ONLY NINE DAYS LEFT OF BIG VOTES GIVING PERIOD

Votes Given on Subscriptions in Reflector Contest Decrease for First Time on the 29th

The close of the First Period of the Reflector contest in which most votes may be earned on paid subscriptions is gradually drawing near.

The contest for approximately $3,000 in prizes is laid out in three separate periods with votes decreasing after the close of each period.

Any new workers who are thinking seriously of enrolling for one of the six prizes offered, or who wish to exchange their spare time in whole or part for a commission check that goes to all non-winners of prizes, must notify The Reflector of their intentions before the time limit expires on the 29th.

The best piece of advice that the Campaign Manager may offer those eager to earn the Studebaker Custom Sedan or the Chevrolet Coach, is to make every day and every hour of the nine remaining days of the big voting period count for all they are worth.

Despite the denials of many, success in subscriptions consists of this sort as well as in life itself is actually easier than failure.

Reports for yesterday show that Mrs. Sugg Fleming had a good day. Most of the subscriptions secured by her being from folks living outside of Greenville.

SMITH PRESENTS HIS CREDENTIALS TO SENATE TODAY

Fighting Against Senator-Designate Begun Upon Presentation of Papers

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—His eligibility questioned from both sides of the Chamber, Frank L. Smith, of Illinois, waited on the threshold of the Senate today for a decision, which at best promised him little satisfaction.

With few exceptions the Senators divided into two groups, one bent on denying him admission pending further inquiry into the financing of his primary campaign the other asking that he be sworn in as a Senator and his fitness investigated afterwards.

Meeting an hour earlier than usual, the Senate hoped to reach its decision before adjournment tonight. There was an unusually large attendance on the floor and the galleries were jammed.

TODAY

As Calm as an Elm Honor Ben Franklin Terrible Chinese, But He Just Kept on Going (By Arthur Brisbane)

This, as Will Rogers would say is written on the Train, traveling from Washington to New York. Millions of Americans will be glad to hear that the President seen two hours ago, seems in perfect health, full of energy, and excitement as calm as a Vermont Elm.

What appears to interest the President just now is internal improvements, projects for canals from the farms and facilities to the sea, and development of the unused waters for power and irrigation, in particular development of the Colorado River.

President Coolidge speaks just so fast and no faster. He knows every word that he is going to say before he says it. Words do not come out and surprise him, as happens with others.

You can't hurry him, or choose his subject for him, and as for holding him back, when he means to go in a certain direction, why to "draw up Leviathan with an hook" would be child's play, compared with it.

He's a good President, first because he knows what he wants and second because he knows what seven millions more than half of the voters, male and female want. He knows what the others want also.

We are becoming an old nation with a respectable distant past, had Benjamin Franklin lived until yesterday he would have been two hundred and twenty-one years old. Did you drink to his memory and that of the fine mother that made him? He was a great American and busy.

Quite a list, and also he was a good swimming teacher, making his living by it in England, above all he was wise, he lived on a few pennies a day, no meat, that he might save to buy books—not to buy a ticket to "the fight" dear young gentlemen of 1927.

The best thing he ever said was "the noblest question in the world is, what good may I do in it?"

Chinese mobs are looting Christian Churches. Too bad, and it fills us with horror. Americans, British, French and other travelers brought home all sorts of loot from Chinese temples after the Boxer uprising.

Chinese mobs have beaten American women, it is said, and abducted Christian Chinese girls from institutions. You cannot believe quite all you hear.

Worst of all, stories of Christians slaughtering Chinese babies are spread among mobs, rousing them to brutal fury. How can even the lowest heathen, we ask, spread or believe such monstrous lies?

But very good Christians in Austria, Russia and elsewhere have spread just such lies about the Jewish people within a few years, causing massacres and instituting villainous legal charges based on alleged use of Christian children's blood in the passover ritual.

We Christians can learn several things from the Chinese, but not brutality.

George Young, a boy of seventeen, lived with his mother in Canada. She, a widow, had $135. She gave the money to George, who had courage, and said he would swim the cold, one-mile deep, 21-mile wide channel from Catalina Island to the mainland, win William Wrigley, Jr.'s $25,000 and buy his mother a California home.

He bought a motorcycle, started to California with what money he had left, got there with 50 cents in his pocket, beat 101 contestants that also wanted the Wrigley $25,000, and his mother will move to California.

Observe, young gentlemen, that George Young explains it by saying: "I just kept going. I had cramps, too, in the cold water. But I turned over on my back and kicked the cramps out of my stomach. You don't suppose I expected to get $25,000 for walking around the block?"

Keep on and Vore will begin to think he is unwelcome in Washington.—Sun Rays, Durham Sun.

THREE CONVICTS ARE CAPTURED POU ANNOUNCES

Will Brown, Will Watlington and Homer Covington Are Three Retaken by Officers

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—(AP)—State Superintendent Pou today reported the recapture of three convicts. Will Brown was being brought back from Welch, West Virginia where he was caught following his escape from the Durham road camp in August, 1926.

Home Covington, white, who escaped from Caledonia prison farm Monday, was retaken later today at Rocky Mount, running today's total captures to three.

Will Watlington, sentenced for five to seven years for abduction in Caswell county, in 1924, escaped from Marshall, N. C., camp in July 1926 and was captured today at Danville, West Virginia.

NORRIS MURDER TRIAL RESUMED THIS MORNING

Hearings Were Suspended Yesterday Because of Illness of the Defendant

Austin, Texas, Jan. 19.—(AP)—The trial of Reverend J. Frank Norris on a charge of murdering D. E. Chippis, of Fort Worth, was resumed today after a one day recess, caused by the illness of the defendant.

Jesse M. Brown, an attorney of Fort Worth, former county judge and district attorney of Parratt county, testified as the first defense witness that Chippis' reputation as a drinking man was bad. He was not questioned by the State.

The defense continued evidence designed to show that Chippis was gregarious when drunk. Thirty witnesses were introduced by the defense to present similar evidence.

RAILROAD MEN TO DISCUSS DEMAND INCREASED WAGES

Officials Have Been Invited to Appear Before Mediation Board in Washington

Washington, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Officials of the Southeastern Railroads and executive officers of the Brotherhood of Railroad Trainmen and the Order of Railroad Conductors, have accepted invitations from Chairman Winslow of the United States Board of Mediation to attend executive session in Washington to discuss the wage increase demand now pending in that territory.

All of the major lines operating in the Southeast, excepting the Southern Railway, are involved. The Southern district is exempted for the time being from the negotiations because some of the understanding controlling the wages of its train employes does not expire until next March.

Welch, West Virginia, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Four miners were believed to have been killed in an explosion in the Central Pocahontas Coal Company mine at Caples today. Seven other miners were injured. They were brought out by rescue crews.

IMPORTANT BILLS WERE PRESENTED ASSEMBLY TODAY

Senate Bills Deal With Worthless Check Law, Auto Confiscation and Primray Date

Raleigh, Jan. 19.—(AP)—Moves to put teeth in the worthless check law, to ban confiscation of an automobile caught with liquor unless the owner is convicted, and to change the State Primary date from June fifth to August fifth, marked brief sessions in the General Assembly today.

The House introduced 24 bills of local and judicial nature, except one sent forward by Rev. Oscar Haywood, of Montgomery county, entitled an "An Act to Prevent Immorality."

Makers expressed intention to make the state a "pure, better place to live." He already has introduced anti-petting and Sunday closing laws.

The worthless check law was introduced by Senator Salmon, of Harnett. It would make the giving of a bad check prima facie evidence of intention to perpetrate a fraud.

Favorable reports were recorded on Senator Cannady's bill to change the automobile license year to run from January first to December 31, but Senator Call's bill to make it a misdemeanor to drive away after injuring a person in an automobile accident without ascertaining the extent of injuries was reported unfavorable.

Stacey Wade, Insurance Commissioner at both Houses, became the latest official to appear before the committee. He wanted permission from the committees on finance to stop diverting one-third of the tax monies collected from building and loan associations to the State Treasury and turn it over to the Building and Loan Division of his Department.

CALIFORNIA FOOTBALL OF A MILLION PEOPLE GAMES AMUSED THIRD

Berkeley, Cal., Jan. 13.—(INS)—More than a third of a million spectators watched Thursday at California football games during the past season, according to a report of J. F. MacKenzie, Bear assistant port of attendance just issued by athletics.

The exact amount of the season's total, which represents a decrease of 507 fans from the 1925 figure. Eighty thousand enthusiasts watched the "Big Game" with Stanford University this year.

The figures are considered remarkable in view of the fact that California experienced one of the most disastrous seasons in her history, losing five games out of nine.

LIKE LEE

The South today celebrates the 119th anniversary of the birth of General Robert E. Lee, whose character, courage and ideals formed the foundation upon which the Greater South has been built above the ruins resulting from the conflict between the states.

Despite his almost penniless condition following the war, the great general refused flattering offers that would have assured him personal wealth and comfort, to devote his life to the education and uplift of his people. He was a dreamer and laborer, and unceasingly to make these dreams come true, having foremost in his mind the preservation of the Union against which he had lifted the sword in a cause which he had believed to be just.

The memory of the great leader is close to the hearts of his people and the following of his example of untiring, unselfish service is leading ever toward the goal of the greater accomplishment of which he dreamed.

THE SOUTH'S ASSET

Pointing out that the young people of the South, boys and girls alike, are the one outstanding resource, vastly more important, even when viewed from the material standpoint alone, than all of its agricultural and mineral resources, Lincoln C. Green, assistant to the president of the Southern Railroad, declares that the South's greatest problem now is that of putting the agricultural college graduates on the farm.

In this connection, Mr. Green says:

"Educated youth is the biggest asset we have in the South. Thousands coming from agricultural schools and colleges and vocational schools are allowed to find any occupation that comes to hand. Reports from the agricultural colleges show that the great majority of these young men engage in work other than farming, and work for wages.

"With the growth of our population, the nearness to the large markets of consumption and the infinite variety of things that we do or can produce, the time was never so good as now for capitalizing these youth of the South by giving them an opportunity for doing the things for which they have been educated. Agriculture in the South is not going backward, but we are not taking full advantage of our opportunities."

The nearest thing to fraud that he will ever prove on Cobb is that he was the greatest base stealer on earth.—Gadsden Times.

Although the final score was 34-8 in favor of the visiting team the game was fast and exciting. G. H. S. girls showed that they had fighting material in them and there is no doubt that with a little more practice they will capture the remainder of their schedule.

A good audience was present, the largest seen at any athletic event this year. A large attendance helps any team to do more, therefore it is wished that every one will support the remainder of the games.

IF SKIN BREAKS OUT AND ITCHES APPLY SULPHUR

Just the moment you apply Mentho-Sulphur to an itching, burning or broken out skin, the itching stops and healing begins, says a noted skin specialist. This sulphur preparation, made into a pleasant cold cream, gives such a quick relief, even to fiery eczema, that nothing has ever been found to take its place.

Because of its germ-destroying properties, it quickly subdues the itching, cools the irritation and heals the eczema right up, leaving a clear, smooth skin in place of ugly eruptions, rash, pimples or roughness.

You do not have to wait for improvement. It quickly shows. You can get a little jar of Rowles Mentho-Sulphur at any drug store.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population.

Los Angeles, Jan. 19.—(INS)—When American girls go automobile riding in Hollywood with strangers, they take along their roller skates so they won't have to walk home.

But what precaution does a modern Venetian girl take?

Water-wings, so she can swim according to Constance Talmadge, who suggests the procedure as a result of her experience in her comedy drama, "Venus of Venice," the nation of which is laid in the famous Italian canal city.

A girl never walks home from a gondola ride; she swims, declared Constance.

Joseph M. Schenck is producing "Venus of Venice" for First National.

That even the costumes worn by great film stars in their most famous pictures only stray their hour is proved by an investigation into what becomes of them after pictures are made.

The costume worn by Rudolph Valentino in his famous "Four Horsemen of the Apocalypse" is now said to be falling to pieces through wear and tear of use in subsequent productions.

It fell into the hands of a great wardrobe house in Los Angeles and has been rented on occasion to practically all of the studios, including the small ones.

Several of the beautiful costumes of Ramon Novarro in "Ben Hur" will be spared such an end since Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer have declared their intention of presenting them to the star.

The dancing costume of Mae Murray in many of her pictures have been divided among the nations of the earth, the slippers going to England as prizes offered by motion picture magazines, the beaded headpiece being presented to a contest winner in America and a fan having been sent to Canada where it, too, was given a prize.

The famous bridal gown worn by Miss Murray in "The Merry Widow," was remade in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer wardrobe and subsequently made its appearance in another production, while the costumes worn in the same production by John Gilbert were returned to the wardrobe and have since figured, in many pictures, including:

Marion Davies 'Beverly of Graustark.'

Most of the evening gowns worn by stars are returned to the wardrobe and are given out in later productions to the higher class of atmosphere which help to form colorful backgrounds to the stars.

A lavish ballroom set in most any picture can boast a dozen or more elegant costumes worn by famous stars in famous productions, but sooner or later, reach the extra girls, who battle for the privilege of wearing a dress which once adorned their favorite player.

The dance bonnet among Hollywood's latest contributions to the advance of 1927 spring fashion novelties.

This bonnet is a snug-fitting, bejeweled or lace creation that just covers the closely cropped head of the wearer and adds a piquant charm to the possessor, especially if she happens to have a round baby face.

Colleen Moore, petite First National Star, has sponsored the bonnet for supper-dance wear and it hasn't taken long for other style-devotees to follow suit.

Miss Moore was at the Coconut Grove the other night in a demure chiffon frock of white, beaded in strands of pearls. The chic note to her costume was her bonnet which looked as if hundreds of tiny pearls were crocheted closely after the manner of a baby's cap.

In dance halls this season the main point is having it capable of being folded up and tucked away, and spring will find on the boulevard satin, straw chapeaus that have been made absolutely collapsible and capable of fitting in draped fashion over the head.

Miss Cora McFadyen, designer of costumes for Norma Talmadge, Colleen Moore, Corine Griffith, Billie Dove, Anna Q. Nilsson and other stars, look forward to a season of gay colored turbans, which, she said will even be worn on the golf links.

Alberta Vaughn, F. B. O. star for the last three years, and E. C. King, vice-president and general manager of F. B. O. now in New York, have mutually agreed to end their present contract, it was learned here the other day.

Miss Vaughn said she had not yet formulated plans for the future.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas God in His divine wisdom has seen fit to remove to her eternal home our dear friend and co-worker, Miss Fannie McClelland, We the Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian church, Greenville, N. C., wish to pay a tribute to her memory. She was of a quiet disposition, retiring in her manner, and entirely unassuming. Hers was a life of courage, patience, faithfulness and devotion to duty.

Therefore, be it resolved:

First: That while we mourn our loss, we bow submissively to our Father's will.

Second: That we extend to each member of her family our love and sympathy.

Third: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family, a copy placed in our records, a copy sent to the Daily Reflector and one to the Christian Observer.

Mrs. P. M. Johnston
Mrs. E. W. Harvey

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT

Whereas, it has been our privilege through the providence of God, to have had in our church the life of that true servant and hand-maiden of the Lord, Miss Mittie R. Beaman, and whereas it has pleased Him to call her from us to her home in Heaven. Therefore, be it resolved:

First: That while we so sadly miss her sweet, gentle presence and godly influence among us, we bow in humble submission to the will of our heavenly Father, knowing that our loss is her eternal gain.

Second: That the Presbyterian church, Woman's Auxiliary and Sunday School, has lost a true and faithful member, one who was ever willing and ready to serve her Master. Truly, it can be said of her: "She hath done what she could."

Third: That her unwavering faith and deep consecration will ever be an inspiration and cherished memory to us, who knew and loved her.

Fourth: That a copy of these resolutions be sent to her loved ones, a copy spread on the minutes of our Auxiliary, and a copy sent to the Daily Reflector, and to the church paper for publication.

SAGE TEA KEEPS YOUR HAIR DARK

Gray hair however handsome, denotes advancing age. We all know the advantages of a youthful appearance. Your hair is your charm. It makes or mars the face. When it fades, turns gray and looks streaked, just a few applications of Sage Tea and Sulphur enhances its appearance a hundred-fold.

Don't stay gray! Look young! Either prepare the recipe at home or get from any drug store a bottle of "Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound for only 75 cents." This is merely the old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients. Thousands of folks recommend this ready-to-use preparation, because it darkens the hair beautifully, besides, no one can possibly tell as it darkens so naturally and evenly. You moisten a sponge or soft brush with it, drawing this through the hair, taking one small strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, its natural color is restored and it becomes thick, glossy and lustrous, and you appear years younger.
