FIRST HONORS FOR THIS WEEK GO TO OUTSIDE WORKERS

Winterville and Pacolus Contest Entrants Move Rapidly Toward Auto Prizes

Action started again yesterday in The Reflector contest after several days of apparent inactivity on the part of the thirteen entrants for the automobiles and cash prizes that the paper awards on the 12th.

The Pacolus and Winterville entrants shared honors for yesterday and for the week. Present indications point to both of these workers being among the first six to finish the race on Saturday the 12th.

It is expected that much work in the form of subscriptions will be checked in at the campaign office for The Reflector between now and the close of the week tomorrow.

Those entered who find it inconvenient to report at the office tomorrow with their week's work may send it through the mail.

Second subscriptions won't count for the extra votes after the close of business Thursday, February 10th.

No checks for subscriptions will be accepted from the contestants next week. Those who find that they must make checks will have them made out in their favor and get them cashed before turning them over to the campaign office.

TOBACCO MARKET CLOSES ITS MOST SUCCESSFUL YEAR

James S. Ficklen Elected President of Board of Trade for Coming Year

Election of officers for the new year, presentations of records indicating that the Greenville Tobacco Market with today's closing sales would reach the fifty million pounds mark, five sets of buyers for next season and general discussion of the tobacco industry here, were all a part of the program of last night's annual meeting and banquet of the Greenville Tobacco Board of Trade.

Following the bounteous spread R. M. Garrett, president of the Board of Trade, called upon various ones present for short talks and each one praised the work of those responsible for the wonderful record of the market.

W. S. Moye, first of the speakers, pointed out that during the season it was estimated that the Greenville market had sold the offerings of more than 16,000 farmers and he impressed upon the tobaccoist the all important task of taking care of the farmers' interests.

In executive session following the banquet, James S. Ficklen was elected president of the Board of Trade to succeed R. M. Garrett, who has served in that capacity for the past two years.

In a brief report on the market for the season, Mr. Cobb presented figures showing that including yesterday the market had sold on the auction floors 49,641,354 pounds at an average price of $28.29 per hundred pounds.

Verdict of Guilty Returned in Wilson Murder Trial Today

Wilson, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Judge Albion Dunn, of Greenville today presiding over Wilson Superior Court, sentenced Ernest Boswell to serve 10 to 15 years in the state penitentiary for murder of Clayton E. Beaman, slot machine operator, who was killed in February, 1925, Boswell was found guilty of murder in the second degree.

Wilson, Feb. 4.—(AP)—A verdict of guilty against Ernest Boswell, charged with murdering C. E. Beaman in February 1925, was returned by a jury in Wilson county Superior Court today.

Judge Dunn announced he would pronounce sentence later. Boswell was not being tried for his life, but on a second degree indictment.

Conviction is Boswell's second for the offense. He was granted a new trial by the Supreme Court on the first, on the ground that improper testimony had been introduced by the State.

Boswell was convicted of killing Beaman, a slot machine salesman, on February 7, 1925. His trial consumed more than two days. The defendant was the last witness on the stand, and was subjected to a grueling cross examination.

Former Greenville Man Killed by Auto

Durham, Feb. 4.—(AP)—J. A. Ricks, native of Greenville, N. C., who was struck by an automobile manned by a driver who left no clues to his identity, died today.

TODAY

A Billion? He Laughed. Who is the Richest? When Gabriel Blows Atlanta Tried It.

Mr. Hawkins, once chief Ford salesman, says Mr. DuPont told him that "General Motors could never beat the Henry Ford Company." Ford says anybody can beat the Ford Company if he can sell a better car for the same price or as good a car for a smaller price.

"Big" Americans are bashful about the title "Billionaire." There is supposed to be a prejudice against the man with a billion, although it is foolish if the billion has been earned honestly in a manner useful to the public.

Yesterday the head man in Hornblower & Weeks showed that one American could be a billionaire if he wanted to. He had twice offered Henry Ford a billion dollars for his company.

Many prefer an interesting business to a lot of money. A Pittsburgh steel man said, "I once offered Mr. Mellon, now Secretary of the Treasury, seventy million dollars, cash, for one of his properties, his reply was, 'It's a good price, but I don't care to be bothered reinvesting seventy million dollars. No, thanks.'"

Who is the richest among the men that have piled up millions in this country? Is it Mr. Rockefeller, with billions of barrels of oil under ground—he has no idea how many—and the world's most wonderful business organization above ground?

Is it Ford, with his hundred millions a year profit, gigantic plants and a brain full of industrial ideas, or is it some little man, of whom nobody has heard, hatching out a thought destined to be worth more than all the automobiles and all the oil.

Mr. Sinclair Lewis, author of several books, once from a Western pulpit challenged God to strike him dead with lightning. Divine Providence, perhaps having more important things to attend to, ignored the challenge.

Now Mr. Lewis, writing a novel to "expose" clergymen, reminds you of the little boy who "didn't say my prayers last night, ain't going to say them tonight, and then, if nothing happens, I'll never say them."

Albert Grossman, New York legislator, wants the state to employ a first class advertising agent to advertise the state and individual cities.

Wide-awake cities have done it in 1926. Atlanta citizens in four days subscribed $1,000,000 to let the world know that Atlanta has everything any other city has and many things besides.

If any city wants information about Atlanta's experience, write to Wan Allen, chairman of the Forward Atlanta Commission. The South doesn't propose to be disorganized or injured by the drop in cotton.

Professor Sauerbrecht tells German doctors that 42 per cent of consumptives are cured entirely and another 40 per cent returned to useful work by surgical operations on the lungs, cutting out lung patches infected by tuberculosis.

The idea is new. Several years ago this writer says such an operation performed by Dr. Carrel, at the Rockefeller Institute, in the presence of John D. Rockefeller, Jr. The operation was performed on a dog.

CLOUDS OF BATTLE BOARD ALDERMEN ARE HANGING OVER SHANGHAI TODAY

Shanghai, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Conflicting reports left Shanghai in doubt today as to the military situation south of here, where northern and southern troops have taken positions for a battle which is expected to determine possession of this city, control of the Yangtze valley and possibly the fate of the Republic.

Impending Battle May Decide Control of Yangtze Valley and Fate of China

Headquarters of Marshal Sun Chuanfang, defender of the city against the Cantonese advance, declared he was holding his own. Nationalist circles forecast his early collapse.

Missionaries arriving from the battlefront area in Chekiang province reported today that 500 of Marshal Sun's wounded soldiers reached Hangchow from his Yenchow front, crowding the Hangchow hospitals and necessitating the moving of overflow wounded to the Southern Presbyterian mission hospital at Kashing.

The appearance of the wounded to the rear of the lines of the defending army is the first evidence that the battle in Chekiang province had begun.

The war theatre is but little more than 100 miles southwest of here. Sun's forces were entrenched along the Yienstang river using Yenchow as a headquarters. The last known position of the Cantonese indicated they were centering at Chucow, 10 miles southwest of Yenchow.

Hankow, where the wounded were being received, is about midway between Marshal Sun's lines and Shanghai. It was learned here yesterday that the two armies had clashed and that the Central section of Sun's forces had been thrust back in the vicinity of Yenchow.

Include Tobacco In Farm Measure

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Tobacco will be included in the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill as one of the basic agricultural commodities. The decision was announced today by Chairman McNary of the Senate Agriculture Committee.

PREDICT PASSAGE FARM RELIEF BILL WITHIN THE WEEK

Debate on Measure Limited and Supporters Anticipate Passage Both Branches

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Successful in their parliamentary fight to get the McNary-Haugen farm bill before the Senate ahead of other measures considered by their supporters as equally important, managers of the surplus equalization fee proposal today were working for additional prospective affirmative votes among members still in the doubtful column.

They were hoping to bring into line these Senators by consenting to yield to suggestions for minor changes. One of the outstanding compromises sought, and which leaders would remove the chief obstacle in the bill's path, is an agreement with Southern members on the proposed fee on cotton.

Cotton provisions of the bill were gone over at a conference last night in an effort to reach a compromise on the fee and the Harrison insurance plan. Although no definite agreement was reached it was announced that some progress had been made. Further conferences were planned.

Debate on the bill itself was postponed today. On the basis of preparations to head off any filibuster by invoking cloture, limiting debate, supporters anticipated a vote on the measure within a week. They predict its passage in both Senate and House. Opponents look for a close vote.

WOULD EQUALIZE TAX FOR SUPPORT 6 MONTHS SCHOOL

Bill Designed to Equalize County Taxes for Schools Presented Assembly Today

State Capitol, Raleigh, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The House received a bill designed to equalize county taxes for the support of the state six months school system as the outstanding feature of the legislative day. The Senate postponed action on issues slated for debate to pass more than a score of state and local bills, one of the outstanding importance.

The education bill was introduced by Rep. Folger, of Surry, and provides for a property tax of forty-seven cents and a poll tax of $1.41 in each county for the purpose of maintaining the legal six months school term.

The tax would be collected by sheriffs as at present, and the assessments would be made by a State Commission composed of seven citizens appointed by the Governor with the Commissioner of Revenue as ex-officio member.

County boards of education would act as agents of the State department in gathering the funds, but the money would be disbursed through state channels. The funds collected under the provisions of the bill would be used for maintenance only and not for construction of buildings or permanent improvements.

The bill states that its purpose is to provide equalization of taxes for schools and equal opportunities for children. The Senate passed the following public bills without opposition or discussion: Relating to the establishment of cemeteries.

Amending law on incendiarism. Permitting chief clerk in treasurer's office to sign treasurer's name in case of sickness or absence. Providing public hearings in changing zoning laws of cities.

The Senate then went into executive session to confirm certain nominations made by the Governor or for the highway commission and other boards. Passage of House local measures in the lower body and consideration of important bills in the Senate outstand in the hour's session before adjournment over to tomorrow at 10 a. m.

The Senate postponed virtually all of its big measures after some discussion of each, over to next Tuesday and next Wednesday. The Senate passed up the chance for what promised to be a real contest when it postponed consideration of the bill providing $1500 annual increase in the salaries of all judges.

The bill was set for a special order at the conclusion of the noon hour. But when it was reached, Senator Moore of Martin, author of the original bill for which this one is a committee substitute, ordered that it be not considered today, but be made a special order for next Tuesday.

Consideration of two other bills was postponed to Tuesday. One was the bill proposing the redistricting the state for Superior Courts and the addition of seven new districts, was made a special order for next Wednesday.

The Blount bill requiring that the constitution be taught in all North Carolina schools was passed up and also made a special order for next Wednesday. The change in the debate for the automobile license years expiration from summer as at present to winter, was next on the calendar. This measure also went over until next Tuesday.

Big Leagues Go Back to Former Closing Date

New York, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Major League baseball will go back to its old opening and closing dates this year. Having tried out Commissioner Landis' plan for an early finish last year without success the schedule committee has voted to drop the curtain on October 2, one week later than the closing date in 1926. Inaugural games on April 12 have been agreed upon as follows: American League, Philadelphia at New York; Boston at Washington; Detroit at Cleveland; Chicago at St. Louis. National League: Brooklyn at Boston; New York at Philadelphia; Pittsburgh at Cincinnati; St. Louis at Chicago. The two leagues will hold separate meetings here next Tuesday to approve the schedules.

AMERICAN FORCES HEADING TOWARD CHINA WAR ZONE

Troops Not to be Landed in China Unless Protection of American Lives Necessary

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—Although the American government is moving additional naval strength in the direction of Shanghai, threatened by the contesting Chinese war lords, Chinese officials have been assured that there is no intention of making a landing unless American lives actually are in danger.

These assurances have been given to Dr. Alfred Sze, the Chinese minister here, in response to an informal inquiry as to the purpose of the movement of additional American naval vessels and marines toward Shanghai. The minister did not lodge a diplomatic protest.

As Northern and Southern Chinese forces girded themselves for a battle in the Central Chekiang provinces with Shanghai as the possible ultimate goal, United States naval forces, including 1,450 marines, are being moved closer to the danger zones as a precautionary measure to provide protection to Americans.

Meanwhile, Secretary Kellogg is awaiting the reply which Eugene Chen, Cantonese foreign minister, has said he would make in a few days to the American open invitation to both major Chinese factions for conferences looking to the drawing up of new equalization treaties with China.

While the cruisers Richmond, Marblehead and Cincinnati were steaming today from Balboa Canal Zone, to join the American naval squadron in Chinese waters, 1,200 marines of the fourth regiment were en route from San Diego under orders to report to Admiral Williams, commander of the Asiatic fleet. An additional 250 marines will be drawn to Shanghai area by Admiral Williams from forces now in the Philippines or due to arrive there from Guam.

The San Diego force on board the transport Chaumont, will touch at Honolulu for definite orders, while the 250 to be moved to Shanghai will be taken from Manila on the naval auxiliary vessel Pecos. The latter will either be kept aboard the Pecos or disembarked among other vessels of the American fleet at the Chinese center.

The State Department has emphasized that none of the men being moved to China will be landed unless there develops an emergency clearly indicating that American lives are in danger.

If Foreign Minister Chen raises the question of the presence of American forces in the Shanghai area, which is regarded as likely, he will do in his comment on the Kellogg overtures, Washington government officials are prepared to deal on the point. They contend that the marine movement merely is in accordance with a policy to have available a unit, left over from World War I, which would be available to deal with the holding of additional warships and marines at Honolulu, Guam and Manila is evidence that the United States contemplates no large scale landing operations in China.

FAVOR USE OF SURPLUS TO REDUCE THE PUBLIC DEBT

Washington, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The Senate today went on record for the use of the Treasury surplus for reducing the public debt rather than for tax reduction. A resolution making such a declaration, offered by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska, was adopted as a substitute for one by Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, which would have declared for a tax reduction at the present session.

BISHOPS CRUSADE GETS UNDER WAY IN THIS DIOCESE

Episcopal Churches Throughout Nation Conducting Crusade of Evangelism

The Bishops' Crusade is now under full swing in the Episcopal church in the diocese of East Carolina. Last week Bishop Beaton of the diocese of Mississippi, and the Rev. Pembroke W. Reed, of Richmond, Va., conducted a mass meeting with highly gratifying results in St. James' church, Wilminton. This week the Rev. H. F. Klonan, of Cumberland, Md., and the Rev. Mr. Reed are having another successful mass meeting in Christ church, Elizabeth City, beginning Monday, February 6.

The Rev. Frederick Foote Johnson, D.D., bishop of Missouri, and the Rev. Mr. Klonan will begin a mass meeting in St. Peter's church, Washington.

These are national crusades that are sent out by the National Commission on Evangelism to begin the Bishops' Crusade in East Carolina. Beginning Monday, February 14th, the local clergy will carry the crusade into every nook and corner of the diocese of East Carolina.

The purpose of the crusade is to reawaken and reconsecrate the whole church. As the first step the national crusaders are sent to the strategic centers of the church to strike the keynote of the movement. This having been accomplished, the next and most important step will be to inaugurate the crusade in every parish and mission in the church.

The Rt. Rev. Thomas C. Darr, Bishop of East Carolina, has issued the following statement as "The Next Step in the Bishops' Crusade":

"What is to follow? How shall results be measured? Is it to be simply a rights posture or is it to result in experiences, so real and significant that men and women will be constrained to go forward in Christ's name to do Christ's work in Christ's way? The answer to the question must be made by the bishops, priests and laymen and women of the church. The members of the National Commission while keenly conscious of their limitations, co-operatively and individually, feel that they have made reasonably adequate preparations. The crusaders, with zeal and devotion and high courage, sound the measure of the crusade. Many men and women have rededicated themselves to the service of God. All of these things constitute, not the end, but the beginning of the movement.

Diocesan commissions must plan for the diocese what the National Commission planned for the general church. Diocesan commissions carry the message of the crusade to the parishes and missions of the diocese.

Rededicated men and women must carry the glory and splendor of their new vision to lives that are still in darkness.

Ours is a safe place to invest because there is round real estate security for all funds. Save and have by investing in shares in our 45th series. It begins Saturday, February 5th. Home B. & L. Ass'n.

"It is not enough to stand in the reflected glory of the cross and renew allegiance to Jesus; we must show that allegiance by a loyal devotion to His purposes; by a consistent working in His ways, and even if we went that far, it would not be enough for the crusade must do more than simply make us good. It must make us good for something. It must send us out with a passion, not only for souls, but for righteousness. It must make us realize that the plan of God—that justice and arrogance are contrary to the teachings of Jesus, that contempt of law, be it God's law or man's law, is not a mark of discipleship. There are certain ugly outstanding characteristics of the City of Sin: Easy and frequent divorce; immorality bearing the sanction of society; lawlessness that is not of its essence, but a habit that stains and soils all that it touches; blasphemy that sneers its bitter hatred in the very face of God.

"We know that these things exist and I am quite sure that the majority of us are sorry that they do exist, but unfortunately most of us stop at being sorry. We regret but we accept. We view with alarm and then turn our face the other way.

"The great message of the Bishops' Crusade will have been sounded in vain unless it results in a different attitude on the part of many of the members of the church toward the forces of evil that arrogantly claim a place in our civilization.

"Those evil forces have no rightful place. They are here on sufferance. They stay because we allow them to stay. They will go when we say they must go and we will give that order when we realize that they do not belong in God's great plan.

"How is this to be done? Not by the bishops and other clergy alone, although our leadership must be finer than ever before our appeal more insistent, our teachings more definite, our example more inspiring.

"No, there can be no substitute for the devotion and loyalty and consecrated service of that great body of men and women and boys and girls who make up the lay membership of the church.

"You must drive out these forces of evil by developing in your own lives those forces of good which have never been able to stand.

"You must come back to the source of all power. In the sacrament of His love and grace you must find strength—in the study of His own blessed word, you must find the way to a larger life, by earnest and continued prayer you must keep the channel open between your will and God's power to make your service worth while."

Deaver, Feb. 4. (INS)—In one of the most unusual wills ever probated here, Joseph Frei Steffes, a native of Switzerland who came to America 35 years ago, leaves his entire fortune of $40,000 to create a perpetual supply of free white bread for the deserving poor of his native Swiss village. Steffes died here in the country hospital, a charity institution, under an assumed name, declaring in his will that he had been persecuted during his life by two rich and powerful mining agents, whose sinister influence upon his physicians he feared, and so confined the hospital without revealing his identity.

The will provides that the interest on half of the $40,000 shall go to Steffes' brother, Frederick, 73 years old and his niece, Frau Bertha Sprenger, both residing in Switzerland, until their death, when the entire principal shall be used for the bread fund.

On each Friday, the will stipulates and as many other days as the interest will permit, the priest at Ebrundigen, Begick, Baden, Kanton Aargau, Steffes' birthplace, shall say mass for the dead man and for all his relatives.

At each of such masses the deserving poor who shall attend shall receive one two pound loaf of free white bread, the will commands.

The priest must publish the date of each Joseph Frei Steffes American Bread Fund Mass, as they are to be called, from the pulpit each Sunday, so that all the poor may come.

If you are beautiful but dumb, you can't help it—that's a type characteristic, and neither the beauty nor the dumbness deserves any credit, according to Dr. David H. Fouse, prominent local clergyman in a lecture here the other night, but if you are homely and smart, that's an individual trait, and you deserve praise.

"Why were Socrates and Lincoln both great thinkers, so homely," asked Dr. Fouse. "And why is the average movie queen, usually so dumb, always good looking?"

"Because beauty does not belong to personality, it belongs to type. Helen of Troy, the world's most beautiful woman, was only a type; Socrates, the world's ugliest man, was a real individual. The screen stars come from behind the counter in the ten-cent stores—they're of the rank and file, beautiful because it's characteristic of the type."

Dr. Fouse thinks modern styles of being women develop individuality, whether they are beautiful or not.

"Only tall women in a thousand are creative enough to make their own clothes, Dr. Fouse is first they are too conscious of their clothes. He says we think of ourselves always own styles," he calculates. The trouble with Americans, as dressed.

"We're more conscious of the clothes we have on than of the body we have on."

Laying the blame for modern morals or lack thereof on prosperity, Rabbi William S. Friedman prophesied to his Temple Emanuel audience here that the philosophy and culture of the Orient, "unstained and unwarped by the sex obsession" may yet supersede the occidental civilization.

"The American nation has reverted to animal instincts," declared Dr. Friedman, pointing to modern drama, literature, dancing, dress and religion.

It is the fault of the parents, who are too prosperous, and have allowed the sacred institution of the home to lose its sanctity, according to the rabbi that the younger generation are allowed to go sex-crazy.

"The home must again become something more than a nothing table or a deck of cards; more than an eating place or boarding house," he says, before morals will become healthy and normal.

Situation in Flooded Area Well in Hand
Memphis, Tenn., Feb. 4.—(AP)—Relief work in the flooded districts of Arkansas, where the White, Cache and St. Francis Rivers have been on a rampage for several days was carried forward with renewed energy today, while crews of workmen fought valiantly to strengthen the levees and prevent further destruction and suffering.
In the Brassfield and Cotton Plant areas, the relief work has settled down to a well organized system. Hundreds of persons are being cared for in temporary quarters. The Red Cross has the situation well in hand at Cotton Plant, while Brassfield is organizing relief work systematically.
So far there has been little sickness among the refugees.

Can You Answer This ?

How Much Interest Does One Pay On a Building And Loan Loan?

So many are unable to answer this correctly. We want to get it straight in your mind.

For the purpose of an illustration let's take a $1000 loan. Let's assume that the stock is taken and the loan made at the same time. We have two departments, a share or savings department and a loan department. In the loan department the borrower pays 6 per cent interest, payable weekly or monthly, but he pays nothing on the principal. In the share or saving department the borrower subscribes to shares to cover the loan and on these he makes weekly or monthly deposits, and when these are matured, the money will be paid over to the loan department to satisfy the loan. The borrower will receive interest on the money he pays into the share department as per example:

SHARE DEPARTMENT		LOAN DEPARTMENT
Take our 25c stock. We are maturing this in 336 weeks which is 6 years, 5 months and 2 weeks. On 10 shares the weekly payment will be $2.50.		Since the loan will be paid in 6 years, 5 months and 2 weeks, we will figure interest for that time. $1000 at 6 per cent—
6 years	$840.00	6 years	$360.00
$2.50 x 336	$840.00	5 months	25.00
Interest earned for you	160.00	2 weeks	2.50
Total	$1000.00	Total	$387.50

Deduct the $160.00 interest received by you on your shares from the $387.50 interest paid on the loan, and you have paid $227.50 net over a period of 6 years, 5 months and 2 weeks, which is at the rate of a little less than $25.00 per year, or 3 1-2 per cent.

Compare our plan and costs with any other institution and common sense will guide you to us.

 "It has been my pleasure for eight years to use 'AA Quality' Fertilizers. For cotton, corn and peanuts, the principal crops grown in this section, I have never found a fertilizer that gives as good results as yours. I expect to continue using it."
 —E. W. Neblett

Ivor, Va., Dec. 15, 1926
 "For several years I have used 'AA Quality' Fertilizers on all crops grown in this section with excellent results. Last spring I hesitated in buying on account of several other brands being offered at prices lower than yours. I finally decided to use 'AA Quality.' I planted 12 acres in cotton, 90 acres in peanuts and 83 acres in corn. The results from these crops proved that I made a wise decision."
 —John A. Ramsey, Jr.

Why not make every crop on the farm a money crop?

FARMERS who are making the most out of their farms make money on every crop.

It doesn't cost much more to plant, cultivate and harvest big, heavy, quality crops from every field than it does to get only one or two good crops.

The use of high-grade fertilizers makes the profitable difference in yield per acre, in crop quality and a most welcome difference in the bank account.

See the man in your community who handles "AA Quality" Fertilizers. He will tell you why there is a special "AA Quality" Fertilizer for every crop. He will show you why an investment in "AA Quality" Fertilizers is the most profitable one you, as a profit-seeking farmer, can make.

"AA Quality" Fertilizers are made of the finest materials obtainable. The ingredients are so scientifically prepared, so thoroughly blended and cured that they are always in perfect condition.

Backed by sixty years of experience. Proved by thousands of tests. Guaranteed by an unbroken record of crop successes.

Having served approximately 16,000 growers since the opening early in the fall the Greenville Tobacco Market today closed its 1926-27 season, the best in the history of the market. The record made by the tobacco industry in Greenville this year is surely an enviable one, and speaks well for those engaged in the business.

Long ago the market gained a reputation and adopted as its slogan "The Best Tobacco Market in The State" and each year it is living up to its claims more and more. Despite the crop shortage this year the market gained close to four million pounds over last year, while the average price is considerably higher. Those in close touch with the tobacco markets of the state believe that when the records of the state for the season are compiled, it will be revealed that the Greenville Market's average price is the highest among the larger markets which is another star in the crown of the Greenville market.

Not only are the tobaccoists of this city to be congratulated for the success of the market this year for business men in other lines and citizens as a whole, have been a factor in the success. Never before in the history of the market has there been such close co-operation between warehousemen, business men, buyer, grower and all others connected in any way with and interested in the success of the Greenville Tobacco Market.

Not satisfied with this year's record of fifty million pounds, already the market is planning to handle sixty millions during the next season, and talk of a fifth set of buyers has begun. The spirit of close co-operation that has been responsible for the recent rapid progress of the tobacco industry here will again carry the reputation of the market to a new peak and the world will be convinced that the Greenville Market is living up to its reputation.

REED CANDIDACY EXPECTED SOON BY HOME FOLKS

Missouri Senator is Watching Situation in Democratic 1928 Field

Kansas City, Mo., Feb. 4.—(INS)—Senator James A. Reed will ultimately announce himself as a presidential candidate—but only after "careful waiting."

In Missouri and in Kansas City Reed's home town, that seems to be the interpretation which his lifelong political associates and those who have followed his public career are giving to his present equivocal intentions. The Missouri senator's followers are sitting in a posture of expected stillness, keeping their powder dry and waiting for his signal to launch their attack.

That Reed will be among the entries to line up for the 1928 presidential sweepstakes apparently grows less doubtful each day, and although his colleagues in Washington seem to regard it as a foregone conclusion that the "national watchdog" will be Democracy's standard bearer in next year's campaign, political leaders in Reed's home State are working up his boomset quietly and with cautious technique.

They have followed closely the development of Reed's sentiment in the East, especially since his recent address at the convention of the National Boot and Shoe Manufacturers Association. Since that time newspapers and political observers have been describing his utterances as a definite bid for the Democratic nomination.

Before Reed left Missouri for Washington to attend the short session of Congress an interviewer who questioned him about his presidential aspirations received this reply:

"I am still old-fashioned enough to believe the President should seek the man; not the man seek the Presidency."

And at another time he said: "I am not a candidate for anything."

He had previously announced he would not seek re-election to the senate when his present term expired.

However, Democratic leaders here and in the State capital took these statements with a grain of salt and refused to accept them as a damper upon their plans for a 1928 boom.

Among the developments of the last two or three weeks is one which has attracted small notice, but which is regarded here as significant. At Jefferson City a few days ago plans were formed for the organization of the first Reed-for-President Club. The significant angle was that Samuel W. Fordyce, Democratic State chairman, who returned from Washington recently said he had received Reed's approval of these plans.

Democrats of the Middle West, after viewing the situation as it stands today, seem to hold the common belief that Reed will not make an active fight for the nomination until the psychological moment. The senator himself has already indicated he would not make an organized drive for State delegations before the national convention is assembled.

Meanwhile recent middle-western developments have evoked high enthusiasm in Reed's home camp. Considerable interest has been taken in a statement by Senator Caraway of Arkansas mentioning the Missouri senator as one of the two men he believes would make the best Democratic nominee.

From Illinois, likewise, has come encouragement. Dr. James Whitney Hall, just retired as president of the Inopuolis Club of Chicago, but still on its board of governors, declared here a few days ago that movement to swing the Illinois delegation of Reed at the next Democratic national convention will be launched at once.

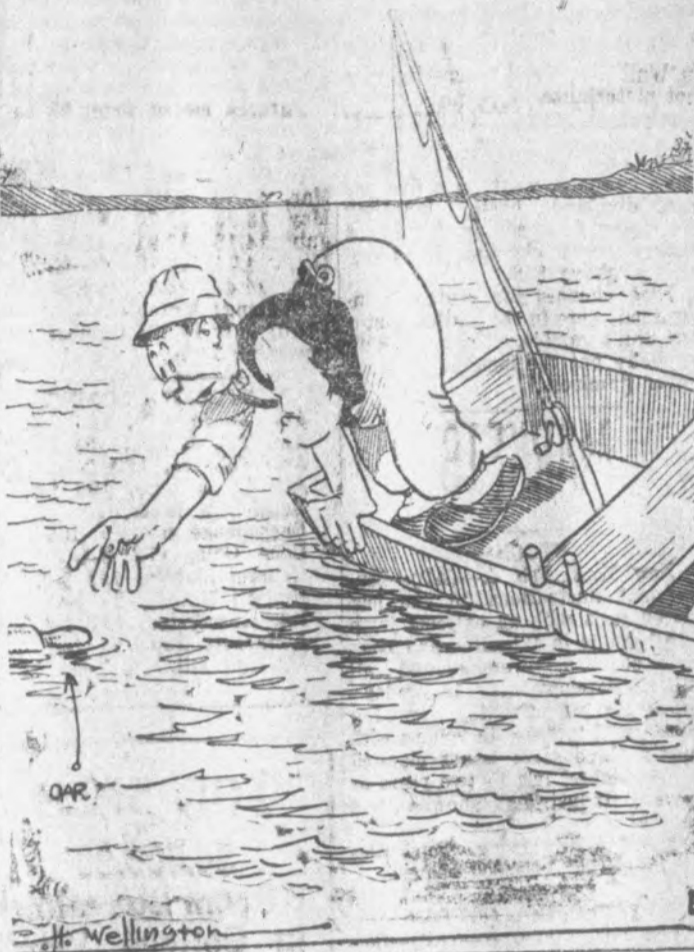

"Senator Reed is an ideal candidate," Dr. Hall asserted. "There is a definite sentiment for him in Chicago and Illinois, and I believe it will grow until it sweeps the State. As time goes on, Senator Reed's candidacy will overshadow those of Governor Al Smith of New York and William G. McAdoo, if indeed, it does not at this moment."

In Kansas, recent declarations by Democratic leaders in the present legislature point to an almost unqualified support of Reed.

With such encouragement coming from Arkansas, Illinois and Kansas, the Reed followers here regard Missouri as already won over, and ready, at the signal, to push his candidacy with all the strength it can marshal.

MANY CHANGES MAJOR LEAGUE COMING SEASON

Greatest Upheaval in Quarter Century Sweeps Through American League

Chicago, Feb. 4.—(AP)—The greatest upheaval in the 27 year existence of the American League swept through the organization this week. About a dozen of the patriots of the league, was placed on "care" to recover his health, and the executive authority turned over to Frank Navia league vice-president and owner of the Detroit club.

Johnson's retirement was the climax of the downfall of a procession of club managers unprecedented in major league history. Five new pilots will be at the helms this year, the only holdovers being the perennial Connie Mack of the Athletics, Bucky Harris with Washington, and Miller Huggins with the Yankees.

born by stories of scandals all winter, the club owners finally managed to end the discord and then turned to bid against each other for the services of Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker, storm centers of one of the fiercest disputes of the stove league season. Speaker finally close to sign with Washington, after considering and rejecting offers from New York and Philadelphia. Cobb is still dickering with the St. Louis Browns apparently having the inside track.

The places they vacated as managers at Detroit and Cleveland were filled by George Moriarty and Jack McAllister.

Dan Howley succeeded George Sisler as manager of the St. Louis Browns. Bill Carrigan, who led the Boston Red Sox to their series of successes ten years ago, was persuaded to come back and get them out of the cellar. Eddie Collins gave up the management of the White Sox to return to his first leadership. Connie Mack and Ray Scholtz, Premier backstop of the American League was named manager.

With such a series of managerial appointments, the club owners seemed to have little left to swap and purchase players, but the White Sox and Yankees completed on deal, and the Detroit and St. Louis clubs made an other important trade.

In their first American League trade in many years the White Sox obtained Aaron Ward to fill the second base vacancy, and Detroit got Marty McManus, the Browns shortstop.

Outside these few outstanding deals the winter player market was largely a matter of changing trading material or untried players. The pennant winning Yankees got some pitching talent for their excess infielder, Ward and St. Louis got a southpaw and two likely infielders for its star shortstop.

Eddie Collins, return to second base with the Athletics was the outstanding change Mack made for his pennant chase, aside from his proposition to Speaker. Bill Carrigan was the only manager not seeking either of the two veteran outfield stars. He announced he was building up a club of youngsters.

Phil Ball, owner of the St. Louis Browns, is the leading bidder for Cobb. The Georgia Peach told his friends he wanted to play but one more year in the majors to vindicate both his ability and ability and then looked forward to a long rest and a tour of Europe.

If there is any truth in the old adage that a new broom sweeps clean the five new broom wielders in the American League this year should create a lot of dust from the time the signal is given April 12th.

 successful. The dog never knew what happened, felt no pain. Dr. Carrel, so far as known, has not yet decided to perform the operation on human beings. It appeared to be simple, took only two or three minutes and less than an ounce of blood was lost.

That well advertised "slump" in Wall Street and prosperity does not materialize. Optimists yesterday bought nearly 2,000,000 shares Common stock of the Rock Island road, once as valuable as cigar store coupons, went on a five percent dividend basis. Wheeling and Lake Erie, selling for $27 a share a few weeks ago, closed yesterday above $68.
