MONEY TO DRILL OIL WELL HERE ALREADY HAS BEEN SUBSCRIBED

Announcement At Meeting Last Night That Money Already in Hand No Stock for Sale

Drilling for oil on the Westbrook property here will be a reality in the near future but no drilling company was organized, nor was there solicitation of any stock subscriptions at the meeting held at the Proctor Hotel here last night to discuss the possibilities of oil here. It had been announced that the meeting last night would be for the purpose of forming a drilling company to carry on the work, but announcement was made at the meeting that the money to finance the prospect had already been raised and that there was no stock of any kind for sale.

Mr. Marion Carver, geologist, who has been here for some time investigating the possibilities of oil, addressed the gathering of about fifty persons regarding his findings. Those present listened intently at his talk and expected to be followed by the soliciting of funds, but when he concluded with the announcement that funds were already in hand and contracts for the drilling already let surprise showed upon the faces of those present.

With all the stock already subscribed, application for a charter for the drilling corporation will be made of the Secretary of State on Monday and this will be followed by the bringing of equipment to this city. Those close to the situation express belief that the actual drilling will be under way within the next few weeks.

Negro Who Shot Two Thursday Jailed Yesterday

Israel Payton, a negro residing in Winterville township, committed to the county jail yesterday charged with assault with a shot gun upon Mr. B. J. May and a negro, by the name of Walters. According to the evidence presented in the preliminary hearing yesterday before Magistrate C. B. Rowlett, Payton went to a barn of Mr. May, where he and Walters were engaged in grading tobacco, and without provocation or notice of his intentions, proceeded to fire in the barn door which stood ajar. Both Mr. May and Walters were struck about the body by several shots. The defendant was required to furnish a heavy bond for his appearance at the next term of Superior court, which he was unable to provide, and he was remanded to jail.

Hurled Fifty Feet To Death In River

Dora, Ala., Nov. 27.—(INS)—Hurled 50 feet into the Warrior river, when a train caught him on a trestle, Lester Thomas, 60, died enroute to a hospital. Thomas became aware of the approach of the train when he was about mid-way the trestle. He began to run but was overtaken by the train and thrown into the river. A fisherman rescued him from the cold water and he died enroute to a Jasper hospital.

CANCELLATION OF WAR DEBTS MEANS ARMAMENT RACE

Says Military Expenditures of Debtor Nations More Than Payments to U. S.

Buffalo, N. Y., Nov. 27.—(INS)—Cancellation of European debts by the United States would only pave the way for a new race in armaments and endanger the peace of the world, Rep. Theodore E. Burton (R), of Ohio, member of the American debt funding commission, declared in an address before the foreign policy association here today.

Assailing expenditures of European nations for military purposes the Ohio Congressman asserted that the military budget of the leading debtor nations are many times annual payment to the United States. Great Britain spends $52,000,000 annually for military purposes and is paying the United States but $161,000,000 a year, he said. British military expenses now are $200,000,000 a year more than in 1913 and 1914.

France, he said, is spending not less than $100,000,000 a year on her military establishment. The Berlin debt pact requires a maximum annual payment to the United States of $35,000,000 a year.

The same situation is found in other debtor countries, Burton said. "In view of the antagonisms in Europe and military ambitions," he declared, "if debts should be cancelled, there would inevitably be an increase of naval and military armaments and thus a constant threat to the peace of the world would be created."

Answering the European charge of "shylocking," Burton went into detailed figures to show that the United States had virtually settled European debts at 50 cents on the dollar.

The United States cancelled 20 per cent of Great Britain's debt, 53 per cent of the French, and 70 per cent of the Italian debt, he said. Great Britain, the largest foreign debtor, applies but four and one-tenth per cent of her yearly tax collections to payment of the American debt, he said.

WEATHER OUTLOOK FOR NEXT WEEK

TERRIFIC STORM HITS CAROLINA LATE YESTERDAY

More Than Score Injured and Property Damaged to Extent of Million

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Property damage, which probably will run in excess of one million dollars and more than a score of persons injured was the toll today of the cyclonic storm which swept parts of the two Carolinas yesterday afternoon and last night. A survey revealed early today.

It appeared this morning that the storm did greatest damage in the vicinity of Rock Hill, S. C., while no deaths were reported, nearly a score of persons were injured, and property damage there would probably run into several hundred thousand dollars, it was believed.

A phenomenal hail and wind storm swept portions of North Carolina, doing its greatest damage around Newton. Window panes in stores and other structures were smashed and holes were beaten in tin roofs. Automobile windshields were smashed by egg-size hail stones.

Telephone and telegraph communication was partially paralyzed in parts of upper South Carolina, where the hail and wind did most damage.

Considerable damage by hail and wind was reported done West of Salisbury, N. C., hail storms or less terrific proportion were experienced in a number of Carolina towns.

Heavy rains accompanied the storm. After wreaking its fury in and about Rock Hill, the storm moved across the state line into North Carolina, striking at Conover. At this point windows were smashed and houses were unroofed.

The storm also touched Charlotte, but did little damage there. Fort Mill, Lancaster and York, S. C., were in the path of the twister, but these places suffered no great damage.

The storm did considerable damage around Fayetteville, in Cumberland county. Damage estimated at $1,500 was done to a manufacturing plant near Fayetteville. Numerous tenant houses on farms over the county were demolished. Only one person was reported injured in the vicinity.

Two gigantic smokestacks and seven smaller kiln stacks were blown down at the P. & B. Brick Company plant, just south of Fayetteville, where a 7,000 pound tram engine was blown from the track.

Rock Hill, S. C., Nov. 27.—(INS)—With the dawn today, this little college town when about its way repairing damage and clearing off streets caused by yesterday's cyclonic wind and hail storm.

Working crews were clearing the path of debris through the town's business section, strewn with fallen trees, telegraph poles and broken glass. A number of buildings were destroyed, while considerably more were unroofed.

Between 15 and 20 persons were in hospitals here from injuries in the storm. None of these, however, were believed to have been seriously injured.

Telephone and telegraph communication has been established. Last night the town was in darkness. A company of National Guard was called out to patrol the streets to prevent looting in the business part of town.

It was estimated that damage would exceed $250,000.

Mrs. G. W. Woodward Dies In Brevard

Mrs. Della Woodward, 81, died Thursday at one o'clock at the home of her sister in Brevard. She had been ill about four weeks. She was the widow of the late G. W. Woodward, of Durham, and was the mother of G. J. Woodward of this city. She will be very pleasantly remembered here having visited at the home of her son a number of times. The remains were carried to Durham and the funeral was held there this afternoon at 2:30 o'clock. Mr. and Mrs. J. G. Woodward, Charles Woodward, and Mr. and Mrs. W. D. Pruitt, of this city, attended the funeral.

COOLIDGE AROUSED AT TALK OF NEW OFFICIAL ORACLE

White House Repudiates Statement That Fess Will Become New Mouth-Piece

Washington, Nov. 27.—(INS)—President Coolidge is becoming distinctly nettled over the numerous oracles, journalists and others, whose utterances from time to time purport to carry the weight of authenticity and White House approval.

This was made plain at the White House today, on the heels of the tart announcement that Mr. Coolidge employs no "spokesman" to represent him, politically or otherwise, save when he chooses to transmit his wishes to Congress through duly elected leaders of the two houses or chairmen of important committees. The only White House spokesman, it was emphasized, is the familiar spokesman who receives newspaper correspondents twice weekly.

The spark that aroused the Coolidge ire and provoked the White House announcement was an editorial appearing in a local newspaper in which Senator Fess, Republican of Ohio, was quoted as saying that President Coolidge would be the Republican nominee in 1928, that Al Smith would obtain the Democratic nomination and that prohibition would be the paramount issue.

The editorial went further. After suggesting that Senator Fess would likely become the President's oracle on the floor of the Senate, now that Senator Butler of Massachusetts, has been defeated, it also observed that "it was likely Senator Fess will be asked by President Coolidge to be the next chairman of the Republican National Committee."

Because of the admittedly close relations existing between the Ohio Senator and the White House, and because the newspaper that published the editorial preens itself on representing the administration's views, considerable commotion was caused in Republican circles, and the echoes of it penetrated into the President's big circular office, the reputation followed.

The official White House spokesman gravely explained that the situation might appear to be a reflection on Senator Curtis, Republican of Kansas, the titular leader of the Senate, on Rep. Tilson of Connecticut, the titular Speaker "Nick" Longworth, the man who usually are called in to carry the administration's views in Congress.

President Coolidge, it was indicated, wishes for no repetition of the condition which has prevailed in the Senate since Senator Butler came to be regarded as the White House spokesman on the floor.

It is an open secret in Washington that some coolness existed between Butler and Senator Curtis over the leadership last session. Apparently Mr. Coolidge has determined the check at the outset any suggestion of having a new "oracle" to take the place of his campaign manager.

Otto Wood Is Still at Large

Raleigh, Nov. 27.—(INS)—With the close of the first week of Otto Wood's third sojourn from state prison here, prison officials today could only speculate as to his whereabouts.

Although reports that the gun-slayer-author who boasts of escaping from seven state prisons has been seen in several parts of the state, have been received here, these have been discarded as rumor by prison officials.

Prison officials believe that the notorious convict will not show up at Greensboro, his former home as his wife has been divorced and has remarried since Wood was imprisoned last. She has moved to Winston-Salem. As Wood's blood relatives live in West Virginia, prison officials were inclined to believe that he would eventually show up there. Others, however, advanced the opinion that he has not left the vicinity of Raleigh.

TODAY

Flopping Is Not Flying. Underwood for Smith. Romantic Annulment. Killed in the Rush.

(By Arthur Brisbane)

President Coolidge, doubtless, will talk plainly to the officials who told him, before his Kansas City speech, that the United States air force is all right, very fine, not at all defective.

We prepared three planes of the navy to fly from California to Hawaii. They all failed—100 per cent. Now two seaplanes, especially prepared were to make a non-stop flight about 2,600 miles, to Panama. And it was said these two planes would carry ENOUGH gasoline and oil. The other three had forgotten to do that.

One of the two planes came down after a few miles and now the other is down. After solemn announcement of our plans, another shameful failure is made. This country, that invented the flying machine, cannot carry out a simple flight that France, England, Italy, Japan or Russia would think nothing of something that any one of a dozen other nations could do every week.

What is the matter with our airplane service, that Uncle Sam should be made to appear an incompetent fool before the whole world?

The President will want to know. He realizes that an air force such as he described at Kansas City should be composed of machines able to fly and NOT of machines able to flop.

The President will want to know why he was fooled about our flying force, and thus deceived into a speech that might have fooled the American people.

One thing to be thankful for: That war is probably not very near, and that the richest and most bitterly-hated nation on earth has not yet been made to pay dearly for the pitiful incompetency and ignorant self-deception of those responsible for the national security.

Senator Oscar Underwood, formerly candidate for the Democratic nomination, says Governor Smith of New York is the logical choice for 1928 to beat the Republicans—which means to beat Coolidge if he wants it, or Hoover, if Coolidge does not want it.

Senator Underwood says Ku Klux hostility to Governor Smith on account of his religion, would become an asset for Smith by election time.

Senator Underwood, retiring from the Senate, and from politics, says Governor Smith's Catholicism would not prevent his carrying the South but doubts the party could be brought to give the nomination to the New Yorker.

That 1928 Democratic nomination will be a complicated proposition, with Ku Klux, prohibition, religion, and many questions to increase the complication.

The Republicans have a sincere prospect. If he is not tired of the job, and if all looks rosy, President Coolidge can have the nomination for HIS SECOND ELECTION, no one objecting.

If Coolidge does not want it, it will go to Secretary Hoover, whose program will read something like:

Do the things that the country needs, without waiting for them to do themselves.

It is reported from Rome that Marconi requests annulment of his marriage to the Hon. Beatrice O'Brien, daughter of the Baron O'Brien. The Catholic Court of Westminster has granted the annulment, that must now come up for appeal before the Rota, the final Catholic authority.

The reason for this annulment is said to be an agreement, made by Marconi and his wife, that they would separate whenever they wanted to after marriage, such an agreement violating the fundamental principles of the Catholic Church, which holds marriage indissoluble. Such an agreement making the marriage unreal, non-existent from the start, like fraud in a contract.

SURPRISE WITNESS TO APPEAR MONDAY FALL, DOHENY CASE

Government to Try Prove Fall Used Son-in-Law to Cover Up Banking Transactions

Washington, Nov. 27.—(INS)—The conspiracy trial of Albert B. Fall, former Secretary of the Interior, and E. J. Doheny, wealthy oil operator, charged with defrauding the government of invaluable oil lands, will be continued Monday, it was learned today, by the appearance of the first surprise witness—something without which no criminal case of national-wide interest is complete.

C. C. Chase, son-in-law of Fall, the unscheduled witness, has been subpoenaed by the government.

Owen J. Roberts and former Senator Alton Pomerene, heading the Federal counsel, have summoned Chase in an effort to establish that the former cabinet officer used his daughter's husband to cover up his banking transactions over the period during which the government claims he was conniving with Doheny to turn over large portions of the navy's oil reserves.

Over strenuous objections from the defense, the government already has established that Chase, an Fall established a joint bank account in El Paso, a few days after Doheny had loaned Fall $100,000. Chase, a former official, only on the assurance that government counsel later in the trial would establish its relevancy.

Roberts and Pomerene privately are hopeful that Chase will claim special privilege and refuse to testify on the ground it might tend to incriminate him. Another son-in-law of Fall—M. E. Everhart—adopted this course at Cheyenne when called by the government in the civil case for cancellation of the oil leases accorded Harry Sinclair, and the prosecution is of the belief that such action by Chase would strengthen their case.

On the seven-day trial, the vice-president of an El Paso bank testified that in December, 1921, Chase and Fall opened a joint account to the amount of $26,200—$13,500 of which was transferred over from Chase's individual account and $22,700 was deposited in cash.

Meanwhile, the court and the youthful jury are idle over the week-end as a result of a technical argument almost paradoxical in nature. The prosecution is attempting to read to the jury the transcript of Doheny's story to the Senate-Oil committee three years ago in which he admitted responsibility for the $100,000 loan to Fall which E. M. McLean, Washington and Cincinnati publisher, originally had contracted to assume. The defense has interposed vehement objection, based on a section of the criminal code which states that any testimony given by a witness before a Congressional committee may not be used as evidence against that witness in a subsequent criminal trial. Justice Hoelbling adjourned court early Friday afternoon until Monday morning to consider the lengthy arguments pro and con presented on the matter.

The paradoxical feature lies in the fact that the defense, headed by Frank J. Hogan, Wilton J. Lambert and Levi Cook, actually would like to have this three-year-old testimony presented in that it is, of course, Doheny's personal defense. If their objections are sustained, in one way or another they will have to get the gist of this statement into the record of the present trial. Their only objection in combatting its presentation is to create what possibly may be a reversible error if the defendants are convicted and a re-trial is demanded.

Forty Nine Go to Watery Grave

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Forty-nine passengers on the Russian steamer Scandinavia were drowned when the vessel sank near the Straits of Bosphorus on Monday, it was learned today. The ship carried 60 passengers.

Wildest panic ensued when the vessel started to sink. Mothers abandoned their children in a mad scramble to get into the life boats. The frightened crew rushed to seize the lifeboats but were held back by the Captain, endeavoring to get into the lifeboats, who threatened to shoot any sailor who attempted to get into the boats.

It's an interesting story, and the public will wonder what the vertisement of a cigar firm. Maybe it is.—Tallahassee Morning.

DEATH TOLL FROM SERIES OF STORMS EXCEEDS EIGHTY

Hundreds of Persons Injured and Property Damage Estimated at Five Million

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(INS)—The list of dead in the wake of violent wind storms that swept over six southern and southwestern states stood at 82 today. Many hundreds of others were injured. Property damage will probably exceed $1,500,000.

Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi and Missouri suffered most. Arkansas alone reported 46 killed and more than 200 injured. The little town of Heber Springs, with 21 dead, bore the brunt of the storm's fury. Practically every house in the village was leveled by the tornado-like wind. The injured are being rushed by special train to Little Rock.

The heavy gales were felt in Illinois, all the way north to Chicago, but no damage or loss of life resulted in this state. The warm winds turned to freight blast, when they hit the Great Lakes region. Snow fell in Iowa, Illinois, Nebraska and Kansas. Near zero temperatures prevailed in Chicago today.

Little Rock, Ark., Nov. 27.—(INS)—Relief measures to aid towns stricken by the series of freak tornadoes Thursday and Friday were rushed today, as authorities estimated the toll at 83 dead, hundreds injured and property damage in excess of $5,000,000.

Towns in Arkansas, Louisiana, and Missouri were hardest hit but the devastating brunt of the storm was also felt in sections of Mississippi, Alabama, North and South Carolina and Texas.

The storm swept into the Carolinas late yesterday, leveling property to the extent of $1,000,000 damage, and injuring more than a score. Greatest damage in the Carolinas was done at Rock Hill. Arkansas led the death list with 46 killed, Louisiana had 16 dead, Mississippi 10; Missouri 4; Alabama 3 and Texas, 1. This accounts for 76 dead but authorities believe when the final count is made the list may exceed eighty.

Red Cross workers and National Guard troops were on the ground at Heber Springs which was hardest hit with 21 dead. Newspaper, in Arkansas today published an appeal for public subscription of funds to aid storm sufferers. Eight hundred were homeless.

The water and power supply in Heber Springs is expected to be restored today. Meanwhile precautions were taken against fires. Under the supervision of relief workers, citizens for the town organized in gangs and started removing the wreckage.

Oil derrick, and other property suffered heavily in Louisiana. The storm struck the oil camp near Haynesville, killing five. In May Rouge, 11 were killed, four of whom were whites.

Three were killed, and many hurt when the storm destroyed a score of homes, near Winfield, Alabama. Mrs. Della Langley, 45 and her two children, were killed while eating breakfast. A son had just finished his meal and left the house when the storm broke. A freak storm struck a warehouse in Norfolk, Va., killing A. J. Evan, and E. H. Butler, watchmen. Three others were injured.

Other towns hit by the tornado in Arkansas were Moscow, where 10 were killed; Opollo, 5 dead; other fatalities occurred in Newport, Macedonia, Wolverton, Mountain, Gould, Seectaw, Sheridan and Russellville.

Ten negroes died when a number of dwellings were destroyed on a plantation near Marks, Miss.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

"CHRIST COMING IN THE CLOUDS"

St. Luke 21:25-29—"Signs in the sun and the moon and upon earth distresses of nations—men's hearts failing them for fear—the Son of Man coming in a cloud with great power and glory."

The apostles and the early Christian Church laid great stress upon a special return of the Lord Jesus. This is not surprising when we recall Christ's assurance that His generation should not pass away before His return. But if we take Christ to mean a physical return and accept His language literally, then we can only confess that no such promise was fulfilled, and the apostles hoped in vain for His coming. Some modern scholars even speak of God permitting this false hope as an "educative illusion" for the fostering of the church!

But if Jesus promised, He must in some way have kept His word. This forces me to one interpretation, the understanding of Christ's language in a figurative sense. He was speaking in symbols. The apostles may have been misled by the Rabbinical type of interpretation common in their day, and may have taken Jesus literally. But if so they lived long enough to learn that His meaning was figurative and spiritual, and that their own language, which was imitative of His, must be interpreted in the same way.

There are many people who seem to think, from the passage from which my text is taken, that Christ will return to impose His kingdom on the world with arbitrary power. This picture as a celestial kaiser or crown prince is repugnant to the last degree because so false. It utterly contradicts the teaching and example of our Lord! Is Jesus at last to surrender to the temptation He fought so successfully in the wilderness and at Nazareth?—the temptation to "force" His kingdom upon men? Never! Of one thing we may be quite sure, God will never "force" the human situation nor the human heart: neither by Jesus Christ nor by any other agent! He is a God of peace, not for a dispensation only, but forever and forever. This literalism leads men to behave as though Christ were everywhere absent because He is nowhere physically present. This makes men hopelessly pessimistic in their world outlook. They withdraw from politics, from social reform, from the championship of public righteousness on the plea that the world cannot be put right until Christ appears: Even wars cannot be prevented because He said they would recur! Thus do they "wrest the Scriptures to their own destruction."

Examining the passage before us, and its parallel in St. Matthew's Gospel, we note that Jesus used astronomical terms in a way which is common among the Hebrew prophets when they wish to refer to the great ones of earth. Just as we use the word "star" for a celebrated public performer, so the Hebrew prophets used the words "sun," "moon" and "stars" to indicate the highly-placed persons of their social firmament.

A good illustration of this use is the prophecy of Joel which St. Peter quoted and claimed its fulfillment on the Day of Pentecost—"This is that which was spoken by the prophet Joel,—The sun shall be turned into darkness and the moon into blood." The references here to sun and moon can only refer to the social results of a real visitation of the Spirit of God. "He shall pull down the mighty from their seats and exalt those of low degree?"

So my text indicates a social collapse, and not a cosmic upheaval. It is not the end of the planet which is foretold, but the end of some particular order of human society on the planet.

The symbolism that Jesus used is throughout the language of trouble. It is humanity's extremity which is ever His opportunity. He comes "upon the clouds." It ought to be clear to us, then, that in these passages Jesus is giving to us a reading of human history. It is a story punctuated with recurring disaster, and in every time of trouble there is a return to the Son of God who is ever offering Himself to mankind.

Certain great truths looming out of this interpretation we must leave until our next Saturday Night Meditation!

Daily News Letter
 Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Chicago, Nov. 27.—(INS)—Stories of "high life" in American colleges, which have met with a barrage of denials, are only too true, according to Mrs. Frances May Provelly Helfrick, who is seeking separate maintenance from the son of wealthy Chicago Heights parents.

Mrs. Helfrick, who described herself in court as a "country girl at heart," entered the University of Illinois from Kaneville in February, 1925. Her college career was cut short by marriage and motherhood.

"I met Murray Helfrick in a chemistry laboratory course," she said. "He took me out to a lot of dances and parties. He drank a lot but I didn't drink then and I don't now. He always had liquor. The gin parties were staged by the boys without the knowledge of the university. They would drive out to some place far out in the country, with girls and lots of liquor. When they would drink and have petting parties in the automobiles."

Mrs. Helfrick also described all-day picnics, held on Sundays, which were apparently innocent, but at which "plenty went on."

One confectionery shop near the campus had a dimly lighted back room fitted with booths in which co-ed, smoking, drank and put on necking parties with their escorts, she said.

"I'm just one of the dozens. There are many hasty marriages like mine at the University. Many other cases are hushed up without marriage. Many a girl leaves school in the middle of a semester because she has to."

Lucien Le Long, Paris couturier caused the "stylish stouts" to blither with anticipation today following his announcement of a "kinetic theory" for clothes.

This theory, or law, if Le Long knows anything about it, has to do with movement in clothes by which your plump lady in her early forties could, with a swish of her apparel, look relatively slender.

"Next season," said Le Long, "women will achieve true slenderness. It will be due to the way the costumes are cut."

The last of Uncle Sam's injured in the Spanish-American war has been treated and will be dismissed from the hospital shortly.

During the famous charge up San Juan Hill a little boy lustily on a drum until an enemy bullet cut him down. He dropped his drum after the "r" shocks of a Spanish shell, but continued his advance up the hill.

The boy hero was George H. Riley, now president of the Musicians Club. He submitted to operation in the St. Augustana Hospital here for the removal of the memento.

Riley went to Cuba with the old "Dandy First," the First Illinois Volunteer Infantry. During preparations for the charge up San Juan Hill, he was thrown in with the Ninth Illinois Infantry.

At the Ninth neared Block House No. 10, the enemy unleashed the barrage with renewed fury and Riley was struck by a fragment of an exploding shell. He continued to advance on the first line, however, and with General Joe Wheeler, he was able to enter the block house through a small aperture made by an American shell.

General Wheeler and Riley then opened the Block House gates to admit other Americans. Riley was one of the men who hauled down the Spanish flag before General Wheeler ordered him to a field hospital.

Market Report

GRAIN MARKET
Chicago, Nov. 27, (INS)—Grains closed steady to easier today with wheat 1 to 1 3/8c lower. Corn up 3/8c and Oct. 1-8 to 1-4c lower.
Wheat opened 1-2 to 3-4c lower and immediately declined further. Trade was fairly active, but mixed at the decline. Weakness at Liverpool was the depressing factor.
Estimated receipts were 15 cars.

MARKET LETTER
New York, Nov. 27, (INS)—Speculative interest in the stock market today was concentrated on the small group of industrial shares of stocks. The interest in Baldwin Locomotive was given a severe drubbing when the price of that stock was advanced sharply to 104 in the first period, up 13 points from Friday's low and 5 1/2 points from the previous close.
The promise of a large expansion in holiday trade by the week-end business reviews and the accumulating evidence of financial stability in the Southern States, helped to create a cheerful feeling in the financial district.
Buying of U. S. Steel above 151 was accompanied by reports that the directors were acquiring 100,000 shares or more in the open market for the purpose of distributing it to their employees after the turn of the year. General Motors and a few of the low priced motor shares, advanced a point or more.
The railroad and petroleum stocks continued their slightly reactionary trend. Pan American petroleum was offered freely and declined to a new low trend for the movement, while fractional shares were sustained by Maryland, Sinclair and their well-known independent oils. Chesapeake and Ohio and Nickel Plate sold moderately lower.
Forward moves were resumed in a number of the specialty stocks, including universal pipe common and preferred, industrial alcohol, Texas Golf Sulphur and General Electric.
Confirmation of the sale of the White Star ships to a London shipping syndicate offered opportunity for profit taking on the international mercantile marine preferred, which had already scored a point advance and the stock moved backward 1-2 to 38. Mercantile stocks like Woolworth and Montgomery Ward also showed the effect of profit taking.

COTTON

New York, Nov. 27, (INS)—Cotton closed steady, 6 to 15 points off, spots 10 off 12.95.

Oct.	13.28	13.28	13.15	13.15

The market closed fairly steady. Final prices were at net losses of 4 to 14 points. The market for spot cotton was quiet, down 10 points. December closed at 12.58, down 67; January 12.59, down 64; March 12.66; Down 68; May 12.87; down 10; July 13.06, Down 69 and October 13.18, Down 14.

MRS. HALL TAKES STAND TODAY IN HER OWN DEFENSE

Notorious Hall-Mills Case Reaches Climax As Wife Charged With Crime Takes Stand.

Courthouse, Somerville, N. J., Nov. 27, (INS)—Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall took the witness stand at 2:01 this afternoon to tell what she knows regarding the murder of her husband, the Rev. Edward W. Hall, and his choir singer, Mrs. Eleanor Mills.
There was a stir in the courtroom as Mrs. Hall's name was called. The climax of the trial had been reached.
Mrs. Hall was very pale. She was attired in a black coat, with a black fur collar, and a black hat with a white pin stuck through it. The only note of contrast in her black costume was her white collar.
Robert H. McCarter, senior counsel for the defense, began direct examination of the witness.
"Where were you born?" he asked.
"In South Carolina, in 1874," McCarter then asked to the witness, and showed her a Bible. He asked her if it was her family Bible and she said yes.
"Does this Bible contain your family records and the records of your brother and sister?" McCarter asked.
"Yes," replied the witness.
Mrs. Hall talked in a very low tone.
The Bible was offered in evidence.
McCarter read the birth dates of the various members of the family.
"What church do you attend?" McCarter asked.
"The church of St. John, the Evangelist."
"Before your marriage did you have any connection with St. John's Church?"
"I taught Sunday School."
"Did you meet Mr. Hall at that church?"
"Yes."
"Was your husband older than you were?"
"Seven years younger."
Mrs. Hall's voice became more distinct and she seemed to be gaining confidence.
"At the time of your husband's death, how many automobiles did you have?"

"Two cars."
She said she drove only the Dodge car while Rev. Hall drove the Case. Willie didn't drive a car, she testified.
"Was there the slightest change in your husband's demeanor up to the time of his death toward you?"
"No."
"Did William Stevens own a pistol?" McCarter asked.
"William had a pistol," Mrs. Hall admitted. "My husband on one occasion fixed the firing pin in it."
"Did you ever see him fire it?"
"No."
McCarter asked her what was "the daily course" of Rev. Hall's life.
"Breakfast early and then to his study. He would go out in the afternoon and we would have supper together."
Mrs. Hall testified that she aided her husband in every way possible.
"Did you know Eleanor Mills?"
"Yes, she was an active worker in the church."
Mrs. Hall had completely retained her composure. She even halted McCarter's questioning at this juncture, to complain to the Judge W. Parker that a photographer had snapped a picture of her on the stand which was against the specific order of the court.
Judge Parker ordered the photographer removed from the courtroom and his camera confiscated.

Roberson Released From Hospital and Placed in Jail

John Roberson, the white man of Belvoir township, who on Tuesday of this week threatened the life of deputy sheriffs Sellars and Pierce by firing several shots, at them with a shot gun when they went to take him into custody, was this morning released from the hospital where he was taken Tuesday suffering from four wounds in his lower limbs inflicted by the officers. Roberson engaged the officers in a regular battle for several minutes, and not until his supply of ammunition had exhausted did he surrender. From the hospital he was brought to the county jail and incarcerated there to await trial.
Prior to resisting the officers Tuesday, Roberson shot his brother and it was for this cause the officers were attempting to make the arrest.

THIN, NERVOUS

Virginia Lady Tells of Taking Cardui and Says She Has Since Recovered Perfect Health.

Lynchburg, Va.—"I have taken Cardui several times for a run-down condition and have found it perfectly splendid," says Mrs. Lee T. Marsh, 715 First Street, this city.
"About ten years ago," she explains, "I became so weak I could not go about. I looked like a skeleton and . . . was dreadfully worried about myself. A friend suggested Cardui and I decided to try it. . . .
"I kept up the medicine until I had taken six bottles. It regulated and built me up. I improved greatly. . . .
"Last year we drove up here through the country from Florida. I was exposed to the weather and must have taken cold, for I became ill. . . . I got run-down, lost flesh, . . . could not sleep and had no appetite at all. I was so nervous that I did not know what to do. . . .
"I thought of Cardui. I began to take it regularly and it was not long before I began to feel better. I took six bottles, one after another, and at the finish of the last one was perfectly well again. Since then I have continued gaining in weight and all winter have been in perfect health."

W. K. Vanderbilt was doing all that time. He was a most affectionate father, gave about seven million dollars to his daughter's dual husband, to fix things up. He loved his children, and would not have allowed any coercion of his daughter. Perhaps she was afraid to speak to him.
It is, all in all, a story as romantic as you would want to read.

Mount Vesuvius In Eruption

Naples, Nov. 27, (INS)—The present activity of Vesuvius portends no danger, the director of the Vesuvius Observatory announced today.
The lava which is coming from the crater is flowing inward and is not running over the crater.
Rome, Nov. 27, (INS)—Mount Vesuvius today struck terror into the hearts of the inhabitants of the villages surrounding the historic volcano by a series of sharp explosions and internal rumblings.
The people fled into the streets to find the summit of the mountain enveloped in flames and smoke.
No damage was done to the villages, however.

Crocker Asks For Investigation Of Campaign In Mass.

Boston, Nov. 27, (INS)—Conrad W. Crocker, attorney for the Liberal Civic League of Massachusetts, today asked for an investigation by the Senate campaign fund investigation committee of Republican expenditures in the campaign that failed to elect William M. Butler to the U. S. Senate.
The request was contained in a telegram to Senator James A. Reed, Chairman of the Senate probes.

Arrest Woman in Connection With Forsythe Killing

Raleigh, Nov. 27, (INS)—The woman in the case has been arrested by officers investigating the mysterious slaying of L. G. Forsythe, police disclosed here today.
She is Evelyn Britt, of Durham, who police declared confessed to being in the automobile with Robert Stephenson, Robert Senark and "Mighty" Forsythe the night the latter was killed.
Police discovered that the arrest at Rockingham yesterday of a man believed to have been Stephenson was a case of mistaken identity. Stephenson is the only member of the accused trio who has not been apprehended.
The Britt woman, who is under a charge of murder, substantiated Senark's story that Forsythe fell from the car while they were passing through Clayton and was killed by the fall on the pavement. She told police she lived at 1108 Pettigrew street, Durham.
A coroner's inquest which began its probe of the alleged slaying yesterday, will resume its investigation Tuesday morning, Coroner L. M. Warrick said today.

TEXAS GIRL PREPARES FOR BIG RIFLE CONTEST

Austin, Tex., Nov. 27, (INS)—Holding their first shoot of the year, the girls of the Little Campus Rifle Club, who is in charge of the girls this year, was more than pleased with the "markswomanship" shown by the club members the latest type of Winchester target rifle, 22 caliber. The rifles are made especially for indoor target ranges.
There are 40 members in the club now and a long waiting list of students who wish to join the organization is in the hands of Miss Bertha Black, of Nevasota, president of the club.
An interesting program has been outlined for the year, this year. They shoot against the Austin Rifle Club, the Boys Club of the University and a match by telegraph with the girls team of the University of Maryland will be the high light of the season.

KENTUCKY BOOTLEGGERS FAIL TO BECOME RICH

Newport, Ky., Nov. 27, (INS)—Despite the fact that bootleggers throughout the nation are generally supposed to be at least "well-to-do," this city does not boast of any extraordinarily rich liquor vendors, according to federal court records.
The government recently lost $4,000 in liquor law fines when 17 convicted bootleggers, after serving their 30 days pending payment of their fines, took the number's leap before the United States Com-
