LEVINE PLANS RETURN FLIGHT NEW YORK CITY

Says French Aviator Will Pilot Bellanca Plane Back to America.

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—Charles A. Levine who accompanied Clarence Chamberlin on his flight to Germany intends to fly back to New York as soon as he can find a French pilot to go with him. He made this declaration at luncheon given today by the American and British correspondents here.

Levine said that Chamberlin, because of other engagements, would not be able to pilot him back to the United States. He added that the name of the pilot to be designated would be made public within a few days.

The plan to return by air to the United States, Levine said, had been in mind ever since the Columbus landed in Germany but because of Chamberlin's inability to accept the offer to act as pilot nothing had been said of it before the arrangements, he continued, have now proceeded so far that announcement of the plan seemed timely.

The sympathy shown Lindbergh and the other fliers by France, said a statement issued on the plan "and their intense affection for the country that was the first goal of a trans-Atlantic flight, led Levine who was deeply appreciative of the hospitality shown himself, to decide that a Frenchman should act as pilot in the attempt."

The statement concluded with the declaration that after the name of the pilot had been made known "there will be no reason for further announcement until we are ready to take off from Le Bourget."

The formal announcement of Levine's plans was made by Levine, who modestly said that his voice could not carry.

"All the time necessary will be given for the preparations," the statement said, adding, however, that everything would be done to expedite the flight.

County Budgets Expected to be Of Great Value

Waynesville, N. C., July 6.—(AP)—The county government advisory commission expects by end of next year to be able to compare intelligently the costs of government in counties in all its branches. Charles M. Johnson, executive secretary today told the State Association of Clerks of the Superior Courts here in an address.

The counties have a program of operation mapped out for them which went into operation July 1 requiring each county to live within its income.

"The new laws," Mr. Johnson said, "were designed to remedy or correct many of the evils that have existed and persisted in the management of county fiscal affairs, such as the operating costs being in excess of income, thus creating deficits that become cumulative."

"The main causes of these conditions were lack of co-ordination between departments, antiquated methods of bookkeeping, inadequate methods of disclosing information which is necessary for the commissioners, as the governing body of the county to manage the affairs of the county intelligently."

"In most instances, it was impossible for them to tell how they were going to come out at the end of the year, and they never knew an audit was made after the close of the year."

Grace's Monoplane Is To Be Rebuilt

Mana, Island of Kauai, July 6.—(AP)—A corps of mechanics will be put to work immediately rebuilding the monoplane of Richard Grace Hollywood aviator who plans to take off again for the mainland as soon as the plane is repaired and tested. This was announced here by Eston B. Kerger, Grace's mechanic. The plane was damaged July 4th when Grace crashed after starting his flight to the California Coast.

Two Birthdays And Reason to Be Thankful Russia's War Frenzy Crowning the Virgin

(By Arthur Brisbane)

Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

This is a young country. Two birthdays were celebrated yesterday, Uncle Sam's and President Coolidge's. Uncle Sam was 151 years old President Coolidge fifty-five.

It is difficult to realize that as young a man as President Coolidge has lived more than one-third the life of the United States.

What marvels our country has accomplished in so few years.

Millions realized it as they traveled about their pleasures yesterday. Cities spread out for miles into beautiful suburbs everywhere. Hundreds of thousands of beautiful new houses and people who can afford them. Twenty-two million automobiles traveling excellent roads—enough cars to carry 120,000,000 people all at one time.

And above all the public schools magnificent buildings, high schools and preparatory schools everywhere. And those school buildings, for all the children, are the finest buildings in thousands of communities.

This nation has much to be thankful for, with free schools so prominent, and prisons so few. It was the other way round once, all over the world.

Russia is enjoying a "war frenzy" and the lion "a slashing of its tail" is mild compared to the big bear working itself into a paroxysm of patriotic communist frenzy.

Moscow wants the world to know that Russia is "unconquerable." That is number one. If the big bear ever starts against "capitalism" heaven help us all. Capitalists big and little.

There is real enthusiasm in revolution. France proved it, revolutionists in stove-pipe hats suddenly developing genius that frightens all Europe.

But Russia, not permanently to be conquered at home, has never been much of a success fighting away from home. The Soviet theory that Russia's peasants would

URGE TOBACCO PLANTERS TO ATTEND MEET

Tobacco Day at Oxford to be Big Affair, Agricultural Leaders Here Say.

County Farm Agent Arnold and members of the county board of agriculture today issued a statement urging Pitt county farmers to attend the "special tobacco" day program to be given at the tobacco station at Oxford Thursday, July 14, 1927. The demonstration is one that should appeal to the tobacco planters of all parts of the State, members of the local department of agriculture stated, and it is hoped as many from this district will attend.

Visitors to the demonstration will be welcomed by E. G. Moss, assistant director in charge of the day.

At 10:45 a response from the chairman of the day will be made by C. F. McCrary, district agent.

Purpose of the tobacco school will be discussed by I. O. Shaub dean of the department of agriculture.

Fertilizers and Rotations will be the subject of an address by Dr. W. Garner, of the office of tobacco investigations, United States Department of Agriculture.

Tobacco varieties and distance of planting will be discussed by E. G. Moss, director in charge.

Cultivation of Tobacco, Tobacco Insect Control, Tobacco Diseases Control, will be the principal topics of discussions by E. Y. Floyd, extension tobacco specialist, Dr. Z. P. Metcalf, entomologist of State College, and Dr. S. G. Lehman, pathologist of State College.

Inspection trips will be made to experimental tobacco plots during the afternoon. Considerable information pertaining to the experiments will be offered by men well acquainted with the agricultural world.

BALLOONIST IS FORCED DOWN AT HOOKERTON

Pilot of Detroit 2nd Breaks Flight Record When He Lands in Nearby Town.

Detroit, July 6.—(AP)—The world's record flight for balloons of the third category (1200 meters) has been broken by A. U. Rasmussen of Detroit piloting the Detroit 2nd in the third annual Detroit News trophy race started from the Ford airport here Monday.

Rasmussen landed at Hookerton N. C., Tuesday night at 5:45 o'clock (E. S. T.) to establish a long distance record of approximately 58 miles exceeding the world's record of about 500 miles.

The Detroit 3rd owned and piloted by E. J. Hill and A. C. Schlosser of Detroit affected a landing at Mt. Vale, 20 miles east of Roanoke Va., at 7:45 o'clock Tuesday evening to establish a new endurance record of 26 hours and 45 minutes. The Detroit 3rd was the only balloon to carry two men.

Five balloons took off at the Ford airport at 5 o'clock Monday afternoon at 5 minute intervals, the Detroit leading. The whereabouts of the Goodyear entered by the Goodyear tire and Rubber Company and piloted by J. A. Götner of Akron Ohio, had not been determined up to noon today.

Rasmussen and Boettner, both winners of previous Detroit News trophy races were considered strong competitors for the honors.

The Goodyear "IV" and the Detroit I dropped at Southville, Ohio

Charlotte, July 6.—(AP)—Two of the balloons entered in the Detroit News trophy race landed in North Carolina and Virginia last night and a third was seen over Durham N. C. at a late hour.

Pilot Rasmussen landed balloon number 2 thirteen miles north of Kinston, N. C., at 6:45 o'clock. Fair conditions were had on the southeasterly flight from Detroit, he said, adding that his balloon would be shipped to Detroit, probably today.

Balloon number 3 in the race piloted by A. G. Slosser and E. J. Hill, landed 20 miles east of Roanoke, Va., at 7:45.

Several North Carolina localities reported seeing flares from the air last evening. Late in the night residents at Durham reported seeing a balloon high in the air, flying in a northerly direction. Its markings could not be seen.

Goldsboro, N. C., July 6.—(AP)—Strong north winds blew pilot A. U. Rasmussen, veteran balloonist and his huge silver balloon, the Detroit II to Hookerton, Greene County hamlet between Goldsboro and Kinston, N. C. last night after a take off from Detroit Monday afternoon in the Detroit News trophy race.

The end of the air trip, in a field near Hookerton, brought Rasmussen to a new world's distance record, about 580 miles for the type of balloon used. He was in the air 25 hours and 45 minutes, one hour less than the Detroit III which alighted near Roanoke, Va., last night, both bettering the world's endurance record of 23 hours and 28 minutes. Rasmussen holds the trophy race record with 225 miles in the 1925 event.

Rasmussen apparently could not have sailed much farther without touching the Carolina coast of the Atlantic ocean, thereby possibly endangering his life.

Rasmussen spent the night with Fred Taylor, Hookerton resident. He arranged to crate his balloon today and ship it back to Detroit from Farmville, N. C. near here.

TWO AIRMEN KILLED WHEN PLANE CRASHES AT TRAINING CAMP

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Capt. Curtis Wheeler and Lieut. Carl J. Sack both officers of the 27th Division Air Service, in training at the Pine Camp, near here, were killed today when their plane crashed to the ground a mile and a half from the camp.

"I declined because it was not deemed wise at that time from a Philippine standpoint to have a change in the office of governor," he said. "The people wanted me to stay, and I yielded, although it always had been my ambition to serve on the bench. I do not care for politics."

With a smile that rippled into a hearty laugh, he added:

Chief Justice Says He Is More Fitted for the Bench Than For the White House

(By John T. Suter)

Mr. Suter has been a Washington correspondent for more than forty years, since 1921 he has been a member of the Washington staff of the Associated Press, assigned to the supreme court.

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Untroubled by the maddening swirl of politics, William Howard Taft is rounding out his seventieth year happier in his daily work than he ever has been before, in or out of office.

As he looks back over the two score years of public service, the only man who has been both president and chief justice says quite frankly that he does not consider that he was "fitted" for the political arena and that he would rather be where he is today than in the White House.

He is so well satisfied and so greatly encouraged over the recent improvement in his health, that he has no intention of leaving the bench when he becomes eligible for retirement. He will be seventy years old in September, and if he chose could retire on full pay in 1931, when he completes ten years service as Chief Justice. But he prefers to remain in harness.

These disclosures were made to the Associated Press by Mr. Taft in a friendly and intimate talk just before he left Washington recently for his summer home in Canada. He now has consented to publication of this talk in which he touched on many personal subjects and discussed, with a knowledge no other man ever possessed, the comparative requirements of the Presidency and the Chief Justiceship.

The talk took place in the study which he fitted out for himself some years ago in his home on Wyoming Avenue. It is a third floor room, jutting out from the main structure of the house. Formerly a sleeping porch, it has windows on three sides and provides what the chief justice described with his infectious chuckle as a "commanding view."

In the center of the room stands a large desk. Between the windows on the fourth side is an open fire place and above it hangs a large portrait of the Chief Justice's father, who once was secretary of war and later attorney-general, nearby are pictures of Abraham Lincoln and of various personal friends, including Elihu Root and President Lowell of Harvard.

As he approached his comparison of the two great offices he has held, Mr. Taft made a passing reference to Theodore Roosevelt. Although he has near him no memento of the years of his association with Roosevelt, the Chief Justice mentioned with a ruffle in his customary good nature that man who was his staunch political friend and then his bitter opponent. He related how Roosevelt had offered him a place on the supreme bench. At that time Taft was Governor-General of the Philippine Islands, and he refused the offer.

"I declined because it was not deemed wise at that time from a Philippine standpoint to have a change in the office of governor," he said. "The people wanted me to stay, and I yielded, although it always had been my ambition to serve on the bench. I do not care for politics."

With a smile that rippled into a hearty laugh, he added:

"Not that I have no interest in such matters, but I am not fitted for the bustings and contortions."

He enlarged upon this theme by pointing out that with him elevation to the highest judicial office in the country had not, as with some of his predecessors, broken personal contact with friends or with the people generally. He retains a keen interest in current events and reads much; and he goes no; find himself lonesome for the society of office seekers and politicians.

"I do not mind what is some times called the monastic life of the bench," he continued. "I have most delightful associates in the court, and very pleasant relations with members of the bar. These are, it should be noted, exactly defined, but the truth is you are more isolated in the presidency. While a president sees a great many people, he can not avoid defending himself against too great familiarity. He has got to be reserved and careful."

"The responsibilities of the presidency are nerve-racking. If one is constituted like an ordinary man, life in the presidency while not requiring the same mental and intellectual labor that attaches to the Chief Justiceship goes enormously consuming nervous energy and is more trying than work on the bench."

"The difference between the exacting of the two offices is that in work on the bench you have the assistance of your colleagues, who share in the responsibility for the conclusions, the benefit of oral arguments by counsel and of briefs submitted on both sides of the controversy."

"And you have control of your time for careful study. In the presidency you often have to make a decision on a question in the instant or overhasty or in so short a time that the risk of mistake is great, and then you have not the benefit of argument on both sides, often no argument on either, and you can not always consult your cabinet."

"Of course the presidency is the office that attracts in the sense of power one is supposed to exercise and there are those who great joy in its constant exercise. But even in the strongest it takes much out of a man, and the strain is felt long after retirement to private life."

"The character of work on the bench, its steadiness and the regularity with which you can order your life, if you do not overdo the social part, makes it consistent with long life, hard as the work is."

"The Chief Justice added that he now can enjoy a "real vacation" something he could not do while president. He puts aside entirely the duties of the court during his summer recess, and at his place on Murray Cove, Canada, has a genuine respite from work, and makes the most of it. But it is a quiet vacation, for he has been warned by his physician that he must not overtax his heart."

"I gather all the books I can before starting on my vacation," he explained, "and spend most of my time on my porch overlooking the St. Lawrence River, which is nearly 13 miles across."

Free from study and concentration I rest until late in the vacation when I receive briefs filed during the recess to enable me to catch up a little before starting upon real work of the court. I get back

NAVAL HEADS STILL TALK ABOUT SHIPS

Powers at Geneva Wait Official Word From Governments Before Taking Action.

Geneva, Switzerland, July 6.—(AP)—Private meetings today between Hugh S. Gibson, American delegate, and Viscount Ishii of Japan and later between Mr. Gibson and A. C. Bridgeman, British delegate failed to improve the existing critical situation confronting the tripartite naval conference.

Lord Cecil, Admiral Sir Frederick Field and also Rear Admiral Hilary P. Jones, U. S. N., were present at the Anglo-American parley which according to reliable reports, were rather lively.

Geneva, July 6.—(AP)—The tripartite naval conference with the United States, Great Britain and Japan participating is at a standstill as far as Geneva is concerned. The next word lies with the governments in Washington, London and Tokyo, it is they who must help or even direct the solution of the cruiser problem which if not settled, means the collapse of the conference.

Apparently Washington must tell London that the new maximum cruiser figures submitted by Hugh S. Gibson, embody America's last upward concession, if Washington really means this; and Tokyo must let Downing Street know how Japan regards the cruiser limitations.

The situation today is that the American delegation has told the British that limitation can only be achieved by keeping cruiser strength within 400,000 tons, which is some 50,000 tons higher than the present American cruiser strength.

The Americans say in effect: "We do not object to you having 70-odd cruisers if you really need them, but distribute the tonnage so that the total will not create a big excess over your present total tonnage."

To his British answer: "We need about 70 cruisers, but if you Americans insist upon keeping large-sized cruisers, then we must naturally build our cruisers up to maximum size when the time comes to replace the old ships, some 30 of which are of 5,000 tons displacement or even less. If you will construct smaller ships, it will automatically bring down our total tonnage figures."

Thus this cruiser puzzle is the antiquated problem of the "vicious article."

Furthermore, Great Britain says: "Large warships symbolize aggression; small ones, defense. We need only small cruisers to protect our trade routes and food supplies. England simply can not run the risk of being isolated. And anyway we didn't start this naval race."

The only practicable solution now in sight seems to be a private agreement with Great Britain that she will continue to build a certain number of the small cruisers which she has hitherto regarded as sufficient in size for colonial operations as assistance upon the right to build 10,000 and 7,500 ton vessels; would bring the British total near the 600,000 ton mark.

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Geneva reports that the naval limitation conference had reached a virtual deadlock over cruiser tonnage failed today to draw comment in any official utterance here but there were increasing intimations that the Washington government was very unlikely to accept a cruiser figure in excess of the 400,000 ton maximum mentioned by the American technical delegates.

It was made clear that the U. S. looks upon the present stage of the conference as still as preliminary one, officials did not disclose what confidential reports of yesterday's proceedings might have come from Ambassador Gibson. It was suggested again, however, that the hard and fast views of the technical experts of the three powers have still to be accorded diplomatic treatment by the senior members of the missions and that if the three powers are so anxious to prevent further competitive naval construction and to reduce their naval expenditures as the correspondent which brought out the Geneva meeting would indicate, there should be ample room for diplomatic adjustment of conflicting views of cruiser strength.

Despite this hopeful official viewpoint, however, the outstanding factor here today was the strong impression created that the Washington government was

WAR INVALID IS CURED BY SEEING BYRD

Miracle Occurs to French Cripple as He Comes in Contact With American Aviator.

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—There was almost a touch of the miraculous in the visit of Commander Byrd and the crew of the trans-Atlantic plane America to the Hotel de Invalides, home of France's war wounded.

For the first time since he was brought down at Verdun in 1918, Capt. Charles Legendre, paralyzed French aviator, stood straight on his feet and walked.

"Your courage, despite overwhelming odds, and your splendid exploits have given me renewed courage," Capt. Legendre told Commander Byrd, his emotion plainly visible. "I will accompany you."

He arose hesitatingly, groped a moment for support, and then with the most obvious effort of will took a faltering step forward. Another followed and the war hero, his arm resting lightly on the shoulder of the trans-Atlantic flier, walked slowly but surely toward the entrance of Napoleon's tomb.

It was the most moving incident of the stay of the American aviators here. Tears glistened in many eyes as the little party with Lieut. Noville, Bert Acosta and Bert Balchen hovering anxiously about the faltering French ace, visited the tomb and then returned to the grounds of the invalids, where anxious hands pushed a wheel chair from Legendre.

$300,000 Fire At Atlantic City N. J.

Atlantic City, N. J., July 6.—(AP)—A perfectly timed cigarette today was believed responsible for a fire that yesterday ate its way unnoticed under this resort's famous boardwalk and before it was extinguished a block of buildings, including six small hotels, and caused a property loss estimated at $300,000.

The fire started near the Scattered Amusement Parlor, opposite the million dollar pier, and spread from Missouri to Arkansas Avenues.

More than 500 persons, many clad only in bathing suits, lost belongings, three firemen were overcome and a policeman was injured.

McDonald Scores Baldwin Scheme In House Today

London, July 6.—(AP)—Ramsay MacDonald, the British labor leader, today made his scheduled motion of censure on the Baldwin government in the House of Commons on the government's scheme for reform of the House of Lords.

In the presence of a crowded house, Mr. MacDonald expressed regret that the government had put forward a scheme for fundamental changes in the House of Lords without obtaining a mandate from the people.

His motion, which was framed last week, declared that the government's reform scheme "gerrymanders the constitution in the interests of the Conservative party," deprives the House of Commons of the control of finance, entrenches the Lords on a hereditary basis and takes from the elections the power to deal with the upper house.

Previous to the opening of the house, the cabinet held a meeting and it is understood that the ministers approved a statement which Premier Baldwin proposed to make in reply to the Laborite censure motion.

BIDS FOR HIGHWAYS OPENED AT RALEIGH

Raleigh, July 6.—(AP)—Bids for construction of 172.85 miles and three bridges on the State Highway system were opened at the State Highway Department today.

The mileage includes 74.57 miles of grading and dirt roadway, and 88.33 miles of hard surface, and is divided into 24 projects, expected to total about two million dollars.

The highway commission meets tomorrow to award the contracts to the low bidder.

The work includes improvement of 3.14 miles of highway 75 from the Yadkin River where the new concrete bridge is being erected to a point near Reids.

U. S. AIRMAN DECORATED IN PARIS TODAY

Premier Poincare Places Legion of Honor on Breast of Commander Byrd.

Paris, July 6.—(AP)—Premier Poincare pinned the decoration of the Legion of Honor on the breast of Comm. Byrd this morning. The ceremony took place at the ministry of finance in the presence of Sheldon Whitehouse, American Charge d'Affaires, Captain White the naval attaché, and A. A. Robinson, personal representative of Rodman Wanamaker, who sponsored the America's flight across the Atlantic.

The visits of Commander Byrd and his three flight companions to the premier was a brief one, for M. Poincare had to hurry away for the opening of the morning session of the parliamentary chamber.

The premier chatted for a few minutes with the avirmen congratulating them on their courage and endurance and the great scientific success of their exploit. Then he pinned the Legion of Honor cross on Commander Byrd's breast and gave them the traditional embrace.

The Commander thanked him and expressed in behalf of his comrades and himself deep appreciation of the warm hearted welcome they had been accorded in France and the sympathetic interest with which the French people had followed the flight.

The aviators' visit to M. Poincare was not widely heralded. There was only a small crowd in front of the entrance of the ministry when they arrived but it was an enthusiastic one. The fliers responded to the cheers by bowing and tipping their hats.

Among those calling on Commander Byrd this morning to express congratulations was Bestie McCoy Davis, widow of Richard Harding Davis.

It is announced that the aviator will leave Paris Saturday for Dunkirk (Dunkirk) where Byrd will be made a free citizen. Levine will be conferred on his decorations. Thence they will motor to Le Touquet where a banquet will be held in their honor in the evening.

While their sailing date has not been decided, it is announced definitely they not return to Paris after Saturday.

DEMPSEY BACK TO OLD FORM SAYS TRAINERS

Saratoga Lake, N. Y., July 5.—(AP)—An old dog will try new tricks when Jack Dempsey fights Jack St. Arkey in the Yankee stadium.

Despite the contention of the handlers that the former champion is merely reverting to fighting style to the earliest period of his ring career, Dempsey apparently intends to show the fight fans something new in his attack on the big sailor boy July 21.

During the first half dozen workouts here Jack sought to regain the weaving prowess of "Tittus" day that made him a snifty target, a bombing two fisted battering ram ever elusive and always on the attack but something was wrong with the old system.

The natural fighting style of lean youth, raw hide strong, did not return easily to the former champion, now 34 years old and almost 22 pounds heavier than the day he scaled in at 183 to win the title from Jess Willard eight years ago.

Sparring mates, catching Dempsey with solid left jabs as he tore in on his toes, tipped him off balance, ruined manuevering, and forced him to swing long and inaccurate punches while out of position.

As a result Jack's board of strategy, headed by Manager Leo P. Ryan, worked out a solution of the problem. The decision pulled Dempsey down from his toes, straightened his body from the crouch and reduced bobbing to a minimum.

Yesterday in the most impressive workout Jack has yet shown, he knocked down straight left leads with his right hand instead of trying to weave away from them and he continually bored in close with head down and body swaying to trip short left hooks to the head and ribs.

Eddie McMullen, a middleweight who kept out of harm's way earlier during the first week of training, was knocked through the ropes by a left hook to the chin that travelled less than a foot. Dave Blaine, crack middleweight from California, bumped into three six inch left hooks to the chin and was groggy when the bell ended his round. In all Jack worked the equivalent of 10 fast three minute rounds.

Salisbury Leads In Second Half In Piedmont

Raleigh, July 6.—(AP)—Salisbury Colonials, first half cellarites, stood aloft the Piedmont League today with five out of six wins in the second half race for honors Meeting Raleigh Caps, first half winners, in the midweek series.

Salisbury swept the series from Winston-Salem to make steady tie lead for the time being, at least while Raleigh, in second hole dropped two out of three to Rocky Mount.

Hoffman, new Col pitcher, blanked Winston-Salem yesterday with 7 hits.

Home Runs Mere Incidents 60 Years Ago

Iowa City, Iowa.—(AP)—If Babe Ruth thinks he's making home run records in these summer days of 1927, he ought to turn back history's pages and take a look at the score sheets of Iowa teams which played the national pastime 60 years ago.

In the days when Base Ball was two words a home run was the merest incident. The boys got as many as 37 in one game. Nor do newspaper archives indicate that there were any cries of "Take him out!" in that historic pitchers' battle at the Iowa tournament at Burlington in October, 1867, when the Mount Pleasant Hawk-Eyes won the state championship from the Burlington Westerners.

The score by innings:
Hawk Eyes 4 21 29 0 3 18 15 25-115
Westerners 2 15 3 5 4 0 9 3-42

The game was called in the eighth on account of darkness.

The fact are told in The Palimpsest, publication of the Iowa State Historical Society.

In that golden age the pitchers lobbed the ball up to the plate, and masks, gloves and protectors were unknown. All games started promptly at 3 p. m. Yet at twilight of the first day only four innings had been played in a tight tilt between the Ottumwa Actives and the Orchard City club of Burlington. With the score 48 to 25 in favor of the Actives, the game was called until the next morning, when it was finished.

Chronicles of the time quoted by The Palimpsest, said "the tournament" passed off pleasantly and the game was handsomely played." One sport editor said of the Hawk-Eyes final victory that "they fairly won the prize and must be conceded the championship of the state until some more accomplished rivals wrest from them this proud distinction."

The Hawk Eyes got more than glory—they took home $200 in prize money and a $75 rosewood bat.

Whether hits or errors were a part of the official record one may only guess, for newspapers do not list them, but the Palimpsest says that two scorers, one for each club kept track of the tallies.

YANKS OFF TO INVADE WEST

(By The Associated Press)
Finishing their home stand with a first place lead of 12 1/2 games the New York Yankees today were off for their second Western invasion, minus the services of two regular pitchers and their shortstop but still able to win ball games in one manner or another.

The Washington Senators fell by the wayside yesterday for the third time in succession. Babe Ruth and Lou Gehrig were strangely silent in the matter of home runs but Tony Lazzeri slashed out one in the ninth, with two down, which won the ball game 7-6.

The Boston Red Sox extended their winning streak to two games by rallying in the ninth to defeat Philadelphia 6-5. Connie Mack used four pitchers in a vain effort to stem the Boston attack. Todd Boston first baseman, showed the way with a homer and three singles.

Every man in the St. Louis lineup got at least one hit in the Browns' 17-8 victory over Detroit. Five homers, four doubles and two triples studded the total of 28 hits 29 of which were made by the Browns.

The Pittsburgh Pirates and the Chicago Cubs kept it in their highly interesting battle for first place in the National. The first place hit St. Louis pitchers hard and gave the world's champions their sixth consecutive beating 14-2, to make a clean sweep in the three game series at Pittsburgh. Chicago wound up its home stand by trimming Cincinnati 8-5.

The Philadelphia Nationals staged a ninth inning rally to beat out the Boston Braves 5-4. Stuff McInnis team previously 1/2 lost six in a row. Lester Sweetland, rookie southpaw went the route for the Phillies in his major league debut.

Bobby Jones Getting Ready For Title Play

St. Andrews, Scotland, July 6.—(AP)—Both the old and new golf courses here were alive with players today engaged in practice preparatory to the British open championship qualifying rounds for which begins next Monday.

Bobby Jones, the American star who won the title last year was out early and went around the old course with Joe Kirkwood. They finished their round all square.

Picks You Up When Tired

This Delicious Drink Has Real Food Value

Only one way a drink can refresh you when you're tired—by replacing burned-up energy.

Orange-Crush—made from real oranges and containing real orange-juice—possesses more energy replacement value, or food calories, than an equal quantity of fresh ripe oranges. To the juice of luscious oranges is added the delicate flavor of their peel, the zestful tang of the fruit acid found in oranges, lemons and limes, a pure food color such as is used in cakes and candies, healthful carbonated water, pure cane sugar. Nothing else.

That is the reason why Orange-Crush is such an excellent "pick-up" drink—why it's served to convalescents in many of the better hospitals. It is not merely delicious, it has real food value.

Next time you're done out with the day's work, replace some of that burned-up energy with a cooling drink of Orange-Crush fresh off the ice. For your protection, ask for it by name, and see that it's served you in the Krinkly Bottle.

A thousand fans marched upon and surrounded Bob Hart, veteran National League umpire, at the Braves Field, Boston. Did they carry murderously poisoned pop bottles, decayed vegetables, veteran eggs? Nay, they came to honor Caesar, not to bury him. The thousands were from Lowell, Mass., Hart's home town. The Mayor of Lowell, Thomas J. Corbett, is shown presenting the umpire (right) with jewelry as a testimonial of the city's esteem.

were present to help lay out and talk about the best plans for such a large class.

After singing several religious songs and offering prayer to God, the class entered into a general discussion. The teacher was first called upon to make a talk and his reply was in favor of anything for the betterment of the class, but stated he had rather hear what the students had to say. Some of the class were called upon to make talks. Their main thought was to split the class in some way, as it was too large but no definite steps were taken.

One of our preachers was present and made a splendid talk on Sunday school work, stating he had recently visited the Sunday school and saw just how we were in need of the proper rooms. With a school averaging around 125, we have not sufficient room for the six classes with plenty more classes to be had if the room were available. His main thought was to go to work and get them, or else our boys and girls will drift to other Sunday schools where they can find the right class for their age. Right now this class consists of members from 15 to 43. Everyone sees the need of a change somewhere, let's get to work and have sufficient room for them at once, and have a Sunday school that will be a credit to the Free Will Baptist denomination.

At this time the class was served refreshments consisting of delicious ice cream and cake, by Miss Grace Vincent and others. All enjoyed the refreshments. Later, the president, Frank Little, and the class in general, expressed their many, many thanks to the superintendent and his good family for having entertained the class in such a splendid manner. All returned to their homes, hoping to meet within two weeks at the president's home for the purpose of taking a definite step for the betterment of the senior class. The class carried

Lenoir Increases Forest Fire Fund

At the regular meeting of the Board of County Commissioners of Lenoir County, July 4, the commissioners voted to increase the county appropriation for forest fire protection for the next fiscal year, from $500 to $600. This money will be expended for fire fighting costs only, similar to the contract accepted by the Board of Commissioners in Craven County.

With the additional funds thus made available from the State and federal governments, and the increased co-operation from the citizens of the county, the work of preventing forest fires in Lenoir County should go forward with greater impetus than ever.

The Greene County Board of Commissioners also voted to begin work of forest fire protection in

TO TAKE ACTION ON SWIMMING POOL

Whether or not to erect a municipal swimming pool in this city will be discussed tomorrow night by the Board of Aldermen and no doubt some definite action on the matter will be taken. There are numbers of persons who feel that a swimming pool is a good investment and that the city should not hesitate to spend the necessary funds to procure same.

In a recent address here, Rocky Mount officials declared that the municipal pool in Rocky Mount had been one of the city's best investments and urged that Greenville lose no time in providing similar means of recreation for its children. Personally, we feel that money spent for wholesome recreation for the boys and girls is a good investment for the city, and we have urged the aldermen take favorable action when the proposition is presented tomorrow night by members of the Rotary and Kiwanis clubs.

The action of the Aldermen on the matter will depend on how strongly the proposition is urged or opposed. The members of the board are the representatives of the citizens of the city, and the wishes of these citizens will be carried out by the board. If you think we should have a swimming pool, it is up to you to be on hand at the meeting to say so, or if you oppose the spending of the town's money for a swimming pool, it is equally important that you be present to express your views in the matter.

Your silence may mean that the board will act contrary to your wishes, and if so, you will have no one but yourself to blame and criticism of the members of the board would be very unfair. Be on hand tomorrow night and say whether or not you think Greenville should have a swimming pool.

THE LEGION IN PARIS

There is report of concern among the American residents of Paris as to "how the members of the American Legion will behave in France next September." Over here until recently there was considerable concern as to how the French people would "behave" toward the members of the Legion, owing to recollection of incidents reported last summer when young American tourists just out of college were using the depressed franc as waste paper and speaking in too loud a tone about their preference for "real money," thus getting on French nerves. But since France's enthusiastic reception of our "Lone Eagle" such concern among us seems to have passed away and the prospects in connection with the treatment of the Legion in Paris are regarded as altogether satisfactory. It seems to be assumed that since their acquaintance with young Lindbergh the French know better what Americans really are.

This assumption is not quite universally shared, for, according to the St. Louis Star, "the last man of his (Lindbergh's) type that Europe knows anything about was George Washington," and the Springfield Republican suggests that the delight of Europeans in young Lindbergh's modesty may have been largely "because of the international reputation of the rest of us; and they were surely struck by the contrast."

Still, the outlook is favorable even if most of the Legion members are likely to sustain "the international reputation of the rest of us." For one thing, French finances are now in much better shape and even Legionnaires of the skylarking type will have few francs to throw away. Moreover, both the members of the Legion and their French comrades in arms had added ten years to their lives. We may be sure that the American Legion will be given the glad hand in Paris and that the reunion will add to the good feeling between the two countries.

Emergence of Boll Weevil Is Complete

Washington, July 6.—(AP)—Cotton boll weevil emergence appears to be complete at most of the cooperative reporting stations where record is being kept. The Department of Agriculture announced today in its seventh emergence report of the season.

Emergence to June 16 was the same as on June 1st, all but four stations. They were Florence, S. C., which reported 8.20 per cent emergence; College Station, Texas 5.27; Aberdeen, N. C., 3.26 and Rocky Mount, N. C., 1.58.

As compared with the emergence record for 1926 there was great survival prior to June 16 this year at Florence, S. C., College Station, Texas; Aberdeen, N. C.; Hammond, Miss.; Rocky Mount, N. C.; An M. College, Mississippi; Poplarville, Miss., and Holly Springs, N. C.

Compared with 1925 emergence was greater this year at Florence, S. C., Aberdeen, N. C., and Rocky Mount, N. C.

Excessive Speed Caused Wreck of Passenger Train

Charlotte, July 6.—(AP)—Excessive speed probably caused the wreck of Southern Railway freight train number 68, near Kilkey last Saturday, according to tentative conclusions reached by railway officials. It was announced here today. Five trainmen were killed or so badly injured they died within a few hours.

W. M. Cowhig, general superintendent of transportation with headquarters here and L. G. Gallivan and M. V. Pitts, regional investigators for the Interstate Commerce Commission, spent yesterday at the scene of the wreck and conferred in Rock Hill, S. C., today. Inspection of the scene showed the track not to be at fault and no evidence of defective equipment was found, officials of the railway reported.

ACREE GOES ON TRIAL IN MURDER CASE

Toccoa, Ga., July 6.—(AP)—W. C. Acree, principal of the Stephens County high school, went on trial in Superior Court today charged with assault with intent to murder Mrs. Ansley Bowers in connection with the flogging of the woman several weeks ago.

Five men were indicted in the case and were called for trial today following an unsuccessful motion by the defense to obtain a continuance, the State elected to sever the trial and proceed first with the case against Acree.

The defense asked continuance on the ground that Claude Bond, who they said was leading defense counsel, was too ill to appear in court. A score or more of witnesses were called for the defense shortly before the court recessed for the noon hour.

Acree, principal of the Stephens County high school at Eastonville asserted from the witness stand that Bond was leading counsel in the case, that part of his fee had been paid, and that the attorney was well and in his office when his services were engaged.

"We want to put the court and the general public on notice that we have nothing to run from," said Mr. Skepton.

Mrs. Bowers and her son took their seats in the room beside counsel for the prosecution. She was attractively attired in a pink picture hat and a pink and white linen dress. Her son of striking appearance, was also neatly dressed

TWO WOMEN FOUND DEAD AT ST. PAUL

St. Paul, Minn., July 6.—(AP)—Shot through the head, the bodies of two women were found in the bedroom of their home here early today. They were identified as Mrs. "Teddy" DuBois, former operator of a downtown hotel, and Anne Grenville, daughter of George Grenville, labor leader. Police believe the women were killed to "cover up" the kidnapping of another person who may have been slain in a continuance of a gang feud. The women who were found in Mrs. Grenville's home apparently had been slain shortly before midnight. The bodies were found by a taxicab driver and a man passenger who called at the place shortly after 3 o'clock this morning. Mrs. DuBois apparently had been in bed beside which her body lay. Miss Grenville's body was fully clad and police believe she walked in after her companion had been killed, recognized the slayer and was shot to death to prevent disclosure of the knowledge.

TODAY

(Continued from page one) fight to the death for Bolshevism is false. They would not fight for their land, not for super-heated Maxian theories, absolutely incomprehensible to 999 in 1,000 of them.

Foolish also is Russia's belief that capitalism, jealous of Russia's success, and of "the first proletarian republic," plans an anti-Russian war.

Russia is not a republic, it is a handful of men ruling scores of millions that have no say in government. And there is nothing proletarian about a government run by men that know hard labor only in theory.

Russia is no more a republic, governed by the majority, than is any one of our plutocratic governments. Russia, a vast country, temporarily in the hands of theorists, is surrounded by countries governed or controlled by organized capital and commerce. Capital and commerce will win and rule, because they appeal to men's selfishness and supply comforts.

You must change men. If you want a different government, you cannot do that in ten, or a thousand years.

Nearly three hundred years ago King John Casimir, fighting to recover lands taken from Poland by Sweden, vowed to offer all lands recovered to the Virgin Mary. Victorious, he crowned the virgin's picture with the royal crown of Poland, declaring her queen of the reconquered territory.

A similar ceremony was performed by King Augustus Second, of Poland, in 1717. He placed the royal crown on the Madonna of Vilna.

Last Sunday, in presence of the American minister, Premier Pilsudski, Mosecki, President of Poland, all the cabinet, two cardinals, twenty bishops and a vast crowd, carried out the vow of King John by crowning the Virgin of Vilna Queen of all the newly recovered Polish lands.

Yellon, writing a prayer to be addressed to the Virgin by his mother, who could not read, begins that most beautiful prayer and poem "Digne du Dieu, Requete Terribles Rapatrie des Infernaux - Palus, thus depicting the Virgin ruler of all known regions.

Rec'd. boss of Turkey, is said to plan changing Constantinople's ancient name to "Kemal Pasha."

It might easily do that, as Saint Petersburg was changed to Petrograd, to get rid of the "Saint," and then to Leningrad.

But such changes will not last. Constantinople will be Constantinople, 500 years hence, and Leningrad will again be Saint Petersburg before this century ends.

You will not find Mussolini changing Rome to "Mussolini." He knows too well the value of ancient glory, and has a sense of humor not always possessed by Slavs and Turks.

CHIEF JUSTICE SAYS HE IS MORE FITTED FOR BENCH THAN FOR WHITE HOUSE

"When I had warning about my heart," he said, "I concluded to have an elevator installed. The arrangements puts my office on the same floor with the rooms occupied by my secretary and my law clerk."

"I used to write my opinions out in longhand. But since my illness I find it too confining. Therefore I dictate and correct and revamp. Writing makes an exact man, as Bacon says. Makes one more conversant with the necessities of space. But it is not so convenient."

"I have a law clerk who goes over the records and the briefs, he makes a statement for me of what is in each, and then with that statement before me I read the briefs and to much such references so as to know what the claim on both sides is and then I read the opinions of the courts below so I become familiar with the case and know what the points are. When these petitions for review come before us we know what the cases are about, and whether they present questions we should pass upon."

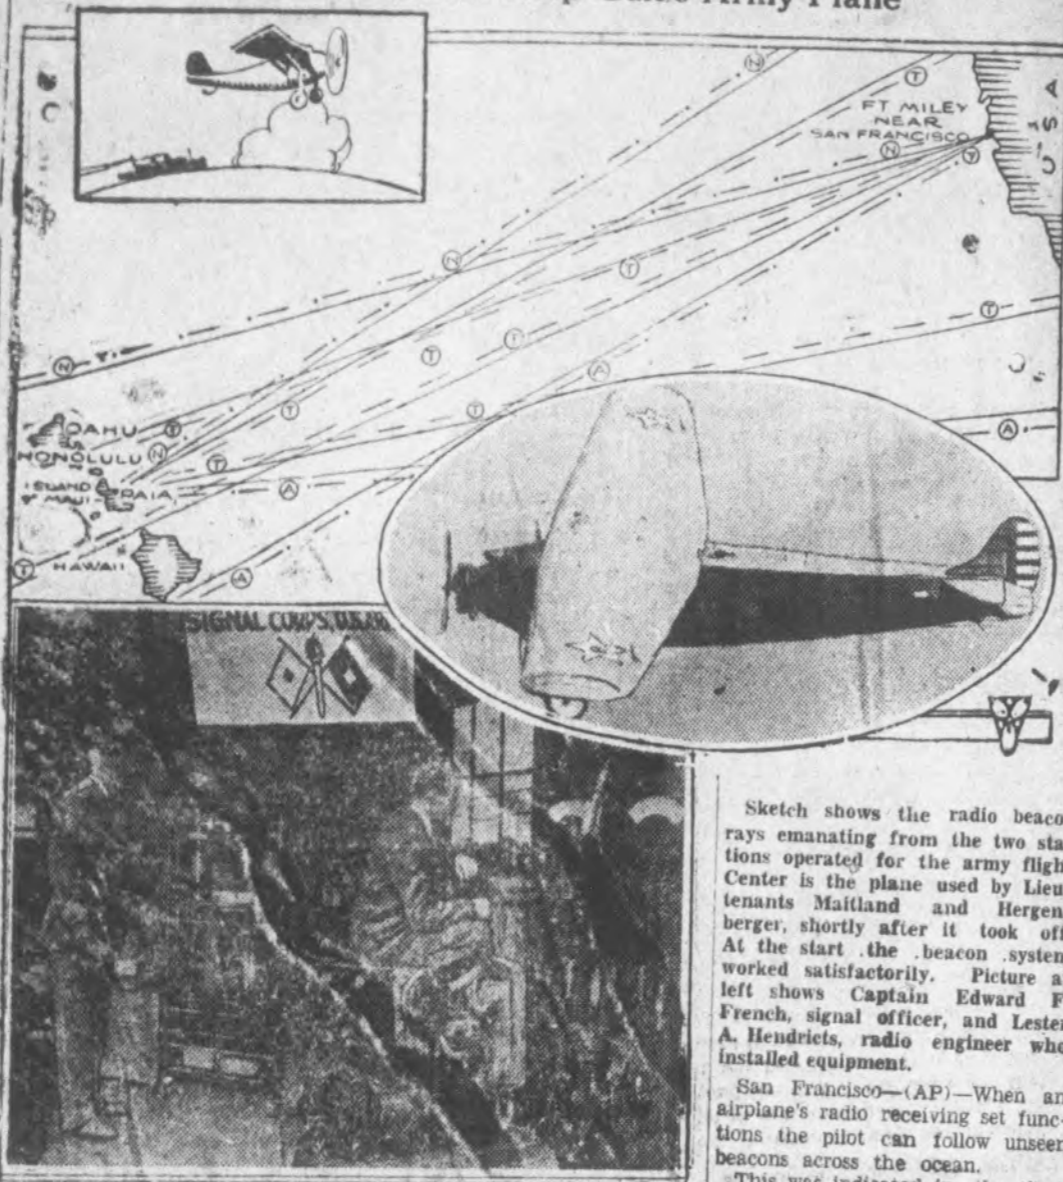

"I walk every day for about half an hour. While I use to walk a great deal, I feel that I am getting enough exercise."

Asked what he selected for his vacation reading and for his moments of quiet recreation during his busy moments, he replied unhesitatingly that biography was his favorite literature.

"I do not care particularly about novels, except by certain authors," he said, and then as an afterthought "I do not mind detective stories, if I can get a good one, and have read many of them."

Now that he has accustomed himself to the regime of diet and relaxation prescribed by his physician, the Chief Justice expects to benefit greatly by this summer's sojourn in Canada. But he would be less happy in his vacation repose if he did not know that after it was over he could return to carry on the work of that unparalleled public career which began forty six years ago when he became an obscure county official in Ohio.

Unseen Beacons Help Guide Army Plane

Sketch shows the radio beacon rays emanating from the two stations operated for the army flight center is the plane used by Lieutenants Maitland and Hergenberger, shortly after it took off. At the start the beacon system worked satisfactorily. Picture at left shows Captain Edward F. French, signal officer, and Lester A. Hendricks, radio engineer who installed equipment.

San Francisco—(AP)—When an airplane's radio receiving set functions the pilot can follow unseen beacons across the ocean.

This was indicated in the first practical test of the radio beacon system of guiding planes at sea. Except when the receiving set of the army plane that spanned the Pacific from Oakland to Hawaii failed, the flyers were able to follow invisible lanes of safety charted for them by wireless stations.

The method developed by the U. S. signal corp under Paul S. Edwards at McCook Field, Dayton, O., was employed. Radio beacons were installed at Fort Mill near San Francisco and at Paia on the Isle of Maui, Hawaii.

Directional radio telegraph signals went out for each station covering a narrow V shape area. Along the northern arm of each V went the dash and dot of the letter N, and along the other went the dot and dash of the letter A. As the N and A blended it made the letter T so that as long as the letter T so that as long as the great Fokker plane kept receiving the letter T, the navigator knew he was in the air lane to Hawaii. If he got too far to the North he received the letter N and if too far to the south the letter A, so he could shift his course accordingly and get back into the lane.

The object of having a sending apparatus at each end was to keep the signals strong as the plane sped out and, because of distance, the lane had widened. For short distance flying, authorities here said, a single sending apparatus would suffice.

The signal is received by a wire hanging from the plane, weighted down by a three-pound weight.

The signal is transmitted automatically at intervals of a second or two. An electric motor keeps a cylinder revolving continuously. Half way around it trips a key which sends out the letter N. Another half revolution and it trips a key which sends out the letter A. The mechanism is much the same as is used in the radio compass.

NAVAL HEADS TALK ABOUT SHIPS

ton government was not prepared to go any appreciable distance beyond the 400,000 ton figure and that it was believed even that total tonnage to be excessive and beyond the actual needs of any power.

London, July 6.—(AP)—Public opinion here as gauged from the London morning newspapers, is not greatly excited over the impasse on the cruiser question at the Geneva naval conference. Some papers report the situation briefly while others, which gave it more space, do not comment.

The London Times, alone in commenting attributes the "ridiculous charge" that Great Britain sought to prevent naval parity to "mischievous propaganda" and describes the British proposals as the only practical and detailed ones presented to the conference.

"Exact naval calculations, based on the changing experience of centuries," it says, "were offered as the British contribution to the problem raised by President Coolidge. They had nothing to do with any hypothesis regarding naval desires, aspirations and requirements of the American people. They were framed in response to President Coolidge's invitation. They took fairly into account the declared desire of the U. S. for agreed limitation and the permanent needs of the empire. They are simply nothing more nor less than this. The charge of ulterior subtle purposes on the part of the British delegation is hardly tenable."

The paper claims that Great Britain has done, and is doing its very best to make President Coolidge's enterprise successful and thinks that a frank, practical agreement ought to be possible.

CONFEDERATE MEMORIAL TO CHANGE HANDS

Stone Mountain Will Revert from Memorial Association to U. D. C. in April

Atlanta, July 6.—(AP)—The Confederate Memorial carving on Stone Mountain will pass into control of the United Daughters of the Confederacy next April when the Stone Mountain Memorial Association's deed to the property expires. S. H. Venable, one of the owners of the mountain, has informed the State Legislature. In a circular distributed in the Senate, Mr. Venable protested against the action of a senate committee in reporting favorably a bill which would empower the Memorial Association to condemn certain lands in the vicinity of the mountain.

"It is obvious that this is a move to acquire title to the memorial site itself," Mr. Venable asserted. He said in the circular that when the site was deeded to the association eleven years and two months ago it was stipulated that if the memorial was not completed within 12 years the property would revert to the Venable family.

"Not a chisel has been put to the memorial since 1925," he asserted. "The only work done has been the partial removal of the crust of the mountain, despite the fact that they have heralded all over America that they are carving the stupendous figures of the heroes of the Confederacy. It is my understanding that the head of Robert E. Lee is to be blasted from the mountain, and if this is true the mountain will be as bare as it was when we deeded the property to the association. You will see that it is a practical impossibility for the association to accomplish in the next ten months what it has miserably failed to do in eleven years and two months. "Knowing the fact, we have deeded the property to the U. D. C. which we originally intended doing and when the memorial association's deed expires next April, the property passes into the hands of the U. D. C."

The bill sponsored by the memorial association asked for authority to condemn an eminence north of the mountain for park purposes contending that it was the natural place from which to view the memorial in its entirety.
