

BILLY SUNDAY DECLINES TO BELIEVE AL SMITH HAS ANY SHOW FOR THE PRESIDENCY

Tells Congregation he Will Run Himself on a Dry Ticket if Smith is Nominated by the Democrats and The Republicans Nominate a Wet.

Billy Sunday preached to about four thousand people in two services at the tabernacle at Smith & McGee's warehouse yesterday afternoon and last night. Again the great evangelist failed to cut loose his old-time style. He seemed to be clinging to his congregation—attempting to determine his method of approach before letting himself out in customary form.

Mr. Sunday laid aside the doctrine of Christianity a few moments yesterday afternoon to take a shot at Al Smith, New York Governor, whose candidacy for the presidency has become slightly pronounced in this immediate territory.

"They are working over time trying to line up this state for Al Smith," he declared, "but they never will do it. They may nominate him, but if they do he will not carry a single state west of the Mississippi river. If the Democrats nominate Smith and the Republicans nominate a wet, I am going to run myself on a dry ticket, and I'll make this country dry."

This statement sounded strange and slightly out of place, coming as it did in the midst of a stirring sermon dealing with the militant church and the individual. But Mr. Sunday smiled so engagingly and disarmingly that the congregation forgot all about the change of atmosphere, created by the political allusion, and took it for granted that Josephus Daniels was the man for the presidency instead of Al Smith. It was what a evangelist said. They believed it.

A sprinkling of five or six hundred people attended the afternoon services, but last night the crowd increased to no little extent, although the tabernacle was not well filled, by any means. Last night Mr. Sunday spoke on the subject of "God's Detective." His text: "Be sure your sins will find you out." Was driven home with timely illustrations—many of them giving intimate glimpses of lives blighted by sinful associations.

The choir composed of two or three hundred voices, directed by Homer Hammond, again proved one of the outstanding features of the service. This noted song director has a way of getting people to sing, other than his choir members, and last night they sang with more complete abandon than any other service of the campaign. Fifteen or twenty minutes are given to this part of the service, and when Billy Sunday enters the pulpit his congregation invariably is in a splendid state of mind for any great truth he hurls at them.

Rev. L. B. Jones, pastor of Jarvis Memorial Methodist Church, called attention to the necessity of contributions for paying expenses of the services. He said checks had been provided for the signatures of those who failed to carry any money in their pockets, and urged every body to give as liberally as they could.

"No man or woman can ever escape from his or her sins. Every sin will find you out," Mr. Sunday declared last night.

"There may be those here tonight who are contemplating some sin. You may be here to ally suspicion that there is in your heart the slightest inclination to sin. You may be here until a more convenient hour presents itself. You may come here because it is nicely lighted and comfortable and you like to hear the speaking and singing. If you have, please remember the text of this sermon. Be sure your sins will find you out."

Tonight Mr. Sunday will speak upon the subject, "Home," in keeping with "Better Homes Week" now being sponsored throughout the nation. Members of the Woman's Club and other organizations have been invited to attend in a body and take part in the services.

"No man or woman can ever escape from his or her sins. Every sin will find you out, call you to account and make you pay. Sometimes, if not instantly, some time. No man or woman ever committed a sin that did not have to pay in some way. I am not simply talking about dollars and cents. No man or woman ever committed a sin that was not a loss to it. Why will you do anything when you know you are losing every time you do it? No man or woman ever committed a sin, never will a man or woman commit a sin that says, 'The next stupendous and gigantic thing I can possess any man or woman to imagine that you gain anything by doing wrong. You' (Continued on Page 6)

FLOOD WATERS SUBSIDING IN THREE STATES

Five Thousand Persons Reported Homeless in Georgia, Alabama and Florida.

Atlanta, April 26.—(AP)—Tawny flood waters that spread beyond their banks in South Georgia and Alabama through early part of the week had to a large extent subsided today, but in northwest Florida the waters continued to spread over a wide area of lowlands.

Many of the 3,000 to 5,000 estimated homeless in the three states were preparing to leave their temporary homes in the hills and return to their sudden homes and fields. The plant crops and restore the country to normal conditions, while railways paralyzed since Sunday, began normal service over a wide area and highway repairs were well under way.

Residents of Caryville, Fla., numbering 600 were safe at Bonifay, while flood waters of the Choctawhatchee river caused 12 feet deep through its streets, while Westville on the other shore of the stream was menaced.

In this district of Florida alone, 1,000 are homeless, while others had been routed to century on the Escambia river, 30 homes had been washed away and the water rising slowly.

In South Georgia, most railway service had been restored to normal, but the Atlantic Coast Line continues detouring trains from Thomasville to Montgomery, Ala., via Albany, Ga., and traffic to Dothan, Ala., until tonight and resumption of service from Macon to Lockhart, Ala., will not be restored before Friday.

The death list stood at six, all Alabama negroes, but with the continued spread of flood waters over the lower reaches of the rivers, damage to crops and highways steadily mounted.

No accurate estimate of the loss sustained in the three states was available, but the largest single item was crops that in many cases were washed away and some lands rendered unfit for cultivation again this year.

Hoover Gains Lead in Ohio

Columbus, O., April 26.—(AP)—Though Herbert Hoover is assured the support of 31 of Ohio's 51 delegates to the National Republican Convention as a result of Tuesday's primary, just where the other twenty, who were pledged to the late Senator Frank B. Willis, will swing their support is unknown.

Since the death of their leader, which occurred March 30, while he was campaigning for the Presidential nomination, the slate of delegates has advocated candidacies of several other possibilities. Among the names are Vice-President, Dan B. McLean; Ohioan; Lowden, Curtis, Hughes and Coolidge. Entering the convention as an uncommitted delegation, it is not unlikely the Willis slate will split its strength.

Willard Appears Before Senate Coal Committee

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—H. E. Willard, of Cleveland, secretary of the U. S. Coal Company, today made the declaration before the Senate committee investigation of the bituminous industry that his concern would never "under any circumstances whatsoever" again meet with or deal with the United Mine Workers of America.

Otherwise, his testimony was directed chiefly at what he described as lawless conditions and violence in the Ohio fields following the closing of his company's mines upon the expiration of the Jacksonsville wage agreement.

FORD RELIEF PLANE IS OFF FOR NEW YORK

Bremen Abandoned By Trans-Atlantic Fliers at Greenley Island this Morning.

Quebec, April 26.—(Canadian Press)—The Ford relief plane bearing the trans-Atlantic fliers took off from Greenley Island at 7:45 this morning for Lake St. Agnes. The monoplane Bremen, which bore the two Germans and the Irishman from Ireland to the lonely island, was abandoned to await a ship when the straits should be clear of ice.

The announcement of the take-off was flashed by the government wireless, which had been almost the sole link with civilization during the thirteen days the plane and its crew had been held at the island.

It was Friday, April 13, that the Bremen made a forced landing, when near the limit of its fuel supply, on the rocky islet 400 miles north of its course. The undercarriage was smashed and other damage done in the landing and the island had no facilities for repairs.

Major James Fitzmaurice, one of the crew, was brought out to Murray Bay a few days later in a plane piloted by C. A. (Duke) Schiller, who blazed the hazardous air trail that other relief parties later followed.

A self-motored Ford plane, piloted by Floyd Bennett and Bernat Balchen flew from Detroit to Lake St. Agnes, where the necessary parts and fuel for the Bremen were loaded. There Bennett contracted a severe cold which turned into pneumonia and from which he died yesterday in a Quebec hospital.

Balchen, with Major Fitzmaurice, continued on to Greenley, but through some oversight skills to equip the Bremen for its take off from the ice surrounding the island were left behind. This coupled with motor trouble detected in the Bremen, decided the aviators to leave the German plane and resume their trip to New York in the Ford relief plane. Softening of the ice, from which alone a take off could be made in the vicinity of the rocky island, made it imperative that they complete their journey by air.

By their early morning departure from Greenley, the three men who were the first to fly across the Atlantic from East to West were expected to reach their original objective at New York by Friday evening. At stop it to be made at Lake St. Agnes to refuel the plane. The formal welcome of New York had been postponed to Monday and Tuesday in tribute to Bennett.

Quebec, April 26.—By the Canadian Press—The Ford relief plane bearing the crew of the Bremen was sighted over Harrington, Que., at 8:45 a. m., according to a message to the Canadian government telegraph office here. Harrington is approximately 112 miles southwest of Greenley Island which the plane left at 7:45.

After the tire blew out the tracks of the speeding machine showed it continued on a straight line for 100 feet, then zigzagged down the beach for 600 feet, where it struck a bump and went spinning through the air for 57 feet. Striking the beach with terrific impact the machine bounced 33 feet through the air, struck the sand and bounced 26 feet further to land on all four wheels.

The 3,000 pound machine then struck a bump on the beach and hurtled 140 feet through the air to land on a guy wire that tripped the time device at 7 a. m.

The car on landing dug a hole 16 inches deep in the sand, then hurtled 120 feet through the air to land sideways but upright and so bounding 42 feet through the air, struck the beach and rolled over several times to come to a stop before the grandstand, a mass of wreckage.

Lockhart's body was thrown clear and he was pelked up 57 feet beyond where the car of his own heaviest lay demolished.

A thin measurement of the distance between signs where the racing machine struck the beach was made by Otis Porter, official timer, and Arthur H. Means, assistant secretary of the American Automobile Association, who were officially observing the run.

Lockhart's neck, back and right leg were broken, his chest crushed and his body cut and bruised. Physicians expressed doubt that he knew what had occurred after the car turned over the first time.

WALKER RAISES FUND FOR STONE MOUNTAIN

Atlanta, April 26.—(AP)—Mayor James J. Walker, of New York City, has raised more than $55,000 for the Stone Mountain Confederate Memorial Association through the sale of Stone Mountain Memorial half dollars. Hollis N. Randolph, President of the Association, said in his Annual report to the Organization. This, it was pointed out, is more money than has been raised by any individual other than officers of the association.

FLORIDA CITY PAYS TRIBUTE TO LOCKHART

Famous Automobile Racer to be Buried at Los Angeles, California.

Dayton's Beach, Fla., April 26.—(AP)—Business paused in Daytona Beach today as the city paid tribute to Frank Lockhart, youthful Indianapolis racing driver, who lost his life on the beach here yesterday during a speed test.

Mrs. Lockhart who witnessed her husband's death was reported recovering from the shock and had removed from a hotel to the home of a friend.

The body will lie in state here today and plans have been made to send it to Los Angeles, Lockhart's mother's home for funeral services and burial.

A graphic story of the 1,300 foot plunge of the powerful little Stutz Blackhawk Special which Lockhart was piloting at a speed estimated at 200 miles or more an hour when a tire blew out was left on the sands of the beach.

From the point where the tire blew out to where the speeding machine came to a halt, a heap of wreckage, before the horrified eyes of Mrs. Lockhart and some 200 spectators, the car traveled nearly a fourth of a mile in five or six seconds.

After the tire blew out the tracks of the speeding machine showed it continued on a straight line for 100 feet, then zigzagged down the beach for 600 feet, where it struck a bump and went spinning through the air for 57 feet. Striking the beach with terrific impact the machine bounced 33 feet through the air, struck the sand and bounced 26 feet further to land on all four wheels.

Flyers Unhurt When Plane Lands on One Wheel Here

Matt R. Long, local textile manufacturer and aviation enthusiast, and Ben Dixon MacNeill, Raleigh newspaperman, had a narrow escape from death or serious injury here late yesterday afternoon when the airplane in which they were riding, was forced to land on one wheel at Mr. Long's landing field near this city. Both occupants of the plane escaped without a scratch.

A large crowd of Greenville people gathered at the field, when news of the loss of part of the landing gear gained circulation and watched the landing of the plane on its right wheel and wing. The plane ran for a distance of about 75 feet, nosed over and buried its propeller in the earth before coming to a standstill. The two occupants clambered out unhurt and apparently composed. An ambulance summoned to the field by a traffic cop was found to be of no use.

Mr. Long was at the wheel when the plane took off down Tar river for Washington. The field was soft as a result of recent heavy rains and considerable difficulty was encountered in getting off the ground. The landing gear struck a stump just as the plane left the ground, and the left wheel and its supports were broken loose. The flyers realized that damage had been done by the contact with the stump and circled the field in an effort to determine the extent. They were appraised of the seriousness by those on the field below. A note was dropped to the ground asking which wheel was missing. By a series of signalling with an automobile tire, Dick Mather informed the flyers that the left wheel and supports were gone.

The landing gear dropped off on the Westbrook property in the eastern section of the city, a mile or so from the landing field. Long circled the flying field, silenced his motor, drifted against the wind and set the ship down hard on its right wheel. It buried its nose slowly into the mud and came to a standstill.

Mr. Long uses the plane for business trips between Greenville and Roxboro, having business interests in both cities. Ben Dixon MacNeill, correspondent of the News and Observer, has been in the city the last few days covering the Billy Sunday evangelistic campaign that opened last Sunday.

FARM RELIEF BILL GOES ON TRIAL TODAY

McNary-Haugen Bill Plan For Relief Still Contains Objectionable Features.

Washington, April 26.—(AP)—The new McNary-Haugen plan for farm relief, revised in many instances since last year to conform to White House views, but still opposing the equalization fee machinery objected to by President Coolidge, goes on trial for the first time this session today in the House.

The subject was made the order of business late yesterday when, after an hour's debate, a resolution was adopted unanimously to give it the right of way.

The bill actually up for discussion was the Haugen measure proposing the same general plan for farm relief as the McNary bill recently approved by the Senate, but differing to some extent in regard to specific provisions. The outstanding differences are:

The Haugen bill would apply to all agricultural products while the McNary measure would exempt fresh vegetables, fruits, beef and fish products.

Tolerant Mr. Dempsey. Lindbergh in the Air. Proud of Her Boy. Ask F. M. Woolley. (By Arthur Brisbane) Copyright 1927, by Star Co.

Jack Dempsey, looking cheerful and as powerful as he ever did, took a tolerant view of Mr. Tunney's dip into Shakespeare. "It's all right, if it helps his racket."

Asked whether he likes the works of Shakespeare, the manassa mauler replied, "Never had the pleasure."

Floyd Bennett, courageous American pilot, is dangerously ill in a Quebec hospital. Double pneumonia is the result of his undertaking, in spite of doctors' warnings, to fly to the assistance of the Bremen crew.

Lindbergh, taking pneumonia serum to his friend, Floyd Bennett, hopped off from Long Island yesterday afternoon as casually as you would walk to the nearest drug store.

"The mother of Captain Wilkins, who flew over the north pole recently, is 'mad my boy George has done what he set out to do. We mothers don't say much, but we feel a lot.'"

Mrs. Wilkins thinks her son "made a hell of a job" of what he learned in a little college school than many men have been able to make of a college education. He built character in that little school.

"The public school is the American school of real opportunity."

Have you horses or cows? asks P. M. Woolley, builder and head of the American Radiator Company, about the development of a vacuum cleaner for horses and cattle.

This writer, after tests, finds that the vacuum process cleans hogs and cows to perfection, better, more quickly and economically than could be done by hand.

All dust, including the hair are carried into a receptacle by air current. Hops bars and cow stables can be kept in perfect order; production of clean milk made easier by the new method. And grooms no longer are obliged to breathe in dust as they clean the animals. Those that can afford the machine should use it, and in dairies of any size its use should be compulsory—it takes disease-breeding flies with it.

Balkans Still Swept By Heavy Earth Shocks

Vienna, April 26.—(AP)—The whole of the Balkan peninsula, shaken by a series of devastating earthquakes in the past week, is still being swept by violent tremors. The latest cities to fall in the wake of the earth's terrific movements are the ancient city of Adrianople, in European Turkey, and the Bulgarian city of Varna, on the Black Sea, while the successive subterranean upheavals completed the destruction of the classical Greek city of Corinth, and several additional towns in Bulgaria.

The Varna earthquake, which took place last night, is described as worse than that which caused great damage in the populous city of Philadelphia several days ago. It was accompanied by a giant tidal wave which inundated the city and sank everything in the harbor.

Athens, Greece, April 26.—(AP)—Earthshocks have been continuing in the region of Corinth, the most severe being felt at 10 o'clock last night. This tremor also was felt in Athens.

A third of the population of Corinth has left the city, but the morale of those remaining is excellent. Villages around the city suffered severely, one of them, Geranates, being completely destroyed. Yesterday's shock also caused damage at Pravi near Kavala.

Chinese Troops Take Missionary

Peking, April 26.—(AP)—The American Legation was investigating a report today that L. C. Osborn of the Nazarene Mission at Chaocheng, Western Shantung, had been taken prisoner by the Nationalist Army in their advance across that province. He was said to have been taken to Kaichow Chi, in Southern China.

The consular general at Hankow was instructed to investigate the report and seek the release of Osborn if he proved to be a captive.

NOTED FLYER TO BE BURIED AT ARLINGTON

Body of Floyd Bennett to Rest Close to The Tomb of Admiral Robt. Peary.

Quebec, April 26.—(AP)—Floyd Bennett, who piloted the first plane to the north pole, will rest near the discoverer of the pole. He is to be buried tomorrow in Arlington national cemetery outside Washington. His grave will be close to that of Admiral Robert E. Peary.

The body of the man who piloted Commander Richard E. Byrd across the pole and who died attempting to carry aid to three fellow fliers, leaves Quebec on a special car at 1:30 p. m. today accompanied by his wife and his beloved chief, Commander Byrd. The train is to arrive in New York city at 7:30 tomorrow morning.

Upon its arrival at New York the casket will be taken under military and police escort from the Grand Central to the Pennsylvania station for the trip to Washington which begins three hours later. The burial will be immediately after the arrival in Washington at three p. m. tomorrow afternoon.

Escorted to the train here by a military guard from the Royal Twenty-Second Regiment the funeral train will be met enroute by a United States naval escort and the burial at Arlington will be with full military honors.

Brief funeral services under the direction of the Rev. Archdeacon Scott were arranged at the hospital where he died.

Mrs. Bennett first expressed the wish that her husband's body be buried near their home in Brooklyn but later accepted the request that it be buried America's other hero at Arlington.

A slab of stone there will not be the only that will remember of the man who blazed the air trail over the arctic region. Commander Byrd announced that the airplane, would use in his attempted flight over the south pole would be named "The Floyd Bennett." Bennett, had lived, would have been second in command of the expedition and probably at the controls of the plane on the flight.

Commander Byrd notified Bennett's 30-year-old mother at Lake George, N. Y., of her son's death and she plans to meet the funeral party in New York for the trip to Washington. Mrs. Mary E. Breyer, of Waterbury, Vt., Mrs. Bennett's mother, is to join her daughter for the journey.

Colonel Charles A. Lindbergh, who risked his life to carry serum provided by the Rockefeller institute from New York to Quebec, returned to New York by plane yesterday.

In a message to his expedition's headquarters in New York, Commander Byrd said: "I intend to go through the arctic expedition as a memorial to Floyd Bennett. I shall name the arctic plane to be used in an attempt to fly over the pole the Floyd Bennett."

Mrs. Bennett asked that the Rev. L. E. Smith, pastor of the Christian Church at Norfolk, Va., of which she and her husband were members be asked to officiate in the services at the grave.

Family Reconciled to Prince's Wedding

Paris, April 26.—(AP)—Prince Charles Philippe, Duke of Nemours told the Associated Press today that his family finally had been reconciled to his recent marriage to Miss Marguerite Watson of Washington.

He said that the family will be on hand to wish him Bon Voyage when he and his American bride continue their Airplane Honeymoon by a hopoff for Morocco tomorrow or Saturday in the "Honeymoon Plane" which the Duke gave his bride for a wedding present.

The trip to Morocco will be made in two hops, the young Prince himself handling the controls.

Chilean Flying To Houston, Tex.

Montgomery, Ala., April 26.—(AP)—Carlos Davis, Chilean ambassador to the United States, took off from Maxwell field government airport here at 6 o'clock this morning for Houston, Texas, by airplane. He expected to reach his destination at 11 o'clock.

The ambassador reached Montgomery late yesterday in an automobile from Georgetown, Ga., where he left his plane after indicating to the pilot, Lieutenant Bushrod Hampton of Bolling field, that he wished to land. They took off from Pope field, Fayetteville, at 5:20 a. m. and had been in the air more than six hours.

The plane in which the ambassador took off this morning was piloted by Lieutenant R. W. Weisard, of Maxwell field.

Greenville Loses Opener With Rocky Mount Outfit

Rocky Mount defeated Greenville in the opening game of the Eastern Carolina League at Rocky Mount yesterday afternoon. The clubs were forced to go eleven innings before the railroad city Buccaners succeeded in putting three tallies over to clinch the victory.

It was sensational finish for game in which hundreds of persons were interested and formed a fitting prelude for a session destined to be filled with active competition among the six towns comprising the circuit.

In addition to holding Greenville to six hits in eleven frames, Kelly, Rocky Mount hurler, secured four hits out of five times at bat, while Brandt was credited with a similar number, including a home run. Witry was the man who got the cross that sent three runners racing across home plate with the winning runs.

Deacon Joliff, manager of the Greenville club, yielded sixteen hits in ten and a third innings, being driven from the mound in favor of Steele.

Greenville will play in Rocky Mount this afternoon, returning tomorrow to open the season on their home lot with Fayetteville. Billy Sunday, who thirty odd years ago led off at bat for Pittsburgh in the National League, will toss over the ball in the game here. Mayor J. C. Linder will do the receiving. The ball club will parade with members of the high school band prior to the opening.

Virtually all business houses of the city will close at 3:30 o'clock in order to give employees an opportunity of attending the game. It will be a regular gala day for Greenville, and hundreds of people from all parts of the county are expected to be in attendance. The box score of yesterday's game follows:

Macon Making Strong Bid For Lead in Sally

Atlanta, Ga., April 26.—(By the Associated Press)—A batting Macon baseball club today was in striking distance of Asheville's tourists for the South Atlantic Association leadership.

The Peaches yesterday pounded Charlie unmercifully, winning 12 to 4 while the Sky and tourists were dividing a routine attraction with Spartanburg, being the first center 3 to 1 and taking the afternoon 7 to 1.

Home runs by McCrone and Good of the Peaches and Kearns and Wise of Charlotte, gave a Ruthian aspect to the game.

Evans, Spartanburg hurler, spiked ten runs and forced the first defeat of the season upon the league leaders. The Spartan moundman gave no only four hits and kept them well scattered.

However, the second game proved easy for Asheville.

Augusta batters went on a hitless spree to slam out a 9 to 4 victory over Columbia while the Georgians were helped through the gift of twice bases on balls by Comer hurler.

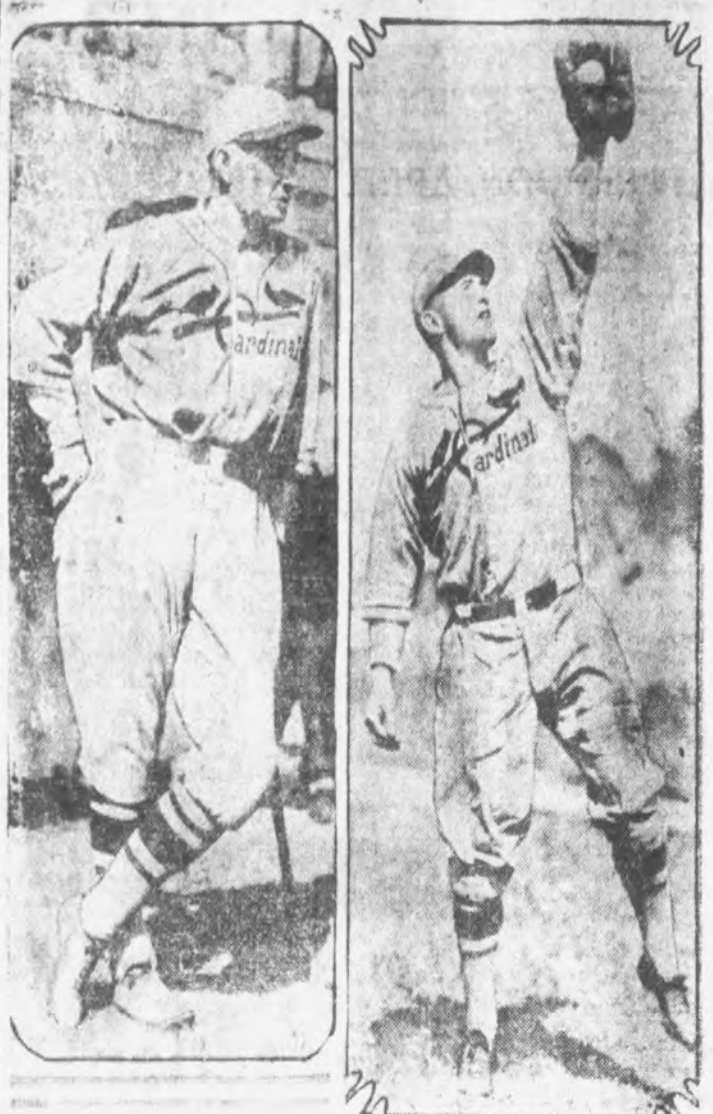

Weber, Tiger third sacker, led both teams in hitting with four safe blows out of six times at bat.

Greenville converted six free bases to first six hits, two errors, two sacrifice flies, and a wild pitch to score one run in two innings. Finally Asheville Knoxville 12 to 8 in a weird game.

Twenty-six hits were totaled by the two teams.

LEADERS OF THE DARK HORSE TEAM

The St. Louis Cardinals may be the "dark horse" aggregation of the National League pennant race. Above, Bill McKechnie, manager (left), and Captain Frankie Frisch, whose playing and hitting so far this season have been of the stellar variety.

Dempsey Wins Kearns Suit

New York, April 25.—(AP)—Jack Dempsey had another knockout to his credit today. His one-time manager, Jack Kearns, went down for the count in the federal district court, being a cut for $701,000.

Just as the iron fists of the mauler of manana clubbed down every opponent in the heavyweight division while Jack Kearns piloted him to the championship, so did the legal array of Dempsey slash down the doc's claims under breach of their old contract until they amounted only to $15,000 at the maximum.

And last night, after allowing a jury to find only on two questions of fact, Judge John O. Knox delivered the final blow to Kearns claims by directing a verdict for Dempsey after four days of interesting testimony to fistic rail birds.

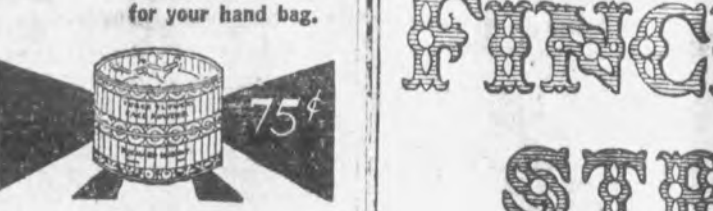

The jury decided that Dempsey had entered a valid three year contract with Kearns in August, 1923, while the former champion was training for his title defense against Luis Firpo, and that this contract was terminated in 1925 by mutual consent in Los Angeles, when the pair of jacks, after months of bickering and publicity, split their joint property holdings of over $500,000.

COLLETT OFF FOR CONQUEST OF ENGLAND

By BRIAN BELL, Associated Press Sports Writer.

Clenna Collett, the girl who hits a golf ball like a man, is on her way to England to try her luck in the British women's championship. She declared as she sailed that she would not be disappointed if she failed to win but she must have had her fingers crossed when she said it, for she takes her golf very seriously.

Her decision to enter the British event was sudden. Early she had no thought of venturing so far afield. At nightfall she was packing. There is a going precedent in sudden determination to have a try at British titles. Bobby Jones last year almost literally at the 11th hour decided to defend his open title and barely made the boat.

Just before the George Washington called Miss Collett was as nearly content as a person of her calm demeanor could be—but not about golf. She answered questions on the move as she sought trace of a missing suitcase.

"No, I have not played the Hunsletton course," she said. She asked a steward if the missing bag had appeared. "I hear its very hard." Her information is undoubtedly correct. The amateur record for the course at Norfolk, England, is 75 and no professional has done better than 74.

"I am hopeful of course of giving a good account of myself," she continued, "and I am pleased with my game as it has responded during the last few months in the south. I hit a ball fairly well on occasion." She did not mention it but one of the objections was in the qualifying round of the Florida East Coast championship at St. Augustine where she scored a sensational 74, before going on to win the title four days later. No American woman golfer has bettered that figure.

Miss Collett is speaking of her former expeditions in search of a British title, said she had not done well. This statement would seem to leave room for argument. In 1925 at Leam she was defeated by Joyce Withers, the greatest woman golfer any country has produced, four up and three to play. Miss Withers was the champion at the time and nothing came up after Miss Collett was eliminated from the competition to change her status.

Glennie went to Versailles the same year to win the French championship from Mlle. Simone Thion De La Chaume, 3 up and 1 to play at 36 holes. Mlle. Thion is now the British women's champion and if the golfing gods are kind, the argument at Versailles may be resumed at Hunstanton three years later.

Miss Collett was in cheerful spirits as she started her third invasion of British golf. Her missing baggage had been found and all her pet clubs were ready to answer her call.

"Yes, I'll see at least a part of the British open," so Walter Hagen, Tommy Armour, Gene Sarazen, Jim Barnes and Bill Mehloni will have the benefit of her moral support at Sandwich a week before the women have their fling.

World's greatest Value and Outselling all sixes

THE world's largest sale of 6-cylinder cars became an Essex achievement solely because of merit.

All 6-cylinder sales records are swept aside in the enthusiastic reception everywhere accorded the New Essex Super-Six. Many communities report 100%, 200%, even 300% greater sales than for the corresponding period of last year, which was the former all-time Essex record.

Greater in power, more versatile in all performance, large, roomier and more beautifully appointed, the New Essex Super-Six gloriously earns its richer reward in even greater popularity than its predecessor.

The exclusive, high-compression Super-Six motor that turns waste heat to power, develops the greatest power per cubic inch of piston displacement of any stock motor we know in the world.

In all ways the New Essex Super-Six is engineered to the lowest operation and maintenance costs. And increasing thousands of owners rolling up thousands of miles of service prove that these qualities which delight you on your first ride are just as lasting as they are brilliant.

Holiday Crowds See Opening of Baby Circuit

By the Associated Press.
The youngest circuit in the south, the East Carolina Class D Baseball Association, after a day of play before holiday-sized crowds, found Rocky Mount, Fayetteville and Kingston winners in the openers.

Rocky Mount staged an 11 inning engagement at home with Greenville coming from behind to gain a 7-6 victory. Pitsker Kelly of the Bucs crashed out four hits and held Greenville to six safeties in the day's work.

There were two more runs, Layne of Greenville, and Brandes of Rocky Mount, hitting for four bases.

ANOTHER BASQUE BOXER COMING TO U. S. SOON

New York. —(AP)—Paulino Uzocuna's financial success in his year of fighting in the United States has caused a stir among the Spanish and another young Basque is to come over soon seeking his fate.

So says Santiago Nimerck Messager, the Tex Rickard of Spain, who is here seeking an opponent—preferably George Godfrey—for a match with Paulino soon at Barcelona.

Paulino's countryman and emulor, Messager said, is Antonio Gabiola, a young and husky Basque who now holds the light heavyweight championship of Spain. He is growing fast and as soon as he becomes a full fledged heavyweight will come to the United States to fight.

BOYS AN GIRLS TRADE HIGH SCHOOL COURSES

Huntington, W. Va. —(AP)—The old order of things has found a complete reversal in the Huntington high school.

Getting an early start in demonstrating the equality of the sexes, girls have invaded the manual training department which previously had been conducted solely for boys.

Next year the school plans to introduce the boys into what has heretofore been women's exclusive sphere. A course in home economics for boys is being worked out. It will be called "camp cookery" and will teach the boys the basic principles of cooking and food values.

There are 12 girls registered in the manual training course. They turn out household articles with as much skill as the boys. W. A. Childs, their instructor says.

Fiber furniture weaving is taught with much success.

VETERAN SAYS HE DROVE GENERAL GRANT'S COACH

Waterbury, Conn. (AP)—The stirring days after Lee's surrender at Appomattox in the Civil War are very real to Isaac F. Dickenson because, he explains, he drove the coach that carried General U. S. Grant back to Washington.

Dickenson, now 89, had nearly five years of war service after he enlisted at the age of 21. An injury to his hand placed him under General Engles, chief quartermaster of the Union armies. He drove the general's outfit of four horses for a time and then was transferred to another division in the Army of the Potomac.

After his assignment to drive Grant back to Washington he drove the general's coach in Washington daily for three weeks. He says the general was accustomed to take his two children with him to his office each day.

Dickenson attributes his good health to avoidance of liquor. As a soldier he was once put in the guard house for three days, he says because he refused to take liquor with quinine as a remedy for malaria.

Noyes Re-elected As A. P. Head

New York, April 24.—(AP)—The board of directors of the Associated Press today re-elected Frank B. Noyes of the Washington Star as president.

W. J. Papper of the Waterbury, Conn. Republican, was elected first vice-president, and Robert Ewing of the New Orleans, La. States, second vice-president.

Ken Cooper was re-elected secretary; Jackson S. Elliott was re-elected assistant secretary and J. B. Youatt was re-elected treasurer.

The executive committee was re-elected as follows:

Mr. Noyes; Adolph S. Ochs, New York Times; Clark Howell, Atlanta, Ga. Constitution; Robert McLeath, Philadelphia Bulletin; B. H. Anthony, New Bedford, Mass. Standard; E. Lansing Roy, St. Louis Globe-Democrat; and Ebert H. Baker, Cleveland, Ohio, Plain Dealer.

Monroe's Law Office Given By Descendants to State of Virginia

Virginia will receive from descendants of James Monroe (above) at Fredericksburg on April 25 the brick building in which the fifth President first practiced law. With it will come many relics, including the brass-inlaid desk (right) on which traditions say Monroe penned the Monroe Doctrine.

Fredericksburg, Va. —(AP)—The little brick building where James Monroe first hung out his shingle to practice law will be dedicated as a national memorial here on April 26, the anniversary of the signing of the Monroe Doctrine.

Descendants of the President are presenting the building, with relics and personal effects, to Virginia at a ceremony in which Gov. Harry Flood Byrd and diplomatic representatives of Central and South American Republics will participate.

Laurence Gouverneur Hoes, a great grandson of Monroe, and his mother, Mrs. Rose Gouverneur Hoes, will make the presentation.

The desk used at the White House by President Monroe and the one on which he is believed to have written his famous declarative figure on the floor of the Washington auditorium.

At the White House Miss Trumbull is a great favorite, her sweet and decidedly Democratic way winning everyone around, from the man at the door to the White House side who danced attendance whenever they had the opportunity.

While Miss Trumbull frequently said she and John Coolidge were only good friends, there is supposed to be a closer understanding between them and she wears a jeweled ring on what is known to girls as "the engagement finger."

No one seems to realize better than does the minister of Egypt, Mahmoud Samy Pasha, that spring is here. He and Mrs. Samy Pasha took their little children and, accompanied by friends motored to Annapolis this week. At a rural road house near the Maryland capital, they stopped and took their mid-day meal as neatly in the open as the weather permitted. It was of the Egyptian national spring holiday which is spent by all Egyptians in the open air.

The Vice President and Mrs. Dawes, who seem to have reserved their largest hospitalities for the spring season, had a crowded house when Mrs. Dawes held next to her last day at home of the season. It is a sort of a cabinet custom for the hostess to sit on the arm of a chair when receiving or to lean against some heavy piece of furniture as a rest, and Wednesday afternoon Mrs. Dawes was no exception to the rule while receiving her several hundred visitors.

Starting with a dinner at the British embassy with the ambassador and Lady Isabella Howard as guests, a lively pace was maintained in entertainment all during the week for Mr. Leander McCormick-Goodhart, commercial attaché of the British embassy and Miss Janet Phillips, daughter of former Representative and Mrs. Thomas W. Phillips, Jr. of Pennsylvania, whose marriage will take place next Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Phillips bought a house on Sixteenth street which has a charming garden, and it is there, weather permitting, that guests will assemble for the reception following the ceremony in beautiful Bethlehem chapel of Washington cathedral.

Mr. McCormick-Goodhart, who is more than twice the age of his bride, is very rich, being one of the heirs to the McCormick millions made in harvesting machinery. Ambassadors and men of letters and large affairs in general are boasted by the McCormick family, from whose American mother and bridegroom springs, while his late father was a diplomat of distinction.

Gossip dabbles with the size of the dowry the pretty young bride is to receive, ranging from one to four million dollars.

Thomas W. Phillips, grandfather of the bride, was an important man in the coal, coke and iron district of Pennsylvania from which he came, and his son, when a representative on Congress, followed the custom of many of the rich men sent here and bought a handsome house on Sixteenth street.

Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Charles G. Dawes are sponsoring a fashion show which opens Monday night at the Willard Hotel under the auspices of the Mary Washington chapter, D. A. R., the funds to be used for Wakefield Manor, birth-place of George Washington. Debutantes and well known society men will appear in the customs ranging in price from 1628 to the present day.

Washington Social Events

Washington, April 21.—(AP)—Nooping could have added more strength to the pleasant group which has persisted for more than a year relative to the engagement of Miss Florence Trumbull and Mr. John Coolidge, than the presence of the young lady as a guest of the President and Mrs. Coolidge at the White House.

Mrs. Trumbull and her daughter arrived from Hartford at the end of the week, and Governor Trumbull joined them there but simply remained over night.

Miss Trumbull was the personal page of Mrs. Alfred J. Brownson, president general of the D. A. R. all during the congress this week and, wearing the becoming uniform of the order, was one of the most attractive figures on the floor of the Washington auditorium.

ABOUT TOWN

"Billy Sunday, well known evangelist conducting a campaign in this city, believes North Carolina people are busy trying to get Al Smith lined up for the presidency."

"Mr. Sunday, on the other hand, would nominate Josephus Daniels, native North Carolinian and secretary of the navy during the Wilson administration."

"There is quite a contrast between Mr. Sunday's candidate and the governor of the state of New York. It is so striking that the public is waiting for sentiment to become more thoroughly crystallized before any definite decision can be reached."

"However it is refreshing to hear a man of Billy Sunday's reputation denounce and champion the cause of neither, both of them truly great men in the period of industrial and commercial expansion."

"Greenville got latched during the opening game of the Eastern Carolina League at Rocky Mount yesterday, a follower of the local club admitted rather shamefacedly today."

"That that doesn't mean we are going to get latched the rest of the week. We play Rocky Mount again this afternoon, and if somebody's old ball team doesn't really step out and show an inclination to play better ball than yesterday, then the tide of battle is going to change."

"Deacon Joliff is not altogether pleased over the loss of the first game, but feels confident the boys will be able to show they can win the next three games of the week."

"This is 'Better Homes Week' in America," members of the Woman's Club of Greenville reminded the citizenship today.

"Improvement of homes is being stressed in the schools, churches and clubs of the country and persons intensely interested in the foundation of American life are using their influence in making the week of great significance."

"Rev. W. A. Sunday, one of the greatest evangelists of his day, will speak on the subject 'Home' at the tabernacle tonight. Like the rest of his sermons this will be filled with logical argument in behalf of a great cause—the cause of freedom and human liberty."

"If you haven't given any attention to the importance of the week, let us urge you to get busy immediately and do something to improve your condition—it matters not what you do so long as it shows signs of progress."

The Board of Directors of the Greenville Merchants Association have recommended the closing of stores at 3:30 o'clock Friday for the first game of the Eastern Carolina League to be played in Greenville. Ed Griffin, secretary of the organization, said this morning.

"We wish, however, to impress the fact that this is only a recommendation and not at all compulsory or arbitrary. Everybody naturally is interested in the showing the local club is going to make in the Eastern Carolina League and it is only reasonable to suppose many of the stores will close to permit their employees to witness the contest."

"We want to have the largest attendance of the year at this game with Fayetteville. Be sure you are there to do your part in behalf of the greatest and most wholesome sport of the nation."

"I was lead off man for Pittsburgh and Philadelphia in the National League something like thirty years ago, and I am going to lose the first ball at the maiden game Greenville plays on her home grounds here Friday," Billy Sunday, evangelist, declared in his sermon here last night.

And along with the position came one of three features of body and mind that has made Mr. Sunday a sensation of the pulp and the greatest champion of the Bible of the present generation.

"You had to know this part of the country does not have baseball on Sunday. You show good common sense by not doing so. Baseball is one of the best sports of the nation, but it cannot conflict with activities of the Lord and be a success."

"Straw Hat Day in Greenville Saturday, April 28th," a merchant reminded the writer today.

"Just tell the boys numbers of members of the Merchants Association will have elaborate displays of Dame Fashion's latest offerings, and they will do well to purchase while stocks are complete."

"Greenville business men are doing everything possible to offer the trading public the best of the market at prices conforming with quality, and Straw Hat Day will be no exception."

"Come out Sunday all dolled up in your straw."

Well, the Tobacconists didn't bring home the bacon in the opening game with Rocky Mount yesterday, but the boys put out a brand of baseball that was well worth seeing, and if they continue to do this there need be no fear that the attendance will be good and the team well supported.

Next Saturday has been set aside as straw hat day here and no doubt if Old Sol continues to do his stuff the new lids will be out in abundance. Don your new lid Sunday, attend your own church during the morning and then in the afternoon and evening hear Billy Sunday at the tabernacle and you can retire with a feeling that you have not only shown off your new finery, but received a spiritual blessing that you will not get by standing on the corner for the crowds going to and from church might have opportunity to see your new hat.

We are all going out tomorrow to see the Tobacconists in their first clash on the home grounds. Billy Sunday is going to pitch the first ball and Mayor Lanier is going to catch it (maybe). Anyway, we prefer to be in the grandstand behind the wire than to take chances on umpiring this first ball from behind the plate.

THE RIGHT MAN It was a good suggestion Billy Sunday made yesterday when he declared that the Democrats could put up no better man for the presidency than Josephus Daniels. Not only has Josephus Daniels been a war horse for the party since he was old enough to take part in politics, but he has all the qualifications of an occupant of the White House and is backed up by a public record that no one can besmirch despite the efforts being put forth by the Republicans. Nothing would suit us better than to see the name of Daniels presented to the Houston convention, not as a favorite son, but as the man fitted to lead the Democrats to victory in the coming election.

IN LINE OF DUTY The death of Floyd Bennett, co-conqueror of the North Pole, saddens the civilized world. "Greater love hath no man than this." He lost his life going to the rescue of the Bremen crew, fellow conquerors of the air. Peace has victories no less renowned than those of war.

Much Interest Manifested in Lamp Shade Exhibit.

An interesting feature of the Better Homes Week program was a class in making lamp shades and crystal trees taught by Mrs. C. W. Mangum of Mangum Book Co., Rocky Mount. Sponsored by the Women's Clubs of the city and county. That excellent results were obtained were shown in the exhibit of the articles made in Mrs. Parkerson's dining room windows on Tuesday afternoon and night of this week.

There were lamp shades of all kinds, sizes and shapes—good looking ones at that—but possibly the articles that attracted most attention were the crystal trees. There were four different kinds.

The class consisted of country women and town women, housekeepers, teachers, young ladies and high school girls. The youngest member of the class was Verda Wilson. She deserves honorable mention for her excellent work.

YOUNGSTER STARS IN "WALLFLOWERS"

Hugh Trevor Great in Temple Bailey Drama.

Perhaps the most rapid rise to screen fame on record is that of Hugh Trevor, who entered pictures as an "extra" but a short three months before he was chosen by Leo Meehan to play the leading masculine role in the screen version of Temple Bailey's "Wallflowers," current FBO attraction at the New Theater today and tomorrow.

Armed with no experience but a burning desire to make good in pictures, Trevor left a successful business in the East to journey to Hollywood and look for work. Having no illusions about starting on a grand scale, he considered himself fortunate to be chosen for extra parts in several pictures.

As fortune would have it, a good-looking, clean-cut, young man was needed to play the pal of Warner Baxter in FBO's "The Coward." Somebody happened to think of Trevor and he was cast for this "bit" and given screen credit.

This proved to be his lucky "break" and he was chosen by FBO to play the lead in a dog picture.

Apr. 23-12t W. H. SMITH.

"Ranger of the North," opposite Lina Basquette. Then followed a western lead with Buzz Barton in "The Pinto Kid" and the lead opposite Duane Thompson in "Her Summer Hero," a seven reel feature comedy.

These parts were all good and did much to advance Trevor's name with the producers and the public, but his first really big part came when Leo Meehan chose him for the featured lead in "Wallflowers," one of the biggest productions of the year at FBO.

All of the above happened within ninety days, which is the strange part for nearly every screen personality who has risen from the extra ranks has spent several years at least in getting to featured rank. Critics say it is due to a latent T-espian ability possessed by but a few.

job in character, reputation, and health. You lose in respectability, in everything that is decent, that God admires and men respect. You gain nothing, absolutely nothing.

"I challenge any man or woman on earth to show me where anybody has ever gained anything by doing wrong.

Sin is Carelessness.
There may be those here tonight who are contemplating some sin. You may be here in order to allay suspicion that there is in your mind or heart the slightest inclination toward sin.

"You are not sure that the sun will rise tomorrow. It has risen regularly ever since God said, 'Let there be light, and swung it in the skies to travel its orbit, but there isn't one word of authority in the word of God that the sun will rise. We are not sure that we will die, but the Bible says, 'Be sure your sins will find you out.'

"You needn't come here to find out whether my text is true. You need not read the Bible. You need not read the newspapers. Just go down to the prisons, go down to the death houses, go through the hospitals, go through the homes for feeble-minded, go through the asylums, go down through the haunts of sin, see the wrecks and the derelicts of humanity, scarred, bruised, filthy, a stench arising from a decayed body because of sin. Their sins have found them out.

The Sinner Suffers.
There is an inscription on a monument in Egypt, which says, 'The impious shall commit iniquity with recompense, but not without remorse.'

"If you are bound to sin, you will suffer, remember that. If you put your hand into the fire, you must expect to be burned by doing it. Therefore, when you sin you must expect the reward for that sin and that punishment, surely.

"Now, why do you do the thing that you positively, absolutely know is a detriment to you from every viewpoint. No exception.

"Get up and tell me why you have got to plead to get a man or woman to be a Christian; get up and tell me why you have to plead with a man or woman to get them to do what God wants them to do. To be a Christian is what God wants you to be, and when you are what God wants you to be, you are the best on earth. Then for any man or woman to refuse to be what God wants them to be—I want you to get up and show me. Come on, I want to see!

"Be sure your sins will find you out. You may escape the consequences of sin. You may escape the law of man, but you cannot the law of God. That's an impossibility. And there is no place where any man or woman can hide away from God.

"Sin is the one thing and the only thing in this universe which can permanently damage a man, or eternally damn him. Disappointment may weary him, and grief may sadden him, adversity may bring hardships, and hunger into his life. It may bring sorrow and want, but sin is the one thing in this universe that can permanently mark your character with a mark that will last. Be sure, be sure, you will find you're in the execution of human laws.

Law's Equalities.
The execution of all laws depends upon human agents. If the mere enactment of a law was all that was necessary for its enforcement and respect, then we'd have no police, sheriffs, or penitentiaries. Now law is automatic. Every law depends upon men to make that law alive or dead.

"Law is a majority rule. Law is the basic principle of our government. All men are equal before the law. All men are given equal protection by the law. All men owe equal obedience to the law. If one man has a right to break some laws, then all men have the same right to break the same laws. If one man has the right to break all laws, then all men have a right to break all laws. And when all men and women break all laws, the state and this in the flag dissolve into the red and the Old Glory will be pulled down from her flagstaff and the blood red flag of anarchy will wave over the country. Law is the basic principle of government. No matter where. So you owe what you owe to the law and to the enforcement of it.

"So God has a law in this world. 'Sin finds us out,' through the execution of law.

"While some have an international reputation of being thieves who have an equal reputation for catchers, there are other people, bane thieves and ability to evade the law for days, weeks, months, and possibly for years, and yet, all that time, my friends, an invisible something is weaving a net which sooner or later will bring that man to justice. Go down and ask the police how few people ultimately escape." You'd be dumfounded if you knew all the crime that's committed where ultimately something happens that brings most of the criminals to justice. Mighty few of them ultimately escape.

Sin Is Revealed.
I preached down in West Virginia, not far from Wheeling, where there is a very rich man. He loaned money to the farmers all around.

The people supposed that he kept vast sums of money in the house and two men went there to rob him, with intent of murdering him if they had to. Before going to the house they went to the barn and took a two by four and whittled it down so they could get hold of it. They went to the house and the man resisted, and they pounded him to a pulp and fled.

"There were living with him two relatives and they phoned for the police in Wheeling. They threw out the drag net and along about 11:30 they arrested two men at a road house where they sat drinking. One of them had a criminal record. Nobody knew the other.

"They searched the men and they had nothing but a jack knife. They had on these disguises that they put over their faces with holes cut through for their eyes.

"They brought those two men back and they indicted them. One of them was named John Moody. They did not know the other fellow's name. As the indictment was returned they indicted him under the name of Frank Fry, and the trial was called. My friend, who was then a prosecuting attorney, was prosecuting the case. The lawyer for the defense arose and made an appeal that they'd take the matter out of the hands of a jury for they had failed to establish their guilt and there wasn't very much evidence. Everything was purely circumstantial.

"Frank Nesbitt took one of these magnifying glasses they use in jewelry stores. He picked up the knife that had been taken from the man and he saw two little nicks about an eighth of an inch apart that they had overlooked. He got up and picked up the two by four and said:

"Whoever whittled that, whittled it with a knife that had two nicks in the blade, and he fitted those two nicks into the groove and they fitted, showing that whoever whittled that two by four whittled it with that jack knife.

Death by Crime.
He laid that matter before the jury and they convicted those men to be hung in Moundsville penitentiary, and they died on the scaffold.

"The wicked shall not live out half their days, and men and women, if you look at it purely from the standpoint of living in this world and being happy, you ought to be a Christian and serve Jesus Christ. If there were no incentive or reward for you to come, if only what God Almighty will do for you in the matter of character, in the matter of respectability, and the matter of health here on the face of this old earth, you ought to stand for Jesus Christ. Therefore, morality means right relationships, always, to God's will recognized in human beings.

"I recognize that when I act in harmony with God's will, I am a better man than if I act contrary to God's will. I am more respectable and live longer, and I am a better man.

"Morals are derived from God. Morals come from heaven, they don't come from hell. Morals come from God, not infidelity. So morals, my friends, are the basis of all law, and morals are derived only from God.

Sins Have Physical Consequences.
All sins have physical consequences. Oh, the sufferings when some men or women commit some sins may not be immediate. You may commit a sin and you may not immediately suffer for that sin. There are other sins, that if you commit, you will have to suffer for immediately. You may wait for weeks or months, and possibly years before the suffering will come to you physically for having violated a moral law and trampled God's law beneath your feet.

"Scarcely a day goes by that somebody does not come to me, suffering in the physical torments of hell because of the result of their sin and they will tell me with tears streaming down their cheeks. When you see others suffering the terrible consequences of their transgression of God's law, why, in God's name, will you go on committing the same sin that brings the suffering that they are having now?

"Why do so many people have broken bodies and shattered intellects? And sins have found them out. And they find you out in your individual body, they find you out in delirium tremens which goes with alcoholism; they find you out in paralysis of the young, although you yourself might not have sinned or your young might not have sinned, somebody sinned and the germs of the sin are in it and they strike your child down. So you have got to suffer, not because of your sin, but because somebody was a cuss; because somebody did not live right.

"So, therefore, you have got a grave out there with your baby lying in it because some other devil would not be decent. So you have got to carry out your baby out in the graveyard and bury it, just to pay for the transgression of some other God-forsaken reprobate. Oh, it makes me hot. You see, you can't confine it. If you could confine it to yourself, why, that would not be so bad, but you can't. Somebody else has got to suffer for it. It will find you out in the diseases of the spinal cord, diseases of the brain, diseases of the kidneys, diseases of the heart, diseases of the nervous system.

Disease Goes With Sin.
Now if we could eliminate all diseases caused by our own voluntary act. A large part of insanity is preventable. A large part of blindness comes as a result of voluntary sins, sins that you voluntarily commit. Although you may be blind and you committed nothing that made you blind, somebody else did.

"So, then, all of this is preventable; that's what I mean by it and if men and women would only get on their knees, confess their sins and quit living in sin, you'd be dumfounded to see how little disease would remain in the world. You know that. You bet your life, and you can't get around it.

"Of course, disease may be hereditary. Disease may be the result of accident. Disease may come through misfortune. I will admit all that. I will take all the diseases that come that are hereditary from generations. I will take all that. I will put them here. I will take all the diseases that come from accident. Many times a cancer will start from accident. You will bruise the tissues. A cancer is not hereditary. You can't transmit that down, but you can't a cancer. It will come by affliction.

"All right, after I have all that, I repeat my statement, if men and women would only quit sinning, there would not be very much disease in the world, and if we want to have our nation damned with diseases, go ahead and live as you have been. No. Why can't you get people to see that sin is their enemy and when I am preaching, I am preaching for your good. I am your friend, trying to warn you of the very thing that threatens to curse and blight and drag you down.

"Now, take anger. All right. When you get mad, your blood is distorted. If affects your stomach. That in turn affects your appetite. That in turn affects the food that you have eaten, so that it doesn't assimilate to your body. It affects your brain and nerve, and in many cases it causes death by paralytic stroke from anger.

Contentment and Health.
Professor Gates has crystallized 40 health-giving ingredients made from the secretions of the human body while the mind of a man or woman was in a state of contentment or peace. He also crystallized as many deadly poisons made from the secretions of the body while the mind of the man or woman was in a state of anger and rebellion. We all know that a nursing mother will throw her baby into spasms because of the effect of her anger upon her nurse. That reacts upon the child and the child is tied up in spasms and will froth at the mouth like a dog with hydrophobia. That's the effect of the anger of the mother through the effect of the nourishment upon her child. We all know these things, yet people go on. They will be fools. You will sit there and listen to me and go out and stick your head in a lion's mouth. All right, don't blame me then if you go to the devil. If you go to hell, you can stand up and say, 'Well, Bill wasn't to blame. He tried to keep me out.'

Sin Finds Out Nations, Too.
Wait a minute. Sin finds out nations, too. The Christian nations are the only clean ones and we are the cleanest on earth. The diseases that are epidemic, that are raging in heathen lands almost without exception come from filth. They are caused by the louse or the flea or the rat. Look at the Hindu at Benares.

"Look at the Eskimo in his ill-ventilated igloo, where consumption holds him down because of the germs produced by his filth. Look at typhoid fever. It comes from filth, contaminated water or milk. Some one may throw filth into an alley. A fly may light upon the filth, fly away into your home and light on the butter, or drip into the milk and you may eat it. He will leave a germ that will put your baby in the grave. It comes from filth, so your child has to die because somebody a half mile away was a fool and did not live in the way she should.

"Look at typhus fever, ship fever, prison fever; they come from the louse, and it has killed thousands, unknown millions. And the plague of cholera and the bubonic plague, which have slain unknown millions, all come from the flea and the rat. These diseases come from filth. Oh, disease today comes because a man is filthy in his life and doesn't live the way God Almighty wants him to do, and his sins find him out in a wrecked body and a wrecked mind and curse him.

"Many of the trade diseases are preventable and many of them today were not in existence a few years ago. Think of the thousands upon thousands that died in the lead industry, where their bodies became heavy by breathing where they made white lead. That's been saved by scientific research of our day. Think of the phosphorus victims where they make matches. That's been changed. All that has saved thousands of victims.

Moral Distemper.
You can't visit a place where the vile and the lewd are pictured to appeal to your passion and make its subtle appeal to the lower, baser nature in you. Oh, it will breed a moral distemper in your own nature.

"Out in a western city lived a friend. He was what we called a high-flyer. He spent his money on fast horses and wine and women. The poor people dumped their money in his bank by the millions.

"One day they found out that he had gutted the bank and there was nothing there but the shell. They began to search and they looked everywhere. They tracked him across the Atlantic Ocean, they tracked him into Africa, into Algeria, into Morocco, where he'd hired or purchased camels. He'd loaded them with provisions, and with utensils for a home. He was getting ready to make a journey of 200 miles out into the desert to an oasis, there to bury himself and live upon his ill-gotten gains.

"When they put their hands upon him—arrested him—there were no extradition papers, my friends, from that country, and so it was optional with him whether he'd come back or not.

He agreed to return. He did, and he got an indeterminate sentence in the penitentiary of from 1 to 14 years. And a friend of mine, who was governor just before he went out of office, paroled the man. He is now free, or was, but in the day of judgment walk up and ask him if it paid. Oh, he wrecked his reputation for the money! Ask him if it paid. If it paid?

Sin Lays Blight.
I don't believe a rotten body is half as bad as a rotten character and sin will rot your body and character and blight you from every angle.

"It will find you out in your conscience. From whatever else you may hide that, you can't hide it from yourself.

"We are so constituted that we are sinners and that means self-condemnation.

"Oh, how many people suffer untold agony, oh, and the bitter consciousness of sins, which no one seems to know. There is no physical suffering that can equal the torment of an accusing conscience.

"And all the accusing consciences my friends, that are on this earth. No prosperity, no love, no mirth, no joy, no music, no revelry, no fun, no intoxication can dispel the cloud or assuage the anguish which comes as a result of knowing that you have sinned. God has so constituted us that we know we are sinners and that means self-condemnation that leads to Christ.

"I preached in a town in Iowa. There was a young fellow there, a German. He had married a girl over in Berlin and borrowed money from a friend to come to America to his new home to win a fortune. They had saved out of their meager earnings a little bit, which they put in a chamois skin bag until they could get the amount to send it back to their benefactor, who made it possible for them to come to their new chosen home.

"They had saved $63 in that chamois skin bag in a drawer. He came down to the tabernacle one night with his wife and some one who evidently knew about it went into the house and took nothing but that chamois skin bag showing that somebody familiar with the house and things did it.

"They were in deep anguish. He could hardly work he was so distressed, and they went around with a subscription to get money. I gave some and announced to help them. They held receptions and took up collections.

"They were poor, hard working, but noble and honest. They kept the basket hanging out under the porch, in which she kept the butter and bacon. He had to go to work at 7 o'clock, so she went out one morning early to take down the basket to cut off a piece of bacon. And in this basket on the butter they found this chamois skin bag and attached to it was a note which said: 'I return you all your money. I haven't taken one cent. I have been down to the tabernacle to hear that man Sunday, and I don't want to go to hell, and I know I will if I don't bring your money back.'

"I preached in a town in Nebraska and I was entertained in the home of a fellow who ran a hardware store. His name was Harrington. One day a fellow walked in, a brilliant fellow and they asked him, 'Have you been up to hear Bill?'

A Death That Startled.
No, by the eternal blankety-bank, I don't propose to go up there. I don't believe in that blankety-blank ignominy up there spouting off to this intelligent community, and he cursed and damned. He said, 'I don't believe in a God, and I believe that Jesus Christ was a fraud. I have got more respect for Ralph Waldo Emerson than for Jesus Christ. If there is a God, I defy Him. Let Him strike me dead now.'

"He hit the floor down like that, and they have a star on the floor to mark the place where he fell to this day. He hit the floor like that and he never spoke from that day to this. They carried him home and in 26 hours they carried him to the graveyard.

"Be sure your sins will find you out. They will find you out in your conscience. Conscience is that incorruptible warrior who guards with zealous care the temple called our hearts.

"Conscience! It blanched Belshazzar's cheeks until they looked like Arctic snowdrifts, while the fingers of God wrote his sentences upon the frieze of the banquet halls. You are weighed in the balance and are found wanting!

"Conscience! Oh, it drove sleep from the eyes of Darius while Daniel snored in the lion's den, while the angels hovered over God's servant, and there weren't lions enough on God's earth to pull a hair out of his head, for He was guarding the man who dared stand for the truth.

Come to Christ, and Be Saved.
"Conscience! It startled Old Herod into midnight terror as he dreamed that John the Baptist, whom he had beheaded at the behest of that old hag Herodias, whom he was living in sin, had arisen, sir!

"Conscience! It hounded that traitor Judas until he went out, sir, and threw down the dirty money at the feet of the men that had persuaded him to take it to betray Jesus Christ, went out and put a rope around his neck and committed suicide.

"Conscience! 'Out, out, out, damned spot!' cried Lady Macbeth as she looked at her lily-white hand. 'Will not all great Neel turn seas wash this blood away?'

"There was no blood there. It was the blood of murdered Duncan on her miserable guilty conscience. No, sir!

"Be sure your sins will find you out. They will do it. They will find you out everywhere, and they will find you out in your own children.

"I knew of a man who was a constant, but moderate drinker. He was never known to be what we call drunk. He abhorred total abstinence, always talked against it, but he drank a little. He had three sons and they were my playmates, and every one of them have died drunkards. Every one of them! Although he himself never was drunk, but he was a moderate drinker, he abhorred total abstinence. He is gone and they are gone.

"I tell you there are spectacles to be witnessed in the backyards of homes for feeble-minded that never opened to the public gaze, and the man who enters the lion's den and fights with the denizens of the forest, displays no more true heroism than do those who daily wait upon the foul children, and these feeble-minded, deformed children, these anaemics.

"They fight because they are mere animal. They fall because there is slow nerve communication between the eye and the brain and the muscles, and they are vicious because viciousness has been bred into them by their drunken parents. They are lustful because they are the children of uncontrolled lusts, and they cut their flesh and it heals slowly because their blood is thin, watery and vitiated, the inheritance from diseased fathers and mothers.

A Cunning That Injures.
"Oh, they are so cunning, they will elude the most watchful, and if there was one attendant to every child, even then many of the things that occur could not be prevented.

"No words can convey any idea of the scenes to be witnessed in an hour's journey through an institution for feeble-minded children. Nothing described can import, my friends, the horrors that the faces of one or two thousand of these idiotic, imbecile, children in all stages of idiosyncrasy and imbecility can fix upon the plates of memory. They are pictures that once seen, you will never forget.

"Wait a minute! These children are what they are, through no fault of their own. The fault of their own, through any transgression of themselves, did not bring those diseases to their bodies. They are the hopeless, helpless, lifelong inmates by the taxpayers of the state, where their physical comfort is looked after by the state, where their hands are guided into a sort of automatic process to do certain things—they are the retribution, they are the hell, they are the fruits, sir, that visit themselves upon the living. They are the truth of my text: 'The sins have found them out in their children.' Hopeless, helpless, not for anything they did, but because your blood flows through their veins and you live in sin.

"There they are, there they are, sin, that's what I am preaching against. Sin, that's what I try to get everybody to line up against. That's the stuff that does this business and curses the world. Why should I have to kill myself to get people to live for God and live for Jesus Christ and for His truth?"

Market Report

Cotton--Stocks--Grain

COTTON MARKET.

New York, April 26.—(AP)—The cotton market was distinctly more active and decidedly firmer, a broadening of demand being attributed to apprehensions of further unfavorable weather in the south. Prices made new high ground for the movement on all positions, May contracts selling up to 21.26 and October to 20.82, or 46 to 53 points net higher. These levels attracted a good deal of realizing and business tapered off later, mid-afternoon prices showing reactions of 7 to 15 points from the best.

Futures closed steady, 28 to 34 points higher spot steady; middling 21.60.

GRAIN MARKET.

Chicago, April 26.—(AP)—Grain prices underwent a late setback today after wheat, rye, corn, oats and barley had established new high price records for the season. Rains reported southwest, the Texas handle in particular, had considerable to do with a selling movement which set in as the day neared an end.

commercial flying enterprise on earth, intends to build a hydroplane able to land on and start from the roughest water.

Henry Ford has announced his intention to spend at least a million dollars on one airplane, to carry twelve engines, 100 passengers and a machine shop, and to cross the ocean and go on half way around the world without landing at all.

These are days of useful, exciting competition. The French Academy of Science announces a new steel infinitely harder than any known hitherto, to be used for automobile and flying machine parts.

Germany announces production of a new metal, forty per cent lighter than aluminum, strong enough for the manufacture of all metal planes.

Ambassador Howard, from Great Britain, says war between his country and America is unthinkable, would ruin and starve millions.

HERMAN TIROS C. S. WELLER (International Newsweek)

SOME financiers make their money by "hard work," and others have it left to them to play with. Here is one who was just plain lucky. "Barney," as his patrons know him, Herman Tiros is a waiter in a Brooklyn, N. Y. hotel about four minutes from Wall Street, where lotteries are made and lost. Barney doesn't know Wall Street personally, but has been playing the market for years. Well, these last few hectic weeks of violent activity on the big board have made millions of dollars for him. You see, however, he is still at his old job of waiting on table at the old stand. We wonder what tip he is giving his boss who he is serving?

The able Lord Birkenhead, only recently, is alleged to have proposed that Britain, France and Germany unite to "clean up" Russia's bolshevik government. Stressman declined the idea for Germany, according to Lincoln Eyre.

A great German industrialist, however, says frankly, "military action against the bolshevik, in my opinion, has become imperative, on purely financial grounds."

The Judge Gary art auction realized $2,297,763, a record. It sounds big, but at least one American collector spends as much as that, on art and antiques, every year.

One Gary rug, an Isphahan, sold for $106,000. Perhaps that was the rug Mrs. Gary's Butler had in mind when he asked a young man eating a hard boiled egg, with some abandon "please to look out for the rug. Quite expensive, sir."
