MARSH GIVES TESTIMONY IN SENATE PROBE

New York Cotton Exchange Member Tells of Activity of Houston Firm

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—A three day arraignment of the Houston, Texas, cotton trading firm of Anderson Clayton & Co. before a Senate sub-committee by Arthur R. Marsh, New York cotton exchange member, was concluded today so far as Marsh's direct statement was concerned.

He reiterated and amplified his accusation of market manipulation and violation of anti-trust laws against the firm and added a specific charge that William L. Clayton, senior member, had deliberately sought to "mislead" the committee in his testimony.

Counsel for Clayton, David H. Miller, demanded that he be given the right to cross-examine Marsh tomorrow. He was told by Senator Smith, Democrat, South Carolina, that the committee members and Representatives Rankin, Democrat of Mississippi, and Vinson of Georgia, associated with the Senators in the inquiry into causes of the 1927 cotton market collapse, wished first to do a little questioning themselves.

Miller said Marsh's testimony throughout had been an "hourly re-indictment" of his client, to which he could make no reply beyond interjecting a statement of "denial" as charge after charge was made against Clayton and his firm.

At the conclusion of his long statement, Marsh said in answer to Senator Smith that he believed the Department of Agriculture price trend statement of September 15, 1926, had created a "world condition" that brought about the cotton price crash, although he acquitted the government agency of any charge of misconduct or bad faith.

Marsh, today told the committee that Anderson Clayton and Company had dealt in at least 1,500,000 bales in future contract on the New York market alone from the fall of 1926 to March of this year.

The effect of these dealings, he said, had been to "waterlog" the market and enable the Houston firm to balance its own transactions and buy back its own sales of future contracts at its own price.

William L. Clayton, head of the Houston firm, had testified that his company had assembled in New York some 200,000 bales of cotton to "protect" its future "hedged" in that market, the witness said.

"Protecting hedges really means compelling those who bought your hedge contracts to sell them back to you at a price you fix," Marsh said.

Davis H. Miller, attorney for Clayton, interrupted to challenge these statements.

"All this is disputed," Miller said. Marsh, explaining, went on to say that Anderson Clayton had hit upon the "device" of being "long" through a group of brokers and "short" through others, which he said was the "most effective method of market control ever put in operation."

When "notice day" for settlement of future positions comes about, Marsh continued, the Houston firm shot its "waterlogging" and allowing the company to buy back its own future sales at the price it fixed itself.

Marsh came down to the issue of a co-yn price trend statement by the Department of Agriculture which, he said, went as far as eight cents a pound by the following February.

He declared he had information that a representative of the Houston firm had telegraphed a member of the Houston cotton exchange named "Haywood" a day before the statement came out that it was to be made and would predict a decline in prices.

"It was a tremendous straddle operation," Marsh added, involving transactions in all world cotton markets. In December, 1927, he continued, it was "freely said" in the trade that the Houston firm was short as much as 2,000,000 bales, but he added he could not vouch for these figures.

WOMAN SAVES HUSBAND FROM CONVICT GANG

Texas Woman Uses Six Shooter When Convicts Overpower Husband

Del Rio, Tex., March 19.—(AP)—Effective use of a six-shooter has enabled Mrs. R. S. Cloud to rescue her husband for the second time this winter after he had been overpowered by convicts he was escorting to the state penitentiary.

How Mrs. Cloud, wife of a state penitentiary agent, probably saved her husband's life Friday, was revealed when they arrived here yesterday enroute to the prison at Huntsville with twenty of their twenty-one prisoners.

Mrs. Cloud was driving one of three machines used to carry the prisoners, when the four men in her husband's car attacked him.

When the attack was planned and waited until Mrs. Cloud reached the area country near Maria when they seized Mrs. Cloud's pistol. Finding he had removed the cartridges the men beat her with the weapon and when he produced a knife, they took it from him.

Her attention attracted by the shouts of her husband, Mrs. Cloud leaped from her machine, sprang for her ankle. As she approached Mrs. Cloud's car she opened fire with a pistol on two of the men who ran. She wounded one and he surrendered as did two others.

The fourteen men in the lead machine, a specially constructed truck and the three in Mrs. Cloud's car, made no effort to escape.

Finding her husband only slightly injured, Mrs. Cloud returned to her car and they continue the trip.

Mrs. Cloud was first credited with saving her husband's life about two months ago when they were transporting three prisoners from a jail to the penitentiary at Huntsville. On this occasion the prisoners also selected the sparsely settled district near Maria to attack the clouds.

Cloud was overpowered, chained to a tree and was being beaten by the men when Mrs. Cloud entered the fray and routed the trio. They were later captured.

Mildred Johnson Postpones Flight

Bremenhaven, Germany, March 19.—(AP)—Miss Mildred Johnson of Philadelphia, who had planned to take off from the steamship Columbus when the liner was several hundred miles out to sea, arrived aboard the Columbus today, having been forced to postpone the venture.

Heavy seas and opposition to her use of a Junkers airplane by Luft-hansa were given as the reason for postponing the venture. Miss Johnson plans to fly from Bremen to Berlin.

FAISON CASE GOES TO JURY DURING TODAY

Attorneys Complete Argument in Behalf of Richmond Man Today.

Richmond, Va., March 19.—(AP)—With only a short period of rebuttal testimony before instructions to the jury and the arguments of attorneys, the case of John W. Faison, accused of slaying Mrs. Elsie Holt Snipes, was expected to reach the jury sometime today.

The direct and cross-examination of Faison was completed late Saturday and the opening hours of court given over today to the defense and Commonwealth to close their case. The instructions to the jury were to be argued before Judge Ernest H. Wells in chambers and it was expected that this procedure would require several hours.

Faison's statement that Mrs. Snipes committed suicide has been the same as presented in the first trial of the case last December. In a part of the witness chain he detailed the story of his association with the young divorcee, and leaving his wife and five children during his infatuation. He told of the night of the tragedy, when he said he told Mrs. Snipes he intended to break off relations with her and return to his wife.

Mrs. Snipes was described by Faison as hysterical and inclined toward despondency. As he told her of his intention, he said she paced the floor, finally going into the next room. She returned shortly, he said, then went back. Faison said he heard a shot and entered the room to find Mrs. Snipes mortally wounded.

In cross-examination, Commonwealth's attorney, Dave Satterfield, sought to bring out Faison did not know all about the affair between her husband and Mrs. Snipes as claimed by the defense. The state contends that Faison killed Mrs. Snipes in a jealous rage and attempted to establish jealousy as the motive through letters alleged to have been written by Faison to Mrs. Snipes.

Mrs. Faison, who has stood by her husband in both trials, was a defense witness, testifying that she knew of the infatuation of her husband for Mrs. Snipes. Although it worried her, she said, she felt confident that he would soon give up Mrs. Snipes and return to her.

Two Bandits and Policeman Hurt In Pistol Battle

Miami Fla., March 19.—(AP)—An early morning pistol duel between two alleged bandits and the Miami Beach policeman sent the two bandits and one policeman to the hospital today, all probably fatally wounded.

Patrolman David C. Bearden, 24, of Miami Beach, received bullet wounds above the heart and in the stomach. Mike Nesbit, 23, of Chicago, is dying from his wounds, hospital attendants said this morning. The bandits, one of whom is named Tommy Nolan, alias Beck, of Miami his confederate, has two bullet wounds in the head.

The pistol battle ensued early today when police intercepted Nesbit and Nolan driving a stolen sedan from Fort Lauderdale where they are alleged to have burglarized an automobile agency Sunday night, riding the cash drawer and stealing a new automobile.

School Teacher Shot to Death

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Mrs. Helen Kinball, 30, a public school teacher and wife of an assistant principal of a Brooklyn school, was found shot to death on the floor of her Brooklyn home today.

The police broadcast a general alarm for a recently discharged negro janitor, believed to have gained access to the apartment by knocking himself from the collar in a dumb waiter.

CHICAGO BANKER COMMITS SUICIDE

Chicago, March 19.—(AP)—Messages of condolence from President Coolidge, Vice-President Dawes, Secretary of the Navy Wilbur and many other prominent men were received today by Mrs. John P. Smulski, whose husband killed himself with a pistol at their apartment yesterday.

Smulski was president of the Northwestern Trust and Savings Bank a former state and city office holder and a national figure in Polish-American affairs. Despondency over illness was given as the reason for his suicide.

While Ye Have Light, Brave, Pious Patrick, Making Steel With Gas Big Bootleg Tribes. (By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

Newton, Kas., March 17.—As this is written on the way through Kansas, two cars are visible up to their hubs in mud, on the road beside the Santa Fe track. There should be a national well paved highway one hundred feet wide running from ocean to ocean in place of this long mudhole.

Senator Capper's able Topika Daily Capital carries this appropriate text on today's editorial page today: "Walk while ye have light, lest darkness come upon you John 12-35"

Dead nearly fifteen hundred years St. Patrick was remembered and honored all over the world on his birthday today. He is remembered because he was pious and brave. He defied the Pagan Irish king, in his raw bulks hide, on the hill of Tara, and when told that only the king could light a big bonfire on a certain night, St. Patrick lighted his to show that, Christianity was more important than kings.

Once standing at Ireland's western extremity, Patrick spoke of that place as "The land beyond which no man is."

He would be surprised to know how many good Irishmen are beyond that point now, here in America.

Bonifis in his Denver Post says the Colorado Fuel and Iron Company will make steel with natural gas. They will also use gas from coke ovens since coke is needed in the blast furnaces.

Why not change natural gas at the well into electric power manufacture steel by the electric process, do away with coke better, cheaper, almost rust proof steel? That should interest Mr. Rockefeller, who controls Colorado Fuel and Iron. Mr. Wells who helped Ford to develop wonderfully strong steel alloys could tell how to do it.

Prohibition inspectors indicted in Detroit for taking bribes from rum-runners are said by the district attorney to have received $200,000 in the first six months of 1927.

Bootleg liquor must flow in freely for the inspectors got only $1 a case for whiskey, 25c a case for beer.

Under prohibition customs inspectors can get a hundred thousand dollars a year each in bribes, if willing to take them.

The pullman porter who said, "Not all gentlemen steal soap from pullman cars, but everybody has his price," would doubt the possibility of finding enough honest inspectors.

Victor Berger, only socialist in Congress and a sincere advocate of obedience to law, sometimes says things that need to be said.

When congressmen of both big parties had worn themselves out urging reduction of big individual and corporation income taxes, Victor Berger said, "I want to say a few words for men and women who do not care enough to pay any income tax."

"They are the people without whose toil and effort the income tax pays could not exist a single day. They are the people without whom civilization could not exist for a single day."

How rarely anything is said in Congress about individuals that don't pay an income tax. Yet they number more than one hundred and fifteen millions.

Congressmen don't agree with Berger, but listen to him, laugh at his good points and applaud him. THEY KNOW HE IS HONEST.

A thousand more Marines are sent to Nicaragua, three thousand five hundred of our "Devil Dogs" behavior will watch the polls at Nicaragua's election.

Nebraska might ask, "why don't you use a few of them in your big city elections?"

Those in whom a fondness for killing things survives will yearn as they read that farmers near Ellwood, Kansas, along the marches are patrolling their "cornfields," firing blank shells to keep away thousands of wild ducks.

Rotarians Will Entertain Anns During Evening

Tonight will be annual Ladies' night at the Greenville Rotary club and an especially interesting program has been arranged for the occasion, according to announcement made today by President W. H. Rogers.

Although no announcement has been made in connection with features of the program, it was generally understood today that these would be particularly appropriate and entertaining.

LOSS OF LIFE INCREASES IN DAM DISASTER

Total Number Listed as Dead and Missing Reaches 449, Figures Show Today.

Los Angeles, March 19.—(AP)—The total loss of life in the St. Francis dam disaster was computed today at 449 persons—272 known dead and 177 missing and believed to have perished.

While the search for the dead continued, with an army of more than one hundred motor tractors being used to tear through the big piles of debris, authorities in the stricken zone decided to confine their efforts only to reclaimable land. Debris on the unreclaimable area occupied by the old bed of the Santa Clara river will be buried.

The huge fires will serve as funeral pyres for an unknown number of the dead. Authorities said it would be impossible to put a large enough force of work to recover the bodies on the unreclaimable land within a reasonable length of time, and that with the available organization the process would require so much time that the purpose of seeking them will be defeated.

The state's inquiry into the cause of the dam break was to open today. Many funerals, both public and private also were arranged for the victims.

SNOW COVERS PART OF EAST

Snowstorm Along Atlantic Seaboard Leaves Blanket from 3 to 17 Inches.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—With spring officially but two days away parts of the east today were digging from under one of the heaviest snowfalls of the winter.

Along the Atlantic seaboard the storm rode in on a gale which at Boston registered a velocity of 48 miles an hour. Inland the snow lay a blanket of 3 to 17 inches deep over the countryside, breaking down trees and bushes but proving little hindrance to transportation.

The heaviest fall was reported from Ansonia, N. Y., a few miles south of Plattsburgh, where 17 inches was recorded, in Pennsylvania the snow ranged in depth from 3 to 14 inches. In Boston there was a heavy rain, while New York city experienced a slight sleet storm, which later turned to rain.

The snow storm extended into Quebec and Ontario and was held responsible for a collision near Linoah station, Quebec, between a freight and a passenger train of the Canadian National railways in which four passengers and three members of the train crew were injured. Snow obscured signals set against one train.

State Forester Birk of Pennsylvania expressed fear of a serious damage to the fruit crop as a result of the break of tree limbs due to the heavy snow.

The heavy snowfall was general throughout northern Vermont, New Hampshire and northwestern Maine. Burlington, Va., had a fall of 10 1/2 inches.

DIES TWO WEEKS AFTER BEING SECRETLY MARRIED

Norfolk, Va., March 19.—(AP)—Death yesterday of J. Donker Reeves, 22, formerly of Opelika, Ala., brought to light his secret marriage two weeks ago to Miss Mary Leigh Elliott, Norfolk high school student. Young Reeves was traffic manager of the Norfolk, Baltimore & Carolina Steamship Line, and married Miss Elliott in Elizabeth City, N. C. The wedding was kept secret from all but her parents, according to information received. Death was due to an acute attack of appendicitis.

Governor Goes To Key West To Do Some Fishing

Raleigh, March 19.—(AP)—Governor McLean, having tried his hand at Muskogee fishing in Wisconsin last summer, now goes to Key West to do some more fishing.

Charles Bond, the Governor's private secretary, today reported the departure of the Governor and Mrs. McLean yesterday for Key West.

The executive state is clear of engagements for all of this week.

DEFEND QUARTER MILLION SUIT

Here is Frederick A. Stevenson with the Countess Soranzo, his daughter, entering New York court to testify in suit for $250,000 brought against the countess for alienation of affections by Alice Bland Corbett. It is reported that Corbett, now in Sing Sing prison, and who was married bigamously to the countess, then Miss Stevenson, may have a third wife.

Stresses Need Of Good Ships For The U. S. Navy

Secretary Wilbur Tells Pittsburgh Club of Potential Need of the Day.

Pittsburgh, March 19.—(AP)—Taking a different tack in his appeal for a potential navy, Secretary Wilbur today stressed the need of good ships as homes of men doing training for national defense.

Comparing the navy to the home in an address before the Century Club at downtown here today, the secretary said that it might be long clean and shiny, and in good order for service.

He pointed out the need of target practice, maneuvers and naval problems and said they were investments in brain power.

"The real problem of the navy," he declared, "is the men—their physical, moral and spiritual training for the tasks that lie before them."

Score Injured In Explosion At Kansas City

Kansas City, March 16.—(AP)—A score or more of north side residents are nursing minor injuries received when an explosion last night wrecked a three-story brick storehouse and damaged building over a large area.

While doors were blown from their hinges in nearby homes and windows broken for a radius of more than two blocks, no one was seriously injured. Eight persons received treatment by ambulance surgeons and many exhausted cuts from glass.

Although the cause of the blast was unknown, police were informed that two men were seen leaving the building shortly before the explosion. It was the latest of a series of explosions which damaged homes and other buildings and followed within 48 hours a confession from William A. Faust, 41, that he had been hired to lead a "wrecking crew" to force employment of union labor.

Mrs. Scoville Critically Ill From Gas Fumes

Mrs. V. P. Scoville this afternoon was still reported in a critical condition from gas asphyxiation which she suffered at an early hour this morning while lighting a stove. She is believed to have fainted after applying the match to the gas burner and had it not been for a little child with her, she probably would have been dead before discovery of her condition.

Physicians who arrived at the Collins View home shortly after midnight stated that she would have been dead had she remained in the gas-filled room fifteen minutes longer.

Mrs. Scoville complained of a severe headache while visiting neighbors last night, and it is presumed that the gas fumes this morning caused her to faint.

HIGHER UP IS BIG FIGURE IN OIL INQUIRIES

Sharp Attacks For Republicans and Democrats Features Disclosures at Chicago.

Washington, March 19.—(AP)—Speculation as to a hitherto unnamed higher up who might have been involved in the Teapot Dome scandal vied for uppermost attention in the latest oil-political disclosures today with sharp attacks from both republican and democratic sources on Harry P. Sinclair's $160,000 contribution to the republican party in 1923.

The senate investigating committee will not meet until Wednesday. Meanwhile it is expected to make far reaching inquiry into reports it has received intimating that a high official or leader in American life, yet to be mentioned in the five years of investigation, was connected with the oil cases in some questionable manner.

Last night in Baltimore, where Senator Nye stopped off enroute to Washington to make a speech, the committee said:

"It reports given to our committee are true, a name is involved that would be criminal to mention until further investigation of the basis of the charges is made."

Senator Capper, republican, Kansas, in a blanket attack on the entire teapot, dome affair last night, asserted:

"For spectacular rottenness, I doubt whether we have the equal of teapot dome in American history, or ever will have."

He said the republican party "must purge itself from the oil smudge," and, by the forceful action, show that it "indignantly repudiates the men who participated in the rape of the government oil lands."

Representative Cordell Hull, Tennessee, a former chairman of the democratic national committee, issued another statement, demanding the resignation of all republicans in high positions who have "contributed to the suppression of the awful facts" regarding the Sinclair Continental Trading Company liberty bond transactions.

He also called upon Secretary Hoover, Senator Curtis, of Kansas, the republican floor leader; former Governor Lowden and other republican candidates for the presidency, who he said "should have spoken out long since" to "make their presence felt and known in this combined movement."

Combining his plea for a "thorough job" of reputation with a demand that congress find more effective means of preventing "lavish use of money in elections," Senator Capper asserted the "smudge of oil, being smeared blackly across the pages of history, is repulsive to the citizens of the entire country. The trail is slimy, odorous, reeking with corruption."

He said the implication was plain that Sinclair, in donating to the republican party the $160,000 in liberty bonds to wipe out a campaign deficit, believed "this would buy him immunity in his plot to loot the Wyoming naval oil reserves."

The wealthy oil operator and lessee of teapot was described as the "chief conspirator" in the oil cases; as having "bought a cabinet officer of the United States with liberty bonds after he had previously been bought with a black satchel by another oil conspirator."

"Merciless publicity as to the sources of campaign funds," said the Kansas senator, "is necessary to prevent corrupt elections as a law placing a limit upon the amount of money that can be expended."

The bill is expected to authorize a lump sum appropriation of approximately $13,000,000 to provide additional hospital and out-patient facilities for veterans entitled to care under the world war veterans act of 1924.

The final estimate of Director Hines sought an appropriation of $12,115,000.

The program of the director, which is understood to have been approved by the sub-committee, called for the construction of 2,040 new psychiatric beds, 439 tubercular beds and 460 general medical and surgical beds.

The new beds for tubercular patients would be established at Oteen, North Carolina.

This is one of the most important meetings held in some time, Mr. Kirtrell said, and every member of the organization is urged to be present. These meetings usually are held in the Rotary building, therefore each member is urged to make careful note of the change of location.

American Legion To Meet Tuesday

The regular monthly meeting of the Pitt county post of the American Legion will be held in the basement of the Jarvis Memorial Methodist church Tuesday night at seven o'clock, according to announcement made this morning by J. B. Kirtrell, post commander.

Hollywood, Calif., March 19.—(AP)—Art Acord, film actor, today was being treated for burns about the face and neck which he received when gas escaped from a leaking pipe was ignited as the "copyboy" star started to light a cigarette.

Fears were expressed that possible scars resulting from the burns might interfere with Acord's screen career.

ABOUT TOWN

A representative of 'Billy' Sunday, one of the best known evangelists in the world today, will be in Greenville sometime this week to make arrangements for the opening of an evangelistic campaign in this city beginning April 22. Pastors of the various churches announced from their pulpits yesterday.

The announcement was greeted with interest on all sides as the coming to this city of the great evangelist is considered one of the greatest things that has happened in this section in years. That thousands of people will visit the city during the campaign, we have not the slightest doubt. The committee will make preparations to care for several thousands at each service.

"We look for one of the greatest revivals in the history of the locality, and with proper co-operation from the membership of all churches there is no reason why hundreds of souls should not be converted."

"Commencement exercises at the college will begin June 4th this year," President Robert H. Wright, of Eastern Carolina Teachers College, mentioned to the writer of this column today.

"This will be one of the greatest closing exercises the institution has ever had and everyone is looking forward to the occasion with more than passing interest."

The commencement address will be delivered by Hon. J. Bayard Clark, of Fayetteville. Mr. Clark is an orator of considerable experience and ability and will bring us a message filled with inspiration.

"The baccalaureate sermon will be delivered by Rev. J. C. Rowan, of Concord, N. C., one of the outstanding clergymen of the state."

"We are expecting hundreds to be in attendance during the final—men and women interested in the education of their children and the development of the Eastern Carolina Teachers college."

"It is true there are numbers of houses under construction in Greenville at the present time, but they will not begin to take care of the pressing demands of the future," a local realtor remarked to a Reflector representative today.

"Greenville is developing more rapidly at this time than probably ever before. The growth is not evident to people who live here, but let someone go away and return and the development will be plainly seen."

"The first demand of increased population is more houses to live in. To have more houses it is necessary for somebody to build them—not one at a time but several—sufficient to take care of a period of growth such as the city at present time is experiencing."

"There isn't a house for rent or available in any part of the city at the present time. I feel satisfied of the correctness of this statement by reason of the numbers of inquiries now being made."

"It is to be hoped the business interests of the city will get busy and take care of this exigency and in that way assure continued expansion of the city."

"All kinds of rumors are in circulation about pending improvements on the Greenville tobacco market," a reader remarked to the writer today. "and I wish somebody would inform me correctly as to what will actually be done in this direction."

"We all know that when Greenville tobaccoists set their head and heart on anything they mean to go through with it. Therefore, these reports carry more than usual weight among those interested in development of the market."

"With our goal set at seventy million pounds of bright leaf for the coming season there is every reason to believe the summer months will be filled with more than usual activity. It is to be hoped the public will be kept posted as to developments because they are interested in achievements in this—the greatest industry of the section."

Give more attention to the kind of cotton seed you plant this year," is the advice sent out today by leading agricultural bureaus of the country.

"Too much short staple cotton is being produced in this immediate locality—in fact throughout North Carolina. Our production was greater than the mills could consume last year and consequently 1-6 staple had to be purchased from other localities."

"Get in line with the progressive planters of the nation and provide the market with the kind of staple most in demand. In this way you will be able to obtain better prices. This should be sufficient stimulus for every grower interested in his financial standing—and that is the foundation upon which the industry is based."

OPEN FORUM

WILL THEY INCREASE ACERAGE

Will the farmers in the tobacco section of North Carolina and other states over do the thing in the planting of tobacco this year? From all indications and the Lord is willing they will. Out of twenty five of the large growers in Pitt county who I have interviewed in the last few weeks on this subject I have found twenty of them making plans for an increase in acreage. The reason that most of them give for increasing their crops is that they have an extra tenant this year, or they can make more out of tobacco than cotton, or that their neighbors are increasing and they can stand the loss if the other man can. They do not seem to be giving much thought as to what prices they will get for another big crop.

According to recent reports from Georgia, the acreage in that state will be increased from twenty five to thirty per cent, in South Carolina about twenty per cent and in the border counties of this state about ten to twenty per cent. With one of the biggest crops on record made last year, a crop so big that the warehousemen had to urge the farmers from marketing so fast, because they were not able to handle it in the proper way, and decrease in the price at the close of the season and an increase in acreage this year, how can the farmers expect a profitable business investment this year under these conditions.

This same condition happened in 1925 and 1926 with cotton and we are still feeling the effects of it. The Department of Agriculture reported that the 18,000,000 bale cotton crop that the 16,000,000 bale crop of 1925. This 500,000,000 less obtained for 18,000,000 bale crop of 1926 was loss and came out of the investment and operating capital of the farmer, and unless some unforeseen thing happens to cut down the production we are getting in a position to see the same thing happen with tobacco this year. With no way of handling these temporary surpluses it is time the farmers were giving some thought to the production end of it. It is possible that through government legislation or cooperation marketing organizations that these temporary surpluses could be handled to the advantage of the producer, but the question is would the farmers use this machinery if he had it. The Tobacco Association failed in this purpose, the North Carolina Cotton Growers Association and the Peanut Association are both still operating but they are not making near the progress they should be making along their respective lines. Does the trouble lie in that these Associations do not offer what the farmers want, or is it that the farmers do not want what they have got to offer? What ever the trouble is it should be corrected and the farmers of the state are the ones to do it.

SUBMARINE S-4 TOWED TO BOSTON

Four Tugs Convoy Victim of December Tragedy to Navy Yards Today.

Boston, March 19.—(AP)—The submarine S-4, raised on Saturday from the ocean bottom off Cape Cod where she had laid since being sunk by the coast guard destroyed Paulding, on December 17 and towed here, was placed in the drydock at the Navy Yard at high water, shortly after 9 a. m. today.

The towing of the submarine from Provincetown was accomplished without a hitch but with extraordinary care. It was brought to surface Saturday after hundreds of diving hours spent in water-tight his hip, sealing its compartments and making fast the pontoons to heavy iron chains that had been passed under and over the hull through three under keel tunnels.

On the trip the S-4 was covered by four tugs, the mine sweeper Bushnell, salvage ship Falcon and the destroyer Hahan.

The Falcon continuously pumped air into the submarine from 20 lines which ran to the shattered craft. In approaching the harbor the speed was cut to less than 3.7 knots an hour. The fleet made port just as the heavy storm broke.

As the S-4 was brought through a harbor channel, her flag, like that of the conveying ships, was at half staff. She was given the right of way by all other vessels and they lowered their flags as the little procession steamed past. The S-4's conning tower and gun alone showed above the surface, the latter still at the crazy angle at which it was thrown when the Paulding rode over the submarine.

The submarine was supported by six pontoons, and the salvage ship Falcon just outside the drydock continued to pump air into the hull. Four Navy Yard divers at once began the work of shoring the vessel into position, placing blocks underneath.

It was expected this would take about an hour. As soon as the operation was completed the arrangement was to drain immediately the 20.4 feet of water in the drydock, leaving the submarine fully exposed. Then medical officers were ready to go aboard and examine the eight bodies in the submarine.

Six feet of the conning tower showed above the surface of the water as the S-4 went into dock. The new flag which had been attached to the submarine for the trip from the Cape was flying at half-mast.

The docking operations were watched by Rear Admiral Philip Andrews, commandant of the yard, and a large crowd of yard officers and employees. Aside from these only newspapermen were admitted to the yard.

Vaccination Clinics

The County Board of Health, the city school authorities and the Parent-Teacher Associations are co-operating in a movement to have all children in Greenville of pre-school age (6 months to 6 years) vaccinated against diphtheria and smallpox during the next few weeks.

Diphtheria is a disease of childhood and takes its toll during this period of life. In North Carolina alone there were 1474 deaths due to this disease during the years 1921 to 1925 inclusive. Of this number 1241 occurred before the age of seven years. It has been demonstrated that 75 per cent of all children between the ages of 6 months and 2 years are susceptible to diphtheria. One treatment of from three to five doses will produce an immunity in most cases, which in all probability will last throughout life.

The number of cases of smallpox in the city plainly shows the importance of vaccination against this disease. The best time to do this is before the child is two years old. As a rule the sore is not as bad and healing is more rapid.

In order to free Greenville of these two diseases parents are urged to cooperate in the movement by taking their children to their family physician or to one of the clinics scheduled below. A representative from the health department will be at the following places on the dates named for the purpose of giving free vaccination against these two diseases to children of pre-school age. These clinics will be continued at weekly intervals for a period of four or five weeks.

Fifteen Injured In Hotel Fire.

Denver, Colo., March 19.—(AP)—Fifteen persons were injured, four seriously when an early morning fire partially destroyed the Colorado House, one of Denver's oldest hotels. All of upwards of 100 guests were believed to have escaped or to have been carried to safety by firemen. Several received minor injuries when they jumped from second and third story windows.

Five persons, at first believed to have been trapped on the third floor, were accounted for.

Bert C. Hart, Denver, was believed to have been fatally burned, Roy Bender, Denver, was thought to have sustained internal injuries and William Capbert, address unknown, was suffering from a fractured skull. Four firemen, including fire Chief John Healy were cut and bruised by falling timbers.

The blaze started on the first floor about 2 a. m. and soon swept through the structure. Several persons jumped from the windows when heat prevented firemen from placing ladders against the building.

Firemen estimated the damage at approximately $10,000.

Plan Survey of Of Game in N. C.

A census of the dead, the first undertaking of this kind to be tried in North Carolina, has been launched. The dead in this case will be the number of game birds and animals taken in the state during the hunting season just closed. Chas. J. Moore Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner, announced today.

The census will be in the nature of a survey of game conditions of the state. It will be carried on by means of a return postal card mailed to every hunter in the state on the number of game birds and animals killed during the season.

One hundred and twenty-five thousand return cards, Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner Chas. J. Moore declared, are being mailed out from the Department of Conservation and Development by Director Wade H. Phillips with requests that the blanks be filled in and mailed back to the department immediately.

"The report," continued the Deputy Game and Fish Commissioner, "is one which every hunter in his application for a license agreed to make at the close of the season. It is important that every hunter make this report in order that accurate information may be obtained regarding game conditions in the state."

"Information compiled from the survey will show definitely the supply of various types of game in the different sections of the state and will provide a basis upon which will rest many of the solutions of game problems in North Carolina. It will help to show how the supply can be increased for the benefit of every hunter."

In your sworn application for license under the State Game Law you agreed to report at the end of the season the number and kind of birds and animals taken by you and where taken, says the report blank. "The facts so gathered will prove a great help in solving the problems of game conservation. Will you, therefore kindly fill in, sign, and return the attached postal card at once? The information so sent cannot be used as a basis for law violation."

NEW YORK COTTON

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Cotton prices declined under realizing or liquidation by recent buyers, together with the local and southern selling promoted by reports of better weather in the east and central belts and relatively easy Liverpool cables.

Active months showed net losses of 22 to 24 points in early afternoon, but there appeared to be a little more buying just below the 19 cent level for May and the mid-afternoon market was steadier at rallies of four or five points from the lowest.

GRAIN TABLE

Chicago, March 15.—(AP)—Corn rose today to the highest prices yet which some deliveries have touched this season. The eastern seaboard was bidding for export corn at Missouri river points, with corn receipts at primary terminals today only 1,401,000 bushels against 2,109,000 bushels a week ago. Wheat reacted from an early advance, a decrease of 552,000 bushels in the United States visible supply being less than was generally expected. Corn closed unsettled 5-8c to 1-1-4c net higher, wheat varying from 3-8c decline to 1-4c advance, oats at 1-8c off to 1-4c up, and provisions unchanged to 15c down.

STOCK MARKET.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Speculative interest in today's stock market was divided between the brisk accumulation of public utilities and rubbers, and the heavy profit-taking in some of the recent pool favorites. The price movement was decidedly irregular, but the same which ran from 1 to 17 points out-numbered the losses, several of which ranged from 3 to 9 points. Trading failed to maintain the terrific pace set in the closing days of last week, but it was fairly heavy, nevertheless.

Rails quieted down somewhat after their rapid rise of last week, but Lackawanna moved up to a new top and Texas & Pacific was bid up more than 3 points.

Consolidated Gas, American Power & Light, North American Company, Commonwealth Power, Public Service of New Jersey and the New York Traction issues also sold at their best levels of the year.

The sudden revival of activity and strength in the rubbers coincided with the announcement of a $50,000,000 credit to the American Rubber "pool," and London discloses indications of a continuance of some form of rubber export restriction. Electric Refrigeration was bid up to a new top on rumors that new interests were buying into the company, and that February earnings showed a small profit for the first time in several months.

Public utilities which provided about half of the score or so new high records created during the early part of the session, were brought in reflection of expanding earnings and a revival of merger rumors. Mackay companies jumped 8 points to a new top at 125 1-2 on buying presumably influenced by the recent upswing in other communications issues. International telephone moved up more than five points to a new high in expectation of the issuance of valuable "rights" before the end of the year.

The closing was irregular. Total sales approximated 3,000,000 shares.

FREDERICK GUNSTER NOTED TENOR, TO SING AT TEACHERS COLLEGE.

Frederick Gunster, a noted young American tenor, will give a concert at East Carolina Teachers College on the evening of March 30, the sixth attraction in the series of winter and spring entertainments.

Mr. Gunster has been receiving great praise from the music critics for his beautiful voice and his artistic interpretations and pure diction, and he has been enthusiastically received by audiences throughout the country. The press notices from every section of the country testify to the success of his recent concert tours.

He seems to be a wholesome, all-around American, knowing his home people and knowing what they want. After considerable study in America, he spent some time in study at various places in Europe but continued his study after returning home. He says that an American audience should include on his program a considerable number of songs in English so the words can be understood. When he sings in another language he sings so that his audience follows his meaning without great effort.

Dedicates Bell To Mrs. Quinerly

The new cathedral bell recently installed in the tower of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church was dedicated at the regular church hour yesterday morning. Rev. L. B. Jones conducted the services and paid splendid tribute to the memory of Mrs. Rose Forbes Quinerly, in whose honor the bell was presented by her mother, Mrs. Jane Forbes.

Speaking in glowing terms of the deeds of the beloved member of the congregation who died Sept. 11, 1922, Mr. Jones said, "we install and dedicate this bell that the name of this christian woman may be kept in honorable and loving remembrance." He said further, "We pay our tribute of affection and honor to a devoted and faithful member of this church who was called to her reward September 11, 1922. It is therefore fitting that we should install and set apart this bell in loving memory—in the Name of the Father, and the Son and the Holy Spirit."

In concluding, he quoted the following verse:

"May the loud and well tuned voice Pealing forth in grand accord. Lift our hearts through joy and sorrow To thy throne, most gracious Lord."

An anthem, "The Song of the Bell," was rendered by the choir, during which time the bell tolled softly from its lofty tower.

At conclusion of the services the following prayer was offered by Mr. Jones:

"Blessed be thy name, O Lord that it hath pleased thee to put into the heart of thy servant to offer this memorial to thy praise and honor. Let thy blessings fall upon her, and her family . . . And grant, O Lord, that whoever shall be called by the sound of this bell to the house of prayer . . . may enter into thy gates with thanksgiving and into thy courts with praise . . . through Jesus Christ, our Lord."

The bell will ring at 9:30 for Sunday School, at 10:45 for worship and at 7:15 for evening worship.

Mrs. Quinerly was a native of Greenville and one of the outstanding women of the community. She was active in social, religious and civic work of the city, and contributed largely to the development of public life.

She was an active member of the Jarvis Memorial church where the bell has been installed in her memory. She was the first president of the Woman's Club and was active in its reorganization. She was also closely affiliated with other clubs.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—The Grace Line steamer Santa Teresa with 39 passengers and a crew of 70 aboard, was proceeding slowly to New York after being holed in a heavy sea for more than 30 hours with a broken condenser.

The ship, bound from Valparaiso, Chile, to New York, broke down 500 miles south of here Saturday afternoon. She was able to make her way to repairs, however, and her Captain William C. Renault reported to the company offices that he was proceeding to port.

Tank Maze Contest—Valuable Prizes Given

FIFTH HOUR

SIXTH HOUR

Here's the last sections of the Tank Maze.

Now it's up to you contestants to hustle and solve it, piece the sections together and get the completed solution into the hands of the Tank Maze Editor at White's Theatre.

The following cash prizes await you who have solved the entire maze, tracing the only line which runs entirely through it: First Prize, $3; Second Prize, $2; Third Prize, $1.

And for the next five nearest and most accurate answers received there are tickets for "The Patent Leather Kid," First National Pictures' epic of the tank corps, which comes to White's Theatre Wednesday and Thursday and which gave us the idea for this unique contest.

Even if you don't win a prize—and that's something that's dependent entirely on your skill, speed and neatness—you certainly should have had fun working out the maze, or trying to, and learning of the heroic deeds of the United States Tank Corps.

Remember you must send the Tank Maze Editor the six sections pieced together with the solution fully traced in order to be eligible for a prize.

Even if you haven't worked the maze out as it appeared in sections, day by day, it still isn't too late. Back issues of this newspaper, containing the sections previously printed may be secured at this office. Get them, clip them, solve them, piece them together with the section printed herewith, and hurry them to the Tank Maze Editor at White's Theatre. All answers must be turned in by tomorrow night.

Everybody is eligible to compete except employes of this newspaper of White's Theatre and of First National Pictures Inc., and their immediate families.

Names of the winners of the contest will be printed as soon as the judges have rendered their decisions, and the prizes will be forwarded to them at once.

NORA BAYES PASSES AWAY

Noted New York and London Actress Dies at New York After Brilliant Career.

New York, March 19.—(AP)—Nora Bayes, musical comedy actress, died today in a Brooklyn hospital.

She was taken to the hospital last Monday for an abdominal operation. She was thought to be on the road to recovery when she suffered a relapse last night from which she did not rally.

She was born in Milwaukee in 1880. She was a star on the stage for more than 20 years, making her first appearance in vaudeville in New York.

Four earlier marriages of Miss Bayes had been dissolved by divorce.

These husbands were Otto Gressing, Jack Norworth, Harry Clarke and Arthur Gordon.

After attaining vaudeville success in New York, Miss Bayes made her London debut at the Palace theatre in 1905. On her return to America she appeared in the "follies of 1908 and 1909."

Broadway saw her each year until 1914 when she returned to London to star in the "merry-go-round."

Back in New York in 1915 she continued her successes until in January, 1919. The Nora Bayes theatre was opened for the first time and "Ladies First," in which she had starred for several months, was transferred to the new theatre.

In September, 1925, she was the center of a drama of real life when four holdup men surrounded her automobile in front of her West End avenue home. Her chauffeur, John Gaslow, was shot. The robbers, who believed to have mistaken paste jewelry which she wore in her act for valuable gems, escaped in an automobile without obtaining any loot.

In 1924 Miss Bayes danced with the Prince of Wales after he had expressed great pleasure at the revue in which she was then appearing in London. At the request of a member of his staff, she went to a club after the performance and she met the Prince.

Two of her husbands had been co-stars with her. Much of her early success came with Norworth as partner. They were divorced while appearing in "The Sun Diggers" and two weeks later Miss Bayes married Clarke who was also in the company.

During her long and active career there had been only one other occasion when she suffered a serious illness. In 1914 while in Europe she was stricken but a rest cure at a German resort was effective.

The last appearance of Miss Bayes, whose real name was Dora Goldberg, only the day before she entered the hospital, was to sing at two benefits, one for old friends among the poor and one for crippled children.

Her voice seemed as strong as ever when her program at the Boyer street mission, in Chinatown, Little Alice Harper will be fewer page.

COHEN STANDS OUT AS GREAT GIANT FIGURE

(Associated Press Sports Writer) Augusta, Ga., March 19.—(AP)—As Cohen goes so goes the Giants seems a fair approximation of the 1928 chances of New York's entry into the National League. The Cohen is Andy, a smart, hustling infielder of 24, who is only being asked to learn a new position well enough to fill the big shoes of Rogers Hornsby who will do his second basing this year for the Boston Braves.

Manager John J. McGraw has named Cohen, who was a shortstop in the International League, to succeed Hornsby. The veteran manager declares that he has given the place to the youngster with as much misgivings as to his ability to play it. McGraw believes that the 24-year-old lad will develop into one of the greatest of the many second basers who have passed in review before him in his 25 years as manager of the Giants. If the man who makes or breaks the Giants is right his team will be in the thick of the pennant fight. If he has guessed wrong, it may not finish in the first division. It is conceded that no club can win a championship without a capable second baseman.

Cohen has done everything asked of him thus far in the spring preparation. He has studiously sought to acquire the polish marking the line dividing between a major and minor league baseball player.

He has shown an ability to hit and this may mean more in the Giant camp than in some others for the New York pitchers, with a period of development at Hot Springs behind them, have been putting something on the ball. McGraw is emphatic in his statement that it will not be "Cohen leaving the park."

The remainder of the Giant infield is firmly established. Bill Terry will play first base, Captain Travis Jackson will play short and Fred Lindstrom will play third base. Andy Reese will again be an extra infielder and Melvin Ott, who was an extra outfielder last season, may not have so far to go from the bench this year as he has been taking a turn at the infield and making a go of it.

The Giants will carry six outfielders throughout the season. Eddie Roush, who departed from the club's catcher's position in the making, will get his experience by catching frequently. Hogan is of a physique needing hard work and McGraw has plenty of it for him. Jack Cummings, a hard hitter, will be held in reserve and Jumbo Barrett, a home run hitter in the South Atlantic Association last season, may be at the bat in the third place. Barrett is a slugger but has something to learn about back-stopping.

The Giant manager is satisfied with his pitching staff as a whole although he has yet the individual under the microscope. Virgil Barnes, Larry Benton, Freddy Fitzsimmons, Bill Clark and Frank Henry will be retained from last year's crop. Vic Aldridge can meet the fixtures six if he wishes. The Giants plan to have only nine pitchers when the race becomes earnest so a merry scramble will ensue for the other places.

Two of the youngsters have made such good showing that they seem to have the better of the argument at the moment. Bill Walker, a left-hander brought from Denver, and Bill Cantrell, who was with Jacksonville and Newark in 1927. Two right handers Jim Paulkner, from Toronto, and Art Johnson, have come a long way in spring training. Still in the hunt for the place or places are Chet Nichols, Jack Levy, Ned Porter, Jim Chaplin, Leo Mangum and Henry Bonney. Only time can tell.

The Giants should get good pitching and strong batting strength in the infield, outfield and catching departments. But after all, it's up to Andy Cohen.

New and Old Managers Will Battle for National Crown

How will they finish for 1928? Take your pick, it is good as ours. In order of standing by teams in 1927, they are Donie Bush, Pittsburgh; Bill McKechnie, St. Louis; John McGraw, New York; Joe McCarthy, Chicago; Jack

"Play ball!"

When those words are hurled from official umpire throats to echo about the stands of National League cities opening the season of 1928, six of the teams will be piloted by new managers.

Of the eight contenders for pennant honors, only two outfits retain their old chiefs. John McGraw of the New York Giants and Wilbert Robinson of the Brooklyn Robins are the veteran pilots who will be found on the sidelines passing along instructions to their pitchers. Naturally with years of experience behind them these two ages of the national pastime look for an early lead in league standing to be held until the crucial pennant grind is ended.

But competition will be stiff with young ambitious managerial talent anxious to deliver the "bacon" to their new berths.

"Donie" Bush of Pittsburgh is out for the flag this year, while Bill McKechnie, formerly of Pittsburgh, wants to prove his worth by pushing the St. Louis Cards out in front from the start. Chicago has Joe McCarthy, another of the new pilots, and if Joe's plans work out the Cubs will be in the world's series next fall.

The Cincinnati Reds, under Jack

Hendricks, Cincinnati; Wilbert Robinson, Brooklyn; Jack Slatery, Boston, and Darr Skatton, Philadelphia. All but McGraw and Robinson are serving first year in new berths.

HARRY COOPER AND CUICI TIE IN GOLF EVENT

Miami, Fla., March 19.—(AP)—Showing a clean pair of heels to the field in the 36 hole qualifying round, Harry Cooper, Buffalo, N. Y., and Henry Cuici, New York, tied with 137, today were listed among the favorites in the $15,000 Lagorce open tournament as the first 36 hole round of the 72-hole medal play opened.

Cuici shot a sensational 65 to set a new course record in the afternoon and added to his morning 72, while Cooper, who bagged a 70 in the morning, turned in a 67 for the afternoon's play.

Gene Sarazen, Newport Richey, Fla., pro, former national open champion and winner of most of Florida's winter money tournaments, faltered in the afternoon to take a 72 after leading the field in the morning with a 67, but his aggregate of 139 was good for third place.

An amateur, Douglas Casey, of Chicago, was fourth in the qualifying field of 64 with a 141, while Joe Kirkwood Albany, Ga., trick shot Bobby Cruickshank and Johnny Farrell, both of New York, were in a triple tie for fifth with totals of 142.

Others in the select circle and near stroke behind the leaders with cards showing 146 were Tommy Armour, Washington, D. C., national open champion; Johnny Golden, Paterson, N. J.; Harry Hampton, Chicago; Macdonald Smith, of Great Neck, New York, and Eddie Briggs, an amateur, also from Great Neck.

The 36 hole round today will be followed by a similar round tomorrow.

Details of the play will be broadcast throughout the tournament by station WIOD of Miami over a wave length of 247.8 meters.

SPORTS SLANTS

By ALAN J. GOULD

New York, March 19.—(AP)—They don't always come back but it is difficult to keep them from trying, those who have once worn purple robes of sport.

Take Bill Tilden and Jack Dempsey as two bright examples. Each has known the satisfaction of sport for a seven year stretch. Both began to hit the well known chutes in the same season, 1926. There is no question that Big Bill and Manassa Jack are well past the peak of their careers. Yet each is slated for a leading role in this year's athletic drama.

Tilden, 35, and with his future behind him, as he admits himself, is still the number one American tennis star by several kilometers, the captain and main hope of the American Davis Cup campaign.

Dempsey, 33, and protestations of his retirement to the contrary is still the outstanding challenger for the man who has twice whipped him, Gene Tunney. In fact, the official other contenders appear in the ring the more convincing it is that the old Manassa Mauler not only is the logical contender but the outstanding gate attraction of them all.

In a year that will see Babe Ruth out for new home run laurels, Helen Wills campaigning abroad, the Olympics in full swing at Amsterdam and Bobby Jones meeting the challenge of the rest of the golf pack, the performances of Tilden and Dempsey will be among the most entertaining of all.

In the peculiar fashion of the boxing business the signs already are multiplying that Jack Dempsey will take one more fling at Tunney and add at least another half-million to his bankroll.

The Chicago Tribune prints an item in which Dempsey is quoted as writing to a friend:

"This retirement talk is just a part of the old ballyhoo," adding that he is going to New York about the first of April to talk with Rickard and arrange for a third bout with Gene.

Meanwhile one of Dempsey's "personal representatives" returns here from the Pacific coast with the impression that Jack will be in a mood to talk fight when the proper time comes.

Tilden, overruled on his own plan for Davis Cup campaign, was given the impression that his leadership of the American team will end with completion of the American zone play. Big Bill's idea is that the United States may just as well concede defeat abroad as to send a team over in the middle of June with only a month's time to prepare for the final matches in Paris.

Nevertheless it is difficult to conceive of Tilden sidestepping so attractive an issue as the prospect of meeting the Frenchmen abroad again.

Regardless of the merits of his own contention that the American

What Young Twirlers Should Know When Making the Big-Time Grade

YOUNG OLDTIMER SHOWS THEM THE WAY

By JACK Y. KEANE
International Illustrated News Sports Writer

IN EVERY big league training camp in southern climes there are young, husky and ambitious baseball pitchers anxious to "make the grade."

They realize fully that every time they go out there on the mound to pitch to their fellow players—only in practice, it's true—that an eagle-eyed manager is absorbing every move.

"What's the secret of success in pitching?" is a question asked thousands of times by rookies trying to gain the "Big-Top" teams.

No one is better qualified to answer than the veteran pitcher Jack Quinn of the Philadelphia "Athletics." And here is his reply: "Put it where they can't mure der it."

Quinn knows whereof he speaks. He is entering his twenty-fifth year on the professional diamond. Up and down from the minors to the majors he has sild and climbed. No big league pitcher has had such a varied career.

He opened in 1903 in the Pennsylvania State League. He bounced around with minor league teams in the South until 1909, when he mounted to the American League.

Three years later found him back in an International League uniform, but the next year the "Braves" of the National League claimed him. Another drop carried him down to Federal and Pacific Coast aggregations, but 1913 found him with the "White Sox" later to be taken by the Yankees, where he remained three years more.

The Red Sox had him for another two or three years until the middle of 1915, when he was traded to the Athletics.

Now at the beginning of 1928 Jack Quinn, many times considered a total " flop" in baseball, is again wearing an American League uniform. Those who have seen him work out this spring say that his food right arm is equal to a few more seasons.

That is something of a record—to be entering the quarter century of big league pitching. No wonder his advice to youngsters should be taken seriously.
