CHANNEL RECORD SHATTERED

PARIS BAKER SWIMS ENGLISH CHANNEL IN 11 HOUR 5 MINUTES

Record Time for Channel Swim Broken Today by French Swimmer After Nine Failures

Deal, England, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The English Channel swimming record fell today for the third time this season. Georges Michael, 36 year old Paris baker, making his tenth attempt, landed at St. Margaret's Bay at 7:31 o'clock this morning from Cape Gris Nez, France, where he entered the water at 8:20 o'clock last night. His record of 11 hours five minutes is one hour and 38 minutes better than that established on August 20 by Ernest Viercotter of Germany.

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Mail loot estimated at from $150,000 to $500,000 was seized aboard east bound Grand Trunk train number 10 today by three of a band of four robbers, who escaped at the south western suburb of Evergreen Park without a shot. The robbery was done so quickly that the robbers fled in an automobile before the alarm was spread.

TEACHERS TO OPEN SCHOOL ALTHOUGH PAY IS UNCERTAIN

Stanley McCormick School to Operate Pending Hearing of Case in the Supreme Court

Burnsville, N. C., Sept. 10.—(AP)—Despite uncertainty as to whether they will receive any salaries, eight teachers of Stanley McCormick school have returned, and the institution will reopen next Monday, the director LeRoy S. Jackson, announced today. The teachers have indicated their willingness to take a chance on receiving their salaries. The Yancey County Commissioners have attempted to buy the school, the future of which has been in doubt since the end of the last term. The commissioners, however, have been restrained by an injunction obtained by taxpayers. The case has been appealed and is expected to be heard by the Supreme Court in October.

The school was supported for years by Mrs. Cyrus H. McCormick, of Chicago, widow of the inventor of the harvesting machine as a memorial to her son Stanley, and as a means of educating mountain youths. Since Mrs. McCormick's death her heirs have indicated they would turn the institution over to the Presbyterian church, but no record of a transfer has been received here.

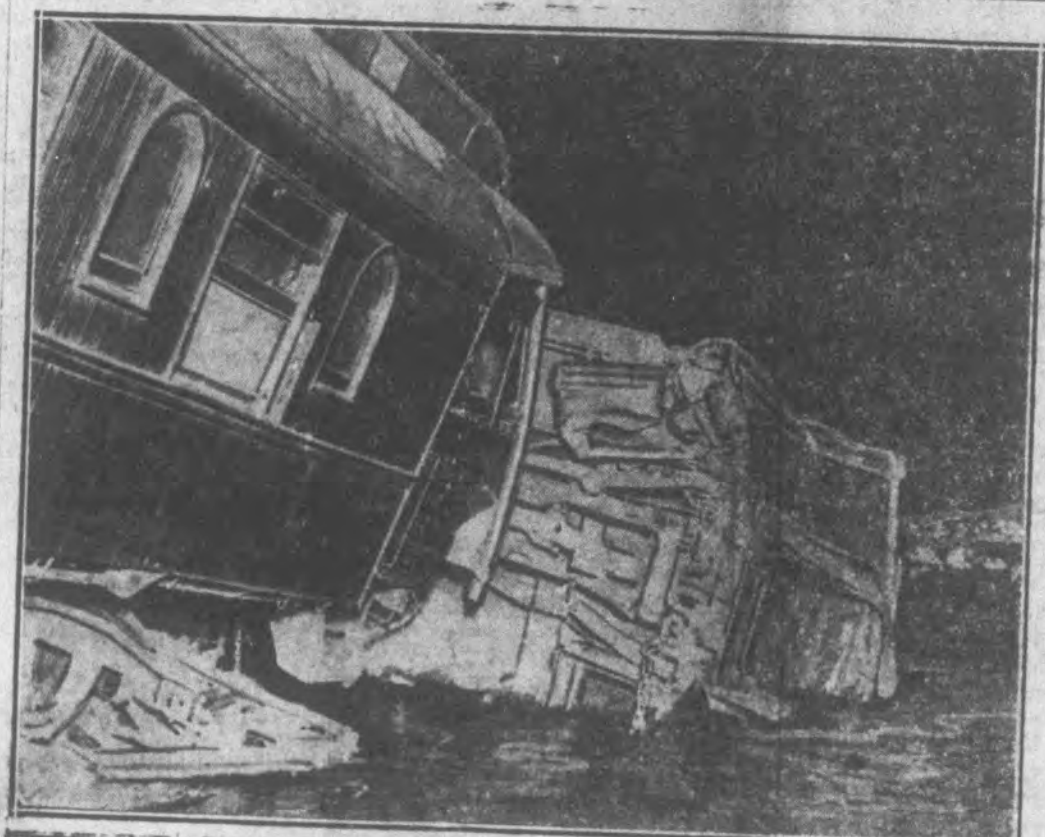

Fire Damages Cleaning Plant

About eight o'clock last night fire damaged the cleaning room of Bennett's Cleaning and Dye Works here. The cleaning room was to the rear of and separated from the remainder of the plant and there was no damage other than in the cleaning room. Mr. Ricks, manager of the establishment, stated today that the exact damage had not yet been ascertained but that it was not serious enough to prevent operation of the plant today.

FUNERAL SERVICES CONVICTS HIRED W. N. POINDEXTER WORK IN QUARRY THIS AFTERNOON

Funeral services for William N. Poindexter, Jr., who died in a Durham hospital yesterday as a result of injuries received in an automobile accident Tuesday night, were conducted in Jarvis Memorial Methodist church this afternoon. Interment followed in Cherry Hill Cemetery.

The remains arrived in this city about noon today and were carried to the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Arthur, parents of Mrs. Poindexter. Owing to the late arrival of relatives and friends this afternoon, the list of pall bearers and full details as to funeral arrangements were not available for today's paper.

Mr. Poindexter, who was well known in this city, was the son of Mr. and Mrs. W. N. Poindexter, Sr., of Wauhaugton, near Winston-Salem. He was a graduate of the University of North Carolina and a member of the A. T. C. fraternity. At the time of his death, the deceased was vice-president of the Walkertown Chair Manufacturing Company. In addition to his parents, he is survived by his widow, formerly Miss Nancy Arthur, of this city; an infant daughter; a sister, Mrs. Frank Hanes, and a brother, N. S. Poindexter, of Wauhaugton.

MECKLENBURG COUNTY FATENS PRISONERS

Charlotte, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Lodgers at Mecklenburg's county jail may kick against the State Board of Health for foisting night shirts on them but they haven't any visible complaint about the food, Jailer Crumshaw declares. Seldom does a prisoner in the Mecklenburg jail get by without putting on a few extra pounds of flesh, the jailer avers. "Steady meals, sane hours and no dissipation does the work," he said, adding that the prisoners get corn meal in the morning and beans at night and from 10 to 12 hours of sleep.

SAYS LIQUOR WON GEORGIA PRIMARY

Atlanta, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Charging that "big liquor interests" in Baltimore, New York and New Jersey had spent more than $100,000 in the district to defeat him, W. D. Upshaw, defeated in the Democratic primary for re-nomination by L. J. Steele, said today he probably would ask a recount of the votes in Campbell county before conceding defeat.

TOBACCO PRICES ARE STILL ABOVE 25 CT. AVERAGE

Greenville Market Yesterday Sold 833,204 Pounds at $25.46 Per Hundred

Prices on the Greenville Tobacco Market continued to hold up today and with about 800,000 pounds of tobacco offered, all sales will be completed before this closing hour this afternoon. The market on yesterday sold 833,204 pounds for $212,159.48, an average of $25.46 per hundred pounds.

While definite figures on the week's sales will not be available before tomorrow, it is estimated that the market has sold close to three million pounds since the opening, at an average of more than 25 cents per pound. Growers continue to express satisfaction at the prices they are receiving for their product.

MERTON ON STAND COUNTY MEDICAL ASSOCIATION MET HERE LAST NIGHT

New York, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Richard Merton, German metal magnate, testified today that it was he who suggested paying the late John T. King "something" for his aid in obtaining the return to alleged German owners of $7,000,000 realized from the sale of American Metal's Company stock during the war.

Merton is the government's star witness in the trial of Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General and T. M. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian for conspiracy to defraud the United States in the transfer of the $7,000,000. John T. King, who died soon after the first indictment in the case, was returned, is alleged by the government to have "pulled the strings" in the deal.

Merton said that under the terms of an agreement, he finally reached with King in July 1921 he was to pay the latter 5 per cent of the amount of assets recovered. The transaction was completed before August 15, 1921. If the transaction was not completed before September 15, Merton said, he was to pay King 2 1/2 per cent of the amount recovered. In addition, he testified he agreed to pay King $50,000 in cash and shortly thereafter gave King his check for that amount drawn on the Chase National Bank. Merton said he had not seen the cancelled check but he knew it had been cashed.

Mosquitoes Take Roanoke Island

Elizabeth City, Sept. 10.—(AP)—"Mosquitoes four times as thick as bees, ravenous as tigers, and some so big that they were turning gray," were reported as swarming on Roanoke Island by the millions last week by Walter Swain of this city, who has just returned from a business trip to the island.

Upshaw Says $100,000 Spent by Liquor Interests Defeated Him for Office

Atlanta, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Charging that "big liquor interests" in Baltimore, New York and New Jersey had spent more than $100,000 in the district to defeat him, W. D. Upshaw, defeated in the Democratic primary for re-nomination by L. J. Steele, said today he probably would ask a recount of the votes in Campbell county before conceding defeat.

Belonging of the actual transfer of the $7,000,000 Merton testified that at a campaign dinner in a private room at the Ritz Carlton Hotel in this city Miller handed him two checks totaling about $7,000,000. He could not fix the date of the dinner. The government alleges it took place September 20, 1921.

GERMAN DELEGATES IN LEAGUE MEETING FIRST TIME TODAY

Outbursts of Applause Greet Delegates As They Take Their Seats in Historic Hall

Geneva, Sept. 10.—(AP)—The first assembly of the League of Nations with a German delegation present, began this morning before an audience which jammed the historic hall. The German delegates were kept busy shaking hands with the other delegates up to the moment the assembly opened. Proceedings were started by Senor Augero, of Cuba, who presented the credentials of the German delegates. They were then admitted to membership.

The Germans, headed by Dr. Stresemann, walked to their seats amid the applause of all the other delegates, many of whom were standing. Camera clicked furiously for a moment, and then President Ninichitch began his address of welcome. He said the entrance of Germany marked a new stage in the universality of the League and it was a happy augury for a pacific future for a continent, terribly afflicted by war.

Dr. Stresemann then took the rostrum and redoubled applause and began his address in a clear but distinct German. It was the first time any League of Nations orator had used that language. The delegates accorded him silence which was broken only by scattered bursts of applause.

Dr. Stresemann emphasized the importance of economic understanding among nations, saying the old order of things had passed and the new economic life needed new forms of international cooperation which would give less importance to national boundaries. Recalling that the disarmament of Germany stipulated in the treaty of Versailles, was proclaimed there as the precursor of general disarmaments, he voiced the hope that an advance would be made in that direction; thus affording proof that positive constructive forces existed in the League. He appealed to Spain not to leave the League.

Foreign Minister Briand, of France, next welcomed Germany to the League. He said constructive steps had been taken toward a new international understanding. When men talk of harnessing the electron it should be remembered that Providence does not allow trees to grow into the heavens, or permit conquering man to move up too rapidly. Air, water, the earth, nature gives to us free, and the sun's light and heat. We must work for everything else.

Science will discover and use other new forces before unlocking the power of the atom, and extracting from a copper cent enough to drive an express train across the continent. You read that an automobile engine had been made to run with explosive power of dust from a grain elevator, instead of gasoline. Messrs. Noel and Heilbach, Department of Agriculture engineers, showed that ordinary dust might be used to create an explosive force greater than that of gasoline.

AUSTRIAN CHURCHES SELL ART TREASURES TO EXIST

Vienna, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Most of the churches and monasteries of Austria are being supported by the sale of their treasures. Particularly in the country districts the people are unable to support their parishes as before the war and large sums are needed to repair the buildings, which in most cases have not been touched for a decade.

The Bishopric of Mattsee is now offering its greatest treasure the original volume of the "Annals of Ferdinand" for sale. The book contains an account of the private and political life of the Hapsburg Ferdinand II from 1615 to 1637 and is the most authentic history of the events leading up to the Thirty Years War. The money obtained by the Monks of the Monastery at Melk for the famous Guttenberg Bible sold to an American, already is being spent on repairing the old church and buildings. Don't depend upon the bars in the jail windows to keep you out. Lakeland Ledger.

BIGGEST COTTON YIELD IN HISTORY STATE THIS YEAR

Estimate State Will Make 1,137,000
Bales As Compared
With 1,102,000 Last Year

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Although the estimated yield of cotton in North Carolina dropped from 73 to 69 per cent between the reports of August 16 and the one just made public by the Co-operative Crop Reporting Service of the N. C. and U. S. Departments of Agriculture, it still appears probable that North Carolina will make more cotton this year than it ever has before.

The crop of 1,102,000 bales last year holds the previous record, according to agricultural department figures, but this year the state will produce 1,137,000 if the September estimate runs true to form. The estimate is based on a per acre lint yield of 267 pounds, or 69 per cent of a normal full crop condition.

The September report indicates that conditions from the start were quite variable this year, but that they have been favorable to the crop. On September 1 the stands appeared 80 per cent normal, the plant growth from two to three weeks late, and picking ten to twelve days later than last year. During July and August the very dry periods caused considerable shedding.

Freedom from the boll weevil until late in August was balanced in some sections by visitation from the cotton flea (hopper). The total damage from this pest is the worst on record and appeared most severe in the southwestern part of the state.

The extent of the weevil damage cannot be fully determined until October 1, but if the season continues favorable for this pest, a sharp drop in the forecasted production may be expected before the final harvest, the report states.

Only one per cent acreage abandonment has been shown since June 25th, leaving 2,036,000 acres for harvest.

Ginnings in North Carolina to September 1 were 111,000 bales, according to the report of the Federal department of agriculture.

North Carolina stood fifth among the sixteen cotton producing states this year according to the September 1st estimate which represents a rise from seventh place last year. Texas stood first on September 1, with 5,000,000 bales and Oklahoma next with 1,500,000.

The total estimated production for the United States on September 1 was 15,166,000 bales, or 59.6 per cent of normal.

LONDON ZOO'S NEW BABY ONLY WEIGHS 112 POUNDS

London, Sept. 9.—(INS)—The birth of a 112 pound baby to Bobbie and Joan, the hippopotami at the London Zoological Gardens, was the occasion for the great rejoicing. Inasmuch as the last hippopotamus born in captivity at the Gardens was as far back as 1923.

Close guard is being kept on Joan and the new arrival, keepers stating that if the mother is disturbed she will in all probability eat her offspring.

Cops Catch Hornets Instead of Liquor

Burlington, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Patrolman Boyd Trollinger and Currie Murrie, of the local blue-coat force, will be more careful in the future about looking under things for hidden booze.

Last time they did look they took to their heels.

A phone message came into headquarters, the officers declared, imploring them to hurry out to an old rubbish pile and capture some hidden whiskey.

They hotfooted it just as directed. The rubbish pile was there; and in it a big galvanized drum, just right for concealing a load of contraband.

The officers turned it over—and hotfooted it back to the open spaces.

The "liquor" proved to be a swarm of wild hornets, who lost no time in taking advantage of the opportunity to escape when the galvanized top was overturned.

California's Prison Workers Save 'Nest Egg' Out of Pay

Sacramento, Sept. 10.—(INS)—How much can a man save whose maximum net earnings are 75 cents per day?

What should his monthly allowance for new clothing and luxuries total?

Is there honor among thieves, and if so, why?

Ben H. Milliken, superintendent of California's prison in building men and roads, answered these and many related questions in a report detailing the results of a three-year experiment in state prison road camps under the convict pay law.

Though limited to maximum earnings of 75 cents per day, California's prison road workers have established thrift records seldom surpassed by free men, according to Milliken.

Taken in the aggregate, they have accumulated savings in the three-year period of more than $125,000, or an average of $85 per man released. The per capita saving, said Milliken, is unusually high in view of the fact that the average prisoner stays in the road camp only a little over ten months.

Fred A. Grace, the state's thirteenth prison road builder, now has a credit balance of $500, the camp superintendent declared, representing the savings of two years and eight months. Grace, who is serving a 15-year term for robbery, has allotted two-thirds of his earnings to dependents. The balance he is holding in reserve as a 'stake' to aid him in starting the climb back to honest citizenship following his release. Maximum gross earnings of the prison highway workers total about $65 per month, varying slightly according to the number of days worked. From this sum must be deducted board, averaging about $27 per man, general camp costs, purchases of clothing and luxuries, salaries of guards, medical bills and other incidentals. State law limits his net earnings to 75 cents daily, even though a convict may save more than this sum from his gross earnings. Commissary withdrawals, representing purchases of clothing, tobacco and other small luxuries, afford the best index to the prisoners' thrift records, Milliken asserted. They average less than 80 per cent for each man.

For the month just ended, three convicts tied for the lowest commissary expenditures with a charge of 2 cents each. The highest was $1.83, representing the account of a man who purchased his winter supply of clothing. Superintendent Milliken is a firm believer in old adage that there's honor among thieves, at least among those serving their sentences in the road camps. Though 60 per cent of the men confined in the prison highway camps are serving terms for burglary or robbery, there has not been a single man charged with theft in the past three years, Milliken reported. Furthermore, personal belongings of the convicts are left in their quarters and are open to theft at any time.

GOING FORWARD

The opening of the Greenville schools yesterday with the largest enrollment in its history, is indication that this community each year is taking more interest in the education of the children. Not only was there an increase over last year's enrollment in the beginners grades, but in the high school as well, which shows that the young folks, too, are more interested in their future, and realize the advantages of an education. Always there has been a tendency on the part of pupils to drop out of school during the high school years but the increasing numbers in the graduating class of the city schools for the few years just passed shows that each year a larger percentage of the pupils are really completing their course and that we are gradually getting away from the evil of children dropping out of school before they have gained the knowledge absolutely necessary if they are to make good in future years. The Greenville schools are outstanding among those of the entire state and the record being attained here is one of which the citizens should be proud.

WHY NOT PITT COUNTY?

While various sections of the state are giving thanks for the bountiful crops, we would like to ask, "Why not such a celebration in Pitt county?" No section in the state has more to be thankful for this season than has our own county, and it is fitting that we should set aside a day in the near future when all our citizens should gather together to offer thanks to God for his goodness to us. It is true that the last Thursday in November is always known as Thanksgiving Day, but as a rule, in our section this day has proved a holiday for sport and recreation instead of one of real thanksgiving. Of ourselves, we are nothing and can accomplish nothing. What we have comes to us through the goodness of God and while we are enjoying the prosperity He has showered upon us it is fitting that we should halt in our activities long enough to give credit where credit is due, and fall on our knees in prayers of thanks to Him for what He has given us.

PRESS COMMENT

THE PRESS IS THE GOAT AGAIN

(New York World)
Within the last few days we have had another clear cut instance of the harm that can be done by a President's loose talking, and yesterday's despatches from White Pine Camp show Mr. Coolidge painfully aware of it. This is what happened:
On Friday, Mr. Coolidge talked to the newspaper correspondents about armaments. It is clear that he said something about armaments abroad and armaments at home, but just what it was, nobody knows. For Mr. Coolidge talked on Friday as he always talks to a newspaper correspondent: casually, "unofficially," haphazardly, not for direct quotation, plainly thinking up things on the spur of the moment, letting them hang in mid air and leaving the door wide open for anybody's and everybody's own pet emphasis.

On Saturday reports of this conference were published in the press. In the case of the chief Administration paper in New York, Mr. Coolidge's comments of the day before seemed sensational enough to warrant a three-column headline: "President Warns Europe to Cut Arms or See U. S. Build Biggest Air Fleet." We were told that the President had "served notice on the world." We were told that "while softly worded, the views of the President as set forth officially were regarded as the most vigorous move in international affairs that he has made since entering the White House."

Apparently much the same news was cabled to Europe. For on the following day, Sunday, the correspondents abroad began cabling home word of the consternation which Mr. Coolidge's softly worded threat had caused in Paris. "French political circles," said the news columns of the same Administration paper, had "reacted vigorously" to the President's sudden warning. His remarks had been received abroad "with considerable astonishment and regret." To Paris they seem clearly to carry "a critical ultimatum," an open threat to Europe to disarm or fight it out with the United States for the "Biggest Air Fleet" ever.

In due course reports of this reaction on the Continent were printed in the newspapers on the following morning, Monday. Whereupon Mr. Coolidge, clucking with indignation, gathered the correspondents around him at White Pine Camp (holiday or no holiday) and disowned this story which was plainly making mischief on the other side of the Atlantic. And as the final chapter of the incident, yesterday morning's papers carried news of this disowning process, scolding the news of the previous Friday as so false and disrespectful as to be well nigh blasphemous. According to yesterday's newspapers the President was simply amazed at the interpretation placed upon his crystal clear remarks. "He thought he had made it plain that his policy was the exact antithesis of that cabled to Europe."

So the wheels of the Presidential train of thought are put back on the track and nobody is the worse for this wheel-end of misunderstanding, except, of course, the entire United States, which is now being billed from one end of Europe to the other as about to build the world's biggest air fleet with the sudden grand idea of bullying Europe to reduce her armies.

Poor Mr. Coolidge. He talks and talks and talks and talks, supplying the correspondents (we were informed only last Sunday) with 1,609,739 words of news in sixty two days at White Pine Camp, and yet the correspondents played the trick on him!

The worst of it is, Mr. Coolidge has no recourse, no way of preventing these pitiful abuses of his confidence until he does something which he distinctly does not wish to do—namely, say what he has to say in his own words over his own name; or else keep still about it.

She Bared Her Soul!

To the man whose kindly tolerance and sympathy have put thousands back on the road to happiness

AND she was but one of hundreds who have done the same—told secrets she would not tell her mother—or perhaps her husband—but in the confessional of the Judge's chambers she revealed all. Her story and the stories of scores of others—men as well as women—are now being retold for society's good by Judge Ben B. Lindsey in the most candid and startling series of articles ever published in any magazine. Reasoning from the stories of real life told him in court day after day, Judge Lindsey has reached certain conclusions, and now he boldly asks: "Is a new code of sex morals being created?" It is a startling question—but a question that has heretofore existed unasked in the minds of all intelligent men and women; and it is no more startling than the evidence that Judge Lindsey offers in his great series of articles under the title: "The Moral Revolt."

Mrs. Philip Lydig Reveals Secrets of New York Society

ALMOST since girlhood beautiful Mrs. Philip Lydig has been an unquestioned leader of New York's ultra-smart society. Now for the first time Mrs. Lydig proceeds to turn the spot-light on that society—telling in great detail why she finds it futile, false and corrupt. The statements she makes will astonish you—story after story of tragedies heretofore never publicly disclosed. If chronicles of the real lives of the prominently fashionable—heretofore known only to those on the inside of that group—are of interest to you, then you must read Mrs. Lydig's revealing article, "Marriage Without Love." In these two remarkable series—the one by Mrs.

Lydig, the other by Judge Lindsey—The Red Book Magazine for October inaugurates its new plan of adding the drama of Fact to the drama of Fiction—which latter is expressed by Rupert Hughes in his splendid novel, "We Live But Once," and by these other distinguished novelists and story-writers: Ruth Comfort Mitchell, James Francis Dwyer, Struthers Burt, Samuel Merwin, Leroy Scott, Thyra Samter Winslow, Robert Benchley, Wm. H. Osborne, Arthur K. Akers and Michael J. Phillips.

Mrs. Philip Lydig—the first wife of the late W. E. D. Stokes, a New York social leader for years, and dominant through her mother of the Spanish Duke d'Alba.

Government of New York Costs $50.27 a Head

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Payments for the maintenance and operation of the general departments of the largest city in the world last year amounted to $30.27 per capita, according to the U. S. Department of Commerce figures, on the administration of the city of New York received here today.

The figures disclosed that the total current expense bill for running New York City during 1925 was $295,464,720, which represents a steady increase over previous years. In 1924 the per capita cost of running the city was $47.72 and for 1917 $25.64.

Adding public service expenses and permanent improvement outlays the total disbursements for 1925 reached $523,756,518, but the last two items were largely balanced by receipts from public utilities and bonded debt funds.

The total revenue receipts of New York for 1925 touched $464,535,361, or $79.04 per capita. This represented $69,221,157 less than total payments. Payments in excess of revenue were met with debt obligations.

Property taxes represented 67.3 per cent of the total revenue for 1925, representing a fall from 68.2 in 1924 and 73.1 per cent in 1917. Per capita property taxes amounted to $58.23 in 1925, $50.24 in 1924, and $32.86 in 1917.

Earnings of city operated public utilities dropped from 9.1 per cent in 1917 to 7.1 per cent of the total revenue in 1925.

Net indebtedness of New York City on December 31, 1925, was $1,250,438,056 or $212.78 per capita. This is the indebtedness funded or fixed debt less sinking fund assets.

The assessed valuation of property in New York subject to ad valorem taxes amounted to $12,944,481,493. The levy for all purposes for 1925 was $327,951,681.

Does Not Think Prisoners Make Good Dairymen

Raleigh, Sept. 10.—(AP)—Governor McLean, for all his enthusiasm over the progress of the dairy industry in North Carolina, has vetoed the proposal that one of the state prison farms be converted into a dairy farm.

"It requires intelligence to operate a dairying industry," the Governor emphasized, "and 95 per cent of the state prisoners are totally unfit for it."

He said that it might be possible to entrust dairy farms to prisoners in some of the northern or western states, because of the higher mentality and training of the majority of the inmates of those prisons, but regarded it as extremely impractical to attempt anything more complex than raising cotton with convicts in North Carolina as long as their number is made up so largely of negroes and untrained white men.

The Governor, however, is doing all in his power to push the dairying industry outside the prison walls.

He is scheduled to go to Alamance county Friday and deliver a speech at a farmer's picnic where dairying will be the principal topic under discussion. He stated that he had prepared no speech for the occasion, but would speak on the promotion of the industry in the state, and tell of some of his observations of the dairying industry in Wisconsin, where he spent his vacation.

Charley White Feels Lure of Ring; May Seek Comeback

Chicago, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Charley White, veteran pugilist, sees in the present run of box fighters a lot of money makers he can still lick, and just to satisfy himself that his beliefs are not ill founded, he has donned his gloves in earnest pursuit of his old ability, working tirelessly in his own gymnasium in anticipation of a successful comeback.

White retired about the same time Benny Leonard turned over his title in exchange for a mother's love and a stage "career." Not unlike Leonard, White had laid aside quite a bundle of green backs and returned to Chicago, his home town, free and independent financially.

He gave up his gloves, but he could not shake an overwhelming desire to square off in the rosin and punch for a few more dollars, although he had been quite successful in confining his pugilistic endeavors to rooting during the few years subsequent to his retirement.

The revival of boxing in Illinois brought White in closer contact with his old profession and while watching a couple of preliminary boys mix in a recent card, he voiced his intentions of condescending to his desires.

"I know I have never broken training," Charley confided, "and I am in perfect condition physically. The only thing that worries me is my boxing skill. But I can soon find out about that."

"I'll take a couple of good boys on and see what I've got. If there's anything left, count me in."

Mrs. White, according to Charley, would not be a party to the comeback. Evidently she has other plans for her husband, who once stepped along in pretty fast company in the squared circle. "I don't know what Mrs. White will say when she hears of my plan, the old favorite mused, "but I think I can arrange things to take part in one more good battle."

Leonard might change his mind about limiting his fighting experience to newspapers reports of present day engagements after White stages 1 1/2 successful comebacks if he ever does, despite recent articles by the former champion which set forth a final decision to quit cold.

Should White and Leonard clash back in corners, there ought to be some entertainment, if not some good action, for the old timer, who now bemoans the days when fighting was more than drill in gymnastics between a couple of handsome athletes.

QUEEN BUYS CHOCOLATES AT LITTLE CANDY STORE

Windsor, Eng., Sept. 9.—(INS)—A tiny bow window, framed in blue curtains, a quaint iron foot-scraper, and one of the smallest doorways in England, over which swings a sign stating that the occupant holds the Royal Warrant to supply chocolates—such is the shop where Queen Mary buys her chocolates.

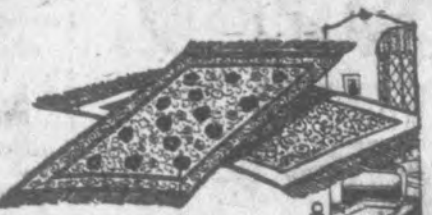

The owners of this quaint shop, with its shelves banked with old-fashioned China and rows of chocolates, are the Misses Henrietta and Caroline Cameron. They have been established in Windsor close on thirty years, and whenever the queen is in residence at Windsor Castle she always pays a visit to their tiny store.

Miss Caroline makes the chocolates, and Miss Henrietta looks after the business. A commentary on the excellence of their wares is the fact that when the Prince of Wales went on his recent world tours he had their chocolates sent out to him.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Honolulu, Sept. 10.—(INS)—Forty years' service among the leper folk of Molokai, and at the ripe age of 84 looking forward to perhaps a decade more of the good work—such is the proud record of Brother Joseph Dutton, Roman Catholic priest and sage of the little settlement of Kalawao.

During all this time, Brother Dutton has never once set foot outside the district of Kalaupapa, which lies at the base of the steep windward cliffs of Molokai, separating the leper settlement from the rest of the island. Only a few times, indeed, has he left even the little hamlet of Kalawao and the Baldwin Home where he and a half dozen assistants minister to the wants of some fifty young men and boys.

Born as Ira Dutton, in Stowe, Vermont, but reared in Janesville, Wis., he became a captain in the Union Army during the Civil War and was on the staff of General Grainger. Following this, he served for a number of years as a civil appointee in the war department.

Finally, in 1883, feeling as he expressed it, that he should do penance for what he had begun to feel was 'too much gaiety in youth,' he began a long retreat with the 'Silent Brotherhood' (Trappist Monks) at Gethsemane, Kentucky, 'to determine his stability in the new endeavor.'

Hearing of the settlement for lepers at Molokai, there came to him the strong desire to spend there the rest of his years. He went to Notre Dame, Indiana, to learn more about Molokai; came by emigrant train to San Francisco and thence by the barentine Eureka to Honolulu.

On the occasion of his 79th birthday, Brother Joseph wrote: 'I have had great pleasure for all these years in abiding amongst suitable duties and amiable comrades, and am now a happy youngster of 75. If the Good Lord permits me to reach the close of 80 years, how symmetrical—40 years going into the pit, and 40 years climbing out. May God's Will be done.'

Experiments begun in front of the new Royal Hawaiian hotel at Waikiki in restoring large quantities of sand to that famous beach have been so successful that the work will be taken up by the Engineer's Association and the Chamber of Commerce of this city.

In former years, a wide sand beach stretched along Kaikiki from Diamond Head almost to the business section of the waterfront, a distance of about five miles. Then certain property owners along the beach conceived the idea of building vertical retaining walls on the seaward side of their lots.

The effect of these walls was to start the undermining of adjacent property, with the result that these owners would in turn build walls to protect themselves and finally much of the natural sand deposit was washed out to sea.

The experiments in front of the new hotel were made with temporary wooden groins set at an angle from the beach line to determine if the sand which had been washed away could be recovered. The results have amply demonstrated that it can be, for in front of the Moana hotel, the Outrigger Club and the Royal Hawaiian hotel, a wide sandy beach has again been built up and the coral which for merly made swimming uncomfortable a little way off shore has been entirely covered with sand.

The Chamber of Commerce plans to request the next legislature for an appropriation to continue the work along the beach.

Although more than three months have passed since the giant flow of lava swept down Mauna Loa mountain, burying the little village of Hoopulua, the water where the flow entered the sea is still warm. In some of the small protected arms of the sea the water is so hot that it is unbearable to the touch. Commenting on these facts, scientists at the volcano of Kilauea say that the continued heat in the great mass is probably the result of chemical action rather than slow cooling. They point out that some cracks in the Mauna Iki lava flow that poured into the Kau desert island of Hawaii, in 1920 are still hot enough to ignite sticks of wood and that slow cooling could hardly account for heat retention for this length of time.

GORMAN'S MARKET REPORT

Our new house was filled on opening day. The market sold opening day eight hundred thousand pounds, averaging around twenty-six cents. Our house sold that day two hundred and one thousand pounds of this, averaging $26.98 for all we sold. We sold the balance, seventy-eight thousand, Wednesday. Our average for this sale was about the same as first day.

Thursday we were nearly filled again, but finished all on floor by 4:30 p. m., selling for the day 216,464 pounds, averaging 26c. In all of these sales we have had a quantity of the very common black primings and black dead tips. These grades have no friends and sell very low which reduces our average. Handle your tobacco dry, as with the quantity of tobacco the buyers are buying, they will not buy the wet tobacco at its dry value. Also get the dead, black and green leaves to themselves; many throw these with their commoner grade and cause this grade to sell for four or five cents per pound less than if the dead, black and green had been thrown out. We have not yet sold any barns of leaf yet we have sold quite a quantity of tobacco from fifty to sixty-five. We do not advise our customers to sell the fine tobacco yet. Wait until after the first of October. Prices of the better grades will be as good as last year. Grade and sell your primings, and then go on your tips. Send them to GORMAN'S and you will get the top of the market. Recollect our satisfied customers are what we drum with, and that we have no paid Neighborhood Drummers and do not pay truckers for hauling. Follow the arrows to GORMAN'S New Warehouse. We protect you.
