WARN TOBACCO GROWERS AGAINST RAISING LARGE CROP FOR COMING SEASON

A Bumper Crop Next Year Will Mean Disaster for Tobacco Growers in Opinion of Warehouse Association

The Tobacco Warehouse Association of North Carolina, through R. B. Sugg, secretary of the organization, today issued a warning to the tobacco growers of this and other tobacco States against the raising of a large tobacco crop during the coming season. In a resolution adopted by the directors of the organization the period of depression and disaster that will accompany an excessive crop this year is pointed out and tobacco farmers are urged to protect their interests by using good judgment enough to avoid an overproduction.

The resolution as adopted by the association is as follows: The North Carolina Warehouse Association, composed of all the leading warehousemen of Eastern North Carolina, through its Board of Directors in session at Wilson, North Carolina, January 15, 1927, unanimously adopted the following preamble and resolutions:

Whereas, our own interests and the prosperity of our customers are involved in leaf tobacco prices for the crop year '27.

And whereas we recognize our helplessness when confronted with conditions set up by the laws of supply and demand.

Now, therefore be it resolved: That we view with alarm the prospects of an increase in the tobacco acreage for 1927, if the tobacco growers of North Carolina, South Carolina and Georgia.

2. That it is our duty to ourselves and our customers to sound a note of warning to the tobacco growers, and urge them against an increase in acreage for 1927, whereby an overproduction of tobacco may follow, resulting in a disaster in price similar to that in the overproduction of cotton for 1926, which has brought to the cotton farmer financial depression and to many disaster and suffering.

3. That it is our best judgment that if there is no increase in the tobacco acreage for 1927, we may expect with some degree of confidence real prosperity to our section of North Carolina; that a normal crop of tobacco can be cultivated and sold profitably; that overproduction will bring financial depression, if not suffering to our tobacco farmers.

4. That we appeal to all daily and weekly newspapers published in our territory to give the utmost publicity to these resolutions, by publishing the same and freely commenting thereon; that all tobacco warehousemen, bankers, and merchants and county farm agents lead every effort possible in urging the tobacco growers not to increase the 1927 tobacco acreage; that every tobacco farmer is hereby appointed a committee of one to urge every other tobacco farmer not to increase his tobacco acreage for the year 1927.

5. That the officers of the Association be and they are hereby instructed to communicate with tobacco warehouse associations in the States of South Carolina and Georgia, furnishing them with a copy of these resolutions, and appealing to them to co-operate with us in saving our States from the threatened disaster which has come to them in consequence of the overproduction of cotton.

Mrs. Frisbee was the mother of Mrs. Claude Tunstall and has visited here on several occasions. Claude Tunstall, Miss Katie Tunstall, Mrs. J. A. Jones, Miss Louise Jones and Master Arthur Tunstall Jones left this morning for Belhaven to be with Mrs. Tunstall.

AMERICA TAKING STEPS TO PROTECT SUBJECTS IN CHINA

Number of Foreigners Are Reported to be Leaving Danger Zones Today

Washington, Jan. 22.—(AP)—While Americans and other foreigners in China were retreating in great numbers from the zones of danger created by anti-Christian disturbances today, several branches of the United States government were reaching out to afford its nationals protection against further serious outbreaks. A detachment of American marines are on their way from Guam where they had been sent to await any possible emergency calls, and American Minister MacMurray is backtracking to Peking. His trip to Washington was cancelled by Secretary Kellogg and a destroyer was rushing from Shanghai to Foochow to take the place of the Pillsbury, which has taken more than 60 refugees, mostly women and children, from that area to Manila.

Admiral Williams, commander of the fleet now at Shanghai with his flagship, reported that the evacuation of Americans and other foreigners from the interior Chinese cities was proceeding rapidly.

A Peking dispatch tells of 1,000 Americans and British leaving Hankow where British concessions were stormed and administration taken over by the nationalists government authorities.

Secretary Kellogg's action in ordering Minister MacMurray back to Peking after he had reached a Korean point on the way to Washington to talk over the Chinese situation was explained at the White House as being due to the necessity for strengthening the means of protection for Americans should disorders threaten their lives. President Coolidge doubts that the Central government at Peking is in position to guarantee any protection to foreigners.

THREE WEEKS FROM TONIGHT CONTEST COMES TO A CLOSE

Automobiles and Other Prizes to be Awarded Immediately Following Announcement of Winners

Slowly but surely the close of The Reflector subscription contest draws near. In just three weeks from tonight at eight o'clock the doors of the campaign office located on the second floor of the Reflector Building will close for the last time on what now promises to be one of the most successful subscription drives ever conducted by the paper.

More entrants are competing this year for the more than $3,000 in prizes offered, and taken as a whole no finer or more ambitious lot ever canvassed for an automobile. Little or no idea may be had as to the majority of those competing at this time as to the ultimate winning seem to be on equal terms.

The contestants and their friends will experience no waiting for their awards once the contest comes to the close of the campaign on the night of February 12th at eight o'clock. All votes earned on subscriptions and not published in the list of contestants and their standings which appears in the paper three times a week will be deposited in a locked and sealed ballot box on the final day of the drive. Votes found in this box by the judges will be counted and added to a worker's last published standing, the sum of the two will be candidate's grand total.

The final count by the judges is expected to take about one hour or a trifle over making the announcement of winners to the public this place around nine or nine-thirty. The $1,335 Studebaker Sedan and the Chevrolet Coach will be driven away from in front of The Reflector office by the winners while the cash prizes which include, $200, $75, $50 and $40 will be awarded on the spot. Commission checks to those not winning one of the six prizes will be mailed out to their owners on the Monday following the close of the contest.

Those who earn these prizes will have earned them because of their own ability to secure votes that are had from paid subscriptions to The Reflector, and those others that have been given in the past on coupons clipped from each issue of the paper. The paper has no interest in the outcome other than to see that the prizes go to those who earn them fair and square.

To make it perfectly clear to those competing, the Campaign Manager wants to take this opportunity to explain the handling and conducting of the drive. This particular campaign is under the personal direction of H. S. Main who handled the last two subscription drives conducted by this paper as well as similar campaign in several of the neighboring towns and cities in Eastern North Carolina. The Reflector foots all the bills incident to the drive but places the conducting of the campaign solely in the hands of the manager. The paper has nothing to do with the awarding of prizes and in fact knows no more about the votes earned by the different workers or cars, than the most casual observer.

New York Curb Had Big Year in 1926

New York, Jan. 22.—(INS)—When asked today by International News Service for a resume of the activities of the New York Curb Market, David U. Page, the president of the Exchange, said: "The year 1926 was an exceptionally progressive one for our Exchange. The frequency of aggressive markets during the year multiplied the total volume of business in stocks and bonds to such proportions that all previous trading records were greatly surpassed."

"A brief resume of the marvelous stride which the Exchange made during the calendar year may serve to throw some light on the all important developments which have occurred. First and foremost was the adoption of a new Constitution designed to insure that the purchaser of Curb securities received the maximum of protection. The listing, marginal and membership requirements of the Exchange were made more stringent, with the idea of furthering the business methods and standard of trading ethics."

One Title Enough. Hunting the Wild Ass. Mico Chase Cats. The Poor are Scarcier. (By Arthur Brisbane)

President Coolidge politely declines to become a Moose, because he has other wood to saw. In addition he is not an Elk, a Redman, an Owl, a Woodman or an Oddfellow. There are many things that he is NOT. Perhaps plain "American citizen" seems to him a sufficient membership badge.

A scientific expedition is bound for Central Persia to capture the fleet wild ass, "whose home I have made the wilderness." You can't overtake it, running. It drinks enormous quantities of water, one a day. Then, when you pursue it, palloping gives it pain, it falls down with cramps, and you catch it. Many men, before prohibition were caught in that way, by fate.

Cats near Bakersfield, California, can sympathize with Midas, who changed into gold everything he touched, and nearly starved. California's cats were cheered then horrified, by rolling waves of migrating mice. First they ate some, then ran from them in horror. Too much, even of mice, is too much.

Poisoned grain may do what cats couldn't do. Once when field mice threatened the alfalfa crop farther north, after owls, crows and other animals had eaten all they could hold, sea gulls came flying far inland, in huge flocks, scooping up the mice and ended the plague. Nature keeps things balanced. Ten shad in ten years would fill the ocean with their descendants, and one cabbage louse in ten years would produce you enough to outweigh the earth, if all the young ones lived.

Joseph D. Bannon, New York philosopher, whose business is circulating newspapers, remarked, "There is no use writing editorials about the poor any more. There are none of those people left. They all have automobiles."

That isn't literally true, unfortunately, although it will be made true some day. But there has been improvement.

The widow and 17 year old daughter of Tony Pagliughi, organ grinder, killed by an automobile truck, ask $75,000 damages. They swear that his grinding organ, which always played cheerful tunes, earned $150 a week. That's a little more than Uncle Sam pays a Congressman or Senator.

Mr. Dodd, president of the National Association of Book Publishers, says Americans will buy ten years hence, twice as many books as are bought today. That's good news, if the right books are bought. What book printers need is more and better advertising and a lower selling cost. How many automobiles would be sold if a car costing $600 in the factory, cost $1,000 on delivery? That's how it is with books.

Madrid reports that twenty children were slaughtered when a Chinese orphan's home and Spanish churches at Foochow were attacked by Chinese students. Rage against the Christians in China has been increased by circulation of stories telling how Christians gouge out the eyes of Chinese babies.

That sort of lie stimulates murder. It is also the sort that was printed and told about the Germans in the big war not so long ago to stimulate "patriotism."

German chemists still lead the world, to the sorrow of American manufacturers of wood alcohol. The President last November increased the tax on wood alcohol to protect manufacturers. But German manufacturers synthetically "manufacture" which does all that wood alcohol will do. Since the President increased the tariff they have sent in 500,000 gallons. Americans must compete or quit.

Because men talked across the Atlantic at $25 a minute, the price of telephone and telegraph stock immediately went up. Now stock in cables under the oceans drops, stockholders fearing telephone competition. They need not. New things rarely ruin old things suddenly.

There is greater tonnage of sailing vessels on the water today than when the first steamship was built. It's good to have ships at sea, if like Great Britain, you have an empire. EFFORTS OF MOB TO FIND NEGRO PROVE FUTILE

Mob Seeking Assailant of Reidsville Girl Fail to Get Negro From Sheriff

Greensboro, Jan. 22.—(AP)—A report from Reidsville this morning was that the mob after an all-night search for Paul Settle, negro, who is alleged to have assaulted a young white girl there yesterday had dispersed, their search for the negro having been futile. The negro, who was arrested soon after the alleged assault, had been spirited about from place to place by sheriff's forces in an effort to evade an expected mob. The young girl who is 17 years old, is reported to be in a serious condition, but it is thought that she will recover.

Cleveland's Union Station to be Tallest in World, is Said

Cleveland, O., Jan. 22.—(INS)—Cleveland's big Union Station, which will be the tallest institution of its kind in the world, is to be completed next year, according to an announcement by the Van Sweringen interests here. The huge building, which will cost in excess of $60,000,000, and which will have a tower 708 feet above the street level, already has risen to the tenth floor.

The structure itself covers 31 acres. In many respects it will resemble the Grand Central station of New York. The latter, however, is a terminal depot while the Van Sweringen's project will be a "through" station for several lines.

The station and all equipment entering it is to be electrified, necessitating use of motored engines at outside transfer points for some railroads. The tower of the new station will face Cleveland's Public Square. Between the thirtieth and thirty-third floors, it will be pierced by a series of arches, thus enhancing its beauty.

TOBACCO MARKET HAS PASSED 49 MILLIONS MARK

Total Sales of 476,900 Pounds This Week Brought $23.90 Per Hundred 476,900 pounds at an average price of $23.90 per hundred compared the sales on the Greenville Tobacco Market this week. The week's sales bring the season's total to slightly over the forty-nine million pounds mark.

According to official figures on the market made public today by K. W. Cobb, secretary of the board of trade, are as follows: Sales for the week, 476,900 pounds, average $23.90, amount, $114,069.95.

Sales for the season to date, $49,040,370 pounds, average $28.37; amount, $13,916,573.53.

Action taken by the Tobacco Board of Trade at a recent meeting the market will remain open for the season for only two more weeks. The official closing date has been set for Friday, Feb. 4. Growers who still have a part of their crop on hand have been urged by the tobaccoists to get their offerings on the market now as soon as possible in order to avoid a last minute rush and congestion at the close that might cause a drop in the price of the tobacco.

The local market this season has sold from a wider territory and has reached a new high record figure for the number of pounds sold.

LOS ANGELES HAS MORE BATHUBS AND SHOWERS THAN ANY OTHER CITY

Los Angeles, Jan. 22.—(INS)—Los Angeles has more tubs and showers for bathing purposes than any other city in the world.

This was the text of a communication sent to Dr. George Parrish, health commissioner, by M. S. Siegel of the Bureau of Housing and Sanitation the other day. Siegel's conclusion is based on the strict observance of the state housing and sanitation laws which provide for baths in every home and in a majority of business establishments.

Even in Los Angeles' Chinatown there are bath tubs, Siegel declared. Siegel in his letter also intimates that the baths both in Chinatown and elsewhere are regularly used, basing this conclusion on the huge daily consumption of water.

JURY AWARDS VERDICT $10,000 AGAINST THE AMERICAN TOBACCO CO

TODAY'S SESSION OF LEGISLATURE WAS ITS DULLEST

Practically No Business Transacted by Lawmakers in This Morning's Session

Raleigh, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The General Assembly of North Carolina passed its first quarter mark today of the 60 days meeting when it stalked off its sixteenth session and adjourned until Monday night.

Not a statewide measure was introduced or argued today. Many suggestions of important business were whispered in the assembly hall but the day stood out as the dullest of the 1927 Assembly's history as the considerably less than a quorum went through the formality of the day's session. No committees were scheduled for the afternoon and by noon the new exodus had left only a handful of legislators to remind the capital that a General Assembly was in session.

In the House the principal bill for fame was the passage of a bill amending the local prohibition enforcement laws in four extreme western counties. This bill would tighten the mountain rum laws by throwing out the special law passed in 1925 covering this territory and substituting the statewide Turlington Act. Only two bills were introduced in the House which passed on the third reading before adjourning until 8 o'clock Monday night. The Senate was in session little longer than the 15 minutes occupied by the House and had but one new bill introduced and passed 10 local bills before adjourning until 8:50 Monday night.

The legislature passed its first quarter with one complimentary piece of legislation and 57 House and 21 Senate bills passed as the accomplishments of the 16 days meetings. Both houses before adjournment last week bowed to the local bill of Miss McLean, of Mecklenburg, and exempted the Charlotte Woman's club building from taxes.

Last week the House passed 56 bills and the Senate 21. The House had introduced 213 bills and the Senate 113 so far for the session.

DRY CONDITIONS BRINGING DROP IN WHISKEY SALES

Dublin, Jan. 22.—(INS)—Less drinking in Great Britain and prohibition in the United States is playing havoc with Irish whiskey sales, according to figures issued here.

The total export figures show a remarkable decline for 1926, 182,994 gallons being exported, compared with 276,490 in 1925, and 548,763 in 1924.

SAO PAULO SETS RECORD FOR POPULATION GROWTH

Rio De Janeiro, Jan. 22.—(INS)—Sao Paulo city broke the South American record in population increasing last year.

During 1925 the city population was 750,432 inhabitants, and in November of 1926 the demographic statistics gives 856,725 inhabitants. The increase was an average of 10 per cent around a year.

The Rio de Janeiro census taking last November gives for Rio 1,344,778 inhabitants.

Jury Renders Verdict in Favor of Tripp After Being Out Twenty-three Hours

After nearly twenty-four hours of deliberations in the suit of G. J. Tripp against the American Tobacco Company for $50,000 the jury this morning awarded a verdict for $10,000 in favor of the plaintiff.

Tripp, who is a native of Chester, Ga., was suing the company for injuries sustained here when he was shot by the watchman of the local plant.

The case, which was the hardest fought of the entire calendar during this week's civil term here, was begun Wednesday morning and after two days of testimony and argument went to the jury shortly after ten o'clock yesterday morning.

At a late hour last night the jury had not reached agreement and were left in the custody of the Sheriff until court convened this morning. Shortly after this morning's session had begun the jury announced that it was ready to report and the verdict was received.

Immediately after receiving the verdict, Judge E. H. Cranmer, who has been presiding over the term, adjourned court.

A week of criminal court under Judge Cranmer will convene Monday morning and there are close to a hundred cases on the docket, and it is expected that the week's proceedings will attract much attention.

PROSECUTION IN THE NORRIS TRIAL RESTS AT NOON

State Completes Testimony in Murder Case Against Fort Worth Minister

Austin, Texas, Jan. 22.—(AP)—The prosecution closed its case at noon in the trial of Rev. J. Frank Norris for the slaying of Dexter E. Chipp, wealthy lumberman. The State rested its case with the testimony of rebuttal witnesses. The defense at once pleaded on the stand witnesses in rebuttal in an effort to impeach the testimony of several state's witnesses.

A young school teacher, Miss Melba Bullock, who formerly lived in Fort Worth, was the State's chief witness today. She arrived at the First Baptist church, Fort Worth, just a few minutes after Chipp was shot by Norris. She testified to the effect that Norris was calm after the shooting.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

TRADITIONAL SAYINGS OF JESUS

Acts 20:35 — "Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive."

When or where did our Lord say that? We do not know. St. Paul is not quoting any Scripture when he uses this quotation as he bids farewell to the elders of the church at Ephesus. He is giving an oral tradition.

We sometimes forget that the Gospels do not give, and do not profess to give, a complete narrative of all that Jesus said or did. St. John closes his Gospel with this frank admission. He says— "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written."

Many sayings of the Lord Jesus must therefore have been familiar to the Apostles, and have been current in the primitive church. St. Paul has saved us the only such saying in this farewell to the Ephesians that is recorded in the New Testament.

But cannot we recover more? Were there no good men in the early church to gather up the fragments of our Lord's speech, that nothing might be lost?

THERE WERE good men, disciples who sat at the feet of John, Peter and Paul—men like Barnabas, Polycarp, Ignatius, Clement—and they did gather up from Apostolic lips many words spoken by Jesus which are not recorded in the New Testament. These they wrote in their books which have come down to us. Of all the sayings they attribute to Jesus there are some twenty which scholars believe we may accept as genuine. They assure us that in all probability they were uttered by the Lord Jesus, although, like the saying quoted by St. Paul in our text, they are nowhere recorded in the Gospels.

We can only glance at a few of these.

1. "Be ye good (or approved) money-changers." This quotation was a popular one in the Early Christian writings, and some of the early Bishops use it to illustrate St. Paul's maxim: "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." Try all creeds, spirits, prophecies; ring them like you would a coin and keep only those which ring true. This is what Jesus meant when he said: "Be ye good money-changers."

ing and say Jesus distributes to every man talents according to his ability. The secret of life is to invest those talents, so to use them, that at His coming again He will receive His own with interest added. "Let us listen to the Lord, and shew ourselves approved money-changers." Whichever interpretation you choose, there is little or no doubt that Jesus uttered the saying.

2. "In whatsoever I find you, in that will I judge you," saith our Lord Jesus Christ; and again, "Such as I find thee, will I judge thee," saith the Lord.

These sayings are in strict accord with the rule of divine judgment which pervades the whole Bible. Everywhere we are taught that we shall receive sentence according to "the deeds done in the body;" and Jesus may quite reasonably be believed to have said these words.

3. Origen tells us, "Jesus saith, 'For the sick, I was sick; for the hungry, I hungered; and for the thirsty, I suffered thirst.' That saying is simply a commentary on the passage in St. Matthew's Gospel, 'That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, 'Himself bare our infirmities and carried our sicknesses.'"

4. No less a person than Barnabas quotes Jesus as saying, "Those who are anxious (fain) to see Me, and to lay hold of My Kingdom, must receive Me in sorrow and much affliction." Does not that harmonize with Christ's saying that only as we take up the cross, can we truly follow Him? The words sound like His words.

5. An early Father heard St. Matthew say, "The Lord Jesus said to His disciples, 'Be ye never joyful except when ye look on your brother in love.'"

6. "Ask the great things, and the little things shall be added unto you; ask also the heavenly things, and the earthly shall be added unto you."

7. "He that is near Me is near the fire; and he that is far from Me is far from the Kingdom;" and again, the same thought in a different form: "Near the sword, near God; far from the sword, far from God." These proverbial sayings nobly express what Christ said that only "through much tribulation can we enter the Kingdom," and that "judgment beginneth at the House of God."

8. An ancient manuscript reads, after recording S. Luke 6:1-4, "On the same day Jesus saw a certain man working on the Sabbath, and said to him, 'Blessed art thou, O man, if indeed thou knowest what thou doest; but cursed art thou if thou knowest not, and a transgressor of the law.'"

What are these sayings of Jesus worth? They are of greatest value in one sense, and of no value in another sense. They are of value because they confirm the New Testament records of how Jesus spoke and of what. But they add nothing essential to the Gospel story. They add no new truth to what we find in the New Testament.

It is interesting to hunt for these other sayings of Jesus, but the commonly-busy every-day man, with no leisure for research, can rejoice that all he needs to know is contained in the four Gospels — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

CABLE LETTER

Berlin, Jan. 22 (AP)—American methods of how window advertising are coming daily into greater use in Berlin and attracting a lot of attention. If one sees a crowd gathered in front of a shop the wicker is a sign that a deep into the window will reveal some demonstration of merchandise, after the American style, going on there.

Many interesting mechanical processes, such as the automatic filling of tooth paste tubes, are on exhibition. In one window a very striking looking young damsel is perpetually having her bobbed hair permanently waved by another young feminine beauty as a demonstration of the skilled artistic treatment the client entering the shop would receive.

German rag pickers, unlike the American collectors do not cry for flags, bottles, iron, but raise a piercing appeal for Rags, Old Paper, Rabbit Skins. This unusual variance is due to the fact that Germans are great eaters of hare's meat during the fall and winter months. One finds hares and rabbits at every butcher shop, in the carts of the street vendors. Venison, too, is a popular article of food in the restaurants. Turkey, on the other hand, is almost unknown.

Berlin paragraphs and newspaper illustrators do not cry for their city a gentle knock once in a while. One of the leading evening dailies prints a two picture exhibit of the here and there order, under the caption: 'Is Berlin a World Capital? One of them a photograph of the impressive downtown skyline of New York and the other a snapshot of a couple of antiquated horse-drawn cabs outside the Lehrter Bahnhof, the station at which most foreign travelers arrive in Berlin. The legend beneath reads: 'First Glimpse of Berlin by the Traveler arriving from New York.'

It seems only fair to add that the horse-drawn cab is not at all typical of Berlin whose taxi service, as a whole is up to date. Furthermore, this is the last year the old horse-drawn cabs are to be allowed on the streets, notice having been given that expiring licenses for them would not be renewed.

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Nothingham lace manufacturers are anticipating something of a boom in their products as the result of a report to popularity of lace on women's garments this year. Models of spring underwear fashions have been designed for a large proportion of lace accessories and there are signs of a return to the form of ruffle which is intended to be worn over spring and summer costumes as a separate article.

Prills and tucks on spring gowns will also make employment more general in the district.

A hundred years ago an Englishman asked who has read an American Book. It was the wise crack of the day. Everybody laughed at Nowdays it would be difficult to do the joke.

Nowadays it would be difficult to find Englishmen who have never read an American book. Every thing from Henry Mencken and Henry Ford to Sinclair Lewis and Anita Loos is devoured over here. And now comes Arnold Bennett, sometimes called the Gordon Selfridge of modern English literature, because of the variety of his wares. To announce and emphasize that the two best books of fiction he read during 1926 were by American writers.

One was Theodore Dreiser's 'An American Tragedy,' the other Herman Melville's 'Pierre,' written years ago. Bennett calls Melville an exalted genius. Dreiser, he says, despises style, elegance, clarity, even grammar, but sheer power of writing makes his story a thing of beauty and art.

The Earl of Reading, one plain Rufus Isaacs, Jewish cabin boy on war-time ambassador to the United States, collects new professions and occupations like a schoolboy collects postage stamps. He has been sailor, stock broker member of parliament, Lord Chief Justice, ambassador to Washington vicerey of India, newspaper proprietor and journalist. His latest job is captain of Deal Castle, a very ancient and highly honorary post which carries no salary and no duties. The holder, however, can live in the ancient stronghold overlooking the English Channel, and from there captain the Marmess of Reading will be able to look out to sea from his battlements and recall his own boyhood days before the mast.

ing thanked in France and then find themselves out of a job, during the present business depression. When a person in France is threatened in the polite language of trade, he is told, which translator is, literally, thanked.

The factory worker gets his discharge in exactly the same form, but when he tells the world he has been lessive, or in English, washed out.

There's only one Pontiac Six—and only General Motors could build it

The Pontiac Six swept into the lime light because it came to the public representing all the skill, resources and experience of General Motors. And it has remained in the limelight from the very day of its introduction, because no other car has since appeared which offers so much for so low a price.

Only the economies of General Motors' vast purchasing power could make possible at $825—Fisher closed bodies of such commanding beauty, finished in distinctive Duco colors, and such unusual fine car features as 46 lb. crankshaft, honed cylinders, full pressure oiling, automatic spark control, and bronze-backed interchangeable bearings of the costliest type.

Only General Motors could introduce so dependable a car—because no other maker has at his command the facilities of the General Motors Proving Ground and the combined genius of General Motors' Research Staff and of Oakland engineers.

A full year has passed since the Pontiac Six was introduced—and the supreme satisfaction of 60,000 owners lends emphasis to the fact: There is only one Pontiac Six—and only General Motors could build it!

Pontiac Six, $825 to $975. Oakland Six, companion to Pontiac Six, $1025 to $1295. All prices as factory. Bodies by Fisher. Easy to pay on the liberal General Motors Time Payment Plan.

OUR SATURDAY NIGHT MEDITATION

TRADITIONAL SAYINGS OF JESUS

Acts 20:35: — "Remember the words of the Lord Jesus, how He said, It is more blessed to give than to receive."

When or where did our Lord say that? We do not know. St. Paul is not quoting any Scripture when he uses this quotation as he bids farewell to the elders of the church at Ephesus. He is giving an oral tradition.

We sometimes forget that the Gospels do not give, and do not profess to give, a complete narrative of all that Jesus said or did. St. John closes his Gospel with this frank admission. He says: "And there are also many other things which Jesus did, the which, if they should be written every one, I suppose that even the world itself could not contain the books that should be written."

Many sayings of the Lord Jesus must therefore have been familiar to the Apostles, and have been current in the primitive church. St. Paul has saved us the only such saying in this farewell to the Ephesians that is recorded in the New Testament.

But cannot we recover more? Were there no good men in the early church to gather up the fragments of our Lord's speech, that nothing might be lost?

THERE WERE good men, disciples who sat at the feet of John, Peter and Paul—men like Barnabas, Polycarp, Ignatius, Clement—and they did gather up from Apostolic lips many words spoken by Jesus which are not recorded in the New Testament. These they wrote in their books which have come down to us. Of all the sayings they attribute to Jesus there are some twenty which scholars believe we may accept as genuine. They assure us that in all probability they were uttered by the Lord Jesus, although, like the saying quoted by St. Paul in our text, they are nowhere recorded in the Gospels.

We can only glance at a few of these.

1. "Be ye good (or approved) money-changers." This quotation was a popular one in the Early Christian writings, and some of the early Bishops use it to illustrate St. Paul's maxim: "Prove all things; hold fast that which is good." Try all creeds, spirits, prophecies; ring them like you would a coin and keep only those which ring true. This is what Jesus meant when he said: "Be ye good money-changers."

ing and say Jesus distributes to every man talents according to his ability. The secret of life is to invest those talents, so to use them, that at His coming again He will receive His own with interest added. "Let us listen to the Lord, and shew ourselves approved money-changers. Whichever interpretation you choose, there is little or no doubt that Jesus uttered the saying.

2. "In whatsoever I find you, in that will I judge you," saith our Lord Jesus Christ; and again, "Such as I find thee, will I judge thee," saith the Lord.

These sayings are in strict accord with the rule of divine judgment which pervades the whole Bible. Everywhere we are taught that we shall receive sentence according to "the deeds done in the body;" and Jesus may quite reasonably be believed to have said these words.

3. Origen tells us, "Jesus saith, 'For the sick, I was sick; for the hungry, I hungered; and for the thirsty, I suffered thirst.' That saying is simply a commentary on the passage in St. Matthew's Gospel, 'That it might be fulfilled which was spoken by Isaiah the prophet, 'Himself bare our infirmities and carried our sicknesses.'"

4. No less a person than Barnabas quotes Jesus as saying, "Those who are anxious (fain) to see Me, and to lay hold of My Kingdom, must receive Me in sorrow and much affliction." Does not that harmonize with Christ's saying that only as we take up the cross, can we truly follow Him? The words sound like His words.

5. An early Father heard St. Matthew say, "The Lord Jesus said to His disciples, 'Be ye never joyful except when ye look on your brother in love.'"

6. "Ask the great things, and the little things shall be added unto you; ask also the heavenly things, and the earthly shall be added unto you."

7. "He that is near Me is near the fire; and he that is far from Me is far from the Kingdom;" and again, the same thought in a different form: "Near the sword, near God; far from the sword, far from God." These proverbial sayings nobly express what Christ said that only "through much tribulation can we enter the Kingdom," and that "judgment beginneth at the House of God."

8. An ancient manuscript reads, after recording S. Luke 6:1-4, "On the same day Jesus saw a certain man working on the Sabbath, and said to him, 'Blessed art thou, man, if indeed thou knowest what thou doest; but cursed art thou if thou knowest not, and a transgressor of the law.'"

What are these sayings of Jesus worth? They are of greatest value in one sense, and of no value in another sense. They are of value because they confirm the New Testament records of how Jesus spoke and of what. But they add nothing essential to the Gospel story. They add no new truth to what we find in the New Testament.

It is interesting to hunt for these other sayings of Jesus, but the commonly-busy every-day man, with no leisure for research, can rejoice that all he needs to know is contained in the four Gospels — Matthew, Mark, Luke and John.

CABLE LETTER

Berlin, Jan. 22 (AP)—American methods of show window advertising are coming daily into greater use in Berlin and attracting a host of attention. If one sees a crowd gathered in front of a shop the waver is a good one that a peep into the window will reveal some demonstration of merchandise, after the American style, going on there.

Many interesting mechanical processes, such as the automatic filling of tooth paste tubes, are on exhibition. In one window a very striking looking young damsel is perpetually having her bobbed hair permanently waved by another young feminine beauty as a demonstration of the skilled artistic treatment the client entering the shop would receive.

German rag pickers, unlike the American collectors do not cry for Rags, Bottles, Iron, but raise an piercing appeal for Rags, Old Paper, Rabbit Skins. This unusual varnish is due to the fact that Germans are great eaters of hares' meat during the fall and winter months. One finds hares and rabbits at every butcher shop, in the carts of the street vendors. Venison, too, is a popular article of food in the restaurants. Turkey, on the other hand, is almost unknown.

Berlin paragraphs and newspaper illustrators don't mind giving their city a gentle knock once in a while. One of the leading evening dailies prints a two picture exhibit of the here and there order, under the caption: 'Is Berlin a World Capital? One of them a photograph of the impressive downtown skyline of New York and the other a snapshot of a couple of antiquated horse-drawn cabs outside the Lehrter Bahnhof, the station at which most foreign travelers arrive in Berlin. The legend beneath reads: 'First Glimpse of New York—and First Glimpse of Berlin by the Traveler arriving from New York.'

It seems only fair to add that the horse-drawn cab is not at all typical of Berlin whose taxi service as a whole is up to date. Furthermore, this is the last year the old horse-drawn cabs are to be allowed on the streets, notice having been given that expiring licenses for them would not be renewed.

London, Jan. 22 (AP)—Nottingham lace manufacturers are anticipating something of a boom in their products as the result of a return to popularity of lace on women's garments this year.

Models of spring underwear fashions have been designed for a large proportion of lace accessories and there are signs of a return to a form of ruffle which is intended to be worn over spring and summer costumes as a separate article.

Frisks and tucks on spring gowns will also make employment more general in the district.

A hundred years ago an Englishman asked who has read an American book. It was the wise crack of the day. Everybody laughed at Nowadays it would be difficult to get the joke.

Nowadays it would be difficult to find Englishmen who have never read an American book. Every thing from Henry Mehenen and Henry Ford to Sinclair Lewis and Anita Loos is devoured over here.

And now comes Arnold Bennett, sometimes called the Gordon Selfridge of modern English literature, because of the variety of his wares, to announce and emphasize that the two best books of fiction he read during 1926 were by American writers.

One was Theodore Dreiser's 'An American Tragedy,' the other Herman Melville's 'Pierre,' written years ago. Bennett calls Melville an exalted genius. Dreiser, he says, despises style, elegance, clarity, even grammar, but sheer power of writing makes his story a thing of beauty and art.

The Earl of Reading, one plain Rufus Isaacs, Jewish cabin boy on an English sailing vessel; later, wartime ambassador to the United States, collector of new professions and occupations like a schoolboy collects postage stamps.

TERRIBLE PAIN

Alabama Lady Tells How She Obtained Relief by Taking Cardui.

Feels Fine and Enjoys Life Now, She Says.

Talladega, Ala.—Mrs. Mary Hardy, 406 Henderson Avenue, this city, says that seven years ago she "got down sick" and was unable to attend to her household.

"I have never been so weak before or since," she says. "I had a terrible pain in my side—so sore in my side and the lower part of my body.

"Across my back ached, and I was so nervous I couldn't stand up. I had just about given up when some one who came to see me began talking about Cardui. This caused me to get it. I took about two bottles before I saw much improvement.

"After this, though, I picked up right away. I slept better at night, I was hungry, enjoyed my food, which I hadn't done for some time.

"The pain and soreness gradually left my side. I regained my strength. I took about six bottles and left off the awhile, then took two or three more. I feel just fine, enjoy life and can work now."

Cardui is purely vegetable, and contains no harmful drugs. It has helped thousands of suffering women and should help you, too. MC-169
