guests, and the occupants of the other houses were able to save only a few articles of clothing and a few other belongings as the flames spread with great rapidity.

The fire was discovered shortly after eight o'clock in the rear of the Palmetto Inn and spread rapidly to the cottages. All of the buildings were totally destroyed. When firemen reached the scene it was seen that the five structures were doomed and they gave all their efforts to preventing the flames from destroying other buildings.

Pa. Adds Millions to Capital Buildings

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—(INS)—After spending thirteen million dollars on a capital building, Pennsylvania today is in the midst of another extensive building program, which, when completed, will add twenty million dollars to the cost of administrative structures within the city of Harrisburg.

Less than one third of the entire contemplated program has been completed. Work, nevertheless, goes steadily forward, delayed only temporarily by exhaustion of available funds and the need for additional appropriations.

One of the four new administrative buildings, apart from the capitol proper, each of which will cost approximately four million dollars, is almost completed. Although the bulk cost of the four buildings will be greater than the cost of the capitol itself, they will be of much plainer design and without the expensive ornamentation which marks the main structure.

Work has just started on the first unit of the two million dollar viaduct which will connect the group of state buildings with the eastern residential section of the city. The huge viaduct will be a memorial to the Pennsylvania heroes of the World War and the cost of construction will be borne jointly by the state and city.

The extensive program includes not only the construction of the new buildings but also the removal of the State Museum and a part of one of the large wings of the capitol to make the entire group in architectural accord.

Collisions between automobiles and locomotives would not be so bad if the locomotive only got the worst of it now and then.

KINSTON MINISTER HELD ON CHARGE SLAYING CONVICT

Body of Vickers Sent to Home in Forest City; Coroner Waring Withholds Statement

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—With Coroner L. M. Waring apparently not disputing further the authority of Solicitor W. F. Evans in the matter of the shooting to death of J. E. Vickers, a convict, the body of Vickers was shipped today to Forest City, N. C., his home. The body was taken in charge by a brother.

Solicitor Evans stated today that he saw no reason for the coroner to dispute his authority in the matter as the man was dead and the cause of his death was easily established. He added his warrant Wood charging murder was sworn out as the prosecuting witness of the district.

Coroner Waring declined to discuss the case from any angle. Last night he indicated he would order the body held here and also he would consult the Attorney General as to the solicitor superceding him in the matter. The coroner refused today again to make public the death bed statement of Vickers.

From other sources it was learned that Vickers before his death, had protested his innocence of killing a man named Rogers, the crime for which he was serving a sentence at the state prison when he made the break for freedom which resulted in his death.

Solicitor Evans stated today that the preacher deputy would be given a preliminary hearing if he desired one but that he had the right to waive his appearance and wait the action of Superior Court. The next session will convene on September 20.

LITTLE HOPE FOR ENTOMBED MINERS

Miner Brought to the Surface Says No Hope for Sixteen Entombed Men

Tahoma, Okla., Sept. 3.—(AP)—Little hope is held out for 16 men who were trapped in mine number 29 of the Superior Smokeless Coal Company at Tahoma, by a gas explosion. The last miner to be brought out was over come by gas fumes and he said he had small hopes for the men remaining in the mine.

Salisbury, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The preliminary hearing in the case of Frank R. Brown, former Secretary and Treasurer of the Perpetual Building and Loan Association of this city, charged in seven warrants with embezzlement, and was scheduled to come up in the Rowan county court this morning, was continued until Wednesday, September 15.

The original bond of $10,000 was unchanged. The defendant was in court with his attorney when the continuance was ordered.

STATE PRISON INCOME CUT BY $7,500 MONTH

120 Prisoners Hired Out to Contractor Have Been Returned to Penitentiary

Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The state prison's income will be cut $7,500 a month by the return last night of 120 state prisoners from near Asheville where a prison camp has been conducted at a rock quarry for the past five years according to Supt. George R. Poul who also stated that the prisoners had been working for an Asheville contractor and last year added $90,000 to the prison income.

Mr. Poul stated he would give no reason for the prisoners' return until he had received full information from Asheville covering the situation. He said that it was the contractor and not himself who was responsible for the return of the workers. He had no comment to make on the report that the contractor Clyde S. Reed was involved in damage suits because of the presence of the convict camp. He said that every effort would be made to find new employment for the idle convicts.

Mr. Thaw says his lawyer was a traitor, but doesn't name the lawyer. He had several. He says the lawyer was worse than Stanford White. And the night after he killed White he prayed that the latter might go to heaven. It would be interesting to know what memoranda the Angel Gabriel wrote on the margin of that prayer.

BLIMP VICTORIOUS IN NIGHT BATTLE WITH ELEMENTS

Army Blimp TC-5 Lands Safely This Morning After All Night Struggle Through Storms

St. Louis, Mo., Sept. 3.—(AP)—After riding out electrical and thunder storms during the greater part of the night in pitch darkness and soaked with rain, Lieutenant W. A. Gray, and his crew of four, brought the army blimp TC-5 into safe landing at Scott Field, near here, shortly after six o'clock this morning. It was the first anniversary of the Shenandoah disaster when that craft buckled and cracked in Ohio. It brought to an end a night of un-announced on the part of those interested in the flight, the first inland voyage by a government airship since the ill fated flight of the Shenandoah.

"Shortly after leaving Dayton Thursday," said Lieutenant Gray, "we ran into a heavy electrical and rain storm. It was about 40 miles from Indianapolis. We encountered electrical disturbances all night and when we are in electrical storms we usually are worried. We were driven north of our course about 50 miles and hung over the Mississippi River until near dawn. We were not lost for we practically knew our bearing. The night was so black and dark we could not see ahead of us, but we knew we were not far from Scott Field. The cars are not enclosed and we became soaked."

The engine functioned perfectly throughout the night, Gray said, and he estimated they had run about 36 hours since the ship left its base at Langley Field on Wednesday. He said that rough weather was desired for the flight of the ship to prove its ability to withstand the elements. He accounted for the success of the flight to the fact that the TC-5 is shorter than the Shenandoah and of the non rigid type.

Another title, "My Country, strikes your eye, and your mind turns to patriotism. Then you read 'It is the nation's laugh hit.'"

They say Euripides' "Because," was played in Athens for five hundred years. It wouldn't play twice in New York unless George Cohen rewrote it and Shubert or Zeigfeld organized such a chorus of bacchantes as Dionysus never thought of.

Harry K. Thaw, who killed Stanford White, and has since attracted attention, writes an autobiography that cost him $25,000, a large price.

Mr. Thaw says his lawyer was a traitor, but doesn't name the lawyer. He had several. He says the lawyer was worse than Stanford White. And the night after he killed White he prayed that the latter might go to heaven. It would be interesting to know what memoranda the Angel Gabriel wrote on the margin of that prayer.

BIGAMY CASE HAS BEEN IN HANDS OF THE JURY TWENTY FOUR HOURS

Little Change in Religious Fight in Mexico City

Government Continues Enforce Law While Episcopate Prepares Petition for Congress

Mexico City, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The religious situation growing out of the putting into effect of the government religious regulations shows no prospect of an early settlement. The government continues to enforce the law and the Catholic Episcopate it is work putting the final touch to the petition it will make to Congress for relief from the regulations.

The appeal probably will be ready today or Saturday, but it has not been decided when or how to present it to Congress.

Whiskey Still Stolen From Grimesland Jail

Officer W. B. Paramore and other officers from Grimesland, in the past ten days have captured three whiskey stills in the Chicod Township and two in Parrot Township. None of the operators were caught.

Officer Paramore today brought four of the captured stills to the court house here, but the fifth he was unable to bring because it was stolen from him after its capture. According to the report the still was captured a week ago last Sunday night and put in the Grimesland jail for safe keeping until there was opportunity to bring it here. On the following Tuesday night someone broke into the jail and carried the still away.

Arkansas City to Become 'Ark City'

Arkansas City, Kan., Sept. 3.—(INS)—The people of this city near the line that separates Kansas from Oklahoma, are moving to change its name. A special committee of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce has been appointed to ascertain what will be necessary to change the name to 'Ark City.'

It is contended that much mail which should come here is hurriedly thrown by mail agents for Arkansas City, Arkansas. The chamber of commerce also finds in a survey that inhabitants of the city traveling to other states dislike to be classified as citizens of Arkansas, preferring to be known as Kansans. 'Ark City' they say, would prevent any embarrassment of this nature.

Arkansas City was established as a trading post for a large section of old Indian Territory 56 years ago. The town already has tried out four names. It was first known as Adelpia, then Walnut City, and later Creswell. When the Santa Fe Railway extended its Oklahoma and Texas line south from Wichita to this place, the present name, Arkansas City, was chosen. It was named for the Arkansas River which flows by the city, and not for the state of Arkansas, as many residents of other states believe.

Chicago, Sept. 3.—(AP)—The little brown jug which is the symbol of victory when Michigan and Minnesota meet at football is going to get an unwanted airing this fall.

For the first time in their history the two teams will meet each other twice in the same season, and both schools may have the unusual experience of possessing the fewer in the same season.

The situation arises from the inability of the Minnesota and Michigan teams to comply with the conference ruling that four conference games must be played. Neither team could get a fourth conference contest, so they agreed to meet each other twice, once at Ann Arbor Oct. 10 and again at Minneapolis Nov. 20.

Indiana and Northwestern were forced into the same sort of an agreement, and the Hoosiers will journey to Evanston Oct. 10, later playing host to the Wildcats at Bloomington, Oct. 3.

The situation is without modern parallel in a major conference.

No Word Or Hint From Jury As to Its Standing Since it Retired With Case Late Yesterday

At four o'clock this afternoon, 24 hours after Judge N. A. Sinclair gave the J. M. Mitchell bigamy case to the jury, no verdict in the case had been reached. While rumors as to the standing of the jury on the case have been flying thick and fast throughout last night and today, nothing definite has been heard from the jury room and not a time has there been an intimation as to what was taking place behind the closed doors. Last night hundreds of persons, eager to learn the outcome of the case, remained in the vicinity of the court house until announcement was made that the jurors had retired for the night.

The case was one of the hardest fought legal battles ever staged in the local court house and the prominence of the prosecuting witnesses has caused the case to attract unusual interest.

The case against Mitchell was the result of his marriage here on May 10, last, to Miss Ward Moore, of this city. Three days later Mitchell abandoned her in Henderson and it was learned that already he had a wife and family living in Greensboro. Mitchell's plea to the charge was that while in this city he was drunk or drugged and knew nothing of what had taken place. He testified he remained in his faculties while enroute to Henderson three days later and that upon arrival there he had met Mrs. Moore and proceeded to his home in Greensboro.

A large number of witnesses testified in the case and more than 100 days was consumed in the hearing.

AS N. Y. SEES IT

Chinatown no longer is the rendezvous for opium and gambling addicts. Scarcely is there a Tong Wat and with the authorities always on guard little trouble between the Chinese and white people arises. Loitering and conversation on the streets is forbidden.

This strip of territory occupies less than a square mile, but within its limits are to be found everything from local pasticcios to Joss Houses. Even the corner square has its bulletin board with the news happenings of the day.

The narrow dusty streets are filled with the odor of all kinds of vegetables piled high in the store windows and outside hung meats drying in the sunlight. This is a means of preservation, for these people will keep their supply anywhere from a week to six months providing the outer skin has not been broken.

Their jewelry shops are to be boasted of for on display are exquisite hand-carved gold rings, bracelets and other ornaments. Jade, a stone highly prized by the Chinese, also is on sale.

Few historic places remain that at one time gave Chinatown its intriguing and mysterious name. Only the bare outline of the gambling and opium den once patronized by Chuck Connors is to be seen. This place was a scene of splendor, the furnishings being carried out in gold and teakwood. Boarded up are underground passageways that led for blocks, enabling these people to flee from the authorities when warned of approaching danger.

A visit to the Joss House costs fifty cents, which is said to aid the high priest in paying $25,000 a year for the honor of holding this position. He is permitted to leave the building but once a year.

The altar of this temple is of carved gold and requires three genarations to complete. It is the same one on which Lillian Gish lay in one of the scenes in 'Broken Blossoms'.

In the wall is hung a huge bulletin board containing names of people who have died. This board serves as museum or tombstone. The Chinese do not believe in spending large sums of money for the erection of memorials. Instead, if a man is wealthy, a certain amount of his money is taken toward the support of his name on the board.

The milkman usually seen only at the backdoors of apartment houses and private homes, now includes steamships at New York piers in his delivery rounds. An enterprising New York dairy concern, observing that florists, fruit shops and candy shops have made a success of their catering specialties to steamer trade, has entered the same field and sets forth in glowing advertising terms how passengers departing from these shores would revel in a case of cream or Grade A milk. Delivery to the passenger's stateroom is part of the scheme.

No. 1 haven't been waiting long. Is the statement heard most often on the steps of the New York public library, at Forty-second st. and Fifth Ave. Watches are constantly flashing in and out of pockets; someone is always asking the time on these steps for they constitute the principal trysting places in New York.

Dutch Submarine Cruise World Get Special Data

San Francisco, Sept. 3.—(INS) The great Dutch Submarine K-XIII, now on a world cruise is perhaps the first craft of her type to ever sail around the world wholly in the interest of science. The submarine at the present time is in the Pacific ocean after a twelve days visit in San Francisco Bay. The arrived from Holland via the Panama Canal.

"Baron" Krupp

The purpose of the big under sea boat's voyage is to attempt to solve the riddle of the earth's construction, according to Dr. F. A. Venig Meinesz, distinguished Dutch geologist, the only civilian aboard the submarine.

"By means of special apparatus I am studying the force of gravity in various parts of the world," said the Doctor. "In the hope of determining the exact density of the earth's crust on land and sea."

Dr. Meinesz is also intensely interested in the study of earth quakes. During the stay of his submarine in San Francisco Bay the noted geologist secured considerable data concerning earth quake fault lines along the Pacific coast. He also made observations on the floor of San Francisco Bay.

The scientist explained his theory of the earth's construction as follows:

"We know that the American continent, like other continents, is on a floating equilibrium over a relatively soft, viscous stratum far below. On this expedition I have learned that the ocean floor is more rigid and that therefore it is not in a bloating equilibrium to the same extent.

"When these facts can be properly interpreted, it may be possible to explain the manner in which our continents have been formed. It may also be possible to solve the age old secret of the cause of earthquakes."

While in the Pacific the K-XIII scientist will take measurements with strange and delicate instruments, balances, weights and scales to secure the data he needs.

"It is the first time a submarine has ever been used in this work," the doctor said, "and our study of the play of forces of nature, the shift of waters and air, both under and above the ocean, may give us our first hint of the seat of origin of earthquakes."

According to Dr. Meinesz the K-XIII can stay under water four days at a time, special machinery having been devised to supply the crew the needed amount of oxygen while submerged.

The submarine is commanded by Captain L. G. L. Van de Kun. She will visit Honolulu, Guam and Java on her round the world cruise.

HOME COMING DAY
AT OLD ST. JOHN'S
SUNDAY, SEPT. 12th

Home Coming Day will be observed at Old St. John's Episcopal church, Pitt county, Sunday, September 12th, 1926. Rev. William E. Cox, a former rector and a native of the county, and now rector of the church of the Holy Comforter, Richmond, Va., will make the principal address of the occasion. Mr. George A. Johnson, of Ayden, will give the address of welcome, and the Rev. James E. W. Cook, of Greenville will make the response.

At this service an altar cross 30 inches high, will be dedicated to the memory of the late Polly Smith, who was an outstanding figure in educational and religious work in the St. John's community during the past generation. St. John's is the mother church of the Episcopal Mission, Grafton, and St. James' church, Ayden. Many of its former communicants are now leading members of St. Luke's, Winterville, St. Mary's, Kinston, and St. Paul's, Greenville. Regardless of the migration cityward, it is still the center of great activity, having almost one hundred and fifty in Sunday school. Many of its former members and its friends, are expected to return for these services.

A SPECIAL REQUEST
We have in today's paper a special notice that you are requested to read. It should appeal to every man, woman and child.

MISCELLANEOUS SHOWER
Thursday evening Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Collins were very much surprised upon the arrival of a group of their friends from Winterville, Ayden and this city. The crowd gathered at the home of Mrs. L. B. Tucker and went in a body to the home of Mrs. Collins.

Some very interesting games were played during which time two of the party slipped in the back way and placed the presents upon the dining room table. Mrs. Collins discovered the presents as she went to serve the refreshments. They were all very pretty and useful. Everyone enjoyed the unwrapping of the parcels.

A few more games were played and the guests departed after a very enjoyable evening.

ST. LUKE'S CHURCH
Next Sunday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock, the Rev. James E. W. Cook will preach at St. Luke's church, Winterville, and visitors and friends are heartily and cordially invited to attend.

Life Termer Is Ideal Prisoner
Raleigh, Sept. 3.—(AP)—Will Campbell has a life time in the prison before him, but he is making the best of it.

"Any situation is only as bad as you make it," he declared. "I was in the army seven years, and life in the State Prison isn't much different. In either case you can get along all right if you work with the people over you."

Campbell came to the prison four years ago from Buncombe county for murder. He was first sentenced to death but gained a reprieve that carried with life imprisonment when it was demonstrated that he was not mentally responsible at the time of his crime.

He killed a nurse while he was acting as police officer in Otwell hospital. The woman is said to have spurned him, and he slew her in a blind rage.

Now he is paying society for his aggression from its strict code—and because he is physically unable to pay the debt in the hard labor ordinarily exacted from state's prisoners, he is devoting his time to service of his fellow prisoners.

Visitors to the penitentiary find him either at work on the flower beds in the rear of the enclosure or behind the counter of a little store built under the back porch of the central prison building.

The store is a unique enterprise. It was started with the permission of Supt. George Ross Pou, when it developed that the life termer was suffering with disorders that made him unfit for routine prison duty.

Its stock is composed of a great

PENNSYLVANIA HAS MOVING LABORATORIES TO TEST DRINKING WATER

Harrisburg, Pa., Sept. 3.—INS.—The Pennsylvania State Department of Health today was completing an extensive survey designed for the purpose of safeguarding the health of tourists and visitors to the commonwealth.

Huge traveling laboratories, operated by the health department under the supervision of special staffs, have traveled every mile of the state's main highways during the summer testing public drinking water supplies for pollution.

Where pollution was found placards were posted warning the public of the danger in drinking the water.

Superintendent Pou said that Campbell's store was very popular and that he was one of the best prisoners he had. He said that his health was mending rapidly.

Most fail because they want success to come to them, while in reality you must climb and climb hard for success.

All highways leading to the has been analyzed free of cost and a complete report sent to the farmers.

Officials of the health department have declared that this system has been responsible for a great reduction in typhoid prevalence throughout the state during the summer.

WAR DEBTS AND WORLD COURT

(Richmond Times Dispatch) News concerning the attitude of the United States toward other powers and toward France in particular comes apiece.

Mr. Baker's views are not sound, unless they reflect such truth as may be found in the way's question: Is it better to cancel foreign debts or just keep on not collecting them?

In an effort to avoid congestion of our streets on that day, we urge every citizen of Greenville, to leave his or her automobile at home and walk to work that day unless it is absolutely necessary for them to have their car during the day to carry on their business.

Famous Battles for Heavyweight Title

Jim Jeffries, stopped Jim Corbett at Cony Island, May 11, 1900, the end of the fight being the 23rd round.

The former champion was much impressed by the force of the punch felling him. "I have no recollection of the blow," he was quoted as saying, "but it must have been a corker."

Jeffries took cognizance of the fact that he had been referred to as a horse.

"They say that I am a cart horse and all that sort of thing but none of them beat me," was his answer to this criticism. The champion also complained that "Corbett sprang a lot" admitting that he (Jeffries) could hit better than he could run.

Corbett came out of the affair with a good deal of credit. His showing drew a tribute from Referee George White. "He never fought better" was the arbiter's word of praise.

Intellectual War Thru Book Stores

London, Sept. 3.—(AP)—London's Socialist book store is to have an anti-Socialist competitor. Its slogan is "Back to Herbert Spencer," and its moving spirit is Sir Ernest Benn, the publisher. His associates in the enterprise include a ship owner, a Liverpool banker, a member of Parliament and an ironmaster.

"We shall certainly not stock Marx," Sir Ernest said, "but it is difficult to give offhand a list of sound thinkers."

Defining sound literature, Sir Ernest said, "it is literature which seeks to explain the present economic system and show how it works rather than advocate new systems."

"We shall sell the sound economic and social writers of an earlier generation before so many economists went off on the wrong track. Cannan is sound enough in the present generations, and so, I suppose, was Marshall, but we want to get back especially to Herbert Spencer. No doubt we shall go in to some extent like our Socialist rivals for a drama and poetry section, but the main purpose of our bookshop will be to organize individualists against the collectivist mania."

Rubber Production in United States Shows Big Increase

Washington, D. C., Sept. 3.—(AP)—An increase in the value of automobile tires and tubes, other rubber products produced in the United States, during 1925 of nearly one half over the value of the same product, in 1924 was reflected in a report issued by the United States Department of Commerce here today.

The total output last year was valued at $925,052,832 the report shows, an actual increase of 43.6 per cent over the $644,193,697 of 1924. No figures are available for 1924 as the census is on a biennial basis.

Of the total value of the products, $822,132,213 was made up from tires and tubes and the remaining $102,894,620 from miscellaneous products.

Production of automobile tires and tubes showed a marked increase over 1923 but tires for bicycles and motorcycles showed a corresponding decrease. Automobile and truck casings numbered 58,784,075 were produced in 1925, the report shows. Their value was placed at $656,491,733. This is in comparison with only 2,080,773 bicycle and motorcycle casings valued at $3,065,933.

The 77,387,836 automobile and truck tubes made in 1925 were valued at $118,234,655, while the 430,888 bicycle and motorcycle tubes represented a value of $396,394. The report also shows that despite the trend toward pneumatics, that 1,033,226 solid tires were made, representing a value of $1,990,499.

Of the 126 rubber establishments reporting there were 49 in North Carolina, 44 in Pennsylvania, and 11 each in New Jersey and Michigan. The remainder were scattered about in states from Georgia to California. The total number of establishments represented a decrease of 38 over 1923.

Text: "Chippewas Making Last Stand Before Tourist Invasion Danbury, Wis., Sept. 3.—(AP)—The last and final attack of their ancient enemies, the white pygmy, threatens to overwhelm a valiant handful of Chippewa Indians, named 'The Lost Band' which has hunted and fished on the headwaters of the St. Croix river for half a century or more. Their hunting grounds are being usurped by peaceful tourists and summer resorters from Minnesota, Wisconsin and Nebraska and the Indians numbering 250 adults and their children are practically without a home. After their refusal a half century ago to settle on the shore of Court Oreilles, with several other tribes, which had been allotted land on the lake, the band wandered through the country around the headwaters of the St. Croix river hunting and fishing for a living. Having a strong tribal organization and distinct traditions, these Chippewas asked for a reservation of their own, apart from other tribes. Being refused this, they appropriated the whole region for their use. Their wandering habits caused the name 'The Lost Band' to be attached to them. Since the Civil War they have been moving around the territory which on early maps was named Moskeeto County, because of the dense swarms of mosquitos lurking in and around the lakes and swamps. Of late years tourists and summer resorters have been buying the lake frontage and land along the St. Croix river, and the Lost Band is becoming restricted to less desirable camping grounds. Where once they were free to roam the forests and plains of all parts of the territory, they are no longer welcome in many of the settled portions. At a Victory celebration in 1919, chiefs of the tribe petitioned the late Governor Emanuel L. Philipp for a reservation of their own. The governor who attended the celebration listened to their plea and took some steps to furnish them with lands. The project was never completed however, and the band is yearly becoming pressed for hunting grounds. They are practically unable to take up agriculture, having no permanent lands. By notified to file their claims with me, duly verified and itemized, within twelve (12) months from this date, or this notice will be pleaded at the bar thereof. This the 2nd day of August, 1926.
