FORMER PRIME MINISTER OF ENGLAND DEAD

Herbert Asquith, Noted World War Figure, Died at 6:50 O'clock This Morning.

Sutton Courtenay, England, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Earl of Oxford and Asquith, who as Herbert H. Asquith, prime minister, was an outstanding figure of the World War, died here at 6:50 a. m. today.

Pulmonary complications brought death to the 75-year-old statesman at his country home, The Wharf, in this little old world village on the banks of the upper Thames. He had lived there since his retirement from public life after his resignation from the leadership of the Liberal party in October, 1926.

Lord Oxford had been unconscious since Monday afternoon and his physicians said then that death was only a matter of how long his enfeebled heart could hold out. A week ago the former premier was confined to his room with a severe cold. An acute attack of laryngitis followed and bronchitis set in.

The Earl died in a many windowed room overlooking his beloved Thames. At his bedside were the members of his family Lady Oxford (Margot Asquith), his two daughters, Princess Bibesco and Lady Bonham-Carter and his son Anthony Asquith.

Throughout the night a few close friends and a number of villagers who knew Lord Oxford well, awaited the end.

As the former premier fought his losing battle with death another outstanding statesman of the war, the earl of Balfour, was confined to his home near Prestonkirk, Scotland, on the orders of his doctors. Earl Balfour, who is nearing his eightieth birthday, had an acute attack of laryngitis which left him so weak that his physicians have prescribed complete rest for many weeks.

There was a up mourning in this little village of Sutton Courtenay by the country folk not so much for the great statesman and famous figure in the World War as for the kindly white haired old man who until a few weeks ago took long daily strolls through the fields of Berkshire and along the banks of the Thames.

Advancing age had made inroads on his once robust health, but he was still fresh and vigorous in mind and keenly interested in affairs.

His political career ended in party dissension with the man who in 1916 had succeeded him as premier, David Lloyd George.

For the last two years of his premiership, Earl Oxford faced the crisis of the great war steadily, but it was felt that he lacked the magnetism necessary to guide Great Britain through the conflict and he stepped down, being succeeded by Lloyd George.

Then in another great crisis in England the general strike of 1926, Earl Oxford censured Lloyd George for his attitude in favor of the miners. Efforts to bring about a reconciliation of the two liberal leaders failed and in October, 1926, Lord Oxford announced his retirement as liberal leader.

Mrs. Coolidge Suffering With Severe Cold

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The cold that has bothered Mrs. Coolidge for almost a week kept her from attending last night a dinner given in the President's and her honor by Secretary Work. She remained in her room while the President attended the function, in the pan-American union building, where the interior secretary's daughter, Mrs. A. W. Bissell, of Evanston, Ill., was hostess.

The illness, the second in recent weeks that has prevented Mrs. Coolidge from attending scheduled events, is expected to cause cancellation of her engagements for the remainder of the week. Lieut. Commander Joel T. Boone, her physician, has directed her to remain in seclusion but he is not seriously concerned over her condition.

Rockefeller's Service. Edison Is Only 40. 121,219 Games. Russia Growing. (By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

Newton, Kas., Feb. 12.—John D. Rockefeller, Jr., tells the senate oil committee "the greatest contribution that my father may have made during his life is not his philanthropies, but the investing of large sums in business well organized that render useful service to the public at fair profit with adequate wages to employees."

This statement is justified. Standard Oil employees, and their wives with children depending on wages, testify to fair Standard Oil's treatment of its workers and business on a gigantic scale makes possible economies, otherwise unattainable.

Mr. Rockefeller giving more than five hundred millions to education and scientific fighting of disease, is a great improvement on the "coal-oil Johnny" type of oil man, taking baths in champagne, building up gambling houses.

In building up business to extreme efficiency, Mr. Rockefeller has rendered service. But history will say that his greatest service was destroying foolish belief in the value of competition.

Thomas A. Edison, says he is really 162 years old, because he has done two days work every day of his 81 years.

FAVOR PROBE COAL FIELDS

Senate Commerce Committee Approves Plan of Investigation of Bituminous Mines

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The senate interstate commerce committee today approved the resolution of Senator Johnson, republican, California, for an investigation of the bituminous coal situation in Pennsylvania, Ohio and West Virginia.

The resolution would call for an inquiry by the full committee but it was amended a sub-committee to carry on the study in the event it becomes necessary for hearings in the coal fields.

Senator Johnson and representatives of the mine unions have urged that the committee make a first hand study in the fields.

The resolution also would call for an investigation of charges that the Pennsylvania, Baltimore and Ohio and New York Central railroads have conspired with the operators in bringing about a suspension of operations in the fields.

A proposal by Senator Reed, republican, of Pennsylvania, that the committee also investigate the freight rate structure on coal hauls was sidetracked on the ground that it would require too much time in connection with the other inquiry.

The resolution now goes to the senate for action. During the hearings by the committee, charges of brutality by coal and mine police of Pennsylvania figured prominently in the testimony of witnesses.

Declare Boycott On British Goods

Calcutta, India, Feb. 15.—(AP)—With the Simon commission on Indian reforms due here Monday the Swarajist and Nationalist leaders of Bengal today proclaimed a boycott of British goods. The boycott affects cotton cloth especially.

The move was made in protest against the "outrage committed upon India's self-respect," but apparently a commission on which there are no Indians and because the authorities "are making efforts to demoralize the people."

LIFER GIVES TESTIMONY IN BRIBERY CASE

Stephenson Tells of Conspiracy to Buy Prosecutors at Trial of Governor.

Indianapolis, Ind., Feb. 15.—(AP)—With defense objections eliminated by instruction of the defendant, D. C. Stephenson, former grand dragon of the Ku Klux Klan, today told of an alleged conspiracy to buy the Marion county prosecutor at the trial of Governor Ed Jackson.

The former klan leader, now life prisoner at Michigan City, told of taking $10,000 from a strong box to give Governor Warren T. McCray in 1923 if McCray would name James E. McDonald to the vacated office. Governor Jackson, George V. Coffin, Marion county republican chairman, and Robert I. Marsh, formerly an attorney for the Ku Klux Klan, were in conference frequently relative to getting "one of our group" in the office, Stephenson declared.

Governor Jackson, watching the witness intently, leaned forward and talked hurriedly with his attorneys as they persisted in objecting to Stephenson's testimony.

Clyde H. Jones, of defense counsel, then said: "The governor has asked me to withdraw all objections and let the witness tell his story."

Stephenson qualified himself as a witness by assertions that he had been a close personal and political friend of Governor Jackson from 1922 until 1924. He said he had done everything in his power to bring about Jackson's election in 1924.

When the alleged bribe was rejected by Governor Warren T. McCray, Stephenson said Jackson, Coffin and he had "a sob fest."

Breaking a silence of more than 24 hours Stephenson told of having been acquainted both politically and socially with Governor Jackson from 1922 until 1924. He said the governor was a frequent visitor at his Irvington home, an Indianapolis suburb, and that he in turn visited Jackson's home frequently.

Stephenson spoke in a clear, rapid manner. When one of the jurors hearing the case requested that he faced the jury, Stephenson complied, declaring: "I want to see you, too."

Stephenson told the jury he had conversed with Jackson in regard to the appointment of a prosecution attorney four or five times before Governor McCray eventually named William H. Remy to the post. Stephenson said the matter also was discussed with Coffin and Marsh who also are under indictment.

Asked what Jackson had said at one meeting regarding the appointment, the witness said: "As I recall now, Mr. Jackson said he had been informed that William P. Evans, was going to resign and he pointed out if a man got it who would use it for political purposes, it might hurt his candidacy."

At the time Jackson was secretary of state and a prospective candidate on the republican ticket for governor. Stephenson said Jackson was afraid that if someone unfavorable to his candidacy gained the prosecutorship, he might use the office to injure Jackson.

Discuss Child Raising Theory At Capital City

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Development of personality of children, cooperation between parent and physician, educating parents as well as children and other kindred topics held the second day's interest of the North Carolina Institute on parental education, today as prominent educators, psychologists and physiologists, propounded theories for raising the race to a little higher level the next generations.

Dr. Carl C. Taylor, dean of graduate school, North Carolina State College, was the keynote speaker today, delving into the rich field of psychology in proven truths about the development of personality, showing that personality can virtually be created as well as morality.

On emotional strength, he placed the secret of personality and looked to the parents to guide their children sympathetically as trustees instead of in blunt "bossy" fashion of children owners.

Dr. W. L. Poter, president emeritus of Wake Forest college, had his say at a noon luncheon, presided over by Mrs. Kate Burr Johnson while this afternoon Dr. J. T. Burroughs, president of state medical society, High Point, pointed to physical soundness, echoed by Dr. E. A. Branch, Raleigh dentist, with Dr. L. B. McBrayer, secretary of State Tuberculosis Association, dwelling on the virtues of rest as a counterbalance to activity.

LINDY PLANS TO CONTINUE IN AVIATION

American Flying Ace Plans Work of Experimental Flying After Long Rest.

St. Louis, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Col. Charles A. Lindbergh will continue his work of experimental flying despite the hazards connected with it. He said, however, that he had no definite plans at the present except to try to rest in private life.

"There are so many things to be done," he said last night. "Improvements in aviation are certain. They must come and they cannot be made unless experiments are made."

As Col. Lindbergh was leaving the hangar yesterday following an exhibition flight before 60,000 school children along the river front, he was stopped by a reporter who asked him his opinion of Secretary of War Davis' proposal.

"What is the proposal?" asked Lindbergh.

"He says he is going to ask you to stop stunt flying."

"Of course I can't answer that offhand and say what my course will be," he replied. "I can't consider what I have been doing as hazardous flying in the sense that I have taken unnecessary risks. At the outset when new methods of transportation are coming into use there must be pioneers to show the way and some of them are killed. But the ones who do the pioneering are the last ones to think of the hazards."

"Have you any particular flights in mind?"

"No," he replied. "There are so many things to be done."

"But for the present there is no cause for worry," he added with a smile. "From now on until further notice I am in retirement. I need a rest in private life and am going to try to get it."

The last of his public appearances here for a time was scheduled for today when a banquet was planned in his honor.

Senate Favors Farm Measure

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The revised McNary-Haugen farm relief bill was ordered favorably reported by the Senate Agriculture Committee today after two hours consideration.

By its action, the committee again put the controversial problem before the Senate by a unanimous vote of those members present. Some, however, reserved the right to oppose the bill on the floor and to offer amendments.

The modified bill still carries the equalization fee which was so strenuously opposed by President Coolidge in vetoing the measure passed last session, but it is believed to meet several objections then voiced by the President.

Ohio Is Setting Pace In Early Republican Politics

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The Ohio situation, with its rapidly developing clash between Secretary Hoover and Senator Willis for control of the state's convention delegation, is setting the pace in early republican politics, followed closely by increasing discussion of the "drat Coolidge" movement.

Ohio's republican national committee man, Maurice Maschke, has joined those who are advocating the nomination of Herbert Hoover, and has challenged Senator Willis to make public any correspondence that would show that he has acted in bad faith in favoring the cabinet member over the senator.

Willis issued a statement last night declaring Maschke had given him "his cordial assurance of support," and added that if the committee "assumes that his very surprising course in this matter will change my attitude, he is mistaken."

The senator said he was "surprised" at Maschke's joining Walter F. Brown, assistant secretary of commerce and a leader in the Hoover movement, "in the endeavor to split the Ohio delegation and cause factional differences in Ohio which will bring about serious trouble in the future."

Representative Burton, Ohio member of the house, will be a candidate for delegate at large in support of Hoover. He said James A. Garfield, probably would be the Hoover delegation's second choice for President, and that he might run as a delegate, and Robert Taft of Cincinnati, son of Chief Justice Taft, probably would be a candidate for delegate at large, pledged to Hoover.

From Albany, N. Y., where Governor Al Smith watches efforts of his friends to bring him the democratic nomination, has come a new demand for the renomination of President Coolidge. It was voiced by Charles D. Hillis, national committee man for New York, who spoke at a Lincoln day dinner and devoted much time to comparing Lincoln and Coolidge.

Former Ambassador George Harvey, who arrived yesterday from Europe, also believes that President Coolidge could easily be elected if he would run, but added his thought that Mr. Coolidge was expressing a determination rather than a preference when he said he did not choose to run.

Secretary Hoover, meanwhile, is in Florida, "bound to a fishing derelict," not giving a thought at this time to politics of official matters," he said at Jacksonville last night. Referring to the senate committee's decision to question him on flood control matters, he said he "will be glad to appear" as it was "the duty of any cabinet officer called before the committee."

Two radio addresses from Washington carried political discussion into the ether last night, coming from William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, and Senator LaFollette, republican Wisconsin. Green predicted that labor "will continue to follow a non-partisan political policy" but in a most vigorous and aggressive way.

Speaking of the same program sponsored by the National League of Women Voters, Senator LaFollette, espoused the cause of progressive in congress. He gave the credit for constructive legislation and criticized the administration's Nicaraguan policy and its tax program.

He gave his endorsement to the presidential candidacy of Senator Norris, republican, Nebraska, who has been proposed by the independent senatorial group.

Marine Aviator Is Injured When Plane Crashes

Senate Orders Inquiry Into Cotton Prices

Washington, Feb. 15.—(AP)—An inquiry into the operations of cotton exchanges, millers, and the Department of Agriculture to ascertain whether there have been any efforts at manipulation of cotton prices was ordered today by the Senate.

The inquiry would be conducted by the Senate Agriculture Committee, which is directed to report to the Senate what legislation, if any, is desirable.

The resolution was offered by Senator Smith, Democrat, of South Carolina, and was favorably reported by the audit committee.

TARIFF ISSUE STILL TALKED IN CUBA TODAY

Havana, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Failure of Honorio Pueyrredon and the other Argentine delegates to the sixth pan-American conference to appear at the morning session of the committee on pan-American Union affairs, caused rapidly spreading rumors that Dr. Pueyrredon had already sent in his resignation as chairman of the Argentine delegation.

It also was persistently rumored that Dr. Pueyrredon had resigned from his ambassadorship at Washington.

Havana, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The irreconcilable attitude of Dr. Honorio Pueyrredon, Argentine delegate, which has been indicated to be at odds with that of his government, today continued to stir the pan-American conference.

Dr. Pueyrredon remained firm in his refusal to sign any convention to regulate the activities of the pan-American union which did not contain direct reference to the necessity of lowering excessive tariff barriers.

Dispatches from Buenos Aires said the Argentine government was understood to favor a less intransigent stand.

Delegates regarded the issue as vital to the success of the pan-American conference. Two schemes were introduced to seek the agreement of the Argentine government even if its delegate refused to sign a convention.

The pan-American union committee had before it the last article of the convention which concerned the formalities of ratification of that document. Dr. Jacobo Varela of Uruguay suggested that this be worded as to permit the agreement to go before the various parliaments for ratification even if not signed by the delegates. He proposed that the president of the conference might be allowed to send certified copies of the agreement directly to the governments interested.

Another suggestion was that the article be so worded as to allow adherence to the convention at some later date by the governments whose delegates had not signed it at Havana.

In these proposals delegates saw plainly the intention of saving the pan-American union convention in case Dr. Pueyrredon should persist in his attitude. They were encouraged in their efforts by the fact that although Dr. Pueyrredon apparently remained intransigent indications were becoming more and more concrete that the Argentine government was weighing the disadvantages of not signing the convention.

Over the objection of the United States the committee on public international law approved by a vote of 11 to 4 the classification of armed merchantmen as warships.

The United States delegates pointed out that this proposal was revolutionary and absolutely contrary to actual maritime practice and that therefore it could not be included in a project which was designed to codify universally recognized international law.

A plenary session was summoned for late this afternoon to consider the final reports of several committees. These included: Report of the committee on economic problems relative to international aspects of immigration program.

Report of the committee on economic problems relative to the convention of a conference to study problems dealing with the protection of trade marks in American countries. Conclusion of the committee on intellectual cooperation recommending the publication of a dictionary of the Spanish language, edited by Rufino J. Cuervo, Colombian, intellectual.

HICKMAN ON TRIAL AGAIN FOR MURDER

Slayer of Marian Parker and Welby Hunt Charged With Killing C. Ivy Toms.

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—A move by attorneys for William Edward Hickman to delay the joint trial of Hickman and Welby Hunt for the slaying of C. Ivy Toms, was blocked by Presiding Judge Carlos S. Hardy today and the case assigned to Superior Judge Elliott Craig for trial.

Jerome Walsh, Hickman's young chief counsel, presented his plea for a continuance when the trial was called.

The prosecution had announced itself ready for trial. Hunt's attorney, A. Gray Gilmer, asked by Judge Hardy if he was ready said he would not oppose the motion for a continuance if it were only until Monday, as he had been informed. "Are you ready?" insisted Judge Hardy.

The attorney answered that he was. Judge Hardy thereupon declared that an "insufficient showing for a continuance had been made and that under the new law demanding absolute proof before the granting of a continuance, he would be forced to deny the plea."

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Condemned to die on the gallows April 27 for the killing of Marian Parker, William Edward Hickman today continued to fight for his life as he was called upon to answer another charge of murder.

Hickman and Welby Hunt, partners in crime, were ordered into court today for trial on charges of slaying C. Ivy Toms in an attempted drug store holdup in Rose Hill, a suburb, on Christmas eve, 1926. The initial court session was expected to be little more than a formality, as Jerome Walsh, Hickman's attorney, said his intention of asking a continuance until Monday, and Superior Court Judge Carlos Hardy indicated it would be granted.

Pals in the holdup game, Hickman and Hunt will be enemies in the impending trial. Hickman, who was little upset when he was condemned to death yesterday by Judge J. J. Trabucco, has voiced his eagerness for a chance to testify against Hunt in retaliation for the testimony which Hunt gave the prosecution in the Parker case.

But Hickman may be denied the opportunity of giving state's evidence against Hunt. Hunt, who originally pleaded not guilty to killing Toms, has indicated through counsel that he might plead guilty in exchange for a "fighting chance" to get leniency. He is under the age limit for execution. Whether the plea is changed or not, A. Gray Gilmer, Hunt's attorney, announced that he would place before the court all the circumstances through which he hoped to gain leniency.

Toms was killed in a gun battle in his drug store while Hickman and Hunt were attempting a holdup. Technically both may be held guilty, regardless of who fired the shot.

Two Henderson Officers Held In Killing Case

Hendersonville, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Two Henderson county officers, John Hill, sheriff, and Grover Lyda, deputy, were involved today in charges in connection with the death of H. K. Morgan, aged former inmate of Henderson and Transylvania county homes, who died at the Brevard jail of pneumonia after he had been taken there from Hendersonville by the deputy.

Preliminary hearing for the officers, named in a warrant issued at the instigation of Transylvania county commissioners, was set for Saturday morning at 10 o'clock.

Deputy Lyda, who was arrested by Sheriff Sitton of Transylvania yesterday several hours after Morgan died, was released under $3,000 bond. Sheriff Hill was not arrested. Physicians said the aged man's condition was aggravated by exposure when he was carried Monday to Brevard from Henderson county.

TEXAS AERIAL NEWSBOY GRADUATES TO AIR MAIL

Fort Worth, Tex., (AP)—Charles F. Pedley, for seven years aviator "newsboy" for the Corsicana, Tex., Daily Sun, has graduated into the air mail class. He now is piloting a plane along the newly-created Dallas-Galveston air mail route.

Pedley went to Corsicana in 1921 to start one of the first airplane newspaper delivery routes in the country. Daily he flew with The Sun's final edition to the oil fields 30 miles south of Corsicana, where the workers want their news hot off the press.

NEW YORKER IS NOW CHAMPION OF ICE EVENT

St. Moritz, Switzerland, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Recognizing the protest of the United States, the executive committee of the international olympic committee has reversed a decision by the international skating federation and installed Irving Jaffee, of New York, as the official 1,000 metres speed skating champion.

Jaffee thereby gains the distinction of becoming the first United States champion in the 1928 olympic events.

The skating federation cancelled the 10,000 metres event because of sooty ice after Jaffee and five other contestants had finished their heats.

More Talent Is Needed In Ball Circles

Chicago, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Sind lot baseball, suffering from the rapid inroads of golf and other sports, is to be stimulated by the American Legion, backed by financial and moral support from the major leagues.

Recognizing the need for more talent on the baseball diamond and certain that some of the best talent among American youths is never found, the American and National leagues have voted to guarantee $50,000 toward developing the American Legion's plan to bring 100,000 American youths into baseball competition each year through state, regional and national tournaments.

Under the Legion's plan, the United States will be divided into an eastern and western division. Each of these major divisions will be divided into ten smaller ones with several states in each group. The state champions will meet in elimination games at regional tournaments and the winners of each major division will meet annually for the national championship in a "little world series." Boys under 17 years will be eligible to play the first series which will be held this summer. The national champions will be the guests at the major world series.

The regional divisions are:

- 1—Washington, Oregon, Idaho and Montana.
- 2—California, Nevada, Utah, and Arizona.
- 3—North and South Dakota, Wyoming and Nebraska.
- 4—Colorado, Kansas, Oklahoma, and New Mexico.
- 5—Minnesota, Iowa, Wisconsin, and Michigan.
- 6—Missouri, Illinois, Indiana, Ohio and Kentucky.
- 7—Arkansas, Louisiana, Mississippi, Alabama and Tennessee.
- 8—Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Connecticut, Rhode Island and New York.
- 9—New Jersey, Pennsylvania, Delaware, Maryland, Virginia, West Virginia and District of Columbia.
- 10—North and South Carolina, Georgia, and Florida.

HUSKY OARSMAN 23 COACH 25 YEARS OLD

Seattle, Wash., (AP)—Ronald Wallis, who is out to win his last year's post as No. 5 in the University of Washington eight-oared crew, is 33 years old. Al Ulbrickson, his coach, is 25.

Wallis was about to enter the university when the war broke out. He joined the army and his college education was postponed about ten years. Although he had never rowed before he made the crew last year. He weighs 186 and is 6 feet, 3 inches tall. Ulbrickson, eight years his junior, was graduated in 1926 when he was captain and stroke of the crew. He became head coach of the huskies when Basty Calow went to Pennsylvania last year.

England's Olympic Team Built Around Its 1924 Champions

London.—(AP)—Veterans whose performances have sent the Union Jacket flying atop the Olympic victory pole in the past will be Great Britain's chief reliance in the 1928 athletic carnival at Amsterdam.

Two and possibly three of the British "Big Four" of the 1924 games at Paris will defend their titles.

Douglas G. A. Lowe, Olympic 800-meter champion and one of the greatest middle distance racers England has ever produced, tops the track and field talent. He probably will captain the team unless that honor goes to the punar and titled hurdler, Lord "Davy" Burghley, who has exhibited his prowess both at home and abroad.

Jack Beresford, Jr., the Olympic sculling king, also is training to defend his laurels with the probability that his chief rival will be the crack Canadian youngster, Joe Wright, Jr.

Harold Abrams, the Cambridge all-around star who upset American hopes by winning the 100-meter dash four years ago, is out of competition but there is still hope that Eric Liddell, the 400-meter champion, will return from his missionary work in China for the Olympics.

Abrams suffered a breakdown after the last Olympics and has not run since but England has a new candidate for sprint honors in H. H. Hodge, who has done 100 yards in close to world's record time.

Last Burghley will be a strong contender in the 110-meter high as well as the 400-meter low hurdles. He has marks of 14 1/4 and 54 2/5 seconds for these events, both of which were won by Americans the last time.

KENTUCKY GAINS FIVE WINS 55 OF 59 GAMES

Courtsdown, Ky., (AP)—Ninety-five victories out of 99 games in four years is the record of the Georgetown high school girls' basketball team, favorite for the Kentucky scholastic title again this season.

Not a game has been lost on the home court since 1923 and only one in regularly scheduled contests. The other three defeats came in the finals and semi-finals of the state championship tournaments. In 1925, the team won 25 straight games and won the state title by sweeping the final contest of the elimination tourney, 40 to 0.

New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The baseball birds are fitting southward. Intimate details of their progress already are being dispatched by energetic correspondents. Holdouts who were so adamant a few weeks ago are falling into line. The magnates talk of booming the ancient game for boys throughout the country. Through it all is the delightful air of anticipation always associated with the coming of another baseball campaign and, the magnates hope, bigger and better races.

There will be no little concern in the news that comes back from the training camp scattered from Florida to California about the prospect of aspiring athletes. Depending on their age, ability or previous condition or servitude.

Cotham fans will want to know whether the Jewish hope of the Giants, Andy Cohen, will fit into the somewhat ample niche vacated by Rogers Hornsby, or whether the Jewish hope of the Giants, Andy Cohen, will fit into the somewhat ample niche vacated by Rogers Hornsby, or whether Frank O'Doul, the rejuvenated veteran from San Francisco, swings a mean enough club to break into the regular outfield chord.

Likewise, it will be of interest to Boston whether Hornsby puts his expected new dash and punch into the Braves or whether his conversion is as disconcerting to the new club manager, Jack Slatery, as it seems to have been to John McGraw.

How the St. Louis Browns will assert their new talent in the rebuilding process, what the Senators will do with too much first basemen as Sisler and Judge around, how Tris Speaker will fit into Connie Mack's machine, whether Sparky Adams fills the long left Pirate need for a second baseman and how Kiki Cuyler fares under Chicago Cub leadership are only a few of the salient features of the spring program.

The secret is now out. Jack Dempsey, the New York Sun discovers, has bought a machine of the treadmill type for indoor exercise that will take the place of road work. What, the experts immediately rise to inquire, is the necessity of Dempsey's going in for life on the treadmill if he hasn't some fighting plans in view?

Tune Up For Auto Races At Daytona

Daytona Beach, Fla., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Preliminary maneuvers in a three cornered assault on the world's speed record for automobiles, 203.7 miles per hour, were under way today as three motor cars dedicated to tremendous speed underwent final tunings for their separate attempts.

The effort to smash the record set last year by Major H. O. D. Seagrave in his British "Sunbeam Special," is part of the twenty-fifth annual speed carnival beginning on the beach here today.

While the trio of more powerful cars, two American and one British, prepared for their sallies against time, smaller cars entered a schedule today which included a mile straightaway race for automobiles in the $1,000 class; the same event for cars in the $1,000 to $2,000 class and a third event called for a "hobol" race for stock cars not under three years of age.

Frank Lockhart, Indianapolis, yesterday unloaded his small Stutz "Black Hawk Special," one of the high speed trio.

Bullet-shaped, fifteen feet and six inches in overall length, with a width of but two feet, the speedy appearance of the car is enhanced by its total height of only three feet, with ground clearance of five inches. Two banks of eight cylinders each comprise its motor, which has no radiator and is cooled by both water and ice. It is said to develop 400 horsepower. The entire automobile is designed to minimize wind resistance.

The entry of Malcolm Campbell, of London, is likewise designed to combat the wind, one striking feature being a large fin-shaped rudder in the rear to prevent the car from deviating from its course or developing tail wag. This car boasts a 900-horsepower British air service motor.

J. M. White, Philadelphia, with the third entry, will rely on titanic power alone in his effort, expecting his 36-cylinder motor to make up for almost total lack of stream line design. His car has three drive shafts to the rear axle, no clutch, transmission or reverse gear and has only one speed forward.

The three cars have until next Wednesday to make their official attempts at beating the record of Major Seagrave.

MARY LEWIS AT COLLEGE NEXT WEEK

Opera, concert, records, radio or Vitaphone, none holds any fear for Mary Lewis, the charming prima donna of the Metropolitan Opera Company who sings here on February 23 at East Carolina Teachers College. Miss Lewis perhaps once feared all five, approached each with trembling knees and tightened throat, but now that each has been met, Miss Lewis can say truthfully, although with much more modesty that is accredited to the originator of the saying, "I came, I saw, I conquered."

Much has been written about this young American prima donna who had the courage of her convictions, and although the road was not easy, succeeded in climbing to unbelievable heights in an apparently short time. But no one knows, but Mary Lewis herself, of the hours she spent in study, the sleepless nights, the hours of indecision and worry. No one, and Mary Lewis doesn't talk of them.

The dress acclaimed her on her operatic debut, sixty concerts her second season on the American concert stage is a testimonial to her success in that field, her talking machine records sell widely, and her Vitaphone pictures are considered splendid, both vocally and pictorially. Miss Lewis' voice broadens well, and as the Herald Tribune and on Feb. 21, 1927, following by Altwater Kopt recital:

"Miss Mary Lewis sang a long program at WEAF last night, and sang it so that its length was almost unnoted. That, as any loud-speaker addict knows, is very much of an accomplishment. Miss Lewis has a voice that is close to what I believe the press agents mean by a 'perfect radio voice,' combining the effective exhibitionism of range with a warm tone quality and no unevenness in production. The Waltz Song from 'Romeo and Juliet' was her big number. She caused no surprise at all by including 'Annie Laurie,' 'Land of the Sky Blue Waters' and 'Carry Me Back to Old Virginia,' in her last group."

Honors 10th Birthday.

Miss Myrtle Lee delightfully entertained Tuesday afternoon from 3:30 to 5 o'clock, fifteen of her little friends at her birthday party, honoring her 10th birthday.

The guests were invited into the dining room which was beautifully decorated in pink and yellow. A birthday cake, beautiful with its ten candles, formed the centerpiece. A tempting ice course was served, followed by confections, by Mrs. L. A. Lee, Mrs. A. W. Clement, Mrs. Loyd Guthrie, Mrs. R. E. Hunt, Mrs. T. T. Smithwick and Mrs. Irene Stampley. Valentines were given as favors.

There were many interesting games played throughout the evening. There were many beautiful and useful presents.

The guests were Allie Lee Fleming, Edna Proctor, Argen Dudley, Mary Proctor, Rose Gurganus, Margaret Harris, Marion Tyson, Viola Kuter, Evelyn Lewis, Helen Powell, Ruth Dudley, Geraldine Harris, Edith Forrest, Francis Stallings and Marjorie Stampley. The guests departed wishing Miss Lee many more happy birthdays.

Now that Greenville has a good band, have you ever stopped to think how much it means to have good musicians at hand when we need and want them? The high school band has not only meant much to this city in this respect, but on many important engagements outside this city the boys have performed with credit and have been a good advertisement for Greenville. Tomorrow night the boys will give a concert, the proceeds to be used to help purchase uniforms for the band. The band is a credit to the town and a good advertisement for it, and should the boys be unable to raise sufficient funds to pay for the uniforms, we should see to it that they are provided.

WORKING FOR YOU

With the annual meeting of the local Merchants' Association set for tonight, at which time the accomplishments of the past year, and plans for the future, will no doubt be fully discussed, we feel it is not amiss to call to the attention of the general public just what the association is meaning to Greenville, and urge that every business, and professional man and every individual citizen, give the organization his heartiest support. While the name, Merchants' Association, would indicate that the local organization is functioning primarily in the interest of the retail merchants, such is not the case, for in the absence of other trade bodies in our city, the Merchants' Association is doing the work of a Board of Trade, Chamber of Commerce, and all other organizations that are usually found in a wide-awake town. Naturally, since the association is performing all these duties it must have funds with which to carry on its work, and to expect retail merchants to bear this full burden is asking too much, when other lines, as well as individuals of our city, are profiting as a result of the efforts being put forth by the association.

Since we have no Chamber of Commerce this phase of work must necessarily be carried on by the Merchants' Association, and since this is the case, we feel that the association should be supported by the people as a whole. The Greenville Merchants' Association is a direct benefit to you. If you are not supporting the organization, you should be.

ABOUT TOWN

"The annual meeting of the Merchants Association tonight is looked forward to with more than general interest," said W. H. Woolard, President, discussing the achievements of the institution during the past year.

"We expect to have two of the most prominent members of the association with us tonight in the persons of the President and Secretary of the State Association. Both of these officials have been closely affiliated with various branches of business for the past several years and the message they will bring to members of the local Association should contain many things of an informative and constructive nature.

"It is the purpose of the Association to go forward more than ever before this year. Last year's achievements, to be sure, surpassed anything in history of the organization but we cannot afford to stop and rest with our laurels at this time. Vast opportunities for service lie ahead and if we live up to the responsibilities which the future demands of us, then we must be up and doing in the long days which the future holds for us."

"If you don't believe Greenville is growing, look around you and see the numbers of improvements which our business houses are making and the new homes being constructed in various parts of the city," a reader remarked to the writer of this column today.

This old town is destined to be not only the leading shopping center of Eastern North Carolina, as business men are endeavoring to make it, but it is also destined to take a prominent part as one of the populous cities of the state.

"Naturally considerable time may be required to bring about this transformation, but constantly expanding industry and erection of new homes cause us to have faith in the manifold possibilities of the locality.

"Faith in ourselves and the glittering opportunities for development ahead of us will mean continued expansion in the days to come. Abide by this and use your influence for a greater Greenville and Pitt county."

"Cooperation between members of grand juries functioning at the different terms of our courts and Boards of County Commissioners must exist before affairs vitally affecting the country are given the consideration which they are so deserving," a prominent business man mentioned to the writer today.

"Members of grand juries have too little time in which to conduct their investigations into affairs of the county. Most of the time it is necessary for them to accept opinions of officials whose expressions count so little in moulding the destiny of this great nation.

"Commissioners are men who have been elected to conduct affairs of the county to the best of their ability. It is they who must be familiar with existing financial conditions. They know to the fraction of a cent how much money is available for public improvements, and it is my earnest opinion they should be consulted by members of the grand juries before any recommendations of a definite nature are passed.

"Economy should be practiced in all counties of the state at this time but such programs cannot be made effective unless these endeavoring to make them effective receive consideration and cooperation. The country to be sure is in a prosperous condition, but this prosperity cannot endure unless a definite watch is kept upon finances as they pertain to the operation of our government.

"It is to be hoped the juries will take this matter under consideration and obtain as much information as possible from commissioners before taking definite or concrete action upon questions vitally affecting the operation of our government."

"We didn't get our copy of the Reflector yesterday," one of our old subscribers remarked to the writer today.

"I simply can't begin to tell you how much we missed the paper and how everybody around the house continued walking out on the porch looking to see if it had come.

"Some days the carriers miss us, and when they do every member of the family begins howling, wondering what in the world happened to prevent the paper from reaching them.

"Missing the Reflector is just like missing a good evening meal, and every member of the family is as anxious to bury himself between the pages as he is to sit down to the table to relieve certain gastronomic inquietude."

"Don't forget the meeting to be held at the court house February 23 for the purpose of discussing the deepening of Tar river so as to make navigable to large vessels," members of local civic organizations are urging daily as the date for the meeting draws nearer.

"This will be one of the most important meetings held in the city of Greenville in years and its outcome will be watched with more than passing interest by business men in this part of the state.

"Water transportation vitally affects every community because it means cheaper freight rates—rates which are now being enjoyed by hundreds of other localities in other parts of the country.

"Aside from this river traffic would mean that new industries would desire to locate in Greenville and Pitt county. They would want to come here and share in thousands of opportunities which the section has to offer. Be sure and attend the meeting and use your influence for a greater Greenville and Pitt county."

ANOTHER INVOLVED CHARGE IN SLAYING CASE

Los Angeles, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The possibility that a person other than Dr. Charles C. McMillan had a motive for the slaying of the wealthy Mrs. Amelia Appleby, has been injected by the defense attorneys into the trial of the physician, accused of the murder of the woman.

This was indicated as a probable defense of the doctor yesterday when selection of the jury was started.

LEAP YEAR VALENTINE PARTY

The Girls Around Sixteen Entertain Most Delightfully.

The boys must certainly go about some if they have any idea of keeping pace with the girls, for the latter have put themselves far in the lead as entertainers.

A bunch of the sixteeners, and Greenville has the sweetest and the prettiest lot of them in the world, decided that they would take advantage of leap year and do the honors in an entertainment, they planned for some weeks, and the outcome of it was a Valentine party which they gave Friday night.

Mrs. R. L. Smith kindly tendered her elegant new home to the girls as the place for holding their party, which offer they gladly accepted. Two days before the party the boys who were to be guests received two red hearts bearing the invitation. These read:

"On Valentine's night at half past eight, The girls of Greenville would like to relate To the boys of the town the mystery of hearts, And we would like for you to take part."

From then on the boys were all expectant while the girls were busy with preparation. The home of Mrs. Smith, already beautiful, was transformed by artistic decorations until it was indeed a dream of love. The hall was rich in potted plants, draperies, and hearts were everywhere. The library in red, festoons extending from the electric chandelier to the corners of the room, with hearts and roses in profusion. The dining room was in pink and white with ropes of hearts extending from the chandelier to the table. The entire decorations were artistically planned.

As the girls with their escorts arrived they were charmingly welcomed at the door by Miss Mary Smith. In the hall fruit punch was served by Miss Susie Warren and Frank Brown.

The first contest of the evening was guessing riddles. There was much good guessing and in the drawing which followed Miss Hennie Whitchard got the lucky number, 13, and was awarded a prize, a pair of cuff buttons, which she presented to Percy Forbes.

The boys were then invited to the upper hall where bows and arrows were given them with which to shoot at a row of hearts suspended across the end of the hall. On the back of each heart was the name of a girl whom the boy whose arrow pierced the heart was to have as a partner for supper.

When the couples repaired to the dining room they were served with Fussell's block cream, cake and bonbons, by Mrs. Smith and Misses Mary Smith, Lillian Carr and Margaret Blow.

After supper there were progressive proposals, the couples sitting around the room and the girls talking to do the proposing, the amusing feature being progressing from one boy to another. The prize for the best proposal, a stick pin, was won by Miss Mary Shelburn, who presented it to Norman Warren.

It was a happy gathering of young folks, and not until a late hour did their merriment and pleasure come to an end. Those giving the party were Misses Mary Smith, Jamie Bryan, Susie Warren, Hennie Whitchard, Mattie Moya King, Lillian Burch, Mary Shelburn, Lillian Carr, Lucille Cobb, Minnie Best Dell, Lillie Tucker, Essie Ellington, Margaret Blow, Estelle Greene and Ethel Skinner.

The boys present were Carl Wilson, Percy Forbes, Charles Haskett, Tom Dupree, Lee Shelburn, Charlie Horne, Blount Pearce, Oscar Greene, Alex Blow, Royce Tucker, Bascom Wilson, Frank Brown, Luther Bowling, Thurman Moore, Norman Warren, Jesse Harrington, George Prichard and David Watson.

The guests of honor were Misses Lillie Bennett and Edith Payne.

COTTON MARKET.
New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Prospects for rains in west Texas and aster Liverpool cables induced considerable liquidation, together with local and southern selling in the pit on market today. Declines of about 25 to 30 points were checked by covering and trade buying, however, and the market showed rallies at several points from the lowest during mid-afternoon.
Futures closed barely steady, 23 1/2 points lower. Spot quiet; middling 18.45.

CHICAGO GRAIN
Chicago, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Corn prices after fluctuating nervously scored a late advance today, owing to a good deal of persistent demand for immediate delivery corn. Reports of corn in Chicago today were extremely scant for this time of year, only 84 cars and country offerings were small, with weather over the corn belt unfavorable for the crop movement.
Corn closed firm 5-8 to 1-1-8 net higher, wheat 1-4 to 1-2 off; oats at a shade decline to 1-8 to 1-4 advance and provisions varying from 10 decline to an equal gain.

STOCK MARKET
New York, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Trading in today's stock market was largely a specialty affair with the standard industrials and rails moving within rather narrow and irregular limits. Poor success in marking up about a dozen issues to new high records, and a few soft spots were uncovered by bear traders. Trading was in moderate volume, although a few large blocks changed hands in the early part of the session.
Renewal of call money at 4 1/2 per cent tended to check bullish operations although there was little calling of bank loans. Trade developments were largely favorable, the chief item being reports of a further increase in steel mill operations and a stiffening price tendency in the iron and steel market.
American Express extended its early gain to more than 9 points by early afternoon, and American Railway Express jumped nearly 7 points. Baldwin also moved up 7 points despite the publication of an unfavorable 1927 earnings report. The other day, Standard Plate Glass, common, advanced from $3 to $5 a share and the preferred from $12 to $19. Gold Dust, Air Reduction and Liggett & Myers, B also responded to pool operations.
Pan American issues sold below $40 for the first time since 1921. Directors of the Standard Oil of New Jersey declared the usual extra dividend of 12 1/2 cents, in addition to the regular quarterly dividend of 25 cents. Crude oil production showed a further decrease last week of nearly 8,000 barrels daily. DuPont broke 6 points and weakness cropped out in Wright Aeronautical, Case Threshing, Russia Insurance and American Zinc preferred.

DRUNKS PLAY BIG PART IN COURT HERE

Violation of Prohibition and Traffic Laws Featured County Court Yesterday.

B. L. Crawford, charged with driving an automobile while drunk, was fined $100 and cost and ordered not to drive another car in the state for a period of four months, by Judge W. A. Darden, presiding over the regular weekly session of county court in this city yesterday. Crawford also received suspended judgment of two years on a charge of possessing whiskey.

Fred Pugh, colored, charged with larceny, drew twelve months on the county roads. He was also given sentences of twelve months on the roads on four other counts of larceny and escaping from the chain gang, each sentence to run concurrently with the first.

Willard Truckner, charged with possessing whiskey, had judgment suspended for a period of two years. He paid a fine of $100 and cost and was ordered not to drive a car for a period of four months for driving while drunk.

Charged with driving an automobile while drunk, Johnnie Gladson paid a fine of $100 and cost and was ordered not to drive an automobile within the next four months.

John Evans, colored, paid a fine of $100 and cost and drew twelve months in jail on a charge of possessing whiskey for sale. Execution of the sentence, however, was suspended for two years with provisions that the defendant does not violate any of the criminal laws.

Robert and Henry Wilson, colored, were given eight months on the roads on a charge of possessing whiskey for sale. Notice of appeal to Superior court was filed under bond of $400.

Judgment was suspended for two years in the case of James Vines, colored, charged with assault with a deadly weapon, with provisions that the defendant pay J. A. Matthews the sum of $43.50 for damage to an automobile.

Josh Williams was sentenced to six months on the county roads following conviction of larceny.

J. B. Boyd, colored, paid a fine of $200 and cost and was sentenced to eighteen months on the roads on a charge of manufacturing whiskey for sale, the sentence to become effective any time within the next two years of the defendant should be guilty of violating any of the criminal laws.

difference between success and failure is largely the use or loss of so-called "odd moments."

Statistics do not agree with what Lenin would call "the capitalist class" in their assumption that Russia must go to pieces under bolshevism.

Moscow's population is 2,142,000, a gain of 112,400 in one year. In 1927, 28,000 died, 53,000 were born in Moscow. At that rate, Russia would soon have another hundred million population.

Porters at Russian railway stations refuse tips, also sleeping car employees. Walters probably do the same in the "equality of man" communist autocracy.

It is interesting, but it won't last, and in the meanwhile, the work will not be well done.

Abolish tips and you abolish comfort, as when you refuse oil to an automobile.

Turkey is interested in a 50-year old peasant Agha Faoma who lives with 7 wives and 25 children in a one room shack. Agha is unhappy, not because he is crowded, but because Kemal Pasha compels him to give up three of the wives. Mohammed, saying that some concessions must be made to human weakness, allowed four wives. Kemal says "No, only one." He did not make the law retroactive. Agha can keep the first four wives but he must give up the last three, youngest, handsomest.

Esquimos, within reach of civilization, sell their valuable furs to white traders and wear coats of leather and cheap ready made suits. They can sympathize with some farmers that sell cream and butter to cities and eat oleomargarine.

PROPOSE A NEW BUILDING AT PYTHAN ORPHANAGE

Winston-Salem, Feb. 15.—To obtain funds with which to erect an administration building at the Pyth-an Orphan Home, at Clayton, Knights of Pythias of North Carolina are being called upon to contribute approximately $20,000. The new building, on which it is hoped construction can start within 90 to 99 days, is to be a memorial to Thomas D. Meares, widely known Pythian, and for 31 years Supreme Master of Exchequer.

The solicitation of donations, so far, is by letter, and the response is very gratifying. Grand Chancellor J. Fred Brower, Jr., of this city has commissioned as special deputies the Grand Chancellors in all the lodges in the State, each appointee to direct the campaign in his lodge.

A. B. Ellington was appointed special deputy for Tar River Lodge and has appointed a committee who will solicit contributions. This committee is expected to report on next Thursday night at the regular meeting of the lodge. There will also be work in the third rank, the long form being used.

LOVE SCENES IN "BABY MINE" AMONG HIGH SPOTS OF HILARIOUS FILM

Practice makes perfect—but it also creates habits. For instance Charlotte Greenwood, between the scenes of "Baby Mine," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's production which comes to White's Theatre Thursday, and which is her first appearance before the motion picture camera, sang some of her musical comedy hits. She was so used to singing them in her shows that she didn't feel natural unless she did it in the studio. Which shows the force of habit.

"Baby Mine" is a hilarious adaptation of the famous stage play, in which Karl Dane and George K. Arthur, comical heroes of "Rookies," make their second appearance as a comedy team.

The heroine of "So Long Letty" and other musical shows is making her debut on the screen as Dane's sweetheart in the new picture, adapted by F. Hugh Herbert and Sylvia Thalberg from the Margaret Mayo stage hit. It is directed by Robert Z. Leonard. Louise Hearn and others of note are in the cast.

The new production is a lighthearted comedy of two collegians who get into love affairs and hot water, with an uproarious climax in which stolen babies and a wild chase figure. Among the high spots are the love scenes between Dane and Miss Greenwood, and the clinic at the "university of vertebral manipulation." Arthur and Miss Lorraine also stage some hilarious adventures.

"Baby Mine" is one of the most famous comedies of the speaking stage, a success on Broadway and in every city in America.

GREENVILLE BUSINESS SCHOOL, FORMERLY LOCATED IN THE MUNFORD BUILDING, NOW IN THE NATIONAL BANK BUILDING, FOURTH FLOOR

Mrs. C. M. Tolar, Principal.
Do Not Confuse This, the Original Greenville Business School, Operated Under This Name Since 1918, With Any Private Shorthand Teacher, Who Might Assume This Name After Taking Part Of My Courses.

GRADUATES FROM GREENVILLE BUSINESS SCHOOL

I take pleasure in announcing the following students having completed the Secretarial Course entitling them to diplomas: Mrs. C. J. Barr and Mrs. J. J. Tripp. These two young women being the first to hold diplomas from this school, deserve special mention, others having received certificates in special subjects only.

Mrs. Barr, who is a former student of Danville Business College, has also had commercial training and holds a certificate from the Palmer School of Penmanship. She has completed the teacher training course and will assist Mrs. Tolar in the Stenographic Department as well as teach the Palmer Method of Penmanship. Any public work you have will be appreciated by Mrs. Barr.

Mrs. Tripp, who has not quite finished the Bookkeeping course, expects to take up general office work at an early date. She is a student who deserves special mention as to her perseverance, punctuality and application to her work.

On February 28 I will start new beginners' class; also on March 4th, will begin another class in Secretarial work, sixteen having enrolled for this special course. This is an advanced course. A general review of the Manual, a continuation of speed work in shorthand and typewriting training in general office work. This is a small percentage of the more than two hundred men and women holding certificates. Take this course now while you have the opportunity to secure a diploma. Too many are satisfied with holding only a certificate. Can you, who are in office, not see the necessity of improving yourselves along this line? Too few have the ambition to be efficient. An efficient office man or woman never LACKING A POSITION.—(Adv.)

PICK JURY IN GATLIN CASE

Jury Box Tentatively Filled When Court Recessed For Dinner Today.

Wentworth, Feb. 15.—(AP)—Completion of the jury to hear the case of Mrs. Alma Petty Gatlin of Reidsville, accused of slaying her father Smith T. Petty and burying his body in the cellar of their home, appeared near when court resumed today's session at 1:30 o'clock this afternoon, although there were indications that Solicitor Porter Graves might have some interesting motion to make before the jury is finally accepted.

The jury box was tentatively filled at noon and a few minutes later a recess was taken for lunch and conferences between attorneys.

The solicitor just before the recess told Judge Cameron McRea, presiding in Rockingham superior court, that an important matter had just come to his attention. He then asked for the recess.

The jury as it was composed at lunch hour was composed of: J. B. Albert, Huntsville, farmer; J. W. Corum, Wentworth, farmer; A. S. Knight, Huntsville, farmer; T. R. Simpson, New Bethel, farmer; Alex. Vernon, Madison, farmer; A. C. Angel, Reidsville, farmer; J. H. Matthews, Stoneville, farmer.

H. M. Carter, Stoneville, clerk; A. J. Lemons, Mayo, clerk; Thomas Barker, Stoneville, farmer; J. E. Christopher, Huntsville, farmer; John Daniel, Ruffin township farmer.

With the twelfth tentative juror seated, Judge Cameron McRea turned to Solicitor S. Porter Graves with the remark that the jury seemed complete. Mr. Graves arose to say: "We ask your honor's indulgence about a matter we wish to bring to your attention."

The court then went into a semi-recess for about 20 minutes but the Solicitor did not reveal what matter he wished to bring to the attention of the court.

Meanwhile, court attaches and lawyers moved about as if they were conferring in ante rooms but the crowd remained perplexed at the delay. Rumors were thick and fast but the Solicitor declined to show his hand to newspapermen.

Court then recessed for lunch without panelling the jury and whether testimony would be reached this afternoon remained for the next move of the State.

The defense has accepted the 12 tentative jurors. Any dissent must come from the State.

The session today was enlivened by humorous comment from the courtroom. Asked if he had formed any opinion on the case from reading newspapers, one man said: "No sir, no two of them newspapers had it alike, anyway."

The defense continued its rigid inquiry into the church affiliations of prospective jurors.

An Old Recipe to Darken Hair

By JANICE RANDALL

Almost everyone knows that Sage Tea and Sulphur properly compounded, brings back the natural color and lustre to the hair when faded, streaked or gray. Years ago the only way to get this mixture was to make it at home, which is messy and troublesome.

Nowadays we simply ask at any drug store for "Wright's Sage and Sulphur Compound." You will get a large bottle of this old-time recipe improved by the addition of other ingredients, for only 75 cents. Everybody uses this preparation now, because no one can possibly tell that you darkened your hair, as it does it so naturally and evenly. You dampen a sponge or soft brush with it and draw this through your hair, taking one small strand at a time; by morning the gray hair disappears, and after another application or two, your hair becomes beautifully dark, thick and glossy and you look years younger.

was discussed by House Agriculture Committee and military committee decided to begin reading Muscle Shoals bill Thursday.

Rep. Hull, Democrat, Tennessee, proposed changes in economic with aid to farmer, downward revision of tariff and readjustment of international trade agreements.

ROLESVILLE RESIDENTS NOT TROUBLED BY TAXES

Raleigh, Feb. 15.—(AP)—The two of Rolesville, Wake county, has been chartered since 1836 but has never had a mayor nor imposed or collected taxes, in the memory of residents.

This state of affairs was brought out in superior court here in a trail of a case involving erection of a filling station in the town. The case entered the second day today with argument expected this evening.
