BELIEVE DAM BREAK CAUSED BY EXPLOSIVE

Evidence Pointing to Dynamiting of St. Francis Dam in Hands of Officials.

Los Angeles, March 20.—(AP)—The Evening Express today says that Los Angeles city authorities are carrying on their investigation of the St. Francis Dam disaster on the theory that the collapse of the big buttress was caused by dynamite.

Evidence pointing to the alleged fact is declared to be in the hands of District Attorney Asa Keyes.

Los Angeles, March 20.—(AP)—The Los Angeles water system, of which the St. Francis Dam, which last week gave away to loose a stream of destruction into San Francisco Canyon, is a part, today was under guard.

The city bureau of power and light last night inaugurated a day and night watch along the 250 mile stretch of the system. Guards were placed at all dams and reservoirs and important parts of the aqueduct to "protect it any contingencies."

Meanwhile more than forty witnesses were waiting to take the stand at today's inquest over Los Angeles county's dead. Coroner Frank Nance announced that the cause of the disaster and the possibility that the collapse of the dam was due to a criminal act were to be the principal objects of the inquiry.

The next move in the reconstruction program will be the utilization of a million dollar fund appropriated by the city council to establish four relief camps at Santa Paula, Bardsdale, Piru and Fillmore, from which points men and materials will be sent to the stricken residents.

A few additional bodies were uncovered yesterday as the work of clearing away the debris in the flooded area continued.

Press Probe of Zinovieff Letter

London, March 20.—(AP)—Laborers were determined today to press an inquiry into the historic "Zinovieff letter." They were convinced that the government in refusing a new inquiry on oath, which was upheld by the house of commons, 326 to 132, was hiding something material and they intended to find out what.

The labor party has no intention that the letter matter shall rest where it is, Ramsay MacDonald, former labor premier said. "The truth will be discovered in time."

In the debate before the inquiry was defeated a new mystery was added by a document purporting to explain how the letter reached both the government and The Daily Mail, which published it. The letter was made public in 1924. It contained communist propaganda and was alleged to have been written by Gregory S. Zinovieff, a high soviet official. The publication of the letter is credited with having added in bringing the downfall of the labor government.

Introducing a new feature into the matter, Premier Baldwin said that Conrad Donald Im Thurn, a shipbroker, made statement to him telling how the letter became public. The statement said that Im Thurn, through an unnamed business friend learned of the letter. Actuated by patriotic motives and ignorant at the attempt of the soviet to incite sedition in the British army and navy at a time when the British government, having concluded a treaty, was about to make a loan to the soviet, Im Thurn decided to give letter both to the government and to the electorate through the press. He declared that he had never received any money or reward. Im Thurn is a nephew of Sir Edward Im Thurn, former governor of Fiji, and high commissioner of the Western Pacific, and a brother of Captain John Knowles Im Thurn, commanding the signal school at Portsmouth.

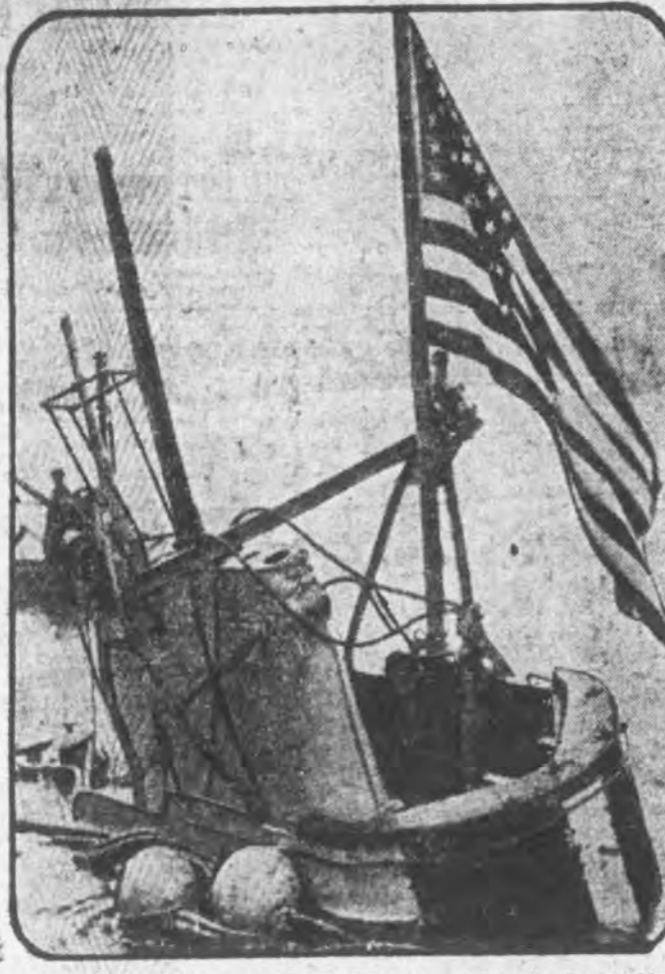

Receive Bids on Cape Fear Bridge

Raleigh, March 20.—(AP)—The State Highway Commission today received for consideration eight bids from contractors within and without the state for construction of the proposed bridge across the Cape Fear River at Wilmington. The bridge is to be paid for thru a one and one-fourth million dollar bond issue, authorized by the 1927 legislature.

The project plans call for, in reality, two bridges, one over the Cape Fear and another across Northeast Cape Fear river, with a causeway providing a 24-foot roadway connecting the two.

The Highway Commission expected to have the bids tabulated and the successful contractor determined late today.

GRIM GRAVE OF GALLANT CREW

WILKINS FLIES ARCTIC WASTE

Explorer Completes Flight From Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska.

Seward, Alaska, March 20.—(AP)—Exploration of the Arctic "blind spot" by Captain George H. Wilkins was a step nearer today after completion of his flight from Fairbanks to Point Barrow, Alaska, the first hop on a contemplated flight to Spitzbergen on the other side of the North Pole from Barrow.

An almost continuous radio communication kept the United States Signal Corps here in touch with Wilkins throughout his hazardous flight over 500 miles of Arctic waste between Fairbanks and Barrow yesterday. With Lieut. Carl Ben Elson handling the plane's controls, Wilkins operated the short wave radio.

Radio messages described the trip over the high Endicott mountain range and over the barren tundra. Leaving Fairbanks at 11:25 a. m., the fliers were over the Endicott range at an altitude of 12,000 feet about 2 o'clock. Wilkins messaged that it was "a bit colder as they passed over the"

Navy Begins Sweeping Inquiry Into Disaster Aboard Submarine S-4

Part of Tragic Story of Sunken Vessel Revealed in Recovery of Last Eight Victims.

Boston, March 20.—(AP)—The Navy today was intent on a fresh inquiry into the disaster which claimed the lives of 40 officers and men aboard the submarine S-4. When the craft had been dry-docked and the bodies of the last eight victims to be recovered had been removed from their steel tomb, the tragic story was but partially revealed.

Naval officers who inspected the scene before the bodies were taken out saw the mute evidence of the desperate fight to shut out incoming water, but failed to find written messages in which it had been hoped the doomed men might have recorded their account of the disaster.

The bodies were covered with gray mud which had seeped in from the ocean head off Provincetown, the scene of the crash between the submarine and coast guard destroyer Paulding, on December 17, last, and there were several inches of later over them.

REBELS GROW BOLDER TODAY

Troops of General Sandino no Longer Fear Attacks of American Forces.

Managua, Nicaragua, March 20.—(AP)—Shift resistance put up by rebels against two American marine planes today indicated that followers of General Augusto Sandino are losing their fear of aerial attack and becoming bolder. Previously the Sandinistas scurried to cover when they heard an airplane motor. Now they are attempting to bring them down with rifle and machine gun fire.

Captain Francis E. Pierce, an observer in one of the planes, was hit in the foot during a sharp fight with rebels at an abandoned mine in the vicinity of Murra, twenty miles southeast of Jalapa. It was estimated that from 50 to 200 insurgents attacked the planes. The flyers dropped bombs on them and turned their machine guns upon the men on the ground. Marine headquarters would not hazard a guess as to how effective this was.

After Captain Pierce was struck the plane returned to Ocotul, Michiel Wodarczyk a gunnery sergeant found a bullet hole in his para-

LOCAL ROTES ENTERTAIN IN HONOR LADIES

Annual Ladies Night Program Last Night Considered Best in Many Years.

Last night was annual ladies night at the Greenville Rotary Club and one of the best programs of the year was presented.

The whole club was decorated in green and all of the favors carried out St. Patrick's Day idea.

Prior to the serving of supper members of the club were called back to an ante-room and required to put on mustaches of the famous movie comedian type. Many of them were almost unrecognizable when they returned to the reception room to accompany their ladies to the dining hall.

Both men and women wore paper hats which also carried out the St. Patrick's Day color scheme. At each table there were all kinds of noise makers and favors carrying out the spirit of the day. The occasion was almost without formality.

The occasion was presided over by President Bill Rogers. The address of welcome to the ladies was made by Rotarian H. F. Jones, pastor of Memorial Baptist church. The response was made by Mrs. J. E. Winslow in a most happy vein.

Mrs. J. Knott Proctor, who was accompanied at the piano by Mrs. Ray Tyson, rendered two vocal solos that were greatly enjoyed.

The Harmony Four quartet composed of Bill Lee, Ed Williams, E. F. Story and Manly Sellers rendered several selections and scored a direct hit.

Carl Goerch, of Washington, made a short talk filled with humor and afforded the listeners much merriment.

J. B. Kittrell, who was in charge of the stunts of the evening, staged a voting contest among the ladies for the best looking man present. L. A. Stroud and Dr. K. B. Pace tied for honors, and in a toss up Dr. Pace won and was declared the winner and was to have been presented the prize described by Mr. Kittrell as a cut glass bath tub formerly used by one of the famous movie actresses. Unfortunately for Dr. Pace, however, as the stunt man started across the floor to make the presentation, he stumbled his toe, fell in the middle of the floor and the bathtub was shattered into a thousand pieces. One of the janitors was called in with a brush and dust pan to pick up the prize.

As a closing feature to the several numerous stunts, Mr. Kittrell presented a local negro quartet that rendered some real dark harmony.

McKay and International Telegraph Companies Have Assets Of $225,000,000.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—The New York World today said it regarded as an accomplished fact the biggest communications merger on record. This, it said, was the combination of the Mackay companies, operating 5,000 postal telegraph offices in the United States, and the International Telephone and Telegraph Company.

The deal brings together companies with combined assets of $225,000,000 and with about 125,000 miles of joined cable, telephone and telegraph wires in the United States, Canada, Mexico, Cuba and Central and South America.

Neither Soshenes Behn, head of the International Telephone and Telegraph Company, nor Clarence H. Mackay would discuss the reported merger, but the World says Mr. Mackay, although becoming chairman of the International Communications Company, as the merged companies will be known, will practically retire from active affairs.

The merger as outlined will be on the basis of one bond of the new company for every Mackay preferred share and three new International Communications 7 per cent non-cumulative non-voting preferred shares and one common share in the International Telephone and Telegraph for every four shares of Mackay common.

Girls Pretty Dresses.
Birds, Elevators, Stocks.
Old Empires, New Planes.
(By Arthur Brisbane)
Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

A young American girl, to be changed in Canada next Friday says, "I hope they will hang me in a pretty dress."

Another American girl at her wedding to an Indian Rajah wore $2,000,000 worth of jewelry, including a diamond nose ring. Her husband was painted yellow for part of the ceremony in accordance with Hindu rites.

Both these young women perhaps would have been happier had they thought less about dress, about things put on the outside of the body, and more about developing thought in the inside of the head.

A seat on the New York stock exchange has been sold for $320,000. At that price the eleven hundred seats on the stock exchange are worth $352,000,000. Last Saturday stocks were sold at the rate of 1,000,000 shares an hour and in spite of time saving devices the ticker was twenty-five minutes behind the speculators.

There are ups and downs in birds, elevators and stocks, but be careful how you bet on the "down" side in stocks when wages and spending ability in a country move up fifty to seventy-five per cent and manufacturers can make thirty-three men do the work of a hundred. Selling short in America isn't a safe pastime.

Ask some of the bears. You say "some things are too high." Certainly, some things are always too high. But some of them that are too high will go higher. There is one stock now, well above $400 a share but not too high that will go some day to heights that will make the owners dizzy.

The writer by the way hasn't any of that, or other high priced stock, and can look at things impartially.

Lloyd George takes seriously the "Holy War" started by Mohammedans against British rule or domination in Asia and Africa. Lloyd George says it is interesting to reflect "that this trouble has arisen in two countries, which were powerfully and highly civilized empires at a time when even the existence of Great Britain was scarcely known."

If Mohammedans have made up their minds to exterminate heretics and infidels, the meaning Europeans, that will mean trouble for the Brit-

1927 COTTON CROP SHOWS BIG DECREASE

Census Bureau Place Production at 12,950,473 Against 17,977,374 Last Year.

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—The 1927 cotton crop was placed today by the census bureau at 12,950,473 equivalent 500 pound bales compared with 17,977,374 bales in 1926 and 16,103,679 in 1925.

The size of the crop was determined by the final ginning canvass of agriculture estimated the crop at 12,789,000 bales in its final estimate last December.

The total crop comprised 12,777,503 round bales including 550,178 round bales counted as half bales compared with 17,755,070 bales including 663,786 round bales for 1926 and 16,122,516 bales including 351,121 round bales for 1925.

Send Another Plane to Snow Bound Detour

Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., March 20.—(AP)—Still isolated in their snow prison and with only limited food supplies, the 600 residents of Detroit, Mich., today were cheered by advices that a second army transport plane was winging its way north from Selfridge field.

Four hundred loaves of bread and other foodstuffs taken to the snow-bound settlement last Friday by another transport plane and by a dog team are fast dwindling as are the 1,500 pounds of provisions that reached the town by means of a snow motor expedition.

SENATE BUSY TODAY WITH BIRD REFUGE

Other Issues of Importance Continued by Committees of Both Parts of Congress.

Today: Senate again takes up bills on consent calendar and Norbeck bird refuge bill. White House considers interstate commerce proposals.

Coal investigation continues before senate interstate commerce committee.

Cotton inquiry goes on before senate agriculture sub-committee.

Amendments to Jones floor control bill taken up by senate commerce committee in executive session.

Muscle Shoals arms export ban, immigration and currency stabilization proposals before house committee.

Partisan exchanges on latest oil disclosures followed disposal of part of calendar measures in senate, which also confirmed nomination of Bascom S. Deaver to be middle Georgia district judge; house passed number designation of flag and Summer bill to permit sending of presidential election certificates by mail instead of by messenger.

Senate coal committee decided would invite Governor Fisher of Pennsylvania and call John D. Rockefeller, Jr., R. B. Mellon and P. E. Crowley to testify.

Cotton investigation continued before agriculture sub-committee. Interstate commerce committee approved Gooding long and short haul bill.

President Coolidge, in messages to house, asked appropriations for construction of two more dirigibles and to carry on investigation to develop safety submarine devices.

Representative Wood, republican, Indiana, proposed utilization by high schools and colleges of idle war-time government ships for vocational training.

Secretary Davis again opposed Burton arms export ban resolution before house foreign affairs committee.

Winston-Salem, March 20.—(AP)—O. Max Gardner of Shelby, candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, is opposed to Governor Smith of New York, as Democratic candidate for President. He today wired Stanford Martin, editor of the Winston-Salem Sentinel, to this effect.

"I have never hesitated to say to my political friends and associates what I am now saying to you and through you to the press, namely, that I do not favor the nomination of Governor Smith," the telegram said.

Senate Body Plans To Investigate Records Of Late President Harding

To Ascertain Whether He was Involved in The Exchange of The Continental Bonds.

Washington, March 20.—(AP)—With the estate of the late President Harding now within its focus, the Senate Teapot Dome committee's long and ramifying investigation of the now cancelled oil leases and their subsequent connections is nearing its end to the accompaniment of violent political eruptions on the floor of congress.

Today was another off-day for the inquiry, but it will get under way again tomorrow after three days of sub-committee investigation in Chicago.

Meanwhile, further reaction was looked for following the announcement yesterday by Senator Nye, republican, North Dakota, chairman of the Teapot Dome committee, that before winding up its searching inquiry into the disposition of the Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading Company and the committee would look into the records of President Harding's estate.

While he did not believe any of the bonds would be found there, Nye said there would be a "lack of satisfaction if this committee submits a report to the Senate without going into the matter.

The Liberty warehouse here will be operated by R. V. Keel next season, it was learned today. Definite announcement concerning the change will be made at a late date, it was stated.

FLYER GIVEN WILSON AWARD

Lindbergh Presented Bronze Medal and $25,000 by Woodrow Wilson Foundation.

New York, March 20.—(AP)—The name of Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh today stood linked with those of Viscount Cecil and Elihu Root as one whose contribution to the cause of international peace and understanding had been recognized as worthy of the Woodrow Wilson award.

The award, consisting of a bronze medal 12 inches in diameter and $25,000 was presented by the Woodrow Wilson foundation at a dinner at the Hotel Astor last night attended by notables in many fields.

The award was presented to Viscount Cecil of England in 1924 for his services to the League of Nations and to Mr. Root in 1926 for his flight.

He sent word to air officials here that he would continue his flight as soon as the weather moderated.

Ottawa, Ont., March 20.—(AP)—The search by air of the Maine woods for the missing trans-Atlantic plane Endeavour still awaited favorable weather today.

Flying officer Charles Bath of the Royal Canadian air force took off from here Sunday morning to search the woods in the vicinity of Greenville, Me., for Captain Walter G. R. Hineshelfe and the Hon. Elsie Mackay, the two English flyers. He was forced to land at Greenville, Que., by a snowstorm Sunday and was again forced down by a storm at Montreal yesterday when he attempted to continue his flight.

He sent word to air officials here that he would continue his flight as soon as the weather moderated.

Benjamin Duke Still Confined By Infirmities

New York, March 20.—(AP)—The New York World says Benjamin N. Duke, wealthy tobacco manufacturer, financier and philanthropist, has been confined to his million dollar home at 1076 Fifth avenue by premature infirmities of age for more than a year, it has just been learned. Occasionally Mr. Duke, who is 73, sits at the big front window looking out on the avenue, but most of the time he is confined to his bed.

The fact of his illness came out at the trial at Somerville, N. J., where a group of Texans are attempting to obtain a share of the estate left by his brother and business partner, James B. Duke. It was later confirmed at his home here.

Mr. Duke and his brother were left a fortune by their father, Washington Duke, who founded the tobacco business which grew into the American Tobacco Company. He was particularly active in building up Durham, N. C. into a city and had many other interests besides his tobacco concerns. Trinity College, now known as Duke University, has been a recipient of his philanthropies as well as those of his brother. His Fifth Avenue home is said to be filled with a million dollars worth of art treasures.

ARRANGE FOR BILLY SUNDAY REVIVAL HERE

Campaign of Distinguished Evangelist to be Held at Star Warehouse.

The evangelistic campaign to be conducted in this city by the Rev. Billy Sunday will be held in the Star warehouse, owned by Smith & Sugg, according to announcement made this morning by members of the local committee.

The selection was made by Albert Peterson, representative of the distinguished evangelist, who arrived in Greenville last night from Iola, Kansas, where a revival is now in progress. It was stated that the choice was made by reason of the type of architecture of the building which, it is believed, will come nearer meeting demands of the occasion than any other structure in the city.

Mr. Peterson will meet with G. V. Smith, chairman of the building committee, this afternoon and perfect plans for seating the great crowds expected to be in attendance at every service. It was understood that these plans would be put into effect immediately.

All members of the executive committee have been requested to meet with Mr. Peterson at the Christian church tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock when a definite program will be arranged. All details of the meeting will be considered at this time, and when the revival opens Sunday, April 22, everything will be in readiness.

Mr. Peterson said he was highly gratified at the interest manifested here in the coming of Mr. Sunday and expressed opinion that the campaign should be the greatest in history of the locality. He was introduced to numbers of leaders of the religious field here this morning and received a pretty good impression of the splendid way they are going about arrangements for the revival.

Mr. Peterson said Mr. Sunday was having much success in Iola, Kansas, and that he would have hundreds of converts before the meeting closes. The evangelist will come to Greenville after closing the meeting in Kansas.

Washington, N. C., March 20.—(AP)—Negotiations have been completed today for the sale of the Washington Daily News by W. D. W. Bishop to Frank A. Pierson, of Daytona Beach, Fla., secretary of the chamber of commerce at Daytona Beach, Fla. The Washington Daily News made the announcement.

CLEVELAND IS LOOKING FAR AHEAD

By BRIAN BELL (AP Sports Writer)

New Orleans, March 20.—(AP)—Cleveland has the current edition of the Indians of the American League in training and with classes of 1931 and 1932. There are 47 players in camp, ranging from the 18 year old Mel Harder to the 39 year old Grover Hartley.

"Cleveland, with a new manager and new owners, is looking far ahead. Some of the two score players now in Cleveland uniforms will not wear this livery during the season but they are sure to don the colors again in years to come.

One of the minor league graduates has already made good. Eddie Morgan, former Tulane baseball, football and basketball star who was a Southern Association sensation with the New Orleans Pelicans last season, has been given Tris Speaker's old place, centerfield. Morgan, fast and a hard hitter, has established himself as one of the most promising players advancing from the minors to the majors this year. Charles Jamieson will again play left field and lead off and Homer Summa, who knows his right field wall in Cleveland, will try to out-guess that barrier through another season. Gerken and Lankford who have been up before, promise to remain as utility outfielders. Gill, a rangy young chap, and Speer, just as young and almost as rangy, will be heard from later.

The veteran George Burns will play first base and hit doubles, Lew Fonseca will start at second base and consistent Joe Sewell at short. Johnny Hodapp will play third.

Manager Peckinpaugh will act as an infield substitute, as will his former team mate, Aaron Ward. Carl Linn, another Tulane alumnus, has a chance to join Morgan in rooting for the green. The piece is all clustered up with young fellows who probably will make their mark on future baseball pages. Jonah Goldman, Syracuse University shortstop, and Ed Montague, third baseman from New Haven, have shown flashes which will win them places on the farm and a return ticket to Cleveland in the autumn. Fred Spurgeon, injured second baseman, will not be able to help the Indians until mid-season.

Luke Sewell, will carry the bulk of the catching burden with Myatt and Hartley to help him. If a fourth catcher is retained, Martin Autrey, who has been with the Indians two years, may have to contest with Dick Stahlman, a giant, who caught for Wilkesbarre last season.

Around Willis Hudlin, the club's outstanding pitcher at 21, the pitching hopes are built. He was the Indians' leading workman in 1927, and has rounded into good spring training form. If George Uhle and Emil Levan have recovered from their arm troubles of last year, the club should get good pitching for Joe Shaute, Garland Buckeye, Walter Miller, Walter Brown, and George Grant are returning to the mound. Billy Bays, a smart left hander who pitched for Greenville in the South Atlantic Association, has an excellent chance to become a relief pitcher with the Indians. Glenn Bolton, a huge southpaw, may have to be disposed of before the sticky Bayne can get the job and Collard, late of New Orleans, will be watching.

The new school of pitching taught in Cleveland is filled with promising pupils. Wesley Farrell is one of the outstanding members. Although only 20 years of age, he is two inches over six feet in height and weighs 195 pounds. He came to the Indians from Oak Ridge Military Institute, North Carolina. He is by no means ready for the exacting demands of the major leagues, but he is sure to remain under Cleveland's wings. Mel Harder is another schoolboy recruit who is on his way to baseball fame. He is but 18 years of age, but stands six feet in his socks and scales 180, still far short of full growth. He is a product of Technical High School, Omaha.

The size of the Cleveland pitchers is impressive. There are 14 who are six feet or more in height. Bayne, who is 5-09, is the midsize of the staff, although he would not feel small in company of normal pitchers.

If the Indians continue to gather the youngsters in, Cleveland will need more than one farm where summer pasturage is good.

Sees Cardinals And Yankees As Next Champions

St. Petersburg, Fla., March 20.—(AP)—Sizing up the contenders for the approaching big league campaign, Babe Ruth forecasts the Yankees and Cardinals in the world series next October.

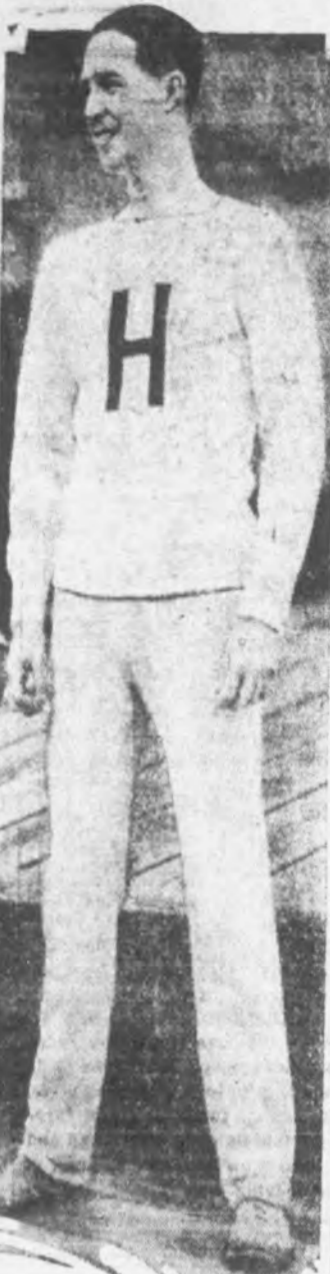

He figures Connie Mack's Athletics with Ty Cobb and Tris Speaker finishing in second place in the American League scramble. He has the Pirates slated for second place in the National League and the Giants third.

Here's the way the Babe predicts the finish will be:

American League—Yanks, Athletics, Senators, Tigers, Indians, White Sox, Red Sox and Browns.

National League—Cards, Pirates, Giants, Cubs, Reds, Braves, Robins and Phillies.

BILL TILDEN TALKS SOME HORSE SENSE

By HORACE C. RENEGER, Associated Press Sports Writer, Augusta, Ga., March 20.—(AP)—Big Bill Tilden, captain of America's 1928 Davis Cup tennis squad, believes "the only way to train for tennis is to practice" and is accordingly putting his idea into effect among the candidates for the international competition team.

"The boys don't need a nurse to tell them what time to go to bed and what to eat, all they need to do these things is common horse sense," Tilden declared when asked whether, as captain, he would institute training rules for the first tennis training squad ever assembled in the United States.

Thus the leader of eight American Davis Cup teams dispelled with a few words any pet idea of many observers of the training camp that Tilden would put into effect new theories on how racket wielders should prepare for international competition.

Tilden is making no promises of what the 1928 team will do toward recapturing the cup taken to France by LaCoste, Cochet, Borotra and Brugnon. He is merely smiling confidently and starting the candidates to work early and continue late.

The first day's routine of the cup squad consisted of singles play for a couple of hours in the morning; another two hours of doubles play in the afternoon and then an evening left to the individual tastes of players.

Today something of the same order was promised with the sessions running an hour longer in the forenoon and another extra hour during the afternoon.

The only point stressed by Tilden in the first day's drill was getting to the shower and dressing after play was completed. He admitted he was taking no chances of any of the candidates contracting a cold. A check of the players on hand, according to the ranking of the tennis association, disclosed that five of the first ten ranking players of the nation are competing for team places.

The first ten are: Tilden, Francis Hunter, George Lott, E. Manuel Alonzo, John Hennessey, John Van Rye, Arnold Jones, John Doeg, Lewis White and Cranston Holman. Tilden, Lott, Hennessey, Jones and Doeg are on hand in addition to Edward G. Chandler, Harvard law student and former intercollegiate title holder; Wray Brown, sensational St. Louis player; Wilmer Allyn, intercollegiate champion;

DIZZY, NO APPETITE

Since Taking Black-Draught This Man Is Eager For His Meals and Feels Much Better.

Harrisburg, N. C.—Mr. M. E. Fink, of this place, says: "It must have been fully twenty-five years ago that I began taking Black-Draught regularly. It wasn't so long after I married."

"I was in town one day, and while talking to a friend I stopped over to pick up something. When I straightened up, I felt dizzy. I spoke to him about this and how I had not felt like eating."

"My friend told me to take some Black-Draught. I knew my mother had used it, and so I bought a package. When I got home, I took a good, big dose, and the next night, another. In a few days I felt much better. I was hungry and the dizziness was gone."

"A good many times I have had this dizziness and a bad taste in my mouth, or headaches, and then I take Black-Draught and get better. I do not have to take it very often. We buy from five to seven packages a year."

"Theodore's Black-Draught has been found to relieve sick headaches in thousands of cases that were due to constipation. Containing no mineral drugs, it acts gently, yet promptly. Try it."

FOUR BRAVE WOMEN LOST TO THE SEA

PRINCESS LOWENSTEIN, ELSIE MACKAY, Mrs. FRANCES GRAYSON, MILDRED DORAN

Ever "the sea has called to men. Rugged sailors of brave hearts have sailed from their home ports for the last time to be engulfed in the stormy waters with their ships. Now the air above the sea seems to call to adventurous women. The grim toll grows! With the disappearance of the Hon. Elsie Mackay another name may have to be added to that list of women who have tried to span the seas by air. Princess Lowenstein-Wertheim perished with two British fliers on an attempted trans-Atlantic hip; Mrs. Grayson and three men died on a flight from New York to Nova Scotia, and Mildred Doran with her male companions vanished on the San Francisco-Honolulu flight.

Also is not eligible for the Davis cup team because of the fact that his home is in Spain.

Artillery Cagers Enter Tournament In Washington, N.C.

The basketball team of battery E, local military unit, will play in the tournament at Washington tonight to determine the championship of Eastern North Carolina, according to announcement made this morning by Lester Jones, captain of the artillerymen.

Much interest is centered around the contest, Captain Jones stated and the boys are determined to bring the cup back home with them. The club has established an exceptionally fine record this season and its members hope to be able to continue their winning streak in the tournament.

The following well known players, will take part in the tonight's engagement: Troy Burnette, Douglas West, Francis Curry, Tom Hicks, "Runt" Bostic, Beatty and Charlie Eason.

CARR CREEK INVITED TO PLAY AT CHICAGO

Chicago, March 20.—(AP)—Carr Creek, tucked away in the Kentucky Hills, has been invited to send its high school basketball team to the University of Chicago national tournament April 3 to 7. Teaching themselves the game without either a gymnasium or a coach, the Carr Creek boys went to the finals of the Kentucky state tournament and lost to Ashland 12 to 11 only after four overtime periods. Ashland also has been invited.

State champions from Pine Bluff, Ark.; Jacksonville, Fla., and St. George, Utah, made known their acceptances today. Mrs. James and Mrs. Manning Entertain.
Bethel, March 20.—One of the most beautiful and enjoyable social events of the season was the party given by Mrs. Harvey Manning and Mrs. Larry N. James at the home of the latter on Tuesday evening, March 13th, honoring Miss Anna Jones Manning, whose marriage to Mr. Hoke Jefferson Stephenson of Willow Springs, N. C., took place March 14.

The rooms were beautiful with growing spring flowers and baskets and vases of cut flowers tied with pink malle, which with the tally cards, candles and other decorations carried out the color scheme of pink and white.

Bridge was played at nine tables. After several progressions it was found that Mrs. Tom Andrews had won high score, which she presented to Miss Manning, the honoree. The low score went to Mrs. W. T. Acree.

The hostesses assisted by Miss Doree Burnette and Miss Helen Manning served a salad course which consisted by chicken salad, olives, pickles, sandwiches and iced tea. On every plate was a very attractive favor filled with pink and white mints.

As the salad course was finished, a complete surprise was given Miss Manning when her little niece, Frances Manning of New Bern, came tripping in carrying a very dainty parcel of pink and white covered with lovely handkerchiefs, which she presented to Miss Manning.

The cut-up town guests attending the party were Miss Thelma Ross, Miss Bernice Everette and Miss Gladys Bailey of Robersonville, Miss Annie Dare Hooker and Mrs. Minnie Holliday of Greenville, Miss Fannie Jones Turner and Mrs. Leon Roberson of Parmele, and Mrs. X. E. Manning of New Bern.

The Mocking Bird.
Once as I sat in a cedar tree,
A little bird flew by
He cried out to me,
"Little girl, little girl,"
Don't you cry.

I noticed as he flew away,
He had a broken wing,
I cried, please little bird stay
You can sing and sing.

Mary Cole, Cannon Swamp School, Third Grade.

The Mocking Bird.
I was sitting in a swing one day
A mocking bird ran near me,
He flew upon a bush,
And sang sweet songs to me.

Red Bird.
On my way to school,
I saw a little bird sitting in a tree;
He seemed to be saying,
"Little friend, come and help me."
I gave him seed and string,
He cried, "Thank you little boy,
I shall sing and sing and sing,
When my nest is filled with joy."

Red Bird.
As I was sitting in a swing,
I heard a red bird in a tree.
He flitted about and began to sing
Pretty songs to me.

Robin.
One morning very early,
A robin flew upon the window sill;
I said, "Little Bird, sing for me!"
He replied, "I will, I will."

Robin.
I saw a little bird one day
Flying to the west;
I wondered if it would stay—
But, soon it came back to build its nest.

Solid Carload Of Hogs Leaves County Today

A solid carload of Pitt county hogs was shipped out of Greenville today, according to announcement made this morning by E. F. Arnold, director of the department of agriculture.

This was the first shipment of the season, Mr. Arnold stated, but there are seven carloads to be shipped from different parts of the county later on. Approximately six hundred hogs are on feed at this time for these shipments.

The car today contained 76 hogs. They weighed around 15,000 pounds and were in splendid condition for marketing.

Interest in hog raising is gaining rapidly in the county today, Mr. Arnold stated, and it is expected next year's shipments will be more extensive than ever before.

With the arrival of the advance representatives of the Billy Sunday revival that is to start here the latter part of April, already citizens here are beginning to take more interest in the coming campaign and no doubt as the time draws near the interest and enthusiasm will greatly increase. Rev. Mr. Sunday has, no doubt, done more good than any one living man, and his successes in other sections bespeak in advance the success of his campaign here. Greenville and this section were fortunate in obtaining Mr. Sunday's consent to conduct a revival here.

ANOTHER WILSON NEEDED

In this hour of "a streak of black, oily corruption in high places," there is need of another Wilson, said J. Stitt Wilson of California, at the State College last night.

The need for brave and courageous leadership that will put first things first was never more urgent than now. In the face of this need, there is an absence of downright declarations of great principles by most men who are talked of for the presidency. Most of them are saying nothing and saying nothing in more ways than nothing was ever said before. At least that is true as to the great questions which ought to be stressed. Some are promising to be Me Toos of others who lack definite policies. How many are calling for support against Privilege at home and for going into the League of Nations, the only hunter in the state on the number of game birds and animals killed during the season. One hundred and twenty-five thousand return cards are being mailed out from the Department of Conservation and Development by Director Wade H. Phillips with requests that the blanks be filled in and mailed back to the department immediately. "Information compiled from the survey will show definitely the supply of various types of game in the different sections of the state and will provide a basis upon which will rest many of the solutions of game problems in North Carolina. It will help to show how the supply can be increased for the benefit of all hunters. Every hunter should take an active interest in compiling these records as they will do much towards showing exactly how the state stands in this important matter."

ABOUT TOWN

"Two more lives have been sacrificed in behalf of development of aviation," observed a reader of the Reflector this afternoon as he glanced over the columns of the paper and saw where all hope had finally been abandoned for Captain Hinchliffe and his woman companion.

"Like every other great venture, those who enter the field of aviation to blaze the way for others to follow in the future must pay the price. It has always been the case—it will continue to be the case as long as the world stands and civilization continues to reach out to solve inexplicable mysteries of life.

"The Atlantic has claimed numbers of brave young men and women during the last year, but these lives have not been lost in vain. In a few more years science will make the storms of the Atlantic as harmless for the flying machine as it has for the automobile and locomotive. This is a great era where fear and superstition are giving away before scientific investigation and research, and the years to come will see wonderful progress and development in the field at present claiming so many lives in an apparently fruitless search for the goal of their ambition."

"A census of game conditions in North Carolina will be taken in the near future," according to information sent out this week by Thomas J. Moore, deputy game and fish commissioner of North Carolina. "This census," stated Mr. Moore, "will be carried on by means of a return postal card mailed to every hunter in the state on the number of game birds and animals killed during the season. One hundred and twenty-five thousand return cards are being mailed out from the Department of Conservation and Development by Director Wade H. Phillips with requests that the blanks be filled in and mailed back to the department immediately. "Information compiled from the survey will show definitely the supply of various types of game in the different sections of the state and will provide a basis upon which will rest many of the solutions of game problems in North Carolina. It will help to show how the supply can be increased for the benefit of all hunters. Every hunter should take an active interest in compiling these records as they will do much towards showing exactly how the state stands in this important matter."

"We want every member of the local post to be present at the meeting of the Legion tonight at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church," said J. B. Kittrell, post commander today.

"Several important matters will be taken under consideration at this session and it is imperative that as many members as possible be present to have a voice in them."

"The Legion is growing in strength and the only way to continue growth is for all members to evince an active interest in activities which we have under way."

"Make it a point to be on hand, Buddie, and do your part in developing the organization."

"Annual ladies' night at the club last night was a very interesting affair," members of the Rotary club said today.

"We always make an effort to provide an interesting program for this occasion and it is possible that last night night's eclipsed anything in recent years."

"Rotary Anns enjoyed the evening, and were highly gratified at the way their other halves conducted themselves."

"That's a wonderful invention you folks have in your front window," an out-of-town reader of the Reflector remarked to the writer of this column this morning, referring to the Associated Press leased wire printer which operates continuously for eight hours daily.

"I always wondered how you people got so much news—things that happen just a short time before the paper appears on the streets. I am satisfied now your service is as fast and accurate as any paper in the country, because I know something of the reputation of the Associated Press for accuracy and speed."

"Our collection department is now in operation," members of the Merchants Association said today, "and if you have an account of long standing, get busy and settle it at once."

"This department keeps an accurate record of credit customers, and those who fail to settle their obligations by a given date will find it difficult to obtain credit again."

"Help us to improve credit conditions by settling your accounts promptly and at the same time guaranteeing yourself good standing with our credit department."

OPEN FORUM

210 S. 11th St., Nashville, Tenn.
March 17th, 1928.

Editor Greenville Reflector:
Last evening the writer had the privilege of witnessing the presentation of the pageant "Mission's Golden Years," portraying fifty years of the Women's Missionary Work of the M. E. Church, South.

The pageant was presented as a part of the "Jubilee Council," now in session, by the students of Scarritt College, at the Memorial auditorium. Thinking that the people of Greenville would be interested in an account of the pageant by an eye-witness, especially in view of the fact that one of Greenville's young women Miss Jennie Congleton, was selected from among hundreds to represent two of the most prominent characters, I am venturing to write you.

The degree of interest in the pageant was shown by the fact that almost an hour before time for the presentation the great auditorium, one of the largest in the south, was packed, and people were being turned away. It was the most elaborate and interesting religious pageant that the writer has ever witnessed; perhaps the most interesting religious production ever staged in the south. One thing that made it especially interesting was the presence of so many pioneer missionaries to represent themselves in the pageant. Among them was Miss Lockie Rankin, the first missionary sent out by the women of the M. E. Church, South. We will never forget the ovation given this grand old woman when she first appeared on the stage. She was too feeble to walk unassisted, but her very presence seemed to cast a sacredness over the whole proceedings.

In twelve episodes the pageant depicted the history of Methodist missions from the date of the organization of the first missionary society, fifty years ago, to the present. Starting with the reproduction of the scene in the basement of McKendree Church, when four women answered a call and organized the mother society, the great audience was carried to eight foreign countries and shown scenes portraying the conditions that existed in the dark days before the coming of the gospel, the opening of missions and the results. Many of the parts were played by natives of the various countries. The settings and costumes were perfect—it was so real that one could almost imagine themselves transported to these wonderful missionary lands, walking among the savages, meeting pioneer bishops and missionaries. Then there were the scenes representing the work in the home fields, the Wesley Houses, Bethlehem Centers, Institutional Churches, and training schools. In short the thousands of us who witnessed the wonderful pageant had the privilege of a complete course in the history of Methodist missions, given to us in a most entertaining way in two hours and a half. And ever back of it all the symbolic figure of "The Spirit of Missions" hovered, and mixed with the human interest, tragedy and triumph, was a spirit of reverence that made it one of the most sacred services that we have ever attended. Over a hundred and fifty students of Scarritt College and Ward-Belmont School took part in the pageant in addition to almost a hundred missionaries and ministry of the city.

It was a real triumph for Scarritt, the Woman's Missionary Council, and the Methodist Church. More than this, the unbiased manner in which missionary truth was presented, giving credit where credit was due to both Protestant and Catholic, made it almost an inter-denominational presentation of the subject of missions. Greenville should feel honored in that one of the several young women whom she had sent out into missionary service should have been selected for the prominent places filled by Miss Congleton. She represented one of the four pioneer members of the missionary society in the first scenes, and in a later scene, represented Mrs. Lamb, wife of the famous missionary to Japan. In both these roles Miss Congleton acted well.

"Mrs. Ballard joins me in affixing to this communication a word of greeting to our friends in Greenville. We have not forgotten the years spent in your city, or the friends whom we learned to love. In your progress we glory; for your problems we pray; for your sorrows we let fall the sympathetic tear. May God bless the saints and save the sinners.

Yours gratefully,
LOY E. BALLARD,
Pastor East Nashville

STOCK MARKET.
 New York, March 20.—(AP)—Speculation for the advance broke out anew in today's stock market when the general list swung upward under the leadership of radio and General Motors. Radio soared 16 1/2 points to 153 1/2 as against a low of 135 yesterday, and General Motors moved up 5 points to a new peak at 173. Scores of others advanced 3 to 15 points with the short interest again in urgent retreat. Total sales crossed the 2,000,000 mark before the end of the third hour.
 There was nothing in the day's news to explain the fresh outburst of speculative enthusiasm. There has been no marked change for the better in the course of spring trade, but apparently there is a huge March reinvestment demand which is making itself felt in some of the seasoned dividend paying stocks. A new crop of rumors sprang up to account for the sensational advances in a few issues but most of them lacked official confirmation.
 U. S. Cast Iron Pipe, which is expected to announce a recapitalization plan which may involve a 10 for 1 stock split-up next month, added 15 points to its 28 3/4 point gain of yesterday. Collins & Aikman climbed 70 points. Houston Oil and Russia Insurance 6 each, and Victor Talking Machine, American Linseed, Kelsey Wheel, Wright Aeronautical, American Locomotive, Greene Cananea Copper, Midland Steel Products preferred and Case Threshing were among the many issues to sell 3 or more points above yesterday's final quotations.
 The close was strong. Total sales approximated 3,500,000 shares.

ish of course. But since the great empires of Asia and Africa have faded away, British gentlemen that used to hide in swamps, and paint their stomachs blue, with woad, have learned to fly, distributing poison gas and annoying explosives. Those will play a part in calming the Holy War. A Holy War, on the ground has little chance against war from the sky.

You are reminded that modern big business is really big. Read that Chevrolet, one branch of General Motors, will pay this year $34,000,000 for railroad freight.

Without wishing sorrow for railroads, something might be done to diminish automobile freight. A Chevrolet car on the Pacific coast cost $116 freight, from the factory. That is a good deal to pay for a car that could run on its own wheels the two thousand miles from the factory for $25 worth of gasoline and oil, plus a little wear and tear on tires.

The elevated railroad in New York made no money until the fare was reduced from ten cents to five. Railroads will make more when they find a way to carry freight, and passengers less expensively. That is said with realization of the fact that railroad builders have built the country and are entitled to fair treatment.

Lord Beaverbrook's London Express says a beautiful American girl in Egypt offered an Egyptian peddler $5,500 to marry her immediately, because "he resembled a beloved Frenchman now dead."

The important difference between the living Egyptian and the dead Frenchman, that the infatuated American girl, did not observe is this. The Frenchman's face showed many centuries of thinking by his ancestors. The Egyptian's face showed complete lack of thinking, all the way back to Ptolemy Soter, and beyond.

A gigantic "hook-up" of radio stations will enable 8,000,000 Americans to hear all that goes on in the democratic and republican conventions.

From the first announcement of Alabama's choice, to final howling when the winner is announced, everything will be heard. However, sad to relate, many of the 8,000,000 that might listen to the convention will not listen. They will tune in for jazz music, sad heart rending songs, or daily doses to keep thin. In this nation where only half vote that might vote, there is little deep interest in politics.

The board of investigation, which yesterday made a preliminary survey of the submarine and supervised the removal of the eight bodies not previously recovered after the sinking of the S-4 by the Coast Guard destroyer Paulding off Provincetown, December 17 began a minute examination of the vessel today. They started with the torpedo compartment where yesterday lay the bodies of six men who survived the disaster for many hours and communicated with the rescue fleet.

The bodies taken from the craft were Lieut. Graham Newell Fitch, Washington, D. C.; Torpedoman Roger Leslie Short, Booneville, Mo.; Frank Snizek, Ridgefield Park, N. J.; Russell Archibald Crabb, San Diego, Calif.; scaman, Joseph Leigh-ten Stevens, Providence, R. I.; George Pelmar, South Omaha, Neb.; Machinists Mate William Dempsey, Walkersville, Ont. and Engineer Joseph William Stelman, Providence, R. I.

The first step was removal of all munitions from the compartment. These consisted of eight torpedoes, 12 rifles, nine detonators, 14 four inch ammunition shells, 18 boxes of small ammunition and one machine gun.

One of the first discoveries today was that of a flashlight hanging on the bulkhead door, with a watch tied to it. The watch had stopped at 3:19 a. m. The clock on the wall of the compartment had stopped at 5:38. Members of the board expressed the belief that the six men had kept track of time by means of the watch and flashlight.

In the first two hours of their exploration they found no written record. They discovered that no attempt had been made to trim or blow the ballast tanks. The water level showed that there had been 18 inches of water in the torpedo compartment.

Members of the board have developed a theory that the S-4 was out of control two minutes after she was struck by the destroyer. They believed that chlorine was dove the crew out of the battery room and the control room. Otherwise, in their opinion, the crew would have been able to pump out the water resulting from comparatively small leak.

The drydocking revealed that the opening on the outside of the craft was 8 feet long and only 3 feet high. The inside hole was but 2 1/2 feet long and a foot high. Naval officers said it seemed a minor crash but submarine men explained the collision had rendered the machinery useless.

SENATOR BODY PLANS TO INVESTIGATE RECORDS OF LATE PRESIDENT HARDING

Robinson sought to show that Sinclair contributed heavily to Smith's gubernatorial campaign in 1920 and afterward became a member of the New York State Racing Commission, holding that post until after the first oil revelations. Gov. Smith declined to comment.

Senator Reed, Democrat, Missouri candidate for the Presidential nomination, defended Governor Smith against the attack which he termed unwarranted insinuation.

He also condemned the silence of President Coolidge.

During the entire three hours of debate which revolved largely around the attempt of Senator Borah, Republican, Idaho to collect from individual Republicans a "redemption" fund to return to Sinclair not a voice was raised in defense of the administration or the party's acceptance of the Sinclair donation.

Senator Harrison, Democrat, Mississippi, started the row with a review of Will H. Hayes management of the Harding campaign.

Harrison, as well as Senator LaFollette, Republican, Wisconsin brought the name of Herbert Hoover a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, into the argument, the former declaring the Commerce Secretary was one of three cabinet members who attended a meeting called by Harding to plan how the 1920 deficit would be raised.

LaFollette, a Republican irregular, said both Hoover and Charles E. Hughes, were in the cabinet when the Sinclair contribution was made and neither condemned it. He also criticized the continued silence of

Negro Held For Murder of N. Y. School Teacher

New York, March 20.—(AP)—Twelve hours after Mrs. Helen Chevalier Kimball, 25-year-old school teacher was shot and killed in her apartment in Brooklyn, Martin Luther Miller, a negro janitor, was captured in Paterson, N. J., in a battle with police. He confessed they said, after two hours questioning.

Captain Joseph Mosley, of the Paterson police, said Miller told him his intention had been robbery but when the woman screamed for help he shot her twice.

Miller was discharged as janitor at the apartment house a month ago. In his confession he said he returned to the building yesterday morning and gained entrance to the Kimball apartment on the pretense that he had been sent to repair a gas stove.

New York police learned that

Miller had been a frequent visitor in Paterson. Search was made of the negro poolrooms and cafes. When Miller was found playing pool and attempted to escape, detective sergeant James J. Smith of Paterson grappled with him. Miller tried to draw a .45 calibre pistol from where it was tied around his waist with a clothes line. One of the other detectives subdued Miller with a black jack.
