BEWARE THE COUGH OR COLD THAT HANGS ON

Persistent coughs and colds lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a new medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs, creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for persistent coughs and colds and other forms of throat troubles. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the infected membranes and stop the irritation and inflammation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of persistent coughs and colds, bronchial asthma, bronchitis and other forms of respiratory diseases, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if any cough or cold is not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (Adv.)

COAST LINE TO IMPROVE SERVICE FROM NORFOLK

Announcement of a change in schedule of Atlantic Coast Line train 91 made by L. U. Albert District Passenger Agent of that line, who was in the city, will no doubt be of interest to many of our citizens and is generally interesting from a purely civic standpoint.
On the revised schedule, which will become effective next Sunday November 21st, train 91, now leaving Norfolk at 3:10 p. m. daily except Sunday, becomes a daily train leaving Norfolk at 11:50 a. m. thus providing double daily service from Norfolk, Portsmouth and Suffolk to Greenville, Hertford. Persons arriving at Norfolk by steamship or desiring to leave there for Greenville after 8:00 a. m., found themselves without means of transportation until that night, while there has been no Sunday service during the day except by leaving Norfolk at 8:00 a. m., with a four hour and a half wait at Hogwood. Train No. 91 becomes a daily train affords daily service of a much more convenient nature.

BEGINNING AGAIN

Pointing out that the conditions in the South today are due, to a great extent, to the practice of southern farmers, who are pinning their faith to money crops to furnish their necessities of life, the Manufacturers' Record recounts the story of conditions following the war between the states and urges that the farmers of the south give up their present method of farming and begin again to "live at home."

In bringing its appeal to the southern farmers, the Record says: "In 'The Battle Ground' Miss Glasgow told with intense vividness of the appalling poverty which reigned throughout the South when the Confederate soldier, footsore and weary, sick at heart and weak in body, returned to his home. As he looked over the devastated fields and destroyed fences, the wreck and ruin of what had been his home, the beloved wife met him, and with all the intensity of a woman's nature breathed into him the breath of new life and new activity when she said, 'We shall begin again, my dear.'"

"In all the annals of human history there is no record of more sublime heroism than that of the men and women who in 1865 took up the task of rebuilding their almost completely destroyed section, of restoring government and of bringing back prosperity to a country over which the pall of poverty had rested in a darkness unequalled in Europe at the close of the World War."

"We will begin again, my dear" gave inspiration to the men of the South to forget their losses, to throw their very soul and body and brain into the work of once more fighting a battle—a battle against poverty calling for more bravery, more heroism, more untiring grit than any dangers they had faced before the cannons and the rifle, that brought death to so many between 1861 and 1865.

How it started the revival of agriculture without capital or livestock! How it soon began the building of furnaces and mills, and the opening of coal mines! How it immediately began a great educational campaign, and out of its poverty gave freely to the maintenance of churches and the establishment of schools!

"The men and women of that day were of heroic mold. Tried in the fire, they came out of the furnace without the smell of smoke upon them. There was no cringing. There was no plea for help. Following the thousands of Bettys who voiced unto their loved ones the spirit of Miss Glasgow's Betty, they taught them selves how to live at home, how to produce at home the vegetables and other food stuffs which they needed. They taught to themselves and to their fellow workers the glorious strength born of optimism, of initiative, of self-reliance and of a moral backbone unbendable under any afflictions. They were men and women of giant mold, mentally and spiritually."

"In contrast with what they endured and what they accomplished, every pessimist in the South of today, every grumbler against conditions, should realize that he has fallen short of the standard set by the men and women who redeemed the South from the poverty of 1865; who asked no help from the Federal Government, but only the right to work, and to keep on working."

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days

Ask Denton Drug Co. or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy. Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days. One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks. Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine—60 Tablets—60 cents

Where It Goes

Some folks seem to have an idea that a plumber makes more money than a bootlegger. But that's a joke—an offshot of an old joke that made our grandfathers smile.

Here are the facts Take, for example, the dollar you spend for a plumbing repair job. Out of that dollar 57 cents goes to the man who does the work in your home; 33 cents goes for the overhead that gives you prompt service; 10 cents gets into our pocket as a profit.

That is how your plumbing dollar is divided. It is easy to see that a plumber's profit isn't half as much as the profit made in many other lines. But, regardless of profit, do you spend for anything that gives more for your money than good plumbing? As a matter of fact, convenience and comfort and health and happiness can't be measured by dollars.

INVESTMENT FACTS

New York, Nov. 14 (INS)—In the steady advance of bond prices such as we have been witnessing in the last few weeks, two important factors are necessary:

First, a good supply of investment funds.
 Second, general confidence in the stability of the price structure and the fear that price for desirable bonds will increase beyond the ability or the willingness of investors to purchase them.

Investment funds are supplied through two principal sources: first, the undisturbed surplus earnings of the big corporations, which theoretically is retained for the expansion of the facilities of the corporations, or for the repair and substitution of worn-out machinery, but practically is available for investment in short term securities; second, the increasing wealth of prosperous Americans and their investing institutions, such as saving banks, insurance companies, etc.

As the country's surplus wealth from these various sources increases, new avenues of employment must be found for it and the long term bond and mortgage markets are the principal vehicles through which it is systematically "put to work" in plants and buildings, productive machinery, paying off maturing obligations and various other forms of activity.

The inexorable law of supply and demand shows its hand in the bond market as elsewhere and when there is a greater volume of funds seeking employment than there are bonds available to fill the demand, prices advance. Thousands of people in this country are indirect buyers of bonds through their participation in the service of saving banks, insurance companies, etc. Investment bankers will tell you on inquiry that it is much more difficult to find high grade bonds for their customers than customers for high grade bonds, and this the best possible explanation for the unusually strong bond market which is in now the "talk of the town" in financial circles.

The offering last week of the new Belgian Government 7 per cent currency stabilization bonds, in the amount of $50,000,000 and their prompt sale to the bankers and investors, apparently brushed up a latent demand for other European government bonds. Prices advance smartly, and sufficiently to bring the average price to the highest level of the year to date.

In the list of ten high grade foreign government bonds, as compiled by International News Service the average price last week was 105, compared with 103.78 earlier in the year, and 101.10 last year. The list includes representative issues of the European, South American and Canadian governments.

Investors must exercise great caution in selecting these foreign government bonds, either for permanent investment or for seasonal profit taking. The high yields offered on the French, Italian and Belgian bonds are extremely tempting, but conservative people have been taught to appraise securities in inverse, rather than direct ratio to the interest rate. In other words, the higher the interest rate, the lower the investment rating of bonds.

Under such conditions it is not a difficult matter to compare the relative standing of a Belgian government bond promising 7 per cent, and selling at 94, with a 5 per cent sinking fund bond of the United States Steel Corporation paying 5 per cent and selling competitively at 106 3/4.

Will Use Sun to Forecast Weather

Washington, Nov. 14 (INS)—Convincing evidence that changes in solar radiation have a pronounced effect on world weather has been presented by H. H. Clayton, exponent of long distance forecasting, in a paper recently published by Smithsonian Institute.

Clayton refers to "fratifying results of a second year of long range forecasting of actual temperatures for the City of New York, based on solar radiation data."

This authority uses data prepared by Dr. C. S. Abbutt, astronomer at Smithsonian, on variations of the sun's heat to forecast future temperatures.

Eventually it is expected that the method will be tried out by the United States Weather Bureau which at the present time will make exact predictions not over 48 hours in advance. The weather bureau makes general forecasts for a week or more.

Weather Bureau officials, although not yet committed to the long distance forecasting, declare that if such a system can be developed successfully, millions of dollars will be saved to business and agriculture of the United States annually.

The New York forecasts, referred to by Clayton, were made daily five days in advance. They show that, in the average, 188 days predicted normal weather, 55 within 5 degrees; and 59 days predicted 4 degrees above normal averaged 2.2 degrees higher in temperature.

"No one else in the world has even ventured to predict the exact temperature of a definite spot for a definite day five days in advance," Clayton said. "It would not have succeeded without the solar radiation observations."

"The most striking and understandable of Clayton's proofs of the effect of solar variation on world weather is a table containing 20 different cases for different years and different parts of the world, disclosing changes, dependent to a degree varying from 50 to 90 per cent on changes in the sun's heat," an official statement from Smithsonian said.

Cannibalism Still a Failing of Natives, Says Scientist

Cleveland, O., Nov. 14 (INS)—Prohibition may have changed the American's taste for food but in Africa the inland native still dotes on a tenderloin of human flesh—when available—British laws notwithstanding.

This news was divulged here today by Gordon Beacham, scientist of Western Reserve University who has returned from three years work near Galigna, Nigeria, West Africa.

"One of the greatest difficulties I encountered there was in preventing the natives from eating human flesh," Beacham explained in an address at the school.

"Whenever one of the natives disappeared I was always fearful. This was invariably accompanied by a rigorous feast off in the jungle somewhere. There could be no doubt as to the source of the chief dish."

"While the British government banned the eating of human flesh in 1905 there is evidence that the inland natives are going back to the custom because they like it and have found nothing more toothsome to their exotic tastes.

Beacham and his wife, whom he met and married while each was at work in the jungle, brought their two year old child with them—a child of the jungle.

The boy speaks tribal patois almost as well as he does English.

Relative interest was centered on Standard Oil of New Jersey. Willys Overland reached a new high on the move at 22, while Jordan advanced more than a point to 14-3/4, and Hudson was strong above 46. Hupp and Dodge were in demand about a point higher, while General Motors was active around 118 1-2, up 2 points from Saturday's close.

Dividend developments were favorable. Kennecott copper increased its rate from 4 to 5 per cent, while Du Pont declared an extra cash distribution of $5 a share instead of the $3 anticipated in Wall Street.

Unusual activity and buoyancy was seen in the tobacco stocks, including R. J. Reynolds, Liggett & Myers and Lorillard. The public utility shares were in demand at slightly higher prices, with Federal Light and Traction reaching 49 1/2.

Trading in the bond market was off, and the commodity markets were also inactive and generally featureless.

United States Steel and the major shares were the leaders in a buoyant price movement in the first period. At 132 1-4 steel common showed a recovery of nearly 30 points in the last two weeks and sold within 7 points of its record high.

Hudson, Chrysler, Pierce Arrow and Willys Overland were the strong spots in the motor group. Hudson rallied to 47 1-2 for a new high on the movement, while Willys Overland reached 22 1-2

COMMISSIONERS LAND SALE North Carolina—Pitt County

By virtue of authority vested in me as Commissioner in trust Special Proceedings pending in the Superior Court No. 2119, v. J. Clark et al vs. J. S. Clark et al, I shall recall to the highest bidder for cash at the court house door in Greenville, Friday, December 3rd, 1926, at Noon, those tracts of land in Belvoir township this county known as the J. H. Clark land lying on the Bethel and swamp road now being a new highway from Bethel to Bens Cross Roads.

The first tract containing sixty acres, more or less, described in deed from J. A. Porter to J. H. Clark made in 1874 and recorded in Book A-3, page 86, Pitt County Register of Deeds, said tract being known as the Jesse Stancill land.

The second tract known as the Windham land, bought of J. T. Thomas, and covering about sixty acres, and described in Book N-4, page 552, and include the school house.

Two small tracts of woodland, containing ten acres and twenty acres respectively, will be sold separately and later with the above described land so as to make a complete farm with open land and woodland sufficient for pasturage and wood supply, and in order to bring the best price.

This sale is made for division of the property between the heirs of J. H. Clark, deceased, well known property in Belvoir township this county, and the boundaries will be more accurately set forth in deeds to purchasers. This November 12th, 1926. S. J. Everett, Com.

DENY ROCHESTER STONE IN SHAKESPEARE SOUVENIR

Stratford-on-Avon, Nov. 15.—(INS)—The story is untrue that any stone from Shakespeare's tomb has been sent to the church of St. Matthew's Church, Rochester, N. Y., says Rev. W. G. Melville, vicar of Holy Trinity Church, Stratford-on-Avon. It was a piece of the step outside the altar rail, which was removed some time ago because it was too narrow; it was replaced by a wider one. It was a modern piece of stone about probably 25 years ago. It would interest America as being from Shakespeare's church; but it had no connection with the poet, he declared.

MID-WEST STATES TO HAVE BUS SHOW

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 15.—(INS)—A monster motor bus show including cooperation by bus lines from five states, is being planned for Springfield by delegates to the annual convention of the Illinois Motor Transportation Association. The five states concerned are Indiana, Iowa, Missouri, Wisconsin and Illinois.

An appeal to a larger market for manufacturers and better organization and cooperation for operators are arguments being used to foster the plan.

Chester G. Moore, Joliet, executive vice-president of the Illinois association, expressed confidence that the project would be driven through to a successful conclusion.

FRENCH WOMEN MAY MELT WEDDING RINGS FOR TAXES

Paris, Nov. 15.—(INS)—A novel method of reducing the French national debt has been proposed by a ingenious Frenchman anxious to see his country in better condition.

The population of the country comprises about 8,000,000 married people, nearly every one of whom wears a gold wedding ring. Very rarely does one see a couple without two gold rings. The men say it is a safeguard; the women think it proper to wear one. Each ring contains about five grams of gold and is worth about twenty francs.

Simple arithmetic shows that 800,000,000 francs worth of gold are really going to waste when they could do much toward relieving national necessities.

The Frenchman proposes that every married person sacrifices his wedding ring on the altar of his country. Clever French jewelers will soon contrive other rings of baser metal which will serve the purpose just as well.
