DISTRICT CONFERENCE OF SCHOOL TEACHERS ENDED THIS MORNING

Election of Officers at Morning Session Brought Northeastern District Teachers Conference to a Close

Election of officers and an address by J. B. Warren, Secretary of the North Carolina Education Association, at this morning's session brought to a close the two day's conference of the Northeastern District of the North Carolina Education Association, which opened here yesterday afternoon. One of the largest crowds that have ever attended one of the district conferences were here for the opening yesterday and the majority remained over for the closing sessions today. In addition to the interesting program on which many noted educators appeared, the visitors enjoyed a buffet luncheon, last evening followed by a delightful musical program. The first general session convened in the auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College yesterday at 2 p. m. M. P. Jennings, chairman, presided. D. M. Clark Mayor of Greenville, and Mr. W. E. Hooker, of Greenville Merchants Association welcomed the teachers, and their welcome was heartily endorsed by Dr. R. H. Wright, president of Teachers College.

Mr. Theodore Martin, of the membership department of the National Education Association, made an interesting address on "What N. E. A. Means to Teachers." It was interesting not only to those who are members of the N. E. A., but to all who are in the teaching profession, inasmuch as it is striving for the best interest of the teaching profession at large. He said, "It is an inspiring thought that North Carolina has a larger percentage of her children in school than any other state in the Union. Education is North Carolina's soundest business investment, and it is for this soundest business investment in your state and others, that the N. E. A., the national professional organization of teachers, is putting forth its every effort. It is our aim to elevate and promote the interest of education, and it is for you, the teachers, out in the field of this great force, to put this great work over."

Following Mr. Martin's address Mr. A. T. Allen, State Supt., spoke briefly, but very impressively, on "The Eight Months School Term." "It is a question," said Mr. Allen, "of changing the six in the constitutional clause to eight. We want to keep on saying eight months school term, until it becomes so firmly imprinted upon the minds of North Carolina citizens that the eight month school term will be a reality rather than a dream. There is a lot of red tape to go through, and it will take a long time, anyway, we go at it, but the object is to get it. Shall we stand serenely by and allow our boys and girls to grow into manhood, mentally bright? Then let us resolve to lift our educational development."

Closing the program for the afternoon, the chairman appointed two committees, the Resolution Committee and the Nomination Committee. The Greenville High School Band furnished very appropriate music at intervals during the program. Miss Lucy Gage of Peabody College, spoke before the Primary teachers of the district on the subject of curriculum. It is really wonderful to listen to a woman of her type talk about as dry a subject as curriculum and make it alive. She said some very flattering things about the North Carolina schools, and then called attention to some things that North Carolina, along with other states, has not yet learned in the educational game. She spoke of the fragmentary day and how it is chipped up into stalls, and how the children stop and take a nibble here and a nibble there, getting no correlated and unified line of endeavor from day to day. She spoke of the degrading pressure from above that is keeping the teacher from displaying her own initiative and her own genius in her own way. "Schools are so in love with the system, she said, "they forget the child. Our machinery should allow the teacher and the child room for growth and personality."

She spoke also of the poor distribution of pupils among the grades and pointed out that in many schools, we would find 60 children in a lower grade with 10 or 12 in the upper grades. "Children grow," she said, "by participating in activity, and not by empty time marking." She said there are three things fundamentally necessary in every elementary school: A library, a laboratory and a work shop. "We must be a part of activity if we are to learn by it." "We chase the world over looking for materials and information when we have better right at home. The text book has taken the teacher out of the reality of things. Elementary education has not captured the real interests of childhood." The second general session in the auditorium of East Carolina Teachers College, was held last evening, at 7:30 o'clock. Mrs. M. F. Jennings of Elizabeth City, presiding. A well planned musical program was furnished the audience by the Greenville High School Band by the quartet of the Elizabeth City Savings Bank and Trust Co. of Elizabeth City. The main speaker for the evening, Dr. William Mathey Lewis, president of George Washington University, failed to arrive. The distinguished educator got his geography mixed up and took up in Greensboro, instead of Greenville. Dr. Robert H. Wright, president of East Carolina, did the pinch hit and made a powerful speech in the interest of "More Teacher Training Facilities in North Carolina." His message was educational as well as inspirational. "There are in North Carolina," he said, "only enough teachers to meet one-fourth of North Carolina's demand. Statistics, tell us that our teaching force is sadly in need of reinforcements. On the education of a state, depends its future greatness, and it is on the teacher that this great responsibility of the education of our people falls. North Carolina must have better trained teachers, and if she is to have better trained teachers she must have more teacher training facilities. The school has a place in our program of life that can not be denied; we may think it is expensive, too expensive, but money invested in education is an investment in citizenship. It is your duty to make or break the educational life of the childhood of North Carolina."

The second address of the evening was: "The Junior Red Cross and Its Program; What It Is, and What It Does," by Mr. Arthur W. Dunn, National Director American Junior Red Cross. As given by Mr. Dunn, is a most impressive way. "The Junior Red Cross is an institution created in the time of war but whose highest aim is the promotion of the great art of living together."

TOBACCO MARKET PASSES THE 35 MILLION MARK

Sales for the Season To Date Have Been 35,651,744 Pounds at An Average of $28.97

Despite the observance of a holiday on Thursday, Armistice Day, the Greenville Tobacco Market this week made total sales of more than three and a quarter million pounds of the golden weed at an average price of $31.00 per hundred pounds. According to official figures, made public by K. W. Cobb, secretary of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade, the market for the week sold 3,296,322 pounds, for $1,021,976.59, averaging $31.00. The season's sales to date are 35,651,744 pounds for $1,304,609.44, an average price of $28.97 per hundred. Sales for the corresponding period last season totaled 30,400,000, or more than five millions less than this season's sales.

Offerings on the local market continue to bring high prices and the end of each selling period finds the average price for the season increased. The season's average at the close of last week was $28.76.

WOOD CASE WILL REACH JURY TODAY

Evidence in Man-slaughter Trial of Kinston Minister Completed at Noon

Raleigh, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Presentation of evidence in the manslaughter trial of Rev. George Wood, Universalist Divine, for the slaying of J. B. Vickers, state convict, was completed at noon today. Court was then recessed until 1 o'clock.

A night session was held last night in order that the case could be completed this week. The session was featured by the testimony of the defendant himself.

The minister-deputy declared that while he had the escaped convict cornered near the state prison grounds here, Vickers grabbed his gun, causing it to discharge. The minister was bringing the escaped prisoner here from Sparta, N. C.

Numerous depositions taken in Webster City, Ia., where Rev. Wood formerly did welfare work, were read into the trial records.

To Re-Open Probe Liquor Shortage At Wilmington

Wilmington, Nov. 13.—(INS)—The grand jury probe into the Elma rum boat liquor case probably will be re-opened here late next week, it was intimated today by District Attorney Irving B. Tucker.

The District Attorney declared that no further arrests would be made until the probe is re-opened. Four persons have been arrested as a result of the investigation.

The liquor was alleged to have been stolen while stored here. The alleged shortage was discovered when Federal agents checked up on the Elma's cargo before the some 4,000 cases of assorted liquors were destroyed.

meeting was held at 11 o'clock today, which was given over largely to business and election of new officers.

J. B. Warren, Secretary of the North Carolina Education Association was the only speaker. He outlined the legislative plans of the organization for the coming year.

The following officers were elected: Miss Minnie Lou Kelly, Washington, Chairman; J. H. Workman, Beaufort, vice-Chairman; J. M. Glenn, Gatesville, Secretary; W. H. Pittman, Tarboro, Executive Committee.

The meeting adjourned to meet in Greenville again next year.

TODAY

Soon Forgotten, Start Again. Real Estate Bonds. 678,000 to Feed. Royalty Is In the Blood.

(By Arthur Brisbane)

Eight years ago Thursday, it called. It is hard for the man of thirty to realize that the big war is not even a reality to the man of 22, hard for the man of 50 to realize that the big war veterans think of the Spanish war as a distant memory, hard for the old man to realize that the Civil war is ancient history, except to a little fringe near the graves' edge. We soon forget wars, and so we start new ones.

Before the American Construction Council, in Cleveland, S. W. Straus, head of the biggest and oldest real estate bond house in America, made various suggestions that should interest investors and the public authorities.

Mr. Straus' company, in business for nearly fifty years, without loss of a dollar in dollar in principal or interest to any investor has a record that only a few of the country's soundest financial concerns can equal, many big railroads have reason to envy it.

It is therefore Mr. Straus right to speak of an expert in real estate bond issue, and his demand for closer scrutiny or such issues, entitles him to the gratitude of all investors.

G. W. Humm, commenting on Mr. Straus' suggestions, says the public is buying real estate bonds at the rate of a billion a year and the total soon will be many billions.

The enterprise in which Mr. Straus leads made possible the quick building of housing facilities, after the idle period of war. It also has brought many new bonds homes into the field—lack of course the long record of the S. W. Straus organization.

The authorities should see it that the suggestion made by Mr. Straus are carried out and that bonds offered to the public as (caps) are first mortgage real estate bonds (uncaps) are exactly that, and nothing less.

Meanwhile it should be remembered that S. W. Straus is entitled to public gratitude, first for giving the public safe investments with a good return and second for promoting needed buildings as no other agency in the nation has promoted it.

The French army much reduced for economy's sake will number this year 678,000 men and 157,300 horses.

Germany, not allowed to keep a huge standing army, has her 678,000 men and 157,300 horses working for a living, building up Germany's new prosperity.

French taxpayers clothing and feeding the huge standing army, wonders why prosperity returns so slowly.

The French army is more than 600,000 greater than ours. At $3 a day, a fair average now our 600,000 men are earning nine hundred million dollars a year. The government and taxpayers are saving nine hundred millions other dollars, and more, than it would cost to feed, pay, dress and arm such a standing army.

We are fortunate, so is Germany.

The Swedish Princess marries the Belgian Prince, many women and children are injured in the crush.

Men have their revolutions curtail the monarch's power, sometimes chop off his head.

But the infatuation for royalty, voluntary self-abasement before it, remains in the blood.

You see it at the royal marriage in Brussels, and along the railroad track on Queen Marie's American tour.

It is a deep emotion, in human and animal nature. Insects lay it. Ship by express a Queen and some worker bees with food insufficient for the journey. Opening the package you find the Queen fat, well cared for by the workers, stinging themselves to let the Queen eat. It's part of nature's wisdom. Leaders were necessary and their care was important. The necessity has passed but the habit remains.

DEAD MAN'S DIARY INTRODUCED TRIAL HALL - MILLS CASE

Note Book Rev. Edward W. Hall and Dozen Letters Admitted Into Evidence

Court House, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 13.—(INS)—The Rev. Edward Wheeler Hall's diary and several love letters in which he told of his great love for Mrs. Eleanor Mills, his choir singer, were admitted as evidence in the Hall-Mills trial today over vigorous objection of the defense counsel. Mrs. Mills' scarf was also admitted as evidence. The scarf, the diary and the letters were found in the Mills' home several weeks after Rev. Hall and Mrs. Mills were shot to death in De Russy's Lane four years ago.

The defense objected to their introduction on the ground that they were not found at the scene of the crime.

The diary is a little brown note book. The letters were scrawled on many loose pages, all of which were entered as evidence.

Judge Charles W. Parver ruled that the jury should be given an opportunity to see the letters and the diary. He thought it was competent evidence. The letters showed motive and were competent on that point, he ruled.

The whole series of 15 love letters was admitted over the repeated objections of the defense. They were duly marked as exhibits.

When Attorney McCarter declared "Why, we haven't even seen these letters, the court ordered that the letters be taken into an adjoining room by a court stenographer and examined by one of the defense lawyers. Prosecutor Simpson sent one of his representatives to watch this proceeding.

PAY TRIBUTE TO LATE STATESMAN

Thousands of Telegrams of Sympathy Received by Daughters of "Uncle Joe" Cannon

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—(INS)—"Uncle Joe" Cannon will be buried at two o'clock Tuesday afternoon from the St. James Methodist church, which he joined a year ago, it was announced today.

Danville, Ill., Nov. 13.—(INS)—Stunned by the death of its most illustrious citizen, Joseph Gurney Cannon, affectionately known everywhere as "Uncle Joe," Danville today put out its badges of mourning, ran its flags to half mast and prepared to bury the nestor of American politics.

Funeral services will not be held until next week, probably Tuesday and will be from the residence. Interment will follow in the Cannon lot in Spring Hill Cemetery. Rev. Thomas N. Ewing, who just a little over a year ago received Uncle Joe into his church, will officiate.

A flood of telegrams which began pouring in a few hours after news was flashed, continued to pile up today. Men and women, prominent all over the nation, have wired their sympathy to the two daughters.

Uncle Joe's last public appearance was made at the groundbreaking ceremonies for the St. James Methodist Episcopal church in June, when he turned a spadeful of soil and the site of the new building. He was invited to participate in the cornerstone laying in August, but a cold kept him away.

Dominant in spirit, however, as in the days when his gavel marked the rise and fall of national legislation, he fought against ill health, and was able six weeks ago to appear down town, where he purchased his favorite cigar. His daily walks about the city were discontinued several months ago.

MEDICAL SOCIETY IN MONTHLY MEET HERE LAST NIGHT

Graduation Exercise of Miss Owens From Pitt Community Hospital Important Feature of Program

Graduation of Miss Nellie Gold Owens in nursing, a graduating address by Rev. H. Frederick Jones, presentation of a class pin by Dr. M. T. Frizzelle, a hospitalizing supper, and business session all featured to make Friday night's monthly meeting of the Pitt County Medical Society, when they were guests of the Pitt Community Hospital, one of the most enjoyable ever held.

At seven o'clock the nurses of the hospital formed two lines in the lobby of the hospital between which the graduate nurses conducted Miss Owens before an audience consisting of the graduate nurses of the county, and the members and guests of the Pitt County Medical Society. Rev. H. Frederick Jones, of the Memorial Baptist church, made an eloquent graduating address. Dr. M. T. Frizzelle, in a few well chosen sentences, presented Miss Owens a class pin from the Alumnae. After which her diploma and degree of Trained Nurse (T. N.) was delivered by Dr. E. T. Dickinson president of the hospital.

At this time the doors of the dining room were thrown open and a hospitalized supper was served by the class of nurses dressed in the hospital uniform for student nurses, representing the general service scheme of the hospital. The lobby and dining room were decorated with green and yellow flowers, green and gold being the adopted colors of the Alumnae of the hospital.

After a short business session, the Medical Society adjourned to meet on Thursday evening, December 9th, with Drs. Dawson, K. R. Pace, R. S. Smith and Beasley hosts at which time annual Ladies Night will be observed.

Commission On Evangelism Met Here Yesterday

The Commission on Evangelism of the Diocese of East Carolina met yesterday afternoon at the St. Paul's Church in this city. There were present: the Rev. C. O. Paris, of Williamson, the Chairman of the Diocesan Commission; the Rev. Stephen Gardner, of Washington, the Secretary; and the Revs. W. R. Noe and Alexander Miller, from Wilmington; George F. Hill, Elizabeth City; Joseph N. Bynum, Belhaven; Geo. F. Cameron, Ayden, and James E. W. Cook, Rector of St. Paul's. Two lady members of the Commission were also present: Mrs. James Grist Stator, Williamson and Mrs. Guy V. Small, of Washington.

The Commission is preparing for the forth-coming Bishops' Crusade. In the early part of the year that crusade will open at three points in the Diocese: Wilmington, Washington and Elizabeth City. For a week prominent Bishops and other clergy will visit these centers for the purpose of conducting evangelistic services. It has been decided to prepare for this special effort by holding a corporate commission for men and boys on Sunday morning, November 28 (the first Sunday in Advent), and making St. Andrew's Day a time of prayer, penitence and spiritual preparation. Special sermons will be preached on the Sundays in Advent all through the Diocese.

Other meetings will be announced later when all arrangements have been made.

HENDERSONVILLE SUFFERS $200,000 FIRE LOSS

Hendersonville, N. C., Nov. 13.—(INS)—Fire which for a time menaced an entire business block here, was brought under control early today after it had caused an estimated damage of approximately $200,000.

The blaze destroyed the Brenner-Petty Department store, and spread into a structure, occupied by a drug company. Appliances were made to nearby cities for aid, but the blaze was brought under control just before daylight.

MORE TROUBLE FOR COOLIDGE - MELLON TAX REBATE PLAN

Opposition On Part of Administration Regulars Indicates Rough Sailing for the Plan

Washington, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Troubles multiplied today for the Coolidge-Mellon plan for a tax rebate at the approaching short session of Congress.

So formidable has the opposition now become, and so widespread the criticism, not only among the Democrats and Insurgents in Congress, but among administration regulars as well, that it seemed certain today that unless some heroic compromising is done the whole project will have some extremely rough sailing.

It won't take many squalls to effectually kill it, either through outright defeat or negation, because the Congress that convenes here three weeks hence has but ten weeks to live. There are few who believe a controversial measure of this sort can be jammed through a recalcitrant Congress in anything like that time.

Rep. Green, Republican of Iowa, Chairman of the Powerful Ways and Means committee, which has a life-and-death control of all revenue legislation, is the latest administration wheel-horse to question the advisability of what President Coolidge has proposed and Secretary Mellon has qualifiedly endorsed.

Unsatisfactory in many respects is Green's summary of the scheme. The plan of making a reduction in payments for next year, either on the personal income tax or that of corporations is workable, said Green, but if adopted there will be much conflict as to how such a reduction is to be applied, he declared.

Conflict tends to delay. There cannot be much delaying in a short session if anything is to be accomplished.

Green's comment cautiously expressed the distinct coolness which other administration leaders in both Houses have exhibited toward the plan. Senator Smoot, Republican of Utah, chairman of the equally powerful Finance committee, is another influential figure who is not enamored of the White House program.

The one thing upon which the Republicans are positively agreed, and in it they are assured of some insurgent support, is that the short session should attempt no general tax reduction bill. In that they agree with Mr. Coolidge and Mr. Mellon.

In view of the opposition so thinly veiled among the Republicans to the President's proposal, and the admitted difficulty of enacting it, there was considerable speculation today as to what suggestion the President will make on the subject in his annual message to Congress. The belief prevailed today that so formidable has the opposition become that Mr. Coolidge may decide, in the next three weeks, simply to renew his suggestion and then leave it to Congress to take or leave, without any undue pressure from the White House to win over the Congress to the White House viewpoint.

OFFICERS CAPTURED STILL YESTERDAY

Sheriff's officers yesterday captured a moonshine still in Factice township and poured out a quantity of beer. The outfit was warm when the raid was made, and here evidences as having been in operation only a short time before, but no whiskey was found about the place.

This is the second outfit that has been captured in the township during the past few days.

GERMANS AROUSED Acct. Flag Displayed On Armistice Day

Berlin, Nov. 13.—(INS)—Nationalists were aroused today over the fact that the German Embassy in Washington displayed flags on Armistice Day, and the Lokal Anzeiger bitterly attacking the government and Ambassador Von Maltzan. "If it is true, it is a most ignominious self-humiliation," declared the Lokal Anzeiger. "Our former enemies were commemorating Armistice Day not only because it marked the end of the war, but equally because it meant the defeat of the Reich, unconditional surrender to arrogant victors and humiliation by the most spiteful and criminal peace treaty in the world's history. The outrage of November 11 is burning in the heart of Germans today as it did eight years ago."

The Lokal Anzeiger has urged the foreign office to take action against the embassy in Washington, but it is understood that the foreign office supports the embassy, taking the attitude that the display of the German flags was merely an act of courtesy.

GOVERNOR McLEAN DECLARES BUDGET COM. IS UNBIASED

Says Governor and Commission Are Working for Benefit of All People of the State

Raleigh Nov. 13.—(INS)—Governor McLean today branded as false intimations by several persons that the Budget Advisory Commission now conducting appropriations hearings here, is biased and already has determined what course it shall take in dealing out appropriations.

"The Governor and members of the commission attending the hearing, have not and will not make up their minds until the whole program is considered," the Governor declared.

"It is the duty of the Governor and the members of the commissions to think in the terms of the state as a whole, and of the interests of the taxpayer, as well as the various departments and institutions, and finally to do justice as far as possible, between the taxpayer, and all of those who are asking for money to perform their duties conscientiously and to the best of their ability."

"I believe the people of the state will refuse to give serious notice to a few marplots who for purely selfish reasons will endeavor to discredit the business system which has been set up in connection with the administration of the state's financial operations."

Gang Warfare Breaks Out Anew 'Bloody' Williamson

Marion, Ill., Nov. 13.—(INS)—Governor Small was urged to send National Guardsmen into "bloody" Williamson county following the latest outbreak of gang warfare here.

The feature of the new outbreak was an airplane bombardment of one of the gangster camps. Two men in an airplane flew over the fortified roadhouse of Charles Birger, leader of one of the warring factions.

Three bombs were dropped on the property. One exploded, causing considerable damage, but no loss of life. The other two failed to explode.

The scene was reminiscent of the late World War. As soon as the aerial attack began, Birger's men rushed from the house, mounted machine guns on tripods and began firing at the low-flying plane. The plane flew away, no one seemed to know where.

Two gangs, the Birger, of Williamson county, and the Shelton brother of St. Louis, are said to be fighting for control of the illicit alcohol traffic in the county. Numerous lives have been taken in the past two years.

"OUR LORD AS A STUDENT"

S. John 7:15:—"How knoweth this man letters, having never learned?"

The presence in our city this week of so many hundreds of professors and teachers, has given this question an additional emphasis to me.

1. The text implies that our Lord gave the impression of being a student. The Jews as they listened to Him, recognized the accent of a cultured, educated man. There was something about Him that compelled attention, though no one could say just what it was. So the one question that arose on their lips was "whence hath this man letters, never having learned?"

2. It is also a very striking thing that the nearer they got to Him the more they felt it.

There are people who, from a little distance, give the impression of admirable scholarship, but whenever you get near enough to them you are painfully disillusioned. But no one who ever came right close up to Christ ever felt that. They were never disillusioned—what happened was that they were overcome. Think of the Rabbis. They had given their lives to the study of the Scriptures; yet never one of them encountered Christ without meeting defeat. "What," He would say to them, "have ye never read?" Could anything be more deliciously sarcastic?

How the question must have rankled. "Never read!" They had been doing nothing else since they entered the Rabbinic university. Yet the proudest scholar of them all was convicted of incompetency by this strange provincial of Galilee.

3. Nor did our Lord create that deep impression by any elaborate parade of learning. All parade was abhorrent to Him. Among the Pharisees learning was largely pedantry; but Jesus dealt with the most obtruse themes with perfect and unflinching ease. And whenever you get anything like that it is more than the crown and blossom of an intellect; it is the crown and blossom of a life. His intellectual processes were beautiful, because His life and character were beautiful. 4. I like to notice, too, that this so perfect student had always the quiet courage just to be Himself; and the quiet courage just to be one's self is one of the finest kinds of courage in the world.

One great temptation of a student is to see things through other people's eyes; to see the Bible through Dr. Moffat's eyes, on Shakespeare through the eyes of Mr. Bradley. And the one glorious thing about this student was that He never saw things through other people's eyes; He always had the courage to be Himself.

No wonder that men listening to Him found their hearts begin to burn within them as He talked with them by the way.

5. Remember, too, that our Lord was never a leisureed student. All that He had won from the ancient books, and from Nature, was won in scanty intervals of toil. His parent, Joseph, probably died while Jesus was yet young, and upon Him fell the care of the family and the upkeep of the Carpenter's shop. So one pictures Him, growing up to manhood, the sole support of Mary and the children, working from dawn to dusk. He had little or no leisure; yet when He went out to His public ministry He was perfect in intellectual equipment.

Let this encourage all of us who have little leisure for the cultivation of scholarship and the higher things of life, to use every available moment for our self-improvement. We may be engaged in arduous and exacting toil, and our time for study very limited. But the Master understands. He has not forgotten on His throne that He was once the Carpenter of Nazareth.

OUR AGE
 The progress of the world is divided into ages. You know that. Just so. Stone age, metal age—age this and age that. But today—the age in which you are living—what kind of an age is it? Today is the Age of Sanitation. Sure it is. Having conquered the land, the sea and the air, man turned to longer life and better living. And that means the Age of Sanitation. As sanitation increases the length of life increases, health increases, happiness increases. And what is sanitation? Sanitation is the science of plumbing. When every home in a community has perfect plumbing—perfect sanitation—ever home will be 100 per cent healthy and happy. It can't be anything else.

vious Higgs home on Dickinson Avenue, was used, ensuite and was beautifully decorated for the occasion. Yellow chrysanthemums and roses, were used in profusion and the lights were softly shaded with yellow.

As the guests arrived, they were graciously received by the hostesses, Miss Moye and Miss Taft, and were shown their places to the twenty tables arranged for bridge and rook.

Miss Willie Skinner, making the top bridge score, was awarded a rose petal organdie boudoir pillow in the pastel shades, and Mrs. V. A. Merritt, making the top rook score, was awarded the yellow rose petal organdie boudoir pillow. The table prizes for bridge were miniature picture frames, containing pictures of the bride-elect. They were awarded Mesdames John Flanagan, R. D. Harrington, W. H. Smith, S. T. White, N. O. Warren, C. H. Edwards, Hogan Gaskins, Fred Bryan, E. E. Rawl and J. J. White, and Misses Jessie Moye, Rose Hadley, Mary Harding, Bruce Tucker, Kathleen Cousins and Mary Moye Savage. The table prizes for rook were iridescent bowls of narcissi. They were awarded Mrs. June Rose, Mrs. Robert Everett and Mrs. W. L. Best.

Miss Moye was presented a pretty piece of lingerie and Miss Taft was presented a bride's book.

A pretty ice course carrying out the yellow color scheme, was served by the hostesses, assisted by Misses Madeline and Elizabeth Higgs, Margaret Fleming, Mary Harding, Bessie Brown and Rose Hadley.

While refreshments were being served, Master Richard Higgs, Duncan, dressed in a white silk suit, entered carrying a wagon, which was prettily decorated in white to represent a float. It was laden with beautiful linens gifts of the guests for Miss Moye.

and visitors from over the eastern part of the state. They should by all means, attend. Non-members will do well to attend the public meeting and hear these gifted men.

CHILDREN'S ILLS

Arkansas Lady Says She Has Never Found a Better Laxative Than Theford's Black-Draught.

Mineral Springs, Ark.—"We use Black-Draught in our family of six children," says Mrs. C. E. Nutt, of this place, "and we find it a good bowel regulator. I give it to my children for colds and constipation, or any other stomach disorders, and it certainly is very helpful. I have never known it to fail them. Where there are so many children, it is a good idea to keep a laxative on hand, and Black-Draught is what we use."

"I have taken it myself for indigestion. I would feel dizzy, have gas and sour stomach. I would also feel a tightness in my chest. I took a good dose of Theford's Black-Draught when I felt that way and it would relieve me. I would feel better for days."

"My husband takes Black-Draught for biliousness. He says he has never found its equal. When he has been tired, heavy feeling, he takes Black-Draught night and morning for a few days and he doesn't complain any more. I sure do recommend Black-Draught."

Sold everywhere. Get a package of Black-Draught, today. Costs only one cent a dose.

Market Report

MARKET LETTER

(By W. S. Cousins, INS) New York, Nov. 13.—(INS)—High prices for a small number of the motor and oil stocks were recorded in the short session of the stock market today, the market leaders were evidently under the pressure of profit taking.

Expectation of more than the seasonal advances in important lines. Chrysler and Hudson rose to 37 1/4 and 47 respectively. The oils made a good showing in the first hour, under the lead of Phillips and Maryland.
