MANY DROWN WHEN GREAT LINER SINKS

Hundreds of Italian Immigrants Believed Lost When Ship Sinks on Coast Brazil.

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Fighting what appeared to be a running battle with death, at least half a dozen rescue vessels today were standing by the Islands of Angra dos Reis where the Italian steamship Principe Sforza sank last night, seeking trace of the 300 or more persons still reported missing from the sinking ship.

Of the total list of passengers and crew aboard the vessel given at the office of the steamship company in Genoa and as 1,219 at the office here, 720 are known definitely to have been saved by rescue ships with the possibility that the total saved was 1,000.

The British steamship Avalonia, which had not been previously mentioned in Rio Janeiro dispatches, reported to its London office today that it had rescued 300 persons from the Principe Sforza. This would raise the total minimum rescued to 1,020.

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The luxurious Italian steamship, Principe Sforza, carrying more than a thousand passengers, most of them Italian emigrants to Brazil and Argentina, sank last night off the coast of Brazil with a death toll believed to number in the hundreds.

Rescue ships stand all night picked up at least 1,000 persons of the 1,200 stated to have been aboard while another estimate placed the number saved at 1,000.

A Brazilian cruiser, the Rio Grande Do Sul, today was under orders to aid in rescue work, while four steamers were at the scene, three of which were known to have rescued hundreds of persons.

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Hundreds of Italian emigrants bound for new home lands in Brazil and Argentina today were believed to have been drowned when the luxurious Italian liner Principe Sforza foundered about 200 miles southeast of Bahia, Brazil.

LEAVES SUM FOR HOME TO AGED WOMEN

Davies Warfield Bequeaths $10,000,000 For Founding of Institution.

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—S. Davies Warfield, president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, who died at Baltimore Monday, left a will in which he directed that his residuary estate, estimated at $5,000,000 to $10,000,000 be used to found a home for dependent aged women, named a group to vote his Seaboard stock, said W. V. Miller, his personal counsel, here today.

The home to be called "Anna Emory Warfield Home," in memory of his mother, is to be founded at Mr. Warfield's Manor Glen farm at Monketon, Md.

Mr. Miller said Mr. Warfield had named a committee of five of his friends and business associates to be appointed to take over his Seaboard holdings, said to be more than 100,000 shares of the 600,000 outstanding.

"S. Davies Warfield, late president of the Seaboard Air Line Railway, by his will, showed undying love and affection for the South, his sincerest interest in its development and his entire confidence in its future," Mr. Miller said.

Mr. Warfield's confidence in the Seaboard and the South, said Mr. Miller, was shown by the fact that he had stipulated his stock holdings in the road be held and not sold and further by the provision for the appointment of a committee to control and vote the stock to continue his plans and aspirations for the development of the company and the country served by it.

MRS. GRAYSON STILL HAVING MUCH TROUBLE

Stories of Desension Between Woman Flier and Pilot Gain Circulation Today.

Old Orchard, Me., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Clouds of doubt were plainly visible today on the horizon of Mrs. Frances Wilson Grayson's projected flight to Copenhagen as details of a "mutiny" became known and as delay in delivery of a new engine forced postponement of fourth attempt to get away.

Mrs. Grayson concluded that it would be impossible for the Dawn, her big Amphibian monoplane, to be put in condition before Saturday. But even that will be reckoning without weather which has played a large part in past delays.

A Wright motor which was to have reached here yesterday from Paterson, N. J., failed to arrive and a crew of mechanics was idle.

Stories of desension between Mrs. Grayson and her pilot, William Stultz continued to meet with silence from both principals in the face of reports that Stultz took over command of the plane last Sunday and had turned its nose westward long before engine trouble developed.

According to the version heard here, Mrs. Grayson first discovered that the Dawn was headed back here after the machine had reached the vicinity of Sable Island, N. S. Stultz felt it was hopeless to hold the machine at a sufficient altitude for safety in the face of a heavy fog into which they were running and accordingly, banked the machine and turned about. Mrs. Grayson, it was said, thought the banking was to gain altitude and only when she glanced at the compass learned that their third attempt was doomed to disappointment.

Safe to Kill

Judge Kavanah, of Illinois, calls this "the most law ridden and lawless of nations."
"Lawyers," says he, "are organized to get around the law and save criminals through technicalities."
Lawyers evidently earn their money, and our glorious democracy seems to be the murderer's paradise.

Kill a man, and odds are six to one you will not be caught. If caught, odds are twelve to one you will not be convicted.
Seventy-two to one in favor of the murderer must encourage crimes. Judge Kavanah, who is a lawyer says we send too many lawyers to Congress.

Rough and rocky is prohibition's road. Police Chief Hughes of Chicago says: "My men will catch crooks; won't waste time snooping for pocket flasks. There is no more chance of drying up Chicago than there is of my flying without wings."
He points a finger at each man interviewing him, asking: "Do you obey the Volstead Act? Do you? Do you? They say the act was made for somebody else, not for them."

In Detroit, Mayor Smith, running for re-election, asks only that men of Detroit "vote as they drink."
He is against prohibition, promises to make Detroit wetter, not dryer. And his friends point with pride to the fact that nobody in Detroit has been killed by "poison booze" for months because Mayor Smith lets them get "the real stuff" from Canada. Nevertheless, prohibition will be here, when Mayor Smith and Chief Hughes are gone.

Last week an Italian flier, Mario De Bernardi, broke all records for speed, in a Macchi seaplane. He averaged more than 300 miles an hour on four successive flights, breaking the world's record by nineteen and a half miles.

Some will say: "Oh, but such speed is terribly dangerous. Nobody will ever fly SAFELY at five miles a minute."
When the locomotive appeared, rolem engineers said: "A continuous speed of twenty-five miles an hour would be fatal to human life." And also: "The terrible wind created by the rushing trains would kill people along the tracks."

Men, women, children and nice old ladies will travel through the upper air at five miles a minute, and TEN miles a minute, more (Continued on Page Five.)

Approve New Weapon For Fire Hazard

Pinehurst, N. C., Oct. 26.—(AP)—A new weapon to combat the fire hazard has met the approval of the American Institute of steel construction in annual session here.

The convention yesterday adopted a fire proofing specification defining the actual fire resistance required in each section of a building and for all purposes. It would require structures also to be safeguarded further when devoted to new uses involving additional fire hazards, and was proposed to enable the architect and engineer to design buildings as scientifically fireproof as possible.

The specifications, which is the work of a special committee of prominent engineers acting with the United States Bureau of Standards, will be presented to boards of fire underwriters and municipal building department officials for possible application generally throughout the United States and Canada, according to institute officials.

"In spite of the fact that it requires 1,000 tons of gold to pay our annual fire loss, fireproofing methods heretofore in vogue have been as unscientific as those in use 4,000 years ago," declared Lee H. Miller, of Cleveland, the institute's chief engineer.

CURTIS SAYS HE WANTS TO BE PRESIDENT

Republican Senator From Kansas Announces Candidacy in 1928 Political Race.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas, Republican leader of the Senate, today entered the 1928 presidential race.

In a letter to Roy L. Bone of Topeka, organizer of the "Curtis for President" Club in Kansas, the Senator wrote that "if my friends of Kansas desire to send a delegation to the next Republican National convention favorable to my nomination, I shall be greatly pleased to be their candidate."

The Republican leader humbly declared, however, that "I will not consent to become a candidate if the delegation is to be selected with the view of voting for me for a few ballots as a 'favorite son.'"
"As I stated when the question was first put to me, I will not allow myself to be used as a stalking horse for any one," Senator Curtis added.

The Kansan is one of the first administration leaders to definitely enter the presidential race since President Coolidge made his announcement last August that he did not choose to run for President next year.

Senator Curtis did not amplify his declaration that he would not be a "stalking horse" for anyone, but it was taken to mean that he did not wish to have the Kansas delegation for trading purposes in the convention and would consent to run only as a serious contender for the nomination.

Mr. Curtis was chosen majority leader of the Senate three years ago on the death of Senator Lodge of Massachusetts and in that role he has become one of the outstanding Republicans.

ROOSEVELT TESTIFIES

Theodore, Jr., Called to Stand in Fall-Sinclair Hearing

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Holding steadily to its line of attack, the government continued today to produce testimony to show that Albert B. Fall resorted to secrecy in order to turn over to Harry F. Sinclair the Navy's Teapot Dome naval oil reserve.

Calling Theodore Roosevelt, Jr. to the stand, government counsel in the criminal conspiracy trial of the former Secretary of the Interior and the oil man, gained from him the statement that he knew nothing of the lease until some time after it was signed. Roosevelt is the man who took to President Harding the famous executive order under which the administration of the reserve was transferred from the Navy to the Interior Department.

Carlessness Causes Half Forest Fires

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Carelessness of smokers in September caused one-half of the forest fires and more than three-quarters of the damage suffered from forest fires during that month in the five organized districts of the state, according to the report of the state forest service.

Only six fires for the month were reported by the five district foresters, three of these being assigned to smokers, and the estimated damage from these fires was $400, of which more than $300 was from the fires caused by smokers. The flames went over 304 acres of forest land.

M'GRUDER IS DEPRIVED OF HIS COMMAND

Future Status of Admiral Uncertain Following Removal From Command.

Philadelphia, Oct. 26.—(AP)—P. Eling, he said, that an injustice had been done him. Rear Admiral Magruder said today that he would urge Secretary of the Navy Wilbur to reconsider his order detaching him from command of the fourth naval district.

While the admiral declined to outline his plans in detail, close friends said an appeal to President Coolidge, with a complete official review of the magazine article controversy and subsequent events leading up to the order of detachment, might be sought if Secretary Wilbur refused to reconsider his action. Pointing to his 42 years of service, during which they said he had frequently been commended for meritorious service, but never reprimanded, the admiral's friends said his summary detachment probably was without precedent in the United States Navy.

Washington, Oct. 26.—(AP)—The future status of Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, critic of navy methods and professed advocate of wide-spread economies in naval expenditures, remained in doubt today following notification from Secretary Wilbur that he had been removed from command of the fourth naval district.

Surprise and speculation were rife among navy men here, especially since the affair created by the admiral's recent magazine article had been declared a closed incident by the Secretary himself. The opinion was advanced, however, that Magruder's subsequent actions had aroused the ire of the department head and that his detachment was an act of discipline.

Meanwhile, Admiral Magruder awaited at Philadelphia the arrival of his successor, asserting that he would ask a thorough explanation and preparing for a trip to Washington in response to a summons from Secretary Wilbur.

He said the Secretary's notification which reached him last night came as a "distinct shock" that he was much attached to his present post and had hoped to remain for his full term of duty.

"I don't know why I have been detached," he declared, "and I shall insist upon a thorough investigation." His magazine article, which aroused considerable comment, was followed by assertions from the admiral that his purpose had been constructive and that he had not intended to embarrass the Navy Department in any way. Secretary Wilbur called upon him to submit any reorganization plan he had in mind, but Magruder replied that he had none and that it would be impossible to prepare such a program without much time and clerical assistance. Meanwhile, newspaper interviewers had pictured Magruder as belligerent in his attitude. The admiral said he had been misquoted.

READY TO JAIL FOLLOWERS OF PRINCE CAROL

Rumanian Government Stands Ready To Declare State of Siege Throughout Nation.

Bucharest, Rumania, Oct. 26.—(AP)—At the last sign of opposition against the government, the Rumanian ministry was ready today to arrest the leaders and proclaim a state of siege throughout Rumania.

Troops were ordered to occupy all government buildings carrying out the state of martial law proclaimed throughout the country upon discovery of the plot to restore former Crown Prince Carol to the throne, which he renounced in 1925 when he eloped to Paris with Magda Lupescu.

The country is settling with excitement as the government and opposition parties line up for what is expected to be a bitter contest for supremacy. Premier Bratianu tomorrow will demand from all political groups in Parliament a declaration of their attitude toward the present situation. The opposition leaders have summoned their members to appear in full strength. The People's Party, of which M. Manoliescu, whose arrest led to the discovery of the Carol plot, intends to interpellate the government, considering his arrest unjustified.

The government declared that Manoliescu had gone to Paris and interviewed Carol and sympathizers with his aspirations. Manoliescu, who is now in the military prison at Jilava, will be court-martialed within a few days. General Averescu is expected to defend his former cabinet minister and it is certain that the latter will be accused of high treason.

Princess Helen, whom Carol abandoned, has postponed her departure for Florence where she intended to go for several months. This postponement was made to avoid the appearance of leaving the country on account of the present crisis.

The boy King, who was celebrating his sixth birthday when the plot was disclosed, is at the summer palace at Sinala. Queen Marie is with him. She has frequently expressed the desire that her son Carol, who is reported in a Paris suburb at present remain away from the country and warned that to reopen the dynasty question would only cause turmoil throughout the country.

EYES TURNING TO CONTEST ON SATURDAY

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 26.—(AP)—Came another Wednesday and thoughts of Saturday's gridiron war. In most of the 22 camps of the Southern Conference "Big Berthas" were being oiled for continuation of the devastating bombardment begun two weeks ago.

Josh Cody primed Esked, scintillating Clemson back, for Wofford. The Tigers with the team functioning better last week than at any time in more than a decade seems to be ascending to the glory of Clemson teams of old.

Georgia Tech went through its last workout at home today, the squad entraining tomorrow for South Bend, Ind., via Chicago to meet the Wizards of Notre Dame. Coach Bill Alexander is scrimmaging Stumpy Thomason, Mizell, Randall and other ground gainers, at every opportunity in preparation for the Rockne men.

The Bull Dogs face Tulane at New Orleans Saturday and are not discounting bankers' scoring ability. This game will match McCray against the blonde banker, the two tied for leading scoring honors in the circle.

North Carolina State will unleash Jack McDowall, the fastest Wolf of them, against its old rival from Chapel Hill.

Coach Chuck Ollins yesterday drove the Tar Heels with vigor, the Raleigh squad will have to watch a dangerous passing attack handled by Whisman, Young, Ward and Sapp.

Alabama continued to center its offensive in the passing-ball carrying abilities of its undoubtedly capable backfield. Friar Tuck, Red Brown, Brassfield, McClintock and Taylor will be relied on largely to stop Chadwick, Mississippi A. & M.'s ace Saturday when the Aggies visit Tuscaloosa.

ON THE GRID

Raleigh, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Secret practice was held today at State College by the Wolfpack as Coach Tebel sent his charges through new plays which he hopes will be successful against Carolina here Saturday.

The team, declared to be in good physical shape and high spirits, is expected to launch a varied attack against the Tar Heels. Followers of the Wolfpack believe this year will witness a victory for their eleven.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Rookies of the University football squad had their ining today as coaches gave the first striking lineup a general shakeup in hopes of developing a strong eleven for the contest with State.

Farris, sophomore guard who made good in the game with Georgia Tech, replaced the veteran Shuler in the forward wall. Presson, Charlotte youth, was in McDaniels flank position. Gray, substitute quarterback, was shifted to halfback and ran signals with Lassher, Reese and Furches.

Duke University, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Coach Jimmy DeHart will start the "absolutely best team" he has against Wake Forest Saturday when his Blue Devils visit the Deacons.

Durham, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Athletes should not be permitted to represent colleges of North Carolina if they hold scholarships or have self-help jobs, in the opinion of President Elmer R. Hoke, of Catawba College.

Addressing leading educational leaders of the State here at the State College Commerce convention, Dr. Hoke declared that it was up to the colleges to purify the athletic situation which exists today. He said that steps should be taken to remedy the situation or there would always be the grave danger of paid athletes.

His hearers did not discuss the matter, but referred it to the committee on athletics.

NAVY DAY

On tomorrow the birthday of President Theodore Roosevelt who saw so clearly the relation of sea power to the growth of the nation in world influence and prosperity, the Navy League of the United States will sponsor the observance of Navy Day.

The message of this year's Navy Day is the importance to the country, the farmer and manufacturer of "Seapower and Commerce." Seapower rests upon the Merchant Marine, the Navy and the radiating activities of commerce.

Our present day prosperity is becoming more and more dependent upon our overseas markets. The success of our foreign trade bears directly on the well being of every citizen. In order to retain and develop our markets abroad in the years of keen world commercial competition that are ahead of us, the United States should be properly equipped to support, develop and guard its radiating trade activities. To this end a reliable system of overseas transportation under our own flag is an essential. No successful business organization can be dependent upon a competitor for the delivery of its goods, and expect to obtain the same results. In such matters, it is necessary to retain a reasonable independence.

In time of peace a nation which is dependent upon others for the transportation of its overseas trade, places its citizens in the position of being subject to the dictates of foreign shipping interests in the matter of ocean freight rates. Today our shippers are sending a golden stream out of the country in payment for the carrying of their goods in foreign bottoms. This yearly amounts to several hundred million dollars. A good proportion of this stream should be going into our own ships and through them brought back to the United States to re-energize business and labor in the activities connected with ship building, ship repair and provisioning.

Ships under the American flag now carry about 30 per cent of our foreign trade; it should be at least 50 per cent. Today the American ships at sea are largely wartime built. Our ship operators are working with old tools compared with the new tools in the hands of other foreign competitors' vessels, built since the war, of superior speed and cargo space arrangements. The cost of building ships in the United States is from 50 to 100 per cent greater than in foreign countries, due to the cost of labor and material. Once the vessel is obtained the actual operating expenses run from 8 to 10 per cent higher under the American flag than under the foreign flag.

These factors constitute the problem to be overcome before our merchant marine can expand and thrive. The problem is one that the Congress alone can solve.

But merchant ships our country must have. They are essential to business welfare and independence in time of peace, and are vital part of national defense in time of war. In war a country without a merchant marine is hamstringed in maintaining its commerce and in obtaining many essentials to the conduct of war. A Navy without adequate merchant ship auxiliaries is seriously handicapped in its operations. A well rounded and efficient Navy is essential in supporting the foreign policy of a government, in guarding its commerce and merchant ships and in case of war, to gain command of the seas and thus insure victory.

Overseas trade, the merchant marine and the Navy are links in what constitutes seapower. Our country should realize more fully the importance of seapower in its future development, prosperity and destiny.

About Town

The other day some lady proposed that we try to determine who is the most popular man in town. We have done our best, but up to the present time the only reply received suggests the possibility of failure. One lady says there are so many popular males that to name one would in all probability start warfare.

We love peace. The fact is, we have been in favor of peace since the signing of the armistice, and to prevent the beginning of hostilities right around this old typewriter, we shall call off the negotiations pertaining to the most popular man and let the "wimmen" do their own choosing, minus the publicity.

"The fact that new business enterprises continue coming to Greenville is indicative of healthy growth," a citizen remarked today.

"If Greenville continues to grow in the future as it has during the last five years, I feel confident it will become one of the largest towns in Eastern North Carolina.

"People are interested in this city because it is situated in one of the most prolific tobacco producing sections of the world. The soil is adaptable to the cultivation of most any kind of crop grown in North Carolina, and offers great possibilities to grower of food crops.

"There is no limit to the resources and possibilities of the locality, and anybody desiring a field where climatic and business conditions are ideal can do no better than to come to Pitt county." Greenville offers many inducements to the manufacturer and investor, and its business men are on the alert to render any assistance to them."

The second hog choler campaign will be conducted in Pitt county during the month of November, according to announcement made through a letter received today from E. F. Arnold, director of the Pitt county Department of Agriculture.

"It is gratifying to us that only a few farmers who did not join in the campaign have called for work of this kind since the campaign closed. You are requested to fill in the enclosed card and return not later than November the 1st. All farmers who return cards will be notified two or three days in advance what day to expect us to do their work.

"After this campaign is over we are expecting to devote our time to other features of this work until the next campaign which will be put on in the spring."

The first of the cholera campaigns was put on during the month of June, and resulted in great success. Mr. Arnold told the writer today. It is hoped to save the farmers of Pitt county thousands of dollars annually through these campaigns, and all farmers are urged to get in touch with the department in time to take advantage of their services.

"That the Carolina Motor Club will be able to secure seventy-five members in Greenville seemed assured today," asserted M. H. Barnetler, district representative, who has been in Greenville the last few days interesting the public in the organization's activities.

"We already have assurance of fifty members after working only a part of last week," said the representative today. "We are certain to obtain twenty-five more by the end of the present week.

"This means Greenville will be placed on all motor club emblems issued for this city, and also that the branch office will remain here. Only thirty-five other towns of the state have branch officers of the club, so Greenville takes rank with the best of them."

New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A further advance in the cotton market early today was followed by irregular fluctuations and a large falling off in the volume of business.

GRAIN
Chicago, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Despite wheat export business totaling 1,000,000 bushels the wheat market after scoring an advance reeled at the last in sympathy with corn weakness. Deferred deliveries of corn were heavily sold and reached the lowest price yet this season. Less was heard about export demand for corn.
Wheat closed unsettled 1-4 to 5-8 net higher, corn 1 3-4 to 2 1-4 off; oats at 3-8 decline to 1-4 gain and provisions unchanged.

STOCK MARKET
New York, Oct. 26.—(AP)—A stepping upward movement in the stock market in the early trading today, instigated by record breaking third quarter earnings of the General Motors Corporation and renewed investment and speculative buying, petered out for a time in the early afternoon. The temptation to take profits on gains of 1 to 3 points, supplemented by bearish selling of United States Steel, Greene Cananea Copper and Houston Oil, caused prices to slide down rapidly from their earlier peaks.
General Motors, which started the day at 133 1-2, fell to 130 1-4, fractionally under yesterday's final quotation. U. S. Steel, which closed yesterday at 159 3-8, dropped to 158 3-4 as more consideration was given to the drop of nearly $5,000,000 in third quarter earnings of the corporation. DuPont's stock rose 2 1/2 after getting as high as 225 3-4 and International Harvester dropped 5 points from its best figure. Greene Cananea Copper had a loss of 6 1-2 as the reported pool in the issue backed away from the market, and in many other instances gains were whittled down materially.

RED OAK NEWS

Mr. and Mrs. James Allen and children and Mrs. J. J. Jenkins have returned from an automobile trip to Greensboro where they visited Mrs. Jenkins' son, Donald Jenkins. They made a stop in Raleigh to visit two more of her children, Berry Jenkins of State College, and Pattie Jenkins, member of the faculty of the Raleigh City schools.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Manning and children, Ada Gold and Mabel Glenn, Mr. Frank Elks are all on the sick list in our neighborhood. There seems to be a regular epidemic of chills and fever and malaria.
Friends of Mrs. John Baldree will be glad to know that she has recovered to such an extent that she will return to her home from a Wilson hospital Wednesday. Mrs. Baldree has been quite ill for several weeks.
Since our last report Mr. Japhet Allen died in Martin county and was brought back to Pitt for burial. He resided in our community all his life and we shall miss seeing him around about us.
Our people in Red Oak community feel very proud of the fact that we had such good success with our booth at the Fair. Of course, it was hard work but we feel like we were amply rewarded. It was put on for the benefit of the church but not only members of Red Oak church helped, but some of the members of our sister church, the Finey Grove Free Will Baptist, and others in the community who were not members co-operated gladly and were in a great respect, responsible for its success. We appreciate the fact that never in the realization of the correspondence have we ever had any better spirit of co-operation in our community. We wish to extend our thanks to any and all who in any measure, great or small helped in any way. The proceeds, which amounted to sixty dollars, were used to finish paying for the electric lights recently installed in the church.
Our school has opened with an enrollment of 33. This is only a one-room schoolhouse and the teacher only has seven grades with approximately 36 recitations crowded into six hours time. The children's ages run from six to fifteen. It is scarcely believable that in this day and time that there should be a school of this description left in North Carolina and especially in Pitt county in one of the richest farming districts there is. Folks, let's have for our slogan "A better school, or no school at all."

safely and smoothly than they now travel one mile a minute in automobiles and railroad trains.

Albert Edward Davies, 28, was told by doctors that his three-year-old daughter must die of septic pneumonia; it was only a matter of days. The child was in dreadful agony. The father drowned her in the bathtub to end her suffering. "I could not bear to see her suffer any longer," he said when he gave himself up.

The judge said he was bound to tell the jury: "Had this poor child been an animal, instead of a human being, the man would have been actually liable to punishment if he had not put it out of its misery. That is the law." The jury acquitted the man.

Birth control ladies will be interested in his case. His wife was tubercular, had four children in four years, died in the fourth childbirth. The law would have punished anybody for showing her how to avoid that.

Dr. Mason, head of the University of Chicago, when this is written says college study should be a pleasure, not a bore. "We have been cramming our students in a-ropes, stuffing them with facts, dates and thoughts in which they are not interested."

What applies to education applies especially to industry. More than a hundred years ago, Charles Fourier declared that to settle humanity's troubles, "Industry must be made attractive."

When men work because they like to work as boys play football or as scientists study, civilization will have begun.

Men work now because they must starve if they don't, and that is not much better than old slavery, under which men worked, because they were lashed if they didn't work.

Moving pictures will make education pleasant for children, and en-

To Complete Suit Of Porter & Peck Sometime Today

Civil court today continued hearing of the case of Porter & Peck against West Construction Company, involving the sum of $3,000 which the plaintiffs contend the defendants owe them in connection with road construction completed sometime ago.
It was indicated at the noon hour that the hearing would be completed late this afternoon. The case was begun shortly after the organization of court Monday morning. Considerable testimony has been presented on both sides.

Fight Films Cause More Dissension

Atlanta, Oct. 26.—(AP)—Fight films of the Dempsey-Tunney battle at Chicago have become truly "hitch" pictures upon their appearance in several Southern communities.
Counsel for two Atlanta theatres today sought an injunction in the United States District Court here to restrain the government from interfering with showing of the fight films, after a deputy marshal last night seized the celluloid strips after their exhibition since Monday. Action came on a search and seizure warrant charging violation of the law prohibiting interstate shipment of such pictures.
A federal Grand Jury at Statesville, N. C., summoned two Charlotte motion picture exhibitors today on subpoenas after seizure of their films. The jury will hold a private showing and decide whether the exhibitors may continue the exhibitions.
Memphis failed to view the fight pictures after the Board of Censors there yesterday refused to per-

We Ask You Frankly—

Why has this store grown from such a small beginning to such an immense institution as to be recognized as the outstanding store in this community—Why is it spoken of by everybody as "Eastern Carolina's Greatest Store"?—Why is it growing and flourishing as no other store in this section of the state?

Did It "Just Happen" or Was It "Honest Values?"

Could this institution have been built on inferior quality and higher prices?

No, It Was—

Because it offers more than can be found in any other store in the community—

—Better Values —Better Service
—Better Quality —Better Prices

Due to the fact that our entire organization is working continuously on the principal of—

"How Much Can We Give You"

AND NOT

"How Much Can We Get Out of You?"

You are missing more than you can imagine if you are not enjoying the superior advantages of this store—which appreciates your patronage to such an extent that it offers everything that its patrons desire.
