SOUTH DAKOTA SOLONS VISIT MR. COOLIDGE

Entire State Legislature Extends Welcome to President at Summer Home.

Rapid City, June 25.—(AP)—President and Mrs. Coolidge had before them today an experience shared with few, if any, White House occupants an official welcome from the entire state legislature.

The party came from Pierre, the capital of the State, where they passed a special session to pay respects to the state's distinguished visitors.

Scheduled to arrive shortly before noon from their 200 mile trip in a special train, the legislators, many with their families, planned to motor directly to Camp Calhoun, one mile from the summer white house, and after outdoor luncheon, were to be received by the President and Mrs. Coolidge.

The occasion marked the second delegation Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge have received since their arrival at the White House. The first was a delegation of 100 members of the National Editorial Associations convention, paid a mass call on South Dakota's guests.

While the call itself is unusual, the commissioners who made it possible are equally so. The legislation was called into special session by Governor Bulow, in order to reframe the commonwealth proposition Bill which was to be considered at the regular session.

The Governor held that the proposition exceeded the state's revenues because under the laws he was not permitted to veto separate items, probably establishing precedent of gubernatorial disapproval.

Although the state legislators' primary purpose in coming to the Black Hills was to welcome the President and Mrs. Coolidge, there was a note of regret that Governor General Leonard Wood, of the Philippines who left the summer white house last night, was absent. Had he been present today, the situation would have been a pleasant reminder, no doubt, since many of the legislators voted in the South Dakota primary of 1924 for General Wood for president and Mr. Coolidge for vice-president.

PITT COUNTY MAN PAROLED

L. E. Allen Given Freedom as Result of Act of Heroism and Good Behavior.

Raleigh, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—L. E. Allen, convicted at the August 1924, term of Superior Court in Pitt County, of robbery and sentenced to serve four years in State Prison, was today paroled by Governor Angus W. McLean.

An act of heroism in saving a young girl from drowning, and good conduct during the time of his sentence caused issuance of the parole. Allen, a World War hero and former government officer, suffered a mental derangement which led to the crime of which he was convicted and which was brought out in the parole order.

Fire Damages Feed Store at Winterville

Winterville, N. C., June 24.—This morning fire of undetermined origin badly damaged the feed store operated by S. H. Ange. But for the quick and efficient work of the famous bucket brigade which established a reputation about three weeks ago by saving the building in which the postoffice is located, the building and contents would have been a complete loss. The fire was making rapid headway when first discovered, and the fire fighters were greatly handicapped by the heavy clouds of smoke which rolled down. By zealous and constant work every obstacle was finally overcome, and the hungry flames were soon extinguished. It is rumored that the damage is practically covered by insurance.

KING GEORGE PREFERS TO HEAR NATIVE MUSIC

London.—(INS)—King George VI, who is visiting the Blue Train, the other evening was asking rather pertinently why so many American musical shows are being put on at London theatres and indicated his preference for native music.

Dodges Noose

Once again Russell Scott, slayer of a Chicago drug store clerk during a robbery, escapes the noose. The State Supreme Court has now granted him a new trial. He was convicted of murder, declared insane, declared sane again, and sentenced to hang before the high court intervened.

JOHN DAWSON HAS RESIGNED

Chairman of Democratic Party Announces Intention to Retire Last Night.

Raleigh, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—John O. Dawson, of Kinston, last night announced his intention to resign as chairman of the Democratic party organization in North Carolina.

He has served for four years. Mr. Dawson said he would resign in order to devote himself to personal business, at a meeting of the Democratic State executive committee which he will call at an early date. Ten days' notice is required by the rules of the organization.

Simultaneously with the announcement report coupled the name of Attorney General Dennis G. Brummitt, of Oxford, with the office of State chairman.

It was not indicated whether or not Mr. Brummitt if named as party chairman would resign his position as attorney general.

Others mentioned as possible successors to Mr. Dawson were John D. Langston, of Goldsboro; and Frank Hancock, of Oxford.

Mr. Dawson issues the following statement: "Obeying a conclusion deliberately reached, I have decided to resign the chairmanship of the State Democratic executive committee. I take this course with reluctance not because my longer service might be advantageous to the party, but because a liberal portion of its membership has appeared to desire that I continue.

"The one reason prompting my resignation is, that my personal and professional matters need my attention sorely. It does not seem that I should longer neglect them, as to retain the chairmanship would necessarily mean. The position draws more heavily on one's time, thought and resources than many can possibly understand.

"But my interest in the party's welfare will not abate; it will increase with each succeeding effort which Democracy makes to promote the wonderful program of achievement so conspicuously attained already, and which is of so much importance to the State and its people.

"I love the Democratic party as I love few other things.

"At an early date I shall call the committee together to accept my resignation and elect my successor."

RALEIGH POLICEMAN TO ATTEND DETRICH TEARING AT COLUMBUS

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—Chief of Police J. W. Bryan left today for Columbus, O., to appear at the hearing there Monday before Governor Vic. Donahay in which J. E. Detrich, alleged "key man" in the local police scandal investigation will fight extradition.

PROSECUTION BEGINS BITTER BATTLE TODAY

Attempt to Tear Down Plausible Story of Mrs. Montague at Asheville.

Asheville, June 25.—(AP)—The prosecution today began a bitter cross examination of Mrs. Anna K. Montague, 45, on trial for the murder of Mrs. Mary R. Cooper, 61, her employer, in an effort to break down the plausible story the accused woman told yesterday afternoon on the witness stand.

Just when the case will go to the jury depends upon to what extent the state carries its cross examination. The defense has a dozen witnesses to offer after Mrs. Montague leaves the stand but their testimony will not take a great deal of time.

Clad in a modish tan dress of flat Crepe, a wide hat, cream colored stockings and black shoes, Mrs. Montague presented a defiant and slightly pathetic figure on the stand. She answered question after question fired at her by the state attorneys without hesitation and in a firm, clear voice. She even smiled once or twice.

Probably the greatest crowd of the three days of the trial was present to hear the accused woman's testimony this morning. The woman in the court room outnumbered the men two to one. More than a thousand persons, the largest number in the history of the Buncombe county court, were packed into the court room.

Another thousand milled around the outside of the court house, unable to secure entrance. Many carried their lunch.

Late this morning the state's questioning had failed in any way to shake the positiveness of Mrs. Montague's denials of her implication in the grasshopper killing. The body of Mrs. Cooper was found on the morning of May 10th in a vacant lot next door to her home. Her throat had been slashed and her head was fractured in two places. If the state succeeds in its attempt to implicate Mrs. Montague, who spent the night of May 9th at the Cooper home, it will have done so on purely circumstantial evidence.

SPLIT OCCURS IN THE RANKS OF JAILBIRDS

Surrender of Mutinous Convicts at Lansing Promises to Speed Up Investigation.

Lansing, Kans., June 25.—(AP)—A split in the ranks of hundreds of convicts in the State penitentiary here following a fight among mutineers which resulted in the surrender of 328 prisoners barricaded for 77 hours in a coal mine, today promised to speed investigation of the outbreak.

Precipitated by the convict ultimatum of no cigarettes, no coal, the mutiny reached its climax Tuesday when the prisoners took possession of the mine and made 14 guards captives. Their companions above ground then started a riot. The riot was quickly quelled and the mine strike ended yesterday when the leaders were overpowered and forced to abandon their efforts to gain more privileges before surrendering.

As was the case in two or three previous mine strikes, hunger caused the men to give up. When the prisoners blocked the cake shortly after the noon meal was lowered Tuesday, about 50 men, assumed leadership and erected a barricade to cut the others off from the shaft. The leaders held all the food and also had control of the telephone system.

The guards armed only with clubs, were locked in an electric shop.

Although the leaders were armed with knives, clubs and acid, their hungry companions attacked them with rocks after attempting to hold the barricade. The battle lasted for nearly half an hour. The victors then released the guards who informed prison authorities the men wished to come out. One convict sustained a fractured skull when struck by a brick.

WHAT TO DO?

Multiplicity of offers for his services confuse Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, and he's asking Government officials for advice. Picture shows his return to Washington, where he was met by Secretary of Naval Aviation Warner, Secretary of Army Aviation Davidson and Secretary of Commercial Aviation MacCracken.

Trustees Of Wake Forest Meet Today

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—The board of trustees of Wake Forest College today named as president Dr. Frank P. Gaines, head of the English department at Furman University, South Carolina, to succeed Dr. William Louis Poter, president emeritus.

The executive committee was due to make a recommendation and Dr. Frank P. Gaines, head of the English department at Furman University, South Carolina, Dr. John L. Hill of Nashville, Tenn., head of the publishing house of the Southern Baptist convention, and Prof. W. W. Barnes of the Southwestern Theological Seminary, Texas, were informally mentioned.

Robbers Get $1,000 Cash In This City

Safe at Greenville Ice and Coal Company Entered at Early Hour This Morning.

Robbers early this morning broke open the safe at the office of the Greenville Ice & Coal Co., Ninth street, and escaped with approximately $1,000 in silver and currency. The robbery is believed to have been committed between the hours of one and four o'clock this morning. Entrance to the office was made through a front window, and was discovered at four o'clock by a workman who passed there on his way to the wood and coal yard to feed up stock. The loss is protected by insurance.

Money taken by the robbers was contained in two bags. Other bags containing checks and a small amount of silver were left intact. A number of checks and some currency of small denominations were scattered over the office floor by the safe-crackers in their hurried efforts to make their get-away.

Entrance to the safe was made with an instrument similar to a chisel. The combination to the outside door was knocked off with the assistance of a hammer which the burglars are believed to have had in their possession. An xy found on the floor is not thought to have been used. The combination to the second door of the safe the final obstacle between the burglars and the money, was knocked off and then bored through before the door could be opened.

NO ERROR IN EVANS CASE

Supreme Court Upholds Decision of Pitt County Superior Court in Local Case.

Supreme Court today failed to find any error in a decision of the January term of Pitt County Superior Court sentencing Edward Evans, young man of this city to two years in the penitentiary on a charge of involuntary manslaughter in connection with the death of Leland and Wilfred Sanctill, who were shot and killed in an affray near this city last June.

Attorneys for Evans immediately filed notice of appeal to Supreme Court following decision of the court here. Since that time he has been at liberty under an appearance bond of $5,000.

HOAX FREES THREE FROM PARIS PRISON

Paris, June 25.—(AP)—Leon Drouot, Rovalist leader, who was imprisoned June 13 to serve a term for libel, was mysteriously released from prison this afternoon as the result, it is said, of a hoax on the prison director.

STILL SEARCH NEGRO AT MORGANTON

Negro Fitting Description of Girl's Assailant seen in Caldwell County.

Hickory, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—Acting upon what officers believe to be an authentic rumor, three policemen and a newspaper man left Hickory at 11 o'clock this morning with the bloodhound in order to renew the search for Broadus Miller, negro alleged assailant of Gladys Kincaid in Burke County.

A long distance call came to Hickory officers today saying that a negro fitting the description of Miller had been sighted again in the woods around Adako.

"In my opinion that is the negro we are looking for," said Chief of Police E. W. Lantz just before leaving. The chief, who has aided in the entire search, has discredited other reports but he went to Adako yesterday afternoon and trailed the negro several miles and lost it. He believes that Miller is hiding in the mountainous section.

Morganton, June 25.—(AP)—Morganton returned to normal this morning after nearly a week's mad search for Broadus Miller, negro chieftain of attractive Gladys Kincaid, 15-year old Morganton girl. Although information for the Sheriff's office was that the man hunt which has spread into two states was being continued by officials, no unusual crowds milled around the court house today.

An early morning report from Collettsville, mountainous settlement of Caldwell county, that a negro fitting the description of Miller had been seen there took out a small party of deputies in speeding automobiles, and another party was continuing the search around Adako, far back in the mountains of Burke county.

Many members of the sheriff's department believe that the Adako report is the most authentic clue yet received. Yesterday it was the general opinion that Miller was actually in the joke's store settlement but search in that direction is understood to have been abandoned last night.

Raleigh, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—Troops which have been stationed in and around Morganton to aid in the search for Broadus Miller, negro suspected of slaying a young girl near there, were ordered disbanded and sent to their homes by Gov. A. W. McLean, last night.

Company B, 105th engineers, the Morganton Company of the National Guards, and Troop G, 109th cavalry, the Hickory company, under the command of Major E. P. Jones are the troops which have been on duty. Indications are, said Governor McLean, that capture of the negro is not imminent, and there is no further need for keeping the troops on duty.

Gaffney, S. C., June 25.—Morganton, N. C. officers are en route here today to examine a prisoner held in city jail on suspicion that he is Broadus Miller.

The Negro, who fits the description of Miller, given by Burke county officers, claims he is Conrad Sharpe, of Knoxville, Tenn. He was arrested by policemen here about one o'clock this morning.

Lynchburg, Va., June 25.—(AP)—Because he tallied descriptions sent out following an attack on a young white girl last Tuesday, at Morganton, N. C., Herbert Bell, 30, negro, of Hickory, N. C., has been arrested here as a suspect in the case. The Negro maintains his innocence. He was arrested by Southern Railway detectives who saw a picture of the assailant in a North Carolina paper. Bell is also charged with trespassing on the Southern Railroad.

To Perform Autopsy On Woman's Body

Concord, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—An autopsy will be performed on the body of Mrs. Mary Harvell which was found hanging in a wooded near her home here last Friday morning. The autopsy was ordered by Solicitor Zeb V. Long of Statesville, and Sheriff Caldwell, of Cabarrus County, has instructed Dr. J. A. Harless and Dr. P. R. MacFadden to perform it.

Roy Harvell, son of the dead woman, who was arrested as an escaped convict from the Virginia penitentiary is still being held here. It is hinted that Harvell will not be returned to the Virginia penitentiary until after the autopsy.

Financing World Health. A Pleasant Worry. Mussolini Puzzled. A Bear Dance.

(By Arthur Brisbane)
Copyright 1927, by Star Co.)

Last year the Rockefeller Foundation spent $9,741,474 on worldwide health. The work was done impartially, in many countries. The Rockefeller hospital at Peking is so arranged that if China decides to drive out all foreigners Chinese doctors can take full charge.

In Brazil, the Rockefellers, cooperating with the government, fought yellow fever and hookworm and they helped British health undertakings "all the way from London and Edinburgh to Hong Kong and Sydney." In France the Rockefellers established a medical school at Strasbourg, a university and laboratory in Paris, nurses' training centres in London and Paris, and so on through the world.

And while the Rockefellers intend to give away their millions in intelligent philanthropy, the nine million dollars spent on health, like bread cast upon the waters, will return. That money will save a million lives, and the million lives will be worth at least nine dollars a year each, as consumers of gasoline and oil.

And then the Rockefellers will have more money to give away. The national leaders are "worried about money," with a worry that will seem strange in Europe. This government takes in $63,000,000 more than it needs in a year, and can't make up its mind what to do with the money.

Some say, "Give it back to the taxpayers in reduced taxation." Others say, "Do that, and you will be short of money next year, should your revenue not be so high."

In any case, it is a very pleasant dilemma. Mussolini yesterday received Dr. Butler, anti-prohibitionist head of Columbia University in New York. If Dr. Butler discussed prohibition he must have puzzled Mussolini. The latter would think it foolish to drink ice water and absolutely insane to drink bootleg whiskey. And he would be unable to understand millions of human adults allowing prohibition to be forced upon them against their will.

PARIS FLIGHT MAY BE MADE NEXT MONDAY

Fickle Weather Continues to Prevent Take-off of Commander Byrd and Crew.

New York, June 25.—(AP)—The mid-morning report of the Weather Bureau today set Monday as the first date when there seemed a likelihood of favorable conditions for the take off for France of the monoplane "America," but there remained the possibility that the flight might be begun tonight or Sunday.

"The region between here and New Foundland where the fog has prevented a take-off during the past few days," said Forecaster James Scarr, "is rapidly clearing up, but worse conditions are on the way from a storm center over the lake region.

"It is hardly possible that Commander Byrd will be able to beat this new disturbance. There is a possibility that a take off may be possible tonight or Sunday morning, but indications are that the lake storm will swing into the path and bar the flight at least until Monday morning."

The America was poised today atop the incline, where it was fueled for the trans-oceanic flight Thursday night. As soon as the weather man reports favorable conditions, the monoplane can be made ready for the flight within a short time.

FANNVILLE GARAGE FILED BANKRUPTCY

Raleigh, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—T. H. Rouse of Fannville, trading as the Rouse Garage Company, filed Friday a petition in bankruptcy in United States Court here. Assets of the concern were listed as $12,301.47, while liabilities totaled $17,417.42, according to the petition.

PERPETUAL PEACE PACT WITH JAPAN

Long Term Peace Pact Between Japan And America May Result From Geneva Conference.

Geneva, June 25.—(AP)—Overtures by Japan with a view of signing of a perpetual peace pact with the United States are expected in authoritative circles of the tripartite naval conference.

Notwithstanding denials by both the Japanese delegates and Hugh S. Gibson, head of the American delegation, that such suggestions had been made, competent observers persisted in the belief today that when he had assurance that the overtures would have a chance of being favorably considered, Admiral Viscount Saito, the Japanese spokesman, possibly would propose a treaty outlawing war between his country, and the United States.

As the conference neared the close of its first week's deliberations to harmonize the views of the three participating nations on the way to bring about a reduction in the naval armament, it appeared that the British were withdrawing somewhat from their desire to reopen questions settled at the Washington conference in 1922, chiefly the matter of further reducing the size of the hospital ships. This apparent change came after the American and Japanese delegates notified the British officials that the present conference had no authority to discuss decisions which were part of the Washington Pact. Although the two delegations, at the request of the British, decided to ask Washington and Tokyo whether the conference might re-examine the question of the size of battleships, cruisers and aircraft carriers, it is not expected the Governments will deviate from their original programs.

Japan's desire to be allowed to construct as many light crafts, including submarines, all below 700 tons as she deems necessary remain unchanged, despite persistent rumor that her delegation was reconsidering at least the submarine feature of the project.

A Japanese spokesman, turning Admiral Jones' quotation of John Paul Jones to his own purpose, remarked: "We have not yet begun to fight." He added that there was no use talking about ships under 700 tons now when the immediate problem before the conference was to curtail larger auxiliary units.

Two Injured In Gun Fight At Nashville

Nashville, Tenn., June 25.—(AP)—Tom Murphy, of Chicago, the name given detectives by the youth is at the Nashville General Hospital perhaps fatally shot and Robert Shearon, private detective, is at the same hospital, with a bullet wound in the leg, both resulting from a pistol battle on the eighth floor of the Andrew Jackson Hotel this morning at daybreak.

A man registered at the hotel as W. H. Slater, 21, alleged Confederate of Murray is under arrest. Officers say that Murray and Slater have admitted complicity in the attempted robbery this morning and robberies at other hotels in the South.

N. C. Inspector To Assist in Work In Flood Section

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—John McClood, State sanitary inspector left today to direct sanitary house building work in the Mississippi flooded area following request to the State Board of Health for an expert to take charge.

Request was made by Dr. John A. Ferrell, New York, director of the activities of the International Health Board in the nation who said that excellent work done by the North Carolina sanitary inspectors in the flooded areas the last 52 days had won praise from officials in the stricken area.

The training school will be for teaching health officers, nurses and sanitary inspectors to meet problems brought about by the flood.

CARDS PUSH TOWARD TOP IN NATIONAL

(By The Associated Press.)
The world champion St. Louis Cardinals pounded on the heels of the league leading Pittsburgh Pirates today in a thrilling drive for the top of the National League heap.

Handicapped by severe injuries to Tommy Thevenow, star shortstop, and Bob O'Farrell, catcher and manager, the Cards have finally battled to within a single game of the Buccaneers.

Capitalizing Chicago's 4 to 2 victory over the Pirates yesterday, the Cards halved the distance separating them from the pacemakers, with a 3-2 win over Cincinnati, in innings. St. Louis tackles Cincinnati twice today.

"Wee Willie" Sherdel, was a large factor in the Cardinals' fifth straight victory, allowing but six hits, while Charley Root let the Pirates down with seven, Kiki Cuyler's homer couldn't save the Pirates in view of Cub's timely hitting and although Bressler tied the score for the Reds against St. Louis with the same sort of a clout in the ninth, the Cardinals won out through Kolp's wildness.

Still stumbling along with erratic pitching, the Giants split a twin bill with Philadelphia, winning the first 7 to 3 and losing the second 5 to 3 in ten innings. Rogers Hornsby got his 13th home run of the season.

The Boston Braves got "headchy" twirling from their young right-hander, Henry Wertz, but managed to pull out a 5 to 3 win over the Brooklyn Robins.

The Philadelphia Athletics' long chase of the Yankees halted for a day while both teams rested up for two clashes at New York today. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig kept in practice for their home-run race by clouting home-runs against Springfield, Mass., in an exhibition game. Babe got two and Lou one, as the Yanks conquered 10 to 7.

The Chicago White Sox, trailing the Athletics in third place lost a half game when Detroit defeated them 9 to 4. The Tigers slammed two Chicago hurlers for 16 hits for a total of 26 bases.

Ernie Wingo tied up with Joe Shauts, of the Cleveland Indians, in a pitching battle and brought off victory for the St. Louis Browns by a 2 to 1 margin in ten innings. Two singles and a sacrifice fly brought in the winning counter in the final session. The luckless Boston Red Sox ran afoul of Hollis Thurston in a pitching muddle yesterday and Washington had little trouble downing the Bay Staters, 5 to 3.

Sunday School League to Play Twice Next Week

Two games of the Sunday School baseball League are scheduled for the first part of next week, according to announcement made this morning by Charles W. Porter, director of the Boys Work Committee.

The first game will be played at the fair grounds Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock between Junior teams of the Memorial Baptist Church and a similar club from the Presbyterian Church.

The second game is scheduled for Wednesday morning between the Methodist and Immanuel Baptists.

More than usual interest is being manifested in these games, Mr Porter stated this morning, and it is expected numbers of people from both churches will be in attendance.

AMERICANS "FINISHING" HOLES BETTER

(By O. B. Keeler.)

The result of the recent Ryder Cup international golf matches at Worcester indicates to an almost humorous degree a theory that may be at all warranted—that the American professional, and the British professionals, play better match golf in their own respective backyards.

It will be recalled, perhaps with a hint of mortification that our professional team, playing in the first of the Ryder Cup matches last summer at Wentworth, in Surrey, England, was trounced in the ratio of 13 1-2 to 12 1-2 in five foursomes and ten singles matches. Our revenge at Worcester was nearly as complete. Our side won in four foursomes, 9 1-2 to 2 1-2.

Offhand, the implication is that both sides play better at home. And certainly the advantage does lie with the home team, especially as both the Wentworth match and the Worcester match were played soon after the visiting club had got off the boat which carried them across the Atlantic. Our boys certainly were still wearing sea-legs at Wentworth and demonstrated an improvement by romping away with most of the first dozen places in the ensuing British open championship.

I suspect the Worcester course puzzled the invaders, in the recent encounter. The reports indicate that they held their own easily up to the vicinity of the green where the methodical Americans outfinished them.

This brings up an interesting and perhaps important reminiscence of the latest American invasion of Britain. Tommy Armour, the handsome black Scot, indeed has called the matter to my attention the previous winter at Sarasota, Fla.

Tommy is qualified in several ways as an authority. He learned his game in Britain and developed it in the United States. He started as an amateur and now is a professional. And Tommy's pronouncement is this:

"In the long run, the American pro should beat the British pro, and for some years will continue to beat them, because they have developed in a superior degree the art of 'finishing' a hole.

This sounds interesting. I asked Tommy for more.

"Where the British professionals are as good as the Americans off the tee, and though the green—as a rule they are longer with the drive, and they play the irons well—they are at present too much under the spell of an old convention," he said. "They still regard two putts to the green as standard golf, whether they will admit it or not. And missing the green with the proper shot, they subconsciously resign themselves to a lost stroke.

"Not so the American professional. He has for some reason made up his mind that he can get down in two strokes from just off the green; he has studied and practiced the art of 'finishing' the hole, an art that repays time and practice. The American 'finis' the hole better than the Britons, professionals and amateurs alike. They win for that reason.

It is significant that the reports from Worcester were to the effect that, as Brian Bell, Associated Press correspondent put it: "The Americans knew what to do with the ball when near the green."

Wilson, Norfolk And Portsmouth Won Yesterday

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—The Virginia League offerings today: Petersburg at Wilson, Richmond at Norfolk, Portsmouth at Kinston.

Yesterday's scores: Wilson 7, Petersburg 3, Portsmouth 7, Kinston 1, Norfolk 12, Richmond 6.

BOBBY JONES IS OFF FOR ENGLAND TO DEFEND TITLE

New York, June 25.—(AP)—Bobby Jones won the first test in defense of his title as open golf champion of Great Britain when his train from South reached New York on time today and gave him ample margin in which to sail at noon.

BANDIT ELECTROCUTED

Lincoln, Nebr., June 24.—(AP)—Frank Carter, Omaha "sniper bandit" was electrocuted in the Nebraska penitentiary today for the murder at Omaha 18 months ago of Dr. A. R. Searles.

Hudlin Remains Unspoiled, Proves Star at Twenty-one

HE'S A RARE BIRD... HE JUMPED INTO A REGULAR BIG-LEAGUE HURLING JOB WITHOUT WAITING TO BE TOLD!

WHEN THE JOHNSONS, PENNOCK AND ALEXANDERS HAVE PAST ALONG, THERE WILL BE HUDLIN TO STEPP INTO THEIR SHOES!

Willis Hudlin, a twenty-one-year-old purchase from Waco, Tex., has won seven games within two months with the Cleveland Indians. He's been given a regular berth on the team, despite the fact that he joined only last fall.

CLEVELAND (I-N Special)—Willis Hudlin was brought from the Waco, Texas, ball team of the Texas League, to the Cleveland Indians at a cost of $36,000.

Experts looked him over and reported that the young man had ability, stamina, a willingness to learn, and was of the material of which stars are made.

Now for the surprise. Two months have passed since Hudlin has been given regular assignments in the pitching box, and he has been found to have ability, stamina, a willingness to learn, and the material from which stars are made, thereby upsetting all baseball precedent.

One of the surest ways of producing a dub in baseball is to get a youngster from some small town club where he has been amazing the natives, and bringing him into big time baseball with the announcement that he is Great Stuff and turning him loose in a regular position.

Nine times out of ten within three weeks, the youngster will be explaining that it isn't the heat, it's the humidity. But Hudlin was different.

The Yankees had an option on Hudlin last year. The purchase price was $25,000 and two players. The Yankees had the money on the line, but couldn't supply the players. When the option expired the Indians closed in, paid over the cash, supplied the players, moved Hudlin to Cleveland and bought the two players back for $11,000, making Hudlin stand them $25,000 and record fare.

Much of his success is due to the fact that he takes his work seriously and keeps cool. He studies each batter and when he outsmarts him he starts thinking about the next man up instead of how clever Mr. Hudlin is.

He has control of a fine fast ball and a fine curve. He has acquired that intangible quality—that sort of big leaguer very early—having a "tone" that usually requires a recruit several years to develop.

Battery "E" Wins From Washington; In Colerain Today

The baseball team of Battery E defeated Washington at the fair grounds here yesterday afternoon by a score which none of the players or the official scorekeeper so far have been able to determine. Asked about the score, everyone who took part or witnessed the game, agree that it was "somethin' to somethin'" but beyond that very little is known.

The main feature of the contest was the terrific batting rally of both clubs. The total number of singles secured of the hurlers could not be determined, and like the final score, probably never will be definitely known.

Battery E will go to Colerain this afternoon to take on the club of that place. A return engagement of the two clubs will be played at the fair grounds here Tuesday afternoon.

Sammy Carson, manager of the local artillerymen, said the Colerain team is considered one of the strongest amateur clubs in the State, and that they expect to have the fight of their lives in "bringing home the bacon."

FIVE-STORY STREETS AS TRAFFIC SOLUTION

Paris.—(AP)—Five new streets, one above the other, are suggested as a solution of the traffic problem here by Dr. John Harris, of the New York City traffic commission. His plan has been presented to Paris authorities, and many see in it a possible remedy.

"Dr. Harris' scheme would give one way arteries for different kinds of automobiles, omnibuses, trucks, taxis and pleasure cars, separating the fast from the slow. Three great advantages would be freedom from accidents, shelter in bad weather and economy. Dr. Harris believes accidents would be reduced to less than a third of present casualties.

STANLEY'S CONGO BOAT TO BE PUT IN MUSEUM

Paris.—(AP)—A small boat, forty feet long, which Henry M. Stanley used in his explorations on the Upper Congo is to be brought to France by the government as a museum relic.

Stanley used this boat when he was representative of the International African Association from 1877 to 1884. The association was formed to further discoveries in Africa long after Stanley's famous trip to find Livingstone.

The boat will be shown first at the Colonial Exposition soon to open at Ostend.

World's Feet Crooked Says Shoe Designer

ANDRE PERUGIA

New York.—(AP)—The relationship between a woman's head and her feet is very close, says Andre Perugia, who has just arrived in this city from France.

Perugia the Italian whom Paris acknowledges as king of shoe styles, intends to show American manufacturers that they, like most of the world, are giving women shoes that are built on the wrong principle.

Straight lasts for crooked feet are all wrong he believes, and all normal human feet are crooked, says Perugia.

American women who think their feet are different from those of the rest of the world are on the wrong foot, he declares.

In a period of manish clothes, shingled heads and masculine hats, fashion has not been able to "Adaptize" feminine feet. The shorter skirts and shingled get, the more dainty and interesting become women's shoes, says this man who makes them they are today.

"Snake and lizard skin shoes were his idea. Half the modern shoe styles which have captivated Paris came from Perugia's brain. The science of shoe construction interests Perugia.

Four years ago Andre Perugia was struggling to pay his expenses in a little shoe shop in Nice. His shoes caught the attention of an important Paris dressmaker who gave an exhibition in Paris of 5000 Perugia models. The Italian designer soon afterward opened up the Paris shop, which from the time of its installation has dictated French shoemaking.

His workmanship is often attributed to his skill, acquired during the war, as a constructor of airplanes. In that metier he mastered the art of applying fabrics to surfaces.

NEW FRENCH ATTACHMENT ENLARGES CAMERA FIELD

Paris.—(AP)—A new apparatus to enlarge greatly the field covered by a motion picture camera has been presented to the Academy of Sciences. The device was invented by Professor Henri Christien of the Institute of Optics. It would extend the field of a camera either horizontally or vertically. The same attachment is used on a projector machine for showing the picture.

The invention was described to the Academy by Louis Lumiere, father of the commercial motion picture. Pictures taken with it were shown.

Atlanta.—(AP)—Just to please her husband, Mrs. Jesse C. Wright seven years ago took up trap shooting. Today she holds three national championships for women—the singles, the doubles and the handicap.

"She was no prodigy in the beginning, breaking only three or four or five of a string of 25, but she never went through a string without cracking a few. Her first tournaments in 1921 resulted in fair success and the next year she captured the woman's championship of Georgia. She won the title every year until 1927, when she lost to Mrs. Walter Andrews of Atlanta.

In 1925 Mrs. Wright shot her way to a tie with three of the best men shots in the South in the handicap event of the Southern Indian shoot. She won with 25 out of 25. The highest score ever made by a woman in the national shoot was recorded by Mrs. Wright in the singles in the amateur championship at Vandalia, O., last year. In the first hundred she broke 96 and in the second 94.

She cracked 96 out of 100 the next day in trying with Mrs. Andrews for the handicap championship, and in the shoot-off she went 25 straight for a victory. Continuing her fine performance she broke 74 out of 100 for the woman's doubles championship.

The Wrights have a table full of trophies won at the traps, but the big gold medals of national championships were won by the feminine side of the house.

SETS VICTORIAN FASHION

London—(AP)—Lady Diana Duncombe struck a new note in wedding gowns when she was married after July twelfth in fashionable St. Margaret's, Westminster, to Greville Worthington. She appeared in a Victorian era crinoline gown, and many women declared it was the prettiest they had seen for years. The crinoline dress was composed of wide frills of snow-white tulle, set on palest pink satin. Each frill was edged with tiny orange blossoms.

Mr. and Mrs. S. P. Heath are leaving Sunday morning on a two weeks motor trip to New York, Atlantic City and other points of interest.

Barbecue Luncheon in Honor of Miss Lillian Hooker and William White.

Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Best most delightfully entertained about a hundred guests on Friday at a barbecue luncheon in honor of Miss Lillian Hooker and William White, whose wedding will take place in a week. The Best home on Evans street, presented a festive scene for the occasion and the lawn porch and interior was elaborately decorated with yellow and white daisies and gladioli.

On arrival the guests were received by Mr. and Mrs. Best and Mr. White, and Miss Hooker. At the dining room door, Mrs. George F. Hadley received them. The dining table was attractively arranged with a lace cover and a silver basket of snappers and fever-fer for the centerpiece. Mrs. Hortense Moye and Mrs. S. T. White were seated and served barbecue from large silver platters. They were assisted by Misses Mabel Glenn Best and Helen White. Bread, sticks, pickles and slaw were served by Mesdames C. A. Bowen, J. B. Kittrell and F. J. Forbes.

From the dining room the guests passed to the rear hall, where Mrs. C. S. Forbes and Mrs. G. B. W. Hadley served feed tea. The guests then repaired to the porch and lawn.

The host and hostess presented the honor guests, Miss Hooker and Mr. White, a silver ladle, Miss Kathleen Cousins, another bride-elect, a pickle fork, and Mrs. J. H. Rice, a fan vase.

Next entered the dame of honor, Mrs. Norman Edwards, of Grimesland. She wore a crepe Elizabeth gown of ashes of roses and a black picture hat. Her flowers were an arm bouquet of pink Kilarney roses delphinium and fern tied with rose tulle.

Miss Mary Jones sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a canary crepe Elizabeth gown with black picture hat trimmed in maline. Her flowers were sunburst roses, delphinium and fern tied with yellow tulle.

The flower girl, little Miss Earl Proctor Andrews, of Bethel, was very pretty in a dress and hat of pink georgette. She scattered rose petals in the path of the bride.

The attractive little ring bearer, Master William Hudson, of Grimesland, who was dressed in a white satin suit, carried the ring on a white satin pillow.

The bride entering with her Uncle Mr. W. A. Jones, of Rocky Mount was beautiful in her wedding gown of Duchess satin and crepe, embroidered in pearls and rhinestones. The gown was becomingly fashioned, and the long court train caught to the shoulders, was of satin trimmed in real lace. Her long tulle veil worn cap fashion, was caught gracefully with orange blossoms. She wore white satin slippers trimmed with tulle and orange blossom ornaments. She carried a showy bouquet of bride's roses and lilies of the valley.

The bridegroom was attended by his brother, Mr. Lawrence Moye, of Farmville, as best man.

The marriage unites two of North Carolina's most prominent families. The bride is the attractive daughter of Mrs. Jones and the late Dr. C. M. Jones, of Grimesland. She was graduated from Atlantic Christian College, and for the past three years has been teaching in Eastern Carolina.

Mr. Moye is the son of Mr. and Mrs. M. L. Moye, of Farmville. He is a graduate of Atlantic Christian College and Poughkeepsie Business School. He now holds a very responsible position as bookkeeper for a prominent firm in Williamston.

The bride's traveling suit was tan hand-painted flat crepe with accessories to match.

After an extended wedding trip in Western North Carolina, the couple will make their home in Williamston.

WINS DOWER RIGHTS FOR NEW JERSEY WIDOWS

Paterson, N. J.—(AP)—Dower and courtesy have been equalized in this state after a two-year crusade by Assemblywoman Isabelle M. Summers of Passaic county.

Bills introduced by Mrs. Summers gave widows and widowers alike a life interest in the estate of the deceased spouse, regardless of whether there are children.

Under the old law widows were given a life interest in one-third of the real property and widowers, if there was issue, had a life interest in all.

Clarksburg, Mo.—Mrs. T. G. Harris, of this place, says:

"For two years I was in very poor health. Some of the time I was almost past going. I was very weak and run-down.

"I tried to make the most of what little strength I had by taking frequent rests, but I could find nothing which would start me on the road to health again, until one day I decided to try Cardui.

"I had heard about other women who had benefited after taking it, so I made up my mind to see what it would do for me. I took Cardui for several months and was very much gratified with the results.

"I began to do my own work again, which I had not been able to do for a long time past. My color, which had been pale and sallow, became natural, and my complexion cleared up. I gained in weight and was pleased to have an improved appetite.

"When I finished my last bottle of Cardui I was feeling better than I had in years. Now I am strong and well."

MYSTIC ORDER OF PROPHETS IN MARDI GRAS

G. JEROME BRENNER

Cleveland—(AP)—Three days of hilarity are in store for 50,000 members of the Mystic Order of the Veil Prophets of the Enchanted Realm when they invade Cleveland June 29 for the thirty-eighth yearly session of the supreme council.

Representatives from 127 grotoes will attend the meeting of the order, one of the recreational branches of the Masonic lodge.

G. Jerome Brenner of Saginaw, Mich., deputy grand monarch, will be elevated by rotation of office to grand monarch of the realm succeeding Judge Frederick P. Walther of Cleveland.

A mardi gras parade and carnival dancing at the municipal auditorium, a yachting regatta, drills by uniformed teams of the grotoes and a contest between 50 groto bands will figure in the gaiety.

F. Sinclair, The Government discovered that Blackmer had packed his bag and gone to Europe. It made no difference that the Government appealed to Blackmer to return, asserting that only with his evidence could it trace $230,000 in Liberty bonds alleged to have been paid to Albert B. Fall. Blackmer was in Europe, and in Europe Blackmer stayed.

Appeals from the Government that he cut short his sight-seeing after a year's time were unproductive of results in 1925. In 1926 Congress adopted the Walsh act, giving the courts authority to summon Americans home from Europe under penalty of confiscation of their property. Then began a game of hide-and-seek to serve Blackmer with a subpoena. Caught on a train in Southern France, after winning the first few rounds, Blackmer finally refused service of the subpoena. Now the Government, presumably intending to ask the courts to invoke the penalty prescribed in the Walsh act, also retaliates by revoking Blackmer's passport and leaving him a man without a country.

There is just one other American whose exploits match Blackmer's, as an instance of the lengths to which responsible business men will sometimes go to keep out of the courts—and the lengths to which it is apparently safe for them to go, without being publicly rebuked by wealthy, influential and presumably patriotic men associated with them in the oil industry. This other man is James E. O'Neil, former President of the Prairie Oil Company. O'Neil's case differs from Blackmer's chiefly in the fact that the Government's subpoena-servers have not yet even caught him.—N. Y. World.

South Carolina Blue Law Test To Reach Supreme Court July 5

Columbia, S. C., June 25.—(AP)—South Carolina's now famous "blue law" test case, the result of Governor Richard's Sunday crusade, will not reach the State Supreme Court until July 5.

The test case specifically involves the application of the Palmetto State's ancient Sabbath Observance laws to the sale on Sunday of motor oil. It was originally docketed for June, but was postponed until early in July.

The appeal to the state's highest tribunal is taken from the order of Circuit Judge William E. Grimball of Charleston, restraining officers there from enforcing the ancient "blue laws."

Judge Grimball granted the Charleston Oil Company a temporary restraining order, and from this appeal was taken to the Supreme Court.

As the date for the hearing draws near, indications are that it will be one of the most spectacular legal skirmishes in the court annals of the Palmetto State.

An imposing array of counsel, it was promised, will be on hand for the opponents of the ancient law, while Judge Mendel A. Smith, of Camden, one of the State's outstanding barristers will be associated with the attorney general.

Interest in the forthcoming legal encounter is decidedly marked, and is the pre-eminent topic for conversation here and on every village corner.

The "blue law" controversy started to wreak its fury on South Carolina a few months back, when Governor John G. Richards, fresh in office, issued a gubernatorial edict making it plain that he State's ancient Sunday statutes would be enforced—literally.

Consequently the next few Sundays were marked by a total absence of ice cream sodas, tobacco and gasoline. Soprs were also prohibitive under the new governor's order. He sent his constables to the various resort towns to halt Sunday golf. A few arrests and acquittals resulted.

It is believed, when Governor Richards first issued his edict, that he intended to impress upon the legislators—that State legislature was in session here then—the pressing necessity for modification of this ancient statute.

This, however, was dispelled when the Governor refused to sign a bill bringing the State's blue laws "up to date."

Berlin—(AP)—The exclusive right to her finger prints is claimed by a Frau Baumann who was recently arrested on the charge of having been an accessory to a swindle committed by her fiance. Before arraignment she was taken to police headquarters where she was photographed and her finger prints were taken.

The case was "quashed" on technical grounds. Now Frau Baumann has brought suit against police headquarters for the restitution of her photograph which is adorning the rogues gallery and her finger prints, to which she claims she has the sole right of possession. This unique case will be threshed out in the next session of the High Court of Berlin.

SAYS AMERICA EXCELS IN CHILDREN'S BOOKS

Paris—(AP)—Good books for children, and service to the public, are the two points of American supremacy in the book field, according to Edouard Champion, a Frenchman of wide literary and publishing knowledge, just back from the United States.

M. Champion compares French children's books with American to his country's great disadvantage. He thinks American writers have comprehended the child's mind and have learned to give the child the best in text and in illustration. He has hard words for the French writers.

As for service to the public in the distribution of books, he praises American methods without stint. He contrasts the dark, unattractive book shops of Paris with the light, cheerful, well-arranged shops in the United States.

In literature in general and in the making of de luxe books M. Champion thinks France sets the pace.

PHYSICIAN SEES DIABETES AS SIGN OF DEGENERACY

Berlin—(AP)—Considerable discussion has been aroused in the German medical world by the recent lecture of Dr. Hans Ullman head of the medical clinic at the Charite Hospital, in which he noted a startling increase of the death rate from diabetes throughout Europe and the United States and classified the disease as one of the signs of modern degeneracy. Prof. Magnus-Levy, and Prof. Burgen, other eminent medical authorities, agree with Dr. Ullman in his expressed conviction that diabetes is hereditary, and his contention that probably one-third of all cases were inherited has not been disputed here.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE NEEDED

During the past week C. B. Rowlett, secretary of the Merchants' Association, has received several inquiries from individuals and manufacturing concerns who are seeking a place of residence or a suitable place to establish manufacturing plants.

This week has been no different from other weeks for in inquiries, according to Secretary Rowlett, but the "sad part of it," he says, "is that there is no Chamber of Commerce here to refer these inquiries to and the Merchants' Association has no fund to carry on Chamber of Commerce work."

Several months ago inquiries from reliable manufacturing concerns were received here, but before any action could be taken, a live Chamber of Commerce from another city in this section got in touch with the manufacturers and the result was that city was chosen as the place for a new factory.

When local business men are asked: "What Greenville needs most," the answer will invariably be more manufacturing business with steady payrolls to insure a year 'round business. Yet these same business men are making no effort to attract such enterprises to this city. There are numbers of manufacturing concerns whose eyes are now on eastern North Carolina and a proper invitation is all that is needed to bring some of them to Greenville. They are not coming here voluntarily while other cities and towns are telling them of the many advantages offered by those towns. If Greenville is to get new enterprises it must go out after them, but without a live Chamber of Commerce we cannot hope for much.

THE ADVENTURES OF AN OIL MAN

One more act is played in the strange drama of H. M. Blackmer, oil man, captain of industry and missing witness. It was in 1925 that the drama started. Blackmer, former Chairman of the Mid-West Refining Company, was wanted then by the Government as a witness in its suit for recovery of Teapot Dome from Harry

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON
New York, June 25.—(AP)—Forecast showers in the cotton belt over Sunday stimulated week-end covering in and opening declines were followed by rallies in the cotton market today. October sold up from 16.85 to 16.99 but lost part of the advance under pressure in the last hour.

The market closed about four points higher.

An industrial and economic survey of the state will be one of the first duties of the new official when he assumes his new duties July 1.

NEWTON WINS CASE AGAINST HIGHWAY BODY

Decision of Lower Court Reversed by High Court.

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—On appeal, the town of Newton today won its case before the Supreme Court to have the State Highway Commission construct a hard-surface road as soon as possible over the existing Southern route between Statesville and Newton on highway No. 10.

Justice Brogden, writing the reversal, enjoined Highway Commission from abandoning "the existing road in Catawba County as a permanent link in the State system of highways, to the end that work done thereon shall be of such character as will lead to ultimate hard-surfaced construction as rapidly as money, labor and materials will permit."

Chief Justice Stacy and Justice Adams concurred in part and dissented in part with the court's ruling, simply declaring "we agree with the majority that the application for a writ of mandamus was properly denied. We dissent from the order enjoining the defendant (commission) from abandoning the existing road in Catawba County as a permanent link in the State system of highways."

The gist of today's ruling was that the northern route proposed by the commission is not a change of relocation of the highway selected but is totally new and independent project and does not comply with the meaning and intent of the law as written.

The highway commission had contended it had the power under State road law to change, discontinue, abandon and relocate the road in such way and to such extent as it may choose.

But the Supreme Court, in today's ruling, in Justice Brogden's words held:

"That the commission selected the existing road as a permanent link of the State highway system.

"That in construction of the road the statute authorizes the commission to make such changes and relocations of the highway as it may deem necessary for efficient and economic construction.

"That the road proposed by the commission, the northern route, is a radical departure from the highway already selected.

"The Supreme Court affirmed the ruling of Trial Judge Webb in denying the petitions of Catawba and Claremont, which cities pressed for the new northern route, to be parties to the suit.

Give Liberally To Fort Bragg Memorial Fund

During the week ending June 25th the citizens of Fayetteville and Cumberland county rolled up a record subscription of $15,000.00 for the Fort Bragg Memorial Chapel. Continuing efforts of the campaign workers are expected to bring this to an ultimate total of $25,000.00, before the end of the year.

Information received from other large centers indicates that another $25,000.00 will be added to this leaving a balance of $50,000.00 yet to come from the State at large.

North Carolina is the fifth in rank of states which pay large income taxes to the Federal Government. Fort Bragg is the only United States Army post in this state and while the Government is spending about five million dollars to make this a permanent Post, and is equipping it with substantial permanent buildings, there has been no provisions made for a Chapel in the Federal appropriations. For sometime past it has not been the policy of congress to appropriate money for church buildings on government property. The War Department theatre on the Post is the only building adequate in size for public worship, and is entirely inappropriate for such a purpose.

The issue is plainly before the Christian spirited people of North Carolina now. In paying such a great sum in income taxes that the state ranks fifth in importance in that particular, they have "rendered unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's". More than half the garrison of over 3,400 men at Fort Bragg are natives of this state. It is now the time to render unto God the things that are God's and this means that every white person in North Carolina must put his or her shoulders to the wheel and assist in raising this balance of $50,000.00.

The Fort Bragg Memorial Chapel Association at Fayetteville makes this special request of every reader of this paper.

PLANT TAKES STAND IN THE P. & N. HEARING

Says Proposed Extension Would Cause Heavy Loss to Southern Railway

Charlotte, N. C., June 25.—(AP)—Operation of the proposed extension of the Piedmont and Northern Railway in the Carolinas in six years after completion would cause an established loss of $63,561,935 in revenue to the Southern Railway. A. P. Plant, assistant to the president of the Southern, estimated today before H. C. Davis, Interstate Commissioner Examiner.

He was testifying in a hearing being held on the petition of the P. & N. for permission to extend its lines from Charlotte to Winston Salem and Spartanburg to Gastonia.

Approximately 25 per cent of the loss, Mr. Plant estimated, would be in net profit.

The Southern, he said, paid in 1926 about seven per cent on its common stock. He said on questioning that should the Southern earn $14 net per common share, $7 would be carried to surplus and $7 set aside for dividends.

"Then how can you say your road would face disaster—a calamity—and still be able to pay a seven per cent dividend?" W. S. Robinson, of counsel for the Atlantic Coast Line, asked Mr. Plant.

This caused a storm among the attorneys that which was halted by the examiner sharply offering them "stop some of your yelling out there" and the question went unanswered.

The answers of Mr. Plant contained many freight traffic statistics and references to previous testimony by himself and P. & N. witnesses. On direct testimony today Mr. Plant said that the rural-territory industry at High Point "and

Resort to Courts For Equalization Of School Funds

Raleigh, June 25.—(AP)—Resort to courts to secure a more equitable distribution of the three and one-quarter million dollar school equalization fund is threatened by Senator Pat H. Williams, of Elizabeth City, who represented the first district composed of seven northeastern counties in the last legislature, including Dare, Camden and Pasquotank counties.

Senator Williams, was here to attend a meeting of the directors of the Atlantic Joint Stock Land Bank. Other visitors, expressing themselves here today as opposed to the proposed distribution of funds under the Woltz Act, included J. H. Alexander, Jr., of Scotland Neck. Mr. Alexander said he was at loss to "understand how the schedules for distribution were arrived at."

Pasquotank and Halifax, two of the larger agricultural counties, received $4,000 and $4,600 respectively under the schedule of distribution announced by the board. Other counties, not heretofore receiving any money from the fund, received more than $20,000, those protesting pointed out.

WOMAN'S IDEA HELPS YONG TO FACE LIFE

MISS ANNA BEACH PRATT

New Haven. (INS)—The art that lies in old-fashioned home-made quilts and bed covers has been recognized by the staff of Morgan Memorial at Hartford, and the public was given a chance to appreciate the work of Connecticut's seamstresses through a display that astounded a generation that had not thought of such things in an art sense.

A story of limitless patience and industry that was employed in an earlier day to bring beauty and comfort into homes where luxuries were few, is indicated by the collection. Remarkable perseverance must have been necessary to collect the thousands of pieces of silk and colored goods, during times when varieties were limited to make up the crazywork, patchwork, and pieced tops of the quilts. The hours spent at looms and with the crochet and knitting needles to complete the squares of bed coverings cannot be estimated.

No less a marvel was the result of ingenuity and resourcefulness often displayed by the early feminine artisans. On one spread in the collection, made for a four-poster bed, candle-wicking was used to form raised floral designs, borrowed, it seems from window-frost etchings. By its side was displayed a copy of a rich French design in silk with workmanship of a type that would not have been scorned in the original.

Lettered spreads were a feature of the exhibit. One was signed "Esther Pearl." Another worked in block-type letters the legend: "Agriculture and Manufactures are the Foundation of Our Independence." Strangely the pieces seemed newly completed, though their history indicated they had passed down for generations before finally becoming museum pieces.

An honor piece in the collection is a patch-work quilt done in a rising sun pattern. Hundreds of squares and diamond-shaped bits of brightly colored cloth, laid in almost perfect symmetry, form in their matched lines a dazzling representation of the sun, true even to the shading of the corona. "It makes a person warm just to look at the thing," declared a museum guard when it was put out first. J. Pierpont Morgan, first, gave the building in which the collection is housed, to the city as a memorial to his father, Julius Spencer Morgan, founder of the family fortune which was started in Hartford in days when some of the exhibited spread were being fashioned.

Joseph Willard Gibbs, world-known scientist, is being honored by Yale men here, this spring, just as he is in France, Holland, and Germany. The scientist was professor of mathematical physics in Yale from 1871 to 1903. "His works are even better known in Europe than they are in the United States," Yale officials declared when a painting of Gibbs was unveiled in the Graduates Club here by Professor Michael I. Pupin, of Columbia University.

Professor Gibbs was graduated from Yale in 1836 and received a doctorate in 1863, going then to Europe for three years of study. He came back as a professor and died on the job in 1903. While here he did a great mathematical work called "Equilibrium of Heterogeneous Substance."

Europe discovered Gibbs long before America, according to his eulogists. According to them "Lord Kelvin prophesied that a hundred years from his death Gibbs would start out as the great Yale name." Professor Pupin said "I consider Gibbs the patron saint of Science at Yale just as I consider Joseph Henry the patron saint of Science at Princeton."

CHAMBERLAIN FAVORS SECRET DIPLOMACY London. (AP)—Sir Austen Chamberlain, secretary for foreign affairs, in a recent address before the Newspaper Society, scouted the idea that diplomatic negotiations can with success be carried on publicly.

"The idea that you can carry on negotiations in the presence of the crowd is surely the folly of follies. In no human relations other than foreign affairs would it be thought that such procedure was conducive to a friendly and reasonable attitude and to an ultimate solution," said Sir Austen "Diplomacy must be secret, but its consequences should be published. The British government can undertake no engagements and fulfill no treaties which are not disclosed to the House of Commons, and, therefore, to all the world."

Philadelphia. (AP)—Prevention of delinquency and behavior problems in later life by helping children to "find themselves" while in school is the work that has been inaugurated in Philadelphia by Miss Anna Beach Pratt.

Miss Pratt, now director of the White-Williams Foundation, had the idea in 1916 when she directed a special social service study at Elmira College.

After a survey of delinquency among girls she suggested going into the public schools to remedy individual problems before they became acute that girls had to be sent to institutions.

"Children must be helped to find themselves before habits have become firmly fixed," says Miss Pratt. "When citizens realize they may reduce the cost of crime and insanity by coordinating the work of home and school, they will place a school counselor in every school in the United States."

The Foundation now has "counselors" helping children work out their problems. They declare that maladjustment in school tends to bring about maladjustment in life. So valuable has their work proven that they are now working among schools of all grades and children of all ages.

Children without funds to continue their education are aided financially through a scholarship committee.

Besides the thirteen billions Europe owes this government, American citizens and corporations are Europe's creditors to the extent of eleven or twelve billions more. A cash income of a thousand million dollars a year from Europe, enough to build the Panama Canal four times, should keep the wolf from our national door.

Sioux Indians in South Dakota can't decide on a name for President Coolidge. They thought of "Still Waters," then suggested the President's physician should consult with the Sioux "Medicine Man" about a name. One suggestion was "Man-Not-Afraid-of-the-Future."

"Still-Deep-Waters" wouldn't be an inappropriate name. The magnificent new French liner "Le De France" will be equipped with deck catapults from which seaplanes will be sent to carry passengers from the Grand Banks to Canada and United States seaboard cities, cutting two days off the trans-Atlantic voyage.

That's a good beginning. The day is not far away when big flying machines, going around the world, will drop passengers at various points in little flying machines.

Commander Byrd, first man that ever flew over the north pole, is planning to start on a round trip to Europe, with a short stop in Paris. He will take with him fished chickens, for himself and his companions, and $200,000 life insurance in Lloyds.

That insurance is interesting. It means that money itself begins to recognize the safety of flying.

LET'S GO TO CHURCH

(This page is paid for by the following list of firms who believe the churches represent the greatest force for good.)

'Go Back to Bethel'

(BY REV. H. FREDERICK JONES)

The word BETHEL means the house of God and the gate of heaven. It was at Bethel that God revealed himself to Jacob. It was there that Jacob made a solemn vow.

In later years Jacob wandered far from God and apparently forgot his vow that night made on the moorland, with a stone for his pillow. Trouble and sorrow and fear began to overwhelm him. He found that there was no escape through human expedients. He knew that to go back to Bethel was no easy task. He knew that there would be no God to meet him unless all sin was put away, and unless his will were surrendered absolutely to God.

Humble in heart and resolute in purpose he journeyed to Bethel. There God, true to his promises and true to his character, met him, forgave him, blessed him, transformed him, empowered him for service in the Kingdom of God.

There are multitudes of Christian people who, like Jacob, have wandered far away from God. They hate the life they are now living. God is yearning over them with infinite tenderness and waiting at Bethel to meet them again. To Bethel let them go, remembering that God has infinite resources for the exquisite delight of those who seek their highest and their best in Him and His church (Bethel).

I look through the shadows of mist and of rain, The changes of gladness and tears, To a dear little house at the end of the lane That was mine in the vanishing years. I see the old doorway with vines overgrown, And the dooryard with blossoms so fair, And the light in the window that cheerfully shown When my mother kept watch for me here.

I look through the distances stretching ahead (They too shall mix pleasure and pain), And see past the years that so soon will be sped A house at the end of the lane. It stands on the shore of the glimmering sea Where the heavenly multitudes wait; A light in the window is shining for me, Any my Father is there at the gate.
