SALVAGE EXPERT TESTIFIES BEFORE NAVAL BOARD ABOUT SINKING OF SUBMARINE S-4

Lt. Commander Edward Ellsberg Gives Graphic Description Of Attempt Made to Save Ill-fated Members of Crew.

Boston, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Lieutenant Commander Edward Ellsberg, salvage expert, who returned to active duty with the Navy after retirement in order to assist in salvaging the sunken submarine S-4, appeared as a witness today before the naval court of inquiry investigating the Provincetown submarine disaster.

Commander Leslie E. Bratton, judge advocate, explained to the court that he had planned to present the story of the disaster in sequence, taking up next the facts of the collision, but that Commander Ellsberg desired to be heard at this time because of pressure of personal business.

Commander Ellsberg gave his occupation as chief engineer of the Tidewater Oil Company, New York. He said that since December 18 he had been lieutenant commander for deck duty in the volunteer naval reserve. He had previously been in the naval service 12 1-2 years after graduation from the naval academy in 1914, but had resigned. He said he had had considerable experience with submarines and as salvage officer in the raising of the S-51 off Block Island in 1926.

In reply to questions the witness said he had received the distinguished service medal for the S-51 salvage work on recommendation of his superior officers.

Commander Ellsberg said salvage and rescue operations in connection with submarines were peculiar to the Navy. No commercial salvage company in the world was acquainted with the problem of raising submarines sunk at sea or had equipment adapted to the salvaging of submarines outside of harbor waters. There was no reason why they should have, he said, because the sinking of submarines was so rare that it would not pay the companies to maintain the necessary equipment.

Navy divers, Commander Ellsberg said, were better fitted than civilian divers for submarine salvage work because of their knowledge of the vessels. The witness said that diving was almost entirely a naval development, and that navy divers ordinarily had more intelligence and initiative than others.

The witness said he had learned to dive during the S-51 salvage work.

Ellsberg said that before undertaking the S-51 salvage, he made a careful study of the records of every submarine sinking in every navy of the world.

He said that no safety appliances could be attached to a submarine which would do the crew much good unless they were assisted by surface vessels. Such appliances could only be used with great risk to the submarine crew. Favorable diving weather was almost essential to successful salvage.

The witness said that after reading in the newspaper Sunday, Dec. 18, of the S-4 disaster, he offered his services to the navy and was ordered to Provincetown. He reached the mine sweeper Falcon, base of the salvage operations, just as Commander Michaels was being treated for "bends" after being trapped for more than three hours on the deck of the S-4.

It appeared to me that the conditions under which the divers had gone down on the S-4 were not conditions under which diving should have been attempted," Ellsberg said.

The witness said that Monday morning the weather forbade diving work. It was decided that it would be better for the Falcon to attempt something for Michaels who was in danger of pneumonia than to be in Provincetown, awaiting better weather. So Rear Admiral Frank H. Brumby, the senior officer, ordered the vessel to take the diver to Boston. The submarine S-8 was left to maintain communications with the S-4.

When the Falcon returned it remained at the scene of the wreck.

HAYES CASE STILL DRAWS CRITICISMS

Further Protest Confirmation of N. C. Judge In Preparation Today.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—David H. Blair, commissioner of the internal revenue, today told the senate judiciary sub-committee investigating the fitness of Johnson J. Hayes, to hold the judgeship of the middle district of North Carolina, that the young jurist was "eminently qualified in every way to sit as federal judge."

Horrible news from Bagdad reminds you that even war has improved. The sheik Feisal El Dowish raided another tribe, killed every male including children, carried off all property, leaving miserable women of the tribe to starvation.

Not so long since all war was more or less like that. Conquered cities were turned over to victorious armies for pillage and murder. Recent wars among so-called civilized races have not purposely killed children or non-combatants. Europe can rise from the latest war calamity because women are left to rebuild the nations.

The next war unfortunately may tell a story that would make sheik Dowish seem kind-hearted. War from the air with explosives and gases suffocating and destroying to do with the discharge as Lovelace had charged.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Further protests against confirmation by the senate of Johnson J. Hayes, as federal judge of the middle district of North Carolina were in preparation today for submission to the senate judiciary subcommittee considering the young jurist's case.

When the hearings closed yesterday, attorneys for the protesters announced that there probably would be twenty additional witnesses placed on the stand today whose testimony is expected to supplement their charges that Hayes, while solicitor of the seven-seventh judicial district and a practicing attorney was guilty of corruption and extortion, wrongful use of the powers of his office.

Hayes served as district solicitor from 1914 to 1926 and now is serving as federal judge under a recess appointment.

Witnesses have testified that, although conclusive evidence was presented against alleged violators of prohibition laws, Hayes, while solicitor, steadfastly refused to file indictments, and when true bills were returned either nolite proceed. It also was brought out that Hayes, while solicitor, was a personal friend of a man referred to again and again in testimony as the "most notorious bootlegger in North Carolina" and frequently visited the man in his home in Avery county.

High points in the testimony already introduced are that Hayes, while serving as solicitor, maintained a law partnership with John R. Jones and used his office wrongfully to obtain compromises of criminal cases through the firm, which it was alleged, was known in that section of the state as the "Hayes-Jones combine" and the assertion by one witness that he purchased whisky in the presence of Hayes.

Mrs. L. A. Hauser of North Wilkesboro, testified that she and her husband, now dead, were advised in 1921 by the firm of Hayes and Jones to settle a case of what she termed blackmail, for $1,000, when Hayes, as solicitor, should have prosecuted the case.

S. D. Nestor of Cranberry, declared that he purchased whisky in the presence of Hayes, that it was delivered to him while the then solicitor was sitting on the porch of the bootlegger's home.

Nestor said he did not consider himself a good citizen at the time he purchased the liquor, but now that he has reformed, he is appearing against the Hayes confirmation because, he feels, right should prevail and he should do something to aid in preservation of the law.

Aldermen Take Action To Prevent Turning In Of False Fire Alarms

Offering a reward of $25 for information leading to the arrest and conviction of persons connected with the turning in of false fire alarms in this city, members of the board of aldermen, in the first session of the new year last night, took preliminary steps to stamp out a practice that is proving costly to the city tax payers and at the same time jeopardizing the life of the citizenry.

Following presentation of the reward motion by Alderman T. T. Hollingsworth, Mayor Lanier impressed members of the Board with the necessity of dealing most severely with parties guilty of turning in false alarms.

"Each one of these alarms costs the taxpayers of Greenville at least fifty dollars through expenses incurred in reaching the scene of the supposed fire. Human life is also jeopardized in the rush and bustle always connected with response to a fire alarm, whether it be false or otherwise.

I shall make a point of dealing drastically with anyone convicted of this crime in my court. I do not mean that they will be released following imposition of a small fine. That would not be sufficient to end our trouble. I intend to deal out straight jail sentence with each conviction and the guilty party must suffer the consequences, regardless of race or class distinction.

Alderman Hollingsworth reviewed the three false alarms turned in from different parts of the city between last Sunday and Monday night. The firemen suffered severely from exposure to the freezing temperatures prevailing at that time, he declared. Their discomfort would not have been more pronounced had they been attending a real fire. He urged members of the Board to let the reward stand and that they urge the entire citizenship to assist them in compiling information as to anybody seen near fire boxes when an alarm is sounded.

Considering the fact that last night's session was the first of the year, the Board had only a mediocre number of issues to give consideration. As a result work was completed on schedule time and members were able to go home at a fairly early hour with a clean slate.

A franchise granted James Starkey for the operation of a pool room on Atlantic Avenue was revoked, revocation orders to become effective on the 15th of this month.

Contract for printing city ordinances was awarded to the Leaflet Printing Co., at $2.75 cents a page. There were two other bidders, but the successful bidder was considerably below prices quoted by the remainder.

J. H. Boyd, chairman of the street committee, presented a report providing for the opening of the west end of Pine street. The report was approved and accepted and the mayor was instructed to enter and condemn such property necessary to lay open Third street, or Pine street as shown on the map prepared sometime ago by the city engineer.

Matters of a minor nature, such as paying of bills and receiving monthly reports of the various departments of city government, occupied the remainder of the session.

DOCTOR HELD FOR KILLING

Los Angeles Medical Man Faces Trial For Murder of Mrs. Amelia Appleby.

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Dr. Charles M. McMillan, charged in a grand jury indictment with the murder of Mrs. Amelia Appleby, widow of a Chicago inventor, was ordered to appear today before Superior Judge Carlos Hardy for arraignment.

While the accused men was waiting to appear in court, deputy sheriffs continued their investigation of the case by opening three trunks belonging to Mrs. Appleby.

The county grand jury after hearing the evidence against Dr. McMillan yesterday, in spite of positive denials of guilt by the 37-year old physician, indicted him on a murder charge. Prosecuting officers then opened a safety vault rented by Mrs. Appleby. A few hundred dollars worth of gems and various documents which threw no light on the case were found. Another later development was the county chemist's report that the stains found on Dr. McMillan's grey suit were human blood. The physician has been quoted variously as declaring that the marks were from a nose-bleed and also from red paint.

S. S. Ham, Los Angeles criminal lawyer, said he has been retained to protect the interest of relatives of the late John Appleby, Mrs. Appleby's husband who died several years ago.

TO TEST LAWS ON INSANITY IN HICKMAN TRIAL

Officials Slightly Confused By Plea of 'Not Guilty By Reason of Insanity.'

Los Angeles, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A complete tryout of California's new laws governing insanity as a defense in criminal cases apparently will be involved in the trial of William Edward Hickman on two murder indictments which he faces here.

The 19-year old youth a few days ago pleaded "not guilty by reason of insanity" to charges of kidnapping and slaying little Marian Parker. Yesterday within a few hours of his indictment together with his 16-year old accomplice, Welby Hunt, for the murder of C. Ivy Thoms, in a drug store holdup, he entered the alternative plea of the new and little tested California law—"not guilty and not guilty by reason of insanity."

So little used has been the new law—Hickman's being the first case in Los Angeles county—that court attendants were confused by the new plea and it first was reported as the same as that entered to the Marian Parker murder charge. The confusion was increased by the fact that on his arraignment Hickman first started to state his plea. When the defendant himself became involved in the legal phraseology, his attorney stepped forward and asked the court to permit him to plead for his client.

The difficulty was straightened out when Richard Cantillon, Hickman's Los Angeles attorney, restated for newspapermen the plea entered.

In the Parker case Hickman legally admitted his guilt by the plea he made and his trial set for January 23, will be a sanity hearing only. On the Thoms murder indictment he first will be tried to determine his guilt and if found guilty will be given a sanity trial to determine punishment.

YOUTH MUST DIE IN CHAIR

Floyd Hewitt Must Expitate Murder of Mrs. Fred Brown and 5-year Old Son.

Columbus, Ohio, Jan. 6.—(AP)—With his last avenue of escape closed, Floyd Hewitt, 17, today calmly faced death in the electric chair at Ohio penitentiary for the slaying of Mrs. Fred Brown and her five-year old son at Coshocton, Ohio.

Hewitt will be the youngest murderer to be electrocuted in Ohio. In 1890, a Cleveland youth, one month younger than Hewitt, was hanged.

The youth's last chance for commutation of his sentence to life imprisonment was lost when Governor Donabey yesterday announced his intention to follow the recommendation of the state board of clemency. The board, following a hearing, found "no grounds for intervention." Hewitt's attorneys and relatives contended he was feeble minded.

Hewitt confessed to the slaying of Mrs. Brown and her son at the Brown home, where he was an occasional visitor. He clubbed Mrs. Brown to death because she refused his advances, he said, and then killed the boy in an attempt to conceal his crime.

Hewitt seemed unmoved when told of his fate. "I have nothing to say," was his only remark. He immediately became occupied with things in his cell.

His execution has been set for some time tonight. Mr. Brown, husband of the slain woman, has been denied his expressed wish to be a witness in the death chamber.

Funeral services will be held at St. Peter's Episcopal church Saturday morning.

N. Y. SENATOR PRAISES NAVY IN S-4 RESCUE

LaGuardia Gives Unadorned Account of Attempt To Save Ill-fated Submarine.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The unadorned account that representative LaGuardia of New York, has given congress of his 36 hours of investigation of the navy's rescue efforts at the scene of the S-4 disaster has prompted probably more comment at the capitol than any speech in the new congress.

In the house, where he spoke two days ago, the opinion of his colleagues can be summed up in the words of one member, "well, you've got to give him credit for what he did."

Every last session the veteran Theodore Burton of Ohio, held the undivided attention of the house for thirty minutes or more in an appeal for support of President Coolidge in international affairs. He threw into that plea the force of his quarter of a century in international relations and many members later admitted he had changed their votes. The speech just is talked about at the capitol.

Note since the day Burton was master of the floor had the house membership accorded similar attention until LaGuardia told them how members of the navy's personnel risked their lives in a losing sea in an effort to save their comrades in the torpedo room of the sunken S-4.

"Every one that has spoken to me about this matter has asked the same question: 'Why did they not pump air into that compartment, you see these men alive?' said the New Yorker, who was a major in the American air service in the World War, and whose parents, dislocated Italy as the home of his parents.

"Well, you may say, why did they not? The reason, as I understand it, is that these men were in an air-tight compartment full of normal pressure. If more air were pumped in, it would have increased the pressure in that compartment, and human life would not last long under such conditions. It would have been necessary to pump air at the rate of forty-five pounds to the inch before they could open any valve and release any excess air.

"If there were less air pressure, and a valve opened, it would immediately fill the compartment with water.

"So gentlemen, you see, it is almost easier to sit around the table and say, 'Why did they not pump air into that compartment and thus keep these men alive?' than it is to be on the job operating 100 feet below the surface of the water trying to get air into an air-tight compartment."

"So, what they did then was to pump five pounds of air and then release five pounds, and they kept that up for more than thirty hours. In the meantime, it was ascertained that the men were no longer alive."

La Guardia then told how divers, among them two named Fred G. Michaels, and Thomas Eadie, risked their lives in establishing communication with the submarine; how Michaels became tangled in the wreckage and how Eadie worked for forty-five minutes with a hacksaw 100 feet under the water to release him.

The New York member, who said that before visiting the scene he had prepared a speech criticizing the navy's rescue work, concluded his remarks by reading several communications from Admiral Brumby, in charge of the rescue, commending "these men for their heroism and service, and recommending that they be officially recognized for these deeds."

BELIEVE TWO MARINES HELP REBEL TROOPS

Sandino Thought To Be Receiving Aid From Deserters Of U. S. Marine Corps.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Two deserters from the United States Marines, captured by the rebel General Sandino as they sought to escape from the Nicaraguan war zone, are believed by some marine officers in Nicaragua to have turned their military training to account by helping in the institution of the rebel troops.

An official report relayed from the front to marine corps headquarters here said it was believed that the two men agreed to teach Sandino's soldiers how to shoot under a threat that they themselves would go before a rebel firing squad if they refused.

Marine intelligence officers said today they had no proof beyond the report which had come to them from the marine officers in Nicaragua. They pointed out, however, that in their recent attacks on the American forces, resulting in a mounting list of American casualties, the Sandino troops have shown unusual familiarity with marine corps methods.

It was noted here that recent reports from Nicaragua have emphasized that Sandino apparently was receiving aid of an unusual nature and that the morale of his troops had been materially advanced. Marine losses in recent skirmishes with the Nicaraguans have approximated in proportion the losses in battles of the World War.

The reports reaching Managua, officers here said, recited that the two men were captured by Sandino as they attempted to reach the Honduran border. It was said that Sandino offered them the alternative of immediate execution or agreeing to assist him.

Marine corps records show that since August five men have been absent without leave in Nicaragua. Two of the men reported to a column of marines at San Labino on August 2 after having been absent since the latter part of June. The two men said they had been held prisoner by Sandino and had been released.

The other three men have not been heard from.

FRENCH REPLY TO U. S. NOTE

Note Considered Favorable Towards Abolition of War Between Nations.

Washington, Jan. 6.—(AP)—A favorable reply to Secretary Kellogg's note to France of December 20, suggesting an international covenant deploring war as a means of settling international disputes, was received today at the French embassy. The note will be delivered to the state department later in the day.

The French reply accepts the American proposal that the eventual agreement, instead of being restricted to the United States and France alone, be extended to embrace at least the major European countries and as many as would be willing to subscribe to it.

Foreign Minister Briand suggested in the note, however, that the American proposal be amended to condemn "aggressive war" as a means of national policy rather than mere "war," since the latter would also embrace defensive hostilities.

In general the tone of the reply is favorable and embassy officials expect it to lead rapidly to a final crystallization of international sentiment for the outlawry of war.

WINTERVILLE BEATS LOCAL CAGE OUTFIT

The Greenville High school freshmen opened their basketball season last night with the Winterville High school second team as victors. Size favored the Wintervilleans, but close guarding and flashes of excellent teamwork kept the score down below what might easily have been expected. The first score was a foul for Greenville, and the first quarter ended with Winterville leading 6-3. In the next period the visitors found the court and each other better, with the result of a 12-4 score at half time. Height and weight told more effectively on the second half, when the invaders added another dozen points, and the home team was kept quite effectively from scoring distance of the basket. Eltridge played an outstanding game for the freshmen. Their next game is with the strong Dover high school in Kinston next Tuesday.

Bierman Develops Strong Team in La.

New Orleans, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Bernie W. Bierman, basketball, football and track coach for Tulane University here, was an outstanding athlete at the University of Minnesota 15 years ago. Coach Bierman seems to have started right off by developing a strong court squad, his team last week giving a fine account of themselves against the strong North Carolina Tar Heel quintet. Bierman is 32 years old, was born at Springfield, Minn., and graduated at Minnesota in 1910. He coached a preparatory school team at St. Louis, Mo., until America entered the war when he resigned to enter the marine corps. He left the service with a captain's commission. In the autumn of 1919 Bierman was signed as track and field coach at the University of Montana, remaining there until 1922 when he came to Tulane as assistant football coach. He resigned in 1923 and went to Mississippi A. & M. as head coach and returned last fall to Tulane in the same capacity.

VANDERBILT CAGERS FACE STRONG RIVALS FOR SOUTHERN TITLE

By HORACE RENEGAR

(Associated Press Sport Writer) Atlanta, Ga. (AP)—Vanderbilt's sharp-shooting basketekers, champions of the Southern Conference basketball realm, are faced with a real threat in the dribbling point of North Carolina and the speedy team of Kentucky as this year's title chase begins.

The Champion Commodores, with only Frank Bridges and Dave Baker forwards, as a nucleus, still have high hopes of retaining their title, for it was these two men, plus Jim Stuart, center, graduated, who rolled up more than 800 points last season to win the crown.

Both Bridges and Baker run the floor well and throw baskets from any angle half the distance of the court. In addition to these men, Vanderbilt has a likely number of new candidates out, including Vernon Sharp, football star.

At Chapel Hill, the Tar Heels of North Carolina are certain they stand in fair way to regain the title they held for four years before losing it last season.

Coach Jim Ashmore has Bill Doderer, captain of the 1923-24 chamampionship team, back to play a guard. "Pinky" Morris, guard and captain, Price, Van Story and Rufus Hackney, forwards of the past, are back to carry on the main offensive work. Purser, veteran center, also is on hand.

The Tar Heels, beginning with the days of Carmichael, one of the greatest floormen in the history of Dixie basketball, have been known for their dribbling and passing game. They also have used the "five man" defense system extensively and with fine results.

The Kentucky Wildcats, the team that displayed great power six years ago, seems due for a return to past glory. The Lexington squad, built around Paul Jenkins, all-conference guard, has been showing unusual power and team work in practice games.

Then there is Georgia, runner-up to Vanderbilt last season, boasting a number of veterans. Georgia Tech, Auburn, Virginia, Tulane, South Carolina, North Carolina State, Virginia Poly, Tulane and Ole Miss are among the other conference teams holding much promise of making the championship parade interesting all season.

SLIGHT CHANGE IN PERSONNEL OF CARDINALS

St. Louis, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Cardinal pennant prospects depend largely on the ability of players who were injured or suffered a slump last season to return to the form which took them to a world's championship in 1925.

With the exception of Rogers Hornsby, traded to the Cubs, and Billy Southworth, sent to Chicago, virtually all the championship team will report to the training camp this spring.

Manager Bill Jackrabbit will have a trustworthy pitching staff headed by Grover Cleveland Alexander, hero of the 1925 series, Jesse Haines and Willie Sneed. He also will have Fred Frankhouse, who won six games in seven starts last fall, Flint Rhem, Arthur Reinhart, Tony Kaufmann, Carlisle Littlejohn and Herman Bell. Rhem slumped last season but hopes to regain the stride which made him one of the regular starters two seasons ago.

Bob O'Farrell, relieved of his managership worries and rapidly recovering from his thumb injury, will go behind the bat regularly. He was given the league's "most valuable player" award year before last. He will be assisted by Frank Gibson, a veteran purchased from the Braves, and Virgil Davis, a youngster drafted from Buffalo. Jenard has been shipped to Houston.

Infield prospects were brightened greatly with the news that Tommy Thevnow, whose ankle was fractured last June, is now fully recovered and ready to play in his regular position at which he started in the 1925 pennant drive.

WITH MRS. J. W. HIGGS
The Greenville Patriots chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution, met Saturday afternoon, Dec. 31, at the home of Mrs. J. W. Higgs, with Mrs. H. H. Duncan, Misses Helene and Lella Higgs assisting hostesses.

The meeting was opened with the reading of the flag salute and the American's creed, led by the regent, Mrs. R. L. Smith, after which Mrs. H. F. Jones, chaplain, offered prayer.

The roll was called and treasurer's report given. Several important matters were discussed, one being the setting of a date for marking the site of the old Pitt county court house. This was left open until the next meeting.

The regent read New Year's greetings from the president-general. These consisted of resolutions which if kept by each member, would greatly benefit our chapter.

The program for the afternoon consisted of an interesting sketch of the times just prior to the revolution and the life of John Harvey, by Mrs. W. E. Hooker; report of Revolutionary ancestors' service, Col. Archibald Little, by Mrs. R. L. Smith and two vocal solos rendered by Miss Jessie Moye. These were greatly enjoyed by all.

The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Duncan, and Miss Lella Higgs, served a delicious salad course.

Womens' Club Meets
The January meeting of the Women's club was opened with a short but very impressive memorial service in honor of Mrs. Guy Smith, one of the club's loyal members, who recently passed away. Poems suggestive of her characteristics and life were read by Mesdames Austin and Moore.

During the business session which followed, reports were given by the secretary and treasurer, that of the latter showing a small balance on hand.

The Garden club gave a most gratifying and stimulating report through the chairman, Mrs. Austin, who extended the thanks of the club to all who helped spread the idea of, or participated in the illuminated Christmas tree campaign during the holidays.

The club also wished thanks extended to The Reflector for the publicity given the movement in its daily columns. Another phase of the club's work was the decoration of the library during the Christmas season, part of the success of which was due to the kindness of Mrs. R. L. Smith in lending the small statues used so effectively in the garden scene.

The library committee reported that the first order of books donated to the library by the club had been received and put into immediate circulation.

The chairman of the Literary department was asked to confer with Nel, Betty Lewis relative to changing the date of her appearance before the club, as it conflicted with one of the entertainments put on by the college. Further announcement will be made in regard to Miss Lewis' visit as to the date and the place of the meeting.

The report of the Health department included a resume of the tuberculosis clinic and the tuberculosis seal sale. The net sale of seals exceeded the amount raised last year by a hundred dollars, and will be used to defray the expenses of the tuberculosis clinic which was sponsored by the Health department and financed entirely by the club through the sale of the tuberculosis seals.

Mrs. Ailsbrook, as chairman of the Health department, reported that during the clinic two hundred and thirty x-ray pictures had been taken and that reports of these pictures would be made to the parents of the children between the middle and latter part of January. She also suggested that the following work in the homes would be mainly a matter of well balanced nutrition and proper rest periods.

Another member of the Health department stated that the realization on the part of the children of the fact that they could help in stamping out the white plague by means of healthy living, would lead them to take an active part in the fight against tuberculosis. The interest shown in the seal sale by the colored people was taken to mean that they realized they, too, had a part in this great fight.

Under the head of new business, the president read a letter from Miss Ferguson tendering her resignation as chairman of the American Home department, due to the fact of her removal from the state. The club then voted to undertake the sale of season tickets to the series of entertainments put on by the college during the ensuing months.

Round Table Club
The Round Table club met in regular session at the home of Mrs. E. W. Griffin on January 3, with seventeen members present. The visitors were Mrs. C. L. Adams and her mother, Mrs. Lewis, of Bowling, Ky.; Mrs. W. E. Futrell, Mrs. L. R. O'Brian, Mrs. Wm. McDonald and Miss Lella Higgs.

After the short business session the program committee presented a paper written by Mrs. J. H. Rose and read by Mrs. Luther Herring.

on Greek Mythology. This was a very interesting and complete account of the old Greek myths, legends and the many famous Greek gods and goddesses.

Not being fortunate, as were the Hebrews, in having given to them the high and lofty ideas of God, they struggled and groped for light on subjects of creation, astronomy, causes for the seasons of the year, light and darkness and the many mysteries of the universe, including the creator of all. Among the most important of their gods and goddesses were Apollo, Venus, Neptune, Olympus.

These Greek myths have come down through the ages to us practically unchanged and their influence is even now profoundly felt in our time.

A most delightful social hour followed. The hostess, assisted by Mrs. Futrell and Miss Higgs, served a tempting luncheon of turkey fruit cake and all the good things that go along with them.

The club adjourned to meet in two weeks with M. J. W. Higgs. —Reported

ABOUT TOWN

When he declared that all people who commit murder suffer from some kind of insanity at the time the crime is committed," asserted one of the readers of this column this morning.

"No person in a normal and healthy state of mind can commit such a heinous crime as these two persons were found guilty of committing without suffering from some unexplainable mental trouble."

Governor Smith was absolutely right in refusing to take any action to stay execution. He will no doubt receive the hearty approbation of the public in this single action.

"The most efficient students of the various high schools of the state will be represented in the ninth annual older boys conference of the State Y. M. C. A., which meets in the city February 10 and 12th," said C. A. Witherspoon, officer of the state organization, while talking to the writer of this column today relative to expansion of Y. M. C. A. activities in North Carolina.

"The last of these conferences was held in Hickory, N. C. Over three hundred young men were in attendance. It is our purpose to bring four hundred members to Greenville for this session, and there is every indication that the present time that they will receive a hearty reception."

"The Quest for the Best" will be the dominating theme of the conference. This atmosphere will dominate the conference the two days it holds forth. That the boys will receive much inspiration for future labors, is assured. Many interesting features will be contained on the program.

"Cupid comes and Cupid goes—but the little old myth hangs around forever." This is the way members of the register of deeds' office describe the recent visitations of the winged god of love to this community.

"Why, during the holidays he hung around all the time. It required most of our time issuing licenses, and sometimes we were forced to open the office at night to care for the applicants."

"While we are delighted to see the good work go on, you can bet your last cent we are not disappointed that the holiday season does not continue always."

"We like the going and coming way of the little boy with the love darts. It gives us a chance to catch breath and to feel assured that not every girl in the county is joining the matrimonial band."

"Are you absolutely sure Greenville is going to become a member of the newly formed Bright Leaf League," solicitously inquired a reader of this column today.

We assured him that such was our understanding.

"Hurrah!" he shouted. "More baseball to make the summer pass away pleasantly."

We felt like the spontaneous expression of emotion was timely and could hardly refrain from joining him. But realizing that we will have ample opportunity of exercising our vocal organs when the season actually gets under way, we restrained ourselves.

"In denying clemency in the case of Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, Governor Smith, of New York, showed good common sense."

CONVICTS MAY GET LIBERTY FOR SACRIFICE
Durham, Jan. 6—(AP)—Two Durham county convicts may win liberty for themselves, one through sacrifice of his blood in an attempt to save the life of a child, and the other for offering blood for a transfusion.

Homer Riley volunteered for an submitted to transfusion in an effort to save the life of Alva Cothran, 12 years old, who was cut and seriously wounded ten days ago while defending his mother from an attacker.

The Marks, second convict, volunteered to give young Cothran a portion of his blood. Durham citizens will ask Governor McLean for clemency for the prisoners.

The condition of the boy, slashed across the abdomen, is still precarious.

A GREAT EVENT

Greenville's invitation to the Y. M. C. A. for the Hi-Y convention to be held here, has been accepted and arrangements are going forward for the meeting which will be held in February. The Y. M. C. A. work among boys of the high school age throughout the state is certainly accomplishing much for good in the way of helping the boy at the age when probably his problems are hardest and his mistakes most costly. Citizens of Greenville should be delighted that this gathering of four hundred or more fine young fellows is to be held here, and should make every effort to see to it that their visit here is enjoyable. If you are called upon by the arrangement committee to aid in the way of furnishing accommodations for the visitors or in other ways see to it that you do everything possible. The coming convention should be a great event both for the boys and for use.

WHY WASTE IT?

The North Carolina Poultry Club members will send 18 fine birds to the Madison Square Garden Poultry Show during the week of January 16, and right behind this comes announcement that hog raising and dairying are fast becoming two new farm industries in his state. Well fed hogs and poultry from North Carolina command premium prices on certain markets, and the farmer who is willing to carry out a "Sow, Low and Hen" program on his farm is certainly overlooking a profitable venture. There is now sufficient unused time on most very farm to give to dairying, hog raising and poultry and such time pays big dividends. Why waste it?

For seventy-six years Studebaker has worked for, and has pleased, a clientele appreciative of quality.

Quality plus Value

During the past ten years Studebaker has built and equipped new foundries, forge shops, stamping plants, machine shops, power houses, dry kilns, body plants, etc., to provide for the production of fine motor cars on a One-Profit basis. Studebaker quality has been made available at prices genuinely low, and thus, to traditional quality, One-Profit value has been added.

Quality plus Value plus Genius

During the past two years Studebaker's engineering department has become recognized as one of the most brilliant in the industry. D. G. Roos, Chief Engineer (formerly chief engineer for Pierce-Arrow, Locomobile, and Marmon), and W. S. James, Research Engineer (formerly section chief of the United States Bureau of Standards), lead a group of skilled engineers and scientists. These technicians have the use of research laboratories, mechanical facilities and a million-dollar proving ground. Phenomenal results accomplished are reflected in the performances of Studebaker and Erskine cars:

- the Studebaker Commander, the World's Champion Car, which earned the title by running 25,000 miles in less than 23,000 consecutive minutes—nothing else on earth ever traveled so far so fast;
- the Studebaker Dictator, which established new endurance and speed records for stock cars listing below $1400 by running 24 hours at an average of 61.795 m. p. h.;
- the Erskine Six, the European type car which during 1927 invaded the export markets of the world with unprecedented success;
- the new American Edition of the Erskine Six now being introduced in the United States. In October this car established new 24-hour endurance and speed records for stock cars priced below $1000.

Studebaker holds every official endurance and speed record for fully equipped stock cars, regardless of power or price.

Thus, to the traditional quality and to the One-Profit value of Studebaker cars, has been added—unsurpassed engineering and manufacturing genius.

All this quality—all this value—all this genius now finds its highest expression in the eight-cylinder President sedans with which Studebaker greets the new year.

It was two years ago that the development of an eight-cylinder car was begun by Studebaker. Orders were to design, if possible, the finest eight-cylinder car in the world regardless of cost. When satisfied that this objective had been substantially attained, preparation was made to produce this car of superlative luxury and power on a basis of One-Profit volume production never before enjoyed by a car of similar size and quality.

A One-Profit Car

The PRESIDENT STRAIGHT EIGHT is Studebaker made throughout—body, engine, springs, gears, axles, transmission, forgings, stampings, gray iron castings—all made by Studebaker in Studebaker plants.

Power at a One-Profit Price

The President Eight develops 100 brake horsepower. No car which equals it in rated horsepower (according to the ratings of the National Automobile Chamber of Commerce and the Society of Automotive Engineers) sells for less than double its price. So much value has been built into The President Straight Eight that it can be compared only with cars selling for $4000 and upward.

The President Eight, even the 7-passenger sedan, will exceed seventy miles per hour indefinitely in the hands of any driver.

Speed with Safety

The President Eight offers not only sustained high speed, but speed with safety, due to full vision, welded steel body, low center of gravity and amplified-action, four-wheel brakes.

After the first thousand miles oil changes and chassis lubrication are needed only at 2500-mile intervals.

The President Eight is so built and broken in that it may be driven forty miles per hour the first day it is on the road.

These features testify to advanced engineering and precision manufacture.

Why the Prices Are Low

And the prices—$1985 for the Regular Sedans (five or seven passenger), $2250 for the State Sedans (five or seven passenger), $2450 for the Limousine—testify to One-Profit manufacture and to the following operating economies which make Studebaker supreme in value:

Studebaker's overhead, commercial and financial organization and expenses are lower per car than those of most manufacturers.

All of Studebaker's principal officers, executives and engineers live in South Bend in daily contact with each other.

Studebaker's capital stock structure is lower per dollar of assets and its $5.00 dividend charge is lighter upon the Corporation's treasury than any but one of its principal competitors.

Studebaker never takes an abnormal profit of from 15% to 20% of the public's dollar but has been satisfied with an average of 10.6% profits for the past sixteen years.

You can pay double the price of The President Eight without receiving more in honest quality.

What Price Genius?

But no matter how much you pay you cannot match the genius which finds expression in The President Eight, the genius which made The Commander known as "the greatest post-war achievement of automotive engineering."

An illustrated booklet descriptive of The President Eight will be sent from South Bend on request, but only by seeing and driving these magnificent cars can you appreciate what beauty, comfort, safety and performance are offered at One-Profit prices.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—An impressive demonstration of strength took place in today's stock market following the sweeping reaction of yesterday. All classes of stocks parted together with violent advances of six to nearly twelve points taking place in a few volatile specialties. The rally was accompanied by a marked reduction in the volume of trading.

Fears of higher money rates which developed as a result of the unusually large increase in broker loans, apparently had been allayed by the lowering of the call money interest rate to 4 per cent. Operators for the advance marked up their favorite on the theory that a substantial portion of the January dividend and interest disbursements would find their way back into the securities markets.

Weekly interest rate reviews showed a fairly cheerful tone and new building construction was reported as unusually large for the first week of the year. Recent stiffening of steel all prices and merger rumors also have had a tendency to draw speculative attention to those issues. The wider movements in the ten preceding days, and the market's action reflected a return of confidence in nearly all quarters.

American Rolling Mills which was up-rights, gained over 2 point selling above 113, and many other stocks, including Ind. U. S. Freight and Gabel, also gained 2 points. Celanese, moving the same way and Campbell-Wyatt, which had been active recently, moved up 2 points.

Closing was strong. Total sales approximated 2,899,000 shares.

Work on lighting and otherwise equipping the route is progressing satisfactorily, it was understood.

Oil Magazine To Wed

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—The romance of a 53-year old oil magnate and his 26-year old ward was disclosed today with the announcement that they would marry within a month.

E. W. Marland, president of the Marland Oil Company and one of the wealthiest oil men of the southwest, adopted Lydia Miller Roberts, when she was 15 years old. At the same time he and his wife adopted her brother, Geer, three years younger.

His wife died in June, 1926.

It was the devotion of his foster daughter after the death of his wife, said Mr. Marland, that convinced him that he wanted her for his wife.

Word of the approaching marriage

however came as a surprise to the young woman's mother, Mrs. George F. Roberts, of Philadelphia. She refused to discuss details of the adoption of her son and daughter and said she knew nothing of the wedding plans.

REMUS DENIED WRIT TODAY

Hope of Evading Commitment To In- sane Hospital Dis- solved By Probate Court.

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—George Remus, the former Chicago lawyer who became the "king of bootleggers" was denied a writ of habeas corpus today and his hope of evading punishment for the murder of his wife to an appeal from the probate court order which found him insane and directed commitment to the state hospital for the criminal insane at Lima.

The decision was handed down by Judge Charles S. Bell of the court of common pleas. He granted Charles H. Elston, counsel for Remus, time to perfect an appeal to the court of appeals which prevented immediate removal of Remus to the Lima institution.

Famous "Lifer" Held For Cruelty To Dumb Beast

Boston, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Jesse Pomeroy, world famous "lifer" who entered the state prison at Charlestown a 17 year old boy, nearly 51 years ago, is the plaintiff in a $5,000 action in which he seeks to prove untrue charges that he has been cruel to animals while in confinement.

Pomeroy remains in his cell while two attorneys represent him before the Suffolk superior civil court.

The defendant is Allen Stone Blackwell, of Dorchester, publisher of a magazine for women who as the first witness in the case told the court that "she felt it a publicity to write a letter to a Boston newspaper in 1925 in opposition to a pardon for Pomeroy."

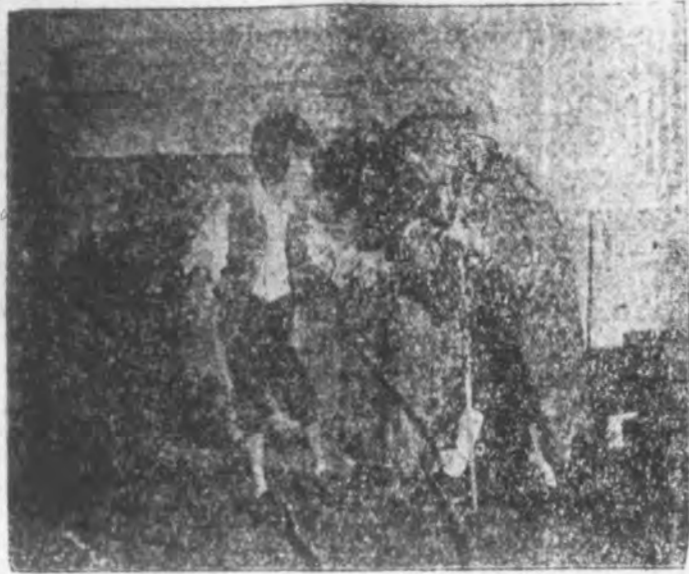

The letter described Pomeroy's cell as "a hell-hole" and that of Leopold and Loeb and repeated a rumor that Pomeroy, when allowed the companionship of a kitten "had skinned it alive."

Counsel for Pomeroy told the court that the suit was brought to "spike a lie" and said that animals had been Pomeroy's only friends since incarceration.

Suspended Head Chicago Schools Can't Be Serious

Chicago, Jan. 6.—(AP)—William McAndrew, superintendent of schools, said today that the suspension of 15,000 teachers from the city schools was a "serious" matter, but that he was not "too serious" about it. He said that the suspension was a necessary measure to maintain order in the schools during the winter months.

Begin Probe Of Series Of Fires At Charlestown

Charlestown, W. V., Jan. 6.—(AP)—While the investigation of state fire marshals into a series of fires of alleged incendiary origin here in 1925 was continued today, grand jury action was awaited on one member of the fire department who was implicated in the confessions of two companions, admitting they planned several fires.

Men's Federation Changes Hour Of Prayer Services

At this morning's meeting of the Men's Federation it was decided that during the remaining winter months the morning prayer service in the Woodmen's Hall would be held at 8:30 o'clock instead of 8:15. The meetings will last 30 minutes turning out at 9 o'clock.

Believe Smith Will Not Save Doomed Killers

New York, Jan. 6.—(AP)—Remarks by Governor Smith at the clemency hearing for Mrs. Ruth Snyder and Henry Judd Gray today were interpreted by newspapers as indicating he would not override the decision of the courts that the two must die in the electric chair next week.

Meanwhile, a new move was under way in Supreme Court which offered possibilities that the execution of Mrs. Snyder might be postponed.

Edgar Hazleton, of her counsel, filed application for a jury trial of the suit brought by the Prudential Insurance Company of America to cancel insurance policies totalling $97,000 on the life of her husband, Albert Snyder, for whose death she and Gray were convicted.

The governor's decision on the plea for a 30-day stay of execution to permit examination of the two by psychiatrists, is not expected until next week.

MONDAY, AND TUESDAY

Fourteen Persons Snowbound.

Ennislaw, Washn., Jan. 6.—(AP)—Fourteen persons, including ten members of a Sunday school outing party, apparently were snowbound today in the naches pass region of the Cascade mountains.

State and county officials ordered a relief party to leave here at daybreak with food.

The Sunday school party went to Silver Springs lodge at Christmas to spend the week.

A Tacoma couple and their two children also were reported snowbound in the same region.

to make up for McNab's bad advice about investments.

It is fortunate for the heirs of certain gentlemen in and out of Wall Street that such requests are not customary or compulsory.

If Wall Street gentlemen had to make good losses caused by bad advice on investments there would not be much left for legal heirs.

Reports to the French Minister of Agriculture show that a great desert is forming in the Argentine, rivers and springs disappearing, great sand storms sweeping considerable regions and the desert area steadily increasing. Presumably, however, the energetic Argentine republic will know how to deal with that problem.

Similar desert growths like great sores on mother earth, have spread over the land in ancient times in the past when men were helpless—present arid conditions in Palestine and areas stripped of fertile soil in once all-fertile Mesopotamia show scars of ancient affliction.

These sicknesses of our old earth will be no longer a menace when men obtain power unlimited from sun, tides or atomic energy. Then, instead of deserts, gardens will spread over the earth.

Flying from one small Central American republic to another, Lindbergh finds, even in a little capital city high up in the mountains, a flying field, where he can land, close to the center of population. In his own country he visits many great cities that possess no naturally or municipally owned

Secretary Hoover summarizes the past year as regards wages and employment thus: "There was little unemployment except during a moderate recession near the end of the year and the rate of real wages remained higher than anywhere else in the world, or than in any other time in the world's history. The high prospect of the year did not represent merely an upward swing in the business cycle, but was the result of that general and permanent progress which has marked the nation's business."

That is a situation for American business men to keep in their minds, thus avoiding damaging, doubtful hesitation. Business and prosperity in this country have climbed to a permanently higher plane and barring foolishness, will stay there.

As James Speyer, intelligent New York banker, says: "Prosperity is our natural condition, not anything unusual, or anything to worry about."
