SILENCE ENVELOPS REDFERN AS HE WINGS HIS WAY TODAY TOWARD SOUTH AMERICA

Georgia Aviator Due To Land Late This Afternoon or Early Hour Tonight.

Gurupa, Brazil, Aug. 27.—(AP)—No news of Paul Redfern, American aviator, attempting a flight from Brunswick, Ga., to Brazil, had been received here up to 2:20 o'clock this afternoon. Watchers here were on the alert.

Brunswick, Ga., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The second day has passed since Paul Redfern, Georgia flier, hopped off here on his projected flight to his progress.

Should he have maintained the schedule that he had mapped out for himself before departing, his monoplane, the "port of Brunswick" should be today traveling over the jungles stretches of the Amazon River Valley, somewhere in the vicinity of Macapa, or of the southward of there. His scheduled route and time called for his arrival over the South American continent during the night. While ships in tropical waters have been requested to keep a lookout for the aviator, only once since he hopped off has a report of sighting him been heard. That came in a message picked up by the financial Journal's forty meter wireless station at St. Petersburg, Fla., from four A. Q. F. at Nassau which said a steamer arrived there at 11:40 Thursday night and reported sighting the airplane approximately 300 miles east of the British Bahamas. The message failed to say what time the plane was observed.

Later fear was felt for the flier here however, although all were anxious to learn of his progress. Paul Warner, general flight committee chairman, expressed the opinion that Redfern had been flying over the route and would probably not have been heard had he passed over any of the islands of the West Indies in his path.

Warner said he expected to learn of Redfern's landing somewhere in Brazil, possibly at Pernambuco if not at Rio de Janeiro. Before leaving Redfern said he would try for Pernambuco if he found his gasoline supply diminished greatly at Macapa on the northern mouth of the Amazon river. He was to have dropped a flare there to designate which city he would try for but no report of the flare had been received. Redfern's schedule would bring him if he is still maintaining it, to Pernambuco, this forenoon or to Rio late in the afternoon.

Miami, Fla., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Preparations were being made here to pilot of the Biscayne fliers, commercial aviation unit to send three seaplanes to the Bahamas and as far south as Turks Island to search for the Port of Brunswick, the monoplane piloted by Paul Redfern which hopped off Thursday from Brunswick, Ga., for South America.

Weather conditions were reported favorable for the searching party by Richard W. Gray, U. S. meteorologist in Miami who based his report on information obtained from ships at sea.

Three powerful wireless stations, the Tropical Radio and Telegraph Company at Miami, the British Government station at Nassau and the U. S. Naval station at Keywest, reported today they will still keep a sharp watch for any word about the Port of Brunswick from ships in Caribbean and South American waters.

CAROLINA TOWNSHIP MAN LOSES PACKHOUSE D. C. Barnhill, of Carolina township, was in the city today and reported the loss by fire last night of a packhouse containing 12,000 pounds of tobacco, 25 barrels of corn and a considerable number of farm implements. Neither the building or contents was insured.

Greenville Boy Passed State Bar

RALEIGH, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A quota of 96 of the 147 applicants to practice law in North Carolina today had passed the State Bar Semi-Annual Examination, prepared by chief Justice Stacey of the Supreme Court of North Carolina.

Four of the six women to take the exam received license. One was Mrs. Pearl Adams Holt, widow of the late Stephen S. Holt, prominent Smithfield attorney who was killed when the automobile in which he was returning home from Federal court in June, was mistaken for one of a run-runner.

Brock Barkley, Raleigh, correspondent for Charlotte, Asheville and Winston-Salem newspapers, passed. Among the successful applicants was James Wm. Holmes Roberts of Greenville, N. C.

COTTON PRICES ADVANCE AGAIN

New York, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Cotton prices experienced another sensational advance today rising about $3 to $3.50 bale over Friday's close. December contracts sold at 22.27 cents a pound on a general active buying movement, based upon further unfavorable reports relative to the crop situation.

ROGERS AGAIN ELECTED HEAD OF RED CROSS

A. B. Ellington Also Re-elected to the Office of Secretary-Treasurer.

W. H. Rogers, Jr., was re-elected chairman of the local chapter of the American Red Cross at the regular monthly meeting of the organization held in the city yesterday. A. B. Ellington who has seen long service as secretary and treasurer was also re-elected.

The session was presided over by Chairman Rogers, who presented an annual report of activities of the organization. He told of the progress enjoyed from time to time, and indicated that future work would be conducted on a more extensive scale.

A. B. Corey reported activities with ex-service men. A. B. Ellington reported on the financial condition and said that the treasury had a comfortable balance.

Appreciation was expressed for money raised by the organization for the Mississippi relief fund.

Mr. Corey was appointed home service secretary and J. B. Kittrell, vice-chairman of the local emergency committee.

TO TURN OVER FUND FOR NEW FAIR GROUNDS

Members of Agricultural Society Meet in Raleigh Today to Plan for Future.

Raleigh, Aug. 27.—(AP)—Directors and line members of the North Carolina Agricultural Society met today to turn over to the state the $200,000 held jointly by the society and the city of Raleigh for erection of state fair buildings on the permanent location to be furnished by the state.

Turning over to the state the funds they had in hand ended the duties of the present directors. Governor McLean must appoint new directors. With three of the 13 to be members of the Republican minority political party.

Commissioner of Agriculture William A. Graham, society president said he was not a candidate for re-election, but remains an ex-officio member of the new board.

Cameron Morrison, Charlotte, former Governor, was talked about as probable successor to Mr. Graham.

Governor McLean, on his return from his Wisconsin vacation, expected momentarily, will appoint one director from each congressional district and three from the state at large, with ex-officio members of the board being the Governor, ex-officio chairman, Mr. Graham, Dr. E. C. Brooks, president of State College, Major Wade Phillips, director of the State Department of Conservation, and Mayor A. E. Culbreth.

It was a question whether the 1927 legislative state fair act allows the state to purchase land for the site or whether 200 acres of land at present owned by the state must be used as a site. If the latter, it was generally agreed that either State College or state prison land will be used, or some of both.

KIWANIS CLUB STAGES GREAT SPELLING BEE

Musical Program also Enjoyed at Last Night's Session of Local Organization.

An old-fashioned "spelling bee" like grandmother used to talk about played an important part in last night's session of the Greenville Kiwanis club, and today Kiwanians know a little more about orthography than they did yesterday.

The session last night was presided over by President W. H. Woodard. The entertainment was in charge of Dr. M. B. Massey, who provided one of the best musical programs enjoyed by the club in sometime. The program was presented by Misses Helene Higgs, Emma Mallison and Frances Taft. The Misses Higgs and Mallison scored a direct hit with vocal numbers, while Miss Taft at the piano also came in for considerable recognition.

The spelling bee was conducted under the direction of Bob Fitzgerald, superintendent of education in Pitt County, and Marvin Blount, member of the local bar association. Each was given the privilege of choosing his class of spellers, and they picked and picked until the whole membership was exhausted.

John Barker, who used to be a county superintendent of schools, acted in the capacity of teacher. While his enunciation was not the best at times, it may be said to his credit that his pronunciation was faultless. Of course Frank Harrington, clerk of Superior court of Pitt county, and Sheriff Sam Whitcomb acted like they were deaf at times, but that was because they had some doubt about the number of "roots" per word, and simply couldn't get the spelling straightened out.

But with all their shortcomings, the Kiwanians came off with colors flying. They showed the world the Kiwanis world—that they could spell, and what is more they produced an incomparable brand of phraseology in describing the outcome of the contest especially when Bob Fitzgerald's side was declared victorious, and strutted around with their chests all swelled out like Napoleon might have done at the battle of Waterloo had things turned out more favorable. But the vanquished accepted defeat in a most commendable manner, and promised better "returns of the day when another bee is staged".

CIVIL COURT CLOSES HERE

One Week Term of Criminal Court, How ever Will Convene Monday Morning.

After disposing of a number of issues the August term of Pitt county Superior court which had been in progress in the city since last Monday morning, adjourned yesterday afternoon shortly after four o'clock. A one week term of criminal court will convene Monday morning with Judge Harris, of Raleigh, who presided over the civil term, on the bench.

While only six or eight cases were given actual hearing during the present week, it was stated this morning by court officials that a number of matters were compromised. Some of these issues had been hanging fire for several months, and their final disposition will greatly reduce the volume of cases contained in the calendar of the August term.

The criminal term docket is probably one of the most congested in quite a while, but officials are of the opinion that the majority of cases will be disposed of before adjournment. Three or four minor murder charges will be the cynosure of the eyes of court attendants from time to time but there are also a number of violations of prohibition laws which will hold the spotlight the greatest part of the time.

This is the first time Judge Harris has held court in this city. He made a favorable impression during the civil term, and indications are that he will speed up the wheel of justice during next week.

HOPS OFF FOR BRAZIL

Graduating Exercises Held At The College Yesterday

East Carolina Teachers College closed its summer session yesterday with graduating exercises held in the college chapel at 10:30 A. M. The baccalaureate address was delivered by Hon. John A. McRea of Charlotte.

Diplomas were awarded to 71 graduates; 59 receiving two year diplomas and 12 A. B. degrees. The diplomas were awarded and the degrees conferred by President Robert H. Wright. In a short but appropriate talk President Wright presented the program of training offered by the college. He stated that the one purpose of the college was to train teachers and that the college had never served from its purpose to do this one thing.

The number of graduates at the close of the summer term has grown steadily over the past several years, there being 41 in 1924, 59 in 1925 and 71 in 1927. During this time the summer school enrollment has not appreciably increased. This shows a higher level of scholarship among the teachers who go to summer term than formerly.

Mr. McRea spoke on the importance of educating for moral responsibility as well as intellectual efficiency. "The education of the intellect and the desire beyond are more rapid than the development of moral character is, in my judgment the great cause of the evil tendencies of our day," said the speaker.

"Science and invention" he said, "have set up problems faster than the race has set up control mechanisms to master these inventions."

"The automobile, per se, is the safest rapid method of transportation that has ever been devised yet it has been made the most dangerous. A great many more people have been killed by automobiles in the United States than have been lost from all causes in all the wars in which the United States has engaged.

"Science has invented and put in the hands of the people an instrument which a great many people have not developed enough self-control to operate with safety to themselves and to others in the lawful use of the highway.

"I may be wrong, but in my judgment the cause of much of the crime in the younger generation is due to the fact that their intellect and desires are educated beyond their moral character and self-control. The Good Book tells us that he that ruleth his own spirit is better than he that taketh a city."

The speaker called attention to the fact that while moral training belonged primarily to the home many parents were not qualified to give this training. Therefore it becomes the duty of the teacher to take up the moral training where the home leaves it off.

"It is fine to have good school buildings, it is good to have highly trained teachers, it is splendid to pay the teachers adequate salaries, but what does it profit us to have our fine buildings, our fine teachers and our fine salaries if we are going to educate a large percentage of our children for penitentiary convicts. I believe that parents of character and determination can do more

SETTLEMENT PENDING IN B. & L. CASE

Dollar For Dollar To Be Paid To Creditors And Shareholders at Raleigh.

RALEIGH, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A settlement, before nightfall, looking to repayment of about $500,000 to creditors and 2,400 shareholders of 9,354 shares in the Mutual Building and Loan Association "Dollar for dollar", which was closed August 13th, by State Insurance Commissioner Stacey Wade was promised by Association and Raleigh Real Estate and Trust Co., attorney today.

At suggestion of Judge W. C. Harris, shareholders appointed a committee as the hearing resumed this morning, comprising C. A. Douglas, chairman, J. W. Bunn, J. G. Ball, Lewis Connor and Col James R. Young, former State Insurance Commissioner.

Judge James S. Manning, former attorney general, presided at the shareholders' meeting, held in the courthouse and the committee of five, an advisory committee of shareholders, went into closed session with the Building and Loan and Real Estate attorneys to iron out ways and means for repayment.

Judge Harris opened the hearing with a statement that: both sides should compromise in the matter at once. Paul F. Smith, attorney for the Association and temporary receiver, said he was willing to enter into negotiations looking to settlement before nightfall whereby shareholders and creditors would be repaid 100 percent.

Judge Harris said neither side had anything to hide when he suggested appointment of the advisory committee, adding that it was impossible to treat with the 2,400 shareholders as a whole.

Judge Harris was invited by all sides to enter into the conference of the shareholders' committee with the Building and Loan and Real Estate attorney.

The Judge set for this afternoon hearing on question of receivership for the Raleigh Real Estate and Trust Co., as to whether it is solvent or whether it should be placed in receivership to protect assets alleged due the defunct Building and Loan Association.

The original hearing had been slated for August 19 but was carried over to last Saturday when attorneys for the Building and Loan Association the plaintiffs Insurance Commissioner Stacey Wade and Paul Smith, temporary receiver for the Building and Loan, represented they had not had ample time to examine statements of assets of the Real Estate Co., furnished them under court order.

Judge Harris had said "this is a matter that ought to be closed right away. It is not done anybody or the town any good 'I'll sign any sort of a judgement both sides agree to."

Conference between attorneys were held all week but no agreement announced, and Judge Harris had invited all the stockholders and others interested to be present at today's hearing.

The Mutual Building and Loan Association which had about $500,000 in assets paid by 2,400 shareholders was closed August 13 by order of the State Insurance Commissioner. At Mr. Wade's instance, Paul F. Smith, a director in and attorney for the Association, was appointed temporary receiver.

The question of a permanent receiver is returnable before Judge N. A. Sinclair on September 2, and question involved in this afternoon's hearing was protect against a receiver for the Raleigh Real Estate and Trust Co., as sought in Mr. Wade's second action in court.

The Raleigh Real Estate and Trust Company had the same directing officers as the Building and Loan Association. The Real Estate company endorsed about $120,000 in second mortgages for which the association had paid par despite a statutory prohibition against the acceptance of such security.

PRIDE OF DETROIT HOPS OF ON FIRST LEG OF ATTEMPTED FLIGHT AROUND THE WORLD

ON WORLD HOP

Edward Schlee (above) wealthy Detroit, and William S. Brock hopped off from Harbor Grace, N. F., this morning on a trip around the world in which they hope to break the world's record.

Croydon field, England, where they should land tomorrow will complete the first Ocean jump of the flight.

The Pride of Detroit has already negotiated easily at an average speed of about 100 miles an hour, a hop from Curtis Field, New York to Old Orchard, Maine, and that of yesterday of about 1,000 miles to Harbor Grace.

Brock, after looking the plane over carefully here, said it was in perfect shape for the trans-Atlantic jump. About 350 gallons of gasoline were added to the residue in the tanks here.

The plane rose gracefully and circled around the flying field once before heading straight out to sea. There was not a cloud in the sky.

Automobiles lined the sides of the field. As the plane took to the air cheers went up from hundreds of spectators in which Sir John Bennett, Colonial Secretary joined. Sir John had welcomed the fliers on their arrival and was on hand early in the morning to bid them farewell.

The fliers had slept well for 7 hours and were in excellent condition. After a hearty breakfast of Bacon and Eggs, they drove in an automobile to the field, tuned up their plane, remarked that they were too busy to talk, waved a good-bye and were off for England.

BIG RAID IN PASQUOTANK

Federal Officers Get Three Men and Whiskey Plant Valued at $36,000.

ELIZABETH CITY, N. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Three were arrested, equipment and supplies valued at between $33,000 and $36,000; 134 gallons of liquor and more than 12,000 gallons of mash were seized in a raid late yesterday in the east Lake section of Pasquotank county, J. J. London, in charge of prohibition enforcement agents in this territory, made known today.

C. H. Chief, C. W. Creef and Edward W. Smith, arraigned before United States Commissioner J. P. Thompson here, entered pleas of guilty and were placed under $500 bond each for appearance at the term of Federal court here beginning October 10. The raid was declared the largest ever conducted in this territory.

Ten dry agents, summoned here by London, eluded the "Grapevine" information channels of moonshining elements which have sided the alleged liquor interests in the East Lake and Alligator River sections and campaigning through "Hill-dismal" swamp and the Hidden Lake Reservoir came full upon the huge plant. Its operators, London reported, were taken completely by surprise and surrendered without show of fight.

An elaborate layout, including completely outfitted bunkhouses, a railroad line 300 feet long running from the river bank to the still in the deep recesses of the swamp, was reported by the dry agents.

Hope to Break Record Of 28 Days, 14 Hours Set By Edward S. Evans.

Harbor Grace, N. F., Aug. 27.—(AP)—The monoplane Pride of Detroit, hopped off for Croydon, England at 5:14 a. m., Eastern Standard time, today.

The Stinson Detrolter, which carries William S. Brock, pilot, and Edward F. Schlee, Detroit business man, is off on the first leg of an attempt to set a new record for a trip around the world.

Arriving yesterday from Old Orchard, Maine, the plane was refueled and made ready for a start today to take advantage of the splendid weather which had attended the flight thus far. Dawn today again found the weather well-nigh perfect. A light wind blew from the northeast at about 10 miles an hour while visibility was excellent.

The record of 28 days, 14 hours and 30 minutes for globe circling, which Brock and Schlee hope to break, was set last year by Edward E. Evans and Linton Wells, who used ships and trains as well as airplanes.

The distance between Harbor Grace and Croydon, near London, is 2,350 miles.

The Pride of Detroit has already negotiated easily at an average speed of about 100 miles an hour, a hop from Curtis Field, New York to Old Orchard, Maine, and that of yesterday of about 1,000 miles to Harbor Grace.

Most Valuable Major Leagues Careers Seems Jinxed

NEW YORK (AP)—Like a medalist in golf, a major league receiving the most valuable player award usually seems to be followed by a jinx. Such at least, with very few exceptions has been the case in the big circuits.

In 1922 George Sisler was voted the much-coveted honor in the American League. That year the Browns' star hit 423, tying Cobb's mark for the Johnsonian wheel, made in 1911. George poked out 246 hits, scored 134 runs and stole 51 bases. It was his greatest season.

The next campaign, however, found Sisler not even in uniform. Eye trouble not only kept him out of the game, but for a time it appeared George would never be able to play again. Sisler since has been far from the stellar all-round performer he was in 1922.

In 1923 Babe Ruth was given the most valuable player diploma. Ruth batted .394, leading the league. The next campaign the Bamb fell down a bit, though not as much as he did in 1925, when illness forced him out of the game for several weeks and brought his batting mark to a paltry .290. Last year he got back to .372, still a few hops behind that 393 of three years before.

In 1925 Roger Peckinpach then with Washington, gained the laurels. Peck did much to bring the Senators their second consecutive pennant. But he was a big disappointment in the world series with the Pirates, setting a new record for errors in the classic. Everything Peck did seemed to go wrong. His play was pathetic, also disastrous to Washington's hopes.

Last year Peck played in only 57 games. Last winter he was shunted to the White Sox in a trade. That's how the veteran shortstop followed up his fine 1914 chase.

The 1926 honor went to George Burns of the Cleveland Indians. Burns, despite his long major league service turned in a great season. He hit .358 and also set a new record for two-base hits, getting 64. Along with Uhl, Burns was one of the outstanding reasons why the Indians surprised the multitude by finishing second after the majority of the experts couldn't see them better than fifth.

This season, however, Burns is not the Burns of a year ago. His hitting has slumped. He hasn't the old pep and aggressiveness that marked his efforts of 1926. In a recent game in the east George was yanked from the lineup.

It's been much the same in the National League. Old Man Jinx appears to be on the job.

Two years ago Roger Hornsby won the award. Last year a bad crop of bolts and managerial responsibilities put a crimp in the Rajah's batting average, which fell off 96 points. Hornsby, the greatest right-handed clubber since the halcyon days of Larry Lajoie and batting champion of the National League six straight campaigns, turned in a mark of .317.

Last fall Bob O'Farrell, Card's catcher, won the player prize. Bob did a great deal to bring St. Louis its first pennant and world title. He was later made manager.

This year O'Farrell has been in the club's battefront only at various times. A lame arm handicapped him for the first few months of the campaign.

Two of these "most valuable players" haven't been hit quite so hard by the old bugaboo. They are Harry Johnson and Dazzy Vance. Johnson received the honor in 1921. He won 23 games that year and lost seven. He came back the following season with 23 victories and seven defeats. Last year, however, Walter won only 15, dropping 16.

Vance gained the National League award in 1924, too. He chalked up 23 victories against 21 defeats. He fanned 262. The next campaign he turned in 22 wins to nine reverses, fanning 221. Last season, though Vance could cop but nine, while losing 10.

Rocky Mount Holds Bare Lead in Piedmont

Raleigh Aug. 27.—(AP)—With both contestants for the Piedmont league winners, Rocky Mount today stood seven points ahead of Salisbury after a day of play, one more point than the previous day's action netted, while Winston-Salem in third place, added to its percentage by defeating Raleigh.

The Bucs hit hard to win from High Point while Dew was kind to the Coles to give them a victory over Durham.

GARDSMEN OFF FOR RIFLE MATCH

Raleigh Aug. 27.—(AP)—Under command of Major G. K. Hobbs of Wilmington, North Carolina National Guardsmen gathered in Washington, D. C. today for the trip to Camp Perry O., for the National Rifle Match Aug. 28 to Sept. 22.

Henderson sent Sgts. A. Cheek and V. V. Brinkly of Company C. Henderson's infantry to the meet.

PRISONERS PROMISED

Marion, O.—(AP)—Marion county has been asked to build a workhouse and has been promised enough prisoners to fill it as soon as it is finished. The Day's workhouse has been closed 15 all but local and federal prisoners. Five surrounding counties don't know where to send their convicts and have asked Marion county for aid.

YOUTH AND AGE RIDE TOGETHER TO DEFEND AMERICAN POLO CUP

The "Big Four" in American polo, chosen to defend the International Polo Cup against the challenge of Britain's Army-in-India team, will meet the invading team at Meadow Brook, Sept. 5. Devereux Milburn, polo's greatest back, stands at the left of the picture. Next to Milburn is J. Cheever Cowdin, No. 3 on the team, then Tommy Hitchcock, No. 2. Winston Guest, No. 1 stands at the right of the picture.

By ALAN J. GOULD (Associated Press Sports Editor)

New York—America will depend on an unusual combination of youth and age in defending the classic International Polo Cup against the challenge of Britain's Army-in-India team in the series at Meadow Brook, starting September 5.

Dashing youth will bear the brunt of the American attack with the 21 year old Winston Guest, an English-born Yale star, at No. 1 and the brilliant Tommy Hitchcock, 27, at the pivotal No. 2 position. On the defense, J. Cheever Cowdin, just coming into fame at 39, is at No. 3, with the famous Devereux Milburn, 46 years old, and veteran of six previous cup contests, directing the play from his position as back.

Guest and Cowdin newcomers to international competition, displaced Watson Webb, and Malcolm Stevenson, members of the 1924 team, in the make-up of this year's American "Big Four." It was a drastic shift that completely upset earlier expectations, but the play of both has warranted their selection.

Guest, like Hitchcock before him has jumped to fame before casting his first vote. Although born in London and the son of one of England's foremost polo figures, Capt. Frederick E. Guest, young Guest learned his polo in the United States, where he has lived since 1919 and has established citizenship.

Literally and figuratively for he stands 6 feet 4 inches—Guest towered above all other players in college ranks a captain this year of Yale's championship team.

Hitchcock, with all the daring and dash of youth, also has the reasoning of a veteran. This is his third cup campaign. He is the central figure in the American plan of attack just as Milburn, great strategist and leader, as well as a tremendous hitter, is the backbone of the defense.

The American count on the hitting of Hitchcock and Milburn to offset any advantages in speed which the British officers may possess. These two American aces have established themselves as polo's greatest hitters, the Ruth-Gebbie combination of the spectacular 1925.

Tunney Regards His Fight With Dempsey Lightly

SPECULATOR, N. Y., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Gene Tunney's next sparring session has been set for tomorrow afternoon. The races at Saratoga today drew the attention of the champion and his entire routine away from training.

Confident of his physical fitness, Gene seems to regard his fight with Jack Dempsey lightly. He did not take up his gloves yesterday but after eight miles on the road in the morning he led the way for several of his guests in the afternoon on a 14 mile hike.

Billy Vidabeck, one of the champion's sparring partners, who was in the camp last year expressed the opinion that Tunney could well afford to shave down his boxing program without the loss of any effectiveness.

While Tunney's tentative plan have called for him to break camp next Tuesday, he may wait until the following day, because going to Chicago.

Kinston Wins From Norfolk Wilson Breaks Even

Raleigh Aug. 27.—(AP)—Wilson split even with Petersburg in a double bill while Kinston won from Norfolk in the "made-in-Carolina" games of the Virginia League circuit yesterday. The Portsmouth Richmond contest suffered an account of rain.

Outfielder Meeks prevented pitcher-manager Olin Perritt from getting a no-hitter game at Petersburg the hitter being the only man for Wilson able to connect successfully with Perritt's offerings in the Blue-Brunch nightcap.

Henry Newbury reunited with professional ranks to pitch Kinston to a win over Norfolk. He allowed but four safeties.

High School to Begin Football Practice Monday

The high school football team will begin fall practice next Monday afternoon at four o'clock in the ravine back of the high school building. It was announced this morning by director of athletics.

In the absence of Coach Porter, who is taking a course in coaching at the University of North Carolina, Captain Whedbee and other members of last year's club will be in charge of training for a few days.

CARDINALS IN SECOND PLACE IN NATIONAL

The St. Louis Cards were in second place today among the national league pennant aspirants. Pittsburgh, running in to the Boston Braves, who have no respect whatever for baseball leaders lost by a score of 6-4. The Cards gained ground by idleness, their opening clash with the New York Giants being rained out.

Yesterday's victory was the ninth the Braves have scored over the Pirates.

Chicago's Cubs remained 3 and one half games ahead of the field although they did not play yesterday.

"Buzz" McWeeny tamed the Cincinnati Reds, the Brooklyn Dodgers winning by a score of 4 to 3.

The Yankees added insult to injury at Detroit, turning back the Tigers for the third time in succession, the count being 8-6. An eighth inning rally that produced two runs gave the American league champions their verdict. The Huggins collected six extra base hits.

Washington lost its 10th game in a row, Cleveland beating out the Senators again 8-7.

Sammy Gray, once a feared member of the Philadelphia Athletics hurling corps was in rare form and held St. Louis to five hits while chalking up a 7-0 victory.

Thomas held the Boston Red Sox to three hits and Chicago came thought with a 9-1 win.

PRESIDENT COOLIDGE LEAVES FOR BLACK HILLS

LASSITER-FRISBIE

(Reported)
A wedding of unique interest was performed Wednesday evening August 24, at 9 p. m., at the First Church, in Washington, D. C., when Miss Zulpa F. Frisbie, of this place became the bride of Mr. Carl C. Lassiter, of Washington, with Rev. M. S. Kenworthy officiating.

The wedding, though of Quaker simplicity, was unusually impressive, and was attended only by a few friends of the bride and groom.

To the strains of Lohengrin wedding march, played by Mrs. Josie T. Fraley, the bride, wearing a white sport ensemble suit and carrying a bouquet of brides' rose and valley lilies, entered with her only attendant, Mrs. S. W. Lamb. The groom was accompanied by Mr. Frank T. Hurley as best man.

Mrs. Lassiter was educated at East Carolina Teachers College while Mr. Lassiter attended Guilford and State Colleges. The former is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. S. Frisbie, of Nurion, N. C., while the latter is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Lassiter, of the same place, and both have many friends who wish them unlimited happiness and success.

Mr. and Mrs. Lassiter are now spending several days visiting points of interest in and near Washington but have not definitely announced their future residence.

The invited guests at the wedding were: Mr. and Mrs. Frank Casey of Ayden, N. C.; Mrs. M. L. Townsend of Raleigh, N. C.; Mr. and Mrs. S. W. Lamb of Greenville, N. C.; Mrs. Frank T. Hurley, Mr. and Mrs. Claude H. Clark, Miss Mary J. Lowe, Miss Luella Lowe, and Mr. Speight, of Washington, D. C.

The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Snipes, of Knoxville, Tenn. He received his education at Washington and Lee, and Wake Forest, where he studied law. At present he is in the real estate business in Knoxville. He is very well known in Knoxville, in both business and social life.

Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Snipes left by motor for a tour in western North Carolina and points of interest in Tennessee.

After September sixth, they will make their home in Knoxville, Tenn.

Divises Glider To Cross Ocean

Paris—(AP)—A hydro-glider, designed to cross the Atlantic ocean in four days is being fashioned by Adrien Remy French inventor.

It is to travel on the water, but will have motor-turned propellers like an airplane and a shallow hull, to built upon two floaters that it will "slip over the tops of the waves" instead of cutting them. The floaters are nine feet apart, joined by a cross structure which contains a seven foot cabin in which ten persons can be accommodated.

Remy is building the craft from a model, but he has not set a date for the launching pending the installation of motors. His estimate of a four-day Atlantic crossing is based on a reconed speed of 40 knots an hour for the finished craft, which is 60 feet long and 24 feet wide.

Home Furniture Company Has Novel Plan by Which Customers Receive a Whole Ton of Coal Without Cost.

A novel plan, by means of which Greenville residents may assure themselves of furnace comfort in their homes next winter, and receive, free of all cost, a ton of high grade coal has been announced by Mr. J. A. Collins, of the Home Furniture Company.

The Free Coal Club Plan, literally all that the name implies, works, according to Mr. J. A. Collins, as follows:

Purchasers of an Estate Heatrola during the three weeks between August 27 and September 17 will receive, absolutely free of charge, a ton of the best grade of coal available for Heatrola consumption. Enrollment fees of $2—applies to the purchase price of the Heatrola—and dues of a like amount, also part of the cost, are charged. The dues continue until Fall when the Heatrola—and the free coal are delivered—and the balance is due, or from the Atlantic to the Pacific regular time payments begin if the Heatrola is purchased under the latter plan. The price of the Heatrola to Free Coal Club members is exactly the same as to those who purchase their Heatrola before August 27 or after September 17—so that the ton of coal which goes to every Club member, is absolutely free.

The local Free Coal Club is only one of the many hundreds of such clubs, all branches of a national organization founded in 1921 by the Estate Stove Company, of Hamilton, Ohio, builders of the Estate Heatrola. Every year since the first clubs were organized, ever-increasing numbers of home makers in all parts of the United States have enjoyed the benefits of membership in the organization. Many local residents have also received their share of the thousands of tons of free coal which have been given away during the past few years.

The Estate Heatrola of which the Home Furniture Company is the exclusive local distributor, is well known in Greenville. In six short years, it has wrought a tremendous change in the heating habits of a nation. Tired of the old-fashioned stoves with their one-room capacity—and their face-blistering, back-freezing heat, small home owners everywhere were quick to grasp the opportunity to secure furnace comfort for their homes, until the satisfied users from the Atlantic to the Pacific Lakes, now number many thousands.

For Estate Heatrola was conceived with two purposes—first to provide furnace comfort to small homes—long suffering under the baneful old-fashioned unhealthy stove

No news from Redfern apparently is not causing alarm to those in close touch with the flight, who declare that likely nothing will be heard from him until he reaches the end of his journey. To us the news that he has successfully completed his venture will certainly be glad tidings.

Persons who usually look forward to the hunting season, this year should give attention to the new hunting laws. There are several changes and the hunter should familiarize himself with them. The new hunting laws were adopted in an effort to preserve some of the game for the future and the sportsman will no doubt gladly welcome the opportunity to co-operate along this line.

A little more than a week from now the tobacco market will open and this means that traffic over the roads of this section will greatly increase. It is to be hoped that those whose duty it is to look after those roads that are still unpaved will see to it that every effort is made to keep them in as good condition as possible. We hope that special attention will be given to the unpaved stretch of road beyond Cox's Mill, as there are hundreds of farmers who must haul their products over this road to get to market.

ONE NIGHT-SHIRT PARTY THAT ENDED IN A FITTING CLIMAX

We hope that by this time Charles W. Wilson, 60 year old farmer living near Danville, is out of jail and busily engaged once more in attending his 42,000 hills of rapidly maturing tobacco. If we can believe the dispatch sent out by the Associated Press, he should have carried on his return to his home the thanks of the community.

So far as can be gathered, Mr. Wilson, firing from within his domicile, shot and killed one J. C. Sparrow, a Danville restaurant keeper, who was one of the six men dressed in long robes and peaked caps, who came in the night-time to his home. They surrounded his house and knocked at his door. That much is admitted by a constable who in some purely non-official capacity, was present with the others. Wilson adds that one of the select mob fired a pistol at him before he retaliated, with a shotgun. The investigating coroner declares that he found a Klan membership card in the dead man's pocket. However that may be, the facts admitted in every way justified, almost commanded, the homicide.

The law-making bodies and the courts have done much to break down the sanctity of the home and the person against violation. Statutes and judicial construction have weakened fundamental rights. Undoubtedly this practice has encouraged that species of mob violence and lynch law which masquerades under the formalism of the "klan" movement. But a threatening invasion of private premises by force still finds the owner possessed of his old right to protect his own, even to the point of shooting to kill. Mr. Wilson should be left to finish his crop with a clear conscience and the satisfaction of having performed a public service.—Raleigh Times.

LOCAL FIRE FIGHTERS RETURN FROM ANNUAL STATE CONVENTION

George Clark, chief of the local fire department, returned yesterday from Greensboro, where he attended the annual convention of the State Firemen's Association. He was accompanied by M. L. Briley and R. S. Jackson who represented the local fire fighters as delegates. Mr. Clark said the convention was one of the most interesting in years and that each of the towns represented will no doubt benefit greatly from the spirit of brotherhood engendered by the contact of the firemen.

Mrs. Skiles a former resident of this county, alleged that her husband, who is said to be serving a term in Craven county, had not provided necessities of life for her and her small child. Parker Found Not Guilty In Murder Charge

ROCKY MOUNT, N. C., Aug. 27.—(AP)—Ernest Parker, charged with the murder of Tom Brown, at Langley's Cross-roads, near here, last January 23, was found not guilty by a jury in Nash Superior Court today. The verdict was brought in after more than 40 hours deliberations, the case having been given the jury Thursday afternoon.

The case was begun Tuesday morning and two days were consumed in the hearing of evidence. The State had based its hopes for a conviction upon testimony of the slain man's widow and Grover Joyner, an eye witness, both of whom declared on the witness stand that it was Parker's arm which was through the curtains of the car in which Brown was sitting, and which the knife which wounded him fatally. The defense centered its attack upon the character of the State's witnesses and also offered testimony to stress the uncertainty of just who in the car or in the group about it, dealt the fatal knife thrusts. The defendant, testifying, denied implication in the killing. Trial which ended today is the second in which Parker faced the court for the death of Brown, the first hearing at the last term of Nash Superior court, resulting in a mistrial and continuance after the defendant had been stricken with illness and was brought into the courtroom on a stretcher.

SAYS TESTS PROVE THAT 275 PCT. BEER HARMFUL

Minneapolis, Aug. 27.—(AP)—A two-year investigation has disclosed that 275 per cent beer contains enough alcohol to be injurious to anyone who drinks it. Miss Cora Frances Stoddard, of Boston, declared today at the annual convention of the Women's Christian Temperance Union. The organization will base upon Miss Stoddard's report its stand against light wines and beer. Experiments in the research were carried on in the nutrition laboratory of the Carnegie Institution at Washington. Miss Stoddard reported in one test, in which subjects were asked to catch water in a series of cups, seven out of eight men failed to make acceptable marks after drinking 2.75 per cent beer, she said. In another test requiring continuous attention, she found the efficiency of seven men out of eight to have been impaired by 14 per cent after they had drunk "only a couple of pints of the beer." The report advocated an experimental laboratory for every court handling liquor evidence.

About Town

It is at this time of the year that the mind of the entire business world is concentrated on the business outlook, and the promises from the harvest of the crops.

In talking with Mr. James I. Little, President of the National Bank of Greenville, we find that he is optimistic over prospects for business in this section during the fall.

He says that the prospects of fair prices for the major money crops assure the Farmers, Merchants and Professional Man profitable incomes, which if wisely directed would allow for some expansion and at the same time lay a foundation for future prosperity.

There's a vast difference between an aurora borealis and a burning tobacco barn, but to R. G. Fitzgerald, superintendent of county schools, both look somewhat alike at a distance, on a foggy night. It all depends on the way you look at them, of course.

The affable educator was chiding a member of the Reflector staff about not being able to report an aurora borealis said to have been seen in the northwest Thursday night, when the scribe informed him that it was no meteoric phenomenon, but a burning tobacco barn.

"Why, the very idea," said Mr. Fitzgerald, "farmers are through curing tobacco now, and one burning barn wouldn't have lighted up the heavens as that light did. You newspapermen are always talking about getting news, but when anything really happens you are off the job."

The scribe admitted the correctness of the statement, because the night before had been spent gazing at the wonders of the silver screen. But his hounding instinct told him that no celestial disturbances could have occurred the night before without his having known a little something about it.

"Did you see all that light in the northwest last night?" the scribe asked a few moments later asked a man residing on the other side of Tar river.

"Sure I did."

"What was it—an aurora borealis?"

"Aurora borealis?—ha, ha, ha! Nope; it was nothing but one of Whitehurst's tobacco barns burning up."

"Which, in conclusion, goes to show that everything that glitters is not gold, and that burning tobacco barns may bear a striking similarity to an aurora borealis without being one. It's all in the way you see it."

H. A. White & Sons, prominent real estate and insurance men of this city, are running a "Twenty-five years ago column" in the Reflector every day, and they think it is a mighty fine way to advertise.

"Somebody mentions the column every day," J. J. White, member of the firm, said this morning. "Most of the items are about people of the majority of us know of, have heard of, and are a source of great interest."

The items are taken from the Reflector files of twenty-five years ago. They faithfully portray the life of a community of that era as the paper does today, and give a keen insight into the literary style of the times.

While Greenville Rotarians will not arrange any definite campaign of activities until after the executive meeting to be held in Goldsboro some time in the near future, they are determined that the present year will be one of the most successful in history.

This opinion was expressed yesterday afternoon by W. H. Rogers, president of the club, who believes the highest type of service to be rendered by any individual or institution is to humanity.

The local Rotary club has done much to bring about a spirit of good will among business and professional men of the city. They will continue to do so, according to the president, because they believe in uninterrupted progress regardless of changing conditions.

"Service above self" is the Rotary slogan, nationally and internationally, and every member is trying to live up to it.

Ayden merchants are looking forward to good business this fall. At least that's the way K. A. Pittman, mayor of the progressive Pitt county town, expressed himself while attending court here this morning.

Similar expressions have been heard from many parts of the county, and what is more natural than to expect the fall and winter to be filled with industrial and commercial expansion.

"Pulling fish out of streams around this part of the country is just like getting money from home," ironically remarked J. O. Duval, city clerk, conversing with the compiler of this column yesterday.

Mr. Duval is probably one of the most ardent supporters Frank Walton has in this neck of the woods and had rather park himself on the banks of a creek or river than to ride in the finest automobile.

Henry Ford is capable of producing.

As a rule, the gods of the fish kingdom are with him, but lately they've deserted him and nobody knows why—not even the shades of Isaac himself.

This jinx has constantly pursued the affable clerk for the last two weeks, and while all remedies recommended by black magic men have been faithfully applied, none of them have had any effect.

It may be the fish supply has been exhausted, as is often experienced in "getting money from home." That's the only way we can account for it.

OPEN FORUM

READER SAYS TOBACCO MARKET BIGGEST ASSET

A few days ago I saw an article in the Daily Reflector on the subject of the Greenville tobacco market, presumably written by Mr. K. W. Cobb, who is the wide-awake secretary of the Tobacco Board of Trade of Greenville, an organization for the betterment of the tobacco industry in Greenville. Everybody hereabout knows Kinchen he is first, last and always an advertising man. Usually he is trying to put something over big (not a big one over). He is not a booster in other words, but a booster, and one thing in his article just referred to caught my attention and holds it, as follows: "Greenville people do not know and appreciate the value of the tobacco market." Maybe those exact words were not used, but what was said amounts to the same thing. Well, it occurred to me that an effort was being made to put a "Big One" over this time, because nearly everybody I know is sitting around in a way, waiting for the tobacco market opening on September 6th, and surely all these hordes of people broke but happy, could not fail to appreciate fully all that there is in tobacco town and what it all means to Greenville and Pitt county. But thinking on, as one will do sometimes, I have asked a lot of questions, and have come to the conclusion that the sentence is about right.

Do we people in Greenville, which is almost, if not entirely dependent on the tobacco industry for its growth and prosperity, fully know and appreciate what we have in the way of a wonderful tobacco market?

Every man, woman and child in the incorporate limits of Greenville is in one way or another somewhat dependent on the prosperity of the tobacco industry.

Two hundred white families living in Greenville are supported by employment in the tobacco enterprises in Greenville. There are dozens of others supported by proceeds of tobacco trade.

Hundreds of the negro race are given profitable employment in season in the warehouses, stemmeries and factories here.

Right around $1,000,000.00 is paid in salaries by our tobacco industry yearly in Greenville.

Tobacco warehouses, stemmeries and factories pay thousands of dollars of our total taxes.

We should all support and boost every effort made by the tobacco interests to expand here and lend a hand whenever possible to promote the growth of tobacco town. Learn something about what we have in this little town and as we travel, tell people about it in an intelligent, non-bragging way. Most all of us travel about and we can easily do this.

Greenville has seven tobacco sales warehouses, nine factories, 7 storage houses, which can easily take care of all the tobacco that can be brought here.

The extensions that have been made this year alone is as great as our entire capacity to handle tobacco 20 years ago.

Greenville tobacco market averaged $28.24 per hundred pounds last season, which was the highest average made by any market in the bright leaf tobacco belt of eastern North Carolina.

Greenville is easily third largest tobacco market in the world, situated in the biggest bright leaf tobacco growing county in the world—Pitt.

Tobacco is hauled to the Greenville market from the territory within a radius of 125 miles, because uniform courtesy accorded growers here, and because of the great facilities here which enable the buying companies to give higher prices.

We have been reading all of these things and because they have been said by advertisers, we have let them pass in our minds with little if any attention. But let's check them up and learn for ourselves the truth of these statements and be ever ready to tell them to the uninformed, to show that we really do know and appreciate the value of the tobacco industry in Greenville.
