GOV. SMITH IS AGAIN SCORED BY ROOSEVELT

Colonel Charges N. Y. Governor With Being Bell Weather of Tammany Flock.

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Describing Gov. Smith as the "bell weather of the Tammany flock", and asserting "there is no such thing as a new Tammany", Col. Theodore Roosevelt has amplified the wholesale charges he made against New York Democracy before the Republican State convention at Rochester a month ago.

Colonel Roosevelt, speaking last night in an upper west side public school, carried the fight to the Governor and demanded that he "answer or stand convicted". Gov. Smith when apprised of the new attack, announced that he would defend his administration in an address at Tammany Hall Thursday night, adding, "I believe it will be convincing."

After addressing the absent Governor with the remark, "you are an aspirant for the nomination for president on the Democratic ticket" Col. Roosevelt said:

"Tammany, that great, corrupt political machine holds the metropolis in its grasp. From Tweed to Olvany the dynasty of bosses stretches in an unbroken line."

Col. Roosevelt summarized his charges against the Governor as follows:

"For eleven years he represented Charles F. Murphy (late Tammany chief) in the assembly and sponsored Tammany legislation.

"As a reward he was made sheriff of New York county in 1918.

"He supported Mayor Hylan for seven years.

"For many years he was party to a delay in putting voting machines in New York City.

"He refused to push a proper non-partisan inquiry into the milk scandal.

"He pretends to believe in a non-partisan judiciary, but refuses to interfere in behalf of upright republican municipal court judges, endorsed by the bar association who are running this year in New York City.

"He has investigated every suspicious improper action on the part of the republicans, but he has not investigated either the counties or the great city or Albany, which all know were subject to investigation."

In another address before a negro gathering in a Harlem church, Col. Roosevelt declared the democratic party kept the negroes of the south from voting and called on his audience to ask Gov. Smith to make public demand rectification of the condition. He added that if Gov. Smith as a candidate for the presidential nomination, did not do this the negroes of Harlem should be "off" the Governor and the democratic party forever.

Agree To Stop All Picketing In Coal Strike

Denver, Colo., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Leaders of the Industrial Workers of the World who called the state-wide coal strike have agreed to stop picketing today—if they can control the strikers—but will continue to "prosecute the workers cause."

Informed by adjutant general Paul Newton, that Governor Adams remained firm in his demand that picketing stop at 6 A. M. today, Roger Franczone, head of the I. W. W. in the United States said he would attempt to conform.

The test of Franczone's power over his followers was expected today in the Walsenburg area, in southern Colorado, where the I. W. W. made their headquarters and where the strike has tied up virtually all mines.

Following the conference at I. W. W. headquarters last night, the adjutant general with officers of the Colorado national guard, retired to their offices there to await developments. Although Governor Adams still declined to mention the national guard in his negotiations with the I. W. W. the troops are known to be ready for immediate mobilization.

SPINSTER TEACHERS HASTEN TO ALTAR

Oldham, Eng., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Ten bridegrooms, rushed breathlessly to the altar by teacher brides who wanted to get under the wire before the education committee passed a regulation against married teachers are now wondering what it was all about.

The education committee framed a regulation to prevent teachers from marrying and expected it to be passed by the borough council.

But after the spinster teachers had summoned their tances and married them in great haste, the council refused to pass the rule. It provided that any unmarried teacher should be dropped from the lists if she took a husband.

Gossips are Criminals. A School of Solid Glass. Very Cheap Wings. Marco Polo in Dollars.

(By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co

News more important than bootleg crime or oil reserve stealing is this: Held up by a frame of steel and concrete, the school walls will be of thick plate glass, admitting sunlight everywhere.

Later may come schools of the new quartz glass that admits health giving actinic rays.

The ages of stone, bronze and iron may be followed by the age of glass, which will mark man's final exit from the dump, dark cave to all day sunlight. Houses of glass that stones will not break, and highways of glass, one above the other, in great cities, will be interesting steps in man's progress.

Berlin's public school of plate glass, to make the day beautiful for teachers and children, will be set in a beautiful park, under the fashion of California, where the most beautiful buildings are great public schools, each in its park grounds.

Our richest city, by the way, allows children to study in dark, old school buildings, some of them fire traps. It is not that New York City could not afford public schools finer than those of California, or Berlin. The people of New York entrust their public schools to those that apparently do consider our school system either not important or not desirable.

Germany's new penal code, as important as the Berlin public school of plate glass, plans to protect society from criminals, instead of merely punishing crime, in a hard and fast way, as though for revenge.

And most gratifying gossips will be included among the criminal classes. Gossip in the world's long history has done more real harm than murder. Gossip breaks hearts

Hall Wants to Quit

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Commissioner Hall of the Interstate Commerce Commission has advised President Coolidge that he wishes to retire.

BEGIN ACTION ON PROPOSED TAX REVISION

House Ways and Means Committee Turns to Commerce and Industry For Solution.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Having before it the recommendations of Secretary Mellon placing approximately $225,000,000 as the maximum available for a new tax reduction bill, the House ways and means committee today turned to Representatives of commerce and industry for their views regarding prospective revision of the revenue laws.

Under a prearranged program, the day was set aside for a discussion of the general subject of tax reduction with a group of representatives of national business associations and Chambers of Commerce included in the witness list. For several weeks a number of the organizations on the program have advocated various revisions of the rate structure and one, the United States Chamber of Commerce, sometime ago publicly declared for a tax cut of $400,000,000.

Aside from the meeting today, several members of the committee took occasion to discuss in some detail the recommendations submitted yesterday by Mr. Mellon, Representative Garner of Texas, ranking Democrat on the committee, daily predicted that despite the limiting Treasury figure the new tax reduction measure would call for a cut of $325,000,000 by the time it completed its congressional legislative journey.

Chairman Green of the committee, also said that reiteration by the Treasury of its recommendations for repeal of the estate or inheritance tax had not altered his previously announced opposition to such action, while a number of other committee members held the view that a reduction higher than that suggested by the Treasury should be effected.

A wide difference of views existed over Mr. Mellon's proposal to reduce the corporation tax from 13 1/2 to 12 per cent. Democratic members generally taking the position that a larger cut should be made in this levy.

Considerable comment also was forthcoming on the Treasury proposal to retain the excise taxes, particularly that on automobile sales, while the suggestion for a downward revision of surtaxes rates on incomes between $15,000 and $50,000 evoked much discussion in which party lines crept to the surface.

But little, however, was heard regarding the other two Treasury recommendations; one proposing that corporations with incomes less than $25,000 and with one or more than 10 directors, permitted to file returns as partnerships or corporations at their option; and that income derived from American Bankers' acceptances held by foreign

URGES BIGGER CUT IN TAXES

Senator Simmons Declares Reduction Proposed by Treasury Not Great Enough.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Secretary Mellon's estimates of the Treasury surplus was declared to be too low by Senator Simmons, North Carolina ranking Democrat on the Senate finance committee, today after a call on President Coolidge. The Senator said he felt that total tax reduction could reach $400,000,000 instead of the $225,000,000 recommended by the Treasury.

While he did not differ with Secretary Mellon as to the exact means of reducing the taxes, Senator Simmons was of the opinion that the extent of reduction in the various classes to be affected should be greater than that proposed by the Treasury. He recommended abolition of all the so-called nuisance taxes, a reduction of the automobile tax and greater reduction of the corporation tax than suggested by Mr. Mellon. He also said that the tobacco growers were entitled to some reduction of the tax imposed upon their products.

Like Secretary Mellon, the Senator favors a repeal of the inheritance tax and he concurred in the Treasury secretary's view regarding a reduction of personal income taxes in the intermediary brackets.

FARM RELIEF MEETING AT SAINT LOUIS

St. Louis, Nov. 1.—(AP)—An impromptu farm relief meeting of formidable proportions sprang up here today as representatives of agriculture and business from nearly a score of states arrived.

Virtually unheralded by announcements, and called almost secretly by former Governor George W. Donaghey of Arkansas, an avowed cotton representative, the corn kings, the wheat barons and others of the agricultural clan in the south, west and north were here to add their weight to the movement for farm relief.

Reluctant to discuss the particular measures to be advocated, the former Governor said:

"We are here for two days to discuss agricultural relief and give impetus to legislation necessary to carry it into effect.

"But it is our purpose," he said pointedly, "to be non-political in every act that we take."

It was pointed out, however, that the leaders of the meeting who were on today's program had provisions of the McNary-Haugen bill and it is expected the meeting will swing into harmony with them.

"As a southern man," Donaghey continued, "I would like to see the south, north, and west get together on interests common to each section, we are not advocating the voting of anyone's ticket but we are advocating the proper representation of those sections in the Congress of the United States. I am primarily interested in cotton but what we shall do will be for the benefit of every farmer."

COURT TAKES RECESS TODAY IN OIL CASE

Government Presents "Matter of Grave Concern" to Judge Behind Closed Doors

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case was adjourned until tomorrow without Justice Sissons announcing what action he would take on the charges of jury irregularities made by government counsel.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Charges that one juror talked indiscreetly about the case and that a detective agency had been keeping jurors under close observation were contained in the affidavits filed by the government counsel today in the Fall-Sinclair oil conspiracy case.

Washington, Nov. 1.—(AP)—A move involving the possibility of a mistrial in the Fall-Sinclair Teapot Dome conspiracy trial was made by government counsel as soon as court convened today. Former Senator Pomeroy of special oil counsel told the court that the government had a matter to present which gave the government counsel "the very gravest concern." Replying to a question from Justice Sissons, he said:

"My thought is that it should not be presented in the presence of the jury."

It was agreed that the court take a recess, and permit counsel to present the matter in chambers.

The jury filed out to its anteroom in charge of deputy marshals and counsel followed the Justice to his chambers.

The nature of the information to be laid before the Justice was not disclosed by the government attorneys, but there was every indication about the court room that affidavits which involved at least one of the jurors.

A mistrial, which would be the natural sequence of such affidavits would mean that all that has been done to build up the case against former secretary Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair would have to be done all over again before a new jury.

The stroke came just as the government was drawing toward a conclusion the evidence on which it hoped to prove that certain bonds passed from the Sinclair interests to Fall soon after the Interior Secretary signed a lease turning over to a Sinclair company.

The presentation by government attorneys today was said to have considered of at least two affidavits, gathered after a day and night investigation carried on by agents of the district attorney's office since last Friday.

In the short discussion which took place in open court in the presence of the jury and a room full of breathless spectators, Justice Sissons said he was adverse to considering matters in secret but he consented to do so after having been advised that the matter was one that gave government counsel the "gravest concern."

"A trial is always public," he said. But after a moment's thought he consented and invited counsel behind the doors of his private office.

The contents of the affidavits and the juror or jurors involved were held a secret for the time being at least.

Sinclair was summoned to Justice Sissons chambers after government counsel had presented the affidavits. He was accompanied by his personal lawyer, George Stanford.

The oil operator was found outside the court room where he had retired for a smoke. The jury, meanwhile, had retired to an anteroom under supervision of a deputy marshal. Fall, who has been in bad health since before the start of the trial, retired also to an anteroom.

After Sinclair went into the room, several of the assistant district attorneys who investigated the case, were summoned. These included Neil Burkenshaw, who had direct charge of the inquiry since its inception.

Meantime several deputy marshals reinforced the one who usually was in charge of the jury while court is in session.

Shades on long windows and adjoining corridors were drawn so that passers-by could not have a glimpse of those who now hold the spotlight in the trial.

One curious passer-by turned back an edge of one shade to get a look into the jury room and two deputy marshals immediately warned him in tones at once loud and stern:

"Do not do that," they warned.

SAYS BRITISH LION CHANGED INTO OCTOPUS

Mayor Thompson, of Chicago Tells of Campaign Against British Literature.

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mayor Thompson's arch foe, the British lion, has begun to assume the proportions of an octopus. What was a "playful lion cub in the Chicago schools grew into a raging king of beasts on the shelves of the Chicago public library, then suddenly under the magic wand of fast-moving events, was metamorphosed into a sea creature, its tentacles reaching out toward Americans, young and old.

Such was the picture the Mayor painted in an address in Toledo last night. His supporters at home added other strokes to the canvas until a comprehensive picture of British propaganda has been printed.

Addressing the Greater Toledo Club, Mayor Thompson said he planned to make a nationwide crusade of his fight against British propaganda.

"We are going to strengthen out the affairs of the schools in Chicago and we are going to make our campaign nation-wide," he asserted.

Urging the election of "America First" delegates to the national convention of both parties, Mayor Thompson said: "I already see the hand of Wall Street and the international bankers in the handling of the lineup for both big party conventions."

And while the Mayor was campaigning for "America First" in Ohio, his platform was applauded at a meeting of the American Association for the Recognition of the Irish Republic.

A resolution passed by acclamation at the meeting said:

"Whereas, the ruling class of England, having failed upon two occasions to subjugate the American people by force of arms, tried to destroy this republic by throwing all its weight and influence against the American Union in rebellion of 1861-1865, and

"Whereas, the ruling class of England's campaign of insidious cunning and costly propaganda to subvert the American government and people to the official will of England has resulted in completely saturating our schools, colleges, and in many instances our pulpits with denationalizing British poison to the detriment and danger of American achievement, and

"Whereas, there has arisen one American official of the first class who is brave enough, loyal enough and patriotic enough to challenge the right of the ruling class of England to prostitute our schools, colleges, and churches into agencies for the exaltation of the British empire and for the destruction of American ideals, traditions and loyalty to American institutions; therefore, be it

Resolved, that we herewith unreservedly commend the action of the Honorable William Hall Thompson of Chicago, in trying to purge our school text books of the pro-British propaganda poison with which they are bound."

MISS ROBINSON IS ACQUITTED

Charlotte, N. C., Nov. 1.—(AP)—Miss Katherine Robinson, 18, of Catawba, charged with manslaughter in connection with the fatal wounding of her brother, Conley E. Robinson, Charlotte attorney, in a scuffle at his home at midnight, Wednesday, was freed at her preliminary hearing in city police court here today. She was charged with manslaughter.

Miss Robinson shot her brother when the latter attempted to gain possession of a pistol, Miss Robinson and her sister-in-law, wife of the dead man, said that Robinson came home late Wednesday night in an intoxicated condition and began beating Mrs. Robinson. The girl, just recovering from an appendicitis operation, interfered and in the scuffle both she and her brother made a grab for a pistol under Mrs. Robinson's pillow. The girl said she got the pistol to prevent her brother obtaining it fearing he would kill both herself and his wife.

She fired one shot into the wall to scare him but he advanced with a knife in his hand and seized the gun. In the ensuing scuffle he was shot in the groin.

He died in a hospital some hours later.

KINSTON HIGHS TO PLAY HERE ON TOMORROW

Greenville high school will play Kinston high at the fair ground here tomorrow afternoon at 3:45 o'clock, according to announcement made this morning by C. W. Porter, athletic director of city schools.

This will be the second game of the season between the two clubs the first contest resulting in a scoreless tie.

The game is not a part of the state championship elimination contest, but is played merely to settle gridiron supremacy between the two schools.

Mr. Porter said the local lads were in excellent condition for the contest following the winning of the first game of the championship series from Scotland Neck last Friday.

Members of the athletic committee stated they hoped local people would turn out in large numbers to the game tomorrow, and inspire the boys in their effort to put out the best grid team in years.

"We are not going to drill the boys hard," coach Younger said. "They are tired, have had a hard struggle and the worst is yet to come."

Duke University, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Duke Blue Devils will be in their prime for the battle with State's Wolfpack next week, coach Dehart indicated today in announcing a stiff schedule for the idle players who have no contest booked for this week.

Chapel Hill, Nov. 1.—(AP)—The Tar Heel casualty list numbered four regulars today as coach Collins set about to get his charges in shape for the game with V. M. I.

OUT OF KEELER'S GOLF BAG!

Man Who Came Back.

(By O. B. Keeler)

Take the Smith brothers, for example—not the bewiskered ones named Trade and Mark, but the veteran golfing professionals named Alex and Macdonald Smith.

We will reserve the order of seniority and regard the younger Macdonald Smith, first. Mac Smith is likely to be a considerable figure in the Professional Golfers' Association championship at Dallas.

Mac Smith as gentle a soul as may be found in golf today—sometimes I fancy he is a bit too gentle for his own good in this dour old game—is the unwitting subject of great controversy among the critics of the sport.

"The usual observation is that Mac is a survival and true exemplar of the old and orthodox swinging golfer, as contrasted with the more modern operator who hits the ball with a distinct spunk. A few casual objectors, of whom I am one, do not see it this way; we maintain hardy and hard-headed that in order to protect a golf ball any material distance, such as a first-rank player like Mac Smith obtains, the ball must be spanked, or hit no matter how free and smooth and easy the swing appears; this, of course, resulting from the analytic rather than the synthetic mode of reasoning.

However, Mac Smith has more distinctly a free, swinging stroke than any other first-rank golfer I know, and his style is so beautifully sound and mechanical that as Bobby Jones remarked not long ago it is difficult to see how he ever manages to use more than 72 strokes in any one round.

He produced, so far as my observation extends, at the extremely difficult Lido course in 1925, qualifying for the United States open championship, the most symmetrical brace of rounds on record. Lido, I repeat, is a most demanding golf course, with trouble and grief and salt water in every direction slightly removed from the proper one. But Mac Smith in two rounds scored as follows: 35-35-70, and 35-35-70.

I suppose Mac Smith also has touched off more consecutive rounds of informal play of 70 or better than any other golfer.

But Mac Smith is a good deal more than a great golfer with a distinctive method. He is a grand example of a man who came back. There was a period in Mac Smith's career when, without ever stepping aside from the path of gentility and honor, he became utterly, and it seemed hopelessly, unfitted for further serious golf competition; when his best friends regretfully counted him out. He seemed a victim of the same falling which so invariably picks a shining mark such as Jack London and Edgar Allen Poe and Lord Byron.

Mac Smith had flashed to the front in the national open championship of 1910, tying for first place with his older brother Alex and J. J. McDermott. Then came a period of a full decade in which he appeared in only three open championships and showed creditably in only one, finishing in a tie for fourth place at Brookline in 1913, the year of Francis Ouimet's greatest triumph.

Next year he withdrew after the second round, and in 1915 he was far down, in a tie for 37th place. He did not compete again until 1921, when he startled the world, and some of his firmest friends by playing at Columbia and finishing with a score of 299, well ahead of Chick Evans and Bobby Jones.

Mac Smith had come back. And there is no doubt that Mac Smith is back to stay. Since 1921 he has been a formidable figure in the big tournaments, until this year a severe illness kept him out of most of the fixtures up to the P. G. A. In 1925 he almost won the British open championship, a swarming and overly-enthusiastic gallery at Prestwick knocked him out of what seemed a certain victory.

Mac Smith stands today a wholly admirable and exemplary figure in the world of sport, a man of the highest character and determination, and—as suggested—a golfing preceptor with so sound and smooth and seemingly so obvious a style that the critics cannot manage to agree on it except that it is one of the very best styles.

Say Rickard Will Stage Next Title Fight

New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Although Jack Dempsey has denied signing a contract with Tex Rickard for another fight with Gene Tunney early next summer, reports continue here today that Rickard had endeavored to get the former champion's agreement for such a contest, chiefly to prevent attempts at staging a heavyweight championship by other promoters.

Rickard said he had Tunney stung to an agreement for his exclusive services up until October 10, 1928, and added that the champion would not fight anyone else.

"The only stipulation in my contract with Tunney," Rickard declared, "is that the fight be held during the summer season. This agreement contains a financial arrangement similar to that signed by Tunney for me last January in St. Louis.

"Dempsey I know will be ready for me when I want him. It may be that he will engage in one fight indoors. I can offer him $150,000 for one indoor bout."

Dempsey indicated that any fighting he may do would be under Rickard's direction although he said he had not decided whether he would re-enter the ring. His plans depend somewhat on his suit with Jack Kraus opening November 15 at Trenton, N. J.

MERRY RACE FOR HONORS ON GRIDIRON

Atlanta, Ga. Nov. 1.—(AP)—Herdis McCrary, University of Georgia fullback, and Billy Banker, Tulane half back, continue to set the pace in the Southern Conference for scoring honors with thirty points—five touchdowns each—but a merry chase is being waged to overtake them in several quarters.

Dodson, of Tennessee, is at their heels with 25 points while Armistead, of Vanderbilt, is only a point further back.

Witt, of Tennessee, has scored eight goals after touchdown, to lead the conference in that department of play.

The first 16 scorers of the conference, on the basis of games played within th ranks shows many changes from a week ago.

Cake failure may be due to a number of causes. Even in using a reliable recipe which others have found satisfactory, the materials some persons use may not be up to par. The method of mixing may have been varied, or the oven may have been too hot or not hot enough.

McTigue And Walker to Meet Chicago Tonight

Chicago, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Only an Irish referee is needed to make an all-celtic affair of the ten round battle tonight between Mike McTeague and Micky Walker, each with a manager tracing his ancestry back to the Emerald Isle, too.

Walker the present wearer of the middleweight crown, will come in at about 167 pounds to 174 for McTigue, who used to be the champion of the light heavyweights.

Both have their eyes on the 175 pound title, and for Walker it would mean a new record in American boxing history, for he has already held two world titles.

Of course, we're happy. Just open a tidy red tin of P. A. and you'll begin to understand what makes us that way. What a fragrance! And that's only a starter. Tuck a load into the bowl of your old jimmy-pipe and connect with a match. Oh, Man—that taste!

Cool as reveille on a frosty morning. Sweet as a three-day leave. Mild as a brand-new rookie—mild and mellow, yet with that full, rich tobacco-body that puts the joy-o'-living into every single puff. You know what I mean, and I mean Prince Albert's got it! Try P. A.

The first puff will tell you why P. A. is known as the National Joy Smoke. It will tell you why this one brand is the world's largest seller. And every other puff is just as good. Get started, Man!

Good Scholastic Showing Made By Greenville Highs

From a report emanating from the office of the Superintendent of Public Instruction at Raleigh we take the following figures.

In 1925-26 the total enrollment of the Greenville High School was 373; the number graduating was 51; the number of graduates going to college in the Fall of 1926 was 37; upon 25 of this number is based the report that these 25 college freshmen entering from Greenville High School passed 388 semester hours of college work; five of these failed 21 semester hours work or 5.1 per cent.

Of course, these figures mean nothing, like all figures, unless they are compared with other similar figures. We will therefore, compare these figures with those for 79 other high schools of this state.

The figures that is most interesting to us is the per cent of failure. Canton, Marshall and Scotland Neck students in the freshmen year at various colleges failed no work. Consequently, their percentage is zero and they head the list; their rank is second place. The school ranking next lower than these schools just mentioned (there are none higher) is Salem Academy whose students in their first year at college failed 2.4 per cent of their work; their rank is fourth place from the top. The school ranking fifth from the top is Southern Pines with a percentage of 4.8. Greenville ranks sixth with a percentage of 5.1. The remaining 74 schools included in the list all rank below Greenville and the others mentioned here.

Our children are very much interested in our Orphans' Box. Every extra penny and nickel we have put in the box for the orphans at Middlesex. Last year we sent them nearly two dollars and each child wrote a letter to the orphans. This year we hope to have five dollars by Thanksgiving and we are looking forward to the nice letters that we know we will receive from them.

We are at work now on our moving picture show. A health picture entitled, "The Way to Health and Happiness"; a bird and animal picture, a flower show and a funny picture. It will not cost anything for you to come and visit us and see these pictures. We hope to have them ready by Friday afternoon.

Friday afternoon at three o'clock we want all the patrons and friends of Frog Level school to visit the school. We are going to have a heart program and there are other matters that we want to discuss. We not only invite all the patrons of the school to come, but also every one who lives in the community. If you are deeply interested in your children and your community you will be on hand and give encouragement by your presence. Friday afternoon, November 6, at three o'clock.

Mrs. B. L. Tyson, Teacher.

It is worthy of note in passing that Greenville sends a comparatively large number of her graduates to colleges. 37 of the 51 graduating in 1926 going to college that Fall. At the same time, Canton sent only 12 of its 31 graduates to college; Marshall sent only 2 of its 16 seniors to college and Scotland Neck sent 8 of its 13 seniors to higher institutions of learning and these the report from this latter school is based upon only five.

The report for Greenville, as you will see, is based upon a larger per cent of graduates, as well as upon a larger per cent of students attending college. In other words, Greenville is as good, at least, as the best in the state in this respect.

FROG LEVEL SCHOOL NOTES

One of the school children, Johnnie Ellis, miraculously escaped death one day last week when he was run over by an automobile while returning home from school. Not thinking and not noticing, as children will sometimes do, he stepped on the pavement in front of a car and the next thing he knew he was in a ditch and the car on top of him.

I am mentioning this fact so that mothers and fathers of school children will impress upon their children the danger that is before them when they are walking to and from school.

Children should walk on the left hand side of the road going to school, and on the right hand side going away from school. This gives them a better chance of not being run over. Mothers and fathers, urge your children not to walk on the pavement at all unless it is a bad weather and then be very careful about the cars.

Our children are very much interested in our Orphans' Box. Every extra penny and nickel we have put in the box for the orphans at Middlesex. Last year we sent them nearly two dollars and each child wrote a letter to the orphans. This year we hope to have five dollars by Thanksgiving and we are looking forward to the nice letters that we know we will receive from them.

Second Showing of Battery Minstrels Well Received Here

Before a somewhat scattered audience the second showing of the E. Storey's Battery 'E' minstrels was a huge success. The slack crowd was due to some misunderstanding among E. O. T. C. students and high school students, but those present were highly pleased with the offering. The minstrels are supposed to make a tour of surrounding towns with a success that is expected to surprise future audiences at the real humor and training.

Among the acts presented for the minstrelsy were Ed Hearne in a comedy impersonation of the "Town Flapper." This received an encore applause from the audience. Misses Virginia King and Rose Hadley pleased all with "Singing Greenville on the Map." Miss King and Cleo Summerell gave their "Spanish Dance" with much favorable and appreciative comment. As a bit of originality, Harry G. Johnson, a former Greenville boy, presented violin solos featuring and introducing "The Isle of Dreams" a composition by himself, which was greatly enjoyed, and marveled that the writer came from Greenville. Little Miss Ruth Luper entertained in her own style the dances for which she is becoming well noted as a promising dancer.

You are sure of their return.

BE SURE ABOUT YOUR CHILD

The tubercular clinic to be conducted in this county next week is a matter in which every parent in this city and county should be interested.

Reports from various sections of the state show that an astounding number of children have tuberculosis, but the sad part of it is that their parents, heretofore did not know it and as a result many of the cases have reached the crucial stage.

We reiterate that parents should take advantage of this opportunity to learn the truth about their children. If the child is affected by tuberculosis the sooner the parents find it out the better and if the child is not so affected the parents should be glad to have an expert's assurance of it.

No words can tell the depths, No son the picture sing, No brush portray the scene Of gorgeous Autumn days.

"Armistice Day Celebration to be held in the city will be a big affair if present plans of the Pitt county Post of the American Legion work out," stated J. B. Kittrell, commander today.

"As November 11th comes on Friday, members of the local Post have expressed hope the tobacco market would close and join in the celebration. There has been some discussion of this point for sometime.

"Judge Lyon certainly hit the nail on the head when he told the grand jury that the unlighted vehicle is one of the greatest menaces of the present day," Solicitor D. M. Clark said this morning.

"The law should be enforced wherever a violation of this kind is found. But the trouble is, very few of the violators are ever arrested and brought into court. Not that our officers are any more negligent than those in other communities. The legislation is new and it always

ACHED ALL OVER

Was Suffering Dreadfully, Just "Wasting Away." Took Cardui, and Says It Helped Her.

Arlington, Texas.—A resident of this town for many years, Mrs. J. H. Jackson, says:

"I had suffered dreadfully with an aching all over my body. At times my head would give me so much trouble I could hardly stand it. I had been in bed for weeks and it looked like I was just wasting away."

"I took 9 bottles of Cardui and my strength began to slowly return."

"Since that time I have used this medicine a good many times and it has always helped me."

"At one time I took Cardui for several months regularly. I would be afflicted with sudden spells of dizziness when I could not stand on my feet. Everything would turn black before my eyes and I would feel as if I were going to faint. At times I would be quite nauseated. I turned at once to Cardui and took it till I was safely through."

Cardui is a mild, medicinal tonic, made from purely vegetable ingredients. It has been in use for over 50 years, and in that time thousands of women have written that Cardui helped them back to good health. Sold by all druggists. NC-182 takes considerable time to impress the officials with the necessity of enforcement.

"It looks like a mighty small thing for a cart or wagon to move along our public highways without carrying any lights. But when we begin to consider how dangerous they are to the public, the situation takes on an entirely different aspect."

"It is to be hoped our city and county officers will give the matter the consideration of which it is so deserving."

Dr. W. T. Burrus, of High Point, president of the North Carolina Medical society will be the principal speaker at the regular monthly meeting of the Pitt county Medical society, November 10th.

"The coming of this well known member of the profession is looked forward to with much interest, and Pitt county society has decided to hold its session in the court house in order to give the public an opportunity of hearing the address."

"This is probably the first time in its history that a public session of the organization has been held. It is hoped the public will take advantage of the opportunity of hearing Dr. Burrus."

"Greenville people, and especially sport lovers, will rejoice with members of the Greenville high school football team in their victory over Scotland Neck, in the first game of the State championship elimination contest, last Friday."

"It was the first championship game the club has ever won. It entitles them to participate in the game two weeks hence for supremacy of this group. If the boys win then they will play the winner of some other group."

"Considerable interest is always attached to these games. Some towns become so enthused they run special trains to see their favorite clubs perform. Greenville should show a little more enthusiasm—a little more appreciation—of what the boys are doing and in this way inspire them to carry on until they reach the finals at Chapel Hill. Ruth Elder Sees Sights of Paris

Paris, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Ruth Elder and George Haldeman, her co-pilot today had a chance to rest and to witness one of France's most time-honored customs, the observance of All Saints Day, during which Frenchmen by the hundreds flock to the cemeteries to place flowers on the graves of their families and friends.

The fliers have already seen a good many of the sights of Paris, including the artists' haunts in Mont Martre and the second hand bookstalls along the quays of the Seine.

Under the guidance of Senator Lazare Weiler, who furnished the first money to bring the Wright brothers to France twenty years ago, the fliers intend to visit Versailles and the outlying districts.

Tonight Maurice Bckowski, Minister of Commerce, will give them a private dinner.

Major General Erwin Wynans is now commandant of West Point, succeeding General Stewart, who was recently relieved of the command.

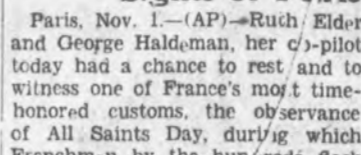

team is a good one and ought to be able to capture some real honors."

"Well, I see where the House ways and means committee has been called back to Washington to draft a new revenue bill, looking to a reduction of the nation's tax burden," remarked one of our readers today.

"This is the fourth time this committee has met to complete the drafting of the measure. The public is watching its efforts with interest. People generally believe taxes should be reduced but they are helpless in the face of the opposition of that faction who can see no reason for it."

"Public sentiment positively demands that some action be taken to relieve the public burden, and if the committee doesn't do something this time, they might as well quit."

STOCK MARKET
New York, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Constructive forces were again at work in today's stock market which forestalled upward under the leadership of high priced industrials. Soft spots cropped out here and there but they were disregarded. Lowering of the call money rate from 4 to 3 1/2 per cent stimulated the recovery, which was featured by active short covering operations in a number of recently weak specialties.

Temporary weakness of the rubber shares was due to the lowering of certain tire prices by one of the leading manufacturers. Special strength of marine preferred was associated with reports that the company would be liquidated as a result of the adverse court decision on the proposed recapitalization plan. Directors of the Brown Shoe Company raised the annual dividends from $2 to $2.50.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 1,800,000 shares.

SPOOKS TAKE GREENVILLE

Hallowe'en Quietly, But Completely Celebrated Here Last Night.

Hallowe'en passed off rather quietly in Greenville last night, although there were many spook-like figures prowling around in the shadows of the business and residential districts.

Small groups of guests, led by the hostess, paraded up and down the streets, and many a superstitious person went shivering to bed at the mere mention of the supernatural.

Small groups of the city's people became rather boisterous in their celebrations, and starting a household with unexpected occurrences of their white-robed guests.

There were the usual observations of such places, and many a lack of letters were thrown into the shadows and the memory of the ghostly.

Probably one of the most interesting observations of the day was the reaction, and many a person who had been affected by the usual observations of such places, and many a lack of letters were thrown into the shadows and the memory of the ghostly.

BROTHERS MADE DESERT BLOOM NOW FACE TRIAL

W. W. Wattersson (above) and Mark Q. Wattersson

Los Angeles —(AP)—Embezzlement of a total of $1,300,000 is charged against two brothers, Mark Q. and W. W. Wattersson, Owens Valley bankers.

The two defendants came to California 20 years ago from the Isle of Man. Practically penniless, they picked the semi-arid Owens Valley as the country in which they would cast their lot.

A score of years later they operated and owned most of the stock of five banks, held large areas of land which under irrigation from mountain streams produced lavishly, and had heavy interests in tungsten and chemical mines and mineral springs.

Recently they closed their bank, blaming their financial reverses on the long water war between the valley residents and the City of Los Angeles. State banking officials, however, alleged misuse of funds and obtained their indictment on forty-three counts of embezzlement and forgery.

Mike Plonk Dead
Gastonia, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Mike Plonk, 71, one of King's Mountain's pioneer business men, died suddenly at his home there last night. He had just returned from a business trip to Shelby. He was actively identified with civic affairs for years. Funeral services have not been arranged pending word from a daughter in Florida.

Planes Search For Fishermen Lost in Storm

London, Nov. 1.—(AP)—Airplanes were engaged today in the sorrowful task of searching along the west coast of Ireland for the bodies of fishermen who fell victim to the sea.

Along the coast of Galway and Mayo wrecks of the storm, which claimed from six to seventy lives were told.

One night last week, one of the rafts said, a phantom ship followed a fishing boat, the wreath vessel refused to answer any hail but remained by the seaman throughout the night. This the crew interpreted as a warning of an impending disaster and declined to set forth again. Other similar stories were current among the superstitious folk.

Virtually every breadwinner in Laskan was drowned within a few hundred yards of his home, when the fishing fleet was dashed to pieces on the rocks.

About 45 of these ill-fated fishermen were overtaken by the sudden gale and dashed to death in sight of their homes as their wailing wives and children watched helplessly from the shore. There separate fleets of boats were thus overwhelmed.

In London 110 days have passed no fewer than 17 ships as casualties.

BARBER SELLS WIFE BUT PAYMENTS LAG

Sciota, S. D. —(AP)—Stefano Sobala, barber, sold his wife for $2000 on the installment plan, but the purchaser didn't keep up his payments. Stefano denounced him to the police for alienation of his wife's affections and now the sold-away spouse has denounced Stefano for his "business" deal.

To add to his ignominy, Stefano, thinking he could make the third party, Giuseppe Russo, come across quicker with the promised sum, is alleged to have started a systematic persecution of his bartered better half, trusting to Russo's chivalry to pay up promptly and thus to assure her freedom from molestation. Both the cavaliers are now locked up.

SAVINGS BANK BOOKS IS TRAVELER'S HOBBY

Duluth, Minn. —(AP)—Other travelers may collect antiques and what not, but Paul Morneau's hobby is gathering bank books.

Four years ago when he was 20, he left his home in Duluth to visit every state in the union and to collect 1,000 bank books each from a different city.

As he traveled he worked, and deposited $1 in each bank to gain his book. Today, he has 700 books of 700 different banks scattered from Maine to California and the credit side of each shows $1.

He expects to get the other 300 within a year or so.

and condemns them to endless suffering that is worse than killing.

The city of Syracuse spends on motoring seventeen cents out of every dollar of income — and old fashioned finance, wagging its head says "extravagance." Buying new automobiles takes ten cents and a quarter. Gasoline three and a half cents, accessories three cents, and that the best investment of seventeen cents on the dollar that Syracuse could make.

If a hooted could buy wings for 17 cents on his dollar, and fly, instead of painfully hopping in the dust, he'd be a fool not to spend the 17 cents. Automobiles is flying. Get a car if you have not got one, or a better car if you can afford it.

The New York Times dwells on the financial achievements of A. P. Giannini, head of the Bank of Italy and allied corporations, with five hundred millions in capital, and shares with a market value exceeding a billion dollars.

Mr. Giannini, says the Times, earned his prestige in California in the San Francisco fire. While the fire was burning, he hauled the cash from the vaults of his burning bank, down the peninsula, where he buried it in his garden. Then he returned to San Francisco, with the fire still smouldering, bringing his cash back with him, put out a Bank of Italy sign, on his brother's house and began lending money to clients apparently ruined by the fire. He knew that a mere fire cannot destroy the responsibility of a real man.

The Times, comparing Giannini in finance with the great Venetian Marco Polo, in exploration, says eastern financiers returning from California tell with amazement of Giannini's achievements, his purchases of more than 160 banks in California, of other banks in New York City, and of gigantic investments, totaling hundreds of millions in Standard Oil, National City Bank, New York Central, Penna. Railroad, and especially United States government bonds.

The Times seems surprised that all this should be done by "the son of an Italian immigrant, born in California's Santa Clara valley." The Times might remember that our first immigrant, Columbus, also Italian, and it might help to fight the foolish immigration law that now keeps out such men as Giannini's father.

Two million more good Italian workers in California and two other millions in Florida, would add billions to the wealth of those States.

The Vancouver Sun tells you that the one hundred ships are chartered to carry 20,000 bushels of Canadian wheat from Vancouver to Britain and the continent in the next three months. All these ships make many cruises necessary for Britain. We, too, should build fast cruisers, for we may some day wake up, and have a commercial navy.

Meanwhile, our Panama Canal, through which all the 100 ships of grain will pass, is offered to our Canadian and British brothers with no extra charge for the fact that our money built it. They pay just what our own few ships pay. Not every nation would do that.

We like to Serve you.

Rugs of pure linen!

So effective yet so inexpensive

Colors of bright or soft beauty; remarkable wearing quality—yet costing so little! This is Klearflax—the only wide-loom, seamless floor-covering woven entirely of linen.

Linen, you know, takes and holds color beautifully. That is why you find in Klearflax rare color beauty—rich, solid tones in all the popular shades; handsome Picwick color mixtures and heathers; stripes, small all-overs and handsome bordered effects.

The Klearflax texture blends perfectly with the choice of modern home decorations for a rough, homespun finish in hangings, upholstery and all interior textiles.

Klearflax, like all linen when new, is rough to the finger tips but is not rough to the feet and due to its cleanliness and many beautiful, soft, pastel colorings particularly lovely in bedrooms, is a great favorite for rooms of this kind. Of the large number of Klearflax linen rugs and carpets in use today by far the larger part of them are being used in bedrooms. Dirt cannot become imbedded in the thick, heavy, compact weave of Klearflax linen rugs and carpets but stays on the surface where it can be easily brushed away either with a power-driven brush, suction sweeper or just a broom. Klearflax that is clean on the surface, is clean all through and a new standard of cleanliness for your floor coverings is possible with Klearflax.

Notice these Klearflax prices! In what other floor covering can you get such beauty and wear at these prices? Seamless rugs:
