Confederate Vet On First Visit Here Since War

Mr. J. A. Honeycutt, who lives in Wayne county near the Johnston line, was on the Greenville Tobacco Market yesterday. He told numbers who talked with him that yesterday was his first visit to Greenville since the Sixties when he served under General Robert E. Lee. Mr. Honeycutt stated that in 1864, while a member of Kirkman's Brigade he came through Greenville under General Lee. At that time, he said, Greenville was little more than a spot in the road compared to its size today and he expressed astonishment at the rapid growth and progress that has been made here.

The vessel was proceeding under her own steam but officers doubted if she would make port, the government wireless station at St. Augustine reported.

Ships in vicinity please stand by for S. S. New Britain. We might need assistance before the Senator reaches us about noon."

ATTACKS OFFICER ATLANTA SCHOOLS WHO TRIES TAKE HIM TO GALLOWS

Prison Officials Compelled to Subdue Prisoner With Tear Gas Before They Can Hang Him

Butte, Montana, Oct. 1.—(AP)—After a desperate attack upon officers with a three foot length of pipe and a crudely made knife, Tony Vetter, condemned to be hanged here today was driven into a corner by officers and subdued by the use of tear gas. He was hanged at 12:23 this morning. When Sheriff B. O. Robinson, entered Vetter's cell to lead him out to hear the death warrant read and execute him for the execution Vetter produced a piece of pipe from the bed clothing on his cot and leaped upon the officer. Robinson recoiled from the cell narrowly escaping the piece of pipe hurled at him. Vetter then pursued him down the corridor adding to his weapons a knife made from a jail spoon which he carried concealed in his clothing. Other officers came to the aid of Robinson with two tanks of tear gas and driving Vetter back into his cell used the gas for 15 minutes until the man was overcome. A deputy then carried him to the gallows and he was pronounced dead six minutes after the trap was sprung.

FEDERAL RESERVE REPORT INDICATES BETTER BUSINESS

Richmond, Va., Oct. 1.—(AP)—Substantial improvement in prospect for business in the south during the remainder of the year appeared to have developed during August, according to the monthly report on business and agricultural conditions issued by the statistical department of the Federal Reserve Bank here today. The report disclosed that August business was up to the seasonal average, and that a moderate expansion in loans to customers by member banks and a seasonal rise in the circulation of Federal Reserve notes show that fall trade is opening normally. A large purchasing power is assured during the coming months the report predicts, on account of the generally good conditions in the employment of labor. The failure record of August is declared to have compared favorably with that of last August and of recent months. Textile mills are still reported as operating from hand to mouth with "stocks very low."

Failure of Banks to Lend Money to City Teachers' Salaries Unavailable

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 1.—(AP)—All city schools in Atlanta will be closed Monday morning unless means are devised to meet the salary payrolls of approximately $2,000,000 due 1,200 public school teachers, according to A. J. Orme, chairman of the City Council Finance Committee. It closed the schools will not be reopened until January 1, 1927 when appropriations to meet the cost of maintenance are available. The only course left to meet the financial crisis, the committee believes, is for individual citizens to loan the city sufficient amounts to pay the salaries. 60,000 school children will be affected if the schools close.

Say Substantial Improvement in Prospects for Business Remainder of Year

As for prohibition, there will not be any change in the Volstead law until after 1928, anyhow, and perhaps not for a generation. Prohibition needless to say, will stay in the Constitution through this century. Nothing short of a revolution could take it out, just as a revolt was required in Russia to bring back Volka, which had been buried before the Czar was buried. Mr. Capper of Kansas who represents farmers in the Senate, has cheerful news for President Coolidge and other Republicans. He says the farmer now is better off than at any time since the world war. Lik: a good Republican Senator Capper says this is due to the Republican party. The main thing is that the farmer is better satisfied than he was. Mr. Capper knows. Really big news for the farmer comes from Paris. An automobile has been built and successfully operated, using wood instead of gasoline, as motive power. Wood or charcoal heated in an apparatus attached to the car, provides gas that runs the motor. A motor bus carrying fourteen, using the new power, made a complete circuit of France, 3,280 miles at a cost of $15. That means travel for one-third of a cent a mile per passenger, which should interest railroad owners.

Poland Today Has A New Premier

Warsaw, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Marshal Joseph Pilsudski today accepted the Premiership of Poland vacated last night by the resignation of Charles Bartel. One thing is certain, in this or some other way, human beings will make themselves independent of the gasoline supply as they made themselves independent of whale oil, by using kerosene, and independent of kerosene by using electric light.

TEXAS TOWN TO HAVE ELASTIC PAVEMENT; CAN BE ROLLED UP, MOVED

Corpus Christi, Texas, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Rolling up the pavements and putting them away for the night may be a joke in some parts of the country, but it will be a reality in this city, on the maturity of present paving plans, announced by C. Sam Robertson, manager. Chicken wire pavements is the plan, and as the wire is laid a treatment of hot asphalt will be administered. Since the asphalt is elastic, if the necessity arises the pavement can be rolled up and removed. Efficiency of the chicken wire paving was proven during the world war, when General Allenby moved his troops and transport trucks into Mesopotamia using this system of roads. The chicken wire, with its asphalt covering, distributes the pressure of vehicles riding on it, and there is no possibility of a car sinking into the sand. A strip about twenty miles long, on the Padre Island reaches of the Ocean Beach driveway is to receive the treatment.

TODAY

(Copyright 1926) Hurrah, Hurrah, Hurrah. Then Pussyfoot. Wood Instead of Gas. Your Grandpa's Skull. By ARTHUR BRISHANE

Gov. Rufus Smith of New York is nominated again, the fourth time. The crowd yells "Al our next President." Governor Smith replies, "one nomination at a time please." Everything is done by acclamation. The loud acclaim of the Democratic nomination contrasts unpleasantly with the pussyfooting that follows in the platform.

New York Democrats think it would be wise to go into the World Court, with ifs and buts and hopes our participation will promote the elimination of future wars. That is Democratic silliness. Our participation would promote future wars, Europe relying upon us to finance them.

Also Democrats walk gingerly over the eggs of prohibition, planning a memorial to congress, asking that each state be allowed to determine for itself what constitutes intoxicating liquor?

The country will have to rely on President Coolidge to get us out of the World Court, after he and his senate have got us half way into it. The European nations will not let us in if we really reserve our independence, and forbid them to say what we shall do with our men, our money, and our laws.

If they insist on deciding on questions vitally important to America, President Coolidge who is a Vermont and thus far free from Anglo-Mania, will undoubtedly stay out.

Mr. Capper of Kansas who represents farmers in the Senate, has cheerful news for President Coolidge and other Republicans. He says the farmer now is better off than at any time since the world war. He was called as the second defense witness and upon questioning by counsel for Daugherty replied he had never taken the matter of the metal claim up with Daugherty and that he had allowed the claim on his own authority. Prohibition Head to Pay Visit to Charlotte Office

Charlotte, Oct. 1.—(AP)—Whether there'll be fireworks or a peace pipe remains to be seen, but the information has leaked out of Prohibition Director Ben C. Sharpe's office that N. O. Dunning, of Savannah, prohibition coordinator, is due for a visit upon Mr. Sharpe here shortly. Mr. Dunning, it will be remembered, pulled off the big Charleston raid after Mr. Sharpe had announced he was powerless for lack of men.

White Man Shot Negro Near Here During Yesterday

Elijah McKinney, negro is in the county jail suffering gunshot wounds on his scalp while George Roberson, white man, is also in jail as a result of a shooting scrape that occurred yesterday in the Penny Hill section of the county. Just what the trouble was between the negro and the white man could not be learned but they engaged in a quarrel and as a result Roberson fired upon McKinney at close range with a shot gun. The load cut McKinney's hat into bits but only a few of the shot took effect in his scalp. Officers upon being notified of the shooting went to the scene and arrested both men and brought them to jail here.

MISS TUCKER HONORED

Winterville, N. C., Sept. 29.—Mesdames W. J. Wyatt and J. R. Carroll were at home Tuesday afternoon, September 28th, from four to five-thirty, at the home of the former, in honor of Miss Beatrice Tucker, bride-elect.

The guests were received at the door by the hostesses and introduced to Miss Bessie Wyatt, of Norfolk, charming house-guest of Mrs. Wyatt. They were then ushered into the large reception hall, which was decorated with lovely fall flowers. Very clever and appropriate contests, provoked much merriment, but the moment of supreme interest came when, upon request, Miss Tucker began her "treasure hunt" with only a little pink ribbon and a few humorous hints along the way to guide her. After wandering upstairs, downstairs, and in some lady's chamber, the guest of honor was delightfully surprised when she opened the dining room door and spied in the center of the room a large table upon which sat an attractive pink basket filled to overflowing with all sorts of useful gifts.

When the wanderer was fully convinced that her "treasure hunt" was no illusion, a deliciousiced course, carrying out the color scheme, pink and white, was served by the hostesses. Then, dainty little pink bags were unrolled and the bride-elect was showered profusely with rice as well as with many good wishes. The forty-five guests went to their respective homes feeling greatly indebted to Mesdames Wyatt and Carroll for a most enjoyable social function.

THE NATIONAL SPORT

Truly it has been said that "all the world is a diamond" and on tomorrow with the beginning of the World's Series, the climax of another baseball season, all the people of this country are fans on the diamond of the national sport. To the baseball followers in every part of the country the playing of the world series is an important event and interest in the sport never wanes until the series is finished and the final decision reached.

While only a small percentage of the nation's population will actually witness the contests on the field, throughout the country in every hamlet as well as the larger towns and cities the eyes of all ages from the small boy to the gray haired man will be fixed on boards where the progress of the game is being recorded and the enthusiasm and tense interest that follows each unseen player is equal to that displayed by the more fortunate fans who from box seats in the stadium are eye witnesses to the titanic struggle.

For the next several days America in truth is a diamond and the majority of its more than a hundred million people are the fans. Baseball is indeed the National Sport.

BEHOLD THE CRIMINAL

Recently, so the story runs in the publication "Safeguarding America Against Fire," while a forest fire raged about his house, a youth of Egg Harbor, New Jersey, sat in a rocking chair and played his ukulele, watching the blaze. Commanded by the Mayor to assist the fire fighters, the boy only laughed, observed that fire fighting was not his business, and kept on strumming his instrument. He was arrested and fined ten dollars for disorderly conduct.

Suppose, says the Insurance Field, he had been a merchant, manufacturer or tenant permitting trash accumulations and other fire hazards, capable at any moment of setting off a great conflagration in a city—how much disorder could he be accused of?

The strength of business during the summer months has convinced even persistent skeptics that 1926 is destined to be another record year. The pessimists are now moving forward the hour for the culmination of their expectations to some time in 1927.

It is estimated, it would take a million men working lay in and day out, year after year, to make up for the lost time resulting from industrial accidents in this country.

OPEN FORUM

FINANCIAL INSTITUTIONS

Banks are essentially dealers in credit. Credit simply means that a Bank allows a borrower to use the money which has been deposited by other people who do not have any immediate need or occasion to use their funds. It is very easy to grasp the credit function of a Bank by considering the Bank as a "bridge" that spans the time from one season or year to another. It merely exchanges funds for future promises secured by collateral or solvent endorsers.

Bank credit is the best friend a man can have in a business way, but this friendship is more easily destroyed than it is built up. Once established and then destroyed makes it a hard matter to restore; as is true among other friends. If you desire the friendship of your neighbor you must have confidence in him, and he in you. Abusing your neighbor destroys his confidence in you and vice versa. Borrowers of banks often times abuse their credit unknowingly; sometimes, however, realizing they are not doing all they should to maintain the relationship which ought to be mutual.

The chief loans made by local commercial banking institutions are to farmers who need funds for fertilizer and labor to make and produce their crops. When these have matured and are marketed the proceeds should go to pay back the loans, and not to purchase automobiles and other luxuries. The merchant who needs goods for seasonal sales; borrows from the bank and makes his purchases. By the time his note is due he ordinarily has sold the goods and pays his loans. The manufacturing enterprises borrow for raw materials, turn them into finished products, then sell the products and pay the loans. Of course, many other classifications of credit are negotiated, but these three form the majority, in the South. As long as business conditions are favorable, yields good and the demand is sufficient to bring a fair price, a local Commercial bank can amply handle the entire credit demands of the community, and it such conditions prevailed year in and year out there would be no place for the other types of banks which are referred to below. Unfortunately, however, farmers, merchants, and manufacturers, with few exceptions, experience about as many bad, unprofitable years as they do prosperous ones, and this necessitates having banks organized for handling credit needs which must have a maturity longer than commercial banks can extend. To borrow from a commercial bank, either National or State, you should bring to the bank business enough, or your daily balance should be large enough, to entitle you to the loan. Some other types of banks, or banking institutions, are described as follows:

Land Banks are organized for the express purpose of serving the farmers who need credit to improve their farm lands and property (permanent improvements). A farmer owning land and desiring to purchase additional acreage can secure credit from this type of Bank for that purpose. One bad year cannot be offset always by one good year, often times requiring two years or more. When two and three bad years come right close together it strains the farmer's credit relations with his commercial bank, fertilizer man, and other creditors, because the yearly amounts remaining unpaid forces the commercial bank to carry the unpaid balance, over and in effect furnish permanent capital which is undesirable and they should not have to do it. When this is the case the farmer should appreciate the position of the commercial bank and arrange to secure a loan from the Land Bank to enable him to pay up his commercial bank. This is not always understood, because the average borrower does not fully appreciate that a commercial bank's deposits are not permanent, and for this reason no loan or loans should exist beyond seasonal requirements; in a farmer's case, not over nine months. The land bank comes to his aid and will loan about 50 per cent of the value of a farm, transferring an accumulated debt impossible to pay out of one season's profits, into a bank that makes a specialty of handling loans to run for as long as 33 years if desired. The loan is gradually repaid every six months with interest on the unpaid balance. A loan of $1,000.00 at 6 per cent repayable in 33 years by means of semi-annual installments of $35.00 each, or a total of $70.00 per year, would at the end of the 33 year period pay all interest and the original debt. During the 33 year period he has had the uninterrupted use of the money and should he desire to sell his farm the fact that a large part of the value is funded for a number of years, makes it a more attractive sale proposition. The full loan can be paid any time after five years, if desired. To borrow from a land bank you need not be a depositor.

Insurance and Trust Companies also make loans on desirable farms and other real estate, for a period of not less than three and as long as ten and sometimes fifteen years. The principal is usually paid in a lump sum at maturity, but part payments can be made at any time. Merchants and manufacturers frequently secure credit from this type of credit institution. Insurance and Trust Companies will usually loan a larger amount than land banks because of the shorter life of the loans made, and money can be secured quicker than from the land banks. To borrow from a Trust Company you may be a depositor, but it is not obligatory.

Building and Loan organizations confine their loans to real estate security, usually on homes being erected or already built, and on business property, usually within the corporate limits of a town or city. The usual maturity of the loan is 6-12 years and is usually repaid gradually at the rate of $130.00 per year per $1,000.00 loan, plus interest. The borrower who has the uninterrupted use of the money as long as his installments are promptly paid. To borrow from a Building and Loan Association you must be a shareholder.

Funds loaned by Insurance and Trust Companies, and Building and Loan organizations are permanently deposited by their policyholders, clients, and stockholders, which makes it possible for these credit and financial houses to make their loans for periods longer than one year. When used right they preserve a man's peace of mind by eliminating embarrassing foreclosures by banks who cannot handle a loan permanently because the bank's funds are only temporarily deposited by its customers.

TAR HEEL SQUADS ON THE GRID IRON AGAIN TOMORROW

Carolina vs. Tennessee and State vs. Furman Two Most Important of Scheduled Contests

Raleigh, Oct. 1.—(AP)—The Tarheels of North Carolina will tackle the University of Tennessee, and the Wolfpack of State College will meet the Purple Hurricane of Furman University in the two major football games on the schedule for North Carolina teams tomorrow.

In addition to these games, Elon meets Atlantic Christian on Elon's gridiron. Presbyterian College of South Carolina will entertain Davidson's Wildcats at Rock Hill, S. C. Duke travels to Richmond to play the university of that city. Wofford and Wake Forest meet at Salisbury and High Point College meets Lenoir Rhyne at High Point.

The University supporters look forward to the game with Tennessee at Knoxville to give them an idea how the Tarheels will stack up in the Southern conference. This is the first meeting of the two teams in several years no game with Tennessee being on schedule last year, and it is also regarded as a very important contest. Incidentally it will be the first Tarheel game with a Southern Conference team this season. The University team had some defects in the contest with Wake Forest last week in which the Demon Deacons emerged victorious and every effort has been made during the week to get the team in proper shape for the contest of tomorrow.

Furman, in the opinion of sport followers, has the edge on State College for tomorrow. The Wolfpack got away to a poor start against Elon winning by only a ten point margin where usually a large score might be expected. The Wolfpack was expected to do better after its intensive practice at Brevard for two weeks before the season opened. However, the State supporters are expecting their team to display the kind of fight this week which will make the Purple Hurricane blow "some hard" to win the contest.

Presbyterian College will have a hard fight against Davidson College with the odds favoring Davidson to repeat its victory of last season. The Wildcats have been after a clean slate for several years and each year has seen the team grow stronger and add more victories to its record.

Where Nine Died in Train Collision

This shows the twisted and tangled wreckage of a locomotive after a crash between the Scranton Flyer and the Lehigh Limited at Bethlehem, Pa. (International Newsreel)

This season a good start was made with two victories.

Duke should have a fairly good fight with Furman but the odds favor Duke's Blue Devils to win. Last season, however, Duke went up against Richmond touted to win easily but was able to only defeat the team from Virginia 10 to 0.

Elon's game with Atlantic Christian will probably result in a victory for Elon. This was a last minute game, it being arranged during the last week when the Christian schedule became upset.

Wake Forest will play an alien territory with Wofford and the result of the game will probably be a victory for Wake Forest, in the opinion of sport followers. The Demon Deacons feel greatly encouraged by the victory last Saturday over Carolina and will enter the contest against the Wofford eleven full of confidence.

High Point College's struggle with Lenoir Rhyne is expected to result in a victory for Lenoir; chiefly because High Point being new in the football field has not had a chance to develop a strong nucleus for a team.

JAPANESE SHIP BRINGS BIGGEST CARGO SILK

San Francisco, Oct. 1.—(INS)—The largest single shipment of silk to ever pass over San Francisco wharves in the history of the port was discharged from the Nippon Yusen Kai-ha liner Korea Maru upon her arrival here from the Orient a few days ago.

This precious cargo, aggregated 5,094 bales and was valued at $6,000,000 and is believed to be not only the largest cargo of its kind to arrive in the United States in the history of the silk business, but the most valuable.

Special arrangements were made for the dispatch of the valuable cargo to New York immediately upon arrival. Delivery of the cargo to its eastern destination was made within 85 hours of the time the bales were unloaded from the hold of the Korea Maru into the special waiting express cars.

HAVANA POLICE RANK HIGHEST

Berkeley, Cal., Oct. 1.—(INS)—Havana has the finest police force in the world, according to August Vollmer, famous scientific police chief of Berkeley, and one time head of the Los Angeles police department.

Chief Vollmer has just returned from a two months stay in Cuba where he was called to reorganize the island republic's police system.

The famous scientific chief declared he had little to teach the Cuban police, but admitted that as a result of his visit to the island there will be better equipment for handling traffic and a better filing system for keeping records. The Havana police department, he asserts, is the finest in the world and Havana is freer from crime than any city of its size in the United States.

There are 2400 policemen and seventeen stations in Havana. Chief Vollmer declared, and the "cops" attend school for six months to a year and are perfected in their work before they go on duty.

The municipal police forces of the various Cuban cities are to be federalized, Vollmer said. The number of policemen affected will be some 25,000.

On the sale of Pin's, Vollmer declared, Cuba is building what will be the world's finest penitentiary. It will cover 5,000 acres and will be able to care for 5,000 inmates and will raise all the vegetables needed for all federal employees.

There are no lawyers of the "shyster" type in Cuba, Vollmer said. Any man guilty of crime, if captured, is certain to be sent to prison.

HOOIGAN GANGS BANKERS TRY TO CAUSE GLASGOW CORNER COTTON TERROR REIGN

Armed With Razors and Other Weapons, Bands of Young Men Do Battle; Social Reformers Find Difficult Problem With Disturbances

Edinburgh, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Gang hoodlumism—a reign of terror of a new type—has broken out in Glasgow.

Groups of young men, armed with razors, parade the streets of the city seeking whom they may devour. As a rule they do not attack ordinary law-abiding citizens, but go out after gangs of young men similar to their own.

These gangs are highly organized and have recognized leaders. They have a social life all of their own. They pool all their financial resources for the purpose of paying fines when inflicted. The main object of each is to wipe out opposition gangs.

At the moment there are two gangs in the East End of the city which attract most public attention. One is the Billy-Boys supposed to be composed of Orangemen from Belfast they are waging war on the Norman Cocks, who are Roman Catholics. But the existence of these supposed religious differences is doubtful. They are merely an excuse for fighting.

It is only lately they have taken to the use of the razor. In this the favorite method is to make a quick upward slash to the body and rapidly drag the flesh back from the cut. Before this, the old weapons were the bare fist and the knucklebuster. One gang, the Redskins during the war, made great play with the weighted leather throng. But whatever weapons they use, these gangs have made themselves a terror to the police of the city as well as to one another.

Observers attribute the periodical outbreaks of hoodlumism in Glasgow to the horrible housing conditions of the city—a state of affairs which the local authorities are doing their best to remedy.

In the workshops the young men are usually well-behaved and, as often as not, strict prohibitionists. But by day work gone, he has to find his pleasure on the streets—streets that are dull and drab and demoralizing.

The whole situation presents a difficult problem for Glasgow's social reformers and psychologists.

The advance of civilization can be best measured by our ability to obtain the cooperation of all the citizens for good more or less without recourse to harsh laws and punishment.

Dallas, Texas, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Bringing into play the vast banking interests of the Southwest, financiers, bankers and cotton growers have plunged into the task of cornering the 1926 cotton market, in a cooperative pool, to combat low prices.

Texas banks are raising a fund of $100,000,000 to be loaned on the basis of 80 per bale, and six per cent interest, to growers, in order to hold the crop this year out of the market until a high price prevails.

Without waiting for action through the McNary-Haugen or similar national proposals, Texas has taken the lead in a movement to corner the crop in the hands of the growers, so that the export market, especially, will be forced to a high peak. Such a plan was bitterly opposed at the last session of congress by economists who pointed out that it might be productive of reprisals and might tend to the crystallizing of a precedent by countries to control the supply and force the price of any commodities they produced in any great quantity.

Clarence Owsley, director of the Texas Safe Farming Association, has been sent by authorization of a recent meeting called by the Dallas clearing house association, to neighboring states to gain their cooperation.

Other states in the south are expected to take action similar to that of Texas.

The Texas fund will be raised through the clearing houses of Fort Worth, Dallas, Houston, Galveston, Austin, Waco, and other cotton centers. It will allow for the holding of at least 1,000,000 bales of the prospective 5,000,000 bale crop in the state.

Such action by other states could retire at least 3,000,000 bales from the cotton market of the south, leaving only 12,000,000 on the active market. In the last year foreign consumers used 10,000,000 bales of American cotton.

NEGRESS BROUGHT BACK FROM NEW YORK FOR TRIAL

Wilmington, Oct. 1.—(AP)—After all manner of difficulty, Deputy Sheriff George C. Jackson has finally managed to bring back Margaret Davis, negress, from New York to face trial on charges of murdering Sam Hill, a bell hop at Wrightsville Beach, on the night of August 2.

According to the officer, he spent a week in Gotham trying to get the woman. At first he said she denied her identity and that she had never been to Wrightsville Beach.

Later she came around, he said, and admitted she was the right person, whereupon the New York authorities turned her over to the Tar Heel officer.

MINERS' LEADER OUSTED BY BOARD

Springfield, Ill., Sept. 30.—(INS)—Following ousting of Frank Farrington, president of the Illinois Miners' Union, by the executive board, leaders among the miners now are merely marking time until the December election of state officers. Until new officers to be named in December are seated next April, Harry Fishwick, vice-president will serve as president.

Farrington's ousting followed several years enmity between the state chief and John L. Lewis, international president of the miners. The feud was born when Farrington was boomed as a rival for the international leadership.

First intimation that Farrington had signed a 3 year contract at an annual salary of $25,000 a year with the Peabody Coal Company of Chicago was given to the executive board by Lewis.

The board immediately called to Farrington in Paris, asking his resignation if the report was true.

THANKS FOR BUGGY RIDE IS REALITY AT URBANA

Urbana, Ill., Oct. 1.—(INS)—It's thanks for the buggy ride in reality here now.

Following a ban placed on student automobiles by the University of Illinois faculty, Dobbin with his various accoutrements of other days, has made his appearance on the campus to replace the collegiate driver.

A survey, maintained by one fraternity house, and several single seat buggies of one-horse shay vintage have already become familiar campus sights. No ruling against this means of transportation is expected, faculty advisors declaring that the cost and care of keeping a horse will militate widespread adoption of the novelty.

Don't buy anything merely because your neighbors think you ought to have it.

CHARLES SCHWAB URGES AGRICULTURE ORGANIZE

Minneapolis, Minn., Oct. 1.—(INS)—Agriculture should emulate industry and put business on a cooperative and associative basis rather than an individual one, declared Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of directors of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in an address delivered here before the American Manufacturers' Association. Mr. Schwab addressed more than 700 members of the association on "The American Manufacturers' Prospects at Home and Abroad" at the dinner, which was the eighth annual meeting of the association.

"I believe that American ingenuity will devise ways and means fundamentally right that will put agriculture back on its feet," he declared. "Temporary palliative measures are of no avail. The farmers should align themselves in the same manner of cooperative combinations that have made industry so successful in this country."

Give up Powwow Because It Hinders Their Work Now

Tampa, Iowa, Oct. 1.—(INS)—What price civilization? is a question Indians on the government reservation here might ask themselves, for members of the Mesquakie tribe here are debating the question of suspending their annual fall powwow because it interferes with their farm work.

The fall powwow, an institution with the Indians since long before the time of America's discovery—days when the Indian rode through the forests and over the plains only hunting for work and fighting for pasture—is considered by the local Indians as the last remaining link between the old order and the new.

those who do not. There are some 2,400 acres included in the reservation here, and of these more than half are farmed. The Sac and Fox Indians who make up the Mesquakie tribe, went in for farming several years ago. At first it was in a half-hearted manner, with the squaws cultivating a few rows of corn and coaxing thin plants to grow.

But whether the spirit of the Indian of old has sufficiently died out to permit a cessation of the powwow remains to be determined. The powwow, interesting to others than the Indians because of the native garb, ritualistic dances and ceremonies, has in the past attracted people from all sections of the state.

Relics From 5000-Year-Old City Being Analyzed

Chicago, Oct. 1.—(INS)—Relics from the ruins of a 'lost' Sumerian city which was destroyed by fire more than 5,000 years ago, have been received from Prof. Stephen Langdon, leader of the Field Museum-Oxford University Mesopotamian expedition. It was announced today by Stanley Field, president of the museum.

Included in the large collection is a perfect specimen of painted pottery manufactured by a 'forgotten art' and unearthed by Prof. Langdon in the ruins of Jamdet Nasr, which he discovered recently and now describes as one of the earliest known sites of civilization. The pot is highly colored and is in the shape of a water container with three holes pierced in the top for the purpose of suspension.

partment of anthropology, who is studying and classifying the relics, the painted ware and household utensils, may serve to throw much light on unanswered questions regarding one of the world's first civilizations.

The collection also includes many finely wrought gold and carnelian beads, carved cylinder seals of lapis lazuli, onyx and carnelian, spindles and spindle whorls of bone and clay, 'books' in the form of inscribed bricks, copper hair pins and dishes, small clay statues of animals and mythical figures, and a number of beautifully carved bas-reliefs of lions and Systematic excavation, which has been in progress for several years in the vicinity of Kish, has revealed the presence of not only but several 'lost' cities, among them what may be the site of the 'lost city of Opis,' long sought by the early Greek geographers, Prof. Langdon reports.
