MANY WITNESSES TAKE STAND IN HALL-MILLS CASE

Senate Simpson, Lone Prosecuting Attorney, Springs Surprise on Defense Counsel

Somerville, N. J., Nov. 4.—(INS)—Alexander Simpson is putting the big "kick" in the Hall-Mills murder trial. This fiery little prosecutor with the abrupt, cocksure manner and clear, resonant voice, is seemingly attempting to confound the expensive array of defense counsel by the "unorthodox" methods he is employing in pressing the state's accusation that Mrs. Frances Noel Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, were the slayers of the Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills, four years ago.

Today Simpson stands forth as one of the foremost picturesque and intriguing figures in the trial. It is Simpson who "starts things," and in what sudden and unexpected manner. He already has placed the defense attorneys at their wits' end to meet his quick, menacing legal thrusts. All alone down in the court room "pit" he is battling the half dozen attorneys for the other side in a confident, swaggering and sometimes utterly scornful manner.

He surprised the defense first of all by taking only twenty minutes to present the state's case to the jury. He quickly pictured the growth of the intimacy between Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills, contended Mrs. Hall was jealous of the pretty young choir singer, outlined his theory of the murder, promised the jury he would support the charge with the facts and let it go at that. He gave the defense and court room observers the impression that he has an ace or two in the hole.

And then he launched his second surprise move. Instead of proceeding along the usual line of summoning witnesses who could tell of the finding of the bodies of the slain couple and taking the case up in its chronological order, he put on the stand two "surprise" witnesses as the very first witnesses of the trial. They were John S. Dickson, an accountant, of North Plainfield, N. J., and his wife Charlotte.

Dickson and his wife gave testimony that shook the "alibi" of Willie Stevens and placed the defense lawyers with their backs to the wall in an effort to meet this totally unexpected thrust. How the defense felt about it, was indicated by the objections to the court on the part of Attorney Robert McCarter, who insisted that Simpson's methods were "unorthodox" and that the case was not proceeding on its proper lines. The Dickson's said Willie Stevens, "greatly agitated and talking in a rambling manner" came to their home in North Plainfield at about 8:30 on the night of the murder—September 12, 1922—to ask the way to Bound Brook. Willie was in a great hurry, they said. Dickson took of taking Stevens to the trolley line but did not see him take the car.

FOUR DEAD AND THREE INJURED IN JAIL BREAK

Convicts in Tombs Prison Attempt to Shoot Their Way to Freedom Yesterday

New York, Nov. 4.—(INS)—A signed confession was obtained by the police today from Robert Weiner, a 24 year old fish dealer, that he engineered the daring plot of a Tombs jail delivery which resulted late yesterday in the death of four men and the wounding of two others. Police said they had traced Weiner's movements and found that he had visited the Tombs on yesterday morning and saw Amberg, giving the name of "Herman Amberg," a supposed cousin of the imprisoned bandit. They also discovered, they said that later Weiner hired a small, fast car and was waiting in Lafayette street, near the prison. At the time of the attempted escape, as soon as he shooting began, he sped away, according to the police.

TODAY Happy Careless Country Nervous High Finance The Low Cost 2 Years Old Death and Ice Water

Happy, they say, is the country that has no history, little has happened to worry the inhabitants. Happy, also, presumably, the nation that does not take its elections seriously, the citizen not agitated about public questions.

Elections yesterday which might mean inability of the administration to carry out its plans, leaves the average citizen as cold as a bolt from the agricultural department on raising sweet potatoes.

The little man make, five dollars a day, seventy-five Americans tell the tax department they make more than three thousand dollars a day, $1,000,000 a year. At least three of us Americans own a thousand million dollars. Why should elections worry us, or interest us much. Let lawyers look after the big men and the corporations, while the little fellows trust to luck.

We have no national policy, and absolutely no systematic modern national defense. We are as unfit as Batai to fight a modern nation. The world to large looks or feels toward us as a hungry fox foel, toward a fat goose. But should we worry. God will take care of us probably. He's always has done so. Anyhow, worrying or taking violent interest in election would do us little good. The difference between the men that want to be elected is so slight.

Wall Street gentlemen were quiet and conservative before election day, and will continue quiet until they know definitely what happened yesterday. Wall street, which really buys and sells the nation and its values, acts as though it were dealing in politics.

A democratic senate would not put Pennsylvania down from a seven per cent basis, with Attorney General, or melt away the four hundred million cash surplus that Gary has piled up for United States Steel.

High finance is as nervous as a man with a load of plaster statue, on his head. The Democrat, come out from behind the door and say "boo" oftener than Republicans. But neither of them mean anything by it, and neither lacks deep affection for high finance. That institution owns two parties and usually prefers to use the Republican one because it never pretends to be independent. But one is as "safe and sound" as the other.

Human beings cost money to raise and many are not worth it all. The imperfect being all preachers of the ablest made worth less by their fathers money success. California's state board of health says a two year old baby costs less per day than at any other age, less sickness than at any time, less expense in other days.

From 2 to 20 years cost, steadily rises after 60 it falls off, fewer teeth, eat less, clothes last longer, life runs quietly and nonsense is calming down. All interesting but the state board does not tell us why we be live at all, or why it was necessary to put us here, in the first place.

The death of Houdini puzzles Conan Doyle because Houdini never drank, never smoked. Some doctors would say that helps explain his death. "Able men told E. B. Harriman he would have lived a longer life had he drank light beer, and relaxes. They even say that teetotalism is safe only for those that do very little thinking, and do that little gently.

That's a terrible insult to prohibition and leewater, but that it what able scientists say. They say also, by the way, that a sure path to early death is bootleg whiskey. A correspondent says it is not safe to enter Russia with dress clothes. Such proof of capitalist leanings might cost your life. (Continued on page six)

TEACHERS COLLEGE NEEDS ADDITIONAL MILLION DOLLARS

President and Treasurer to Appear Before the Budget Commission in Raleigh During Today

President Robert H. Wright and Mr. J. R. Spilman, treasurer of East Carolina Teachers College, left for Raleigh yesterday afternoon where they are invited to appear before the Budget Commission today in the interest of appropriations for the college for the coming biennium. The college is asking for approximately one million dollars for permanent improvements and enlarging its capacity during the next two years.

In a chapel talk yesterday morning President Wright gave out the information that the college is already filled to its capacity for the fall of 1927. This year the institution was forced to turn away 783 students on account of lack of facilities. Last year 565 were refused admittance for the same reason. The board of trustees in its recent recommendations to the Budget Commission and to the next session of the General Assembly asked for sufficient funds to increase the capacity of the college so as to take three hundred additional pupils each year through the next biennium. This would raise the capacity of the institution to approximately 1200 students.

HARRY DAUGHERTY THOMAS W. MILLER TO BE TRIED AGAIN

Former Attorney General and Alien Property Custodian to Face Conspiracy Charge

New York, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General of the United States, and Thomas W. Miller, former Alien Property Custodian, must face trial again of a charge of conspiracy, according to an announcement by United States Attorney Emory R. Buckner. The court will be asked to set the trial for next month.

The recent trial of Daugherty and Miller resulted in a disagreement by the jury. They were indicted for conspiracy to defraud the Federal Government in connection with payment of $7,000,000 to a Swiss corporation for a war claim. The indictment charges a conspiracy was formed by Daugherty, Miller, the late John T. King, Connecticut politician, and the late Jesse W. Smith, Daugherty's friend.

Columbus, O., Nov. 4.—(INS)—I have nothing to say, was the only comment Harry M. Daugherty, former Attorney General, would make when informed today by International News Service of the announcement of S. Attorney Emory R. Buckner, that he and Thomas W. Miller must again stand trial for an alleged conspiracy to defraud the government. "I hadn't even heard of it," he added.

Asylum Inmate Takes Own Life

Raleigh, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Wandering up its probe of the third suicide at the State Hospital for the Insane within the past four months, a Wake county coroner's jury today recommended "that greater care be used to avoid repetition of this occurrence." Mrs. Ada R. Wells, 40 years old Person county woman, was found dead by her own hands in the institution yesterday. She had been a patient for less than a week.

EXPECT EFFORT TAX REDUCTION AS RESULT ELECTION

Believe Democrats Will Seek Tax Cut and Extension of Time on Public Debt

Washington, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Demand for immediate Federal tax reduction, and extension of the period in which the public debt will be retired, is anticipated at the December Congress by high treasury officials, as a result of the election.

Both movements, already launched by Democratic leaders, are opposed by Secretary of the Treasury Mellon. Officials pointed out that while the new Congress will not get into action, barring a special session, until December, 1927, the influence of the election may give added impetus to the Democratic attack against Mellon's policies on these two issues.

While Mellon has so far made no official utterance regarding tax reduction, under Secretary Winston, supposedly reflecting his chief policy, pointed out that it would be well to give the present tax rates a longer test.

Winston held that the present high governmental income is resulting from a sound prosperity and that any reverse, coupled with immediate tax reduction might necessitate an increase of rates to keep the budget balanced.

Upon present treasury figures which indicate a surplus June 30, 1927, reaching possibly $500,000,000, Democratic exponents of tax reduction are basing their demands. The surplus November 1 was $65,943,000, nearly $22,000,000 in excess of that a year ago.

Income tax collections under the low rates of the 1926 revenue act had reached $579,485,000 November 1, $110,000,000 in excess of that for the same period last year. Customs collections of $220,288,000 for the first four months of the fiscal year exceeded those a year ago by $20,000,000.

In the face of heavier receipts ordinary government expenses had been cut $79,101,000 in four months. Surplus funds went to debt reduction.

It will be an interesting battle in the December 1927 Congress to cut taxes, the last opportunity before the Presidential election. An embarrassing situation will arise for the administration if the Democrats try to put over a reduction that might endanger balancing the budget. It is expected, however, that the treasury will agree to a $500,000,000 cut, if no reduction is made this December.

LIVES OF FIFTY THREE MINERS SNUFFED OUT BY CAVE IN YESTERDAY

WETS CLAIMING DISTINCT VICTORY ELECTION TUES.

Declare Election More a Wet Ratification Than a Democratic Victory

Washington, Nov. 4.—(INS)—The disturbing probability that both major parties will be confronted with determined assaults on the Volstead law in their national conventions of 1928 faded political leaders today as related returns permitted a more comprehensive survey of the wet and dry battles fought in many states on Tuesday.

The present trend, as revealed in the balloting, is distinctly wet. The wets peacefully acquiesce. The dries somewhat ruefully admit it, although they contend it means nothing.

Six states of the north which voted on a definite question printed on the ballots, voiced approval of the Volstead law. New York and Illinois voted to have Congress restore to the individual states the right to say what is and what is not intoxicating liquor.

Wisconsin voted for modification of the Volstead act to permit the sale of beer. Nevada voted in favor of a constitutional convention to revise or amend the 18th amendment, and on another specific question "Is prohibition a failure?" Nevada voted "yes."

Montana voted to repeal all state laws for enforcing the Volstead act except that which forbids sales to minors. California voted to repeal the Wright State Enforcement Act. One of the most rigorous state statutes, ever written.

The dries merged with a narrow victory in Colorado, while in Missouri the wets boycotted the election because of the manner in which it was presented on the ballots.

In addition to these victories, two wet votes have been added in the Senate in the election of David I. Walsh in Massachusetts; and M. E. Tydings in Maryland, both are Democratic. In the House the wets have gained considerable votes, the exact number doubtful yet. But the wets claim a dozen to fifteen outright with the converting of many other dry votes because of the decisions in their states.

So far as the seventieth Congress is concerned, it will be for all practical purposes, as dry as its predecessor. The wets have increased their strength, but are still far from enough wets to change anything.

The wets acclaim their victory as a moral and significant one, rather than calculated to produce immediate and tangible result. Encouraged by the revelation of "the trend" away from the Volstead act, they now plan to proceed with 1928 in mind. A new President and a new Congress is to be elected then.

There now exists in both Republican and Democratic parties distinct and militant wet blocs, led by capable and resourceful men. They are powerful in Congress, but the question was being asked today: "Will they be in their respective conventions in 1928?" Almost the first statement made by Gov. Al Smith and Senator-elect Robert F. Wagner after the election was:

"We regard our election as a mandate to Congress to amend the Volstead law." Smith is a candidate for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1928. Senator Walter E. Edge (R) of New Jersey, leader of the Senate wets, said: "Tuesday's election was more viewpoint of a wet ratification than a Democratic victory."

Men Trapped When Swamp Bottom Above Mine Gives Way, Flooding Tunnels

Ishpeming, Mich., Nov. 4.—(INS)—So strong was the force of water which snuffed out the lives of 53 miners in the Barnes-Hacker from mine that several of the victims were found today to have been completely stripped of their clothing. Many were horribly mangled.

Seven of the 53 miners who were drowned by a cave-in of watery quicksand yesterday, had been accounted for early today. Their crushed and badly mangled bodies were recovered in No. 6 level of the North Lake Mine, two miles from the Barnes-Hacker shaft.

The disaster was one of the most unusual in the history of mining. Huge, hidden pockets of quicksand broke through the mine shaft wall without warning, and poured down upon the workers, caught like rats in a trap on the third and last level of the mines, 1,000 feet below the surface.

The catastrophe occurred just before the noon lunch hour. Thirty minutes more and the men would have been safe on the surface. Sweeping everything in its path, the hundreds of tons of sand and water poured into every nook and cranny of the mine. Its progress halted by the stub ends of the levels, it backed up until it had risen to within 175 feet of the surface.

The seven bodies recovered included those of captain William Rippey and William J. Miller, county mine inspector. From his bodies the rescuers were able to picture the horror and swiftness of the tragedy. The men had apparently tried to outrun the rushing torrent that came upon them from behind.

No additional bodies had been recovered as the task of sinking a new opening through the debris clogged shaft got under way late this forenoon. Although members of the families of the victims still entertained hope some of the men might be rescued alive, mine experts declared the giant mass of water and mud would effectively block up all possible air vents and any possible survivors would be suffocated before help could arrive.

Hogan, defense counsel, informed the court today.

No move will be made in present opening of the trial on November 22, Hogan declared. Government counsel today began issuing subpoenas for witnesses, among whom are expected to be Col. Theodore Roosevelt, and members of the Senate committee which investigated the oil scandals.

WILL GREENVILLE HAVE A COMMUNITY CHEST?

This question has been agitated for the past two years by some of the organizations of the city as the best solution for the financing of various charitable institutions and other projects that are usually included in a Community Chest budget. It has received considerable recognition by many who are already acquainted with its success in other cities and communities, but up to this time nothing definite has been accomplished to this end in Greenville.

As the initial step for the creation of a Community Chest for Greenville the local Kiwanis club has arranged its luncheon program for tomorrow evening exclusively for the consideration of the question, and the presidents and other executive heads of the different civic bodies as well as those of the charitable organizations, have been extended an invitation to be present in order that some definite plans may be formulated by which the matter may be presented to the city's citizenship.

In the organization of a Community Chest it means that Greenville will minister to the needs of its people through the various agencies of the chest. In other towns and communities the Community Chest has proven the most satisfactory way in which to finance these organizations that are absolutely dependable upon the funds of the public for their activities. Every cause represented in the chest, is a worthy one and even though there is no community chest the public will continue to subscribe to its maintenance. The formation of a Community Chest eliminates many unpleasant duties which some individuals have to perform in soliciting funds for various causes, because one canvass will provide for the year for all the activities of organizations supported by the chest.

The present methods used by these have proven every thing but satisfactory for both the solicitors and subscribers, and the city has reached a point in its growth that Community Chest is absolutely essential in carrying forward the work that has heretofore been thrust upon a few individuals. It is to be hoped that those to whom the invitation has been extended will take advantage of this opportunity to do something really big for Greenville.

Rome, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Premier Mussolini has decided to convene an extraordinary session of the Chamber of Deputies on November 9, to enact the proposed bill providing the death penalty for those who make attempts on the life of the Premier.

Agitation for the immediate passage of this bill has been great since the attempt made in Bologna on Sunday to shoot the Premier.

Crew of Rum Ship File Libel For Wages, Damages

Wilmington, Nov. 4.—(INS)—The crew of the ill-starred rum boat Elma, seized off the Virginia coast several months ago, filed an intervening libel in Federal Court here today.

The libel, first filed some time ago, was dismissed by Federal Judge I. M. Meekins. The libel petitions to intervene in the sale of the Elma here on November 15. Members of the crew petitioned for wages and $5,000 damages for false arrest and imprisonment.

NINETEEN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

New York, Nov. 4.—(INS)—Nineteen men were indicted today by the Federal Grand Jury on charges of piracy on the high seas and conspiracy to violate the prohibition law. Twelve are charged with attempting to bring liquor from Rum Row and seven with turning "hi-jackers" while the liquor was being brought to shore.

QUARREL OVER QUEEN'S FAVOR

Members of Entertainment Committee Quarrel in Royal Box at Horse Show

At the Queen Marie's Special Train (in Washington), Nov. 3.—(INS)—With transcontinental tour of Queen Marie of Romania was beset with internal eruptions today.

Enroute to Seattle, Wash., Sam Hill, eccentric millionaire and self-styled host to her majesty was at bigger heads with Major Stanley Washburn, aide and confidential advisor of the Balkan Queen.

Following a hectic scene in the royal box at the horse show in Portland, Ore., Sam Hill issued an ultimatum to Major Washburn that one or the other must leave the train at midnight. Both principals were still aboard today with a "showdown" scheduled for this afternoon in Seattle.

While her majesty listened in amazement, a controversy arose in which Hill attempted to issue orders to Washburn.

"I will crush you if you do not obey me," declared Hill.

Major Washburn and Col. Carroll, the latter having been labeled by royal document the official host to her majesty, arose and left the royal box explaining that they could not remain as long as Sam Hill was present.

Mrs. A. B. Spreckles, of San Francisco, guest of Hill as a mark of loyalty to her host, packed her baggage and left the train.

Meanwhile, the social world in Seattle which has seethed in a conflict between various groups for the prestige of receiving the royal party was thrown into a new furor by the sudden reviving of the train schedule. Queen Marie, Princess Helena and Prince Nicholas were due to arrive in Seattle at seven o'clock this morning.

A first minute change deviated the royal party's itinerary to include a visit to the Long Bell Lumber Company at Longview, Wash., owned by R. A. Long, of Knappton City. Consequently the train will not arrive until 1:30 o'clock this afternoon.

The one bright spot in the situation aboard revolved around the outspoken defense of Lolo Fuller, elderly Danesess, by her majesty at the dedication of Mary Hill Museum. Mrs. Fuller has been attacked as profiting from her friendship with Queen Marie.

Her majesty braved the criticism of her home government by declaring that Mrs. Fuller had aided her and Romania during the war and that she would "stand by her now" as one woman to another.

Mrs. Fuller who is seriously ill aboard the train wept tears of gratitude.

Mississippi Lady Says She Took Black-Draught for These Symptoms and Was "Greatly Relieved."

Starkville, Miss.—"I have been a user of Black-Draught for about twenty years," says Mrs. C. E. Buntin, of R. F. D. 5, this city.

"I used Black-Draught first for constipation," continues Mrs. Buntin. "I would feel dull, stupid, and have severe headaches, even feverish. I had an uneasy, tight feeling in my stomach."

"I read quite a bit about Black-Draught. I began using it and soon my bowels acted regularly and I was greatly relieved. I used it every once in a while for about eighteen years."

"About two years ago I found I was having indigestion, a tight zimmering in my chest, then severe pain, especially after eating sweets. I commenced taking just a pinch of Black-Draught after meals and by doing this I could eat about anything."

"I gave Black-Draught to my children for colds and headaches. I can certainly recommend it."

Theodore's Black-Draught is recommended by thousands of others for the relief of indigestion, biliousness and simple ailments due to constipation. Safe, easy to take. Costs only 1 cent a dose. NC-171

In the hurry and scurry of our busy lives, we are apt to forget those who fought, bled and died that we might live our lives in peace and happiness.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER

By W. S. Cousins, INS (Financial Editor)

New York, Nov. 4.—(INS)—There was a slight reaction in the market today, but the general trend was upward. The principal movement in the market was in the motor and steel groups. Such weakness was exhibited by Mack Trucks, Hudson Motor and other speculative leaders that the rally was abruptly halted and a good share of the previous gains lost.

Undergoing slight reaction, seemed to sum up the trends of the outside markets. A moderate advance in prices of the industrials at the beginning of trading was the signal for an outpouring of selling orders for the motor and steel groups. Such weakness was exhibited by Mack Trucks, Hudson Motor and other speculative leaders that the rally was abruptly halted and a good share of the previous gains lost.

Professionals who have been persistently working for lower prices in the industrial stocks received some encouragement when values of U. S. Steel, General Motors, etc., contracted two points or more from the previous close.

and failed to rally when selling pressure was withdrawn. It was a little more difficult, however, to force prices down any lower and for the remainder of the session speculative activity was largely confined to a small group of the leading stocks.

A number of the low priced copper shares attracted considerable attention by their strength and activity, the list including Nevada Consolidated Copper, American Zinc, Miami Copper and Tennessee Copper.

The decline of the British Pound Sterling to the lowest quotation of the year at 4.84 1/2 was without incident, in the face of the excellent improvement in economic conditions on the European continent.

Rise of Ocean Freight rates was accepted as the stimulus for the buying of the shipping stocks, of which Marine Composite and preferred were the most prominent.

Sugar stocks rose under the lead of American sugar refining. The so-called Durum stocks, Universal Pipe, Independent Oil and Gas and Stewart Warner were unseasonably active. Mack Truck's 3 point decline to 89 5/8 established the lowest price for this stock in nearly three years. Oil stocks were generally firm.

TODAY

pears in such regalia, and once a United States Senator proves his rugged manhood by wearing shoes without socks.

This is much more important than rocks, dress suits or elections. Our North American continent is said to be sinking about one-sixth of an inch yearly, and a commission will devote twenty-five years to studying the problem. Five years to studying the problem, five years less time than Darwin devotes to studying earthworms and their power to raise the land.

One sixth of an inch yearly seems small, but that would be a foot and a half every century and with such a sinking, Pike's peak would be below the Atlantic Ocean in much less time than it took the horse to change to a one-toed animal.

Mr. Rockefeller might reply, but doesn't that he is building apartments to rent at reasonable prices to those that can't afford high prices. That every apartment has its bath, so every tenant can enjoy complete immersion three times a day. Dr. Fosdick will tell Dr. Straton (correct) that complete immersion was more important in old days, when nobody had a bath tub, and somebody had to set the good example.

In ancient days the London Daily Telegraph solemnly dissed "his marriage a failure." These days of bootleg whiskey and rampant l'apperdom, makes it difficult to judge just what marriage really is.

Mrs. Herman A. Williams wants a divorce as quickly as possible, please, and says when her husband goes campaigning he ignores me and takes one Edna with him.

Also according to the wife, the husband says a married man should always be in a position to kick his wife out when he gets tired of her. So different from the old love, honor and obey idea and hard for a person past forty to understand, and what will the next step be?

Beckman street hospital with a bullet in his brain, at the point of death, and another prisoner was seriously wounded with a bullet in his back. A civilian witness of the shooting was wounded in the hand.

Four armed patrolmen stood guard over McKenna at the hospital following a report that the underworld followers of the wounded man might attempt to rescue him, or to kill him, fearing that if he lived he might turn informer on those who supplied the prisoners with revolvers.

An investigation of the manner in which the prisoners secured their arms and ammunition, was under way today.

Meanwhile, patrolmen with rifles stood guard at the Tombs prison on Centre street and Lafayette street, in addition to the other specially detailed guards. All loiterers were barred from the sidewalks of Leonard street in the vicinity of the prison.

Similar precautions were taken at other city prisons and institutions. Riflemen were detailed to guard the Raymond Street jail in Brooklyn and Queen City prison, where a jail break was attempted recently. A guard armed with a machine gun was ordered stationed in one of the towers on Welfare Island, where more than 2,000 prisoners are quartered.

Those who died in yesterday's battle were: Hyman Ambert, 22, charged with the murder of Aaron Rodak during a jewel robbery last July. Robert Berg, 38, of Chicago, charged with robbery. Warden Peter A. Malloy of the Tombs prison.

Jeremiah Murphy, a keeper of the prison.

The wounded: "Red" McKenna, 29, charged with the murder of Cecil Linderman in the hold-up of the Reid Ice Cream Company last July.

A Stitch in Time

Last Spring—How about the time you let the fire go out—how about what you were going to do. Oh, sure you said, "You were going to have your heating plant put in and order right away. No more fuming and fussing and big coal bills for you. No, sir!

And then you didn't. You got busy and forgot it. Which proves you are human, like the rest of us. Well, this is to remind you: That next Winter will be just as cold as last Winter; that your heating plant won't fix it all; that now is the time to get the best job of work for the least money. Have it done now. For a stitch now will save nine next Winter.
