MUDDY FLOOD WATERS SWEEP ASIDE BARRIERS AT M'CREA AND INUNDATE SUGAR BOWL

Evacuation of Sugar Parishes Along Mississippi Continued Rapidly Today.

New Orleans, May 25.—(AP)—The slow spread of the muddy waters of the Atchafalaya River pouring through a break over 1,000 feet wide at McCrea, today began to bring realization to the inhabitants of Louisiana's "sugar bowl" of what the greatest flood in the history of the Mississippi means.

The levee at McCrea broke early yesterday when the current of the Atchafalaya, as if tired of playing, suddenly swept aside the barriers and 2,000 men had been laboring weeks to hold and burst in upon the fertile fields of the east Atchafalaya basin.

The McCrea break is approximately 130 miles northwest of New Orleans.

Inhabitants of the sugar bowl who saw the flood of 1912 go by and leave them unharmed, and who watched while others struggled with the waters in 1922 when they were untouched, today prepared to leave their homes.

The evacuation of the sugar parishes on the west bank of the Mississippi and eastern Atchafalaya basin is proceeding in an orderly manner. The atmosphere of panic which has characterized last night's rushes in other sections was not noticed, although relief workers feared there might be a scramble among those who failed to leave the first warning when the final inundation came. Refugees were being concentrated at the Baton Rouge camp. Adjutant General Toombs, called from Lafayette when the break at McCrea occurred, arrived last night to take charge.

From the west, Lafayette reported that the evacuation of St. Martin's area had been virtually completed and that the stream of refugees into the Lafayette camp had dwindled to an occasional arrival. A total of 17,021 refugees was reported in Lafayette last night, and the congestion at the camp necessitated the transfer of 6,000 refugees to a new camp at Crowley.

Along the Teche the evacuation was reported to be complete. At St. Martinsville, in the heart of the Evangeline country, the waters of Bayou were reported to be spreading rapidly. Breaux ridge reported a rise of two and half feet in the waters there since Sunday.

In the Cooville and Anse La Pute sections, near Lafayette, National Guardsmen, aided by natives, were attempting to save as much livestock as possible by driving it to higher land.

A plea to save the railroad embankments in the State was made here by Dr. I. M. Cline, government meteorologist.

Rail communication, Dr. Cline said, was far more important to the State than the small relief afforded by cutting the embankments. The railroad embankments in some sections have acted as levees, causing the waters to back up higher than they would have otherwise.

On the lower Mississippi the witnesses to appear here in the case of Hart vs. Coast Line Railway, Judge E. H. Cramer this morning at ten o'clock adjourned civil court until tomorrow morning.

A score or more of airplanes are expected for the occasion.

The field is located at Friendship, about 10 miles from the city.

FOREST FIRE RAGES IN THE EVERGLADES

Miami, Fla., May 25.—(AP)—Heavy smoke rolling in from a forest fire in the Everglades enveloped Miami and Miami Beach today. Fire whistles were sounded several miles off shore.

The fire creeping eastward over a twenty mile front has destroyed 100 square miles of duck soil since Saturday.

TODAY

S. O. in the Air. A Flying Wise Man. A Good Man Dead. There's No Free Thinker. (By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

Standard Oil of Indiana believes in flying machines, has a big one, all metal, with three engines, built by Ford, and big oil men, not little ones, use it. A recent Standard Oil "load" flying into Chicago from Detroit, included Colonel Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of directors, Allen Jackson, one of the vice-presidents; E. J. Bullock, another vice-president; R. E. Humphries, a director, and Norman R. Grimschaw, assistant general manager. Evidently Standard Oil believes it has a safe plane.

Lindbergh's description of his flight suggests a mountain climber's experience: "I struck clouds and decided to get over them. After a while I succeeded at a height of 10,000 feet. . . . went under some clouds and over others. There was sleet in all of these clouds and the sleet began to cling to the plane." He climbed over, and climbed under, with wonderful judgment, perfect success.

George H. McGovern and others suggest that it is time to stop referring to Captain Lindbergh as the "Flying Fool." That will probably occur to newspapermen generally.

The record shows that Lindbergh's Wright motor used less than twelve gallons gas per hour of flying and did better than 100 miles to the hour. At twenty cents a gallon that means about $8 worth of gasoline, plus twenty gallons of oil. Not expensive for a trip to Paris.

Anybody who doubts that airplanes will carry passengers across the ocean for less than $50 "all day light route," has little confidence in human ingenuity.

This nation, and the rest of the world, have cause to regret the death of H. E. Huntington yesterday. This son of California was a good American. He spent his fortune intelligently for the finest of books and works of art. And he gave his collections and the magnificent estate which contains them to the people of California.

No sane man grudges or envies a gigantic fortune to such a man as Huntington, who knew how to use money. The country honors him.

The "Free Thinkers' Society" of New York plants a tree in Central Park in memory of Luther Burbank, praises him as a "free thinker" and denounces "theological hyenas" for vilifying him.

Burbank has a right to believe what he chose, and clergymen are not necessarily "theological hyenas" because they exercise their right to say what they think of what Burbank thought.

As a matter of fact, there is no FREE thinker. Our thoughts grow out of other men's thoughts as follows:

DEFER HEALTH INVESTIGATION

Attorney General Brumitt Postponed Examination of Witnesses to June.

Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—Attorney General Brumitt today postponed further hearing of witnesses in investigation of charges of graft against the State Board of Health in administration of the sanitary law until some time after the middle of June.

The hearing recently resulted in more than 150 witnesses testifying with no direct testimony of graft presented from anyone, and the hearing was to be continued next Tuesday, May 31.

Requests, however, for additional help in the Mississippi flood area in matter of sanitary engineers to the State Board of Health occasioned.

OFFERS PURSE FOR NON-STOP TRIP TO HAWAII

$25,000 Involved in Trip From Pacific Coast to Hiwian Islands.

Honolulu, May 25.—(AP)—The Star Bulletin, in a copyrighted article, announced today that James D. Dole, president of the Hawaiian Pineapple Company, has offered a purse of $25,000 to the first aviator and $10,000 to the second flier to make a non-stop flight from the Pacific coast to Hawaii during the 12 starting August 15.

Dole was quoted as being anxious to have Lindbergh compete, but if the New York-Paris flier does not desire to enter the offer may be made effective sooner.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—The Bellanca Monoplane Columbia in which Clarence Chamberlain had hoped to be first to France, will be entered in the $25,000 contest announced by James D. Dole in Honolulu today. The Fokker Monoplane, which also was "beaten to the post" in the Paris flight by Charles Lindbergh, may try the Hawaii flight and it may not.

Charles A. Levine, chairman of the Columbia Aircraft Corporation, backers of the intended Chamberlain flight to France, received news of the Dole prize with keen interest. "Of course we'll try for it," he said.

Grover Whalen, speaking for Rodman Wanamaker, sponsor of the American, was interested in the announcement of the Dole contest, but would not commit himself as to the likelihood of the three engaged plan being entered in the western race.

He said the American would be flown to Paris before any announcement could be made.

St. Louis, May 25.—(AP)—Whether Captain Charles Lindbergh will compete in the Hawaiian flight contest for a purse of $25,000 announced today by James D. Dole, rests entirely with Lindbergh, Major Albert B. Lambert, of St. Louis, one of the sponsors of the New York to Paris flight, told the Associated Press today.

"If Lindbergh does compete," said Lambert, "he will not fly the Spirit of St. Louis, but will have a new plane of the same type. He will be backed by the same group of St. Louisians who sponsored the New York to Paris hop if he does participate."

Lambert said St. Louis would back Lindbergh in any flight he wanted to attempt.

Flood Territory Needs 2,000,000 For Feed and Seed

Little Rock, Ark., May 25.—(AP)—A fund of approximately 2,000,000 to be made available by the American Red Cross will be needed in the three principal flood stricken states of the Mississippi valley to supply feed and seed to farmers, it was decided at a conference here between Secretary of Commerce Hoover, flood directors of the states and other officials.

Of this amount Arkansas needs about $500,000 it was decided. The remainder will be used in Louisiana and Mississippi.

Meekins Sustains Some Contentions In Cooper Action

Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—The Federal court continued work here today on a heavy docket, with Judge I. M. Meekins, of Elizabeth City, presiding.

Judge Meekins sustained part of the contentions of former Lieut. Gov. W. B. Cooper, bankrupt since 1924, but whose creditors have never received anything, assets collected being more than absorbed by a given-emption tax claim.

The former state official applied for his discharge during the same year of his adjudication and the petition has since been pending, objections to the discharge having been filed by the Royal Indemnity Company and Fidelity Deposit Company, creditors by virtue of agreements indemnifying them from loss on depository bonds for deposits of the state in the defunct Commercial National Bank of Wilmington, by reason of which the bonding companies lost over $40,000.

Specifications which have been pending for over two years were three in number, that Cooper had made false statements upon which they issued the bonds, that he had failed to turn over all his property to the trustee in bankruptcy and that Cooper failed to comply with certain orders of the referee in bankruptcy.

Judge Meekins sustained a demurrer to the first objection and sent the other two back for a further hearing before Joseph B. Chesire, Jr. referee in bankruptcy.

An appeal was taken to the Circuit Court of Appeals by Isaac C. Wright, of Wilmington, attorney for the bonding companies. The defendant was represented by R. C. Lawrence, of Lumberton.

Still Captured Near Greenville

Deputy sheriff yesterday afternoon captured a 60 gallon still in Greenville township, seven miles from this city. About three hundred gallons of beer was destroyed. The still was not in operation.

Farmers of Flood Area Begin Replanting Crops

Little Rock, Ark., May 25.—(AP)—Arkansas and Mississippi planters are endeavoring to salvage from the losses of the inundation as large crops as possible although the waters are receding from farms more slowly than any previous floods.

The picture of the farmer returning to his home to find it covered with slimy mud and his land denuded of vegetation was given by agricultural experts. To plant cotton and other crops, the farmers follow along with water as it recedes, pushing the seed into the ground with the heel of the shoe, or a hoe handle—the process being called "spudding in."

Refugees in Arkansas and Mississippi are returning rapidly to their homes. Red Cross officials reported. Sixty thousand out of a total of 150,000 remain in the Arkansas camps with Helene, one of the largest concentration points, being closed today, while in Mississippi 48,000 out of 90,000 total remain at that state's camps.

Railroad authorities today commenced a count of their losses. In Arkansas 1,113 miles of track were inundated, of which 15 per cent was washed out; in Mississippi 439 miles were under water, of which more than half—250 miles—was washed out, and in Louisiana 955 miles were inundated without the inclusion of the Southern Pacific lines in the path of the southward rushing Atchafalaya basin flood.

DRAFT FINAL MESSAGE TO THE RUSSIANS

Note to be Handed to Soviet Representative at Chesham House Soon.

London, May 25.—(AP)—Reverend Tokyo correspondent says it is understood the Japanese government regrets the break between Great Britain and Soviet Russia.

Officials are watching developments closely, but prefer not to comment, owing to the delicacy of the situation.

Moscow, May 25.—(AP)—Rupture of relations with Soviet Russia by Great Britain is regarded here as an accomplished fact, since no doubt exists in the minds of Soviet authorities that Parliament will approve the British cabinet's recommendations.

Officials expect the result to be the awakening of sympathy toward the Soviet in Western Europe and the Far East. The break is looked upon as an effort on the part of the British government to start a conflict with the Soviet Union, which even in the opinion of the British foreign ministry, it is declared would have most serious results for the peace of Europe.

London, May 25.—(AP)—All the London newspapers, with the exception of the Labor Socialist Herald agree that the government's case against Soviet Russia, prompting its decision to break off relations, is constantly sound. The Liberals, however, either question or condemn a rupture of diplomatic relations.

Moscow, May 25.—(AP)—M. Mikolain, comar of trade, declared today that his department would stop all trade operations in Great Britain and Premier Baldwin would find himself mistaken if he thought himself mistaken if he thought the liquidation of the Soviet Trade organizations, their functions would pass to British firms.

London, May 25.—(AP)—A note containing the British government's final words to Soviet Russia was in the course of drafting by the cabinet today. It will be handed to the Soviet representatives at Chesham House, the former imperial embassy as soon as possible after the House of Commons approves the government's decision to sever both diplomatic and formal trade relations with Moscow.

The note which will simultaneously be despatched to Moscow, will give the government's full terms regarding the Russian emissaries in England. It is understood they will be allowed a period of grace amounting to a week or 10 days in which to pack their baggage.

It is expected the note will be sent immediately after tomorrow night's debate in the House of Commons, or Friday morning.

The foreign affairs committee of the ministry which recommended the Soviet break, also met today, as well as numerous foreign office experts who at intervals were in conference with the foreign secretary, Sir Austen Chamberlain.

Another cabinet task was the selection of a large number of documents relating to Soviet activities in this and other countries. These will be published in the form of a white paper.

Will Assist in Fire Protection

Raleigh, May 25.—(AP)—Governor McLean today after a conference with state conservation officials decided upon a tentative plan of assisting agencies in matters of forest fire protection.

Great losses from fires in Eastern and Western Carolina actuated the Governor in calling upon patrolmen over the state to act as emergency fire fighters and a skeleton organization has been perfected.

The Governor recalled the recent forest fires around Elizabeth City and other Eastern North Carolina points and said concern for this section, particularly, had hurried the plans, which will be announced in detail later, as officials are still engaged in the new organization and enlisting assisting agencies.

They will obtain more complete information on administration of weights and measures law.

AMERICAN AVIATOR RECEIVES TREMENDOUS OVATION FROM CROWDED FRENCH CHAMBER

DANISH SCHOONER SIGHTS AIRPLANE OFF CAPE PINE

St. Johns, N. F., May 25.—(AP)—The Danish schooner Albert, arriving at Belleoram, reports that an airplane was sighted 80 miles off Cape Pine on Monday, May 9, the day Charles Nungesser and Coli, were reported to have been sighted near Harbor Grace on their attempted non-stop flight from Paris to New York. The report is being further investigated by the Government.

Cape Pine is a few miles southwest of Cape Race, the southeastern tip of New Foundland.

Charles Lindbergh Becomes "The New Ambassador of America" For The Day.

Paris, May 25.—(AP)—Charles Lindbergh, "the new ambassador of America" was introduced to the French Chamber of Deputies today by Myron Herrick, "the temporarily retiring ambassador." The American aviator received a tremendous ovation from the crowded chamber.

The reception was the most impressive formal function thus far of the American aviator's triumphant stay in Paris. Fernand Bousson, President of the Chamber of Deputies, at whose side stood Vice-Presidents Pate and Lafont, seated the birdman officially, while below the dais stood General Giroud, president of the aviation group, Deputy Colonel Picot, head of the group of war mutilated known as the "broken nugs" and almost the entire membership of the chamber.

"All of us acclaim," Mr. Bousson told him, "and all of us pay tribute to the illustrious aviator who crossed the Atlantic, whose equals only by his merit."

The trans-Atlantic Bousson's greatest enthusiasm of all, "If you had flown over the departments, over our cities and our villages, your welcome would have been the same as here."

Ambassador Herrick, speaking for Captain Lindbergh, expressed the aviator's thanks for the Royal welcome accorded him.

Then Captain Lindbergh himself proved that he was just as facile an orator as his host and in one of his customary brief addresses endeavored himself to every one of the deputies who crowded the President's salon to welcome him.

"When Franklin came over here 150 years ago," the aviator said, "somebody asked him 'what good is a trial balloon?' His reply was 'what good is a new born baby?' When Bleriot crossed the channel in 1909 people asked 'what good did it do to cross the channel?' In the same way people today are asking 'what good has it done to cross the Atlantic?' I hope it will produce the greatest good, not only for the great spirit of friendship between the two countries, but also in future actual and regular communications across the Atlantic by air."

Captain Lindbergh's words had to be translated for his listeners, but they were greeted with round and rounds of applause as the dignified legislators pressed forward to shake his hand and assure him of their admiration.

Once more the American aviator then touched lips to the traditional champagne, "win of honor" which he was toasted enthusiastically. Outside a huge crowd again gathered and cheered him as he left the Palais Bourbon in Ambassador Herrick's automobile en route to the American embassy.

American aviator-ambassador, has won universal admiration and aroused unparalleled enthusiasm, but by his modesty and tact, displayed in the fact of unprecedented attention, he has won even greater honor—the respect of all classes of Frenchmen.

It was commented on everywhere today that never for one moment had the young American, who bounded so suddenly from comparative obscurity to world fame, lost his head or proved unequal to a situation in which he found himself.

ITALIAN FLIER WITH HIS PLANE NEAR AZORES

Commander De Pinedo Said to be Uninjured Despite Forced Landing.

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Uninjured despite his forced landing in mid-Atlantic during his 1,600 mile jump from Trepassay, N. F., to the Azores, Commander Francesco De Pinedo today presumably was with his plane at Fayal, Azores, or near there. The last advices from Fayal with communication difficult, were that he was being towed to port.

The Santa Maria, De Pinedo's plane was seen in tow of the schooner Infanta Vesagus near latitude 41.25 North and longitude 32.25 West or 360 miles southwest of the Azores, by the steamer Cabotcorres, said wireless messages received by the Radio Corporation of America. The vessel was sighted at 12:50 P. M. T., or 8:50 Eastern daylight time Monday.

A German warship went from the Azores to meet the schooner. Advices from Lisbon indicated that word had been received from Pinedo that he was uninjured and needed no more assistance. One report was that he had reached Fayal.

Rome, May 25.—(AP)—A dispatch to the Stefani News Agency from Horta, Island of Fayal, in the Azores, today says the report that Commander De Pinedo's plane has arrived there is not confirmed.

All the dispatches received in Rome this morning on the subject tended to modify the previous information. Today's advices concurred in affirming that the airplane was still being towed toward the Azores by a three masted Portuguese vessel.

London, May 25.—(AP)—Lloyd's gave out an intercepted wireless message today from the Italian steamer Dullio saying "De Pinedo's airplane been towed safely into Fayal."

PAUL KELLY FOUND GUILTY

Convicted of Manslaughter in Connection With Death of Ray Raymond.

Los Angeles, May 25.—(AP)—Paul Kelly was convicted of manslaughter today for the killing of Ray Raymond, husband of Dorothy Mackay, in a fist fight in Raymond's Hollywood home. The conviction carries a penalty of one to 10 years.

Superior Judge Charles Burnell set Tuesday, May 31, as the date for imposing Kelly's sentence. The convicted man's counsel served notice that a written motion for a new trial would be made. The motion will come up on the day of sentencing.

Kelly took the verdict outwardly little moved, but with a blanched face. His habitual expression of worry and depressed spirits again characterized his attitude.

Five Convicted At Hollywood

Los Angeles, May 25.—(AP)—Hollywood today found itself tagged with a flat against "wild parties and killings"—the incidental decree of a jury which yesterday convicted five persons of manslaughter for their participation in a drinking orgy which ended in the shooting to death of Tom (Two Gun) Kerrick, film cowboy.

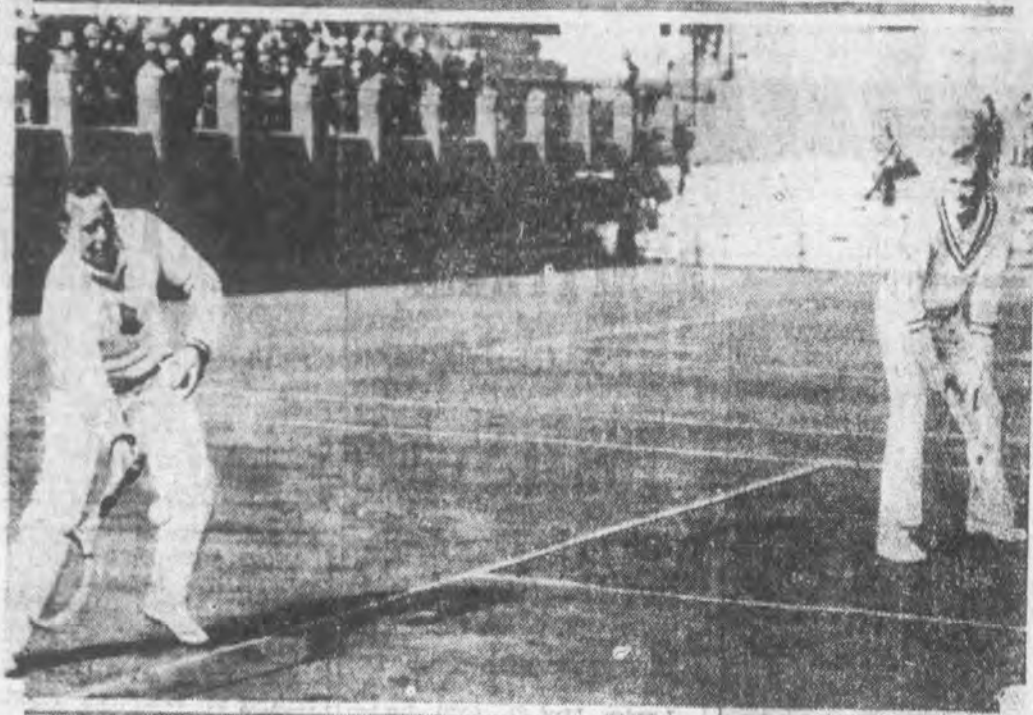

The quintet involved in the verdict which was returned after only a more than three and half hours of deliberation, included the slain actor's widow, Mrs. Sarah Kerrick, whom some of her co-defendants accused of deliberately wielding the gun that killed her husband. The others are Joe Hunt, Arizona cowboy, said to have financed the party, Iris Burns, Anita Davis and Henry Isabell, the latter three film extras.

The five will be up for sentencing next Friday morning. The penalty for manslaughter under the California law is from one to ten years imprisonment.

Then and Now

For nearly twenty years, man and boy, Grover Cleveland Alexander has been a ranking pitcher, and today he's probably as good as ever. Many rate him second only to Walter Johnson. He started with the big leagues when he joined the Philly Nationals in 1909, and later went to the Cubs. The Cubs dropped him, but the St. Louis Cardinals picked him up, and he literally won the pennant for them. Pictures show him at the height of his career and today.

HALEY WINS GOLF MATCH OVER TOLLEY

Hoy Lake, Eng., May 25.—(AP)—In as breathless a finish as was ever seen in championship play on this famous old golf course, the young American Edwin H. Haley of New York rose to fame today by defeating Cyril Tolley, former titleholder and one of the favorites for the 1927 British amateur championship which the present tournament will decide. The match went to the last green.

Starting sensationally with a birdie three, Haley had England's great man of golf struggling all the way, but struggling heroically and magnificently, winning holes or getting halves and staying off the victory which seemed certain for the American at the sixteenth.

The local high school team scored their fourteenth victory of the season yesterday when they defeated the Kinston team by the score of 8-4. The visitors hopped on a string in the first for three hits and two runs but after that he settled down and pitched a fairly good game keeping his opponents' hits scattered while striking out thirteen. VANDEMERE MAN BRINGS IN BIG IRISH POTATOES
The Reflector this morning was presented with two large Irish potatoes by J. A. McCotter, of Vandemere. The larger potato weighed one pound and slightly over two ounces, while the smaller weighed eleven ounces.

Mr. McCotter started digging yesterday. His yield was 35 to 40 barrels to the acre. The production is unusually good considering that the section has had only two showers since the big snow in March.

Lasting Peace In Settlement

Lakeland, Fla., May 25.—(AP)—The Rev. James M. McLesky, of Chattanooga, Tenn., a prime mover in the compromise which brought agreement to the General Assembly of the Cumberland Presbyterian Church on its Bethel College controversy, sees in the settlement a lasting peace for the church.

The controversy hinged on contradictory attitudes of the Churches Board of Education and Education Committee. Certain changes in the Bethel faculty recommended by the committee were not acceptable to the board and the commission then sought to have dismissed the college president, Dr. J. R. Whitner.

Dr. Whitner has resigned. In accepting the compromise, the assembly agreed to replace six members of the Board of Education with six men known to stand three and three in support of the old board and the commission. The Rev. Mr. McLesky saw in this board a body committed to new policies.

The board after all has been the storm center of the church's trouble," he said. "We now will see the formation of new associations between men with a memory of personal friction to mar their relations. The church itself has been united since it voted for a bi-partisan committee to settle the educational difficulties.

"Now remains only to achieve complete harmony of purpose within the board itself."

Fountain Girl Wins Recognition

Frances Dilda, fifteen year old club girl, Fountain, Route 2, has been selected as one of the seven outstanding club girls in the North eastern district of North Carolina. This district comprises twelve counties and more than three thousand home demonstrations club girls.

In December, the Farmers Alliance offered $300.00 in cash to be divided among outstanding club girls and boys to help defray their expenses to the state short course at Raleigh. These club members were to be selected on their record of personal work and on club leadership. The home demonstration agent has just been notified that Frances received one of these appointments.

The Fountain girls' club was organized in January, 1926, and Frances was elected president. From the first she seemed to feel her responsibility and did all she could to make her club a success.

Their first project was clothing, and Frances made all of the articles they were required to make, and made them so well that she won several prizes at the community, county and district fairs.

This is her personal record in club work. Her record in leadership is equally good. At any time the girls have needed material for their work that they could not get in Fountain, she has ordered for them and collected. She represented her club at the state short course in Raleigh in 1926. When she returned, she called her club together and taught them food preservation. She ordered the necessary materials and taught the girls to make the fans she learned to make in Raleigh. Using the same principles, she taught them to make lamp shades. When fair time came around, she with a committee of her club mates, arranged a splendid exhibit of their work at the community fair. After this she packed their exhibit and sent it to the county fair. At one time she gave a demonstration to the Woman's Club when it was impossible for the home demonstration agent to answer their request for a demonstration. The women said he did it well and clearly. In the county wide kitchen improvement contest, she enrolled the women in her school district, and there were more contestants from Fountain than any other one place. This year the girls, under her leadership have raised money to buy a four-burner oil stove, and through their efforts, together with the co-operation of the parent-teachers association, they have a fairly well equipped kitchen.

Frances has just graduated from high school as valedictorian of her class. She was secretary of her class, and a member of the high school tennis team. She also won the debaters' medal offered by the Woman's club. She is a rosy-cheeked, healthy girl, fully up to normal in weight. In every way she measures up to the standard of a well-rounded club girl, who strives to live up to the club motto and improve the head, heart, health and hand.

Next fall, Frances will enter college at East Carolina Teachers College, but she expects to go on with her club work during vacations.

She is a born leader, and can be a power for good in the community where she lives.

The number of accidents throughout the state the past week-end shows the need of "safety first" campaigns.

Those who had overlooked the fact that the year 1927 was most half gone have been reminded of the fact by receiving notice that it is time to purchase automobile license plates again.

Less than two inches of rain here in nearly a month. At least it may be said that the weather in this territory is dry.

The Charlotte couple who forfeited a bond of $10 for kissing in public, ought to make a trip to Paris. Lindbergh was kissed yesterday by a petite brunette and instead of being fined he was cheered by the thousands of onlookers.

NEEDED: A PLACE TO SWIM

The recent drowning of one of Greenville's boys should bring home to the citizens of Greenville the realization that despite other progress, the city is still providing no place where its children can enjoy wholesome sports and amusements without great hazards. From the standpoint of recreation, swimming is recognized as one of the most beneficial sports, but under present conditions, swimming in and near Greenville is accompanied by many dangers. As a rule the bathing places are unsanitary, or have no facilities for the protection of children.

One of Greenville's greatest needs at this season of the year is a place where the children can swim under the supervision of lifeguards and in water that is clean and healthful. It is to be hoped that some of the organizations that profess to have the interest of the children at heart, get behind a movement to provide a suitable bathing place for them.

THE GLORIOUS KIND

We have had two days to get used to it now—this flight to Paris—and most of us cannot get used to it; still we gobble up all the papers have to tell us about it; still we chuckle delightedly over some new tidbit, such as the news that the hero sought letters of introduction to Paris; still we marvel and still we thrill. Why? The Evening World explains it by saying this is the greatest feat by a solitary man in the annals of the human race. And with one emendation, that is probably true. Instead of saying "greatest" let us say "most glorious." For in all truth, this flight was not great in the sense that the voyage of Columbus was great, it added little to human knowledge, it will not affect by a hair's breadth the history of the world. The very charm of it is that it was not useful. Lindbergh did not do a service, he scored a touchdown; over the most hazardous field ever tried by man, he scooted away to the biggest touchdown of all time. And say what you will about those who do us a service, those who add to human knowledge, human comfort or human health, it is the boy who scores the big touchdown that sets the stands to cheering, the girls to throwing flowers and the old grads to weeping tears of sheer joy on each other's necks.

—and the Worst is Yet to Come

And a large part of the glory of the feat arises from the charm of the performer. Was there ever such an irresistible fellow as Lindbergh? "Well, here we are!" he announced, as the crowd tore open his plane on his arrival. And that, to our American way of thinking, was the one perfect remark for the occasion. Again there is his face. It is seldom that a man looks his part, and especially the American idea of his part, as does Lindbergh. He is a synthetic portrait of Ted Coy, Penrod Schofield, and Abraham Lincoln at the age

HINTS FOR THE FARM

Because of the delicate nature of milk it is advisable to provide a milk room separate from the stable. Milk is easily contaminated by stable dirt and absorbs stable odors very readily. It is best to build the milk room so it does not open directly into the stable.

Shrubby fence rows are among the best harbors and nesting places of small birds. Encourage an abundance of birds to live on farms by such planting. Shrubs will beautify the roadsides and fence rows, adding to the comfort and pleasure of man as well as increasing a great economic asset—the bird population of the country.

In choosing a green manure crop give preference to a legum if it is available. Such a crop will add materially to the nitrogen content of the soil. A leguminous crop is valuable for hay or pasture on account of its high protein content and its ability to supply additional nitrogen. Other considerations in choosing a green manure crop are the cost of the seed, the ease of plowing under the crop, the deep-rootedness of the plants and their ability to choke out weeds.

Pullets that are forced too fast and start laying when four or five months old are inclined to be small and lay small eggs. If they are maturing too rapidly in the late summer feed less mash and more scratch feed or reduce the quantity of meat scrap or protein in their mash.

The roots of red clover extend to a depth of four to six feet but the much larger portion is in the upper foot of soil.

In buying a tractor it is not advisable for the farmer to select a machine much larger than his farm operations will require. The earlier machines unquestionably were too large for many of the farms upon which they were used. It is now possible to buy a tractor of a size suited to the farm and the work there is to do.

RUSSIA BIG BUYER OF AMERICAN COTTON

New York, May 25.—(AP)—Cotton valued at $35,000,000 was bought by the all-Russian Textile Syndicate, Inc. New York, between October 1, 1926 and April 30, 1927, for the textile industry of the Soviet Union, the Soviet union information bureau reports. This compares with purchases of $33,053,445 for the entire preceding year ending September 30, 1926.

Episcopalians To Gather at Philadelphia

Episcopal church dignitaries and missionary representatives from every part of the world where the church operates, will gather in the Academy of Music, Philadelphia, on Sunday afternoon June 5th, to celebrate the Jubilee Anniversary of the Children's Lenten Offering, which, in the 49 years of its existence, has contributed upwards of $7,000,000, almost entirely from Sunday school children for the missionary work of the church. Rt. Rev. John Gardner Murray D. D., Bishop of Maryland and Presiding Bishop of the Episcopal church, will preside at the service, and the anniversary address will be delivered by the Rt. Rev. Walter T. Overs, S. T. D., formerly missionary bishop of Liberia, West Africa. There will be present also members of the National Council of the church, and a large delegation of the House of Bishops who are in attendance at a special meeting of the House in New York on June 1, together with representatives from all of the dioceses and missionary districts of the church in the United States as well as Alaska, China, Japan, the Philippine Islands, Africa, Latin America and the West Indies.

A special altar will be set up on the stage of the Academy of Music, and the program will include missionary singing and a pageant illustrating scenes from the mission work of the church in various parts of the world. The chief feature of the celebration will be the receipt of reports from the dioceses and missionary districts on the Lenten offering for 1927 which were collected in the various churches on last Easter. In 1926 the total of the offering was $491,091. For 1927, the diocese of Pennsylvania, in which the Lenten offering originated, set a goal of $100,000 for the anniversary year, that being an increase of 33-1-3 percent over their 1926 offering. The diocese and districts throughout the church were urged

HAVE DARK HAIR AND LOOK YOUNG

Grandmother kept her hair beautifully darkened, glossy and attractive with a brew of Sage Tea and sulphur. Whenever her hair took on that dull, faded or streaked appearance, this simple mixture was applied with wonderful effect. By asking at any drug store for 'Wyeth's Compound,' you will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe, improved by the addition of other ingredients all ready to use, for only 75c. This simple mixture can be depended upon to restore natural color and beauty to the hair.

Well-known druggists say every body uses Wyeth's Sage and Sulphur Compound now because it darkens so naturally and evenly that nobody can tell it has been applied—it's so easy to use, too. You simply dampen a comb or soft brush and draw it through your hair, taking one strand at a time. By morning the gray hair disappears; after another application or two, it is restored to its natural color and looks glossy, soft and beautiful.

KING AWARDED $800 DAMAGE IN CIVIL COURT

Court Also Takes Final Action in Damage Suit Against Local Tobacco Concern.

John King, colored man of the Grimesland community, was awarded the sum of $800 against Graves Co. & Sheppard, highway builders in civil court yesterday, for injuries received when run down by a small train used in the construction of the Greenville Washington highway several years ago. King, it was alleged, received a broken leg and other minor injuries in the accident, and was virtually incapacitated for several months.

Court yesterday reversed its decision in the case of Green Jackson Tripp by his next friend T. T. Hollingsworth against American Tobacco Company, of this city, to conform with a recent decision handed down by Supreme Court at Raleigh. The first decision awarded the plaintiffs $5,000 punitive damages and a similar amount as compensatory damage. Supreme Court found no cause for punitive damage and returned a decision sustaining the verdict for $5,000 compensatory damage with interest from the 17th of January, 1927.

Tripp was shot by W. H. Turner, night watchman for the local tobacco concern, while he was passing along the railroad sidetrack at the company's plant. The watchman is said to have fired upon him before his identity had been established.

The Farmers Bank of Greenville was awarded $905.00 against Sam Johnson and wife Maggie Johnson, with interest from January, 1927.

In the case of State and Glacy Briley vs. Willie Carnegie and M. G. Duke, bondsmen, the court held that Duke was not responsible for bond involved in the case, and ordered him discharged. The decision was handed down by Supreme Court some time ago, being affirmed here yesterday.

Non-suit was ordered in the case of the Greenville Banking & Trust Company, receivers of the Planters Bank vs. Mary James. Non-suit was also ordered in another case of the Greenville bank against W. D. Rozback.

T. H. Carson was granted a divorce from Mary Carson upon the grounds of abandonment.

DEFERRED HEALTH INVESTIGATION

The attorney general's decision to indefinitely postpone the hearings definite time for picking up the investigation will be announced later, Mr. Brummitt said.

The State Board of Health has sent six sanitary workers into the Arkansas field alone from this State and plans are being made to send more. Some of these inspectors would have been recalled if the hearing was continued next week, it was said at the board office.

Requests from all over the flood area were on file in the board office today. Dr. Laughinghouse, State Health officer, reiterated his views that with the subsiding of the swollen waters, the worst aspect of the flood would just begin to be felt.

Lack of sanitation and to this end he is rushing his own men and accepting voluntary aid from county and private sources to supply the flooded area with health experts.

The sanitary graft charges originated near close of the last legislature. Hearing of five days' duration proved for the most part a monotonous repetition of petty squabbles with State Senator Rivers Johnson, Duplin, cross-examining trying to bring out serious irregularities.

WHAT THEY'RE WEARING IN HOLLYWOOD

Insofar as Hollywood sets as many styles as New York does, it may be well to study what's being worn there. Left to right we have: Barbara Kent, in an ensemble of heavy rose crepe in two shapes and a hat of rose and gold; Gretchen Young in a pink organdie frock over a pink satin slip; Kathryn McGeorge in an orchard-colored basque with wide bands of purple and violet taffeta in scallops around the hem; and June Marlow in a gown of imported Swiss lace of cream over white satin, and a hair braid trimmed with pearls.

Gossip of Staff Correspondents at World Centers of Population

Paris, May 23.—Who is the handsome man in France?

Since the nation-wide search for the most perfect Gallic type started, this has become the burning question of the hour.

A group of people interested in physical culture are looking for a Frenchman, "whose hair guarded traces of Gallic days in his face." Among the many Frenchmen who have kept the "Versingetorix" style of beauty were flaubert and Louis Liard, the philosopher.

Stunning-looking Celts, Limousins and Arvergnats with bulking muscles, are getting prepared to enter the competition. A call has gone out to young blonds, and red heads with white skin and drooping moustaches, to appear and be judged. This is the truest Gallic coloring and it only remains to find the best type.

French women have taken up checkers to such an extent that the salons have had to be enlarged in the smart clubs, to meet the demand for tables.

Forty-five women players are competing for the National Championship at the Lyceum Club. Husbands are complaining because their wives talk of nothing except women checker conquests. Bridge, fortune-telling and tea-dancing all have been forgotten for the greater joys of the checkerboard.

It is said that Napoleon's checkerboard, which he used in his student days, is in danger, for the ladies have taken a fancy to use it. The old table and the checkers are still on display at the Cafe de la Regence, one of his favorite haunts. The patron is worried for fear women players will confiscate his famous antique and regard any curious woman with an evil eye.

Monsieur Painleve, Minister of War, is looking for a new system to break bad news to the families of French soldiers.

During the war deaths were announced by one word and afterwards, mimeographed letters cold and impersonal, were sent as consolation. Monsieur Painleve says that in time of peace no effort should be spared to make messages as kind and thoughtful as possible. As yet the revised plans have not been approved but in the near future the system will be arranged to make each word in condolence

A fourteen-year-old boy is one of the important contributors to the National Salon.

Tony Ricou, son of the director of the Opera Comique exhibits two modern canvases which the critics claim, as fine examples of color and drawing. This work shows the imagination of a poet.

His father adored painting since his childhood, although his, was a musical training. The boy has confidence in his painting and even when a little chap said to his mother, "Music is only noise and when one dies nothing is left," he intend to paint and that will remain. You shall see.

cretely, the child sent his pictures to the Salon National without even his father's knowledge. Much to his surprise his canvases were praised and the delighted parents astounded.

A virtue prize is awarded every year in Paris and has become an institution.

Some years ago, Doctor Weisarchy offered a reward to any young girl of good conduct, who by her work and devotion gives satisfaction to family and fellow workers.

The virtue prize was given to Mile. Madeleine Poidevin, twenty-three year-old dressmaker, this year. Mile. Poidevin works in her widowed father's tailoring establishment, besides caring for her younger brothers and sisters.

Monsieur Briand received all sorts of gifts for his sixty anniversary in the French Parliament.

Beautiful baskets of flowers and hot-house plants were sent from the various parts of the country. Telegrams and letters came in carloads to do honor to a beloved minister.

However, the most unique gift was sent by Monsieur Rakowsky, Ambassador from the Union of Soviet Republics. This clever Russian presented Monsieur Briand with an enormous bouquet of paper, paper money. Absolutely valueless as a gift this offering makes an interesting souvenir.

LOCAL LEGION WILL OBSERVE MEMORIAL DAY

Members to Make Annual Pilgrimage and Decorate Graves of World War Dead.

The 30th of May will again be celebrated next Monday by the members of the Pitt County Post of the American Legion, when they will make their annual pilgrimage to the graves of their deceased buddies. Pitt county as she has always done did her bit in offering up the altar of her Country its offering of its native Sons a sacrifice that would stop the Great Hand that was stretching out to Crush the World. Now that these Sons are with us no longer it is fitting that those of their buddies who survive should stop in their routine to give honor to those who gave their all for their fellow-man.

Although a great number of Pitt county's sons made the supreme sacrifice in the World War only a few names are listed among those whose final resting places are known and are visited each year. It is the desire of the Pitt county Post of the American Legion to have the Location of the Grave of every deceased ex-service man in the county that it might visit their graves and pay them this tribute of love and honor. The graves of the following ex-service men have been located:

Ben A. Everett, Carl Jones, John T. Cox, William Z. Edwards, Preston B. Loftin, Ira L. Satterfield, Leslie R. Vinters, Howard Wellington, Benjamin J. Corey, Lewis B. McLawhorn, Milan G. Price, Lonnie Lester Smith, Luther R. Smith, Wiley J. Brown, Charlie R. Buck, Earl Mitchell Cobb, Herbert G. Johnson, Herman L. Lanester, Jasper C. Smith, Tammie Moore, Earl James, Charlie Barber, Charlie Tucker, Leland A. Patrick, Charles Harris, Hassel House, Lewis Arthur, and Reuben Brady.

Those of the above who are buried in Pitt county will have their graves decorated Monday. Some of the above are buried in Arlington cemetery, some in France and some in other countries.

The locations of the graves of the following ex-service men from Pitt county are not known: James T. Edwards, Posey Sumlin, Robert A. Dozier, Charlie Bryum, Elisha Edwards, William R. Gay, William J. Low, Dennis J. Williams, William H. Baker, Jefferys J. Cannon, Zaddock Parker, Joseph F. Tugwell, James Wilson, and John F. Dawson, colored.

Anyone knowing the location of any of the above men's graves will do the American Legion a great favor if they will notify Dr. A. M. Schultz, or W. H. Rogers, Jr. at Greenville. Anyone knowing of any ex-service men who were killed or died during or since the war in addition to the above should also notify the American Legion so that they can be listed among the Honored Dead.

It is the desire of the American Legion to get a complete list of all deceased ex-service men who served

Want to See Henry Ford? You'll Be Lucky If You Get as Far as Frank Campsall!

DETROIT (I. I. N. Special) —Henry Ford moves about, screened from the public by a veritable army of bodyguards, detectives, general secretaries, clerks—and Frank Campsall.

Ever see this man before? Probably not. He's Frank Campsall, Henry Ford's personal secretary.

One seldom hears of Campsall. One hears of W. B. Cameron, editor of the Dearborn Independent; C. B. Longley, secretary of the Ford Motor Company, and E. G. Leibold, Ford's general secretary. They are in close touch with Ford's business and serve as contacts with the public. Many, bent on seeing the auto man, wind up in their offices. But few know Campsall. He has never been interviewed, and he is seldom photographed.

Armies seek to get to Ford. Hundreds with invitations seek him daily. They are steered into the offices of the technical experts. Seldom one gets further than that. His invention must be of startling importance to enable him to get Ford's ear. Thousands of others try to approach Ford with schemes for Utopian ventures. Another staff handles these. Others come seeking jobs. Placement experts hear their stories and act, but scarcely any ever talk to Ford.

Many journey to Detroit fortified with letters from police chiefs, mayors, lodge presidents, ministers and other local notables. A letter from Thomas A. Edison or Harvey Firestone might bring one into the presence of the little auto man, but Here again a large staff functions, reading and sorting requests. Seldom does a plea bring results. Pitiful stories are told by most writers, but some are estimated that if Ford started granting all requests he received, his fortune would be dissipated within a year. Some time ago someone started the report that if anyone wrote to Ford and asked for charity, the writer would be shipped an automobile forthwith. Ford's mail doubled.

But back of all these "shoo-away" organizations stands Campsall. He not only stands between Ford and the outside world, he stands between Ford and his own organization.

With all the checks and discipline, an organization as huge and with as many ramifications as Ford's is bound to start many on the idea that they can get justice only from the master. They get by department heads, past guardians of the outer portals, and past executive bureaus, but then there's still Campsall.

Campsall holds a post unique in this democratic age. Ford is a man of simple tastes. He wants to live in much the same as ordinary mortals do. But his position makes that almost impossible. Wherever he journeys everyone from newsmen to senators want to direct his steps and dictate his movements. It's up to Campsall to keep life normal for Ford, to arrange recreation when Ford needs it, and to let him rest when Ford wants to rest. Campsall must be a good mixer. He's keeping the job.

their country in the World war and they can only do this on information furnished them by parties who know the men who are not in the above list.

The annual pilgrimage to the graves of the deceased buddies is a privilege that the members of the Legion hope to enjoy so long as any of them may live and each year the number is increased.

However as the years pass by and the memory of the past grows more dim the remembrance of those beloved buddies grows dearer to the hearts of the surviving comrades in arms.
