REFLECTOR OFFERS OVER $3,000 IN PRIZES TO AMBITIOUS ONES

Subscription Campaign Gets Under Way Monday. Studebaker Sedan and Chevrolet Head List of Prizes.

Elsewhere in this paper today will be found a double page advertisement which gives the complete details of The Daily Reflector's subscription and prize campaign which gets under way on Monday, January 3rd.

The campaign is to be short and snappy, running but six weeks with the close coming on the night of February 12th at eight o'clock. Prizes are six in number, headed by a Studebaker Standard Six Custom Sedan that is the last word in automobiles.

The car sells delivered for $1,595.00, and includes bumpers, spare tire and cover and all necessary accessories.

Second prize will be a Chevrolet Coach, selling delivered from the Pitt Chevrolet Co., Inc., for $730.00.

Third prize is one of $200.00 in cash, while the Fourth, Fifth and Sixth awards are cash ones of $75.00, $50.00 and $25.00 respectively.

In addition to these prizes there is a generous provision which provides for the payment of a ten per cent cash commission to all those who enter and remain active to the close of the campaign, and make at least one report to the campaign office a week.

These prizes mentioned above will go to the ambitious folks who enter, their names and remain active to the close of the contest, February 12th.

The campaign starts Monday, January 3rd and runs for but six weeks. Prizes will be awarded in order to those securing the most votes from paid subscriptions to the Daily Reflector, from six months to a year or more.

The schedule printed elsewhere gives the voting value of paid subscriptions along with the price of the paper.

In addition to votes earned through paid subscriptions to the paper, other votes may be had by saving the free 100 vote coupons which appear in each issue of the paper.

There is no limit to the number of coupons a constant can turn in, and all your friends and neighbors may save them for you.

All that is required is that you turn these coupons in to the campaign office of The Reflector before the expiration date noted thereon.

The Entry Coupon counts but once for 5,000 votes when properly filled out and sent in. This coupon appears in this issue, along with the first 100 vote free coupon.

All white people above the age of sixteen, living in Pitt County and surrounding territory are eligible to enter and compete. Everything connected with the drive is free including stationery to write your friends.

No additional vote will be offered at any time during the campaign other than those announced today. There will be no change in the closing date of the contest unless something unforeseen happens.

where they live or who they are. Nothing will be tolerated that will work to the disadvantage of another, and all have the same opportunity to earn the leading prize.

The voting schedule is divided up into three separate periods with the most votes to be had during the first period. Those who enter early will have the advantage. All stationery is now ready and may be had for the asking. Send in your Entry Coupon today and get away to a flying start.

PUBLIC DANCES BE PROHIBITED HERE IN FUTURE

Several Important Ordinances Passed by Board of Aldermen in Session Last Night.

In addition to receiving the resignation of Mayor D. M. Clark and the election of J. C. Lanier as his successor, the Board of Aldermen in adjourned session last night elected one new alderman and passed several important ordinances including one prohibiting subscription dances in Greenville.

After disposing of several routine matters the board voted to amend the present ordinance which prevents the covering of shingle roofs with metal roofing to include all kinds of roofing materials as well as metal.

Another ordinance prohibiting the use of wooden shingles, or any other material that is not fire resistant for roofing purposes in the town of Greenville in the future and a provision requiring the removal of all shingle roofs within ten years from the date of the passing of law was adopted by the board.

An ordinance making it unlawful to operate a public dance, commonly known as a script dance, within the corporate limits of Greenville was unanimously adopted.

The ordinance carries a fine of $50 for each offense and empowers officers of the law to close any such dances that may be attempted.

Another ordinance places a privilege license tax of $1,000 on jewelry auctions and peddling and a like tax on the auction or peddling of medicines on the streets or elsewhere about the city.

J. H. Boyd, Jr., was unanimously elected alderman from the Fourth Ward to succeed F. J. Forbes, recently resigned from the board.

ALDERMEN ELECT J. CON LANIER AS MAYOR GREENVILLE

Popular Young Attorney to Succeed D. M. Clark Who Resigned to Accept District Office.

The Board of Aldermen last night unanimously elected J. C. Lanier as Mayor of Greenville to fill the unexpired term of D. M. Clark who last night resigned the office. Immediately following his election Mr. Lanier was called to the city hall where his oath of office was administered by Mayor Pro Tem John Ivey Smith.

Mr. Lanier, who is one of the city's most popular young attorneys is thirty-five years old and is a native of this city. He is the son of Mrs. Pattie E. Lanier and the late J. C. Lanier. He received his early education in the schools of this city after which he entered the University of North Carolina. Following his graduation from that institution in 1912 he was principal of the Greenville High School for two years. He gave up his position in the local school to attend Georgetown University where he completed his study of law after which he returned to this city to practice his profession.

When the war ended Mr. Lanier returned to this city and resumed his practice of law. In the election of 1922 he was elected to the office of Solicitor of the County Court and was re-elected at the last election.

After taking his oath of office last night Mr. Lanier in a brief address to the Board of Aldermen expressed appreciation of the honor that had been bestowed upon him and promised his every effort to justify the confidence that the board had placed in him. He praised the administration of the retiring Mayor, and the hearty cooperation that he has received from the Board of Aldermen.

NEW MEXICAN OIL AND LAND LAWS EFFECTIVE TODAY

Government Has Taken No Steps to Confiscate Property of Those Who Failed to Comply With Law.

Mexico, City, Jan. 1.—(INS)—The much discussed Mexican land and petroleum laws went into effect today, the legal time limit for filing of applications for revalidation of petroleum rights secured prior to 1917 having expired at midnight.

The offices of the petroleum division of the Department of Industry remained open until the last minute of the expiring year to afford the recalcitrant oil companies a last chance to comply with the new law. While Mexican officials today asserted a goodly number of applications were filed yesterday, they admitted that there was no rush by American oil companies to get under cover of the law.

The Mexican government has indicated that it will take no steps at this time which might be interpreted as a move towards confiscation of the properties which are still outside of the new regulations.

On the contrary, there are evidences that the government will guard very carefully against any act which might widen the present breach, in anticipation that negotiations now in progress will lead to an eventual agreement.

In some responsible quarters it was stated that possibly the government would permit the oil companies to continue, to operate as prior to the operation of the new regulations, holding in theory that they are the property of the government but making no attempt to put the theory into practice.

A large proportion of the new applications for title which were filed were those of original owners of lands which are on lease, these owners fearing that their property rights might be lost if they failed to comply with the new laws.

TODAY

One Dying—One Born. Last News is Good. Yes, The Soul Survives. In 10 Years, 15 Billions.

(By Arthur Brisbane)

Nineteen hundred and twenty-six is dead, the good and bad of twelve months is part of history when bells ring, horns blow and bottle whiskey was drunk last midnight.

Today begins 1927, 365 more chances for a new start. Millions will make good resolutions, many will fail.

Other millions will proudly refrain from good resolutions, and a much bigger percentage of them will fail.

Even the weakest of us should at least desire and try to do better.

1926 has been a good year bringing prosperity to the busy progress in science, no great calamity, above all, a tying up with Europe's World Court or League of Nations, and none in sight.

Last minute news is satisfactory. Uncle Sam, thanks to Secretary Mellon, will stop putting poison in industrial alcohol scattered all over the nation.

Intelligent humans should know better than to drink the stuff, after bootleggers have labeled and corked it in handsome bottles. But they will drink it, and to poison weak brethren from whom you have forcibly taken campari seems harsh.

By order of President Coolidge Uncle Sam will curb his dictator's propensities in Nicaragua. He may abandon the censorship, which would, of course, be used to keep the American Congress and people ignorant of what goes on.

Meanwhile, we are getting ourselves disliked among southern neighbors, with our talk about seizing Nicaragua ports to protect American property.

Russia confiscated American property ALL OF IT. We didn't try to occupy Russia, for the good reason that Russia wouldn't let us.

Why pick on little Nicaragua? Dr. Curtis, astronomer, tells Philadelphia's meeting of scientists, that study of interstellar space convinces him the soul is immortal. That's an improvement on the astronomer who said he had swept all space with his telescope and found no sign or need of a God.

Dr. Curtis thinks it inconceivable that soul's creating such masterpieces as Handel's "Largo" or Keat's "Ode to a Grecian Urn," should be doomed to annihilation, or the "product of mere chemical interaction of molecules."

That is not a very convincing argument for immortality. What about the Grecian urn itself? or the color and perfume of the earth, annihilated.

Charles Fournier, apart from the assorted "Revelations" of various religions, offered the most convincing argument in favor of immortality. All human beings long for it, "attractions are proportional to destinies."

The power that creates us, does not deceive us, would not make us long for that which we are destined never to possess.

This country owes thanks to Congressman McClintic of Oklahoma, who talks common sense on airships and opposes squandering millions on battleships that would be mere targets for air bombs.

Mr. McClintic says truly, "If we have another war, we shall have to do what we did in the last—the our battleships up in a river."

Representatives of Arizona, Nevada and California, were trying yesterday to arrange on fair terms, for use and division of water power from Boulder Dam, to be constructed on Arizona territory.

Arizona demands six dollars a year per electric horse power. California wants to pay one dollar. Either price seems cheap to those that have ever kept a horse or bought electric power at the prevailing price, per kilowatt hour.

The three great states should agree promptly, realizing that what counts is not a few millions of dollars that one state may get from the other, but the inconceivable benefit that the Boulder Dam will confer on all three of the states, and the nation.

That dam will provide enough water to cover one foot deep 42,000 square miles of the earth's most fertile lands, now non-productive.

In power, and irrigation the great dam will increase the nation's wealth by fifteen thousand million dollars, in the first ten years after its completion, nearly double the amount that Europe owes us, and it will continue at that rate forever.

There is plenty of prosperity for all the states in that magnificent project, and none should oppose or delay it.

CLARK TENDERS RESIGNATION AS MAYOR OF CITY

Retires From Office To Take Up Duties as Solicitor of Fifth Judicial District

At an adjourned meeting of the Board of Aldermen last night D. M. Clark, four times Mayor of Greenville, resigned his office in order that today he might take his oath of office as Solicitor of the Fifth Judicial District, having been elected to that position at the November elections. Prior to the meeting of the board the retiring Mayor delightfully entertained all city officials and employees together with a number of friends at an oyster roast given at the city hall.

In accepting the resignation of the Mayor the board expressed appreciation of the fine administration of the city's affairs by Mr. Clark and as a token of love and esteem members of the board, together with city officials presented him with a handsome traveling bag. The address of presentation was made by Alderman J. H. Waldrop and this was followed by short talks by other members of the board each lauding the wonderful accomplishments of the Clark administration.

Mr. Clark, a native of Halifax County, has been a resident of this city for nearly twenty years and during that time he has served both the city and county in its affairs.

Coming to this city in March, 1907, Mr. Clark was engaged in civil engineering until 1912 when he took up the practice of law. In 1913 he was one of Pitt County's representatives in the General Assembly and again in 1917 he filled the same office. In the spring of 1918 he entered the military service and served as a lieutenant until close of the World War. He returned to this city following his military service and in 1919 was elected Mayor. Since that time he has held the position of Mayor of Greenville until his resignation last night, having been elected to the office for four successive terms.

In retiring from office last night Mr. Clark expressed appreciation to all those with whom he has been working as Mayor of the city and summarized the work that has been carried on during the seven, and a half years he has served the city in the capacity of Mayor. He also made several recommendations to the board which he believed to be in the best interest of the city in the future if carried out.

The report of the accomplishments of the administration showed greatly improved conditions in the city's finances while the recommendations included the placing of full power of the police department in the hands of the Mayor; an increase in the salary for the office of Mayor and extension of the Mayor's jurisdiction. Also the separation of the city government and the school district whereby the financial control of the schools system should be placed in the hands of the school board.

(Mayor Clark's report is detailed will appear in our next issue.)

PROMINENT WINSTON MAN ARRESTED ON LIQUOR CHARGE

Winston Salem, N. C., Jan. 1.—(INS)—Richard J. Reynolds, son of the late R. J. Reynolds, founder of the large tobacco company bearing his name, was arrested here early today on a charge of violating the prohibition law and resisting an officer.

Reynolds was cited to appear in police court Monday morning. Although his name appeared on the police blotter early today, at a late hour this morning no warrant had been drawn up against the young man.

The arresting officer refused to divulge circumstances surrounding the arrest.

OFFICERS SEEK MISSING MAN

Asheville, N. C., Jan. 1.—(INS)—Police and sheriff's forces today instituted a wide search for Willie Bridges, who has been missing from his home here for several days.

Officers were requested to make the search by Bridges' wife who believes that her husband was slain and his body thrown in Lake Lure.

RALPH HAS QUIET CELEBRATION

Raleigh, N. C., Jan. 1.—(INS)—The North Carolina capital celebrated New Year's with comparative quietude, except for the greeting of 1927 at midnight. Few arrests were reported. All State offices were closed for the day.

WELCOME TO THE NEW YEAR WAS DRIPPING WET

Celebrations in New York, Washington and Chicago Wettest Since Prohibition Law Enacted

New York, Jan. 1.—(INS)—The infant 1927, the latest addition to the family of Father Time, was pronounced a promising youngster today, while much of the United States nursed a headache as a result of the vociferousness, with which the birth of the New Year was welcomed.

In New York the welcome was one of the most boisterous and one of the wettest ever witnessed by the metropolis. It also was the most expensive.

Braving a fine drizzle which started early in the evening, and disregarding the widely published warnings of poison alcohol, New York's thousands swarmed to the night clubs, restaurants and hotels and paid the highest prices on record for entertainment as they watched the Old Year ebb and the New Year enter. Other thousands, unable to secure reservations, literally fought for an opportunity to spend their money.

Theatres and the churches had record attendances. The streets were as crowded as the places of amusement, and everywhere, cheap noise making devices created a din that was bedlam.

Liquor was cheap, as bootleggers go, and was apparently in abundant supply, and as no fatalities had been reported early today, it was seemingly of no worse quality than on previous New Years nor as bad as that sold around Christmas time.

The recently enacted curfew law was suspended for the occasion to the merrymaking continued until daylight, many of the night clubs, restaurants and hotels including breakfast in the services rendered for the hitherto unheard-of cover charges. These ranged from $15 to $40 at places where $3 is the usual fee.

There were no raids by the federal enforcement agents.

Washington, Jan. 1.—(INS)—The ancient 1926 and the todding 1927 staggered a bit as they made their departure and entrance to the national capital.

It was one of the wettest New Year's Eves on record. Hotels, restaurants and supper clubs were jammed with noisy revelers and if the flasks had been stretched end to end they probably would have reached from the treasury to the capitol.

There were, comparatively few arrests, however, the police taking no action except in the most flagrant cases.

The President and Mrs. Coolidge watched the entry of 1927 for the first time in year. Usually, midnight has found Mr. Coolidge in bed, but last night he remained up to watch an innovation, established by Mrs. Coolidge. This consisted of having a Marine band appear on the roof of the White House promptly at midnight and sound the beautiful "Taps" over the city. This was followed by four trombones giving Beethoven's "Cretation" and Obott's "Over The Stars."

A crowd of several thousand people thronged Pennsylvania Avenue in front of the mansion to hear the music.

Chicago, Jan. 1.—(INS)—Chicago's 1927 New Year's celebration was wet—dripping wet. This despite the fact that reams of copy telling of horrible alcoholic death over the Christ—season have filled the papers daily.

The famous loop district was nothing short of riotous. Hotel dining rooms, restaurants, cabarets, night clubs—in fact, every place that had any excess at all for keeping open past the midnight hour, was thronged with noisy, synthetically happy customers.

Prohibition agents—120 of them—were busy throughout the night and early morning but under instruction from F. C. Yellowley, prohibition administrator, they did not stalk his flask totes or made arrests only in the most flagrant cases, and concentrated their attention on gathering evidence for use later in padlock proceedings.

President Rubs Elbows With the Citizens Today

Washington, Jan. 1.—(INS)—John W. Public—3303 of him—was led into the White House today and shook hands with President Coolidge at the annual New Year's reception.

Clockers at the doors of the executive mansion announced that this number was 46 greater than the number who shook hands last year.

Despite the inclemency of the day, hundreds stood in line thru the White House grounds for the opportunity of personally greeting the President.

GOVERNOR SMITH GOES INTO OFFICE FOR FOURTH TIME

Republicans and Democrats Generous in Applause as "Al" Delivers Address.

Albany, N. Y., Jan. 1.—(INS)—Governor Alfred E. Smith was inaugurated chief executive of New York State at 12:30 o'clock this afternoon in the presence of one of the most distinguished and greatest gatherings of its kind in the history of the empire state.

This marked the fourth time that Governor Smith stood in the Assembly chamber of the capitol and took the constitutional oath of office an event that has never happened before in the state's history.

Much to the surprise of even his closest personal friends, the Governor frankly discussed the fact that his name is being mentioned repeatedly for the Democratic Presidential nomination in 1928.

"I have no idea what the future has in store for me but everyone else in the United States, seems to, have some notion about it," the Governor declared. "But I want to say right here that I'll do nothing to, achieve it except to give the people of New York state the kind of service that will make me deserving of it if I ever get it."

This declaration, by the Governor was met with a great outburst of applause, from both Republicans and Democrats, who composed the audience of some 1,000 which witnessed the ceremony in the Assembly chamber.

The Governor said he felt deeply gratified over the unusual honor which the people of the State had bestowed upon him in electing him chief executive four time.—an honor which has never before, been given, to any man in the State's history.

The Assembly chamber, the scene of the inaugural ceremony was decorated as never before in the history of such an event. It had been transformed from a dreary legislative chamber into a thing of beauty.

World's First "Goober" Exposition at Windsor Came to Close Early Today

Windsor, N. C., Jan. 1.—(INS)—The world's first peanut exposition came to close here during the early hours of the morning. The six-day festival officially ended at 2 A. M.

The final day of the exposition was Virginia Day in which hundreds of Virginians were present. A coronation of three beauty queens of Eastern Carolina and Tidewater Virginia featured the activities last night.

Miss Louise Brinkley, of Suffolk, Va., was crowned queen of Tidewater Virginia by J. A. Pritchett, representing the Governor of North Carolina. Lieutenant Governor J. P. West, of Virginia, crowned Miss Blanche Hobland, of Abbeville, queen of Eastern Carolina and Miss Edna Best was crowned queen of Berle county.

Exposition officials believed today that the festival would be made an annual affair, and possibly would be held in a Virginia city in 1927.

Border Towns of Cal-exico and Mexicali Visited by Over Forty Quakes Early Today

San Diego, Cal., Jan. 1.—(INS)—Two more severe earthquakes Cal-exico and Mexicali at 8 and 8:30 a. m. according to a report received here over the wire of the San Diego and Eastern Railroad Company.

Immediately after the report was received the wire went out.

El Centro, Cal., Jan. 1.—(INS)—Forty earthquakes, six of them of violent intensity, rocked California's famous Imperial valley between, midnight and 7:30 a. m. today, causing damage in the border towns of Cal-exico, and Mexicali estimated at $500,000 and $750,000, according to advices received here, and creating pandemonium among thousands of New Year's revelers.

Relief work was undertaken at once. Adobe structures in Mexicali caved in like so many houses of cards. Panic was intensified by the glaring fire that destroyed the Azteca brewery.

For a time telephone and telegraph services was demoralized but communication was soon restored.

Governor Abelardo Rodriguez of Lower California, ordered several hundred troops today to assist in maintaining order and aid in checking up the damage.

Not a single brick or cement building in either town was left unshaken, reports showed, and scores of structures were reduced to pile of debris. One man was reported missing in Cal-exico and is believed to have perished when a building collapsed over him. A check-up identified him as the manager of the Western Union Telegraph office in Cal-exico.

At least a score of persons were injured by falling buildings, none of them severely, according to reports.

These shocks were apparently centered in the region, about Cal-exico and Mexicali, although they were felt as far north as Brawley, as far east as Yuma and almost as far west as San Diego. It was indicated in El Centro the shocks were all of light intensity and not much damage resulted. There were several cracked plate glass windows and a few walls were shaken out of plumb, but aside from this the city was not damaged.

The first shock was felt at 12:18 and was followed within the hour by two others. These three were the most severe, bringing the series and caused practically all of the damage.

Among the wrecked buildings in Cal-exico were the postoffice, Glen Wood Hotel, Overland Hotel, Waldbourne Hotel, Central Bank, the fire and police station, the railroad station, several garages and at least a score of other buildings.

WATCH NIGHT SERVICE AT ST. PAUL'S EPISCOPAL CHURCH

At eleven o'clock last night a goodly congregation assembled at St. Paul's church to watch the old year out and the new year in. The beautiful Evening Prayer Service was used, and the Rev. James E. W. Cook preached a short sermon on "Time, Like an Ever-Flowing Stream." In the course of his remarks, the preacher drew a vivid picture of the Oriental idea of time, a an illusion, contrasted with the Western idea of time as money.

He enlarged on Time as an enemy getting in the last victorious blow on every man; and time as the servant of those who make it the means of their growth and improvement; and appealed to his hearers to use Time as the opportunity to lead them to the knowledge of the Timeless One and the Changeless Love.

A few minutes of silent prayer while the midnight hour was striking, and the benediction, brought this impressive service to a close; and all left with the best wishes for the new year.

MRS. H. L. CARR ENTERTAINS

Mrs. H. L. Carr enjoyably entertained a few friends on Friday afternoon at an informal tea, complimentary to her daughter, Mrs. Hunter Fleming, of K. O. Mrs. Fleming spent Friday as the guest of her sister, Mrs. W. A. Darden, Jr., and in the afternoon, Mrs. Carr invited a few friends to her cup of tea and as a surprise to Mrs. Fleming.

The guests included the intimate girlhood friend of Mrs. Fleming, who prior to her marriage, was a Greenville girl.

The guests enjoyed a pleasant hour of conversation and reminiscences over a cup of tea. Salted nuts and sandwiches were also served.

Those present were Mrs. L. H. Bowling, Mrs. N. O. Warren, Mrs. A. J. Moore, Mrs. H. L. Hodges, Mrs. W. A. Darden, Jr., Mrs. L. W. Gaylord, Misses Estelle Greene, Margaret Blow and Henrie Whichard.

SURPRISE BIRTHDAY DINNER FOR MR. J. B. JAMES

Mrs. J. B. James most delightfully entertained a number of friends on New Year's Eve, at a surprise birthday dinner to celebrate her husband's birthday. The home was appropriately decorated for the occasion, with holly and mistletoe being used in profusion. The lights were shaded with red, and the windows and mantles were banked with holly and burning tapers.

The guests arrived during Mr. James' absence at the Kiwanis Club meeting, and upon arrival were given noise makers with New Year's cards attached. On Mr. James' return home, he was greeted with much noise and enthusiasm by the guests, who had brought him ridiculous birthday gifts, such as toy wagons, kitchen stoves, horns, etc.

Five small tables were arranged in the different rooms, and were centered with a burning red tape on green. The guests matched their New Year's cards for dinner partners. An elegant turkey dinner was served. The ice course attractively carried out the New Year, and birthday idea each cake bearing a tiny burning red taper.

After dinner, the guests were invited into the dining room to visit the Snow Man in a forest of snow and holly. Each guest pulled a red ribbon and discovered mints, candies, chewing gum and chocolates.

After the visit to the Snow Man an interesting surprise, was the colored maie quartet, who had been secretly taken to the upstairs hall, and they delighted the guests with several selection characteristic of this quartet.

Dancing, interspersed with amusing stunts, was enjoyed thru-out the evening.

Balloons were suspended from the entrances of all the rooms, and were popped by the gentlemen guests. The lucky one found a rhyme directing them on a hunt. Dr. Skinner, Larry James and H. A. White found at the end of their quest, a box of crystallized fruits, a silver ash tray and New Year's motto.

Mr. and Mrs. James led the guests in a march and from the rear hall, Miss Lucy James and James Burton, James, Jr., presented each with attractive favors—vari-colored lilies to the ladies and gaily decorated saxophones to the gentlemen.

The Old Year was watched out and the New Year brought in with horns and bells.

Those enjoying this unique affair with Mr. and Mrs. James, were: Mr. and Mrs. H. A. White,

ELMER HARDY ENTERTAINS AT ROOK

Elmer Hardee entertained on Friday evening at the attractive home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. D. W. Hardee, at an enjoyable rook party. The home was decorated with Christmas greens.

As the guests arrived, Mrs. L. R. Hardee and Miss Corinne Tucker served fruit punch in the hall. Five tables were arranged in the drawing room and dining room for rook. After the games, Mrs. Leland Hardee and Miss Elizabeth Hardee served an ice course carrying out the green and white color scheme.

MR. AND MRS. J. R. HODGES ENTERTAIN

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hodges enjoyably entertained about a dozen friends last night at a watch party. The home was decorated with Christmas decorations.

The guests, arrived about nine o'clock and stayed until the New Year. Pleasant conversation and merriment was enjoyed.

A tempting buffet lunch was served. The dining room was very attractive, with its burning red tapers and centerpiece of poinsettias.

"THE PRESENCE TO ENLIGHTEN OUR WAY"

Thoughts for New Year's Eve.

Exodus 33:13-15:—"Shew me now Thy way, and He said, my presence shall go with thee."

This is a portion of the conversation reported by Moses as having taken place between him and the Eternal on the occasion of his receiving the command to lead the children of Israel into the promised land.

The way they had come had often been rough and dreary, and beset with many dangers seen and unseen. There had been days of hunger and thirst, when the sun beat unmercifully on the hot desert sands and the nights had been insufferable. There had been, too, days of plenty when the quails were sent to relieve their hunger and water gushed out of the rock to relieve their thirst. And if one day they came to the wells of disappointment and bitterness, as at Marah, the morrow had found them refreshing themselves at the twelve wells of Elim and resting in the grateful shade of its seventy palm trees. It had been a chequered career. The years that had passed since they left Egypt had been marked by births and deaths, sickness and health, joy and sorrow, plenty and penury.

Yet: as they looked back, they could not fail to see God had gone before them to lead and direct and had come behind to succor and protect. And now, on the border of Canaan, Moses seeks renewed assurance of God's favor and good-will. I need not stay to point out the parallelism between this old history and our condition in Greenville tonight. We have come to another milestone in our life-journey. The past years have been made up of varied experiences, glad and sad, failures and successes. And as we stand on the threshold of the New Year—the Unknown Year—we, too, like Moses, should resort to Prayer. Only let us be sure that our prayer is of the acceptable kind.

1. For the prayer of Moses was AN UNENLIGHTENED PRAYER FOR LIGHT. His petition, "Show me now Thy way," was a rash, unwise and impatient prayer: the kind of prayer which God never answers, according to our pleasure. Moses wanted the sealed book of the future opened, unrolled and set before him—that book in which God has written things to come.

But God has mercifully veiled the future from us. He does not let us see far ahead. In mercy He overthrows our predictions and mocks our guesses; so that we have made the proverb: "It is the unexpected which happens."

We know not anything about tomorrow—we can only hope and trust; and it is better so. The uncertainties of life keep us sober, watchful, humble and prayerful. It would not help us to know all the way before us.

Our wiser plan is to pray, as we sing:—

"I do not ask to see the distant scene, One step enough for me."

2. The rash and inconsiderate prayer of Moses is ANSWERED IN GOD'S LARGER WISDOM.

"Shew me what is coming," said Moses. And the Voice replies, "Only this much will I shew thee. My presence shall go with thee, and I will give thee rest; or, as Dr. Moffat translates it, 'The Eternal answered, 'My presence shall go with you, and I will settle you safe.'"

God strips the request of Moses of all that is presumptuous and unwise, and answers what remains. He denies the wish that would work mischief and grants the sure blessing.

It is a mercy that most of our prayers are dealt with in this manner. Faith and foolishness go hand-in-hand in most of our prayers. We should miss most of the highest and best things of life if God were to say "Yes" to all our requests; and we should drink a deal of poison if He allowed us to partake of every cup for which we ask.

If "The Presence" go with us, all will be well. In the desert there will be water springs, and in all barren and rugged places there will be found the "green pastures" of His love.

3. NOW see how FAITH AT ONCE RECOGNIZES that this is the surest and best blessing, and eagerly asks that it may be given.

"Yes," cried Moses at the finish, "that is what I need—just that and not the other thing—Thy presence. If Thy presence go not with us, we are carry us not up hence". This, I believe, will be the confession of every right thinking man and woman in our community tonight as they face the beginning of a New Year. We dare not trust ourselves; we cannot depend upon any of life's uncertainties. If the past year has taught us anything it is this: that we were weak when we thought ourselves strong; often most foolish when we deemed ourselves wise; most erring when we claimed infallibility; most disappointed where our calculations were most confident; and that we only acted wisely and well when we took hold of God's hand and in trustful prayer let Him lead us on.

Happy, thrice happy, are those who, tonight, in answer to their cry, "If Thy presence go not with us, carry us not up hence," can hear the fuller answer given us by God's dear Son: "I will never leave thee nor forsake thee. Lo, I am with you all ways, even unto the end of the world."

His company alone can make for you—as I wish—the Happiest and most prosperous New Year.

KIWANIANS HOLD INTERESTING MEET

Reports for Year 1926 Show Many Accomplishments by the Organization.

The local Kiwanis Club held its last meeting of the old year last night with Kiwanian J. E. W. Cook in charge of the program. In the absence of now past President M. S. Blount, Vice-President Geo. J. Woodard presided. In concluding his part of the evening's program JEW Cook placed upon the minds and conscience of the Kiwanians some of the ideals of Kiwanis principles which are necessary if the club hopes to function in carrying out the purposes for which it was first originated.

As was shown by the reports of various committeemen and the secretary and treasurer, the past year has been one of the best in the local club's history. Many of the plans of club that were placed as goals for the year have been perfected, and those projects which were not reached during the administration of the retiring officers will receive the attention of the incoming officials and carried forward as planned.

The Kiwanis Club has at the present time the largest membership since its organization, there being about fifteen new members received into the club during the year 1926, and its attendance percentage for the year the local club has made one of the best records of any of the clubs in the Carolina district.

M. K. Blount, the retiring president who automatically becomes district trustee from the club with the new president and secretary W. H. Woodard and H. E. Austin, respectively, have been named as delegates to attend a trustees and officers convention which meets in Charlotte during this month.

NOTICE OF SALE UNDER DEED OF TRUST
 Under and by virtue of the power of sale contained in a certain deed of trust, executed on December 14th, 1925 by R. M. Elks and wife, Margaret L. Elks, of Junius D. Grimes, Trustee which was registered February 18 1926 in Book H-16, page 306 of the Pitt County Records, default having been made in the payment of the debt secured thereby and demand of foreclosure having been made by the owner of the said over-due indebtedness, the undersigned Trustee will on Saturday January 22, 1927 at twelve o'clock noon, before the court house door of Pitt County at Greenville, N. C., sell for cash to the highest bidder, the following described real estate, to-wit:

Trousers Doomed By Paris Style Makers

Paris, Jan. 1.—(INS) Long trousers for men are doomed. They are to be replaced by breeches and silk stockings. So saying Maurice de Walleffe writing in Le Journal urges Paris tailors to take the initiative in launching the new style and wrest from Bond Street the supremacy that is England's in men's styles. De Walleffe sees no reason why Paris, the capital of science, the arts, pleasure and women's styles, should not also dictate men's styles.

Paris is as well qualified to set men's styles as women providing indisputable proof of esthetic taste is shown in the debut, says de Walleffe. All right. There is one particularly disagreeable detail in man's present costume, the pantaloons, double cylinder of material apparently made to hide anatomic faults. The triumph of the short skirt has revealed to us in our female companions unknown but charming though more robust the masculine leg is none the less well modeled, ankles, calves and knees. All leg is none the less well modeled. The emancipation women dared, men should dare to turn.

Long skirts become short skirts by insensible stages. We must pass directly from pantaloons to breeches. Golf, fencing, bicycling and hunting costumes have prepared our eyes.

Let three dozen correct Frenchmen have the courage to show themselves on the street some morning in breeches and silk stockings, calling it le costume a la francais! Have the newspapers support them and the revolution is accomplished.

The next day there will be 1,000 such costumes. Our South American, Italian and Spanish visitors will carry the mode back to their countries.

Once and for all our tailors will be delivered from the necessity of copying eternally the British fashion. They will be free to create the Latin silhouette, which, delivering us at least from trousers will have taken away from us much ugliness.

De Walleffe, more Latin than the Latins, wants the Latins to have the credit for the great deliverance. He urges speed.

Take an active part in this subscription campaign each week and fail to be awarded a ten per cent. cash commission

All Ambitious Folks Invited to Participate

The campaign is open to all above the age of sixteen living in Pitt County and surrounding territory. All prizes are free without any cost whatsoever. All one needs to earn the very first prize on the list is ambition and energy. Those who devote a little of their spare time each day in having friends save for them the free coupons in the paper each day and securing other votes from paid subscriptions to The Reflector will be the owners of these fine prizes listed here on February 12th. There is no charge to enter and compete for one of the six prizes and all participating are assured of winning either a prize or a cash commission that will well repay them for their spare time. A clause in the Voting Schedule shown on this page provides for the giving of double votes on all subscriptions secured outside the corporate limits of Greenville. This provision in the voting rules ought to encourage a large number of ambitious folks living in the neighboring towns to send in their names with the knowledge that they have an equal opportunity with all to earn the leading prize.

Voting Value of Paid Subscriptions to the Daily Reflector

The following schedule of votes applies on subscriptions secured to the Daily Reflector. Double votes will be allowed on all subscriptions secured outside of Greenville.

There will positively be no change made in this schedule from start to finish. Those who enter their names early will profit most.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Los Angeles, Jan. 1.—(INS)—Universal City, always one of the busiest moving picture lots around Los Angeles, has an extra ambitious program for 1927. Eight feature productions are scheduled to be started not later than January. They include productions for all Universal stars, including Larry Phillips, Reginald Denny, Laura La Plante, Jean Hersholt, Hoot Gibson and Norman Kerry.

Among the pictures are "The Arm of the Law," "The Yakon Train," and "Moscow," in which latter the European star Ivan Moskine will be featured.

Because of a sudden change in weather conditions in Alaska which will mean the big thaw will come earlier this year than usual it has been decided by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer to start production immediately on "The Trail of '98" Robert Service's story on the Klondike gold rush which Clarence Brown will direct.

Leo Tolstoy's story "Resurrection" is practically half completed according to word from Harry D. Wilson, of Inspiration Pictures, Inc., and Edwin Carow, Rod La Rocque has the male lead and Dolores Del Rio will be seen as the feminine star. Count Illy, Tolstoy, eldest son of the famous Russian writer, is in Hollywood aiding on the production as "literary advisor."

The company will leave Hollywood in a day or so for the Siberian snow scenes, which will be filmed in and around Truckee, Nevada, the scene of many episodes in motion pictures. The picture will be finished late in January, according to latest reports.

Launching work simultaneously on adjoining sets, the Talmadge sisters have been selected to star in the first two pictures at the United Artists Studio, formerly the Pickford-Fairbank lot.

Norma Talmadge is, starring in a modern version of "Camille," under the direction of Fred Niblo, and Constance is busy on a comedy drama, "The Vamp of Venice," with Marshall Neilan in charge of the megaphone corps.

The casting office at Famous Players-Lasky studio was asked this week by Victor Fleming, director of "The Rough Riders," to supply the following for a Cuban sequence of the picture:

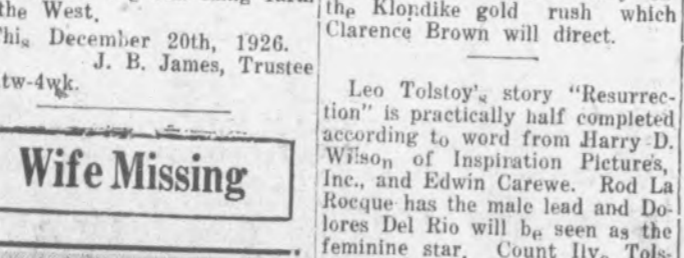

Five old men in rags; fifteen thin, starved women in rags; twenty thin, starved children in rags; twenty-five thin starved Cuban soldiers in rags; four thin, many horses, and three, starved dogs.

The sequence showed conditions in a Cuban village when Theodore Roosevelt and his Rough Riders landed.

"I'd make a good travelling salesman," remarked Estelle Taylor, as she stepped from the train the other day on her return, from a trip to Salt Lake City.

Since last July, Miss Taylor has been back and forth to New York three times; from New York to

Wife Missing

Here is Dr. Knute H. Houck, Washington, D. C., physician, who was found wandering in a dazed condition near Hornell, N. Y. His wife, with whom he admitted quarreling, was missing.

Wilmington, Del. to visit her mother, four times; from Los Angeles, to Salt Lake to see the mother of her husband, Jack Dempsey, three times; from Los Angeles to San Diego, and back five times.

"I've had enough experience so that I wouldn't mind going on the road with a line of millinery or with a traveling show company," she said.

The Most Beautiful CHEVROLET in Chevrolet History

CHEVROLET
for Economical Transportation

TRULY the most beautiful Chevrolet in Chevrolet history! Truly an achievement which must immediately change all existing ideas as to what the buyer of a low priced car has a right to expect for his money!

Here is the irresistible appeal of unbroken, flowing body lines—of modish new Duco colors, fashionably striped—of notable smartness—of that flawless silhouette regularly associated with the costliest of custom-built creations.

Here are score after score of advancements in design, literally too numerous to list completely—but typified by one-piece full-crown fenders, bullet-type lamps, coincidental steering and ignition lock and large 17-inch steering wheel.

Here is definite assurance of longer life, more satisfactory operation and even greater economy—for all models are equipped with a new AC oil filter and an improved AC air cleaner!

Such features as these are usually found only on cars costing up into the thousands. They are marks of distinction on the world's finest automobiles. Yet these are now offered on The Most Beautiful Chevrolet because the spectacular growth of Chevrolet popularity has sent Chevrolet production to tremendous volume—and only the economies of tremendous volume plus inspired engineering make possible the manufacture of so fine a car to sell at Chevrolet prices.

We urge you to come in for a personal inspection. And we ask you to come, not in the customary casual mood—but actually anticipating the revelation you would expect when the world's largest builder of gearshift automobiles announces a completely new line of cars whose truly great value is based on irresistible beauty and a host of improvements including:

- New AC Air Cleaner
- New AC Oil Filter
- New Coincidental Lock
- New Duco Colors
- New Gasoline Gauge
- New Radiator
- New Bodies by Fisher
- New Remote Control Door Handles
- New Tire Carrier
- New Bullet-Type Head Lamps
- New Windshield On Open Models
