TWO CLAIM TO BE MAYOR OF INDIANAPOLIS

Mayor John Duvall Resigns and Ira Holmes Claims Right As City's Chief.

Indianapolis, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Citizens of Indianapolis retired last night commencing over the fact for the first time in the city's history two men claimed to be its mayor. They awoke today to find that two men still claimed to be mayor but that one of yesterday's claimants had been eliminated and another substituted.

During a short interim the city had its first woman mayor—Mrs. Claude E. Duvall, appointed recently by city controller by her husband, John L. Duvall, who was elected mayor two years ago.

The new claimant to the mayor's office is Ira M. Holmes prominent attorney, who announced at 2 o'clock this morning that Duvall had mailed his resignation as mayor to the city clerk at noon yesterday. Mrs. Duvall, Holmes said, immediately appointed him as city controller and then she herself resigned. Holmes as city controller succeeded to the mayoralty. Why Duvall's resignation was kept secret was not explained.

Claude E. Negley, president of the city council, was named as mayor by that body at a special session yesterday afternoon. Negley immediately began to file ouster proceedings against Duvall, not knowing that Duvall had already placed his resignation in the mails. The city council in appointing Negley as mayor held that Duvall's conviction several weeks ago for violation of the corrupt practices act barred him from holding public office.

Negley late last night appointed Frank Jones, president of the board of water under Duvall, as his city controller.

Holmes this morning announced that he had appointed Wayne Emmelin, secretary of the Marion County Republican Committee, as his city controller. Holmes said that one of his first acts as mayor will be a call for the resignations of all members of city boards, the vacancies to be filled by prominent citizens.

The muddled mayoralty situation today tended to ease the tension in another quarter. Last night Duvall locked the doors of the City Hall, an unusual procedure, and called in a detail of policemen to guard the doors.

Claude Worley, chief of police under Duvall yesterday swung to Negley's faction and it was expected that Negley today would make formal demand upon Duvall to relinquish his office. Some uneasiness was expressed as to what would happen when the two factions met. Holmes' announcement threw those plans into confusion.

Court action, many believe, will be the only way to clear the present situation and decide who is mayor. In the meantime City Treasurer Edward A. Ramsey is refusing to issue any salary checks, holding up a $300,000 or more payroll to all city employees.

Duvall was fined $1,000 and sentenced to 30 days in jail by a jury that found him guilty of making a political deal with a local politician during the 1925 campaign. In addition he was barred from holding public office for four years from the date of the alleged crime. An appeal was taken.

Attorney Tells Why Geo. Remus Killed His Wife

St. Louis, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Prosecuting Attorney Charles P. Taft, 2nd, of Cincinnati, announced here today he had evidence that George Remus, former bootlegger, killed his wife, Imogene, because she intended to testify in her divorce suit that Remus murdered an Indiana sheriff in 1923.

Taft, who was here with Charles Elston, Remus' counsel, to take defense depositions in the murder case, said it would be shown Remus had confessed to the Indiana killing and had described it in detail to a State's witness whose identity is being kept secret.

Taft said the State will show as a motive for Remus murdering his wife that she arranged on the day of the killing to lay bare in the divorce hearing the alleged circumstances of the slaying of Sheriff William Van Camp near Brookville, Ind., four years ago.

Her story was that Remus killed Van Camp while running Jack Daniel's whiskey from St. Louis to Cincinnati. Brookville is in Franklin County, Ind., not far from the Ohio line and about thirty miles from Cincinnati.

315 PERISHED ON ILL-FATED ITALIAN LINER

Rio Janeiro, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The terror stricken cries of their ill-fated fellow passengers still ringing in their ears, hundreds of survivors of the sinking of the Princess Mafalda off Brazil were safe here and at Bahia today.

It was an eerie scene as the French steamship Formosa and the Dutch Alhena came into port here. Seemingly clothed in a death-knell they made their way to the pier, the only human soul sounds coming from their crowded passenger quarters being the occasional agonized moans of those who had lost their loved ones in the tragedy.

The screeching of the winches and the thrifty voice of a deck officer directing the mooring of the Alhena, while sobs from the women in the crowd held behind police lines ashore. The Alhena's decks were deserted except for the stolid Dutch sailors on duty there.

Other survivors were landed at Bahia by the French steamship Mohalla which sped to the rescue under forced draught with life boats ready to be immediately lowered.

Latest estimates of the number who perished in the sinking of the ship place the victims at 315. The radio officer, locked in the operating room, also perished. Others died from injuries and exposure aboard the rescue ships which were speeding their way toward land.

All accounts agreed that the scene as the Mafalda's boiler exploded and the ship sunk was a long drawn out and harrowing one. Even before the rescue ships came in sight there were scores of passengers already in the water. Some survivors said they saw sharks but others said they saw none.

The Formosa, the Alhena, the British Empress Star and the Mosella maneuvered around the sinking liner. Emergency crews of volunteers manned their lifeboats and risked their lives moving thru the floating wreckage.

Cries for help sounded from all over the water near the Mafalda. The captain of the Mosella maneuvered his ship close to the fast flooding Mafalda so as to be near when she sank.

On the bridge of the sinking ship stood her commander. Injured while directing the work of rescue, he was determined to go down with his ship.

Searchlights of the rescue ships illuminated the scene. They revealed many people clinging to pieces of wreckage and life preservers. Around them floated many who were dead.

Suddenly the Mafalda sank, revealing a great hole blown in her side by the boiler explosion. Many of the engine crew and probably others were believed to have been killed by the explosion for mutilated bodies were seen floating on the waters. Masses of wreckage of all kinds dotted the sea.

The last word of the captain transmitted by the radio operator of the Mafalda was: "The captain says: 'There is great bravery aboard on the part of the crew and all male passengers. We have aboard many women and children. I am confident of calming the panic. I will order signal flares lighted.'"

The agents of the Mafalda at Buenos Aires said that according to their information the total number of survivors of the wrecked liner were 932, out of a total of 1,256 aboard the ship. The Italian embassy here announced that its reports indicated that 925 were saved.

The Brazilian liner Rago reported that it had received a message from the Alhena stating that the catastrophe was due to a screw hole being broken open, the water then entering the engine room and the ship sinking within six hours.

WANT CHILDREN TAUGHT EVIL OF STRONG DRINK

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Trustees of the North Carolina Anti-Saloon League today began preparations of a drive through which they will seek to secure re-enactment of statutes requiring children in public schools of the state be instructed in evils of alcoholic drinks and narcotics. The statutes were passed by the General Assembly several years ago but later were left out of codification of school laws upon the theory that advent of prohibition made them unnecessary.

Anti-Saloon League trustees named a committee, composed of M. L. Shipman, Dr. Clarence Poe and C. A. Upchurch, Raleigh, to present proper resolution to officials calling for the re-enactment of the act.

Requisition for Jole Ray

Springfield, Ill., Oct. 28.—(AP)—A requisition has been signed by Governor Small for Jole Ray, crack distance runner, against whom a warrant charging non-support, has been issued. Ray has been working in Gary, Ind. His wife lives in Chicago.

His Relatives Stolen

Theodore Steeg, French resident general of Morocco, is trying to secure release of his entire family, kidnapped by bandits who dominate mountain regions. Abduction, it is believed, was for political purposes rather than ransom.

ADMITS TALK CAUSED MOST HIS TROUBLE

Philadelphia, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Rear Admiral Thomas P. Magruder, who has been detached from command of the fourth naval district because of his criticism of Navy administration, feels that the "mistake" of his life has been made, that he has "talked too much."

"I have been lucky in my career up to this time," he told members of the Fleet Reserve Association in an address last night, "but it has been the mistake of my life that I have talked too much. Navy men are taught to keep their mouths shut. When a Navy man opens his mouth he gets in trouble—that has been my experience."

Keen disappointment over President Coolidge's refusal to review his controversy with Secretary of the Navy Wilbur was expressed by the admiral, who stated, however, that he accepted the President's decision as final and would go wherever he was ordered.

Admiral Magruder has been called to Washington by Secretary Wilbur for a conference on or about November 5. His successor, Rear Admiral Julian L. Laird, is expected here a few days prior to the date.

Two Navy Officers Killed When Planes Collide In The Air

Pensacola, Fla., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Two Navy officers were instantly killed today when their scout planes collided in mid-air and fell 1,000 feet to the ground in the heart of the city. The fliers, Lt. F. C. Frawley and Lt. W. J. McCord, were removed from the wreckage, dangling from the houseposts on which the shattered planes fell.

One plane fell at Sixth Avenue and Strong street and the other at North Davis and DeSoto streets. The ships, Curtis-Hawks, were maneuvering at 1,000 feet when they collided.

Frawley was formerly coach at Annapolis and was to have been transferred to the Philippines next month. Both Frawley and McCord were married and lived here with their families.

The planes were flying in formation when they collided at a height of about 5,000 feet, officers said. One of the planes fell on top of a garage while the other crashed through the side of a small house, injuring a negro woman.

"I feel it my duty also," he continued, "to say that I am very reluctant to see you sever your official relations with the State of North Carolina. You have served the State most faithfully over a long period and I am sure the people of the State of North Carolina feel, as I feel, that your retirement to private life causes a genuine loss to the State's service."

"Please allow me to express to you personal sentiments of high esteem and sincere regard."

Mr. Wade, in leaving the office to which he was elected in 1921, returns to private life after more than 20 years of public activity, beginning when he was appointed principal clerk of the State Senate in 1903. He remained in this office after successive appointments, thru 1909. From 1906 to 1908 he was city clerk of Morehead City, where he was born and reared, and was a director of the Bank of Carteret Morehead City, from 1907 to 1909.

He was a member of and auditor for the finance committee of the Atlantic and North Carolina Railway Company, from 1911 to 1921 and acted as chief deputy insurance commissioner from 1909 to 1921.

When he became commissioner of the Fire Marshals' Association of North America in 1924 and is a former president of the Southern Group of Securities Commission. He is a member of the executive committee of the National Convention of Insurance Commissioners.

Mr. Boney, new commissioner, has been connected with the insurance department since 1925 when he was appointed as chief deputy commissioner. His duties since appointment have been largely executive and he has frequently been in full charge of the department during Commissioner Wade's absence.

He is a native North Carolinian born at Elkin in 1885. From 1915 to 1917 he was in charge of the operation of the Kingston and Carolina Railroad, with offices at Kingsport. In 1917 Mr. Boney entered military service serving with the 115th field artillery of the famous 30th Division. He remained with the regiment during its service in France until 1918, when he was severely wounded in an engagement in the Argonne.

After the world war Mr. Boney returned to the University of North Carolina, completing his studies before entering into the practice of law in 1923, at Goldsboro, N. C. is prominent in legal circles of the State.

Kiwanians Elect Officers During Today

Durham, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Clarence Dues of Elizabeth City was unanimously elected governor of the Kiwanis district at the annual convention of Kiwanis here today. He is located from Greenville. Kiwanis officers: C. S. Forbes and C. B. Rowlett.

Ed Wilson, alleged to be one of two men who last night held up and robbed Edward Lovelighthouse, country storekeeper at the Focelles community, was taken in custody by county officials this morning. Search is being continued for the other robber, and officials expressed belief they would be able to land him behind the bars probably by tomorrow morning.

The negroes forced Lovelighthouse to admit them to his store and once a safe from which thirty dollars in cash was taken. They are also alleged to have taken a shotgun, pistol and a gold watch.

STACY WADE HAS RESIGNED

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Stacey W. Wade, Commissioner of Insurance, tendered his resignation this morning, effective November 15. It was accepted by Gov. McLean, who immediately appointed Dan Boney, chief deputy insurance commissioner under Mr. Wade, to fill the unexpired term of office.

Insurance Commissioner Tendered Resignation to Governor This Morning.

The resignation came out of a "clear sky," Capitol observers being unacquainted with the impending resignation until it was announced by Gov. McLean. Mr. Wade, it is understood, will assume active duties November 15 as vice-president of the Home Mortgage Company, Durham.

In tendering his resignation to the Governor, Mr. Wade said: "I wish to express to you and through you to the people of North Carolina, my deep appreciation of the many expressions of confidence shown me and the reciprocal cooperation given during your administration, which has been both genuine and sincere."

Gov. McLean, in accepting Mr. Wade's resignation, declared he felt "it is my duty to accept your resignation because it appears that it is greatly to your personal interest that you take up the work in private business which has been deferred you."

"I feel it my duty also," he continued, "to say that I am very reluctant to see you sever your official relations with the State of North Carolina. You have served the State most faithfully over a long period and I am sure the people of the State of North Carolina feel, as I feel, that your retirement to private life causes a genuine loss to the State's service."

Radio reports received today from three of seven ships requested to search their holes and question their personnel in the hope that Moity would be located, said no trace of the fugitive was found. Similar reports were received from officers of adjacent towns and states who were asked to be on the lookout.

Moity is wanted for killing his wife Mrs. Theresa Alfano Moity, 25, the mother of his three children and Mrs. Leona Lee Moity, 28, his brothers Joseph's wife and the mother of three. The bodies were found in trunks, face down with the severed heads, arms and lower limbs placed around and on top of the torso. With the body of his wife, the slayer left his weapon, a knife, two feet long, and two inches wide, used in hacking sugar cane stalks. The bodies were found by two insurance agents called to the scene by the negro scrub woman, who found traces of blood.

Joseph Moity surrendered to police yesterday afternoon and expressed the belief that his brother had killed the women through jealousy. Joseph declared both he and his brother had been having difficulties with their wives because of attentions they accepted from other men. Joseph said he took his children and left his wife Tuesday afternoon after a quarrel. Henry stayed on hoping for a chance, Joseph said.

Joseph, who is 35, and five years his senior, said the last he saw of Henry was when he appeared at his room late Wednesday night with his three children and asked that they be allowed to stay. He had been drinking heavily, Joseph said.

Frank Kimmel, whose name was found pencilled on a wall in Mrs. Theresa Alfano Moity's room, was arrested and is being held for questioning. He admitted being intimate with the women, police said.

Denver, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Three airplanes of the Colorado National Guard were dispatched today to the coal strike zone in southern Colorado. The planes were sent at the command of Governor Adams, marking the first military move of the state in quelling possible outbreaks. The planes will make their headquarters at Pueblo and Citrus sections of the strike area where violence is most likely to break out.

Denver, Colo., Oct. 28.—(AP)—With New Mexico National Guardsmen assigned to strike patrol duty and Colorado troops ready for mobilization, Industrial Workers of the World today mustered hundreds of pickets to extend the state-wide coal strike.

Fourteen National Guardsmen were ordered to Colfax county in northern New Mexico yesterday by Governor Dillon following reports the L. W. W. intended to attempt to close mines there. This action was followed by a report from the Adjutant General to Governor Adams of Colorado, that state troops were ready and could be mobilized in a few hours.

The L. W. W. leaders met the threat of state interference by assembling hundreds of strikers at Walsenburg, in southwestern Colorado, for a drive today on the few miles operating in that district.

Make Survey of Marsh Region

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Dr. C. O. R. Loughborough, State Board of Health official, returned today with Dr. T. D. Griffiths of the United States Bureau of Health and other officials organized a survey of the marsh regions of Wilmington and Southport with a view to mosquito control.

Dr. Loughborough reported he formally upon his survey to Gov. McLean.

STAGE SET FOR GRID CONTESTS ON SATURDAY

Atlanta, Ga., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Football's long beard saying "this no game is ever in the bag" having been borne out more conclusively in Dixie during the past three weeks than ever before proved an incentive today to a number of teams as they brushed off their offense for highly touted opponents tomorrow.

Coach Bernie Bierman topped off a strenuous week of tackling and signal practice at Tulane with a light workout running plays in preparation for Georgia. This game will pit the conference's two high scorers, Banker of the Greens, and McCrary of the Athenians, at each other.

Mississippi A. & M. entrained for Tuscaloosa in the best physical condition of the season and with the expressed determination of beating Alabama.

Georgia Tech is en route to South Bend, Ind., to play Notre Dame, the Tornado squad having left Atlanta last night.

Florida touched off its running attack yesterday and worked lightly today for Mercer.

Virginia Military Institute rested its hopes on Barnes' versatile halfback as its squad visited Davidson. Coach Josh Cody, believing that the rudimentary work has been sufficiently drilled put his Tigers through a series of deceptive plays for Wofford.

North Carolina practiced its short passing attack and drilled its second against possible maneuvers by McDowell, flashy North Carolina State halfback.

PLAY-BY-PLAY REPORT STATE-CAROLINA GAME

Through special arrangement with the Associated Press we will furnish play-by-play report on the University of North Carolina and State College football game tomorrow afternoon. The game will begin at 2:30 o'clock.

championship, when they heard she was entered—Mlle. Simone Thion de la Chaume.

Alexa was good enough to account for Glenna and Mlle. Thion, but the matches took a lot out of her and then she ran into the best burst of golf of the week, produced by Mrs. Miriam Burns Horn, the ultimate winner, who out in 33 against a men's par of 37, and thereafter could not be collared.

A particularly bright memory of the little Alexa ranged back to 1920 when I saw her win her last national title at Mayfield, as I saw her win her first, at Belmont Spring, in 1916.

She was playing her traditional rival of that era, Mrs. Vanderbeck of Philadelphia, in the semi-final round, and Alexa, going at a beautiful clip, I never have seen equalled since by a woman all through one tournament, had her famous opponent 4 down though the seventh hole. The match scene in the bag, put at the eighth hole, Mrs. Vanderbeck sank a twenty-foot putt for a 2. And beginning with that hole she tused only 11 putts on the next nine greens.

It was the most devastating display of chipping and putting that ever came under my observation. And she won back hole after hole until, at the fifteenth, the match was square.

Now this is the sharpest gaff in sport—to see a big and apparently safe lead cut away, cut away by an opponent who has forgot how to miss a chip or a putt. Yet Alexa, her small face set like a cameo, stood the gaff as few competitive athletes could.

As Mrs. Vanderbeck took hole after hole with something like magic, Alexa banked her drives farther and farther ahead of her, and smashed her irons to the green, and fought on and on, in par, waiting for the break—if it would ever come.

The sixteenth at Mayfield at that time was a three-shooter for women, and a tough one. Mrs. Vanderbeck, probably feeling at last the grim pressure of Alexa's increasing power, hit a bit harder than she could and sliced to the rough while Alexa put her back into a drive that sailed forty yards ahead, down the fairway. Mrs. Vanderbeck tried a spoon from the rough, with fair results, but still was in the long grass and failed to reach the green with her bird. She was on in 4, 25 feet from the pin. Alexa, playing par shots, was on in 3, and 20 feet from the hole. I had not seen Mrs. Vanderbeck miss a putt in so long that I had become hypnotized and was certain she couldn't miss one. I remember whispering to Bob Harlow that she would hole this one, also. "If she does," whispered Harlow, "it's in the books that Alexa will sink hers, too!"

Now this is the plain truth, and you may call it a coincidence or what you please. Mrs. Vanderbeck did sink her putt, of 25 feet, and Alexa did sink her, of 20 feet, for a win, and ended that match on the next green.

ON THE GRID

Wake Forest, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Confident and showing a determined air to win the Deacons' work-out for the Duke game here tomorrow.

James was at varsity quarterback with Kuykendall alternating. Cox, Connelly, Stallings and Hackney vied for the other backfield positions. Lennon and W. Weir were on the flanks, in place of Burroughs and Smith. There was little indication that Capt. Monk Ober would be able to start the game against the Blue Devils.

Officials erected temporary stands to care for an additional thousand fans, bringing the total number of seats to 7,000.

Duke University, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The greater part of the Duke student body is expected to follow the team to Wake Forest tomorrow, student leaders said today.

Coach Dehart was not ready to announce his official starting lineup but observers surmised that Henry Kistler would definitely start on end in place of Dick Warren.

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The eve of the annual battle of the state's two top supported higher educational institutions on the gridiron, Carolina and State College, set for Riddick field here tomorrow at 2:30 p. m., today found officials and coaches of Raleigh and Chapel Hill ready for action.

Prepared to accommodate 18,000 persons, State College moguls said that all but 500 reserved seat tickets had been sold with indications that these would be taken before tonight. Interest in the game was manifested in all parts of the state. The Associated Press will have a private wire for a play-by-play account of the classic. Station WPTF will broadcast the action also, radio managers said.

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—With Runnaker running at halfback in Crum's position, formerly held by Outen who was out with a broken leg bone, the Wolfpack today endeavored to smooth out its weak spots in a light and final workout for the Carolina battle tomorrow.

Coach T-bell indicated no other change would be made in his lineup, which called for McDowell at the other halfback, Adams at quarterback and Warren, fullback.

Chapel Hill, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The Tar Heels, after two days of workouts which kept them on the field until dusk today ran signals in the final practice before leaving for Raleigh early tomorrow to battle State.

The varsity lineup, with P. Jackson alternating in Ward's halfback position, was Whisnant, Young and Ferrell in the backfield; Sapp and Presson, ends; Morehead and Fincomb, tackles; Farris and Donahue, guards; Schwartz, center.

Two Teams Are Eliminated From High Champ Race

Raleigh, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Elimination of Mt. Olive by Dunn and Fremont by Goldsboro, today left 42 teams in the annual State High School football championship series. Other teams were scheduled for play today, and still others tomorrow.

Dunn presented one of the most powerful backfields seen in the East in several years, scoring four touchdowns for a 25-0 victory over Mt. Olive. Goldsboro piled up an even more impressive score against Fremont for a 3-7 win.

Sanford, runners-up in the title race in 1925 and winners of the coveted cup last season, is again bidding for the title, having won five pre-series games in as many starts without being scored on.

Market Report Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON
New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—The cotton market was lower today under continued liquidation, which appears to be combined with southern and local selling influenced by relatively easy cables from Liverpool. Reports of weakness in the stock market. Buying on talk of possible unfavorable weather developments over Sunday. Was supplied on moderate rallies, and the mid-afternoon market was about 48 to 53 points net lower.
Futures closed weak, 68 to 72 points lower. Spot cotton quiet, middling 20.50.

GRAIN
Chicago, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Wheat advanced lower in price today during the early dealings, whereas corn advanced. Selling ascribed to the northwest, together with weakness at Liverpool, had a bearish effect on wheat, but corn was strengthened by prospective unsettled weather. Opening unchanged to 3-8 off wheat held near initial figures. Corn started at 1-4 decline to 1-8 advance and later scored several gains. Oats were firmer. Provisions likewise slanted upward.

STOCK MARKET
New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Selling pressure, which had been intermittent in the stock market since the long decline last week was checked, was resumed in a more extensive manner today. Encouraged by success in creating an air of nervousness in speculative circles by their ability to pound down important stocks, bears foraged around and managed to uncover other spots where effective support also was lacking.

With a good deal of gloomy gossip regarding the status of current and prospective earnings, and sharp depreciation in September operating income of important railroad systems, bullish operators found it difficult to hold a following even when they had managed to start prices moved upward at the outset. Early advances of 1 to 3 points included in large part by the big reduction in brokers' loans were transformed into losses of as much, or more, when the selling wave swept.

Confidence in the soundness of fundamental conditions was reflected in the heavy accumulation of particular stocks, which ordinarily move widely, but reports to realize in some issues at the higher prices disclosed a rather thin market.

The closing was weak. Total sales approximated 2,000,000 shares.

GREYHOUND RACETRACK TRAVELS LIKE CIRCUS
Washington, England.—(AP)—Enthusiastic as this country became over greyhound racing that a "circus" track has been constructed here which is to be taken from city to city and town to town, like a circus, in three big motor trailers. One of the persons financially interested in the venture is Miss Cynthia Coroneo, who is not yet four years old, and is therefore probably the youngest devotee of the sport in the world.

Another Roof to Fix
Plymouth, Rhode Island.—(AP)—Engineer Stanley Baldwin shares with President Coolidge the difficulty of keeping a safe roof over his head. Like the White House in Washington, Mr. Baldwin's official residence at Chequers has developed roof trouble. Many of the beams have rotted, and it is necessary to abandon the structure temporarily that steel beams to replace the insecure oak rafters.

Local Store Lowers
The Price of Food
As a fitting commemoration of the 68th anniversary of their founding, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company is holding a nation-wide celebration. The company was founded in the year 1859 and has had a most remarkable growth in its 68 years of business life. Establishments identical to Greenville's own A&P store are scattered country-wide in thousands of communities in 32 States. Every store of this great chain is joining in the celebration of the founding of the business. According to the usual custom, the public has been asked to participate in the event and will, no doubt, do so in a way that affords many benefits. This participation is made possible by an expression of appreciation for the public's patrons and is typified by drastic reductions in retail food prices during the period of the anniversary celebration. The idea is singularly unique, in that the company is noted for its unusual low price policy as a standard business code, and now, in view of the 68th birthday event, prices assume even a lower level than the customary popular custom. Many will recall that shortly after the war, when the nation was accustomed to big prices for almost every table necessity, The Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Company were first to sponsor a movement for lowering bread prices. This event sounded the signal for a movement fostered to bring food prices back to their pre-war level. Again, when coffee prices were soaring and the Brazilian market offered an opportunity for the A&P to give their customers the benefit of lower retail prices, immediate steps were taken to bring the cost of coffee to the consuming public down to a lower price level. The company's activities have been marked with many such drives against the high cost of living, and this aggressive attitude has played a large part in winning a word that A&P stores enjoy today.

FORMER GREEK DICTATOR

Artistic effects never before possible at so little cost! —with KLEARFLAX linen rugs and carpets

"It is not what you spend, but what you choose that makes your home artistic," say successful decorators. For instance, you can now have the most artistic floor effects without extravagant cost with wide-loom, seamless rugs and carpets woven of pure linen—Klearflax! Because Klearflax is pure linen, it takes color beautifully and can be obtained in a wide range of pleasing solid shades, interesting picwick color mixtures and heathers; attractive small all-overs and stripes; smart bordered effects, among which will be found a floor-covering which will harmonize perfectly with any interior. One of the most interesting things about Klearflax is its rough new-linen texture which blends perfectly with the choice of modern home decoration for a rough finish in hangings, upholstery and all interior textiles. Klearflax like all linen when new, is rough to the finger tips but is not rough to the feet and due to its cleanliness and many beautiful, soft, pastel colorings, is a great favorite for bedrooms. Note these very moderate prices. Remember Klearflax rugs and carpets are pure linen and are an investment in the appearance of your home for years to come. About Town

Miss Bertha Lee Ferguson, director of the home demonstration department of Pitt County, is highly elated over the capture of so many first and second prizes by products sent from this county to the Tarboro Fair.

But this was not the only honor. Club girls also won recognition for their services in home demonstration work.

"Good results are being obtained from the organization of these clubs," Miss Ferguson said a few days ago. "We are making an effort to increase the scope of our activities, and hope by next summer to have the county more completely organized than it has ever been before."

Pitt County takes high rank in home demonstration work, and Miss Ferguson and her corps of assistants are to be congratulated on the fine showing they are making, an observer told the writer of this column today.

Maynard Fletcher, of Washington, president of Inter-City Rotary Clubs of this district, was in the city today making arrangements for the inter-city meeting to be held at the East Carolina Teachers College in this city November 2nd.

"We are more than optimistic for the success of these sessions and believe attendance will be as good if not better than anything in recent years."

Mr. Fletcher, who is a Methodist minister at Washington, is probably one of the best known Rotarians in this part of the State. He has had occasion to speak before a number of clubs and has been instrumental in creating more than general interest in inter-city conferences.

June Rose, superintendent of city schools, has an inexhaustible supply of jokes at his command.

Yesterday he pulled one on the Reflector.

He said a man lost a valuable dog and inserted an advertisement in the columns of this paper, offering $1,000 reward for the animal's return.

Late that afternoon somebody appeared at the Reflector office and asked why the paper was not out.

A grimy-faced devil, grinned and answered that the force was out looking for the dog.

It is up to you, dear reader, to infer the rest.

We've got one June, but haven't the heart to tell it just at this time. It will appear in another installment.

"The market page is a splendid feature of the Daily Reflector," remarked a member of the local cotton market this morning.

"Not many towns the size of Greenville have complete reports such as carried by the Reflector every afternoon."

"I was down in another part of the State a day or so ago and heard one of your readers remarking about what the market page meant to him. Every business man appreciates this service, because he is able to shut down at night and keep in touch with various stock activities without referring to any out-of-town publication."

Members of the high school Athletic Association believe Greenville will come out victorious in the elimination football contest in Scotland Neck this afternoon.

"Should Greenville win," they said, "we shall then have one more chance to appear in the championship race. But if we lose, then we are out of the race."

Other towns feel the same way.

about these high school championship series, which occur annually and are fraught with interest until the last game has been played.

Greenville has an exceptionally fine organization this year and Coach Porter said before leaving for Scotland Neck that he hoped the boys would have an opportunity of showing other towns of eastern North Carolina exactly what they have in the way of gridiron strategy.

"We lost out last year in the early stages of the series. But it's a hard job that has no turning, and something like we ought to be somewhere near the turning point."

REQUIRE SAFE DRIVING

The common mistake made by most people in dealing with automobile accidents at railroad grade crossings, is that they consider the crossing instead of the driver.

A railroad crossing is a danger only when and to the extent that it is made so by careless driving. The automobile is what we must think about, not the crossing. We must change practices instead of grades. Ninety per cent of all auto accidents occur on the highways. Not over 10 per cent occur at grade crossings.

Grade changes will not prevent accidents at intersections and elsewhere on the highways, but improved or safe practices in driving will prevent them everywhere.

Grade changes would heavily burden the taxpayers and tie up a large amount of money for unproductive purposes, while yet leaving 90 per cent of the hazard of automobile accidents uncared for.

Let us require safe driving, which costs nothing, yet will remove the hazard not only at grade crossings but on the highways also.

Begin Hearing Of Mills Case In Civil Court

Following completion of the Porter-Peck case, the civil term of Pitt county superior court yesterday began work on the case of Aaron Mill against George Hardee, involving suit for approximately $1,200 which the plaintiff claims the defendant owes him as his part of a farm crop raised in 1922.

The case has been a matter of controversy for sometime, and will hardly be completed until late this afternoon owing to the great mass of evidence offered on both sides.

Negro High School Makes Good Record

The city school for negro high school pupils made an excellent showing in the Statewide test and measurement test.

This school selected among the few non-standard took the test with standard schools. The total medians were ninety-five for this school as against 77.68 for negro schools of the State and 98 for whites.

PLAN TO COMPLETE ROUNDUP OF MOONSHINERS

Spartanburg, S. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Some 25 federal and State officers early today left here for Union in an effort to complete the roundup of alleged liquor law violators started a week ago. Up 10:41 o'clock this morning two negroes, Vernon and Fletcher Smith, had been arrested and brought here for hearings before the United States Commissioner.

Last Saturday 55 men were arrested in Union County on liquor law charges and brought here for hearing. There was a total of 77 warrants issued and it is understood here that today's activity was with a view of serving the remaining 22.

WOMAN EDITOR TRIUMPHS OVER MEN IN CONTEST

MISS ADDIE E. TOWNE

Franklin, N. H. (AP)—Miss Addie E. Towne triumphed over 38 men editors in the weekly newspaper contest at the Newspaper Institute held at the University of New Hampshire.

Miss Towne was the only woman editor to enter her newspaper, the Journal-Transcript of Franklin.

Professor Bristor Adams of Cornell University, acting as judge, awarded first prize to the Journal-Transcript for the excellence of its local news, its handling and flavor.

Miss Towne's father, Judge Omar A. Towne, won more than local note as founder and editor of the Transcript, which he later combined with the Merrimack Journal.

Bite yourself an Alphabet

Pretzeleers bite their own degrees

You don't have to go to college to get a degree. Just pretzel. You can get an A. B. in three bites—two for the A, one for the B. A Ph. D. requires several more bites and one more pretzel. Like this:

People who spend four years crunching on Greek verbs can get more crunch out of pretzels because they're crunchier. They're crisp as a college yell and brittle as good intentions to study hard.... And pretzel graduates are always worth their salt because pretzels are so nice and salty.

Pretzeleers always eat O-So-Guds when drinking ginger ale. Pretzels reach soup or salad or dessert to taste better... Eat them before going to bed or give them to the youngsters in between meals.

Pretzels are always as full—if you know what that means. You will, if you insist on O-So-Gud Pretzels made by the Uneeda Bakers... Oh yes! They're easy to digest, too.

O-SO-GUD PRETZELS

Elite right and you can spell anything with the big O-So-Guds. They're full of twists, turns and bites.

Friday and Saturday

It is our good fortune to have Mrs. Grimm in our store during this period, and we hope that as many of our customers as possible will take advantage of this opportunity of getting expert advice on proper figure control.

Not only can Mrs. Grimm tell you what type of garment is best suited to your figure but with our complete stock of Formfit creations at her command she will be able to fit the proper garment to you.

The management invites every woman to visit our corset department during this demonstration, as we feel that this is an exceptional opportunity to get real information on modern corsetry.

An interesting assortment of Formfit Girdlers, Brassieres, Sylphettes and Girdles will be on display.

Soft Top Girdlers are becoming more and more popular and for those who prefer this style we offer a selection of lace, rayon and jersey tops combined with a variety of brocades and fancy patterned fabrics.

Many women require a girdle to bring out their greatest charm, and whether this is accomplished best by a hook and eye, strap front, or snap in style, a satisfactory selection is sure to result from the many Formfit Girdles on display in our Corset Department.

DEPENDABLE MERCHANDISE

Says Temperance Society Has Not Part in Church

New York, Oct. 28.—(AP)—A nation-wide survey by the National Episcopal Church Temperance Society in which 1,032 Episcopal clergymen approved modification of the Volstead act was regarded today by Orville E. Poland, counselor to the Anti-Saloon League, as the work of an organization holding only "a parasitic connection" with the Episcopal Church, and whose secretary apparently was in the pay of the wet cause.

"If the Church Temperance Society which has published a statement purporting to show that American clergymen are two to one against prohibition, had any official connection with the Episcopal Church I should refuse to comment upon their statement," Poland said. "Bishop Manning some time since made it certain that the so-called Church Temperance Society is no real part of the church but has only a parasitic connection with it."

Two Men Robbed At Asheville

Asheville, N. C., Oct. 28.—(AP)—George Williamson and John Walker, who said they were United States Treasury employes from Washington, were robbed of $2,000 in Liberty Bonds and $185 in cash about 11:50 o'clock last night by two men they had given a lift in their automobile on a highway near here, they told officials here. They said they were traveling through Western North Carolina on vacation leave.

Walker and Williamson were flagged about a mile and half from Black Mountain by two men who waved a white handkerchief and asked them for a ride to Asheville. The four rode in silence until they were about ten miles from Asheville. Then one of the men asked that the automobile be stopped for a minute. As the car came to a stop Williamson and Walker felt guns thrust against their bodies, they said.

"Now get out," one of the robbers ordered. While he covered the two with a gun, the other rifled the tourists' pockets.

"Now beat it," the robbers told them, according to the account of the holdup, as the two men sped off in the car leaving Williamson and Walker standing in the middle of the road.

The Washington men were en route to Knoxville, they said, to visit Williamson's home; Walker was formerly from Raleigh. Both are about 20.

Woman Slayer To Be Given Hearing In Police Court

Charlotte, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Miss Katherine Robinson, 18 year old Catawba girl, who early yesterday shot and fatally wounded her brother, Conley E. Robinson, young attorney, will be given a hearing in city police court next week. It was announced today.

Meanwhile Miss Robinson, free under $1,000 bond, is in a hospital suffering from the effects of a battle with her brother that preceded the wounding.

Robinson was buried in Elmwood cemetery here this morning after a funeral at the Pritchard Memorial Baptist church.

Miss Robinson shot her brother as the two struggled for possession of a pistol in the home of the attorney here. Robinson, according to the story told the police, came home late Wednesday night and began beating his wife with a hand mirror. The sister, just out of a hospital from an operation, interfered.

During the struggle a pistol under Mrs. Robinson's pillow was exposed and the brother and sister both made an effort to get it. The girl got the gun and the attorney drew a knife and threatened her. She fired one shot into the wall to frighten him and he grappled with her in an effort to get the gun. A second shot struck him in the groin.

Miss Robinson is held on a charge of manslaughter.

announcing Thomas A. Edison's latest achievement

"Close-up" music with a new dimension the astounding EDISONIC

Hear the New Edisonic

You will call its stereoscopic tones "astounding", "superb". You will marvel at the "close-up" illusion—at the way the quality of each orchestral instrument seems to come right up to you in clear relief... at the full mellowness of the bass notes and the sparkling purity of the treble. But... the Edisonic can never be adequately described... nor can pictures do justice to the chaste, decorative beauty of the Edisonic cabinets. Let us play the Edisonic for you. Then imagine it in your own home... flooding it with beauty... giving you, at any time, just the music you like without even the annoyance of changing a needle!

1 Ordinary Phonograph Music Here is a visualization of music as played by an ordinary phonograph. It is far away... formless... a mere outline of this sound, unshaded and incomplete.

On the 50th Anniversary of Thomas A. Edison's invention of the Phonograph, comes this announcement of his latest contribution to music... the Edisonic...

Now, a golden year in the life of Thomas A. Edison and the history of music... Now, the Edisonic... still another milestone in a great career... Now, music of a revolutionary quality... of an inspiring resonance, a beauty, an all-pervading illusion of startling nearness, which ordinary phonographs have never achieved before... Now, Mr. Edison has bestowed upon music a new dimension. Edisonic music comes to you with flowing, surging, leaping contours. It is music with volume... "close-up" music... music which surrounds you like sunlight. It is music with perspective... It is "stereoscopic" music, as far surpassing the music of the ordinary phonograph as a beautiful picture, viewed through stereoscopic lenses, surpasses the flat monotony of a lithographed postcard. It is Edisonic music, Mr. Edison's latest gift to you.

As if to signalize the Golden Anniversary of his invention of the phonograph, Mr. Edison has sent the new Edisonic from his laboratories a finished, a perfect thing. Musicians, critics, and all who have heard it, acclaim it as a marked advance in the history of music.

2 Edisonic Close-up Music Here is a visualization of the same music as Re-Created by the new Edisonic. The music, like this picture, is close up, is complete. There is full detail... form to every sound. There is depth, perspective, beauty... the living artist seems present in the room.

The Schubert Edisonic, designed for the home or apartment of moderate size, is handsomely finished in two-tone English Brown Mahogany. The price is notably low—$135.

SCHOOL NEWS

The pupils of the civics class in the Greenville high school have just finished a contest for the designing of an ideal home, and a design for a lawn and garden layout. Some of the plans submitted showed much care and a degree of originality that might not have been suspected. The first prize in the home design contest was won by Elizabeth Overton, with second prizes going to May Hearn, Alice Menefee and Antoinette Jones. Honors in the complete layout contest went to Alice Menefee, with Pauline York and Mary Whitehurst gaining second places.

This afternoon the football teams from the city seventh grades and the freshman class will class at the fair grounds for the second time this season. The previous set-to was won by the high school cubs after a long and scoreless first half. The seventh graders promise an improved and heavier lineup, and an exciting contest is anticipated. The game is called at 4 p. m.

Tardiness statistics in the high school for the month of September will prove interesting to figure-hounds and human beings who like to get there on time. They seem to show that, contrary to the usual belief, one may count more surely on having a member of the fair sex keep her date on time than on being met promptly by a mere man. The seniors, boys and girls together, win the booby prize for the lowest percentage of "on-timeness," and the sophomores carry off the palm, closely pressed by the first year class. The difference in their percentages was only six-hundredths of one per cent.

The greatest difference between the sexes of one class comes out among the seniors, whose girls rank at the top of the school and whose boys bring up a poor last. Either schooling helps the girls more—or perhaps they are the ones who do not need it.

RICKARD TO STAGE FEATHERWEIGHT BOU

Los Angeles, Oct. 28.—(AP)—Eddie Long, manager of Bud Taylor, Terry Harris, and Pantano, tonight announced today that an offer received from Tex Rickard, New York promoter, of $20,000 for a featherweight champion match in the eastern city December 5 between Taylor and Tony Canzoneri, would be accepted.

LIBRARY NEWS

Let the Library serve Pitt County. Library hours 2 to 9 p. m. From July 1, 1927, to October 25, 1927, we have enrolled 133 new readers for the library and of this number there are 39 out of town readers. This is a good showing for our county readers and the following places are represented outside the R. F. list of this city: Ayden 5; Winterville 4; Grimesland 4; Pactiville 2; Chocod 2; Bethel 1; and the R. F. D. of Greenville 20. Stokes has 3 readers, but not any enrolled since July 1. All others listed above have been since July 1st. During the next three months we should like to see our county readers bring the total list to three times that of the past three months.

There is a marked increase in the use of standard literature which is for the most part caused by the high school reading lists being made up of the standard classics. Oliver Twist by Dickens, David Copperfield by Dickens, and House of Seven Gables by Hawthorne are the most popular in this class of literature; while in non-fiction Lamartine, Junk and Jade by Morrill; Daughter of the Samurai by Sugimoto; both of the International Mind Alcove have been the most popular for over a year; in biography Americanization of Edward Bok has taken a very popular place lately. The story of Philosophy by Durant, and Napoleon by Judwig, neither in the library but loaned by the State libraries. Early Autumn by Bronfield, God and the Groceryman by Wright, Lights Up by Richmond, Andy Brandt's Ark by Brewster seem to be the most popular in fiction.

We are ordering a new list of books this week which we hope to have ready for the shelves by Good Book Week, November 13-19. Since Good Book Week comes so late in November it ought to be the opportune time for making lists for Christmas so your librarian will have lists ready to recommend and the Ellington Book Store has agreed to take care of any orders our reader may want to give. Be ready to do your book shopping November 13-19.

In sending out the programs for the State Library Association at Charlotte November 2-3 Miss Nellie M. Rowe, president, inclosed a very attractive and striking bulletin which emphasized by the cotton plant, bale of cotton, and the cotton mill in pictures. N. C.'s rank as fifth in industry while in a somewhat crowded corner one library building tells the story of the bank 47 in libraries. Miss Rowe appeals to every librarian and every library trustee to join the association and attend the meetings. She says that by a united effort the State may be put where she belongs in cultural things as well as in industrial affairs. While the finances of our library committee would not permit of the librarian's attendance at the Charlotte meeting she sent an exhibit to represent the library which together with the association fee sent will be a trust, show that the library is trying to meet the requests sent out to librarians of the State.

The September issue of the North Carolina Bulletin in giving the statistics for the year 1926-1927 groups three groups, each determined by amount of circulation. Greenville comes in Group 2, which group had a year's circulation each of between 20,000 and 50,000. In discussing this group the bulletin states that Greenville spent 54 cents per capita and lent its 2,770 books more than ten times each. The 54 cents shows a shortage of 46 cents below the standard of the American Library Association which is $1.00 per capita. Weidon is the only tax supported library in the State that comes to the standard with $1.07 spent per capita.

Two Plane Pilots Face Court Martial

San Antonio, Tex., Oct. 28.—(AP)—Aerial maneuvers resulting in realistic interpretation of war time dog fighting, in which two cadet aviators escaped death by using parachutes when their planes collided at 2,500 feet, today found the pilots facing an army investigation and possible court martial.

The pilots, J. D. Cleveland, of Cleveland Ohio, and E. A. "Narburn" of Upper Lake, Calif., had little to say of their adventure pending their appearance before Kelly Field authorities today on charges of violation of orders prescribing formations for student fliers.

There were orders to practice a three-ship pursuit plane formation over Kelly Field yesterday. After taking up formation with the third plane, Major James E. Chaney, commandant, said the cadets started unauthorized tactics.

Soon after they began maneuvering for positions in their duel the wings of the planes locked. The machines whirled but remained locked until within 500 feet of the ground. The pilots made perfect parachute jumps and landed uninjured a short distance from the wreckage. The ships were smashed to such an extent that salvage of even the engine was doubtful, officers said.

Major Chaney declared "there was no excuse for the crash," and ordered an inquiry to decide on the advisability of placing the case before a court martial.

Yard, where employes get no more than they need to live. Thereupon Red Cross people said they would do as they chose, because President Coolidge is the head of the Red Cross.
They will learn from President Coolidge that he does not approve of such talk.

The fact that the President is head of the Red Cross is all the more reason for NOT allowing government employes to be "held up" or "shaken down" in the language of the day. Those that give to the Red Cross give because they want to. No high powered, high salaried collectors should be allowed to use the name of the President to force "donations" from underpaid government employes.

Admiral Phunkett should have his marines firmly and painlessly thrown the collecting gentlemen out.

It repeats itself sadly. Your eyes see a shipload of beautiful Greek myths and maidens sent to Italy to engage the attention of the demented Winnetou half man half bull. You shudder.
Last Tuesday, you might have seen a first class carriage on Europe's crack express car chugging at the station 11 miles north of London, called by evolutionists our distant cousins.

These poor creatures traveling as first class passengers from Africa, across the Mediterranean and on to Vienna, will be used by Dr. Voronoff to restore youth to aged gentlemen.

These higher "primates," chimps or gorillas, are not exactly Greek myths and maidens, but they deserve pity, sacrificed to keep worthless old men alive, and foolish.

Hear about the Zarachustra colony, visited by an unfortunate Massachusetts woman, Mrs. Lord, in search of "new ideas" and murdered in Nice.

A goat trail leads to the colony, on top of a high mountain near the Mediterranean. Two hours of climbing leads you to a community of sixty men, women and children, all sunning themselves on the mountain top, wearing no clothes. Dr. Goldberg, German, who has been in prison occasionally is head of the colony. For every man there are two women, no marriage, no money for the children, except "meat" and "daughter."

The unfortunate murdered woman fought the saw something new when she climbed that goat path. She did not.

Darwin saw just such colonies in Patagonia, but the ladies put on no clothing. And you might have seen these colonies anywhere on earth, except on the flat-tops of Asia that you have been here five hundred thousand years ago.

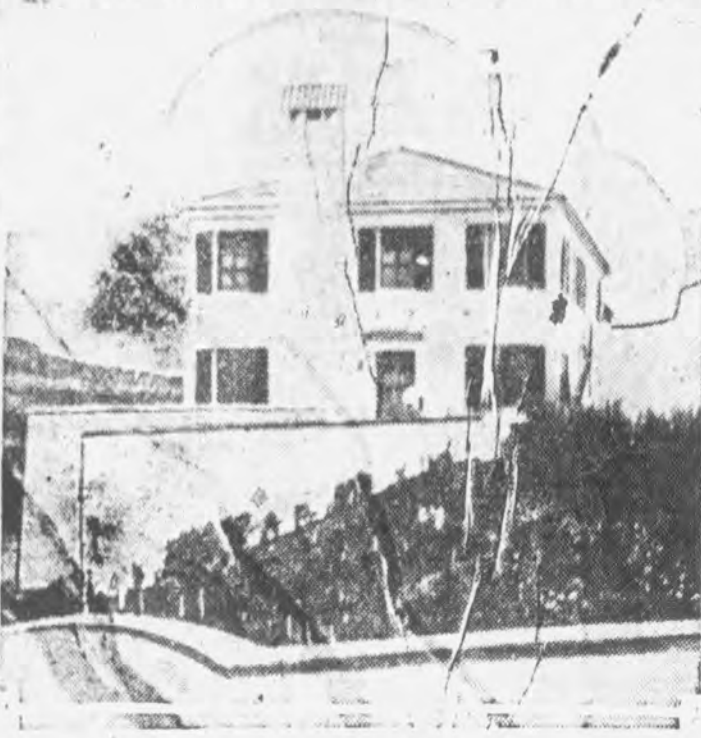

As for Zarachustra, great man and great thinker, he wouldn't thank you for giving his name to the nude colony.

New Job for Women
Charlham, England — Liners of the future will be "manned" and captained by women, avers Captain Thomas Drake, who piloted a 35-foot schooner from the United States to Plymouth. "The modern ship is so wonderfully equipped with every device of science that it can be navigated by women. Being captain of a liner isn't a man's job any more."

Rain Brings Mail
Richmond, Va. — (AP) — An inland farm labor barometer is boasted by Henry G. Shirley, state highway commissioner. Wet weather or anything else that causes cessation of farm work is reflected in the volume of the commission's mail. The first thing a farmer does when not busy, he says, is to sit down and write about the roads.

Doubly Dangerous
Guntersville, Ala. — A foot long rattlesnake caught here has two heads. Each is well formed and the snake strikes and eats with either.

WHERE RUTH ELDER STAYED

Ruth Elder spent her time at the home of Mr. and Mrs. George Mackey, Horta, Azores, while resting from her dangerous attempted flight to Paris.

Movie Star Ill
Beverly Hills, Cal., Oct. 27.—(AP)—Bebe Daniels was confined to her bed today suffering from what her physician said was an attack of influenza. Her physician said her condition was not serious.
