COURT ACTION IS PENDING IN OIL INQUIRIES

Confidential Employee of Sinclair Summoned Before Senate Committee.

Washington, March 22.—(AP)—Pending criminal court actions arising out of the naval oil reserve leasing investigations had arisen to 10 today as the senate tenant dome committee moved slowly down the same stretch of its five years of inquiry by calling a single witness.

The severance of the conspiracy case against Albert B. Fall and Harry F. Sinclair brought the criminal proceedings growing out of the widespread inquiry to the even half-way mark.

Herritt Baldwin, of Meriden, Conn., a confidential employee of Sinclair for two years prior to 1924, was the witness summoned today by the senate committee, which still is engaged in tracing the use made of $3,000,000 Liberty bond profits of the Continental Trading Company.

Under the decision of Justice Jennings Bailey, in the District of Columbia supreme court yesterday separating the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy proceedings, the oil operator will face trial alone here April 4. The former interior secretary was granted an indefinite postponement because of his failing health.

Fall had stated a willingness to "tell the whole truth" about the oil reserve leases in a deposition to the court, but special government counsel held this could not lawfully be used at the trial here unless the defense requested it.

The senate committee is expected to adopt a policy of watchful waiting with regard to the Fall story in view of the latter's declaration that the court wanted him as a witness and that he would tell all he knew to the committee, a committee which had rejected a committee report that he had told his story to Chairman New and Senator Walsh, Democrat, Montana, the prosecutor, at El Paso, because the court proceeding against him still was pending.

After Sinclair's trial for conspiracy in connection with his lease from Fall of Teapot Dome a little more than a week hence, the criminal litigation still to be threshed out will be: similar charges against Fall.

Bribery charges against Edward L. Doherty, growing out of the Elk Mills lease.

Bribery charges against Edward L. Doherty, Jr., in connection with the same transaction.

Charges of acceptance of a bribe against Fall, arising out of his lease of the Elk Mills reserve to Doherty.

Indictment against Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of his lease of the Elk Mills reserve to Doherty.

Indictment against Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the board of the Standard Oil Company of Indiana, for refusing to answer questions propounded by the senate investigating committee. Stewart pleaded not guilty to the indictment March 15 and was given 30 days to prepare his attack.

Appeal of Stewart from Justice Bailey's decision upholding senate committee's right to arrest him for contempt.

Contempt proceedings against H. M. Blackmer, of the Midwest Refining Company, for refusing to file a subpoena seeking him as a government witness in the Fall-Sinclair conspiracy case.

Appeal of Sinclair from a three months' sentence for contempt of the senate.

Appeals of Sinclair, W. J. Burns, and W. Sherman Burns, detectives, and Henry Marion Day, Sinclair official, from their conviction of criminal contempt for shadowing the Fall-Sinclair jury.

Death Blow Is Given Soviet Disarmament

Brieva, March 23.—(AP)—The soviet project for complete disarmament was given its death blow by the preparatory disarmament commission of the League of Nations this morning. Notice of the project's demise was postponed, however, until it was found whether the committee's own draft on disarmament would go to a second reading this session.

A resolution closing the debate on disarmament noted that practically all the members find the soviet text, while in harmony with the ideals of mankind, is under existing world conditions, incapable of being carried out. It suggested that the soviet method might be held further by the various governments but made no provision for its further study by the commission.

BOOST EARLY OPENING FOR LEAF MARTS

Eastern Car. Chamber of Commerce Launches Movement for Opening Aug. 21.

Tobacco markets of Eastern Carolina this year will open August 21, if the movement launched last night by the Eastern Carolina chamber of commerce at a meeting held in Kinston meets with desired success.

The meeting was attended by business men and representative citizens of the entire eastern section, all of whom pledged their support and urged chamber of commerce officials to carry the plan to successful completion.

Realizing that the late opening of Eastern Carolina is causing considerable loss to the growers of the section because of the long wait to market the tobacco after it is ready for market and because of the low prices at the opening caused by rushing the markets, the chamber of commerce felt it necessary for the good of the entire belt to urge the earlier opening.

Letters from officials of the Tobacco Association of the United States, while apparently not favoring the early opening indicated they would hear the case if properly presented and would be governed by their findings.

Petitions through the chamber of commerce will immediately be circulated to growers and business men throughout the section and when completed will with all other data, be presented at a special meeting of the officials of the Tobacco Association of the United States.

Chicago, March 23.—(AP)—John Infontana, kneeling at his prayers, was shot dead early today—three bullets in the back. He was the second Italian to fall before assassins' bullets within 30 hours.

"The Dimie," as they called the Diamond Joe Esposito, slumped to the sidewalk near his home Wednesday night with 58 shotgun slugs in his body. Whether his death and that of Infontana were connected, police said they did not know. Coming so closely together, the one a sinister sequel of the other, police are pursuing a theory that they layings were woven on the same loom.

Infontana, who was 35 years old, was found on his knees, his head and shoulders fallen forward against the bed and blood streaming from the bullet wounds. Joseph Devito, who operates the rooming house into which Infontana moved a week ago, found the body. There were no witnesses and none who heard the shots, police were told.

Republicans Get One More Vote by Death of Ferris

Washington, March 23.—(AP)—The death of Senator Ferris, of Michigan, will give the republicans one more vote in the senate, making the lineup there 48 republicans and 45 democrats, 1 farmer-labor, with vacancies.

The republican gain of one vote will come about through the appointment by Governor Green of a successor to Senator Ferris, a democrat. Governor Green is a republican, and is expected to appoint a republican to the vacancy to serve until the November election.

The two other vacancies are in the seats for Illinois and Pennsylvania to which Frank L. Smith and William S. Vare have laid claim.

ENTERS PLEA FOR CHILD AT RALEIGH MEET

Chicago Man Tells State Educators that Pleasure Claims too Many Lives.

Raleigh, March 23.—(AP)—More lives have been offered upon the altar of pleasure than upon those of war, pestilence and famine combined, Eugene T. Lies, Chicago, special representative, playground and recreation association of America, told the North Carolina Education Association in its second day gathering of the 44th annual convention today.

As a keynote of the day, Mr. Lies, completed, that in a lifetime of 70 years a man works only 12 years. Sleeps 29 and has the other 29 for leisure. That the average school child in America really spends only 10 per cent of his total year's time in school, 37 per cent in sleep and 53 per cent in other ways.

"What these other ways are should be the concern of those who have the welfare of the child and of the community at heart," he said in his "challenge of the new leisure" address.

He noted that engineering and electric wards were predicting even a shorter workday than the present eight hours, going so far as to declare that a four hour day will be sufficient in the not far distant future for producing all that is needed for human consumption.

Training in the home in the right use of leisure was Mr. Lies' answer. Encouragement of talent, inciting youngsters to make things, play musical instruments, put up backyard play apparatus. The church's religion was the important background to build the child's character for use of his leisure and then the school must offer new methods and programs.

"The spirit of adventure need go to school through the school's whole scheme of things. Exploration should be the order of the day and every day, otherwise love of learning, activity interests, passion for achievement will be stultified."

Finally the city should make provision for wholesome physical, social and other leisuretime pursuits, otherwise it has its head in the sand. It is sinning against its boys and girls.

All days today the delegates to the convention allotted in boxes on three nominations for vice president to succeed F. P. Hall of Gastonia who became President succeeding T. Wingate Andrews of High Point as president. The nominees for vice president are Miss Annie Cherry, rural supervisor of Halifax county, I. C. Griffin, superintendent of the Shelby schools and Hiram T. Hunter, president of Calhoun Normal School.

The city superintendents' association met today following the county superintendents' convention, when the county heads restated their position for an eight months' school term, an increase in the equalization fund, and creation of a fifth special building fund of at least five million dollars.

Today was the big day of the convention with tomorrow bringing the election of officers and offering of the final report of the resolutions committee.

More than 20 sections meetings were held today. The North Carolina State Music Teachers' Association discussed county and state music supervision, musical preparation of the grade teachers, and this evening elected officers.

Among meetings of educators were those of the North Carolina college conference, primary teachers' association, physical education association, deans of women and advisors of girls, rural supervisors' association, home economics teachers' council of social studies, elementary school principals' association, state vocational guidance association, and tonight's general meeting with Dr. Charles H. Judd of the University of Chicago as keynote.

TODAY

What Did the Horses Do? In Canada They Mean It. Crowned, Milton, the S-4. This Great Century.

The racehorses of Maryland decide that Harry Sinclair, who races horses to win pure enough, is to be barred.

The greatest American racing association, if the state of New York, has not barred Mr. Sinclair because to the pure all things are pure or because after all, Mr. Sinclair's horse didn't win any of the big bonds.

Republican senators that reply to disgraceful facts by trying to smirch democrats are not impressive. They should get rid of their bribe-givers and bribe-takers. A man convicted of chicken stealing does not help his case by trying to prove that some one else stole chickens.

It seems hard to eliminate the conviction in some of our "best minds" that the shortest road to what you want is the road of bribery.

Hiram Johnson, of California, says that in connection with proposed public works, Colorado river, etc., there is being raised a slush fund that would make all others look like "chicken feed."

More details will be interesting.

Alice MacDonald, a young American girl, convicted of helping her husband murder a taxi driver for his money, was to have been hanged in Canada. Partly because of appeals and protests from the United States, perhaps, the authorities have commuted her punishment to life imprisonment.

This country also hangs women, and our protests to Canada are queer.

Canada sets us a good example in one thing. There, as in England, justice is justice, and not a joke.

When they sentence a murderer to life imprisonment, it means life imprisonment, not a few years in jail and a chance to go murdering again.

The submarine S-4 is raised, the pathetic remaining bodies of the brave officers and men are found "showing signs of a desperate struggle." (Continued On Page Six)

Former Harvard Football Star Sent to Prison

Boston, March 23.—(AP)—Chas. E. Brickley, captain of the Harvard football team of 1914 and one of the greatest dropkickers ever in the game, today was at liberty under $20,000 bail pending an appeal from a sentence of 15 months in Charles street jail for conducting a racket shop and larceny from clients.

Brickley was sentenced late yesterday afternoon in the Suffolk superior court by Judge Patrick Keating himself a Harvard graduate, after Brickley's counsel, William H. Lewis, All-American and Harvard center of 20 years ago, had made a stirring plea for leniency.

Brickley in a brief address to the court said: "I am very sorry anyone laid money through my hands in the stock market and if the wheel of fortune ever turns my way again, I hope to pay back all my obligations."

Lewis said that in appearing for Brickley he did so more as a friend than an attorney. "He played the game that only the top-notch can play," Lewis told the court. "I have heard the bands play and have seen him borne from the field on the shoulders of those who idolized him. He has not played the game of life quite so successfully."

"Brickley wasn't a clever stock operator and he was not a thief. Let him go out from here to work with a pick and shovel or to drive an ice wagon, but let him start anew."

Thieves Enter Smith Home

A thief or thieves entered the home of G. V. Smith, corner Pitt and Fourth streets, Wednesday night and departed sometime later with only a Christmas package in their possession. Just what the package contained, Mr. Smith was unable to say today, but he did not believe it to be of any great value.

Entrance was made through a window at the side of the house. The robbers were believed to have been seeking money as virtually every drawer in the house was opened in the search.

Police today were unable to offer any clue as to identity of the thieves.

SIX KILLED BY FALL OF GIANT TREE

Burning Tree Topples Upon Automobile And Burns School Children to Death.

Leaf, Miss. March 22.—(AP)—The charred and smouldering remains of a giant Mississippi pine today were, bearing the blame for the death of six children, who were killed without warning when the blazing king of the forest fell upon them.

The bodies of five rural school children, more or less related by kin, who yesterday fell its victims, today had been returned to their scattered farm homes near Advent, Miss., after the huge tree crashed and burned them to death by toppling upon their passing automobile, burying the pupils and their driver in a mass of flames.

Dave Goff, driver of the automobile and his fourteen year old daughter, Marie, seated beside him, met almost instant death as the burning tree fell directly across the front of the car while the party was passing along a lonely country road.

Nellie and Hattie, 11 year old twin daughters of William Goff, in the rear seat of the car, met a similar fate, as did Edna Goff, 14, and Eva Mizell, 12. Horace and Erastus Goff, brothers, 7, and 9, respectively, escaped with fractured members and serious burns.

The tragedy was discovered by passersby shortly after the accident and the boys were rescued.

The children, passing back and forth to school, had paid scant attention to the burning tree, which had been afire for three days as a result of a minor forest fire.

KILLER DIES ON GALLOWS

George McDonald, Confidence man, put to Death for Slaying Taxi Driver.

Valley Field, Que. March 23.—(AP)—The raising of a black flag on the tower of the Valley Field jail this morning signified that George McDonald, notorious confidence man, had paid with his life for the slaying last July of Adelaide Bouchard, Lachine taxi driver, for the robbery of $70.

During his last night there came a telegram to the prison from his 20-year-old wife, Doris Palmer McDonald, whom he had absolved of all blame in the murder and whose sentence of death was commuted Wednesday to life imprisonment.

"Tomorrow mass and communion will be offered," the message read, "and I will never cease to pray for you—May the Blessed Lady receive you at the gate of heaven."

"God bless her soul," murmured McDonald when he read the message only a few hours before he mounted the scaffold.

Sheriff Crippin, who was in charge of the execution, announced at 5 o'clock that the death sentence had been carried out at 4:50 o'clock. The black flag was raised later. Meanwhile armed guards kept reporters away as searchlights glared.

McDonald, apparently resigned to his fate from the time sentence was pronounced last December 17, spent his last night quietly. He was attended by a priest of the Roman Catholic church and before his march to the gallows was given absolution and last communion to the corridor of the jail. Officials said he went to his death quietly.

His parents, John McDonald, a maker in Sydney, N. S., and his mother, a resident of Portland, Maine, kept a dreary vigil during the night at a local hotel. The couple, after a separation of years, were brought together by the plight of their son they were permitted to visit with him briefly last night.

McDonald who in a riotous career had left a trail of torred checks along New York's Broadway and in other cities in the United States and Canada, learned only after his arrival here yesterday morning for the jail at Montreal that his wife's life had been spared.

BRAZIL TO CO-OPERATE WITH LEAGUE OF NATIONS

Geneva, March 23.—(AP)—Brazil today informed the League of Nations that despite its withdrawal it would continue to co-operate in the work of the league. The Brazilian reply was in response to the request of the league council that Brazil and Spain reconsider their decision to withdraw. Spain yesterday announced her return.

WINS COMMUTATION OF SENTENCE

Residents of St. Francis said Break Predicted two Days Before it Occurred.

Los Angeles, March 23.—(AP)—The St. Francis Dam disaster cast its shadow over the little settlement in San Francisco Valley two days before the huge concrete wall collapsed, but the warning that was issued as a result lack of sufficient force and authority to cause immediate evacuation. The result was the loss of some 450 lives and untold property damage.

Such was the testimony before a coroner's jury here in which several residents of the area immediately below the dam told their stories.

At least two men—L. Berry, a power house foreman, who died in the deluge and Dave Matthews, a survivor, saw the warning shadow. Matthews, in testimony, revealed that Berry and himself had inspected the dam Saturday, March 9 (the break occurred just after midnight March 13) and that Berry had said:

"Boys, the dam is not safe."

Robert E. Almore, a rancher living above the dam, testified that he had sounded warnings up and down the valley to that effect.

On Monday (the day before the break), William Mulholland, chief engineer of the Los Angeles water bureau and builder of the St. Francis Dam, together with H. A. Van Norman, visited the dam and while they found that everything was not so it should be, there were no indications of an immediate break. The tiny impulses of fear which had been those in the shadow of the dam were quelled for the time. Some of them wanted to leave "tomorrow."

"When the dam broke, we only a few minutes after the big dam gave way and sent a deluge of water, destruction and death down the valley with little or no further warning."

"I was working at the power house Monday," Matthews said, "when I noticed water in the canal. The turbines were running down the road."

"On Monday evening Mr. Berry said, 'Boys, the dam's not safe. I have got orders to put all the lights in the tunnel to stop the water from flowing down the aqueduct. This was designed to stop the flow into the dam from above."

"Mr. Berry told me to mention it to no one. On my way home, I met my brother at Harry Carey's ranch."

At this point Matthews broke down and sobbed.

"I told my brother for God's sake to get his family out of there. The dam was going to burst. He said to me: 'Dave, I'll move them to Newhall tomorrow.'"

"That was the last time I saw him. My brother and his family died that night."

Chester Smith, another witness, told how he also had feared the dam as a result of seeing the leak in the west side of the huge retaining wall.

He slept that night in his barn with the door open. The bursting of the dam awakened him. Then came the crash of trees and telephone poles as the water struck them. Smith dashed 150 yards to the home of a ranch employe and the two dragged the latter's wife from bed. The trio in night clothing made for the hills and reached safety with feet bleeding and their clothes in rags from scrambling through the brush.

Smith said he had expressed his fears to many village folk but they refused to take him seriously.

Almore testified that he talked to Harry Britts about it. "He said 'Harry said I was getting too nervous. Harry died that night.'"

Van Norman, like his chief, testified that the dam appeared safe on Saturday.

"There was nothing to be alarmed about," he said.

Discuss Cotton Problem Today At Memphis, Tenn.

Memphis, Tenn., March 23.—(AP)—A number of leaders of the cotton industry from southern states met today to consider the formation of a permanent organization to study problems of the industry. John C. E. Thomas, of Montgomery, Ala., presided.

These 40 individuals were appointed at the recent midwinter cotton conference in Jackson, Miss., as a special committee to form an organization that will carry out a program designed to hold the cotton acreage within reasonable bounds and provide a profitable market for the crop when it is made.

Dr. W. S. Barnard Lauds Growth of Greenville At N. C. University Banquet

Sharply contrasting the Greenville of today with the dirty, muddy little town that he knew during his boyhood, Dr. W. S. Barnard, instructor of Greek at the University of North Carolina, expressed surprise and gratification at the progress made by the city during the principal address at the annual banquet of Pitt county University Alumni Association held in the basement of Jarvis Memorial Methodist church last night.

Dr. Barnard, a native of Greenville, but who for many years has been associated with the University of North Carolina, told the sixty odd members of the association that he had many things to talk about, and while he started out talking athletics, he finally wound up in a foretold appeal for greater unity among the industrial and agricultural interests of the state.

"Piedmont North Carolina doesn't care a rap about the Eastern Carolina is doing, he declared. They are literally rolling in wealth by reason of their industrial development, and the condition of this territory is of little interest to them in their wild and frantic chase for the almighty dollar."

"Eastern North Carolina must have trained men—college experts—to develop the agricultural interest of the ever hopes to take her rightful place among the other great sections of the country. He urged his hearers to consider this matter in all seriousness and to use their influence in seeing that this is made possible."

M. K. Blount presided as toastmaster and extended a cordial welcome to students coming from various parts of the county to rub shoulders with one another at their annual fellowship meeting. Supper was served by ladies of the Methodist church, who at the conclusion of the session, received a rousing vote of thanks for their splendid service.

The only musical event of the evening outside of the singing of an old college song or so, were several numbers rendered by a quartet composed of local colored men. Singing with enthusiasm and complete abandon, the quartet received liberal applause at the end of each number and were ended back repeatedly at the first part of their program.

A contribution of the program the association elected the following officers for the ensuing year: M. E. Stewart, president; James Ficklen, vice president; and W. S. Tyson, secretary and treasurer.

Others making brief talks during the evening were J. C. Lanier, mayor of Greenville, S. J. Everett, member of the board of trustees of the university, P. C. Harding, and Tom Johnson, president of the Pitt county club at the university.

Dr. Barnard was introduced by Hon. F. C. Harding, a boyhood friend, who recalled some of the early days of Greenville and the struggles which the young man of that era had in making his way through college.

In speaking of the development of Greenville, Dr. Barnard declared it seemed as if a magician waved his magic wand and charged the section into a veritable fairyland."

He gave a vivid description of the city in the 80's, with its sloping streets, drunken lamp posts with broken globes, and countless numbers of bar rooms lined along the principal business district. "The transformation of the past several years has been the most wonderful," he declared. "You have one of the most beautiful and progressive cities to be found anywhere. All of this material prosperity has been made possible by those forefathers, too busy and too poor to go to college, but who were engaged in building the second wealthiest agricultural county in the state."

He said we were giving too much time to the material side of life and not enough time and attention to the moral and spiritual side. Calling attention to human suffering existing today, he declared we could not call ourselves a Christian people unless we permit such conditions to continue.

"We need trained politicians today as never before—men capable of seeing the needs of all sections of the state, and in seeing those needs, minister to them. We need statesmen who can bind the Piedmont region and Eastern section into one great unit, working with one end in view. The statesmen must be men who can see from Mount Mitchell to the sea and provide for the individual needs of all districts involved."

Concord, March 23.—(AP)—Death today ended the useful public career of James P. Cook, founder of the Stonewall Jackson State Training School for boys. ## TWO TESTIFY AT PROBE OF DAM TRAGEDY

Miss Bertoleto to accompany Frederick Gunster

On next Friday evening, March 30, the sixth attraction in the series of winter and spring entertainments, will be presented in the campus building of East Carolina Teachers College.

Frederick Gunster, tenor, will give a concert. Miss Mary G. Bertoleto will play his accompaniments. The same piano that was used for the Mary Lewis concert will be sent down from Raleigh and will be used for this concert.

To many music lovers this will perhaps be the favorite number in the series. Mr. Gunster has a beautiful lyric tenor voice, peculiarly adapted for concert singing, not the grand opera type. Miss Bertoleto's sympathetic, artistic playing is so well known in Greenville that many will feel that listening to her accompaniments is sufficient reward for coming.

The music for Mr. Gunster's program has been in Miss Bertoleto's hands for some time. She says it is a lovely program.

Miss Anna Jones Manning is the bride of Hoke Jefferson Stephens.

Bethel, March 22.—Of unusual interest to their many friends in eastern North Carolina was the marriage on Tuesday evening, March 14th of Miss Anna Jones

Manning to Hoke Jefferson Stephens of Willow Springs, at the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Manning at Bethel. By the bride's pastor, Rev. W. T. Phipps, who used the ever beautiful ring ceremony.

The home was beautifully decorated with an improvised altar in the living room with palms, ferns, calla-lilies, smilax, carnations, hydrangeas and with glowing cathedral candles. The spacious hall which was thrown in suite with the living room was decorated with ivy, carnations, roses and ferns. Music for the nuptial service was rendered by Miss Jackie Andrews of Colerain who presided at the piano during the ceremony and Mrs. Ola Tucker of Greenville who sang, "The Sweetest Story Ever Told" by Stults and "At Dawning" by Cadman. This was preceded by piano solos, "Melody in F" by Rubenstein and "Traumerie Und Romanze" by Schumann. Miss Andrews used Lohengren's wedding march as the professional.

Miss Helen Manning, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She wore a blue green tulle dress draped with chiffon tulle and carried a bouquet of American beauty roses. The maid of honor was followed by little Misses Janie Elizabeth James of Bethel and Frances Inez Manning of New Bern, neices of the bride, who were the flower girls. They wore dresses in blue and pink gorgette with satin ribbon respectively.

The bride was lovely in a blue and gray georgette going away dress with blue and gray accessories carrying a bouquet of bride roses and valley lilies showered with white satin ribbon. During the ceremony Miss Andrews played "To a Wild Rose" by McDowell and Mendelssohn's wedding march was used as recessional. Immediately following the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Stephens left by motor for Norfolk, Richmond, Va. and Washington, D. C., and points north. At the conclusion of their trip they will live at Willow Springs.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Manning. She received her education at Eastern Carolina Teachers College, Greensboro College for Women and Duke University. She is one of the most brilliant young women in eastern North Carolina and is unusually popular throughout this section.

Mr. Stephens is the son the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Jefferson Stephens of Wake county and is very prominently connected with the social and business life of that part of the state.

Hams, Hams, Hams

Bill Allen made a circle around southeastern part of Lenoir, Duplin and Onslow counties yesterday where the finest products of smoked bacon and smoked hams are found on earth. Having had twenty years of experience and acquaintance from almost every section in this section, he knows exactly from whom and where to select the best and finest of these products. He was fortunate yesterday in securing the very finest and best ever. People of Greenville now have the opportunity of placing on their tables the very best hams on earth—the famous Onslow county hams.

GENERAL ELECTRIC Refrigerator

The General Electric Refrigerator is almost as portable as an electric fan. It has no drain pipes or connections. It can be placed wherever there is a convenience outlet. It's as simple as that!

Place it in your kitchen. That saves steps. And it also stops many a cold which comes from leaving a warm kitchen for a chilly back porch.

If you have a small apartment, you will be particularly pleased at the quietness with which the General Electric Refrigerator operates. You will be glad that it has no machinery under the cabinet. That every part of its mechanism is sealed inside the air-tight steel casing which is mounted inside the coils.

Judged from every angle, these refrigerators are supremely practical. Remember that they are guaranteed by General Electric. Come in and see them. Compare them with all others. Time payments can be arranged, if you prefer.

(By Mary Rachel Feil)
My mother has a lovely vase,
And it's treasured in her place.
When you look, what a sight,
To see it sitting on the mantel white.

Can you guess what's on it?
Yes! it's pictures of Japanese,
Kneeling on their knees,
Praying to their idols great,
Yes! they love that custom in their state.

One day when I was walking by
I hit it with elbow high,
And it did fall,
Right against the wall.

And ever since that day,
I've never tried to strut
And put my elbows high,
Whenever I go walking by.

GROWERS ENTITLED TO CONSIDERATION

The movement for an earlier opening of the Eastern Carolina tobacco markets, launched last night by the Eastern Carolina Chamber of Commerce, is one that affects every citizen of this entire section and should have the support of all. It is a well known fact that the present system of a late opening for the markets is costing every grower and every business house in this section a considerable sum of money annually, and will continue to do so as long as we continue to have late openings. Tobacco is a product that deteriorates very fast after it has been prepared for market and when the growers of this section finish their crop and then have to wait two or three weeks for a market on which to sell it, the result is that the grade of the tobacco is lower than when first prepared for market and the price is still lower because of the fact that the late opening causes the glutting of the markets making it impossible for the factories to take care of the heavy offerings. With the earlier opening the grades would be better and the sales more orderly which would no doubt mean higher prices for the growers.

It is to be hoped that the efforts of the Chamber of Commerce in behalf of the early opening will meet with complete success. The tobacco farmer is certainly entitled to some consideration on the part of the buying companies that depend upon him for their raw material, but he is not receiving this consideration so long as the companies delay the opening of the markets to the farmer's detriment.

TEACH PREVENTION OF FIRE IN SCHOOLS

Teaching fire prevention in schools along with fire drills, is to be highly commended. If our citizens of the future are grounded in the facts of the case, and understand the uselessness of fire, we can look forward to a time when fire will be reduced to a minimum.

The average citizen seems to forget that destructive fires are a great enemy of economy and progress. Eighty per cent of all conflagrations are preventable, and the result of carelessness, ignorance or incompetence. Very few fires can be classified as unpreventable.

Educational organizations are laboring to teach us practical fire prevention. Yet every year the great fire waste continues.

It is to be hoped that

1928 will see a decrease in the waste of money, property, lives, time and damage to industry. The movement to teach prevention in the schools will bear results in the future, and its sponsors are rendering a valuable public service.

ABOUT

The annual banquet of Pitt County alumni of the University of North Carolina held at Jarvis Memorial Methodist church last night was probably one of the most enjoyable occasions of the kind we have ever had. J. B. James, local attorney, who received his education at the University, remarked to the writer after the banquet:

"It was just like getting back home again to come in contact with so many fellows who spent years on the Hill in an effort to attain sufficient knowledge to carry them through a successful business or professional career."

"University men in Pitt, like every where else, are proving a credit to their alma mater, and the future holds forth brilliant opportunity for continued service to humanity."

The regular quarterly meeting of the Pitt County Supper club to be held Friday March 30th, promises to be one of the outstanding sessions of the organization, members of the County Department of Agriculture said today.

"Farm women have been invited to attend the banquet and a prominent speaker will be on hand to tell them of the relation between homes and homes—a subject which many people of the present generation seem to know little about."

"A house is simply a house, but a home is a place where men, women and children grow up and in this process of growing absorb a certain atmosphere that will remain with them through life."

"We want more homes among our farmers—places where coming generations may inherit the principles laid down to us by our forefathers that this nation might endure forever."

"Other speakers will be on the program during the evening, and it is safe to say everybody will return to their homes feeling amply rewarded for having attended."

"We want every member present at the regular meeting of the club tomorrow night," J. F. Harrington, president of the Greenville Kiwanis club, informed the writer this morning.

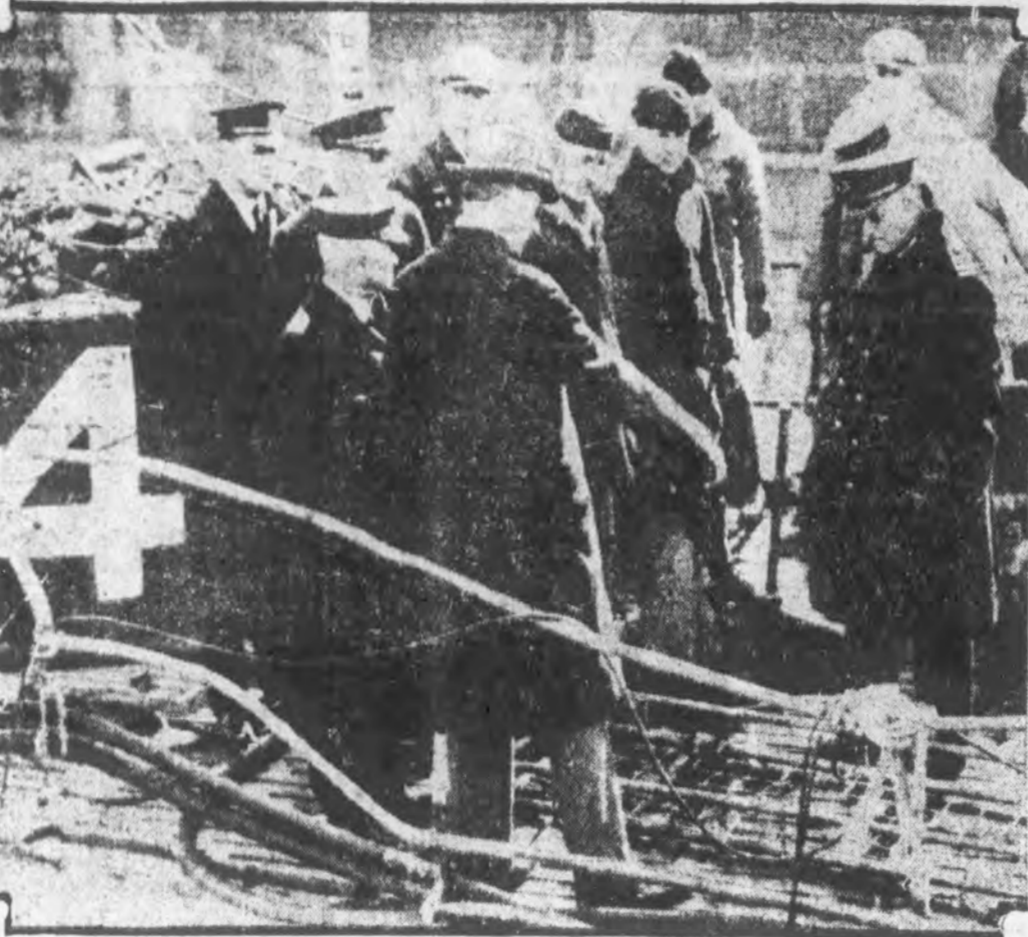

"Good attendance is absolutely necessary to success of any organization. We have been doing exceedingly well in this way the last few months, but there is no reason why we should not have at least one hundred per cent meetings once a month."

"Each member is urged to see to it that some other member is present. In this way, maybe, we shall be able to get all of the boys there."

"Approximately five hundred singers will be used in the choir at the Billy Sunday meeting which opens in this city Sunday, April 22," a member of the local committee said today.

"The best talent of all churches of the city will lead in choir activities, and there are numbers of other persons with good voices who will take part also.

"Good music as well as good preaching is necessary to the success of any evangelistic campaign, and it is hoped our singers will respond promptly when called upon to assist in the Sunday revival."

"We have lots of relatives," a reader mentioned to the writer of this column today, "but in my opinion none can compare with our Uncle Sam."

"The reason we like this particular uncle is because he represents freedom, strength, peace and happiness. His name carries weight and influence wherever mentioned, and foreign powers bow to him in every great use of the times."

"Then, too, Uncle Sam is the richest man in the world today. His finances have penetrated to the most remote parts of the world and when he speaks his words carry weight and unmistakable power."

"There are numbers of persons who knock Uncle Sam because of his affluence and power, but his guarantee of peace, happiness and prosperity to those who remain within his dominion is inspiration for any god-fearing, law-abiding citizen."

A visit to Chatham Circle subdivision will convince you from personal observation that it is building up rapidly.

Lomski-Sekyra Bout To Start Fireworks Among Light Heavies

By F. G. VOSBURGH (Feature Service Sports Editor)

New York. (AP)—Some of the fiercest fireworks that have been lacking among the heavyweights of late may be touched off in the light heavyweight division in the next few weeks.

Already possessed of a fighting champion in Tommy Loughran and two pugnaclous young contenders in Leo Lomski and Joe Sekyra, the 175-pound class is apt to be further embattled before long by return of the undefeated ex-champion, Jack Delaney.

The French-Canadian has fared poorly since he renounced his kingly rights to tilt among the heavyweights and would welcome a chance to restore lost prestige by reasserting his dominance over the 175-pounders. Delaney is a natural light heavyweight as his poundage for the drab fight he lost to Heeney clearly showed. A Delaney-Loughran fight would be a "natural" and already is on the fire for an outdoor arena this summer under Rickard's management.

Little is being said on this subject as yet as Delaney renounced his light heavyweight title only on the condition clearly laid down by the New York state boxing commission that he should never return to the division. Time may find a way around that obstacle, however.

Meanwhile the division is getting along pretty well without the French-Canadian, with the hard slugging Lomski billed to fight the up and coming youngster, Sekyra, March 30, in Madison Square Garden. If the winner makes a spectacular showing, Loughran is to take him on in Madison Square Garden the latter part of April.

In Lomski and Sekyra, Rickard has two likely looking drawing cards with color and a punch.

Lomski is the body punisher from Aberdeen, Wash., who knocked Loughran down twice in the first round in their title fight at the Garden in January.

Sekyra is less well known. His bout with Lomski will be his first appearance in a Garden main bout. He is only 21 year old and comes of the same hardy Slavic stock as Lomski, the Pole; Jack Sharkey, the Lithuanian; and Johnny Risko the Austro-Hungarian. He was born in Berwick, Pa., of Bohemian parents, the family moving to Dayton, Ohio, when he was a youngster.

At Stivers high school in Dayton, he was captain and end on the football team and played baseball and basketball as well, but he liked boxing best and passed up an offer of an athletic scholarship in college to enter the ring.

He won 40 consecutive amateur bouts, then turned pro in 1926. As a middleweight he beat Billy Britton and knock out Young Fisher, Art Wiegand and Red Fitzsimmons. He was outweighted many pounds, but fought a draw with Johnny Risko who outpointed him

ENNA JETTICK Health Shoes

From the diary of Enna Jettick

"Had to take Cousin Martha to see the American Wing for her to find counterparts of all her old tables and chairs which she thinks are valuable antiques. There was nothing there like anything she has, and we had to walk up and down again and again so as to make sure. Her feet gave out, and I continued the search alone. She refused point blank to go to any dealers. But she did hobble over to a store to get a pair of sensible Enna Jettick shoes like mine. She said it didn't seem possible to buy such good shoes for so little money."

NO FAVORITE IN NATIONAL THIS SEASON

By BRIAN BELL
(AP Staff Writer)

New York, March 22.—(AP)—There will be no open season for the National League as the eight clubs start along the trail leading to a season at the end of September.

At least half of the entries are considered chances to make it a race and as close an observer of things baseball as John McGraw has called the contest "open" for five bidders. The defending champion, the Pittsburgh Pirates, may expect stern opposition from St. Louis, Chicago, Cincinnati and New York. In the face of the early spring rains subject to confirmation in the autumn, the other three places will be divided between Brooklyn, Boston and Philadelphia.

Main forecasters who have made the pilgrimage to Avon Park to look over the Cardinals, expect Bill McKehee's team to resume the fight with the bold Buccaneers who were the same outfit under Bob O'Farrell last year. The Pirates are conceded to be in a better position to beat back the Cardinals in 1928 but rooters for the other clubs insist there is more "open" in the assaulting forces. The Cardinal supporters have been in particularly good voice in Florida in March.

The addition of Earl Adams to the Pittsburgh second basing and the recent switch of George Burns to first base has plunged the Pittsburgh weakness in the middle of the infield. Burleigh Grimes' ready arm may also be expected to help Pittsburgh and the other pitchers are back again with the exception of Vic Aldridge, the Indiana schoolmaster, who may or may not help the Giants.

The Cardinals, too, have been expected not by the addition of new players, but of improved physical condition of the stock on their benches. O'Farrell promises to be returning without the handicap of a balky thumb, Hays' eyes have responded to treatment and two bad legs, divided between Thompson and Blades, are believed to be whole again. Flint Rhem will be able to pitch the season's opening. Alexander seems more than ever a living illustration of the brook which was said to have gone on forever. The passing of Lester Bell who was far below his 1927 form last year may leave the Cardinals in a tight spot.

Spectacles are found who re-use to those used the Giants who finished third last season with Hornsby at second base can do better with the hard hitter doing his hitting for another club. Frank Hogan to take care of the bulk of the catching. Andy Cohen as Hornsby's successor at second and Jim Welsh and Frank O'Doul added to the outfield complete mark changes in McGraw's team.

The Chicago Cubs have added strength to their offensive power by the acquisition of Hazen Cuyler, who will not be called on to hit second in the batting order, and in Gabby Hartnett they have a catcher who will run one-two in any balloting for the best in the league. The Cubs' worries, if any, center about the infield. Maguire, McMillan, English and Butler may hold the club's ultimate fate in the hollow of their gloves.

Jack Hendricks, manager of Cincinnati regards his team as a dark horse with red legs. Hendricks pins his hopes to a consistent, improved physical condition of Leon George Kelly, an appendicitis victim last year, and added speed in the outfield to be contributed by fast youngsters who have been carefully brought along and are now pronounced ready.

He is standing pat on his pitchers. The two B's, Brooklyn and Boston, may have a race all their own. Roger Honsby will add a punch to the Braves offensive if he has not known in years and the Boston entry should score more runs than its recent annual quota. Bell should strengthen the infield and should mate well with Hornsby and Furrell. The Red skin pitching is a doubtful equation. A catching crisis was solved by the return of the hard working Taylor from New York. Manager Jack Slattery has other problems in his infield and outfield, which may or may not work themselves out.

The Brooklyn situation is in contrast to that of Boston. Manager Robinson has not pitching troubles but has yet to find if he will be able to unscramble a lineup from his new crop with enough power to give the pitchers some runs to work on. The Robins will introduce some new faces to the Flatbush fans, the round hoping all the while that they will say it with bats.

The Phillies, introducing a new manager working hard with limited material will give some of the young fellows a chance and hope for the best. Bill Kelley, a big first baseman, has shown a disposition to hit the ball and "Pinky" Whitney seems to know what it is all about around third base. The National League argument promises to be long drawn out and may not be settled until the football season is just around the corner.

Pirates Have Three Out.
San Francisco, March 23.—(AP)—After a day of idleness enforced by rain, the Pittsburgh Pirates today counted noses and found that three additional members have been added to the list of those slightly incapacitated.

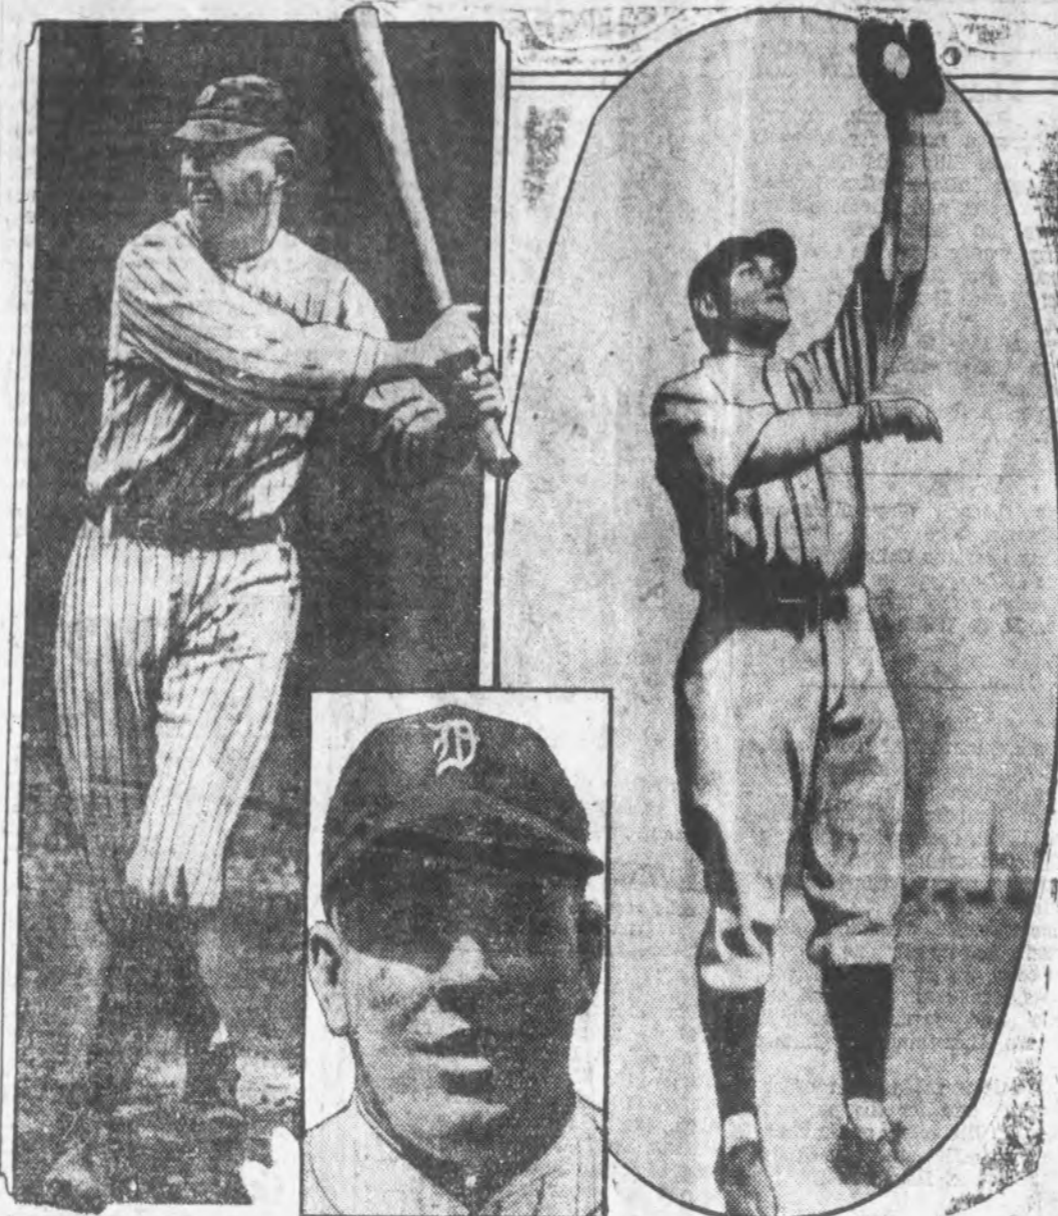

Ele Traynor, Pirate captain and third baseman, was complaining of soreness in his back and throwing arm; Burleigh Grimes, spitball artist, was suffering from a cold and Glenn Wright, shortstop, was afflicted with what manager Bush called overwork.

Locals Lose Out in Elk Tournament

Belhaven defeated Greenville by the score of 19 to 15 in the basketball tournament conducted in Washington last night as a part of the Elks' exposition which has been in progress the past week. The final game of the tournament will be played tonight between Belhaven and Aurora, the winner to receive the gold loving cup designating them as champions of Eastern North Carolina.

Greenville defeated Washington in the first round of the tournament Tuesday night and were presented a silver loving cup for their victory.

Detroit Outfielders Again Seek Batting Title

The Detroit Tigers, who have produced 17 batting champions in their 25 years in the American League, pin their hopes for another individual crown on Harry Heilmann (left), 1927 leader; Bob Fothergill (center), heavyweight slugger; and Harry Rice (right), speedy baserunner obtained from the St. Louis Browns.

San Antonio. (AP)—When Tyrus Cobb in his Tiger days topped the batsmen of the American League for a total of 12 seasons he started something of a tradition that Detroit players aren't going to give up without a struggle.

That unwritten rule that the batting championship of the league must go to a member of the Detroit outfield has been upheld even though Cobb is now with another club, and the battle to keep the honor there will be an interesting sidelight of the pennant race. The records show Detroit has gained the crown 17 times in the 25 years the club has been in the league—more times than all the other clubs put together.

Harry Heilmann has been the heir apparent to the honors that were Cobb's, winning the title four times—every other year since 1921—while Heinie Manush rose to the occasion in 1926. Heilmann's victories all have come in odd years and according to that way of figuring he isn't due this season. He doesn't see it that way.

Heilmann carried off the crown last year in a burst of melodramatic case that made it look as though a miracle had been performed to keep the tradition of Detroit individual batting supremacy intact.

Taking the field at home, October 2, the last day of the season, Heilmann was a precious point or two down to Al Simmons of the Athletics. When the dust of two hard-fought victorious games with the Cleveland Indians lifted Heilmann topped Simmons by six points with a season average of .398 and held the crown for the fourth time. To do it he had walloped out the amazing total of two home runs, three doubles and two singles for seven hits in nine times up while Simmons was making two in five at Washington.

Heilmann, although 34, has reported in prime condition armed with a dozen new bats and the ambition to repeat this season. Another year at the top would give him five championships and a clear claim to a record second only to that of Cobb. His present record of four championships has been equaled by only one other American League player, Napoleon Lajoie.

Even if Heilmann should falter, the Detroit outfield may still produce the batting king.

Bob ("Rhino") Fothergill, left fielder, batted .359 last year and has always been among the leaders, while Harry Rice, who was obtained from the St. Louis Browns this winter in the deal for Heinie Manush, is being built into a veritable Cobb on the bases, by Manager Moriarty.

Fothergill reported several pounds overweight, but the danger of losing his job to Paul Easterling, a recent, proved quite a stimulus. Rice batted below .300 with the Browns last year, but Moriarty thinks he can be carried well above that figure this year by developing his natigan sprinter, running with the Illinois A. C. and Aubrey Cockrell, of Texas University.

Hamm of Georgia Tech, was accorded the best chance to improve the mark of 23 feet 8 3/4 inches in the broad jump. He has exceeded 24 feet this year. McInerney, of Kansas, who won this event at the Illinois relays last week, was also a favorite.

COTTON MARKET.

New York, March 23.—(AP)—The cotton market was lower today owing to the influence of relatively easy Liverpool cables and reports of good weather in the south. After showing net losses of 15 to 20 points in early trading, prices rallied 8 or 10 points from the lowest, but later sagged again under comparatively small offerings. The mid-afternoon market was quiet, at net declines of 13 to 15 points.

Futures closed steady, 13 to 18 points lower.

GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, March 23.—(AP)—Indications of beneficial rain tonight depressed wheat prices today after the market had overtopped the season's high-price record for the July delivery. Profit-taking sales were also instrumental in bringing about the wheat price setback.

Wheat closed heavy, 5-8c to 1 5/8c net lower, corn 1 1/4c to 1 7/8c 2c down, oats 3-8c to 1 1/4c off, and provisions unchanged to a setback of 20c.

STOCK MARKET

New York, March 23.—(AP)—Disregarding profit-taking in several of the recent leaders, the stock market swung upward in impressive fashion again today. Trading showed a marked broadening in demand, with gains of 2 to 5 points in the seasoned dividend paying industrials and rails, supplemented by advances of 6 to 16 points in several of the pool specialties. Trading did not keep pace with yesterday's record-breaking session in the first three hours, but large blocks of stocks again made their appearance at frequent intervals.

Price movements bore little relation to the day's news although the unexpectedly small increase in brokers' loans undoubtedly fired the speculative imagination, and gave the "bull" market a new lease of life. Several 1927 earnings reports made their appearance during the day, and they showed mixed results. Packard earned $3.37 per share on the common in the six months ended February 29 against $1.96 in the corresponding period a year ago.

Southern Railway earned $14.40 a share for the full year of 1927 as against $15.87 the year before. The Alax Rubber Company reported a deficit of nearly $2,000,000 last year as contrasted with a deficit of less than $300,000 in 1926.

U. S. Steel common ran into heavy profit-taking, but held above yesterday's closing level. The H. C. Frick Company, a subsidiary, has lighted 350 additional coke ovens according to private Pittsburgh dispatches.

Radio, after selling down to 150 1-2, rallied to 156 1-2, up 5 1-2 points above last night's close, and General Motors rallied from a low of 181 5-8 to 184 1-2, or within a 1-2 point of the top price recorded on the day's initial transaction.

Atlas soared 16 points, Adams Express 13, and Jersey Central, du Pont, Coca Cola, International Harvester and General Electric moved up 5 to 10 points.

Several new highs were recorded in the railroad group, the list including Rock Island common, Texas & Pacific, Reading and Iowa Central.

The close was strong. Total sales approximated 3,800,000 shares.

SEN. FERRIS DIES TODAY

Michigan Man Died In Washington This Morning From Attack of Pneumonia

Washington, March 22. (AP)—Senator Woodbridge N. Ferris, of Michigan, died here at 6:15 o'clock this morning from an attack of pneumonia.

The 75-year-old veteran of Michigan political battles succumbed after a little more than a week's illness which began with a heavy cold he could not shake off. It had been planned to take him to Battle Creek as late as Friday if his condition did not improve. That evening, however, he began to break rapidly. Then pneumonia set in, and the efforts of physicians to prolong his life proved futile.

Dr. G. W. Carver made the death announcement. He said the aged senator had a sinking spell yesterday and stimulants failed to revive him. He passed away this morning in his apartment at the Washington hotel.

Those at the bedside when the end came were Mrs. Ferris' brother, John McCloud, and Garret Maslink, vice president of the Ferris Institute and college mate of the senator.

Since last Saturday little hope had been held for the recovery of the senator who was known as the "good gray governor" of Michigan and the man who rode through that state's normal republican majority of 500,000 votes to be elected to the senate in 1922 as a democrat, something that had not been done for 70 years.

In an effort to slay off the encroaching disease in the bronchial tubes Dr. Carver had called a navy specialist, Lieut. Commander Walter A. Bloodorn, and Dr. Cary T. Grayson, who was President Wilson's personal physician, but their work was to no avail. The senator's advanced age had contributed to his rapid decline.

On March 7, Senator Ferris announced that because of his age he would not be a candidate for reelection and at the same time came out for the nomination of Senator Walsh, democrat, Montana, for the presidency, because he is a dry.

"I feel it is time I had a vacation and really took time to live," was the Gray legislator's philosophical way of taking himself out of politics.

"I want it distinctly understood," he said, "that I do not decline to run because of any fear of the result. It is only in great emergencies that a democrat can be elected in Michigan, but even if I felt sure of being defeated that would not deter me from running. If I thought I owed that duty to those who have supported me."

Ferris' announcement for Walsh was regarded as creating the first split in the theretofore unbroken sentiment among Michigan democrats for Governor Smith of New York.

Ferris recognized the "greatness" of Smith, but said he had been a dry for 44 years and could not reverse himself.

Senator Ferris' health had not permitted his taking part in senate activities for several months prior to his death.

Talk Suspension Of Gene Tunney

New York, March 22. (AP)—The New York State Athletic Commission may consider the advisability of suspending Gene Tunney, world's heavyweight champion.

The commission yesterday announced receipt of a telegram from the champion in which Tunney said he had signed with Tom Heeney to defend his title against the best available opponent as soon as Heeney has arranged to sign his selection and stage contest.

The telegram, which was in reply to one from the commission, however, failed to deal specifically with the challenges, now on file, of Tom Heeney, Jack Sharkey and Johnny Risio, the commission, in its telegram to Tunney, had informed the champion that his six months period of grace expired today and asked him what he was going to do with the challenges.

Although the commission announced it would have nothing to say about the situation until its regular meeting tomorrow, it was learned unofficially that the boxing fathers considered Tunney's reply evasive. Unless something occurs in the meantime to alter the situation, Tunney's suspension for failure to defend his title within six months appears certain.

North and South Join to Unveil Lee Statue at Stone Mountain

Atlanta, (AP)—On the anniversary of their surrender at Appomattox Courthouse, Va., in 1865, the thinning ranks of the veterans of the Confederacy will form again here April 9, to see the face of General Robert E. Lee, their beloved commander, unveiled in stone.

A curtain will be loosed from the sheer, precipitous side of Stone Mountain to reveal the head of Lee in profile, together with the unfinished portion of the equestrian figure which, when completed, will form the most colossal carving in history.

Lee, astride his horse, will be the dominating figure of the central group in the memorial being chiseled under direction of Augustus Lukeman, Virginia sculptor.

It will be the second time a head of Lee has been unveiled on the mountain. The first ceremony was on January 19, 1924, when a head carved by Gutzon Borglum was unveiled in the presence of 10,000 persons.

The Borglum head, which was a cause of controversy in the courts, was discarded when Lukeman changed the design of the memorial and decided to place all the figures in bas-relief on the same plane instead of having them follow the contour of the mountain, as Borglum had planned.

Lukeman, born in Richmond, Va., capital of the Confederacy, succeeded Borglum in April 1925, after the latter had been discharged by the organization in charge of the memorial.

Calling himself a victim of malicious propaganda, Borglum smashed his working models and left the state.

Borglum had been charged with neglect of the project while going about the country raising funds, and with taking contracts for other work while the memorial remained uncompleted. Warrants were issued charging the sculptor with "malicious mischief" in connection with destruction of the models. Borglum, who had many Georgia supporters, was arrested at Greensboro, N. C., but was released and the charges were dropped.

In April, 1926, Lukeman's design for the memorial was accepted. Actual work on the new carving began in September, 1926.

The observer must climb a slanting stairway up the precipice and stand about the figure in order to appreciate the size of the carving. From the top of Lee's head to the hoof of his horse, the statue measures 130 feet. From the tip of the horse's ears to the end of the tail, the distance is 175 feet. The granite sword, if detached, would weigh 80 tons. The space under the heel and stirrup would shelter ten men from a rainstorm, as was proved recently when workmen sought refuge there from a sudden downpour.

The Stone Mountain Confederate Monumental Association, sponsoring the unveiling ceremonies, has announced plans for the North and South to join in the celebration. Famous military units have been asked to attend and many have accepted the invitation.

Mayor James J. Walker of New York has agreed to speak in acceptance of the carving for the whole nation, while Marcus W. Beck, justice of the Georgia supreme court, will make the address of presentation.

The exercises will be held on a rostrum at the foot of the mountain. The signal for the unveiling will be given by Robert E. Lee IV, five years old, of New York, great grandson of the Confederate leader.

The Rev. Giles B. Cook, Matthews Courthouse, Va., only surviving member of General Lee's staff, will give the benediction.

gle for life." And "there is an earnest and careful search for any diary that might have been left by the men."

No diary will be found probably. Men in action don't say much or write much. Two men will fight to the death with not a word spoken, only an occasional growl.

Cromwell, one of the greatest fighters the world ever knew, made Britain his own, dominated Europe, and his written words were so few you could put them all on a few sheets of paper. Milton, his private secretary, on the other hand, poured out words abundantly and beautifully. Milton was not in action, Cromwell was.

Mr. Firestone, who makes automobile tires is busy in Ohio. His son, Harvey Firestone, Jr., is on the Firestone rubber plantation in Africa. Father Firestone from now on will communicate every day with son Firestone in Africa by radio.

At the same time Thomas P. Ryan, who, as the late J. Pierpont

Morgan said, "could have been the fittest man in the world if he had cared to take the trouble." Sends his diamonds by airplane from the middle of Africa to be cut in Holland and sold in London.

The human race has done a good deal since this century started. Yet when it started, chemists said they knew about all they ever could hope to know—science generally thought it had reached the top, and the great Wallace, who discovered evolution with Darwin, in his "man's place in the universe," decided that "intelligence exists only on this little earth. Some of the really great cosmic intelligences would laugh at that if cosmic intelligence ever laughs.

Ninety representatives, only one senator accepted Colonel Lindbergh's invitation to fly and see how safe it is. Representatives are younger. The older senators know they will soon have to take a long upward flight, with no return ticket, and are willing to wait for that.

With the latest invention, the flying pilot, looking at a dial controlled by radio, realizes instantly any deviation from the true course mapped out. That instrument, with another telling the plane's height above ground, will make fogs of no consequence, apart from collision.
