

FARM LEGISLATION TO GET ATTENTION OF NEXT CONGRESS

Proponents of McNary-Haugen Bill Believe Low Price Cotton Gain Southern Support For Bill.

Washington, Nov. 30. (INS)—A revival of the farm relief controversy at the coming session of Congress, was assured today with the drafting of a new McNary-Haugen bill for the stabilization of American agriculture through the creation of a government corporation to export surplus farm products.

Defeated at the last session after a bitter fight, the new measure will face a hard road to enactment. It will retain the two principal provisions which would place an equalization fee upon exported products and require the government to finance it at the outset—that caused its rejection by Congress last spring. Its enactment will depend entirely upon the support given it by Southern Senators and Representatives, following the recent upheaval in the cotton industry.

Most of the provisions of the old bill were rewritten into the new document. It will authorize a $250,000,000 appropriation to be used as a revolving fund by the proposed corporation. This fund would be repaid the government through the levying of an equalization fee upon the products benefited. The export features will apply to cotton, wheat, corn, swine and rice.

The inclusion of rice among the products to be exported was a departure from the old bill, as was the dropping of livestock products. The latter, however, may be restored if livestock dealers insist upon it.

There were other changes in the administrative features of the bill the chief one being to place all control of the proposed corporation in the hands of a board of 12 members. This board would be appointed by the President, one member from each federal farm land bank district. The board would elect its own chairman who would become literally the president of the corporation.

The bill was written by Senator Charles T. McNary, Republican of Oregon, who will become chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee at the coming session. McNary was aided by other members of the Senate and House farm bloc. The bloc's conferences, incidentally, were attended by representatives of various farm organizations and by experts from the Department of Agriculture.

Even while McNary was completing a draft of the new bill, it met with threats of serious opposition. Senator Joseph T. Robinson, of Arkansas, the Democratic floor leader for one announced he was opposed to any relief measure, placing the government in the export business or levying a tax on farmers.

"From my standpoint," said Robinson, any machinery authorized by national legislation for dealing with surplus agriculture products should be set up and maintained by the farmers themselves, for their co-operative and voluntary action alone can limit production, essential to maintenance of just prices over a long period, be maintained.

Its chief hopes for enactment will be in the possibility of change of heart on the part of Southern Senators and Congressmen, who helped defeat it before. As the recent deflation of cotton prices was due solely to the bumper size of the crop, farm bloc members believe Southerners will feel far more friendly to the export corporation idea at the coming session than they were last spring. If the South does support it, the bill undoubtedly will be enacted.

Results Of Local Elections Stir Party English Politicians

London, Nov. 30. (INS)—The results of the municipal elections in England, Scotland and Wales in November, in which the Socialists scored sweeping success in scores of cities, are being made the subject of careful study by politicians of all parties, anxious to determine which way the political wind is blowing.

The balloting appears to reveal a distinct nation-wide movement toward Labor-Socialist control of municipal government, especially in large industrial centers. This is the flat assertion of the leaders of the Labor Party, while even in Conservative and Unionist circles there is the Government the warning is sounded that unless the anti-Socialist organize with the same care and vote with the same energy as their opponents, they are doomed to see the control of local governments throughout the country pass into the hands of the Labor and other political movements of the extreme left.

In both Labor and anti-Socialist quarters, it is conceded that the six months coal stoppage and other industrial disturbances had the most decisive effect upon the result. Laborites declare that the workers rallied to the support of their candidates as a protest against the manner in which the Government has handled the coal dispute, including its alleged policy of "starving the miners." There is no doubt that the continuance of the mining struggle coupled with increased unemployment, and the general bleak outlook for the work, etc. did count heavily against the Government in the elections, but it is pointed out that under such conditions such as now prevail in Great Britain the Government in power would be bound to suffer at the hands of a great mass of voters anxious to find someone to blame for their troubles.

No Engine Fumes in Buick closed cars

In the 1927 Buick, the new Vacuum Ventilator pulls engine fumes and gases from the crankcase and ejects them outside the car.

This vital new Buick improvement does away with noxious odors. It adds greater luxury and pleasure to enclosed car operation.

The Vacuum Ventilator serves another very important purpose. It prevents crankcase vapors from condensing and diluting the oil. Owners of 1927 Buicks are advised to drain their crankcase oil only 4 times during the year.

NEGRO WOMAN KILLED EARLY SUNDAY MORNING

Mamie Daniels, negro, was instantly killed on the Winterville highway, near this city about two o'clock Sunday morning, when she was struck by a passing automobile, the driver of which is unknown to authorities.

According to evidence before Coroner S. G. Wilkerson, Jerry Daniels, husband of the dead woman, had parked his car beside the road to patch a tire and his wife was standing on the road watching him when a closed car, driven at a rapid rate of speed, knocked her down upon the pavement. The car did not stop, Daniels declared, and it was impossible to identify any of the occupants. The coroner's jury rendered a verdict that the woman met her death by being struck by an automobile driven by an unknown party.

Yesterday, however, brothers of the dead woman with a statement that Daniels and his wife had been having trouble and a brief that there had been foul play, Coroner Wilkerson immediately took the matter under consideration, but so far no evidence has been found that would justify the re-opening of the coroner's hearing.

Sea Scout Band Organized Here

Greenville now has the unique distinction of sponsoring one of the two Sea Scout Bands in the United States, as a result of an organization meeting held at the high school Monday afternoon, at which time the local boys received their registration certificates as members of the Sea Scout division of the Boy Scouts of America.

The new Sea Scout band has been organized with band leader E. G. Robeson as "skipper," with Dal Cox and George Gardner as 1st and 2nd mates respectively. The ship committee is composed of superintendent of schools J. H. Rose, as chairman, Principal Jas. A. Keech and John H. Wilcox, Scout Executive of the Pamlico Council.

The roster of the new Sea Scout unit is as follows: Clifford Bostic, Troy Burnette, Linwood Evans, Photo Evans, Linwood Everett, Guy Fleming, Chas. Forbes, Withers Harvey, J. B. James, Jr., Harry G. Johnson, Belmont Kibrell, Morris Lehn, Jas. Moye, Simon Moye, Glenn Robeson, Jas. Skinner, Louis Skinner, Harry Bruce Smith, Bruce Sugg, Archie Sugg, Jack Tripp, Sam B. Underwood, Hugh Winslow, Jacob Williams, Howard Wilson and James Wilson.

The band made its first appearance in the new Sea Scout uniforms in the Armistice Day parade and at the recent meeting of the North Carolina teachers held at the college.

The boys are now planning a series of concerts to earn money to buy blue uniforms for winter wear and to provide for a short cruise next summer.

The records of the Boy Scouts show a good many Scout bands throughout the country but heretofore the only sea scout band has been one sponsored by the University of Michigan at Ann Arbor—so Greenville has achieved quite an honor in having the second Sea Scout band in the country.

REPUBLICANS TO FRUSTRATE PLAN AT TAX REVISION

Washington, Nov. 30, (INS.)—Republican leaders in the house today announced their determination to frustrate a democratic plan to open the tax law for general revision in the coming short session of Congress.

It would not only be hasty but dangerous, said Representative John Q. Tilson, of Connecticut, Republican leader. "It must not be forgotten that next year we will not get $250,000,000 which we collected in back taxes this year."

The Republican tax program, he said, would be formulated after President Coolidge delivers his annual message next Tuesday. Tilson listed appropriations, the Alien property and radio bills, and the measure to raise salaries of federal judges as the chief legislative object of the republican majority early in the session.

There are 3,116 school teachers in North Carolina who have not received as much as a high school education. However, remarkable progress is being made in reducing the number of non-standard teachers. In 1919-1920 one half of the school teachers of the state were classified as non-standard, that is, they did not possess the equivalent of a high school education.

Remember that there is a certain amount of shopping that must be done between now and Christmas and the clerks in the stores will necessarily have to wait on these hundreds upon hundreds of customers. If the shoppers wait until the last minute to do their shopping it means that the clerks and those helping in the business houses must crowd many days activities into the last few days before Christmas which means that Christmas Day will find them in an exhausted condition.

Daily News Letter

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Honolulu, Nov. 30.—(INS)—A group of college boys from the University world cruise liner Rynlan had the thrill of their lives on their first day in Honolulu, when by accident they came under fire from the shotgun of a Chinese ice planter. The group which included John Rosenthal, a son of Moritz Rosenthal of the Hupuna, the board of directors, were enjoying the loan of a nice, new Hup' from the Honolulu agency. After a tour of the city and some of the suburban districts, they found themselves on the opposite side of town from the Moana Hotel, their destination. Taking a narrow branch road which led in the general direction of the Moana they were soon in the middle of a field of ripening rice. They swung around a bend in the road just as the rice planter let fly in the same direction at a flock of rice birds who were having a feast at his expense. Bird shot sprinkled the air liberally, but fortunately none of the students were hit. The rice planter, as much frightened as the boys, hurried over to the car and offered profuse plain-English apologies.

This is swordfish season in Hawaiian waters. Warm, clear days and crisp, cloudless nights with scarcely a breeze stirring, give the slanders of this time of the year a touch of weather closely akin to Indian summer on the mainland. The sea becomes unusually quiet, whitecaps disappear, and the surface takes on a glossy appearance, disturbed only at long intervals by slow moving ground swells. At such periods the swordfish come to the surface after small fish. Off the Kona district, Island of Hawaii some splendid catches of swordfish have been reported. Charles K. Frazier, a Honolulu realtor brought in a 250 pounder on regulation tackle recently in Kona waters. In the channel between Oahu and Kauai Islands, the big fish appear to be especially numerous, and the commercial fishermen, notably the Japanese, are making big hauls. One afternoon during the past week a Japanese sampan brought in two big fish, one weighing 320 pounds and the other 635. These were not taken on regulation tackle, but they have given local sportsmen a decided yearning to go out into the channel and see what can be done with split bamboo pole and 24 thread line.

time famous political moon-hour forum, is dead—just insofar as its originator, Two-Gun Jack Mokumala is concerned. Following the recent primary campaign, Mokumala declared that politics aren't what they used to be, and declined to carry on during the campaign for the general election.

"Yes, I take a divorce from my soap box and now I got nothing more to do with," Mokumala announced. "Soap box one time nice clean place for politics, but now all Tommy, Dickie Harris go there and talk talk foolish and some time he swear, too. So I quit. A series of experiments carried on by the U. S. Agricultural experiment station here during the last five years has shown that the canning and preserving of avocados, or alligator pears, either in their entirety with the shells removed, or in the form of a paste or prepared cocktail, is entirely possible. At present there is a quarantine against the shipment of Hawaiian avocados into the United States, due to the existence of the Mediterranean fruit fly in the Hawaiian Islands. It is believed that experiments in preserving this fruit will enable surplus avocados to be utilized for shipment to the mainland in a commercial way.

OPEN FORUM

Mr. Editor: The term "Xmas" which is used each year by so many of our people as a synonym for Christmas, should be done away with. There is no justification for use of the word as a substitute for Christmas, a word which can have no substitute and which cannot be improved upon by either a longer or shorter term. And we as a Christian people, should not attempt to offer a substitute. Representing the members of the Merchants Association, I am asking that those of our organization refrain from such practice in their advertisements at this season. The use of the word Christmas in an advertisement instead of the synonym term impresses the reader more because it represents something the birth of our Savior, an event that should always remain fresh in our minds. While my suggestion is directed to the members of the Merchants Association, I hope the general public won't think it preposterous on my part to ask that they, too, join with us and place a ban on say terms that suggests other than Christmas.

INDIGESTION

North Carolina Lady Says She Had An Awful Time With Indigestion, Till She Took Black-Draught.

Pilot Mountain, N. C.—"For several years I suffered with a bad case of chronic indigestion," says Mrs. Sam C. Inman, of this place. "I had had spells with my stomach. At times I had severe pains in my right side. My stomach would get upset and I would have an awful time. It seemed like everything I ate disagreed with me. I was in pretty bad shape. My husband had been using Theford's Black-Draught for some time for indigestion. He had spells of it too, so he suggested that I try Black-Draught. I took some from his box, just to see if it would help me, and I found it was the very thing for my trouble. It did me a great deal of good. My condition was brought on by a chronic case of constipation and, by getting relief from this, I found my general health was much better. We keep Black-Draught in the house all the time. Whenever I find I need it, I take several doses and thus avert a bad spell of indigestion. It is a splendid medicine and I am glad to say so."

Poor Rich Men

Not all rich men are rich. Some of them are poor. For in the struggle to pile up wealth, they forget to pile up health. And neglected health is an awful price to pay for wealth. The first thing—the very foundation, if you please—of all health is perfect sanitation. It took the world a long time to learn this, but it knows it now.

And the foundation of perfect sanitation is perfect plumbing. Unless a building is perfectly plumbed it is not 100 per cent sanitary. Men and women owe it to their own welfare—to the welfare of their children—to live and work in sanitary, healthful places.

To be healthy wealthy and wise, have the best plumbing in your home. Then see to it that the best plumbing is kept in the best condition.

New York, Nov. 30, (INS)—Capitulating to the annual impulse the writer today has selected an all American football team for the season of 1926 and, in all modesty, he cannot resist the conviction that it is truly representative of all the virtues and few, if any, foibles of your modern coven.

Pass Catchers Hanson, of Syracuse, is a genius, the equal of Osterman, of Michigan, in the department and his superior in all others, while Friedman, of the army and Kaer, of Southern California, are almost equally adept.

Open field-runners? They don't often come as good as Wilson and Frier. Line cracking? Joesting, that's all. Generalship? Benny, there art thou?

It would be difficult to believe that such an attack could be defeated even temporarily but if that remote supposition became finite, either Friedman or Wilson could and would oblige with a field goal. They also would be available for the point after the touchdown, which reached the maximum of its importance this year. There is no outstanding punter on this team but if you think the boys would mind you, that's your mistake not mine.

We for the defense, that we may be left in, the capable hands of such as Boeringer, the roving centre; Friedman, the star safety man; Joesting, a fine man behind the line, and the two tackling ends, Hanson and Winstlett.

The latter are the most versatile pair of wings football has known since Brick Mulier's day. They, therefore, get the nomination over Shipley, Brody, Osterman, Hubbard, Bauer, Lindemeyer, Missoury, and Wheeler, Minnesota. Everything else being equal, as far as the writer was concerned, Osterman's bland indifference in the navy game ruined his prospects.

Forward passing, in spite of leg is'tive effort, to the contrary, was the soul of all versatile attacks this year. The team led the two greatest of the day and age, Winstlett, of Alabama, and Friedman, of Michigan.

Wickhorst was a fine offensive and defensive tackle all season and his single lapse in the army game was to be expected since none of us are 100 per cent stiner just about carried the Nebraska team and it was quite an outlier at that. Yoder was little, if any, behind either of the first two and Dixon and Cochran, of LaFayette, were uniquely good. Cochran, however, was banished from the squad for the final game and so gives place to the next best who happened to be Kivorkian and Roskowski. It was a question, and still is, as to whether either man has anything on Sprague, of the army, Latsman, of N. Y. U., Nelson of Iowa; Johnson, of Northwest; Mancet, of Co. gate; Pickhard, of Alabama; Eddy, of the Navy, or several others of equal rank.

The guards were extremely fault of selection, once one progressed beyond Smith, who was the most efficient workman the position has known in several seasons. Hess, of Ohio, State, was a hot choice last year but those who saw both in action declare Shively to be the better man. Connaughton attracted great attention because of his size and speed. He tore the Navy apart but some of his late games were not so impressive. Stubbahn, of Yale, played magnificently with a losing team; Mayer was consistently good and so was Swan. Lovette, Michigan; Taylor, Southern California, and Guye, Cornell, were also among the outstanding candidates.

Boeringer was the center of the year with no rival very close. The next approach was effected by Cravath with Butler in third position, although Reitsch, of Illinois, depreciated the latter's standing considerably. Da'ly, of the Army, was good but didn't carry the matter to extremes. Buttercourt, St. Mary's and Casine, Marquette, were well beyond the average, too.

Chicago, Nov. 30.—(INS)— Grains closed steady to easier today with wheat 7-8 to 1 and 1-4c lower; corn 1-8c higher. Oats unchanged at 1-8c lower.

Wheat started steady to 1-2c lower with the December future showing the weakness on selling by commission houses. On the decline there was a buying on reports of raids in the northern part of the Argentina and the market firmed.
Trade was moderate with the majority awaiting developments. Exports demand over night was again
light. It was reported. The conditions over the Canadian northwest
generally unsettled.

Liverpool opened 1-34 up to 1-4d
lower. Estimated receipts were 10 cars; even opened 1-8c down to 1-4c higher. The December delivery showed the weakness on scattered liquidation. On the decline there was local buying and the market

light. Estimated receipts were 40 cars. Weather conditions over the belt were generally favorable with the movement light.

moderate with considerable changing volume. Estimated receipts were 20 cars.
Provisions were firmer early.

MARKET LETTER
New York, Nov. 30.—(INS)—
Industrial stocks put up a strong resistance today to the efforts of the professionals to depress values. But on the whole the market gave a good account of itself, despite the continuance of the 5 1-2 percent call loan rate.

In a symposium released by the United States Chamber of Commerce, the general impression of the business leaders interviewed was that the volume of business in 1927 would be somewhat below that of 1926 record breaker, these business leaders also predicted lower prices in some commodities.

Active buying of the tobacco
stocks followed the announcement of the probable merger of important tobacco companies including Porto Rican, American Tobacco
Co., Congress Cigar Co., Bayuk Cigar, etc., tobacco products was in good demand above 100.

On the whole the market was dull and heavy. Wall Street reported a heavy short interest and an over-sold condition in many of the active stocks. The railroad stocks were neglected. Trading in the Nickel Plate stocks being held in abeyance pending the outcome of important conferences here
this week with the Van Sweringen brothers, who are promoting the merger.

Studebaker was a strong spot in the popular motor share list and sold in good volume up to 53 1-2.

The oil stocks held firmly in the face of a new flood of crude oil over-production and market rumors of an impending cut in prices of both crude and refined oils.

Most of the important commodities moved through narrow price ranges, cotton recovering a few points, sugar retaining its latest advance and rubber quiet and steady.
Industrial stocks maintained a firm trend in the final period and efforts to depress values were for the most part unsuccessful.

Phillips Petroleum led a moderate rally in the oil stocks and the American Republics do not possible to keep friendly with them.

If Europe insists on being dis-of replying politely. We might around patagonia, you can use our Panama Canal. The trouble is that we have no flying machines

to back up that, or any other state-
